Workmen from the city spend most of the day Monday putting up the Christmas wreaths on the old-fashioned lights that help decorate Boyne City's downtown. The decorations are being put up to help Boyne look more appealing for the Christmas season and to help the atmosphere in the downtown area.

EJ Health Center announces support for Mancelona center

The East Jordan Family Health Center announced this week it is offering support to the formation of a health center in Mancelona. Director Chris Shea said, "The Board of the East Jordan health center has voted to assist the Mancelona center by helping to buy supplies and equipment."

Shea said the Mancelona group will pay for the housing of their center. An alternative to having a health center, according to Shea, would be to take Northern Michigan Hospital's offer of support for a physician's office.

But, Shea said, the idea of a center would eventually offer more services. Mancelona, he said, has no agency for mental health services and no nutritionist. The district health department rents a room when there is a need for its services.

Shea said it couldn't be called competition between the East Jordan agency and Northern Michigan Hospitals. "The community just needs to see what kind of health care it wants," he said. "We'll know in about a month," he said, referring to the final decision.

Meantime the East Jordan Family Health Center includes on its Board George Newpower, the president of the Mancelona board.

Shea said this was done "to see if the development would be possible."

If the Mancelona Family Health Center does become a reality, there would be just one director for the two centers, Shea said, adding they are still discussing if there would be just one board.

"There could be a contractual relationship between our board and the Mancelona board," he said.

East Jordan is trying to work out funding through its own grant from the United States Department of Health and Human Services. Shea explained the department is not starting up any new centers. "It wants to rely on proven centers," Shea said, "and build from that base."

He said in the long run it would be beneficial to both communities, but, "Yes, we are going out on the line. It's a new venture for us."

Such an arrangement, however, is not unusual. Shea said even before budget tightening, a number of communities had combined. Roscommon, he said, has three under one board.

East Jordan started looking into it, Shea said, in January 1982, mainly because Mancelona "came to us looking for solutions, and the more we looked into it, the more obvious it became they were in need of a health solution."

East Jordan is hoping that the government would provide enough for both, but Shea said it has made no promises yet.

If the arrangement does go through, Mancelona has a donated site, right next to the school, Shea said. And they are trying to raise the money to build, with the hope of completing construction by next summer, beginning the center with a physician's office and branching out possibly in a year to additional services and staff.

In a report to the November 16 city council meeting Shea said the East Jordan health center activities have grown to include counseling families and students in Ellsworth. It has also hired an educator for school health programs. Optometry services will soon be available, Shea said, and there has been some discussion on a dental program.

"We are concentrating on achieving financial stability," he told the council. "Grants may not continue forever."

He said they were looking at getting the medical and optometric services self-supporting.

A barter system of trading work for bills has helped both parties in some cases, he said.

He received from the council a letter of support for the grant application.

EJ council approves of weir

Approval of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce push to have a lamprey-salmon barrier on the Jordan River was given by the city council at its November 16 meeting.

The proposal did not mention the barrier in so many words but indicated its necessity by pressing for an end to lamprey pesticide, a stop to salmon spawning, and a halt on silting at the river mouth.

The Chamber wants to ask for an increased salmon planting so that fishing can be developed in the lake. Executive director Judy Shea said the Chamber petition has 500 signers. In addition various groups, including the Lake Charlevoix Association, have given their approval.

In other business, the council heard in the police committee report that officer Ron Melanowski had resigned. Committeeman Al Joseph said no replacement has been hired. The police department "may hold off,"

Joseph said, "as this is the slow time of the year."

City superintendent Mike Dionne announced a new policy on city-owned surplus materials. He said the city will advertise for bids one time only; then all remaining items may be sold for a minimum amount on a first-come basis.

Dionne said because the street department lost a snow-dumping site last year, the snow may possibly be dumped at Sportsman's Park or on a city lot located north of town.

The council heard a detailed analysis of its insurance needs by John D. Clark, of John D. Clark and Associates, who acted as a consultant.

Bids on fleet and multi-peril policies will be asked for Tuesday, Dec. 7.

Boyne EDC encourages co-op to locate here

With the merger between Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative and the downstate Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative ready to go on January 1, 1983, Boyne City and the Economic Development Corporation are encouraging the new company to maintain its headquarters in Boyne City.

In a letter to the president of the board-elect, William Chapin, in Blanchard, city manager Tim Clifton said the city commission and the EDC "would like to offer any assistance that you may need in terms of evaluating our community for the location of your new headquarters."

Clifton's letter briefly outlined the advantages of the city's development and its air-industrial park, and said,

"... we sincerely feel that the City of Boyne City can meet or exceed alternate proposals in terms of minimum requirements and benefits to your operation."

The city commission approved the letter at its noon meeting Tuesday, Nov. 23. The concern is that the consolidated company might want to consider central location as a priority. Wolverine's district of operations extends south of Lansing.

A spokesman for the Northern Co-op's office in the city said no move has been decided on in the immediate present. He said there is room in Northern's office building for the consolidation headquarters, and would be for at least another five years.

Top O' Mich will get rate increase

A rate increase for Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Power members, proposed to take effect by next May, would amount to between five and six percent, according to Ray Towne of Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative.

Towne said Northern has applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission for an 8.79 percent increase, but Top O' Michigan members will be hit less because purchase power costs from Northern are about 70 percent of Top O' Michigan's total cost of service to their members.

How long it will actually take,

Towne said, is not clear because of the steps imposed by Propositions D and H.

Following this past summer's vote by the members in favor of a merger, Northern is in the process of merging with Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Incorporated.

Towne said the merger will not affect this rate request. In fact, he said, one of the reasons for the merger was to prevent any sharp increases in the future.

He said the merger will be operational on December 31, 1982.

Winter Festival plans underway

Preparations are underway for the East Jordan Winter Festival which will be held February 4, 5, and 6, 1983, according to the East Jordan Chamber.

The next meeting of the Festival committee will be at 7:00 p.m. December 13th in the American Legion meeting room.

A combination of city workmen and workers from Trumco, the general contractor for the project, have started spotting the footings for the new airplane hangars that will be constructed at the Boyne City Airport. The hangars, being built without city funds by pilots who want to house their airplanes will become city property in 20 years when they revert to the city. Actual construction of the seven hangars will be in late January when the steel arrives at the site.

Airport hangars underway by city/construction firm

Ground is being broken and grading for the new airport hangars is underway by Boyne City crews in preparation for pouring the footings at the Boyne City airport. The construction of the new hangar buildings is estimated to be almost $65,000 and will be paid for by private funds. Seven hangars are going to be constructed.

The new hangars will replace the six existing hangars that will be torn down next spring by local pilots at no cost to the city, according to Tim Clifton, City Manager.

The new building will be financed by aircraft owners who will be paying $9,253 per hangar. The project is possible because of a lease agreement with the pilots and the city wherein the city will lease the ground for the new hangars at a nominal cost, provided that the pilots or aircraft owners construct a hangar at their own expense. At the end of 20 years, the hangar ownership reverts to the city.

While the footings are to be poured this week, the steel for the buildings will not arrive until late January according to Larry Trumble, the general contractor for the project.

Earlier this fall, pilots met with the airport advisory board to determine how many hangars would be built. It was thought that fifteen hangars could be constructed, but only seven parties have invested in the hangar project at this time. Clifton said that other interested persons would be contacted next year to see if there is any interest in building more hangars. Again the additional construction would be at no cost to the city.

The old hangars are being torn down as they have been determined to be structurally unsound and thought to be unsafe. The city is paying high insurance premiums on them because of that condition.

When the new hangars are constructed, the pilots will be providing the insurance for the buildings. They will also be setting up a non-profit organization for the purpose of maintaining the hangars as well as building them.

This is just one of the projects that are planned for the airport. The city is also going ahead with plans to develop an industrial park that is adjacent to the airport property.

The incoming members of the East Jordan city council hold left: Keith Kenney, Ellen Clark, Gigi Antoine, Pat Sweet, copies of their oath of office. Ready to be sworn in are from and new mayor Bill Merwin.

Leanna Hardy, director of the Boyne City Senior Citizens' Center, displays some of the things made for sale by the seniors.

Seniors selling sewing and so on

People looking for gifts should see what the Boyne City senior citizens have been producing; so says senior citizen director Leanna Hardy.

"We've been working on crafts for the community education crafts fair," she said, and named some of the specialties of various members of the group: place mats made from greeting cards, crewel-embroidered sachets, apple-dolls, and Raggedy Anns, made from kits purchased by the center.

There have been classes at the center in some of the crafts, Hardy said. It was Penny Lewis who taught how to make the apple-headed dolls. Lewis is from the county extension office.

Hardy gave lessons in making padded picture frames. And May Nesson taught the making of summer hats made of gingham.

Besides craft products made at the center, the seniors' booth at the upcoming Holiday Hobbycraft Sale will also display items made at home, such as clothespin furniture; crocheted purses for children, made in the shapes of doll faces; Christmas tree ornaments; and so on.

Hardy said the center always has crafts work on sale in their quarters at City Hall.

"We really could use someone to come in once a week to teach crafts," Hardy said.

And speaking of needs, Hardy went on to say their "biggest need is for more room." She encouraged people to make memorials as well as donations to the Senior Center building fund. These are tax deductible, she said, and then added emphatically, "Meantime we appreciate what the city does (for us)."

Why is city losing water money?

We can't understand why the water department is losing money. Even the city officials can't give an explanation as in their budget for the next fiscal year they said they're at a loss to explain it.

One thing is certain. A lot of folks here in the community don't want to, or can't afford to have their rates raised, and they will probably cause some commissioners to have sleepless nights if they vote to raise the rates.

But we all have to face reality and while we don't like it, the utility cost has to break even as is mandated in the city charter. And the increase the city fathers are talking about still won't be as costly as those urbanized systems throughout the state.

We think it is a good idea to try to contain the loss, which amounts to about $2000 per month, with the staggered hours of employees to hopefully reduce overtime costs, we also think that the city ought to do some real searching as to why, and figure out what to do, to keep the cost in line with the present rates.

In a short glance at the budget for the next year, and a little mathematics we figured out that the department could break even.

The difference is that the city is pumping out 200 million gallons of water each year, and only getting paid for 90 million. The 110 million gallons are called leakage. That water escapes from the pipes every day, and if it could be stopped, then, we figure, the automatic rate increase of 25 cents per thousand gallons or $22,500 per year that would be added to our bill could be enough to let the department "break even."

But that still doesn't solve the problem. That only makes the department look good on paper for the city but it still doesn't pay back the amount that was borrowed from the general fund in past years to make up the difference.

The real problem as we would like to believe, is the leakage of potable water into the ground, or someones' house or business, without the city getting paid for it.

The saving of water by fixing the leakages would mean a lot of savings for us taxpayers. The leakage figures out to about 55 percent of the water produced. If we could take 55 percent off the utility cost to run the pumps, and could take some more off if the water that is leaking gets into the sewer system and has to be treated, we could be making a large "profit" on our water system.

But to do that, we probably would have to have a bond issue to relay almost all the water lines in the city.

Sometimes you wonder why city officials want to get out of bed in the morning as they seem to be in a "Catch 22" situation. No matter what the city does they are going to have to make a difficult decision in a difficult time.

And catch a lot of flack for it.

Marshall Sayles

I received a letter from the Social Security System and was greatly surprised. It made sense.

This is Boyne Country. This is Hemingway Country. This is the land of beautiful lakes and rivers, of summer resorts and nationally known winter sports activities. This is the land of the writer, the musician, the artist, the factoryworker, the drawer of crowds, the hewers of north western Michigan history.

Deep in the center of these accomplishments, which have often echoed throughout the nation, lies the city of Boyne — awash with legend, myth and fantasy — a community once shaped by the restlessness of the axe, the crosscut and the thousands of maples that helped build a developing nation.

This is a community boiling with the richness of its past, aflame with its wonders of the present and flushed with its enormous possibilities of the future.

I, here and now, predict that these freshly scattered flowers will inflame the imagination of those with substance and influence—drawing them to this place where they will set about building their own as well as our future prosperity. If they don't, then I shall be both sick and sunk. Sick and sunk, mind you!

The Water Street improvement is now finished and couldn't look better. It has been spoken of as a near perfect job. But if anything should go wrong with the pavement, it would be refreshing if the council were to hold a meeting and hog all the blame.

Recent news stories tell about the finding of diamonds in the upper peninsula. They are small and not worth a lot, but should bring a tidy sum. And now we learn that, over the years, diamonds have been found in small quantities around the lower peninsula. Not enough to brag about, but they were worth something.

I've always wanted to find diamonds. It has been my greatest desire right next to seeing the road commission sand Marshall road hill in the wintertime.

One day after reading the diamond story, my wife and I were strolling in our woods when we found several clear, sparkling rocks about one quarter inch across. We checked them with her diamond ring. Sure enough they sparkled just like the ring stone. Diamonds on our land! Imagine That!

I opened my mouth and let it fly: "We're rich! We're rich!" I yelled as loud as I could so they would hear me way over to the bank in East Jordan where I owe money. Heavens, how I enjoyed opening my mouth and letting it fly.

"We're not rich," my wife said. "We put these seven acres of woods up for sale a long time ago. Remember?"

I suggested that we run down town and take the land off the market immediately. But it didn't work. The land was legally in the hands of a realtor who was having a devil of a time selling it. It was not really legitimate for us to do anything with it or remove anything as long as it was officially for sale.

It just makes me sick when I realize that whoever buys our seven acres of woods will be so filthy rich.

The logo for Thanksgiving long ago became the turkey, which seems a bit too bad. A more appropriate symbol would be, if not hands clasped in prayer, at least the clasped hands that represent families in reunions across the country.

It's true; Thanksgiving thoughts are family thoughts. And thinking about families—ay, there's a thought.

Family—something highly praised from the outside, but often barely endured from the inside.

Proper endurance produces all those praiseworthy qualities like self-sacrifice, for instance.

Have you been praised lately for self-sacrifice? No? Still, the rewards come anyway. Look at the strength and peace in your face.

That's why people trust you.

It takes much practice to become self-sacrificing, preferably constructively, grade-A self-sacrificing—while the family endures and endures our learning days.

Some of us take all our lives to discover that the children can't know what it is to be fair to parents, not having been there themselves.

Junior isn't going to stop crying out of pity for working father.

Junior simply grows up and learns to be self-sacrificing by having his own junior.

Fortunate that it takes a long time for Junior to grow up, because his parents have so much to learn. How to share, how to be appreciative, forgiving, helpful, consistent, far-seeing, and so on—all subcategories, when you look at it, of self-sacrifice.

Strange we should have so much chipping away to do, to find our real, beautiful selves. But then there is so much to find.

They tell us that the creatures (bears, elephants) that spend the longest with their maturing offspring are the most intelligent, and none spend longer than human beings.

The great thing is to be able to allow this understanding, acquired within family walls, to seep out down the neighborhood.

If it can stand that test, it should go on and on until it floods the world.

Well, maybe this is too much noise about the universal family of man (woman) when the simple family unit is in enough trouble these days.

And it's from the same old thing—people junking an idea as not good enough, when it's the people not being good enough for the idea.

Still, it's true that most of us family-type people have fallen short of even realizing what the idea is. If experimenters in other ways of living together can point up how to perfect our practices, so much the better.

Because we must have family.

How else can we learn the fairness, alliance, mutuality intercommunication, love, and yearning (F.A.M.I.L.Y.) that make life and the world functionable.

There used to be a time when if you had a portable steam engine, and you had a sawmill, you could go into a location and set up a business. In this picture from the old times around Boyne City, one enterprising crew did that, cut a few logs, and then stopped to have their picture taken by the photographer of the day. And then back to work cutting the hemlock and white pine so it could be shipped down to rebuild Chicago or some place. If you have any pictures, drop them off at our office so we could copy them and share them with our readers.

East Jordan Presbyterian Church has new pastor

On Sunday evening, Dec. 5, the Rev. Dr. Donald W. Ferguson will be installed by Mackinac Presbytery as the 17th pastor in the 100-year history of the First Presbyterian Church of East Jordan. The service will take place at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church. Serving on the installing commission will be the moderator of the presbytery, the Rev. Barney Roepcke, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Elk Rapids; the Rev. Rebecca Clokey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Harbor Springs; the Rev. Alfred J. Fryer, associate pastor of the First Congregational Church of Traverse City; the Rev. Robert E. Kyser, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Petoskey; and elders Edwin Mawby of the Presbyterian Church of Traverse City, and Betty Armstrong of the East Jordan church.

Dr. Ferguson is a graduate of Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio. He earned his Master of Divinity degree from Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, and his Doctor of Ministry degree from McCormick Theological Seminary. He began his ministry serving as pastor of the Chatham United Presbyterian Church in Chicago, Ill. During its developmental years, from 1958 through 1976, he pastored the Presbyterian Church of Traverse City. He comes to East Jordan from the Highland Sixth United Presbyterian Church, located in Highland Heights, Ohio—a suburb of Cleveland.

Dr. Ferguson's wife Mary Ann ("Nan") attended Muskingum College and Ohio State University. She owned and operated the Westminister Nursery School in Traverse City for 10 years. Since that time she has been a realtor in Traverse City and Cleveland, as well as an active participant in the life and work of the church. During 1979 she earned her G.R.I. designation in real estate.

The Fergusons have a married son, D. Robb, in Munising, Michigan where he has a private law practice and also serves as city attorney. A daughter Laurie Ann, lives in Columbus, Ohio where she is a mental health worker at the Rosemount School for Girls.

Dr. Ferguson's father, the late Rev. Dr. D.L. Ferguson at one time served the First Presbyterian Church of Harbor Springs, retiring from that pastorate and the active ministry in 1962.

Christmas party to be held for Grandvue patients

Christmas will be observed at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility when its Auxiliary meets on December 9 for its monthly meeting.

Each member has been asked to bring an ornament for the Christmas tree. Steven Stargardt of the vocal music department of the Charlevoix schools will present a program of Christmas music and lead the singing of Christmas carols. Members of the auxiliary from Boyne City will host the observance which will be attended by patients as well as members.

"We dispense with business and make this a real Christmas party for everyone at the facility," a spokesperson for the auxiliary said.

At the recent meeting at which plans for the December meeting were made, the question was asked: What is the Auxiliary and what has it done for the Grandvue Medical Care Facility since it was organized in 1969?

It was explained that the Auxiliary is strictly a service organization dedicated to serving the facility and its patients in any way possible approved by the administration.

Since its organization, the Auxiliary has raised and spent on equipment and an amount in excess of $35,000, according to Phyllis Malpass, treasurer.

The expenditures have included the purchase of two Century tubs which are combinations of bath tubs and whirlpools, an occupational therapy chair, 13 wheelchairs, cabinets for the occupational therapy department, 12 dining room tables, 24 dining room chairs, 16 card tables, 24 stack chairs, 18 lounge chairs.

Other purchases include furniture and draperies for the day room, furniture for the parlor, equipment for the beauty parlor operated for the patients, a television set, a table and flower boxes for the patio, pictures for the hallways and a sewing machine.

In addition, the auxiliary contributed $1,000 toward a new fence at the front of the facility, purchased a communion set, music books and hymnals for the chapel, a roster bearing patients' names and room numbers which is mounted at the front door, artificial Christmas trees plus trimmings and lights for them, an electric razor, and books for the nurses' library.

The auxiliary also purchases film for Dr. Robert G. Martin who takes pictures of patients, without charge, so their families might have them.

Auxiliary members also serve as volunteers, doing various work for and with the patients. The Auxiliary has a memorial fund to which persons may contribute in memory of someone or to just make a contribution. These funds are used to support a scholarship fund for high school graduates interested in some career relating to the field of health. The scholarship fund was established in 1973. Any contribution to the auxiliary must be designated for this organization, it was emphasized.

The Auxiliary supports its projects through an annual Tag Day held in July and two Games parties and bakes sales held in April and October.

Meetings are held at 2 p.m. the second Thursday of every month except January and February. Dues are $2.00 per year for active members; $3.00 for inactive members and $50 for a life membership.

The Auxiliary presently has 85 members including 44 active; 29 inactive and 12 life members.

Present officers are Joanna Gunn of Charlevoix, president; Dolores Rasch of Boyne City, first vice president; Betty Yenni of East Jordan, president-elect; Phyllis Malpass of East Jordan, treasurer; Jean Korhase of Boyne City, recording secretary; Joanne Schenck of East Jordan, corresponding secretary; and Lucille Dolwick of Boyne City, historian.

Harborside Sports opens in downtown Boyne

The new Harborside Sports on Lake Street is something its owner, Andy Place, has thought about for years. Place grew up in Boyne City, always liking athletics. It was athletics for him in college, too. After working for Kaden's on his return, he decided he wanted to help out Gary Schafer with Schafer's sports equipment department, which Schafer has since closed in favor of computers. So Place now has his own sports shop, featuring ski equipment at present. Place says he himself has just recently gone into cross-country skiing and he's very excited about it. The shop carries sport clothing, also. This spring will see increased stock in other sporting goods—running shoes, dance-exercise leotards. He will have wind-surfers, too, Place says, with demonstrations. "We're well-located," he says, "so you can slip into the lake and try one out." The business is a small corporation, Place says, and adds, he has had a lot of encouragement from different people downtown, about which he is very appreciative. He has renovated the interior of what was formerly the newspaper office, "just a little," he says. And for psychological warmth, he has installed the old woodstove from The Depot. When he's not keeping store, Place will be out cross-country skiing. His wife Cindi skis, too. And so will daughter Amy, he hopes, when she gets a little older.

EJ seniors practice for "Off with his head"

Some seniors at East Jordan High School come to school at 6:45 a.m. each morning and try to feel hilarious as they practice the lines of the senior play, which this year will be a comedy called "Off With His Head." Their drama coach, Thomas Sheridan, said the students had picked the play last year. Seniors taking part in the cast are: Kathie Joyce as Carol Preston, Brad Petrie as Harry Preston, Karen Alger as Madame Bali, Karen Stanek as Madame's daughter, Loren Rullmann as Brian McFeld, John Telgenhof as Bill Mullin, Julie McKenny as Barbara Mullin, Cheryl Postma as Sally Garrett, Mike Ciszewski as Tony Garrett, Sue Haney as Martha, Tim Schmitt as Mr. Jason, Mollie Forster as Mrs Jason, Hanna Loytyniemi as Madame Casandra, and Michelle Bos and Mickey Puroll as two doctors. Seniors will also be in charge of lights, props, advertising, and tickets. There will be a matinee performance for senior citizens and the sixth and seventh grade students on Thursday, Dec. 2 at 1 p.m. The evening performance, for which tickets will be sold, will be on Saturday, Dec. 4 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $2.

Sheridan said the three-act play by Frank Priore is set in New York City with contemporary sorcery and other mild madness, "guaranteed to make you laugh."

Char-Em to do survey

If the phone rings at your home between 5:00 and 9:00 p.m. around November 29th, you may be asked your opinion concerning educational priorities, according to survey that is going to be conducted by volunteers for the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

The volunteers, 96 of them, have been recruited from twelve local school districts that make up Char-Em. They will be trained in three training sessions during the day Nov. 29th.

A total of 400 interviews will be completed to guarantee a sampling error of better than 95 percent. All answers will be confidential. The questions have been developed by the project Outreach staff at the request of the State Board of Education. Local questions and concerns have also been included for the educators in the district.

The results of the survey will be announced at the Char-Em board's winter meeting. James S. Shephard, Char-Em Superintendent requests that all residents that are called, take a few minutes to answer the questions. According to Shephard, the answers will be invaluable to the educators in our counties and in Michigan as we face these times of declining resources.

Protect plants now to save winter damage

Unless you take steps now to protect your landscape plants against wildlife damage, you could have some unpleasant surprises awaiting you next spring.

Glenn Dudderar, Extension wildlife specialist at Michigan State University, says moles, squirrels, mice, rabbits and deer can do a great deal of damage by feeding on bulbs, shrubs and trees.

Moles, chipmunks, squirrels and mice will feed on spring bulbs, especially on the new shoots as they sprout in the spring. These rodents will not bother bulbs sprinkled with thiram fungicide, but thiram labeled as a fungicide is not labeled for use as an animal repellent. To be within the letter of the law, you must use the thiram labeled as an animal repellent.

Rabbits and mice will gnaw the bark from shrubs and young trees during the winter. If you have just a few shrubs or trees, cylinders of 1/4-inch mesh hardware cloth should do the trick. Hardware cloth will shield plants against both mice and rabbits. If rabbits are the only problem, chicken wire will do. Whatever you use, make sure it reaches at least 2 feet above the average snow depth in that part of the lawn.

A lot of shrubs grow in forms that make wire rodent guards impractical. Then chemical repellents are the only choice.

In Service

Navy Electronics Technician 2nd Class Dennis M. Shippe, son of Lyle K. and Nancy J. Shippe of East Jordan, recently participated in the rescue of 51 Vietnamese refugees.

He is a crewmember aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Bainbridge, homeported in San Diego.

A P-3 "Orion" aircraft from Patrol Squadron Nine spotted the refugees about 240 miles northeast of the Singapore Strait. Following verification, the Bainbridge changed course to investigate. The refugees were found to be in need of assistance, but in good health, after nine days at sea.

The Bainbridge is 565 feet long and carries a crew of 470, with flag staff accommodations for an additional 18.

Staff Sgt. Janet L. Sizemore, daughter of James Daniels of 232 Court St., Boyne City, has been decorated with the Air Force Achievement Medal at the Pentagon, Washington.

The medal is awarded to airmen for achievement or meritorious service and acts of courage.

Sizemore is a communications systems specialist with the 2044th Communications Group.

Her mother, Rose M. Daniels, is also a resident of Boyne City.

Her husband, Benjamin, is the son of Myrtle Sizemore of Benham, Ky.

The sergeant is a 1972 graduate of Lee M. Thurston High School, Detroit.

Boyerne City Commission Minutes

RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE REGULARLY MONTHLY MEETING OF THE BOYNE CITY COMMISSION DULY CALLED AND HELD IN THE COMMISSION CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1982 AT 7:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, Commissioners Thelma Behling, Steven Moody, Martin Paul and William Grimm. Absent: None. Also Present: City Manager Timothy J. Clifton, City Clerk Tom Garlock, City Treasurer Edith Beck and City Attorney William McTaggart.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Fitzpatrick to approve the following minutes, as corrected: 1. Tuesday, October 12, 1982 at 12:00 noon. 2. Tuesday, October 21, 1982 at 7:00 p.m. 3. Tuesday, October 19, 1982 at 12:00 noon. 4. Tuesday, October 26, 1982 at 12:00 noon. 5. Tuesday, November 2, 1982 at 12:00 noon.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

James Allen, 121 N. Park Street, inquired about the street shoulder work being done at Behling's Market, adjacent to his home and asked if his driveway and shoulder grade will be affected.

The City Manager pointed out that weather permitting, repairs will be done to finish the job before winter sets in and that the general area will be repaired.

Moved by Grimm, seconded by Moody that Thursday, November 11, 1982 be declared Veterans' Day in the City of Boyne City.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Mayor Fitzpatrick opened a Public Hearing at 7:10 p.m. for citizen input on the rezoning of a 10-acre parcel of land on M-75 adjacent to St. Matthew's Catholic Church on the East from Industrial to Commercial.

There being no citizen input, the Public Hearing was closed at 7:11 p.m.

Moved by Grimm, seconded by Fitzpatrick to accept the Second Reading of the Amendment to the Zoning Ordinance A-28, following the recommendation from the Planning Commission to re-zone a 10-acre parcel of land on M-75 adjacent to St. Matthew's Catholic Church on the east, from Industrial to Industrial/General Commercial, said legal description as follows: -Property Tax Code No. 15-51-336-166-00: In the City of Boyne City, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, described to-wit: Commencing 20 rods West of the Southeast corner of the Southwest Quarter of Section 36, Town 33, North, Range 6 West, running thence North 80 rods; thence West 20 rods; thence south 80 rods; thence East 20 rods to the place of beginning, being the West 1/4 of the East 1/4 of the Southeast 1/4 of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 36, Town 33 North, Range 6 West.

In addition, the City Commission goes on record to accept the map change, based on Section 2.50 of the Zoning Ordinance, Part C: The amendment request to change, create, extend or reduce a mapped zoning district, the Commission found: -1. The desired use would not be a conditional use in that district; 2. That the property could be reasonably used as presently zoned; 3. The City Land Use Plan generally supports the desired use of Commercial/Industrial. The desired use is not contrary to the established land use patterns in the area; 5. The desired use would not significantly change characteristics of the area; 6. The rezoning would not be spot-zoning because of adjacent use and not special privilege to one land owner; 7. The change is consistent to existing use; 8. The plans for an Air/Industrial Park are the only changes in the area. 9. There is no other site within the City available because of space needed; 10. The change is considered consistent with needs of the Community (no adverse testimony in public hearing); 11. It cannot be determined if it would stimulate other changes; 12. May impact/change one adjacent lot; 13. The boundaries are a platted, defined parcel and would not be considered inappropriate; 14. There was no mistake in the original ordinance. This amendment shall take immediate effect. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Behling, seconded by Grimm to authorize Change Order #1, to the Contract between the City of Boyne City and C. H. Smith and Company, in the amount of $9,715.18, for additional services rendered on the CIP project, as authorized. Sufficient funds were budgeted and are available within the Fiscal Year 1982/1983 Capital Improvement Program Budget as follows: $112,600 - C.I.P. Budget as Adopted, less $8,000 Reduction in General Revenue Sharing, Plus $2,500 Transfer from Contingency Reserve, totals $107,100 - C.I.P. Budget-Amended, less $15,000 Engineering, less $10,000 - Street Lights, equals $82,100 - Amount Remaining for Construction Contract. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Fitzpatrick to adopt the following Resolution: RESOLVED That it is hereby deemed advisable to enter into a contract with the Consumers Power Company, of Jackson, Michigan, for furnishing streetlighting service within the City of Boyne City for a period of five years and thereafter from year to year, in accordance with the terms of the contract heretofore submitted to and considered by this Commission; and RESOLVED, Further, that the City Manager and City Clerk be and are authorized and directed to execute such contract on behalf of the City of Boyne City. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager transmitted the monthly financial statement for October, 1982. The report was ordered filed.

Moved by Behling, seconded by Grimm, to waive the rule of individual resolutions and reappoint the following persons to various Commissions in a single Resolution, as follows: 1. Reappoint Kate Schafer for a 3-year term on the Planning Commission. Term to expire 10-1-85.
