Scenes from Snow Blast '83

The smirk on Garfield's face makes one think that he is planning to do something with the fire plug. This snow sculpture took first prize for Nancy Brooks. Second prize for their Pac man and blue whale went to the 4th and 6th graders of East Jordan elementary.

Winners of the cross country treasure hunt included Billy Gotts with 2nd place, Terry Barker with 1st, and Kelly Barber with 3rd.

Square dancing at the Civic Center was the agenda for Friday evening.

The radar gun shoots the speed of an oncoming snow machine on the South Arm ice Saturday afternoon. Top speed registered was 77 miles per hour.

One of the more popular things to try for the kids was this pair of double-mounted cross country skis at the Snowmobile Club.

With a mighty heave-ho the ten strong men pulled for their team at the Lion's Club tug-of-war. The call from Crew's Inn ended up as champions after a series of pulls that eliminated the other teams.

BC Seniors ask for additional day in center for lunches

Senior citizens turn out, 50-60 strong some days, for noon dinner at the Boyne City Senior Center.

Up till now the senior citizen noon meal has been served from Tuesday through Friday in the city hall auditorium. Senior Center director Leanna Hardy asked the city commission Tuesday, Feb. 8 if the seniors could schedule Monday, as well.

The commission responded favorably, and city manager Tim Clifton said he would see about arranging it, as long as some stipulations could be included.

Of course, the city keeps the right to reserve the auditorium in advance for city functions. Also, the Friendship Club has reserved one Monday a month for its luncheon.

The commissioners agreed that the original four-day schedule was evolved from funding limitations. But, commissioner Thelma Behling pointed out, if one more meal a week is provided, that's all to the good, because many, as the result of living alone, fail to provide themselves proper nourishment.

Hardy said if the five-day program starts, it can't be interrupted. The commissioners suggested alternate arrangements for days when the auditorium is in use.

The seniors have used the Methodist Church on such occasions. Their proposal in conjunction with Boyne City schools, for an addition built onto the high school turned out not to be feasible, and no space at the school seems to be available.

Building their own center so that the meals could be prepared on the premises instead of having to be sent over from the East Jordan center, has been a dream out of reach for the group.

The result of the commissioners' noon meeting is that the seniors will at least have a rent-free place for dining nearly every weekday—along with their compact office quarters—at the city hall.

Breakey airs concern over AFS to East Jordan council

"I merely asked the council for some direction," said East Jordan's county commissioner Tom Breakey.

Breakey has been trying to plumb the amount of interest, existing in the area in general, on the Automated Flight System center that the Federal Aeronautics Agency wants located in Michigan.

"I wasn't asking their support on a county vote proposal," Breakey noted. And the council certainly wasn't offering any. Councilwoman Pat Sweet responded for the council: "Do you want us all to groan in unison?" she asked with a smile.

Breakey explained later that the purpose of the federal proposal is to replace the present centers, scattered around the state, with one pilot information center, thus taking advantage of the recent improvements in communications.

A number of counties have been vying for the opportunity to build the center, and Breakey named Emmet and Otsego, as well as Charlevoix, among others he knows about.

Otsego residents recently went so far as to vote two to one to support center construction, should Otsego be given the nod by the FAA.

Breakey said, however, the ballot wording was ambiguous and the necessary millage wasn't mentioned.

In Charlevoix County, Breakey said, very few people seem to know anything about the proposal.

But, he went on, it's a hot issue among those who do know. It could even be possible that this county would have a vote similar to Otsego's.

Probably the chief reason for county interest in having the center would be the rumored $3,000,000 payroll. While the county would have to build the facility with its own funds and rent it back to the federal government for a dollar a year, the federal government would be paying the salaries for possibly 50 jobs involved.

But they wouldn't be jobs for people now in the area, Breakey cautioned. The technologists would mainly be professionals, being brought in to provide the automated weather information for both commercial airlines and private flights.

The plan is for approximately one such station per state; thus, the most advantageous positioning is desired. Breakey said the fact that the nearest automated flight system is at Green Bay, Wisconsin makes it less likely that Charlevoix would be favored over some more centrally located place like Gaylord.

Further, if it were in Charlevoix

County, it would be at the Charlevoix airport. The center employees would be inclined to live in the Charlevoix area, and this was another reason for East Jordan to be uninterested.

Charlevoix's city manager, Robert Hunt, said, however, that there isn't enough housing available in the city itself. Many of the new employees would certainly be buying in the townships and other cities, he said.

Right after the city council meeting a man, who said he had been a flight controller for four years, said any pilot who has an altitude of at least 500 feet can call a station in Ohio or Indiana. He said the pilot information center was not needed at all. If, however, it were established, he said, of course, pilots would use it.

Another resident who is aware of the project but did not wish to be named, said there is a toll-free service for pilots to any pilot information center.

He added that it bothered him that the federal government was getting the communities to bidding against each other to pay for a building which should be paid for by the FAA.

The FAA, he said, collects users' fees from everyone using the airwaves, and should pay for the center from these funds.

Sportsman's Park out for weir says DNR official

The Jordan River channel by Sportsman's Park has been ruled out as a site for the lamprey weir, according to an announcement made at the East Jordan city council meeting February 1. A spokesman for the club said it would have saved on the funding to put the weir in at the park.

The point was that the park belongs to the city, but no such advantage accrues to the proposed site above Rogers Bridge, where land adjoining the weir must be purchased, he said.

The Department of Natural Resources projects that the weir will go in by the end of 1984.

One reason offered for rejecting the park site is the possibility of flooding.

Turned over to the Tourist Park for study was the question of fee collection from boat slips to be built at the Tourist Park.

City superintendent Mike Dionne said later that the Tourist Park plan calls for about 40 small boat slips "mainly for the camper trade," but some may be held for local rental.

No grant money is yet available for their construction, but Dionne said they are still exploring.

Mayor Bill Merwin asked that seniors attending council meetings henceforth present their more complicated problems in writing to the clerk by 10 a.m. the Friday morning before the council meeting in order that copies may be made and distributed to council members for study before the meeting.

He said further that a 10-minute limit was placed on what each person had to say to the council at a regular meeting.

Personal attacks and vendettas, Merwin said, would be ruled out of order.

Good crowds, good time had at Snow Blast '83 says Shea

They skied. They danced. They ate and ate. And probably above all, they snowmobiled last weekend at the East Jordan Winter Festival—Snow Blast '83.

"We had good crowds. People had a good time," said Chamber of Commerce director Judy Shea.

This was the city's second annual celebration—much better than last year's, which was postponed and spoiled by unfavorable weather.

The Trailblazer's Guided Safari streamed off to Elmira on Friday afternoon. Something like 25 machines went on the round trip.

On Friday evening a country dance drew some very snappy performances from area musicians, playing from the new stage donated by the Lions Club. Couples came from out of town to join the local crowd, for square-and-round-dancing at the Civic Center.

Saturday began with a cross country treasure hunt, skied by participants of various age levels. Something like 30 skiers went off in a cloud of snow from point to point after different treasure goals.

Coming in first was Terry Barker. Billy Gotts took second, and Kelly Barber was third prize winner. Prizes were from Summit Ski and Sports Shop of Gaylord, which also supplied skis for the occasion.

For each of those who believed they had the fastest snowmobile in the north, radar runs on South Arm ice settled the question. Saturday afternoon Don Zeigler turned in a speed of 77 miles per hour. Second place went to Bill Merwin, and third to Ray Ellsworth.

A series of tug-of-war skirmishes at the Tourist Park wound up with the 10-man crew from Crews Inn as the champs. J and J Family Arcade was second and Hoffman's Excavating was third. It is hoped that all those clicking cameras picked up the flushed faces and statuesque postures of the fairly unmovable contestants.

Saturday night everyone tramped out to Crews Inn for a Las Vegas night, but not before warming up with hot spaghetti dinners, cooked by the VFW.

Not that they hadn't been snacking all day from the Snowmobile Club's concession stand.

The club members were also back on the job Sunday morning at 6 a.m. to start serving their famous Snowmobile Club Sunday breakfasts out on Alja Road.

Shortly after noon Sunday the Poker Run started. The race was sponsored by the Chamber, Summit Ski and Sports, and Radio Station WKYQ.

Best hand in the over-60 class was Norm Bartlett's. In the under-18, it was Arnold Smith. In the 18 to 60 category, winners were: first, Glen Derenzy, second, Ray Ellsworth, and third, Carol King.

The snow sculpture contest, judged by sculptor Walter Midener, produced masterpieces all over town. Outside the Family Health Center stood their logo, life-sized, done in modern simplicity. Downtown, an ice-blue touring car, parked off-street, turned out to be truly blued ice.

First prize was awarded to Nancy Brooks for a composition called Garfield the Cat and Fire Hydrant.

The fourth and sixth graders received second prize for their Pac Man and Blue Whale. Snow Machine, by Jamie Vincent, Ted Jeffrey, and Jim Testa, took third. And the Peters family's huge yellow duck won honorable mention.

We applaud the cuts Gov. Blanchard is making

According to Governor Blanchard in his State of the State address, he will be issuing an executive order that includes a 60-million dollar cut in the Department of Social Services budget.

The action will also include a lot of other cuts in the various departments that make up the state and will total some 225 million dollars in savings for the state.

To all these cuts, and quite a few of them will definitely hurt us here in Charlevoix County, we say it is about time.

The Department of Social Services here in Charlevoix County alone gives out, according to the most recent figures, $4,063,652. The two largest expenditures being Medicaid with $1,579,390 and the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (ADC) with $1,361,946. Even food stamps here in the county total almost $800,000.

This money is yours and ours that is doled out locally to deserving, and sometimes non-deserving families here in the county. The amount may be almost as much money that we send in to the state.

The cuts that Blanchard is proposing would not affect each program equally. The cut proposed for the Social Services Department is only 3.6 percent of its general fund budget. So the Governor is hedging a little bit to help protect our workers that are unemployed and out of benefits.

But, these cuts and the others that he is proposing will not bring our state out of the woods and moving towards ending the deficit spending spree our legislators are foisting on us. They will only help. He also needs an income tax hike, but that is another problem.

While we applaud the cuts in the spending of the Social Services Department, we do it with some remorse because of the situation locally. Only lately have the local employers started to hire back some of the laid off workers. The majority of those receiving benefits (food stamps, Medicaid, General assistance and other forms), surely do need them to survive. But, if the state reduces the programs to reasonable levels and tightens up the controls making it harder to get them, we believe that the state will be better off and it will become a better state in which to live, work and enjoy.

Possibly, those who are cheating on the system will be forced to live elsewhere or be forced to take some job that will change them from a "taker" of society to a "giver", so that hopefully, the state can get back some of the funds it distributed when the times were tough.

Maybe, just maybe, the present Governor can pull our state out of the state it's in.

Remembrances

This is a picture of the casting room floor of the Pig Iron Plant that was located in East Jordan. The blast furnace is the large round item that was located in the middle of the room. The hot iron would be drained out of the furnace into the large ditch that was dug into the floor. From there, the molten metal would be directed by a series of dams out to where the pigs were cast. Those are the darker spaces shown in the picture. Since women were usually not allowed out into the plant when the casting was taking place, this picture was taken during a break in the operation and usually shows the entire workforce of the plant. These type of pictures were very popular back then, as this picture is dated 1911. It was donated to us by Miss Helen Larson of Boyne City. If you have any pictures of the old days, bring them in so we can share them with our readers.

I bit my thumb and bit my thumb trying to decide what to write about this week. Several neighbors came and brought their lunch, figuring that if they couldn't help me decide, they could at least help me sit and stare into space.

After a while the foolish corner of my brain began to act up. It caused me to tell about the man who said, "I read your column last week and, if you ask me, I think you are off in the upper story." Ha! He didn't know the half of it. He should see the condition of my lower story.

After reading this my neighbors got up and went home, saying that I should have bit my thumb a little longer.

Remember how men used to pay a whole dollar for a pocket watch? And remember how they went out of style when drug stores began charging eight and ten dollars for those dollar watches? The same thing happened to candy. It went out of style when stores began charging thirty cents for two cents worth. Well, I find something strange about this.

A twenty-five cent loaf of bread is now a dollar, but the bread has not gone out of style. My wife thinks nothing of asking me to pick up a couple of loaves of bread that cost two dollars, plus tax. When I was a poor boy, today's tax on bread would have paid for the bread.

A person can cry about this until the cows come home but it won't do any good; and I'll tell you why. Long about the time merchants began jacking up prices, the council outlawed cows in Boyne City. So the subject of today's high prices compared to when I was a poor boy is a dead horse no matter what.

(P.S.—There is no tax on bread. But I was so mad when I wrote it that I forgot about that.)

Hello, is this Mr. So and So?

Yes, it is. Well, Mr. So and So, my husband and I have been wondering if you would be interested in becoming a surrogate father. You see...

Just a minute. What do you mean by surrogate?

Well, it means a substitute or an alternative. You know...

No, I don't. We'll pay you ten thousand dollars if you will.....

Ten thousand. Wow! Let me look up "surrogate" in my dictionary. Ah, here it is. It says here that it also means dummy. Wow! Wait until Boyne City wakes up and hears about this.

Listen Mr. So and So. This involves a child. You know, like you have been reading about in all the papers.

Child. No Sir! Not for a minute I'm too smart for that. If he grew up to become a Republican president you might drag me through the courts and sue me for all I'm worth. It makes me mad everytime someone drags me through the courts and sues me for all I'm worth.

Just a moment, Mr. So and So, let me talk to my husband. Buzzzzzzzzzz. Buzzzzzzzzzz. You're right, Mr. So and So. He says we should see if it is at all possible to find a dumber dummy. Sorry to have gotten your hopes up.

Gotten my hopes up! What was she talking about? I wasn't hoping for ten thousand dollars. Heavens, no. In fact, I hate the way our modern people do things. Hate it, hate it, hate it!

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

One would think that winter time up here in the North means a time of sitting around the fire trying to keep warm. Or enjoying the move to the South to do the same thing, but in reality, the North in the wintertime means a lot of outdoor activities.

I think that I have spent most of my weekends out of doors so that I could keep up with all the activities that are going on around us, not to mention all the times I have been out shoveling snow away from the front doors.

January, which is the coldest month, has to be a winner for making me get out into the weather. First, there was a ski race. Then, a trip to the woods. Then, the Smeltania festival, and this last weekend, the East Jordan Snow Blast.

You would think that most of the folks would want to hole up for the winter, but after lookinz at all the crowds at some of these winter events, it isn't so.

One of the most popular events of the Snow Blast was the Lions club tug of war. Grown men out on top of a specially built snow bank, pulling against another group of grown men just has to be slightly crazy.

But, it is all part of the fun of living in these areas. Friends against friends to see who is the best. And the prize for straining yourself is just the knowledge that your team was the better.

The Snow Blast, from my point of view, was successful. Sure, it could have had more people having fun at the Cross Country event, but the ones that were there certainly had some fun. And sure, there could have been a lot more snow sculptures, but I enjoyed looking at the ones they had. And sure, more snowmobiles could have lined up for the radar run...and more people could have come out to play in the snow, but, all in all, a good time was had.

In the old days, one of the stories about the North was that in the winter time, the people up here just drank beer and made babies but I know better, everyone up here may do that, but they do a whole lot more too. Like have fun fishing, skiing, plowing, working, and pulling for the glory of the team.

My usual fare on a quiet weekend morning is to read the Detroit newspapers so that I can keep in touch with the world. And watching my children watch the television watching the old movies that I grew up with in my youth. Then after a leisurely breakfast, I start the old bones working. Working on trying to figure out how I could work in a nap before watching the sports shows. Television is sure great for wanting to stay at home and wasting a few hours that possibly could be put to better use.

In this kind of business, you can't do too much of that or else the overtime catches up with you when you have to make up for it. It is the same with most businesses. The owners spend much of their non working time working, trying to make their shops cleaner, or get their bookkeeping chores done on Sundays or weekday nights. Such is the life of a small merchant, trying to make things better for everyone.

Hudson Township treasurer resigns citing "feelings"

Saying that, "the feelings of the few people who object to my husband serving as supervisor as long as I am treasurer," the resignation of Joan Wasylewski was accepted by the Hudson Township Board at last Wednesday night's meeting.

Mrs. Wasylewski ended her nearly 11 years on the board as treasurer on April 1.

The letter of resignation was in response to her husband, Frank Wasylewski, being appointed to the position of township supervisor last month. His application appointing him was one of two received by the board when they were looking for a supervisor after Don Griffith had to resign due to his getting a job with the government and the law says that he could not hold an elected position while in the employment of the federal government.

The township board will be accepting applications from candidates in the 45 days after Mrs. Wasylewski's resignation is official. In her letter of resignation, Mrs. Wasylewski said that she enjoyed serving the township and working with the board.

In a previous article in the Press, one of the two applicants for the supervisor's position indicated that they may

Hawkins takes 9th at 1-500 enduro

Grant "Bill" Hawkins of Boyne City finished in ninth place at the 15th annual 1-500 snowmobile race that was held at Sault Ste. Marie last Saturday. Hawkins was a previous two time winner of the race having won in 1977 and 1980.

He used his tried and true Yamaha machine this year and ended up leading for several laps. Hawkins started from the 28th grid position before he started to work his way through the field to end up with the $600 ninth place prize money. He also won $210 in lap money for leading 42 laps during the race.

Hawkins and his co-drivers, Steve Fink of Petoskey and Dave Bomers are from Owosso. Hawkins wasn't going to race this season, but like to become the township treasurer.

Glen's gives away 1st million

With one million dollars given away, Glen's Markets is moving towards its second million. The Save-Share program started in June 1972, and, as their newsletter states, was set up to give community organizations and groups a means for earning money for projects that would help improve the community.

Michigan give one percent of the totals on green cashier tickets to each registered group bringing in their accumulated tickets. East Jordan Athletics Boosters Club tops the East Jordan list with a share of over $5,000 to pay for school athletics. A group called Un-sung Heroes in Manclona collected over $3,000 in a successful effort to buy a wheelchair lift for a war veteran.

Martin Braman, manager of the East Jordan store since 1978 said he didn't know how many people in the city have benefitted directly, but over 30 groups have participated. The newsletter notes that the money comes from the markets' advertising budget. "As Save-Share grows," it said, "Glen's Markets slowly cuts back on their advertising."

Local students earn degrees

Students from this area were among those awarded degrees at Central Michigan University at the end of the fall session in December.

In all, some 2,000 students received degrees from CMU in Dec. Boyne Falls: Laurie

Ann Carson, English, B. S. in Ed. East Jordan: Ruth Gobel, teachers of emotionally impaired, B.S. in Ed.

Falls moves into 3-way tie with win

BY PAUL THEISEN
Boyne Falls grabbed another win this last Friday night, and moved into a first place tie in the Northern Lakes Conference when they beat the Wolverine Wildcats 60-42.

The win tied the Loggers with Ellsworth and Wolverine in the first place for the league.

In the game with Wolverine, the Loggers maintained a straight lead throughout the game, ending the first quarter with a 17-7 lead taking charge from the opening tipoff. Halftime brought the score up to 27-17, with the Loggers still retaining a 10 point lead. As the third quarter ended, the against eight losses. Tuesday, in Elk Rapids, the Ramblers took an overtime thriller with a little luck and a lot of clutch shooting by Mike Harris. The Ramblers were trailing by four points with 1:58 remaining in the game when Harris sunk a pair of free throws and the tying field goal to send the game into overtime. Elk Rapids made the first OT bucket, but Harris responded to sink three of four shots from the charity stripe to give Boyne City a 61-55 win. After trailing for the entire first half, the Boyne team tallied in the third quarter and brought the score up even to make the overtime effort. Going into the overtime, the score was tied at 53-53.

Harris finished the game with 15 points, seven of eight charity shots, while teammate Jeffabos hit for 14 points. Paul White led the Elks with 14 points. Boyne lost the JV game, 45-41 as Elk Rapids hit three clutch free throws in the closing seconds.

On Friday night the Ramblers took on the super hot Roger City Hurons, and ended up on the short end of the score with the Hurons taking a 72-56 victory on their home floor. Rogers City took a 16-10 lead after the first eight minute quarter, stretched the advantage to 38-29 at the half, let Boyne get a little closer in the third quarter before cruising out to a 21-10 scoring advantage in the final stanza.

For the Ramblers, Brad Musser and Jeff Gabos each tallied a dozen points.

Kent Karsten had 21 points, Max Hogan sunk 20 and Steve Urban added 10 more for the Hurons.

Boyne won the JV contest 66-48 with Mike Gabos dropping in 16 points, Merle Carson hitting on 14 and Steve Rickard adding 10.

Gregware takes medal in conference

Joe Gregware took one of the medals in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference wrestling meet that was held last Saturday at Charlevoix when he took a fourth place finish in the 145 pound class.

Boyne City finished in eighth place in the developing program at the school with 19 points. The winner of the meet, Petoskey, earned 176½ to outpace Gaylord.

The next meet for the young wrestlers will be the state regional championships that will be held this Saturday at Grayling.

Loggers raised the score up to 40-24 lead over the Wildcats. The fourth quarter continued in the same way as the Loggers went to the win column in the standings. Earlier in JV action, Billy Sparks of Boyne Falls gained a big 38 points in the winning effort over the JV Wildcats when Boyne Falls won 70-66.

Devil's trounced 93-63

added 18 buckets and added 27 of 34 from the line.

For East Jordan, Dan Nachazel led the scoring honors by putting up 12 points on the board. Bob Finch added 11 more for the Red Devils in the losing effort.

The seed catalogs! The fruit tree catalogs! Perennials catalogs! A regular blizzard of them.

Do you stand at the window and figure where you could put in a row of blueberry bushes so they won't shade out something else, planted last year? If not blueberry, then peonies or roses to make your garden life complete. Until next catalog time.

I think of last year's garden. Mainly it was supposed to be perennials—iris, forget-me-not, daylilies, one rose plant, that sort of thing. No work, except for weeding.

But the problem with weeding is, when the so-called weeds start, they are such innocent babies. There's lambs quarters—good human food. Can't pull that out.

And tragopogon—really a very graceful wildflower, and I love it when it goes to seed, like dandelion fluff, only four times bigger. Leave that in.

Herb Robert, that sturdy, but delicate-looking plant—it will fill in the bare spots.

The children love to eat "sour-grass." Leave that. And cinquifol is pretty enough to be a real garden flower.

And so on.

Result? By July we are a-thrive with weeds. Anyone seen the roses?

Another plot I'm working on is a garden for bees. No nicotiana in a bee garden!

One year that's all that grew and it smells heavenly. Bees from five miles away were all a-stream to get the nectar, but I suddenly realized they couldn't squeeze into the long trumpet shape of the flower, down to where the nectar was. They were also trying unsuccessfully to bite through the base of the flower from the outside.

It was terrible to see all that bee labor for naught. I cut the blooms and brought them indoors.

A butterfly garden would also be nice—I will have to find out what the different butterflies like besides buddieia.

I have one other garden plot. It would be a mist garden—all the plants would have gray-green leaves. There would be willow and white poplar in the distance. Then, close in would be the flowers—carnations, lemon thyme, chrysanthemums, dusty miller, wild knapweed. Flower colors, especially pink and yellow, look magic with gray-green foliage.

Even cabbages should be there, in groups of five or six, because of their color, and their strong, curling forms for contrast.

And a shadowy blue spruce or two by a gray stone statue.

And in this gray-green world, encrusted with morning dew, little dreams could wander with the mist. And maybe a gray dove would come.

And—well, so much for dreaming by the window on a February day. One thing's sure, though. There will be knapweed. There always is.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eichler arrived back home after spending a month in the Los Angeles, California area.

Last Sunday, Jan. 30, East Jordan had the first Community Interdenominational Singspiration. It was held at the Church of the Everlasting God with pastor, Jimmy McWatters, as the host. Ron Klooster led the congregation in singing and several groups, which represented most of the East Jordan churches, took part.

The program was the most enjoyable event to happen here for some time. Many local churches were represented by special musical numbers and members of the various congregations. It is planned that this event will take place every month that there are five Sundays. The next Community Singspiration will be held in the United Methodist Church on May 22 at 7 p.m. All of the community is invited to attend this event.

Last Wednesday, the United Methodist Youth Fellowship had a unique minister from the Berean Bible Teaching Center. Dr. Bob Reed talked about his deep faith and some of his Bible-based beliefs. On the following Sunday, Jan. 30, the youth went to the center to experience a worship service led by Dr. Reed.

On Saturday, Jan. 29, the United Methodist Youth Fellowship went on their monthly outing. They went cross country skiing and skied until noon and set up a bonfire where they roasted hot dogs and marshmallows. They returned home around 4 p.m. with cold toes and noses.

Please send your news and views to me by Thursday, Millie Walden, P.O. Box 441, East Jordan, MI 49727.
