Grid numbering system urged to top priority

A resolution was passed at the Michigan Township Association Charlevoix Chapter meeting last Monday night, supporting the Township numbering system and asking that the County Commissioners move at great haste in order to get the job done. The system is moving along slowly according to Russ Geeck, one of the people who has been working on the project, because the "Commissioners seem to be sitting on their hands." Geeck made a presentation to the townships concerning the plan and tried to show the townships how the plan is set up for the eventual numbering of the houses in the rural areas of the county. "City houses are already numbered by the Consumers Power Company," according to Geeck, "We are using the same system that Consumers has been using to number the houses in the rural areas of the county." According to the numbering department personnel, the only difference in the numbers will be that the numbers within the city limits will have three digits, while those in the country will have four or five. The numbers for the houses will be provided by the county, and each resident will be asked to install the numbers somewhere where they can be seen from the road. Based on a grid system, the numbers for a house will be picked from a 1000 numbers per section mile of road. This figures out to a number per six feet, approximately, with up to about 25 feet between numbers on some roads being possible. The county is being split up into one-mile grids with a line called the baseline running east and west through the middle of the county. There is also a line running north and south intersecting with the baseline in the middle of the county. From that point, all roads that cross the baseline will be renamed North or South what ever the road is named. Also, all roads that cross the meridian, will be renamed as East or West.

While the numbering department is working only part time on the project, they have determined that a lot of roads are duplicated, or have no known name. It will be up to the townships to name or rename those roads so that the number that is on a house will be the only number in the county with that address. The townships were told by Geeck that the system will not work without road signs. They have found several that were in bad shape or were missing while they have been working on the project. It is up to the townships, according to Geeck, to get the signs installed. While the cost of the road signs is to be born by the townships, the County Road Commission will do the installation. The cost of a sign is about $40 each for the post, cap and sign. The numbering department said that the county will be providing the individual house signs for the residences. They anticipate that the cost for the house signs will be in the area of $1200 to $1500 for the approximately 3000 homes to be numbered. With questions coming from township officials concerning the project, Geeck told them it will take five years to number the entire county if they continue to work on a part-time basis. "Our department is committed to doing the job," he said, "but we are also hired to be inspectors for the Department of Building Inspection, and that has to come first as that is what we were hired to do for the county." Several questions were on how the numbering system would work with the present systems that are being used by the post office and other utilities. Postmaster Frank Jasinski of the Boyne City Post Office told the people that he is looking forward to having the county numbered and that the number would take precedence over the present post office rural route number. One township member told the group that if the numbers were in place, one life could have been saved on an ambulance run that was made some years ago, arrived at a house too late to save the life of a man because the ambulance went to the wrong address. Geeck told the township officials that his department had already measured and numbered, on paper, Norwood Township and that they are ready to continue on to others going across the southern tier of townships within the county. "This project is not going to happen overnight," said Jasinski, "but over years. The growth of the county is going to happen in the rural areas." With the resolution passed, members of the Township association are hoping that the county will hire the people the department needs to get the project done faster.

Residents of Charlevoix County lined up last Wednesday to receive their free bricks of cheese that were given away in the Department of Agriculture surplus food program. Over 996 blocks of the five pound American cheese were given away throughout the day.

Cheese giveaway attracts 100's

Federal surplus cheese went out to 1,700 people in Charlevoix County. That's about 715 families, according to Irene Brannon of the Community Services Center in Boyne City. Opening the Center doors at 10 a.m. on March 23, Brannon said, the Center gave away 5,000 pounds of cheese, worth $12,000. People brought income tax statements, SSI cards, food stamps, and other forms of identification to show they were under the maximum income level necessary to qualify for the free food. Brannon said a second distribution is due on either April 20 or 27, possibly with butter, also.

Cheese will also be carried to shut-ins, Brannon said. The Center is supported by members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Volunteers did the distribution. In Petoskey, Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency called on groups of volunteers to distribute the cheese in Emmet County. Agency director Bill Knapp said East Jordan may also be tapped to help distribute Charlevoix County's share. Emmet and Charlevoix split the shipment evenly, Knapp explained. He said about 100 blocks of cheese were reserved for Beaver Island. The cheese distributions may continue on a once-a-month basis, Knapp said. "This is to help supplement food costs until times get better." The maximum income limit has been moved up, he added. It is now at $6,075 for one person and for each additional person, it is $2,100 more.

Egg hunt scheduled by Lions

Boyer Valley Lions Club will be sponsoring their Annual Easter Egg Hunt on Easter Sunday, April 3, at Veteran's Memorial Park in Boyne City. Prospective hunters should meet at the pavilion at 12:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded to the winner of each of the following categories: 4 years and under, 5-6 years, 7-8 years, 9-10 years and 11-12 years old.

Depot site plan gets commission nod

The railroad car project at the Depot Restaurant in Boyne City received approval March 29 from the city commission, which was confident an acceptable lease could be drawn up. The lease would be for the 16 feet of Ray Street between the restaurant and the railroad track from the alley to Park Street. For $300 a year, the land will be used for parking the open railroad car the Depot owners wish to use for serving open-air luncheons. Parallel to the open car, the Pullman car will be parked. The Pullman will be used for storage. The caboose, will be rebuilt inside and used for museum exhibits. All three cars were purchased from the now-defunct Boyne Valley Railroad. Restaurant owners, Glen and Lyssa Truitt, thus will shorten the string of railroad cars. The length was one of the complaints made about their purchase. They will also take out the present ramp to build a new one with more compact lines. A planter along the railroad is part of the proposed area improvements. The recommendation for approval by the planning commission came on a 7-2 vote, the objection being that the city was renting land for commercial purposes. But the city commission's view is that the unpaved section of Ray Street which the restaurant will be using, will be going to improve city appearance and preserving city heritage as well as helping a city business. By charter, the contract between the city and the Truitts is subject to renewal every three years.

Land strip donated to city

A strip of land 152 feet wide and nearly the entire length of Rotary Park has been offered to Boyne City. Adjoining the west side of the park for over 1000 feet, the land is at present under the ownership of Dolores M. Crabtree of Chatham, Ontario and John J. Mascot of Livonia. Their offer to donate the lots to the city was accepted by the city commission at the March 29 noon meeting. City manager Tim Clifton said the land could be used as part of the park, or some day put into public housing. He said that an unrecorded, unplatted easement runs along the east line and could possibly be adapted to use as a street, servicing such housing. Three of the lots are over on Pleasant Avenue. Market value of these total $3,800. The lots along Rotary Park, have a total market value of $11,400. None of the land is developed. While the land would be taken off the city tax rolls, Clifton said, the loss of the $122.52 tax could be compensated for in the future. The Harborage to apply for shoreline permit Boyne City commission authorized The Harborage to act in the city's behalf in applying for a permit to alter the shoreline around the end of Water Street. The permit, which would have to come from the Department of Natural Resources, is being processed. Concluded on Page 4

Austere budget faces East Jordan city council

Responding to city council's request for input on how to meet expenses, some 50 people turned out at the East Jordan budget hearing on March 22. A tentative budget of $832,337 was proposed, down from last year's $953,823. Vote on the budget is expected after the March 29 hearing. New reductions were made between March 22 and 29. Elm Pointe received a large share of the comment last week, because the council had offered sale of the city park as a means of meeting expenses, starting in '84-'85. Among those who spoke out against putting the park up for sale was Betty Boswell, Elm Pointe commission member. She pointed out the many contributions made to the park's facilities by private citizens and civic groups. City superintendent Mike Dionne said that much larger expenditures would soon have to be made for upcoming building maintenance. In response to a question, councilwoman Pat Sweet said the sale proposal was not a trick to make the alternative taxing proposal look better. The possibility of asking a city income tax is second choice on the city's list of alternatives, but in itself, the tax did not seem to be an issue with those attending the hearing. The council's issue, Mayor Bill Merwin emphasized, was this year's budget, although the council had requested response on future outlook as well. This year's budget would not be affected by the Elm Pointe question or the income tax proposal, he said, because these would require a citywide vote before the council could act on them. Furthermore, he said, the proposed budget for '83-'84 would meet present expenses, barring unforeseen catastrophe. But after this year, budgeting would become much more difficult. He said the council was trying to look ahead. The problems are three-fold, councilman Keith Kenney pointed out: deep cuts in state revenue-sharing, lower interest rates on city held funds, and the city tax base. Kenney said, "What we have to do is direct our efforts to make the city grow...The problem is we don't have the tax base to support the things we need." Kenney noted that the industrial park out by the airport is "unmarketable" without water/sewer lines, which he said would cost a million dollars to provide. The airport was also a bone of contention among the supporters of Elm Pointe. How good a tourist attraction is the airport, they asked, and said, the city should sell the airport. Another resident, Deanne Hurwitz, asked for data on matching grants. Her point was that although the city benefited from grant money, some city funds were being used to have the work done. Dionne responded that much of the matching was in kind rather than in cash. Resident Mary Bacon presented a petition asking for 24-hour police protection. She said the 45 signatures were "to show public concern." The police department is down to two officers and the chief. A third officer will be hired, the mayor said, to replace the one who recently relocated. Kenney added that the county is being approached on the question of how feasible it would be to have the sheriff's department supplement the city's need for coverage in early morning. Goofing-off of city employees, as it was seen by residents, was a concern. Dionne explained that regulations required one worker to stand by when another was operating in what is classed a dangerous job. But other than that, he invited residents to relay incidents to him, giving date, time, and place. The council's proposal to allow alcoholic beverages for events at public parks and the Civic Center as means of attracting increased use and thereby increasing revenue was also a concern of residents at the meeting. They mentioned the danger of drunk swimmers and said the parks were for family-type outings. One said he was glad no liquor was allowed at the Center "because I know my 12-year-old daughter can go down to the Center and be safe." Judy Shea, executive-director of the Chamber of Commerce, asked why the city reduced millage one-half mill last year if budgeting problems have been piling up. Clerk-treasurer Fern Morris said the State Equalized Valuation had gone up that much, and the city had not wanted to raise taxes, because of hard times. One more concern emerged from the discussion that night. Changing city councils, Kenney said, make it hard for the city to have long term planning.

Opinions

Officials should get the job going

If the following people are for it: Boyne City post office, East Jordan post office, United Parcel Service, Michigan Bell Telephone, Consumers Power, Michigan Consolidated Gas, Boyne City Ambulance, East Jordan Ambulance, both East Jordan and Boyne City fire departments, the County Sheriff's department, the city police departments, the Charlevoix County Extension service, and the Road commission and its commissioners, then why haven't the County Commissioners given the go-ahead and let the job get done?

It can't be the cost, because that is considered negligible when you consider that lives may be saved, homes and property may be found quicker, and an untold amount of time may be saved.

The timing for this project is probably too late for some people. People who could have had their homes found easier and could have been transported to the hospital in time to save their lives. But the County Commissioners have been proceeding at something slower than a snails pace on this one, and we feel that it should be put on the front burner and the project finished as soon as possible.

The project is a simple one, providing addresses for all those folks who live in the rural area of the county. It would be nice to know that you live at 12345 Something Road, instead of rural route 3.

And it has been put down by the Commissioners with delaying actions.

The work has already been started to number the rural areas of the county by the workers in the Building Inspection Department during their spare time. Presently, it has been only two days a week.

They have completed one township, providing house numbers for every street and road in Norwood Township, and are ready to move on to the next one when and if they get some direction from the Commissioners.

If so many groups that require house numbers are for the project, we ask why the Commissioners are not. It has been said that it is simply politics.

The Commissioners must be afraid that their jobs are in jeopardy if they come out for it. Or some evil thing is lurking in the wings if they come out against it. They must be afraid, and we don't know why.

Of course there will be somebody against the project, there always is when you start talk of change. And the detractors may live in the cities where the streets are all ready numbered. But we feel that the approximately 3,500 rural homes in our county would like to have a number so that they can tell the ambulance where to find them, tell the fire department what the house address is when there is a fire, and let the UPS man know where to go to deliver that all important package that you have been waiting for from aunt somebody.

We think it is time to follow the direction of Otsego County and the other counties here in the north who have done the job.

If you agree with us, we hope that you will tell your commissioner, and get him to act immediately so we can get the job done and maybe, save a life, a home, or provide anything else that requires a street address.

The other night I bent down to get bread out of the lower drawer of the kitchen cabinet. When I stood up, I drove my head into the sharp corner of the open cabinet drawer above me. Today I do not have enough brains left to make a fool of myself, so I feel quite safe in writing this column.

Have you heard the latest? I mean about Boyne City. It is so terrible some people may be leaving town soon. Read this entire column first and then check the last paragraph for an unbelievable report on Boyne City's latest shocker.

I have a Northwestern State Bank calendar on the wall by my desk. It's a handy rig when I want to know what day I'm wrestling with. Right now it's reminding me that Friday is Good Friday; and that Friday is two days before Easter; and that Friday is also April Fools Day. The fact that Friday is our garbage day was somehow omitted.

Most of us know these things about Friday. But did you know that Wednesday, April 27th is Ulysses S. Grant's birthday? I did not know this and was thunderstruck to see it mentioned on the bank calendar. (The only other item the bank thunderstruck me was thirty years ago when I was forced to pay up. I hate being thunderstruck and forced to pay up.)

At one time Mr. Grant was president of everything as far as the eye could see. That's why his birthday is mentioned on the bank calendar. However, it is common talk among historians that Mr. Grant's qualifications to be president are yet to be found. He was once a general and fought with gun and sword to keep this country going so I would be able to collect my social security if by some twist of fate I should one day turn old and gray.

Since Grant had done such a good job hollering at his troops and shooting at the enemy, it was thought that he would make a dandy president. Actually he was a poor president, but he did stay in his office until five o'clock, nearly every day, which convinced bankers that such a hard worker should have his birth date noted on their calendars.

Now we have quit talking about generals and are saying that movie actors make dandy presidents. However, some people tell me that it is too early to tell is there's any truth to such hogwash.

I have had it much in my thoughts lately that if the government insists upon taxing ten percent of the interest

Remembrances

Back in the days of the lumber business in Boyne City, the mills were running ragged trying to cut up all the logs for the many businesses that wanted the virgin White Pine. This picture shows the saw sharpening room at the White Mill No. 3 which was located on the east side of town. The saw blades would be worked for so many hours and then were hand carried by a couple of men down to this room so they could be resharpened. Each blade looks like it was about 40 feet long and ran like a bandsaw. From the picture, it looks like the mill had plenty of blades in case one of them broke or needed replacement. The teeth look like each one was about two inches deep on a new blade, and with each sharpening, got a little smaller in cut. The machinery that sharpened the blades is in the middle of the picture. This was taken in 1918 when the mills were still in operation. The picture was given to us to copy by Ed Hartnell from his collection. He has lived in the area since 1913 and can remember the mills from his childhood.

PUBLIC HEARING

FY 83/84 Budget and General Revenue Sharing

The City of Boyne City will hold a Public Hearing at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, April 12, 1983, in the Commission Chambers of City Hall, 319 North Lake Street, for the purpose of hearing written and oral comments from the public concerning the proposed annual budget for Fiscal Year 83/84 and the use of Federal General Revenue Sharing Funds as contained in the proposed budget, summarized below.

General Revenue Sharing (GRS) is a program of general fiscal support from the Federal Government to state and local governments with only limited Federal requirements about how the money should be spent. Decisions on the use of these funds are made at the local level by the government and people closest to local problems. The Revenue Sharing Regulations require a hearing on the proposed use of these funds in relation to this over-all budget before the budget is adopted each year.

All interested citizens, groups, senior citizens, and organizations are encouraged to attend and to submit comments.

Spending some time looking up new words to spell, Tonya Rostar and Chris Meads prepare for the state spelling championships. Tonya won the first place in spelling at the regional spelling bee held last week at St. Ignace High School. Chris placed second in the contest. It is the first time that Boyne City will be represented at the state level. They will get a new set of words to study from the officials to help them prepare for the contest.

Having The Harborage apply for the city along with the developers' own application could save the city nearly $500. The Harborage will assume the total cost of the permit.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Collected thoughts on a early morning.

Just after finishing up watching television about an American family during the War, why is it that I am faced with watching another family going through a couple of generations.

It is because almost all the good books that television picks to make into miniseries are about families?

I am beginning to miss MASH already.

Why is life up here in the North so different? Is it because here it is almost April and we are still seeing snow falling...especially when it should have fallen in December when we wanted it.

Why is it that I can think of a great idea one minute, and a day later not even know what I was talking about. I probably hit that same drawer that Marshall did.

Every day we get a pile of mail from the post office. And everytime I look at that pile, I am amazed at how much mail gets mailed for free.

I think I have received four pieces from my congressman, two from Senator Levin, three from Riegel's office, a couple from the Corps of Engineers, one each from several other governmental agencies, and a new world record, seven, count 'em, seven pieces almost all the same from the IRS. I would like to send them back a letter saying that If I didn't get so much crap from them, then we could have a tax decrease. Especially when you consider that, besides the 20 cents the post office did not collect for delivering the mail, somebody had to write the item, someone had to print it, someone else had to put it into an envelope, someone had to run it through a computerized addressing system, and the list goes on.

Why, if the government did not have free use of the mail, the postal system would probably have run at a profit years ago.

Along with the mail I get from the federal fellows, we also get a bunch from the state. It is the same thing.

Waste. Almost all of it goes into my round file that sits next to the desk for preliminary filing. At the end of the week, if the file doesn't get filled up earlier, it is then put into a transfer bag and transferred out to the curb for the next agency to peruse.

I assume that they put it into a permanent filing place that is covered by tons of dirt and protected from all the elements. At least that is what Boyneland Refuse tells me they do with it.

Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, Commissioners Thelma Behling, Martin Paul, William Grimm, Steven Moody. Also Present: City Manager Timothy J. Clifton, City Treasurer Edith Beck.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Grimm, that the minutes of the City Commission duly called and held on the following dates were approved: Tuesday, February 8, 1983, at 12:00 noon. Tuesday, February 8, 1983, at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, February 15, 1983, at 12:00 noon. Tuesday, February 22, 1983, at 12:00 noon. Tuesday, March 1, 1983, at 12:00 noon.

Roll Call: All ayes. Motion carried.

Mr. Leroy Hutchinson, of 405 Poplar, requested that the culvert, catch basin, and storm sewer adjacent to his property at the intersection of Jefferson and Poplar Streets be repaired. The City Manager indicated that the situation would be corrected by the end of the work-week.

A resident of Jefferson Street notified the City Commission that Jefferson Street is presently impassable due to mud and the high water table. He asked that the City Commission consider a permanent solution to the problem. The City Manager responded that additional blading, graveling, and installation of a drain tile will be investigated to eliminate the problem.

A communication, dated March 8, from Terry Toomey was read aloud to the City Commission indicating Mr. Toomey's desire to donate to the City an antique railroad car presently on his property.

The City Manager referred the matter to the City Manager for a report outlining potential costs of moving and relocating the railroad car as well as a list of potential uses.

The February, 1983, Financial Report was transmitted to the City Commission and ordered filed.

The City Commission noted that minutes had not been received for all of the Boards and Commissions which met during the month. The Commission instructed the City Manager to remind the secretaries of the various Boards and Commissions that said minutes must be available for public inspection within ten days after said meeting.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Behling, that the meeting be adjourned at 8:30 p.m.

Roll Call: All ayes. Motion carried.

Department of Natural Resources

The Fisheries Division of the Department of Natural Resources has conducted preliminary surveys on the Jordan River in Charlevoix County to locate a feasible site for constructing a low-head barrier dam. The purpose of the barrier is to prevent the upstream migration of spawning adult sea lamprey and will greatly reduce or eliminate the need for periodical chemical treatments.

Although a number of sites were investigated, it appears the most feasible site is located in Section 35, T32N, R7W (South Arm Township). Preliminary engineering plans and cost estimates are being developed for this site. It is contemplated that the dam will be constructed of concrete, 50 feet long and with a head of six feet (18 in. above the average April-May flows). The structure will be designed so that it can be drawn down, after the lamprey run, to allow for the free passage of fish during the summer months. Fish passage considerations will be incorporated in the design of the dam, if needed, to allow for passage of steelhead. A canoe portage will be provided to accommodate canoeists during operation of the barrier.

If you have comments or questions concerning the proposed barrier dam, please contact Bruce Vollmar, Department of Natural Resources, Fisheries Division, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909. Phone: 517-373-6868.

Grant given to county for new drunk driving laws

A federal grant to the sheriff's department to increase enforcement of the state's new drunk-driving laws, has been received by the sheriff's department.

Sheriff George Lasater said that of the $31,400 grant, $17,247 would go for wages for increased patrolling by East Jordan and Boyne City police as well as the sheriff's department.

Extra road hours would total 1288.

Breathalyzer training and purchase of prearest alcohol testers, radar unit, and other equipment would take $6,355. A word processor for the prosecuting attorney office would get a $5,000 contribution from the grant.

towards total expense. The remainder of the monies would pay for gas.

Other police agencies in the state are also receiving equal grants, Lasater said.

The goals are to increase the number of arrests by 100 percent and to reduce alcohol-related traffic accidents.

Lasater said inspections of liquor establishments would increase. He plans also to increase education on the problems of drunk driving.

The additional patrol hours, he said, would take place during times of the day and week when accident rates are at their highest.
