Frykberg accepts manager's position

Chosen because of his knowledge of the area, W. Randolph Frykberg will be the new city manager of Boyne City, starting on November 1. Details of his contract are still to be settled, but Frykberg said in an interview that he is interested in serving the city

"as long as my style meets with city progress."

He said he is not looking on the position as a stepping stone. "We are local people," he said. Frykberg's wife Diane is a kindergarten teacher in East Jordan, and they have one son. In making the motion to prefer Frykberg over other strong candidates, city commissioner Marty Paul said Friday, "We have gone over this thing fairly thoroughly. We have looked at the plusses and minusses of each candidate, and selected on that basis."

Frykberg is at present Executive Director of the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments, a publicly funded agency that offers support to cities in an eight county area.

He has a Ph. D. in environmental science from Western Michigan University.

He said his education background is as strong in environmental concerns as it is in municipal management.

Asked how he reconciles environment and development, he responded, "Very easily. It's got to be balanced."

And what about that Ph. D. Does he wish to be called "Dr. Frykberg"?

"'Rancy' is fine," he smiled. Incidentally, his last name is pronounced as though spelled

"Fryberg."

Even as a youngster, Frykberg said, he was interested in municipal affairs, citing his election in high school to "Boys' State" as an example.

His recreational interests are skiing, boating, and woods walking. For 16 years he has been with Northern Michigan Ski Patrol. He and his wife serve on the volunteer ski patrol at Boyne Highlands.

He will bring wide experience in serving at the state level on commissions and in obtaining grants. His view of Boyne City, briefly, is that it has an exciting prospect and good long term development plans.

The colors are expected to be at their peak this weekend, and if the weather has its way, the fall tours should be excellent. Be sure to look for the yellow poplar and birch as they play among the red and orange colors of the maples, the browns of the oak, and some of the greens of the pines. Hopefully, the sun will shine for the weekend when you drive around.

Walleye fry eyed for Boyne Settlement pond

Not salmon but walleye was the topic. Steve Swan, of the Department of Natural Resources requested permission of Boyne City commissioners on Tuesday to investigate possibilities for a walleye nursery from which to stock Lake Charlevoix for sport fishing.

The commissioners agreed with Swan that a tertiary lagoon from the city's sewage system would be worth looking into as a pond for the development of walleye fingerlings.

Such a pond would be an overflow in spring from the city's secondary lagoon. The water would be clean, Swan emphasized. And even if human disease germs got through, fish do not carry any human disease germs, Swan said.

Tests on toxic contamination would, of course, be conducted before the project was accepted, Swan said.

It would not be a hatchery, he explained. The fingerlings would be placed in the pond in early spring, and removed by July by completely draining the pond.

The fingerlings would be fed on yeast and plankton. At two inches they must be planted in the lake as they then begin a fish diet and would prey on each other if not removed to the lake.

Swan said a group of very active fishermen in the city believe that Boyne could be a "fishing mecca." They are ready to supply volunteer help on the project, he added.

The six-acre pond would need to be at least four feet deep, Swan said. It would require very little modification to city arrangements to operate the walleye pond.

"We don't need a weir on that?"

asked commissioner Marty Paul and got a laugh from Swan.

The project could produce 60,000 fish to feed on Lake Charlevoix's large population of perch.

Area schools show up in BC-BF, down in EJ enrollments

Schools across the state had their Fourth Friday count of enrolled students. The results will be considered tentative for another three months, but the present indications for Charlevoix County schools is that of a very modest average increase.

The count is an annual procedure, necessary to individual schools that receive funding from the state, based on the head count.

East Jordan is the only city in the county to be on the state formula for aid based on enrollment. Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District is also dependent on the tally of all county public schools. Char-Em assistant superintendent Susan Van Wieren said, "The enrollment affects Char-Em in special education funds that are figured relative to individual school district enrollments."

East Jordan's sharp drop may be compensated next year. Administration projects a 50-pupil increase in kindergartners next year, a nearly 100 percent increase in five-year-olds.

In reference to Boyne City's situation, superintendent Rich Kelly said he's satisfied with the gradual increase over the years. Stabilization is good for use of staff and building facilities, he said.

Figures must be checked still. Official submission is in October, but the count is not changed because of subsequent enrollment changes, according to Van Wieren. Sub categories that are entirely dependent on state monies are supplied on the basis of results.

Van Wieren said she must also go through the Char-Em districts. It will be February before Fourth Friday is a matter of history.

OVA tax suit rescheduled for Oct. 12

No settlement was made in the Organized Voters of America suit to reduce taxes by 2 mills in Charlevoix County. At the hearing on September 28 at 33rd District Court, Judge John Unger asked both the OVA and the county's attorney to bring in written briefs for a new hearing to be held October 12. The county clerk's office said a judgment could be rendered at that time.

One of the questions the county has raised is, who would distribute the .2 percent of the tax revenues that the OVA wants given to the libraries.

In an interview, Karl Waldner, spokesman for the OVA, said he saw no difficulty in that. "For one thing," he said, "we already have the county library board."

Besides the written brief, which has to be filed this week, Waldner asked permission to present oral arguments as well. He said the nearly 800 signers of the petition for a tax reduction election believe that they and everyone else are being taken unfair advantage of.

The basis of the unfairness, Waldner explained, is that county residents are paying for duplicated services. The county and cities provide overlapping departments. Departments are overstaffed with all kinds of administrative people, he said.

Consequently "we are essentially being cheated," he said. "I do not include the workers in the field." His quarrel is with the expensive administration.

The OVA petition was presented to the county commission last April. It asked for an election to reduce county taxes by 2 mills, and to assign .2 of a mill to the public libraries in the cities of the county.

Judge Unger of Bellaire is replacing Judge Martin Breighner, who disqualified himself.

W. RANDOLPH FRYKBERG

Front Street already underway

The completion of Front Street in downtown Boyne City is technically underway. George Granger, city engineer, said the project funding from the state Small Cities funding office had been delayed from July to September 1, but now documentation and studies such as environmental review and coordination among those involved on different street and building elevations has started.

Release of funds can be expected in November, Granger said. The total $1,630,000 project will cover cost of a new city well, street and sewer lines in connection with the project, and associated rip-rapping of the waterfront.

Granger reported to the city commission Tuesday that the well would be operational by the summer of 1984. Costing about $200,000, the engineer said, the well could probably go in the South Boyne area.

Next fall the new One Waterstreet restaurant should be open and the project would be completed in 20 months from the September 1, 1983 opening gun.

According to Granger, the million dollars project is the fruit of a state program with local developer, city, and state as coordinating operations.

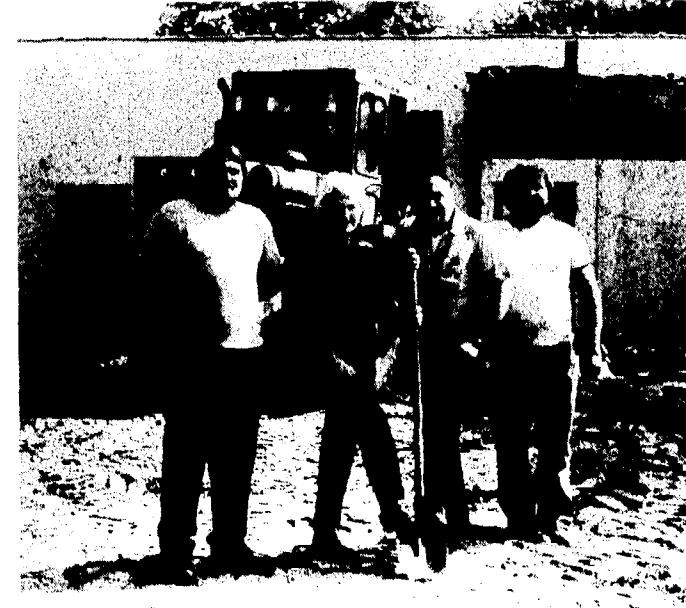

The developer's share must be five times the city-state's share, he said. Thus the state is contributing through the Small Cities office a grant of $290,225. The city has budgeted $80,000. In addition to the required five-parts stipulation, One Water Street developers will also contribute $9,700 of the $30,000 the city will use on the waterfront improvements because of direct benefits received. On the same basis, they will also contribute $50,000 on street and sewer construction.

Granger explained to the commissioners that if bidding runs under the top line in the different parts of the project, requests can be made to shift dollars saved, from one line item to another.

The whole undertaking, called One Water Street, is the result of plans for a unique restaurant combined with boutiques, motel, and conference center.

Granger's own fee will be shared on a subcontracted basis with Lane, Northern Company which specializes in aquifer science. Granger said his work on the streets and the well would come to $94,600 with $35,000 of it going to Lane, Northern.

Construction on the city's portion of the project will be bid out.

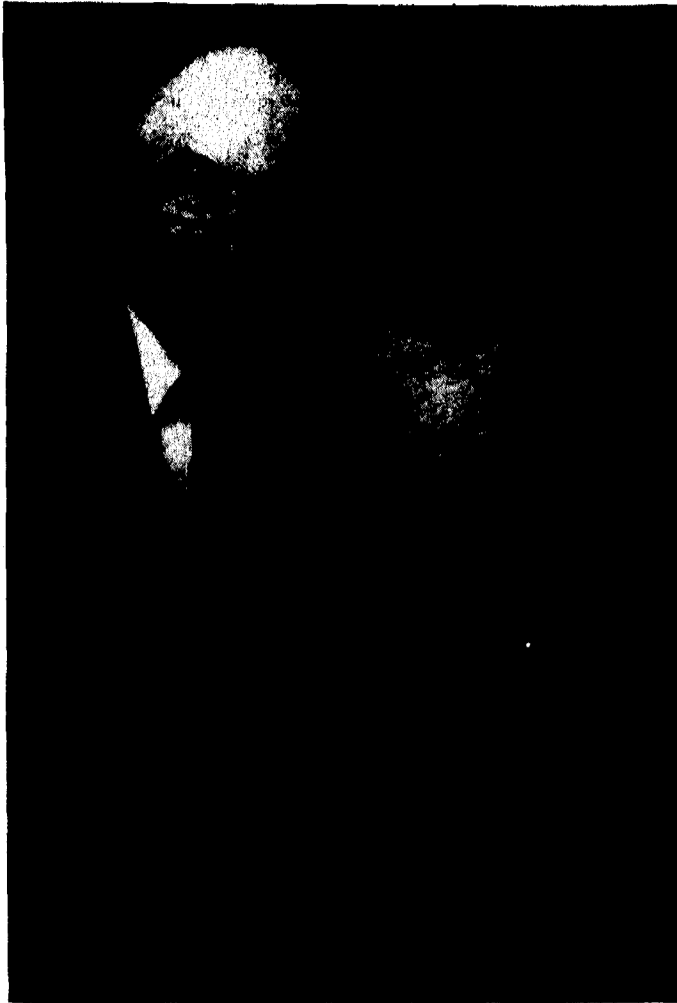

Members of the Van Alstine push the abovel in the ground to officially start the construction of their new Boyne Auto location. The location is the former Parrish Garage which is behind the post office on N. East Street. The building is expected to be completed prior to Christmas if the weather holds for the construction workers.

Looking at tomorrow.

Rest assured. Just because Michigan Bell is separating from AT&T this January doesn't mean you'll be separated from good phone service... not for even a second. You can count on the same highly skilled people to watch over your service, as always. And when you pick up your phone on New Year's Day you'll hear the same reliable dial tone you've heard for years.

But we'll be bringing you a lot more than a dial tone. For one thing, we will continue to exercise our almost unlimited options for selecting and implementing the very latest technology from a wide variety of communications suppliers.

What that means to you, as we go down the line, is faster, more efficient and more flexible service with many interesting choices for you. One of the innovations we'll continue to adopt for the future is electronic switching service. This will give almost everyone in Michigan the chance to opt for Touch-Tone® Service, Custom Calling Services and other communication conveniences.

Lightwave cable is a recent transmission development that can carry as many as 96,000 simultaneous conversations. And soon it will send your voice and messages with the speed of light.

Before long, your telephone will be capable of performing surprising electronic tricks, such as ringing a certain way to let you know exactly who's calling. You'll have a new way to shop by phone in stores all over the country... to handle financial transactions by talking directly to your bank's computer. To receive electronic mail. To play bridge. And even to call your oven and tell it to start dinner.

These are just a sampling of the technological advancements you can expect to enjoy through Michigan Bell. The point is very simple: Next year we'll be bringing you the same good old dial tone, but we won't be the same old phone company. We'll be pulling out all the stops to bring you the last word in phone service. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line. Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Cooking

FUN RECIPES FROM OLD COOKING CLASSES

How encouraging it is that there are so many people "in" cooking, good nutrition and preparing tasty foods to fit into our tight budgets. The forecast for this year from MSU Cooperative Extension Service states that we should look for higher prices on pork but good buys on broilers. Beef is expected to go up a bit but not until later in the year. Carrots, cabbages, onions and potatoes are in plentiful supply and are good budget stretchers.

I have noticed that cooking classes are offered in Adult Education around our state, offering classes in Chinese cooking, cooking for men and microwave cooking. This reminds me of the cooking classes that I attended just after I was married during the middle of the depression years. The classes were sponsored by the food stores, makers of new products, the food industries or makers of new electric, gas stoves and appliances.

Some one would demonstrate these wonderful products and the food prepared was given away as door prizes. Hundreds of women went and were more than happy to win the prizes. Many new products came out of the depression. It was the first time that I heard of "Bisquick", "Velveta Cheese", "Spry", "Dormeyer Mixers", and what beautiful books and pamphlets we took home, no charge then for recipes.

I attended demonstrations in downtown Flint theaters, IMA Auditorium, Consumers Power Company showrooms; and my new husband gained about 20 pounds before we started counting calories!

Many of the recipes that came out of those classes are just as good today as are the products they advertised. This is one salad that is fun, children like to make this as well as to eat it. It has been years since I made this salad and had almost forgotten about it.

BANANA SALAD

Split bananas lengthwise and spread heavily with peanut butter on the cut sides. Put back together and spread with mayonnaise then roll them in cereal. Puffed wheat is good for this. Cut in halves crosswise and serve 2 pieces on a leaf of lettuce. Real good!

This is another classic recipe that has lasted through the years.

SHRIMP RABBIT SANDWICH

Heat 1 1/2 cups whole cooked shrimps and 1 tablespoon chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter. Add one green pepper and one pimiento cut in thin strips. (Can use the canned pimiento.)

Cover toast slices with shrimp mixture; pour over it a smooth cheese sauce made this way:

Melt 1/2 lb. creamed Old English Cheese in double boiler or over very low heat, stir in 1/2 cup milk. This is nice for parties and just great for a family supper.

Then there is this easy way to make upside down cake using "Jiffy" mix.

UPSIDE DOWN CAKE WITH NUTMEG SAUCE

Put a layer of thinly sliced apples or rhubarb in the bottom of a 12 x 12 inch baking pan, cover with 1/2 cup sugar (1/4 cup for rhubarb or tart apples.) Sprinkle with cinnamon and nutmeg.

Make the cake according to directions on the box and pour over the apples.

Bake at 375 degrees until pick in center comes out clean. 30 to 35 minutes.

Turn upside down on plate and serve this with old-fashioned nutmeg sauce. Our forebears liked sauces on almost all desserts.

NUTMEG SAUCE

Mix together:

1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup water

Cook over low heat until thick and clear, add 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon nutmeg and 2 tablespoons butter. Pour while hot over the upside down cake.

Marshall Sayles

A reader said the other day that: "You can't write a decent column for sour apples."

How surprising that he should mention apples just after I'd had a rather unusual experience visiting a fine orchard upon which I have no mortgage.

We have three scraggly apple trees drooping among dense poplar, giving off worm-filled fruit each fall, and threatening to peter out just because no one has taken care of them. But across the road, where I have no legal say so, beautiful apples are in a ripe condition waiting patiently to be eaten.

Now there is a certain fascination in things that do not belong to me; and every time I walk to the mail box at the end of the driveway, those apples tantalize me almost beyond my ability to resist—stirring up an urge to trespass.

One day, instead of going to the mail box, I was surprised to find myself violating common sense by stuffing apples into my pockets, inside my shirt and under each arm. Both of my eyes were put to good use. One sought out the best apples where the other kept a sharp lookout for someone who might blow the whistle.

Now the trouble with an amateur thief is that he is not trained to expect the unexpected. Thus, just as getting was good, I was caught and struck down, receiving greater punishment than is normal for such evil doings.

A bee, knowing of my transgression, worked its way into my shoe and stuck a darning needle into my foot. The word "ouch" rose to the height of nine feet, skipping from tree top to tree top. I dropped my apples and lost all interest in those that had not yet been picked.

I took my shoe off and looked inside. There he was, grinning at me. I shook him out, put my shoe back on and limped-raced home, looking like a one-legged man fleeing the cops.

The only thing I got out of the venture was a foot soaking in a pail of epsom salts. But as I looked across to those inviting apples, hanging there in all their glory, I made up my mind that I would get some if I had to do it by the light of the moon.

As my wife was pouring more hot water into the pail, a friend rapped on the door. He came in, looking at my foot soaking. "Here," he said, putting a sack on the table. "I've brought you some apples. I picked them across the road and I thought you might want some."

It never fails. Whenever I try to betray my better judgment, someone always arrives in the nick of time to save me from myself. Thus, all my life I've been an upstanding, sinless and honest man.

Mostly by default.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

It happens about this time every year, about the time the leaves turn or shortly thereafter. Some have said that almost everyone is doing it, but I know that that isn't quite right as we still have lots of readers left in the area.

Even my mother is doing it this year for the first time.

What I am talking about, is the annual trek of the senior citizens who spend the summers up here in the north, and then, winter over where it isn't supposed to freeze...like Florida.

Every year, we have to make the switch for the readers who go down there to enjoy the sun, the warmth, and the rain instead of snow. They all want to have the local news sent to them just so they can keep up with all the changes that are making Boyne City one of the hot spots in the north country.

And we are happy to make the change for them, even if we do sometimes get a little envious that we can't join them.

But, the winters up here aren't all that bad, as the area has a lot of activities planned that can keep one busy and warm.

Even Smeltania can keep you warm, although you may spend the entire day outside. Of course a little bit of stuff that takes off the chill helps a lot some of those days, but that is another story.

So if you are one of those planning on becoming a "snowbird," let us know so we can switch your address, at a nominal cost increase of course, as the post office doesn't let us mail the papers down there for the same cost as around this area.

One of the attractions that I will always be amazed at is the number of fishermen working the mouth of the Boyne River.

Rain or shine, it seems that the only day it becomes unusual is the days when you don't see anyone out fishing.

With the salmon plantings in the lake, along with all the other fish, there is plenty for them to catch, but the one thing I would like to find out, is why can some people just walk up to the edge, throw out a line, and almost immediately start catching fish when other folks, and I would include myself in that bunch, could go out there, throw sixty different baits out, mess around for a couple of hours, and not even get a nibble.

Whose luck do they use?

Now that the Boyne City commissioners have picked a new manager, the rumor mill is suddenly quiet as to what is going to become of the city. It must be too early to make book on what direction the city is going to the dogs with or else the rumors would be flying around like the geese in the fall at Boyne Mountain.

After spending the last two week-ends putting up railroad ties to dress up the parking lot, I was a little disappointed when I came to work Monday morning to see how much of our labor got washed away in the fall monsoon that hit our area.

But I did find out that I am going to need some more in a few places, especially after looking at how the soil and the freshly planted grass seed just spilled over the bank and onto the gravel.

Barbara Cruden

Gray is hardly anyone's favorite color, yet we all respond to the grays in nature. There is the thunderous purple-gray when the sun shines on clouds rising thickly. And there are the dreamy grays of mist on hills, each more distant hill set off by being a paler gray.

Hills in mist remind me of our art teacher in public school. She had us paint nine shades of gray, adding more and more water each time.

When our gray pages were all dry, we tore them into wavy strips, pasted them on another page, and, behold—the hills on a misty day!

After living in ever-shining Florida for 13 long, long years, I found most gray days back in the north to be delightful. I savored the different grays, in their heights, depths, and distances.

A sky with three-dimensional grays of piled-up clouds, some catching the direct white light of the sun, is like show time. We stop the car or stop the house chores to look.

The flat washes of gray on other days are more like moods. There's the soft, low summer-day gray that makes trees lose their blue and yellow tones and stand about in pure greens and shaded secrets.

The steeliness of high flat grays that hang around in winter are the bad grays. They test our depth of cheer.

Just as there are grays in the sky and hills, there are grays of mind—mostly grays that need a little banishment—grays of stubbornness, of apathy or misery, and the grays of fading purpose.

Besides mood grays, there are reason grays—the "gray areas" of concepts. Some of these grays lack nobility. They are the sneaking grays that begin with, "Well, I meant to..." "Well, who really..." They cloud strict truthfulness, thorough questioning, clear standards, and brave effort.

Then, other grays that are neither

The boys in the Tannery crew was the title to this picture showing the workers at the Howe Leather Company back in 1909. The tannery was one of the leading industries in the Boyne City area up to when the plant closed down a few years ago. The site where the tannery was is now the location of the Harborage condominium development along Front Street. If you have any old pictures of the community, we would like to see them and maybe we can share them with our readers. Just bring them into the office to be copied.

Open house tonight at B-F

New salon in Boyne Falls

A friendly welcome and personalized hair care is what to expect if you stop in and visit Boyne Falls' newest business establishment. Styles by Rosemary opened its doors on June 17 of last summer. It is a full service salon catering to men, women and children which also carries a line of Redkin products.

Rosemary Follette Burleson, the daughter of Midge and Allen Follette of Boyne Falls, received her license as hairdresser and cosmetologist from the Petoskey Beauty Academy in 1978. Since, she has worked locally at P.S. the Added Touch in Charlevoix and returned last spring from Panama City, Florida where she worked at Command Performance, what she calls a high energy and innovative salon.

"I often miss the energy and creativity that is so abundant in a bigger city," said Rosemary, but my heart is here, in this area, and the beauty and peacefulness gives me space to breathe."

Rosemary is enthusiastic about her new business which is located next to the Whistle Stop restaurant on highway 131 in Boyne Falls.

"It hasn't been easy," 26 year old Rosemary sighs, "getting a business off the ground is a real challenge. Getting the license and finding used furnishings which I could afford was the hardest part, now I have relaxed a little and enjoy customers coming through the door."

The salon at present is small and occupies front room of an apartment which also serves as home for Rosemary, her husband Jerry and their one year old daughter Lacy. Despite the close quarters the atmosphere is cheery and the customers are treated to casual and very personalized service.

"Once business picks up a little more I plan to expand and remodel, says Rosemary. I eventually hope to hire another stylist also.

The logo on Rosemary's business card reads "be all you can be", a philosophy she says she always tries to live up to.

After graduating from Boyne Falls High School in 1976, a class of 12, Rosemary seriously pursued a career in writing, which she says is her real dream. Rosemary was lucky enough to land a job in Nashville, Tennessee where a song she had written gave her some recognition in the city.

The song remains in Nashville but Rosemary returned to Boyne Falls content to remember her experience and move on to something new.

"It wasn't something I could see myself doing forever," said Rosemary. "It was fun, but more of a dream than reality. I wanted a more stable lifestyle. I don't think this (the salon) is what I want ultimately, but it's a start and for now I'm happy to be here."

Basis of peace preached in Boyne City

"Abraham is a Christian, Muslim, and Jewish name," said the Rev. Abraham Rababy, a native of Lebanon. Living in the United States since 1975, Rababy was in Boyne City last week at the behest of Pastor Cliff Molnar and the congregation of the Faith Community Fellowship, to preach on the relationship of present day events in the Middle East with reference in the Bible. He said it wasn't the prophecies in the book of Revelation that he was concerned with. Rather those that referred to Christian teachings.

Having lived in the city of Beirut all his life, he was able to speak first hand of the terrors of living in a PLO-dominated city where, for most, a gun "gave you your rights."

The PLO was driven from the country by the Jews, but before then, if a person was stopped by soldiers of the "wrong" religion, for being in the "wrong" section of the city, it was not uncommon for that person to be hauled off and shot, if not shot on the spot, Rababy said in an interview.

Rababy, going about the city as an ordained minister of the Pentecostal Church, often enough faced the machine guns of Muslim soldiers. Often enough to become convinced, he said, that his applying the precepts of Jesus Christ regarding peace resulted in his protection.

Lebanon, now is a put-together country. The original Lebanon in the times of Kings David and Solomon was a rich, mountainous country, bordering on Israel. Then for centuries it did not exist as a nation because of Muslim Turkish occupation.

During that time, Christians lived the lives of peasants. After the Allies in 1914 put the seacoast and mountain regions together to create a new Lebanon, the Christians of the times reversed positions and subjugated the Muslims.

The politics of the whole Middle East is dominated by religion, Hababy explained. Thus, he said, he has rejected "religion" for "Christianity."

"Neither religion nor race is the answer in solving social problems," he said. "I myself believe that Christianity is not a religion. It is a way of life—how you treat others."

Hababy left Lebanon with his American wife and two children when the Muslims destroyed his church. His view is still that to actually apply the Christian precepts of peace in daily life, regardless of the challenges, is the beginning of individual preservation and national preservation and the only possibility for a "beautiful world."

Barkley is scheduled to serve with the 438th Field Maintenance Squadron at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.

His wife, Laurri, is the daughter of Patricia Ecker of Boyne City.

"The Wholehearted Seeker" will be the theme for the 12th annual women's retreat which will be held at the Boyne Mountain Convention Center on Friday, Nov. 4 and Saturday, Nov. 5. The retreat will provide an opportunity to join women from many cities for inspiration, fellowship, and encouragement.

Florence Littauer, from San Bernardino, Calif., and Bob Benson, a past retreat favorite, will be the featured speakers. As a young woman, Littauer set out to be educated, rich, and famous. She achieved all of those. An honors graduate of the University of Massachusetts, Littauer won the coveted award of "Best Female Speaker in New England Colleges." She has professionally directed many musical comedies and has done fashion commentating for R. H. Macy's.

Littauer has written several books, including "The Pursuit of Happiness," "After Every Wedding Comes a Marriage," "Blow Away the Black Clouds," a book about dealing with depression, based upon her own experience, and has co-authored "Shades of Beauty" with her daughter, Marita. Currently, she has dedicated her ministry to raising the quality of Christian leadership.

In the past decade Florence has traveled across the country as a Christian speaker who is equally at ease enchanting a convention full of professional men, inspiring women at a retreat, intriguing an interviewer on television, or challenging men and women to become effective community leaders.

The theme of the retreat will be further developed by six seminar sessions. Bob and Peggy Benson, will be sharing some of their insights about continuing to parent a family who has almost "grown up" in their seminar "Once a Parent, Always a Parent." Littauer will share a session entitled "Don't Grow Old, Grow Up." Other seminar speakers and topics will be: Ruth Koteskey, "God Looketh on the Heart," Elise Arndt, "A Mother's Touch," Collett Padgett, "Hearts Beating as One," and Karen Jackson, "Victories I've Seen in Singleness."

A special Community Banquet, for men and women of all ages will be the highlight of the retreat weekend. Bob Benson, an outstanding author and speaker, will be sharing with us at that time and music will be presented by Jana Wacker of Lake Forest, Ill. The program and dinner will be held Nov. 5 at 7 p.m. in the Boyne Mountain Convention Hall.

More information, registration forms and banquet tickets can be obtained by contacting your local area coordinator, Glenda Reinhardt, Boyne City, 582-7979 or Mary Malpass, East Jordan, 536-2505 or they may be picked up at Bob's Pharmacy, Boyne City. Vacationers reminded to check with sheriff before leaving

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is once again reminding residents of Charlevoix County that if they are to be absent from their homes for any period of time, the department has a program to check on these homes in their absence.

In order to participate in this program the home owner must contact this office in person and request the Security Check Form or call the Sheriff's office at 547-4461 and request that a form be sent to them. If a resident has applied for this program in the past the request must be re-submitted each year.

It should be noted that this program does not take the place of private security programs, it just adds to the coverage and works along with these private organizations.

Rayders take another close win over Ramblers

BY PAUL ZINCK

The Boyne City Ramblers almost upset the Charlevoix Red Rayders last Friday night, but fell to injuries and mistakes in the fourth period. Although they came up on the short end of the 14-10 score the Ramblers played well. Boyne's record is now one win and four losses, while Charlevoix upped their record to a perfect four wins against no defeats.

The Red Rayders were ranked seventh after last week's UPI poll but the annual rivalries seem to take priority to the rankings. Boyne's defense stopped the potent Red Rayder offense through most of the game, but as in recent weeks, the Ramblers made some costly mistakes.

After a Boyne miscue resulted in a fumble and a turnover, the Red Rayders went on the move in the second period after a 76 yard drive consumed all of four minutes.

Boyne stopped Pat Mitchell in the backfield for a four yard loss on the drive's first play, but Charlevoix rebounded with Jim Martin to get seven yards. Quarterback Tim LaBlance then hit A.J. Withoef for a six yard gain to put the ball on the 35 yard line of the Rayders. It was fourth down with less than a yard to go when Mitchell burst through the Rambler line for two yards, giving Charlevoix a first down on their own 37 with just 2:06 left in the opening period.

On the next play Mitchell gained two yards on the ground to the 39. However a fumble in the backfield on the ensuing play halted the Red Rayders progress, momentarily. The loss was to the 30 before LaBlance recovered.

Charlevoix didn't let the almost-turnover get them down, as they struck for a 64 yard pass from LaBlance to Jeff Lemerand on the very next play. The bomb put the ball on the Rambler 6 yard line. Mitchell gained three more rushing yards before time expired in the first quarter, with the ball on the three yard line.

The boys from the other end of the lake didn't waste any time getting the ball in the endzone, pushing it across in just two plays. First Mitchell ran for two yards, then LaBlance kept for the one yard touchdown. Thad Morgan's kick out of the hold of LaBlance was wide to the right, leaving the score at 6-0 with 11:29 left in the first half.

The ball exchanged hands six times after the score before anything else significant happened. A Charlevoix defender intercepted a MitchKruzell pass on the Charlevoix six yard line. With 43 seconds left in the half, the Red Rayders started a drive that led to Boyne's first score.

On the first play, Mitchell sprinted 30 yards. The run was called back, however, as a Charlevoix player was called for premature movement. The penalty knocked the hometown Red Rayders back to their three yard line. Mitchell got three yards on the next play but another penalty pushed the Red Rayders back to the three. On the next play a fired-up Boyne defense broke in and Dave Wandrie tackled LaBlance in the endzone for a two point safety.

Boyne was to get the ball back again, but could do nothing with the final 12 seconds of the half.

Boyne's Rob Musser returned the first kickoff of the long second half to the Boyne 35 yard line. They then started a drive that would take them as far as the Charlevoix 16. The 59 yard drive ate up over six and a half minutes and included 16 plays. In the impressive drive was Kimo Kuheana's 17 rushing yards and 14 yards on the ground by Stacy Reinhardt.

The yardage and consumed time were not quite as important as a knee injury that could possibly keep Reinhardt out for awhile. Reinhardt, the starting halfback for the Ramblers, did not play at all during the rest of the game.

Boyne was going strong with 5:53 left when a misplay in the backfield between Musser and Kruzell resulted in a three yard loss. The loss forced the Ramblers to pass and took away some of the very important momentum. After two incomplete passes the Rambler defense had to go back to work.

Charlevoix took their next possession to the Boyne 18 yard line before a penalty forced them to punt. The forward drive included runs of 13 and 20 yards by Mitchell, but when they were on the 18, mistakes stopped their hopes.

A 15 yard personal foul penalty pushed the Red Rayders back to the 33 and they had to punt. The punt went into the endzone and Boyne started their drive first and ten on their own 20 yard line.

The Ramblers could not move the ball and after four plays had to punt. Bill Tillen dropped the punt on the Boyne 45 yard line and Kruzell fell on the ball, retaining possession for the Ramblers, and ended the third quarter.

From that point on the Ramblers from Boyne took charge and actually dominated the final fifteen minutes. They took their possession and moved downfield in eight minutes.

Of the eleven plays of the drive, ten were rushing. Kuheana ran for 14 yards in the drive and Rob Musser, filling in for the injured Reinhardt, carried for 22 yards before dashing another eight into the endzone. Kruzell completed the conversion pass to Mike Gabos to add the extra two points, giving Boyne a 10-6 lead with 7:33 left in the game.

Bill Tillen returned the ensuing kickoff 15 yards to the Charlevoix 41 yard line. Three plays later Jim Young caught a pass for 34 yards to the Boyne 18 and the Red Rayders were threatening again. After a net gain of three yards on three runs by Mitchell, LaBlance rushed for five yards, giving the hometown team a first down and goal to go situation on the five yard line with 3:49 left.

LaBlance threw an incomplete pass and the Ramblers stopped the Red Rayders for no gain on the next play. Scott Moody, a 6 ft. 3 in. tackle for the Ramblers suffered a knee injury on the rushing play that could keep him out of action all season.

Boyne City pushed Charlevoix back once again on the following play to leave Charlevoix with a fourth and goal from the ten. LaBlance dropped back and threw into the endzone to his end, Withoef and a Boyne defenseman hit and the ball fell incomplete. Boyne would have had the ball, but a flag was thrown and the referee called pass interference on the Boyne defenseman. The penalty resulted in Charlevoix having the ball first and goal to go on the five again.

Stacy Reinhardt burst through the line for a big gain in the Boyne City-Charlevoix game held last Friday. Although the Ramblers lost another closely fought match, they controlled the game only allowing Charlevoix to move the ball through the air. At the same time, the Ramblers seemed to be able to move the ball on the ground, but not through the air. The final score was Boyne City 10, Charlevoix 14.

Boyne once again stopped Mitchell for no gain and another pass fell incomplete. On the next play, however, LaBlance hit Lemerand in the endzone for the touchdown. The inspired QB also hit Tillen for the two point conversion pass. The touchdown left the score at 16-10 with two minutes left.

The Ramblers returned the ensuing kickoff to the 32 yard line on their half of the field, and frantically tried to do anything possible to pull out another touchdown.

One pass fell incomplete before Mike Looze caught a four yard gainer. After another incomplete pass Kruzell completed a pass to Tony Napont, who turned around and shoved the ball to Musser who ran another ten yards for a 14 yard gain and another first down. Two more Boyne passes fell incomplete before a screen pass to Napont was good for three yards to the Red Rayder 47 yard line with 22 seconds left. The next pass also fell incomplete and on the next play two Boyne players clashed downfield, allowing the pass to be picked off and allowing Charlevoix to sit on the ball and run out the clock.

Lentz again starring for Lake Superior

Senior Nancy Lentz of Boyne City, the Lake Superior State College's Most Valuable Player last season, is playing at number four in singles competition and number two doubles with senior Nancy Beltz, East Detroit. She hasn't come up a winner yet in 1983 but will get plenty of opportunity against Hillsdale, Wayne State and Oakland to get her record back to the .500 mark forecasted for her by Coach Taylor.

With the offensive line holding back the Charlevoix squad, as he heads into the line looking for a hole to get the quarterback Mitch Kruzell gives a hand off to Rob Musser needed yardage.

Plenty to do with lawn before winter

The days are getting shorter and summer's winding down toward fall, but there's no lack of lawn and garden tasks. Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest the following activities are timely in September:

—Order spring-flowering bulbs to plant outdoors in late fall or to force indoors in midwinter. Begin preparing beds now.

—Plant spring-and-summer-flowering perennials, including iris, peonies, daylilies and phlox.

—When strawflower blossoms are about half-open, harvest them to dry for arranging this winter. To dry flowers, hang them upside-down in a dry, well ventilated area out of direct sun.

—After frost has killed the tops, dig tuberous begonias, gladioli, dahlias and cannas and remove the foliage, leaving a short stub. Let the corms and tubers dry for several days and then store them in dry sand or peat moss in a cool, dry storage place. Check them occasionally through the winter and discard any showing signs of mold or decay.

—Save fuschia, colous, geranium, impatiens and fibrous-rooted begonia plants from frost and enjoy them all winter. Before frost, dig plants out of the garden, cut the tops back by half and pot in a well drained potting mix. Check and treat for insect problems and diseases before taking plants indoors.

—House plants that spent the summer outdoors should be coming inside when night temperatures start dipping into the 50-degree range. Inspect plants for insect and disease problems and treat or discard them as needed. If you bring insects indoors, the warm temperatures and lack of natural enemies could set off a pest population explosion.

—Summer annuals will continue to bloom until they're killed by frost if you keep watering them and picking off faded flowers and seedheads.

—Force Christmas cacti to flower around the holidays by giving them at least 12 hours of complete darkness and night temperatures no higher than 70 degrees F beginning around Sept. 1. Cooler temperatures—around 55 degrees—will stimulate the plants to set flower buds with or without the long nights.

—Induce poinsettias to flower by giving them total darkness from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. daily from about Sept. 20 to Dec. 1.

—Dig chives, parsley and other garden herbs and plant them in containers for a winter windowsill herb garden. Harvest remaining herbs and dry them where they won't be exposed to heat or direct sunlight.

—Seal leftover flower and vegetable seeds in tightly covered jars and store them in the refrigerator or in a cool, dark storage area.

—Save tomatoes, summer squash, peppers, eggplant and other tender crops from the first killing frost to extend the summer harvest. When frost threatens, cover plants with blankets, newspapers, plastic or some other material that will trap heat given off by the soil. The cole crops—including broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage and Brussels sprouts—carrots, parsnips, lettuce and spinach will tolerate some frost.

—Continue to weed and water the garden and protect it from late season insect problems. Every weed that you prevent from going to seed now means a few less weed seedlings to deal with next year. Insects that move in now may overwinter in the garden or nearby areas and be ready to attack plants as soon as they appear in the spring.

—Harvest winter squash and pumpkins before frost and after the fruits have matured and formed a hard rind. Exposure to low temperatures will damage their skins and shorten their life in storage.

—Remove the raspberry canes that fruited this year, and thin weak or broken canes and prune out diseased ones.

—Clean up fallen fruits, leaves and twigs around fruit trees and flowering crabapples. This will reduce the carryover of this year's insect and disease problems.

—Continue to spray roses to protect them against insects and diseases.

—Prune dead, diseased or damaged limbs from trees.

—Plant trees and shrubs and ground covers. Before planting, be sure to remove wire and plastic cord from trunks and stems and remove plastic burlap and other nonbiodegradable materials from the soil balls. After planting, water thoroughly and mulch. If necessary, guy tall trees to keep them from being uprooted or damaged by the wind.

—If the weather is dry, water trees and shrubs weekly, especially newly planted ones. Do not fertilize woody ornamentals now, however. This could promote a flush of new growth that would probably be killed or injured by cold weather. You can fertilize after plants are fully dormant but before the soil freezes. Nutrients applied then will be available to plants as soon as they begin to grow again in the spring.

—Establish a new lawn by Sept. 15.

—Spot seed bare areas in lawns with seed of similar grass species. In sunny lawns, this will probably mean a blend of improved bluegrass cultivars; in shaded lawns, a mixture of bluegrasses and fescues. Loosen the soil before seeding and firm it afterwards. Water daily—more than once, if necessary—to keep the soil moist until seedlings are well established.

—Around Labor Day, fertilize established lawns with a complete fertilizer, such as 20-5-10. Plan to apply another pound of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet in early November. This will promote root growth until the soil freezes and provide nutrients for a slow spring green-up. Then, next year, hold off fertilizing until mid-May or later.

—Keep raking leaves as they fall so they don't mat on the lawn and smother the grass plants. Add leaves to the compost pile. Chopping or grinding them and mixing with a little soil and fertilizer will speed decomposition.

—Rid lawns of broad-leaved weeds by applying appropriate lawn herbicides according to label directions.

Health Day set for October 29

"To your Health" is the theme set for Saturday, October 29th, when a day of classes, opportunities to quiz the experts, and chances to learn more about everything from sex to cancer, diet and exercise to stress, are presented at Petoskey High School from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the general public.

Believing that knowledge is the best prevention, organizers of To Your Health have set aside the day for presentations on a range of health issues of concern to the whole family. Even a door prize will be given.

Topics include: "Nutrition on a Tight Budget", "Sex is Not a Four Letter Word", "Cancer Screening for Men and Women", "Stress and Relaxation", "First Aid in the Woods", "Dieting and Exercise",

"Family Communication", "How to Educate Children about Drug Abuse", "Preventive Dentistry", "Knowing About Health Insurance", "Single Parenting: Male and Female Viewpoints", "Birth Control: What's New", "Consequences of Nuclear War", and "How to Avoid and Cope with Back Pain".

Nancy Gaye Frye, a noted speaker and educator with the extension service, will kick off the day of activities at 9 a.m. in the Petoskey High School Auditorium, with a speech entitled "Focus on Fear". Ms. Frye's theme is that fear can cause illness and hinder healing, that a successful release from fear promotes wellness.

A door prize of a Questor one-step child car seat has been donated to the event by Michigan State University Extension Service through District Health Department #3.

Blood Pressure, Hearing and Diabetes Screening tests will also be available during the day. People wishing to participate in the Diabetes Screening should not be already diagnosed as diabetic and should eat a high carbohydrate meal 2 hours prior to taking the test.

To Your Health — A

Community Health Day — is the fourth annual jointly sponsored effort of The Women's Resource Center, District Health Department #3, Michigan State University Extension Service, North Central Michigan College of Nursing, the Burns Clinic, Northern Michigan Hospitals and Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Staff Sgt. Patrick H. Doan, son of Ralph W. and Cecilia E. Doan of Charlevoix, has participated in Global Shield 83, an exercise involving U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps units, and elements of the Canadian forces.

The exercise, coordinated by the Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC), was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of SAC to carry out orders should deterrence fail.

Doan is assigned with the 410th Bombardment Wing at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, MI. His wife, Sharon, is the daughter of Donald and Ilona Monteith of Charlevoix. The sergeant is a 1973 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics. Davis plans to enter the ROTC program at Michigan Technological University at Houghton.

County 4-H to hold annual fall awards banquet

Charlevoix county 4H will hold its annual Fall Awards Banquet at Whiting Park on Monday, October 24, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. This event marks the close of the current program year and acts as a reporting vehicle and an annual meeting. Perhaps more important for some, it is the time when members, leaders and others receive recognition for their hard work and accomplishments.

The Charlevoix County 4-H Banquet is a potluck, but turkey, ham, coffee and milk are furnished by the 4-H Council. The County Council is the volunteer group responsible for working with 4-H staff to provide a well-rounded program to youth in the county. The Council plans recreational and learning experiences and makes some policy. They also direct fund raising efforts such as the 4-H Horse Show at Charlevoix Farms and the 4-H Petting Zoo at the Boyne Falls Polish Festival to provide scholarships for members and leaders to some of the many regional and state 4-H opportunities available. The election of two adults for two years each and two teens for one year each to the Council will take place that evening also.

Recognition is an important feature of the 4-H Awards Banquet. Besides members who will receive project pins for excellence in their area of 4-H learning this past year and leaders' thanks and recognition; some members and leaders will receive special awards from the Council. Friends of 4-H are also very important to the success of the ongoing program in Charlevoix County. These friends are invited to share this evening and are presented with certificates of appreciation. Another feature of the banquet will be reports to the group from the Council about the year's activities and from 4-H people who were able to attend various county sponsored or state 4-H Youth Program events. Franckowiak first Lick Scholarship winner

Sharon Franckowiak, a Michigan State University freshman from Boyne Falls, is the first recipient of the Ervin A. Lick Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The recently established 1500 scholarship is to be awarded annually to the Boyne Falls High School senior with the highest scholastic average who will attend MSU the following fall.

Ervin A. Lick, a resident of Boyne Falls for 60 years, served as president of the city's school board for 10 years and also as the city's mayor.

Janice and David Lick of East Lansing designed the scholarship in honor of David's father. David, a Lansing lawyer, was a graduate of both Boyne Falls High School and MSU.

"I wanted to do something in honor of my father and give other students the opportunity to experience the benefits my wife and I enjoyed at Michigan State," he said.

At MSU, Franckowiak is studying medical technology. She intends to apply the scholarship money towards her education.

She is the daughter of Bernice Franckowiak, 2481 Grove St.

the 4-H year, October 1 to September 30, most 4-Hrs see their other club members, their leaders, MSU specialists, youth from other counties, and workshop leaders as well as Extension staff as they go about their 4-H business. Many are expected to attend the banquet program as this is the one time annually when families from all project areas are together.

Charlevoix County Commissioners have also been asked to come to this program as guests of the 4-H families. County Commissioners are a cooperating group, along with Michigan State University and the United States Department of Agriculture, in providing all Cooperative Extension services, including 4-H, to the citizens of the county.

CrewsInn hosts March of Dimes auction

The lure of country music and auction bargains brought over 150 people to Crews Inn in East Jordan on Sunday, September 25, for an old-fashioned fun benefiting March of Dimes.

Midnite Rain, Little Mike and the Country Connection, and Good Ole Boys provided music for listening and dancing. Harry Pearsall, personable auctioneer and well-known on the charity circuit, auctioned off clothing, lamps, cookies, tools, and hunting equipment, along with many other articles donated by merchants and individuals from Ellsworth, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Petoskey.

Jerry and Mona Krall, Owners of Crews Inn, hosted the event and donated a percentage of the profits from food and drink to March of Dimes. Their staff also donated their time and services for the day.

Paula Sweet, co-ordinator of the event, announced a total of $925 raised from the auction-jamboree for the March of Dimes Northern Chapter, which includes Emmet, Charlevoix, and Cheboygan Counties. Forty percent of the money raised remains in the chapter to be used for funding genetic counseling field clinics, nurse scholarships, nutritional aide for Char-

Em Alternative Education for Pregnant Teens, individual patient assistance, and pre-natal classes. She praised the generosity of the local merchants, the staff of Crews Inn, and all the willing volunteers involved.
