East Jordan to spend money on aquifer survey

"It's not an emergency situation, but why let it get out of control," said East Jordan councilman Al Joseph. The city council agreed and approved spending $1,100 for a survey of aquifers for future water supply and city plans for development.

"There is money budgeted for this type of project," said city superintendent Mike Dionne. Williams and Works, a Grand Rapids engineering firm, which has been called in on other city projects, will do the survey.

Dionne noted that the drought last July pushed water supply facilities close to their limit. Well number 1, which has been in service 50 years and is still producing good water, has to be watched both because of its age and for its location relatively near a sewer.

Wells two, three, and four cannot replace number one. Three and four are suitable mainly for emergencies because of iron in the water, and number two supply has been called insufficient to supply the whole city.

Dionne said it could get to the point of drilling test wells, and he said a grant of $25,000 may be asked of the state for the drilling.

Council amended its budget to supply $9,500 for recouping the sewer budget $3,300, and providing funds for sewer repairs on Esterly Street, as well as manhole cover replacements.

Rather than make an exception to its fee schedule, the council voted to pay the cost of the fee for the Lionesses Christmas Party in the Civic Center in December.

The Center has also been requested as the city cheese distribution location, starting in November and continuing once a month until spring. The request was referred to parks and recreation committee for study.

Dionne reviewed the report of vandalism on the monitoring wells at the landfill, pointing out that they had been improperly installed by the Department of Natural Resources contractor in the first place, and could have been heaved by frost even if not vandalized. He said state police had been called by the DNR regarding the situation.

The city will also investigate, he said.

Attorney fees for city defense in the Herman Rasch suit amounted to $15,140. Former city attorney Roy Hayes, who took the case, was authorized a payment of $8,000 for the present.

The city also voted to set aside $1,500 for possible donation to the Charlevoix County Task Force, newly forming and asking help from the county's cities.

Mayor Bill Merwin read the proclamation making November 7 East Jordan Ironworks Day in celebration of the foundry's 100th anniversary.

Before the snow flies... Construction flurry in Boyne

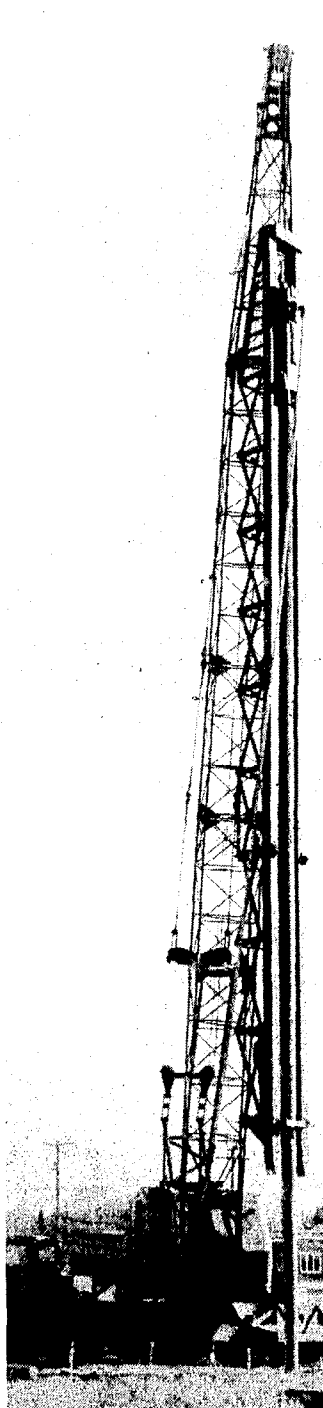

Although construction people are working hard to beat the weather on building, others are in the process of beating the weather in tearing down, as this crew is working on the old Eagles Hall here in Boyne City. The tearing down of a building is probably harder than the construction of it when it was new.

Work on South Lake Street appears to be nearly over as the crews from Hodgkiss and Douma lay down the asphalt. The street, which will be open for traffic this weekend, only needs to have the sidewalks finished, along with the new oldstyle light posts and brickwork to be completed. That work is expected to be done by November 15.

Working to close in the new addition to Industrial Magnetics, which is located on M-75 just east of Boyne, these workers put up another section of wall of the new building. The addition will add more room for the expansion of this high-technology business.

Saturday marked the return of the pile-driving noise to Boyne City, as the piles were started for the new One Water Street development restaurant. The piles attracted a large crowd of interested onlookers while the three test piles were driven into the ground. The 60 foot piles went down about 40 feet before they were in hard ground. After the tests were completed, and when the results came back from the engineer, the rest of the piles for the project will be driven.

Working to beat the annual freeze up, these cement finishers are laying the floor to the new Boyne Auto Store which will be located behind the post office on East Street. The construction is hoped to be completed by Christmas according to a store official.

Boyne may start collecting summer school taxes

This year Boyne City did not collect a summer tax for the school system, although it did for the preceding three years. This fall the proposition is alive again. Superintendent Rich Kelly asked the city commission at its November 8 noon meeting to agree to resuming summer collection if the school board approves.

At its November 14 meeting the board will discuss the question. A notice will be printed on the board's intention to vote on it at their December 12 meeting.

One half the school tax would be collected in summer if the board approves. This is the same plan that was used in the three previous years. The purpose is to reduce the amount the school has to borrow in anticipation of winter tax collection. This year it borrowed $893,000. The cost of interest (between $10,000 and $15,000) is the chief reason for asking for summer tax collection.

City treasurer Edith Beck pointed out that the city would lose part of the one percent collection fee that it takes in the winter. The fee collection is not allowed in summer. If the school tax is collected only in winter, as it will be this year, the one percent would apply to the full amount and come to about $5,800.

Commissioners agreed that even though the city would lose, the loss of half the fee would be ultimately beneficial to the community in that the school would at the same time be saving even more.

Kelly explained that recent state law required schools to pay townships a fee if the townships as well as the city were willing to collect summer taxes. The fee would be to reimburse townships, which are not equipped to run up two tax collections a year.

Because townships in the school district were not able to come up in time with what to charge, the school postponed the effort. Rough estimates were between $3 and $5 per parcel.

In other action, the city commission approved compensating city clerk Tom Garlock for his extra duty as acting city manager for approximately 12 weeks. Garlock was given a round of applause for his effort and voted $100 a week additional pay.

An amendment to the city's contract with the Federal Housing Commission was made to allow federal funds of about $17,000 to be applied to Housing Commission work on such needs as project drives and insulation.

The VanAlstine Auto Parts business received permission to go ahead with its express driveway along the sidewalk of its proposed new building. The previous drive dimensions would have been under ten feet, too narrow for city approval. Louis VanAlstine brought in a corrected measurement of 12 feet and asked that the planters be scratched from the new resolution. The commission concurred.

Jack McCord, representing Boyne City Rotary Club presented a donation of $110 to the commissioners for use by the fire department.

Behling, Loding take the top vote total in Boyne election

Incumbent Thelma Behling and former city commissioner Marvin Loding were elected to the Boyne City Commission in Tuesday's election. The two received the highest votes among the 393 votes cast in the city election.

Behling, running for her third term as a commissioner, received the highest vote total, 225, while Loding received 122 votes, only 14 more than his closest opponent Robert Dunning.

Although losing in the election to place two people on the commission, Ruth (Pat) Wulff and Rudy Florenski each gathered 84 votes.

Defeated from a second term on the commission was Martin Paul, who gathered 78 votes. Only Elmer Crain had less votes getting 66 ballots with his name on them.

The election was very light as in precinct one, only 162 people qualified to vote, voted. It was much the same in precinct two as only 231 cast a ballot. There are about 2000 registered voters within the city.

Over in East Jordan, although unconfirmed at this writing, Mayor Bill Merwin was re-elected, along with Cal Gotts and Clifford Gibbard. Al Joseph was also re-elected as he was running unopposed. Complete East Jordan results will be in next week's County Press.

EJ council extends clerk-treasurer agreement

With the 60-day limit running out on temporary employment of an assistant in the city clerk-treasurer office, East Jordan city council called a special meeting on November 4.

The council voted to extend the employment period another 60 days or less in order to have time to decide on final appointments. The extension was agreed to by employee Sue Wodzinski, who had been switched from police department to the city office in September. A replacement for Wodzinski has been appointed. Wodzinski had been secretary for the city police.

One of the reasons for delay has been to allow the council to learn if the city office could be staffed adequately by three instead of four employees, as formerly. Council is also considering separating the clerk-treasurer role into two positions.

It was pointed out that it shouldn't cost the city more to split the work up between two present staff people, but mayor Bill Merwin noted the city would need "adequate job descriptions." And councilwoman Ellen Cihak said it would also take time to have the ordinance printed up.

Merwin was concerned that there had been no period as deputy clerk to help train one of the present staffers in the work. Former deputy clerk Gwen Frank had resigned, following the dismissal of former clerk-treasurer Fern Morris.

City superintendent Mike Dionne's rejoinder was, "I can state that the city office is running."

The council indicated it would pursue having one of the present employees appointed city clerk duties, and another as city treasurer.

Answering a question from Thelma Behling, State Senator Mitch Irwin makes the rounds at almost every table at the breakfast he hosted at the Country Start Restaurant last Friday. Listening in is City Manager Randy Frykberg, Michael Stowe and Marshall Behling. With his back to the camera is Larry Trumble. After the breakfast, Irwin was given a tour of the waterfront to inform him as to how he could help in the finding of monies to finance the city beach.

Childhood diseases not fully controlled

District Health Department Number Three is warning parents of the continuing danger of childhood diseases and urging them to make sure that all of their children are fully immunized.

The diseases against which immunizations are needed, the District Health Department reports, are polio, measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus.

"Many people believe that these diseases no longer exist or that immunizations are no longer important," said Carol Paxton, R.N., M.S.N. Director of Personal Health Services for the District Health Department. "The truth is that all of those diseases still strike unprotected children, and some of them remain fairly common."

The District Health Department recommends a series of immunizations that should be started at 2 months of age for most children. The series should be completed prior to the child's entry into kindergarten.

A tetanus and diphtheria booster should be given to adults and children every 10 years. This booster is often neglected by parents, and by students at about the ninth grade level.

Immunizations are offered by District Health Department Number #3 at the following locations on the dates and times indicated.

BELLAIRE County Building, 1st Thursday, 9:30-11:00 a.m.

Is it time for a steering committee?

Is this the right time to suggest that Boyne City could use a "steering committee?"

A committee that could get together on an informal basis to help guide the direction of the city in the future.

While it wouldn't have any real impact on the laws of the city, it could provide some direction, as it seems to us that the various factions of the community want different things.

Each little special interest group, whether it be senior citizens or tourists, could have a say in the aspirations of the new city we are developing here along Lake Charlevoix.

We have the opportunity to create one of the most beautiful cities here in the north, and we should have as much input from as many sources that we can find to make sure that the city is going to be exactly the way we want.

Do we want to make the city completely a tourist attraction, or do we want to let the city develop into a regional senior citizen center?

We are not advocating either one, but, with a steering committee, they could research what the right mix of people, businesses, manufacturing concerns, parks, and other recreational facilities that we may want to have a few years down the road.

This committee would be asked to develop ideas beyond the capital improvement program that the city presently has. Ultimately it could decide and direct the city into becoming the city that a lot of folks want.

Probably the hardest thing to see in the future, is what the city will look like, what types of people it attracts to its borders, and what means it plans to utilize to get in that position.

Does it plan on finding grant monies, or will it be more or different taxes placed on those who live here year around and who will have to provide many of the facilities that attract the visitor, and help keep them coming back?

Should the steering committee urge the passing of taxes on motel and hotel rooms throughout the county so that the county could have a really good promotion campaign to attract even more people to the area?

Could the committee urge the City Commission into providing more fairly low cost housing to attract more seniors?

These are just some of the ideas that the committee may want to address, if there was such a committee.

Perhaps it is time that we think about having one, outside of the City Commission, the Planning Commission, and many of the other groups who are currently helping to make the changes in the community.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

I believe that we need another national holiday like we need another day off, and I am always for another day off, even if it is without pay.

Now that our elected officials in the "city of days off", Washington D.C., (or is it the officials are off) have seen the light to give us a Martin Luther King Day off, I really think that we need more and more of them.

Just think what about 12 more days off could do for our nation's productivity. Just think of all those folks coming back to work after the last day off and spending about three hours telling each other where and what they did on their vacation.

That is one of the reasons that we need more, and what I would like to propose is a national holiday for another leader who was shot down in the prime of his life. And this guy was a leader. He was elected to be a president, a war hero rising to be the youngest brigadier general in the Union Army, and he was also elected to the U.S. House of Representatives.

This was a man who knew his way around Washington, and I think we should set aside a day in his honor.

Did I say his name? Well, time flies when you are making up vacation days, and the time really flies when you have one, but the guy I am talking about, the man I am promoting for martyrdom, the man I would like to see honored for the newest national holiday is...James A. Garfield.

Even if his name is James, like my given name, I am still for him. And I think we should have a day set aside in his honor so that we can sit back and reflect on his accomplishments to our country.

I would also like to set a new standard with my list of days off. I would like to see them all happen on a Friday in deference to all the other national holidays that are set for Mondays.

Another reason for a Friday holiday would be that we all like to get an early start for the weekend, so let us have one.

Send your letters on to the Congress and the Senate, folks, we need another day of rest so that we could go fishing, or hunting, or skiing, or anything.

I would like to see the holiday set about August 7th, or the first week into August so we here in the north can have one more weekend to get the tourists to visit. It's also, without a lot of thought, one month that doesn't have any national holidays.

January has the first, February has the presents, March has the Irish, April has Easter, May has Mother's Day and Mushrooms, as well as Memorial Day, June must have something like "relief day"...the time when the kids get out of school, July has the fourth, September has Labor Day, October has Columbus Day, November has Turkey day, and of course, the whole month of December is set aside for the merchants to make money...the real meaning has been lost by a lot of people. I think, and I am sure there are a few more that I have forgotten about.

But, none are in August. And that is why we need it there.

James A. Garfield Day forever.

Marshall Sayles

I recently fell among people who said that when the President addresses the nation he does it on television, but when a Democrat addresses the nation he does it on the boob tube. I told my wife about that and she warned me to be more particular about the people I fall among.

Twenty-three cents to mail a first class letter!

That's the latest applesauce the post office is jabbering about. A three cent additional fingering into our thin, flapping pocketbooks.

Now, tell me, how does the government, in its infinite ignorance, know when you've written a first letter or a second class letter?

It doesn't. Thousands of people have been charged first class rates for tinhorn writing. It seems to me that the government should give some consideration to mediocrity.

But no. Even I, who went through the ninth grade three times, have dashed off some second class tripe, but was charged top dollar for the mailing.

That makes me mad. I'm willing to pay until it pinches for my first-fiddle stuff, but in no way do I want to be charged the maximum when I whip up some low grade pencil scratching to tell a guy that I've already paid that bill and to quit hounding me.

In these letters I'm apt to use a bit of second class language. First class rates for low class mumbling. Hal You know something? At twenty-three cents a stamp, I think the government should hire a lickie—a man who will stand there and lick your stamps for you. Because of the amount of mail that goes through our local office they would probably need three or four lickies. That would allow the public to stand there and actually see what it was getting for that extra three cents.

If the government doesn't do that, then I still have a trick up my sleeve.

I'll use the telephone. I'll pick it up and speak mouth to ear to those whom I usually flail with third class letters at first class prices. That'll teach 'em. And maybe they'll think twice before raising the price again. Especially if everyone does it.

But yet I don't know. Once the government has been taught a lesson it refuses to remain taught. In another year or so there will probably be an additional nickel required for first class mail—and they won't hire a single lickie, either.

Now I'm done. I shall harp no more.

Before I shut this thing off, I would like to step in and assure my readers that the rumor about Beaver Island is just that. A rumor. There is no truth to the fact that President Reagan will send the marines to Beaver Island and let them drink up all the whiskey unless the residents shape up and vote straight Republican.

Summer may seem to have hot miserable moments. But that is somewhat our own fault, because we insist on being human beings at work, or human beings in our good clothes, or human beings being otherwise at odds with the gifted presence of summer.

Now that this presence is slipping away, I look back with renewed appreciation. And don't—please don't say, "But summer is over."

So let us now count the graces of summer. I will start with driving through the summer night with the car windows down, hearing the quick, sandpaper-sound of meadow insects, seeing lighted windows through the trees.

Count also bicycle ballets, slipping in and out of sight under streetlights. Gleaming, graceful, and swift, bicycles belong to summer. Count also voices calling and laughing on a summer's night. And count campfires, and later, the stars, stars, stars.

Remember the beach and Lake Michigan and running through blue of air and water, and floating in tubes as light danced around us on the water and on sand under the water.

Remember the curve of white sails and of white gulls' wings.

There were all those picnics, too. The peaches we ate, the raspberries we picked. And waking to the song of an oriole, to a dew-sparkling world, better than dreams we were dreaming.

Summer is so friendly. Open the door and it welcomes you, as though you were shut out even though in your own house! Shut in is shut out from summer.

Count the mists breathing up from the river. Count the canoe trips. Count rose petals, daisies, apple blossoms.

And count over and over the way the wind sounds in the trees... Now in the southwest the sun is pitched at late-afternoon and shines through the woods. Out the kitchen window we see here and there the light illuminate the leaves.

We look deep into the woods, deep into the moment. For just now, this—just this—is where the sun is shining. This is the center of time and of summer.

Tell me not we have to wait till next year for another. But remind me that it will always be even better.

Editor,

Was a little disappointed a short time ago regarding an obituary that was omitted.

My sister-in-law, Mrs. Fay Davis, (Arlene,) passed away on Sept. 30 and the funeral was held on Oct. 4 at Charlevoix. She and her husband had been residents of Charlevoix since 1947. Prior to that she lived all her life in Boyne City, graduated from Boyne High in 1934, was salutatorian of her class and came from a well-known family in Boyne City. Her father was Mr. Perley Burdick, a Boyne mail man for many years. Her mother was the former Emma Hausler who used to teach school. All of her family, three boys and three girls, were either valedictorian or salutatorian of their graduating class.

She and her husband have many cousins in Boyne City including Thelma Davis Behling, one of the City Commissioners.

No big deal—but thought you should have published that obituary. Many people who take the paper from out of the city or out of the state would have liked to know. And—you are a Charlevoix Co. newspaper, plus the news event occurred in Charlevoix.

Very truly yours,
Mr. Cristy Davis
also an old time Boyne resident

Group organizing to help disturbed

"Our main aim is to find other parents we can help," said Christa-Maria, part of the group organizing to help emotionally disturbed children. The group will meet in Petoskey at Northern Michigan Mental Health Center, 603 Lake St. in Petoskey at 7 p.m.

A new chapter of Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed is forming in Charlevoix. Children born with this handicap have not been having their needs met in the educational system, said Christa-Maria. Although disturbed, they are not below-average in intelligence.

"This doesn't mean they should get away with things in the classroom," she said. But keeping the lid on these children takes attention from the rest of the class' needs.

Charlevoix has an elementary school classroom just for such children, with a program called HIP—Highly Individualized Programs. In Boyne City is the classroom for middle school children of the area. "We're now working on staffing a high school class," said Tom Caldwell who directs special education at Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

Caldwell said that Char-Em offers professional advisors and a meeting place to the association. The group alternates between meeting in Petoskey and meeting in Charlevoix.

Boyer Falls Conferences

BOYNE FALLS - Parent-teacher conferences will be held from noon-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 10, for parents of children in grades K-12.

Parents are encouraged to attend to discuss their children's educational progress, school officials said.

Remembrances

Demolished by fire, as so many buildings were, East Jordan Iron Works was rebuilt with brick. This week the firm celebrated its 100th year in business. This picture, taken in 1910, shows the new building with Jim Malpass, Ellis Malpass, W.E. Malpass [company founder], W.H. Malpass, and Bert Reed standing in front of it. The racks of wood by the building were used to hold sand in which metal castings were made. If you have any pictures of the old days to share with our readers, please bring them in so that we can copy them.

Well, this is it... January 1, the day Michigan Bell breaks away from AT&T. I'm almost afraid to pick it up.

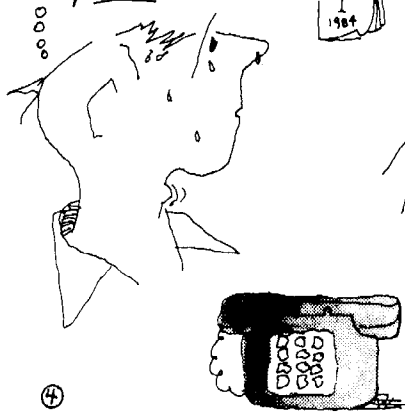

Don't be silly. What could happen?

Good grief! What if nothing happens?! What if there's no dial tone?

I'll never hear Edna's voice again! Or Rudy in Laguna Beach! Or My Mom next door!

Mom? Of course it works. I told you all along...

Come January 1, you'll still get through to Edna in Engadine or your mom next door... as quickly and efficiently as ever.

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little.

For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where LATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes — see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

1. Upper Peninsula LATA
2. Grand Rapids LATA
3. Saginaw LATA
4. Lansing LATA
5. Detroit LATA

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about LATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

So, as the expression goes — "not to worry." You'll still have your phone service — as good as ever — because we're working to make the changes in your phone company better changes for you. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line.

Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Country Star holding grand opening

New! Bigger! Better! Efficient!
These are all words that customers and business owners use everytime a new store is completed in the Boyne area.

But nowhere is it more truthful than the new Country Star Supermarket and the restaurant.

The three store chain that is based in Gaylord, is formally having their grand opening this week, showing off the new store in Boyne City with all of its new features.

Among them are the doubling of almost every department in the supermarket. The frozen food section was tripled in size.

As you walk in, tradition in the grocery business sends you off in a counterclockwise direction to the new produce section. Here the foods are displayed in bulk and also pre-packaged containers. You can be assured that the quality is fresh, as the management of the store considers produce to be one of the reasons that people shop at a store like their s.

As you go past the deli department and the bakery, some of the smells that are emitted from the ovens help you think about the reason you are at the store. Fresh baked goods from the store's own ovens offer something that many other stores don't feature.

The meat section of the store was doubled in size and features a self-serve area as well as butcher assisted shopping for all the meat products the family desires.

The dairy department was also tripled in size so that the store could accommodate the many new items that are coming into the marketplace in dairy products.

Perhaps the biggest change happens when you wander into the frozen food department. The size is just one of the changes though, as the freezers are designed to be open for ease of selecting the item the customer wants. With the additional space, the items offered are much better as the trends of the grocery business reflect the need for more items that are prepared and just need to be heated. The trend is apparent in many families with working partners.

Even the check out lanes are designed for speed. They feature a new scanning system that reads the scanning code on the product, looks to a computer in the back room for the price, and prints out on the sales stub the name of the item as well as the price. This makes it very convenient for those who like to check what they purchased against their shopping list when they get home.

Officials of the store, expect that eventually people will learn where to find that one item that they need.

The store, which was built by the Peninsula Construction Company of Traverse City, features many things utilized nowadays to help keep the costs of operating a large store down.

For example, the heat that is taken off the freezers is used to help heat the store.

According to Jim Wandrie, the store manager, he has not had to turn on the furnaces even though there were some cold days and nights in October and November.

All the energy saving features will help to keep the food costs lower say company officials.

The new store is open for your inspection and for your weekly food purchases every day.

The new checkout counters at the Country Star Supermarket feature a scanning computerized cash register system that reads the coding on every package of food. Some items, such as meat and produce still have to be priced into the cash register by hand, but the whole system is working very smoothly according to some of the cashiers. This is just one of the many features that the new market offers.

An early morning customer picks an item off the shelf that overlooks the new frozen food department. The section, tripled in size from the store's previous location, offers practically everything that is available from the Spartan Store chain. The supermarket is part of the Spartan Store group.

Kimo Kuheana bursts through the line off tackle as he gathers up steam and defenders on his way to a large gain for the Boyne City Ramblers. The game showed both teams trying hard to win, but Boyne made less mistakes than the Petoskey team in the win that ended a 12 year hex.

Boyne City's Stacy Reinhardt takes off for a little open field running as we went about 40 yards on this play for a touchdown. The TD started the effort by the team to break the jinx the school has had with Petoskey that goes back to 1970. Boyne could not win a game, always doing something in the last quarter to lose it, until this game last Friday night. Boyne beat the team from a larger school 36 to 21.

Boyne breaks 12 year jinx, beats Petoskey

BY PAUL ZINCK

Not since 1970 had the Boyne City Ramblers beaten the Petoskey Northmen, but a determined Boyne squad put 36 points on the scoreboard to end their unlucky streak last Friday night.

Low temperatures came with a cold wind that followed the visiting Petoskey team out of the north, making it a perfect night for football. Rambler coach Bob McCullough and crew were looking to take any advantage given to them and used 146 total yards rushing and three touchdowns by senior Stacy Reinhardt to take the 36-21 victory.

Reinhardt, one of seven senior Ramblers playing in their last game, had a great rushing performance and scored 18 solo points. The half-back had touchdown runs of 53 and 59 yards plus a short one yard score.

Boyne won the toss and elected to receive the opening kickoff. After Rob Musser returned the ball 10 yards to the 18 yard line, Boyne set up to begin their first drive with Mitch Kruzal at the helm.

Kruzal handed off to Musser for a one yard gain to the 19, but on the next play Reinhardt was stopped at the line of scrimmage for no gain. On a quick kick play on 3rd down, Kimo Kuheana kicked the ball to the Rambler 48 yard line, where it was downed.

The Northmen, with sophomore Tim Nelson at QB, started their drive with 10:23 left in the first period. Scott Hall took the ball for 7 yards on the first play and then rushed for another four to pick up the first down. After that the Northmen could muster just three yards on four offensive plays and turned the ball over on downs.

Boyne took the ball and Reinhardt gained eight yards on two carries before Musser picked up the first down with his two yard gain. Kruzal was tackled in the backfield for a one yard loss on the next play. Boyne could not move the ball until a 15 yard facemask penalty against Petoskey took them to the Northmen 38 yard line. Kuheana picked up another five yards before a second facemask penalty gave Boyne a first and ten at the 20. From there, however, the Ramblers could gain only five yards before turning the ball over on downs with 2:56 left in the opening quarter.

Boyne backed up the visitors to their 5 yard line by third down but Todd Fettig picked up seven yards back out to the 12 yard line. On the next play Daryl Bur's punt traveled just nine yards to the 21.

The Ramblers got off two plays before the scoreless first period ended. Two plays into the second stanza the Northmen once again stopped the Ramblers and started their own drive on their own 17.

Petoskey's boys could only get as far as the 19 yard line before punting to Rob Musser who returned the kick to the Boyne 46.

With Chris Howard in at quarterback, the Ramblers fumbled on the next play from scrimmage. Stefan Scholl recovered the ball, giving the Northmen a first down at the Rambler 39.

From there, Petoskey lost seven yards and subsequently could only get as far as the 41. Bur's kick was downed on the 28 yard line.

Musser picked up two yards and Kuheana was caught for a one yard loss to make it third down and nine from the 29 yard line. On the next play, Howard's second fumbled exchange was recovered by Mike Smith of Petoskey.

Nelson and company hit paydirt on their first play as the young QB and 6'4" end Eric Joneson connected for a 30 yard scoring strike. Fettig made good on the extra point to put the visitors on top, 7-0.

Musser fell on the loose kickoff at the five yard line and the Ramblers seemed to get mad. With 5:35 left in the half, Musser took the ball for 21 yards to the 26 yard line. From there Kruzal, back in at QB handed off to Reinhardt for a 4 yard gain. Musser picked up eight, then 12 yards to put the ball on the mid field stripe.

After an incomplete pass, Kimo Kuheana ran twice to pick up nine yards. Kruzal picked up the first down with a three yard rush. Musser picked up 13 on his next carry, then senior Marc Mental fumbled the ball up to the line of scrimmage, where Norman Howard covered the ball to retain possession for Boyne. Kruzal completed a pass to Mike Gabos for seven yards before a second pass to Gabos fell incomplete in the endzone. On the play, however, the Petoskey defender was called for pass interference. The penalty took the ball down to the ten yard line, giving the Ramblers a first down.

Boyne called time out, but the conference was only good for a one yard Reinhardt run before the Ramblers exhausted their second time out. Petoskey was caught off side and Kruzal picked up three yards to the one, where the Ramblers called their final time out. On the next play, Reinhardt scored his first touchdown on a one yard blast. The conversion pass to Gabos was complete for two points and 8-7 Rambler lead. The score came with 42 seconds left in the half.

The kickoff was downed on the 40 yard line where Petoskey called time out. Fettig picked up ten yards before another time out was called. After an incomplete pass Fettig picked up another five yards and called the third Northmen time out. With four seconds left Marc Schuch caught a 35 yard pass to the ten yard line, and the officials allowed Petoskey to stop the clock with a fourth time out. It didn't make a difference as the next pass went incomplete and time ran out.

The ball exchanged hands three times in the third 12 minute stanza before the Ramblers put together a scoring drive.

After Bur's punt traveled a very short distance and mostly straight up, Craig Napont returned the ball 33 yards to the two yard line. Marc Mental scored from two yards out on the next play. With an unsuccessful points-after attempt the Ramblers held a 14-7 lead with 5:05 left in the period.

On the ensuing drive, the Northmen went only backwards and with 4:10 left in the quarter, Fettig fumbled the ball into the waiting hands of Boyne's Reinhardt on the 17 yard line.

Musser took the ball down to the ten and Reinhardt's five yard carry gave Boyne a first down and five yards to goal. From there, Mental took it across to make the score 20-7 with 3:16 left in the third quarter.

Once again, the hometown Ramblers stopped their guests and forced them to punt. Musser returned the ball to the 39 yard line of Boyne, and Reinhardt picked up eight to the 47 before the senior halfback took off for 53 yards and his second touchdown of the night. Tony Napont caught the conversion pass to put the Boyne lead at 28-7 with just over one minute and one period left to play.

Petoskey returned the ensuing kickoff to their own 37 yard line and started a scoring drive. Stuart Haley ran for 15 yards and Schuch picked up 14 to end the third period with the ball on the 24 yard line. On the first play of the last quarter, Hall broke away for a 24 yard touchdown. This time the Northmen tried for a 2 point conversion. On the first attempt Nelson kept the ball and was injured on a facemask tackle. With Bur in at quarterback Petoskey converted for two points, leaving the score at 28-15 with 11:51 left to play.

Boyne couldn't move the ball on their next possession and punted to the Petoskey 42 yard line.

Two plays later Schuch took off for a 27 yard gain to Boyne's 28. After Nelson returned at QB, Hall picked up a first and goal from the eight with his 11 yard run. Three plays later Hall scored on a five yard dash. The score was a slim 28-21 Rambler lead with 5:37 left to play.

On Boyne's next possession, Reinhardt secured the Boyne victory with a 59 yard touchdown run. This time, Musser caught the conversion pass to

Seniors playing in their last game for Boyne were Reinhardt, Kruzal, Kuheana, Scott Moody, Joe Gregwire, Larry Williams, and Andy Sutton. The Ramblers ended their season with 4 wins against 5 defeats.

East Jordan Iron Works president Bruce Malpass accepts the plaque honoring the company on its 100th anniversary from the Michigan Historical Society. Representing the society is trustee Ken Winter. Seated from left are Bill Malpass, Fred Malpass, and Judy Shea. The anniversary was celebrated quietly at a small gathering at company headquarters.

"Low key" celebration ends 1st 100, honors long timers

A founder not only means someone who establishes something; it also means someone who casts metals. In either case, founders Richard W. Round and William E. Malpass could look with satisfaction on the 100th anniversary of East Jordan Iron Works, November 8, 1983. With the Malpass family members still at the helm and quality products their goal, the foundry celebrated its 100th birthday with a "low-key" gathering Monday morning, Nov. 7.

President Bruce Malpass told The Press that the now "brisk" production demands of an improved economy and new, on-going construction made a large celebration nearly impossible.

Earlier this year, company employees celebrated at a big Fourth of July picnic.

At the gathering on November 7, Malpass represented the company in accepting the Historical Society of Michigan's plaque, presented by society trustee, Ken Winter. In his speech, Winter noted that when the foundry began, there were only 38 states in the nation.

Malpass took the important occasion to present a gold watch to sales chief Robert Bretz who has been with the company for 30 years.

The occasion was also marked by a letter from citizens of the county, read by I. Lee Moerland, chairman of the county commissioners, and describing the foundry as "keystone business of the community."

Judy Shea, director of East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, presented the chamber's plaque, honoring the company that employs an average 350 people from the area.

Mayor Bill Merwin presented a plaque from the city which was an 80-pound cast iron manhole cover, with a bronze plaque attached.

Malpass responded by crediting East Jordan values and those of the Malpasses which had gone before, as the staying power of the organization.

Iron Works starts second 100

Without losing a step, East Jordan Iron Works heads into its second 100 years. New data processing is on its list of next steps. According to Betty Armstrong, data processing manager, upgrading computerization "ties sales offices in with instant communication. It really makes them feel a part of the company," she said.

EJIW has branch offices in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, and Cleveland. Most of its products are marketed in the Middle West, but the company continuously hears of its products being seen in such faraway places as Belgium and Mexico.

According to board chairman William Malpass, production is divided between satisfying industrial and municipal demand. Sometimes it's 50-50, sometimes 60-40, either way. EJIW makes brake drums for heavy tractor equipment, drilling and tapping equipment, water mains and fittings, gate valves, fire hydrants, and other cast-iron components, besides the famous manhole covers.

A big step in modernization came in 1978 when computerized production was installed. The old machine lathes required hand skill, said Tracy Malpass, chief engineer. Computerized lathes, on the other hand, require mental skills. Malpass said the company was fortunate to have good operators who can "edit the machines," which are run by computer tapes, various perforations calling for varied performance of the lathes.

The white-coated operators, some of whom used to operate the old lathes, check, modify, and control speed, fluid injection, and sizing of the computerized operation.

Because the company uses these lathes to produce a wide variety of items, employee-power continues to be essential, but production, at the same time is quadrupled.

"We had to computerize to compete," said Malpass.

Modernization is also environmentally involved. Tad Malpass, concerned with this aspect of the company, said the huge stacks have big fiberglass bags, collecting particles.

"What you see now is steam," said Malpass.

The big building with the American flag on it houses the fiberglass system.

In addition, Malpass continued, foundries are considered prime recyclers. The metal used in castings comes from junk cars and other cast-off metal objects.

Noting the fact that the foundry has its own licensed landfill, which has been praised by the Department of Natural Resources, Malpass said the company has generally been one or two steps ahead in good environmental practices.

The company summarizes its production in technical language: "Gray and ductile iron castings" production uses "green sand and hardened sand molding on high-pressure hydraulic-automated systems, producing castings from one to 6,000 pounds; core making, which includes bench, blown, shell, floor, and gas hardening; engineering service...machining on computer numerical controlled machines...a modern 102-inch water-cooled 50 tons-per-hour cupola...and a 40-ton induction holding furnace."

Devils end season with win over Indian River

BY MICHAEL BURR

The Devils of East Jordan capped a good season (7-2) on Friday night (parent's night) with a 30-10 beating of Indian River.

The game opened up with a bang as senior defensive end Tony Ruhlman intercepted the first pass by Indian River and returned it 30 yards for the touchdown. Barry Mumich carried the extra two points. East Jordan never looked back after that.

East Jordan kicked off and after Indian River's offense stalling and having to punt, the Devils took over on their own 39 yard line. One play and a Barry Mumich 55 yard jaunt, left the Devils on the 14 yard line. Senior quarterback Joe Buick returning after a seven game layoff promptly threw to Tony Ruhlman good for the touchdown, with Darrell Spence converting the extra two points.

Later in the first quarter, after recovering a fumble, quarterback Buick scampered in from the 20 yards out pushing the score at halftime to 20-0.

In the third quarter both teams scored. For East Jordan, with the brothers Spence and Mumich carrying the ball, the Devils sophomore halfback Aaron Spence got in from the six yard line with Mumich carrying for the two pointer. The only scoring in the fourth quarter was recorded by Indian River with a safety.

Offensively and defensively it was a good performance with both squads giving it 100 percent all night long.

Boyer Falls girls take wins over Ellsworth, Vanderbilt

BY PAUL THEISEN
Last week's Logger Ski lift seminar set

A 16 hour ski lift operators training program designed as an introduction to ski lift operation for the new operator and as a refresher for the experienced ski lift operator.

action concluded two more wins for the Falls.

The lift operators seminar will be held in the Crystal Mt. Lodge, Thompsonville, MI and utilize the lifts at Crystal for the field experience.

In Tuesday's game at Ellsworth the time ran out and the score was 33-33. The game went into overtime and the Loggers defeated the Lancers.

Coming out of the first quarter, the score was 5-1, an early lead for the Loggers, and one they managed to keep throughout the game until the last quarter.

At the half, Boyne had twice as many points as Ellsworth, leaving that quarter with a score of 21-11.

Third quarter was just as strong for the Loggers, having a lead score of 27-19, obviously not a high scoring game.

During fourth quarter action, the Ellsworth Lancers started gaining on the Loggers and reaching a holding score of 33-3 when the clock ran down.

Going into overtime the Boyne Falls Loggers managed to swing five points over the Lancers two, bringing the final score to 38-35, Logger victory.

For the Loggers, Kim Mikula and Kris Bell both scored 13 points in the winning effort.

For Ellsworth, Dori Drenth scored 14 and teammate Debbie Wynsmo scored 7.

Thursday's game at Boyne Falls was a blow-out compared to the Lancer-Logger game held previously that week. The Loggers walked away with another win.

First in the lead was the Loggers scoring 15 points over Vandy's six in the first period.

At halftime the score was 27-15, Loggers remaining in the lead.

Third quarter was a productive one for the Loggers as the ball just kept going through the hoop, score being 63-21.

Fourth quarter brought on a final score of 85-32, no challenge in this Logger victory.

For the Loggers, Kim Mikula and Kris Bell, again tied for top scoring honors, both gaining 19 points in the win.

Vanderbilt's Jenny Glinz and Sandy Peterson both grabbed eight points in their losing efforts.

Vince Perricano, a local artist and Boyne Falls resident, works on a multi-dimensional stained glass sculpture in his home studio. Perricano's work can be viewed at Off Bridge Street Artists Gallery in Charlevoix and various art shows throughout Michigan.

Sculpturing in stained glass goal for Boyne Falls artist

BY HOLLY SPENCE

"I look at my stained glass sculptures as paintings, the finished product is hard to define," Vince Perricano said while sculpting a detailed landscape out of stained glass and copper overlay.

"Originally I began working with stained glass because I wanted to make Tiffany lamps," Perricano said, "but I wanted to do something more original and came up with the idea of multi-dimensional self standing stained glass sculptures. First I used solder in my work but later found that copper has a much richer look and greater appeal."

Perricano, a self taught artist, recently rekindled his artistic endeavors when he moved from Iowa to Boyne Falls with his wife Becky and their 16 month old son Tony. "I hadn't really been doing much independent work in Iowa," Perricano said. "After five years of working for someone else I was ready to be on my own. I've always loved this area and began coming up here about 20 years ago to ski. I've traveled a lot and can't think of any place nicer than this."

Vince Perricano works out of a home studio which he converted from a bedroom. The studio is well organized and surrounds him with the many tools of his trade. Aside from stained glass, Perricano is also a talented painter, jeweler and glass blower. "I eventually hope to have a glass blowing studio of my own," Perricano said.

Perricano has combined all of his talents into the unique stained glass pieces which he creates. The piece begins with an intricate drawing of his idea, which is then transferred to glass and cut. The piece is then overlaid with copper striping, which gives it the jeweler's effect. In some of the pieces, small round glass blown pieces are used to represent the sun or moon and create exciting effects.

Perricano is the newest member of Off Bridge Street Artists cooperative gallery in Charlevoix where his work can be seen and is available for purchase.

"I've really enjoyed working with the co-op," Perricano said, "the artists are all very talented and have been a great help to us as new arrivals in the area."

Perricano also shows his work at various art shows throughout Michigan and will be participating in fall shows in Traverse City and Midland.

New owners take over Trading Post in EJ

BY HOLLY SPENCE

John and Jean McFarland, with their son Curt and daughter Nicole, are the new owners of the Trading Post Party Store in East Jordan.

The McFarlands, with a little help from the former owners, Vernon and Delores Stark, took over the business on September 28 when they moved to East Jordan from Southfield, Michigan.

"This is a nice place to raise a family," Jean said in response to the McFarland's choice of the East Jordan area. "We've always loved coming to this area as vacationers and the business opportunity made it perfect to move our family up here."

"We really have a family operation here," Jean said. "The children have been a big help around the store and for the time being we live right here also. We're all involved and we all enjoy it."

Prior to their arrival in East Jordan, John worked as a special education teacher in Southfield and Jean was a sales representative for Phillip Morris Tobacco.

"We had to make our decision to move up here quickly in the interim of summer because of John's job and the children's education," Jean said. "It was a quick move but we've been anticipating something like this for a long time. It wasn't a spur of the moment decision."

In the short months since the McFarlands arrival, the Trading Post Party Store has already gone through a few transformations. The store now carries more grocery items and a video arcade has been added.

As for future changes, the McFarlands hope to add a deli with fresh meats and cheeses and eventually some small gift items. Lottery will be a new addition to the store very soon and John McFarland, a hunter and sportsman, hopes to soon have ammunition and fishing supplies.

"We are really enjoying the business," John said, "because of the people, our customers. We've met a lot of people who are very friendly and helpful. It makes business easier when people work with you."

The Trading Post Party Store is open daily from 9 a.m. till 10 p.m. and till midnight on Friday and Saturday. Hours on Sunday are 12 a.m. till 8 p.m. The store is located across from the city beach in East Jordan. Stop in and welcome the McFarlands.

Kirby of Manker Associates, Inc. of Petoskey. "We want to wish the McFarlands the best of luck," said Jim Thomas, "and we also wish the best to the former owners, the Starks."

Vernon and Delores Stark, who owned the Trading Post for seven years, have been residents of East Jordan for 12 years. The Stark's also own the Four Season's Marina in East Jordan. "We plan to concentrate on just one business for awhile," said Delores Stark. "We'll stay in the area because we love it here and it's our home."

The Trading Post Party Store is open daily from 9 a.m. till 10 p.m. and till midnight on Friday and Saturday. Hours on Sunday are 12 a.m. till 8 p.m. The store is located across from the city beach in East Jordan. Stop in and welcome the McFarlands.

First Federal now a stock company

First Federal of Michigan's members have approved the company's conversion from a mutual savings and loan association to the capital stock form of ownership. The approval enables First Federal to proceed with its plan to offer an estimated 8.6 million shares of common stock.

Orders for approximately 935,000 shares have been received under First Federal's direct community offering and subscription offering to customers. The remaining shares will be sold in a public offering co-managed by Salomon Brothers, A.G. Becker Paribas and Merrill Lynch Capital Markets.

First Federal of Michigan is the ninth largest savings and loan association in the country and the largest outside California, with assets of $7.4 billion. In addition to its 84 offices throughout Michigan, First Federal operates 15 Bay Savings Bank offices in southeast Virginia and four Omni Savings Bank offices in Columbia, S. C., through a wholly owned subsidiary.

Members of First Federal—its depositors and borrowers—approved the conversion at a meeting in Detroit's Book Cadillac Hotel on November 2, 1983.
