Garden Club hears about hot house growing

On Jan. 26, 25 members and guests of the Boyne Valley Garden Club enjoyed a delicious carry-in luncheon at Litzzenburger Place.

After a social session president Vi Manglos called the meeting to order. This club and other clubs are faced with changing their official closing date to coincide with the State Federation of Garden Clubs.

The speaker, Doug Klang of Petoskey Floral had much of interest to tell about hot house grown flowers he was using in his demonstration. His suggestions were simple, yet important in flower arranging. He graciously donated the arrangements to the club, who in turn voted to send them to the past presidents Allis McClain and Connie Van Hoosen who are shut-ins at this time.

Mr. Klang brought spring a little closer with his talk and demonstration.

We should be proud of festival fun

With one festival behind us and another just ahead, we would like to share a few thoughts about the influence of festivals here in our area.

First, we think that they are a welcome event during the winter. They bring some excitement to the community.

Second, they bring visitors to town, visitors who do more than just spend money with some of the area merchants. Perhaps some of the visitors may like the things that we do to bring the community together, and think about moving to our area so that they can participate more fully in all of the activities.

There is also a chance that some of those visitors may be in a position to someday bring some needed industry to our towns. It has happened before, and could again.

But the thing that really impresses us, is the camaraderie that the festival brings to the community. Whether it is a winter festival or a summer one, it always brings out the best of our citizens.

The friendly rivalry of a tug-of-war for the privilege of bragging rights, down to who had the best shanty on the lake, will make for conversations through the many months ahead. At least until next year when the same things will be developed and made even better.

The activities are planned in such a way as to provide as much fun as possible, whether the skies are sunny or snowy.

And if you were one of those who missed out on some of the fun last weekend, you missed one of the many reasons you visit, live in, or enjoy the north.

We are looking forward to this weekend's festival in East Jordan, and then on to the mushroom festival, the Fourth of July festivities, and any others we can find, because we like to have a great time.

Marshall Sayles

We have now reached the dead of the winter. It always comes on the first February of the month.

Have you noticed your phone bill since AT&T and Michigan Bell called it quits?

Have you noticed how the number of pages have increased?

Have you noticed how you can't seem to understand anything on those pages except the amount you owe?

Have you noticed how you owe more now than usual?

Have you noticed that I am upset over my phone bill?

When I opened that fat envelope and saw all those computer print-out pages that were impossible to understand, I became upset. But when I saw how much they wanted me to pay, or they'd shut 'er off, I got mad. So mad, in fact, I went into the garage, tore my clothes and threw ashes upon myself.

Since we have an oil furnace, some may wonder where in thunder or where in lightning I got those ashes.

If you have paid close attention to these offerings you should know that we bought a wood stove insert for our fireplace just before the Great Lakes Energy people threw up their hands and did what people used to call "give up the ghost".

Back when it took a month to spend a week's wages, nobody in Boyne City ever went out of business. Popular talk would have it that they threw up their hands and gave up the ghost. And over the years there were a goodly number of ghosts given up. It was one of the things that made Boyne City unique.

In other towns, people would simply fail in business and then become a county clerk or perhaps a welfare agent with hardly any fuss at all. But we were a different breed of Irishmen.

Most towns had at least one merchant who would not follow the rules. We had one such man in Boyne City. He gave up the ghost in a most disturbing manner.

Our hero started a restaurant in October with the announcement that he would soon force all other Boyne eaterys to dump their soup and pull down their shades.

But when he was struck full in the face with February, he turned out the lights, slipped out the back door and worked his way to Cross Village where he lived off an aunt until times picked up.

I believe he was the only Boyne City merchant to treat failure in such a shabby manner. Most honest merchants who failed did as I said. They threw up their hands and gave up the ghost, which was a fairly well accepted procedure in those days.

Perhaps you have noticed that all this has nothing to do with the way AT&T or Ma Bell are treating you. It was just a little something to divert your thinking from what they are up to. They are giving you the shaft, that's what they are up to. It's true. And I do not care to talk about things that are true, but ought not to be true. That's why I veered off toward Lake Street for a while.

I thought I might give my enemies a little extra pleasure by not writing a column this week, but my friends said: "No, don't do that, give us something to giggle about before the national election campaigns start in the spring".

Barbara Cruden

"Ain't" ain't in the dictionary. That's what you hear in school from other kids. But it is. "Ain't" is in the dictionary, along with all the other more or less ungrammatical things people say. People tend to think the dictionary is a kind of dictator. Obviously, dictionary and dictator are related, but only because both are word-givers.

Ah, but so few have a dictionary. A cookbook, yes. A telephone directory, yes. And a car manual and a seed catalog. But the word-catalog, no. The result is we use or misuse the same old words our whole lives long.

It's like walking the same streets. Partly good. Partly bad.

If our friends misuse or mispronounce a word, we will, too. And that's how the dictionary gets written. If enough people use a word a certain way, it is listed thus in the dictionary. That's it.

Now, you see, the dictionary is not a dictator, after all. It's more of a report. Not the first English dictionary, though. In 1755 Samuel Johnson agreed to write a dictionary, though he became awfully tired of the project before he got through.

It was Johnson's conviction that his dictionary could determine spellings and meanings and they would stay that way. Letter writers, newspaper writers, lawyers, and legislators would stop spelling the same word in two or three different ways in the same communication. Readers' eyes would run nimbly along the lines and not have to stop to diagnose odd-looking words. Unfortunately the language didn't stay put.

Even newspapers perpetuate misuse of words. Their writers occasionally spoil the original sense of a word. They incorrectly say, "refer back" or "report back" when the meaning of "back" is already covered in the prefix "re-".

To "report" means "to bring back information." So to say "report back" is to say "bring back information back," and that's silly.

"To continue on" is also silly, because "continue" means "to go on." Unless one really wishes to say "go on on" for some reason...

There's a whole bunch more. I'd like to say, however, that language, as a development from very far back, tells us how brainy were the ancestors of our ancestors. (What's happened to their descendants!)

Just look at verbs, for example. Here's one: write. You can simply say, "I wrote it," and I know you did it, one time, sometime before now.

You can say, "I will write," and you have made me a promise. You can say, "I do write," or "I might write," and other meanings emerge.

Or how's this for complexity—"I will have been writing"...! That means sometime in the future I will look back on writing I have not yet done as I speak now.

Over 30 different ways exist just to use one verb. Who thought them up? We don't know.

Even though dictionaries record our slippages, they do help to preserve the specificity of language. Such a great set of tools language is. It is the world's greatest, all-around means... Well, I shan't go on-on.

Jottings Church announces expansion plans

the other room to get away from someone snoring.

But a Florida researcher says that he has found a technique called nasal continuous positive airway pressure to eliminate those snorts, buzzes and wheezes coming from the bed.

I am glad that someone down in Florida has the time to find out these things, because here in Boyne City we are too busy digging out the snow to take the time for a lot of research.

The technique involves applying pressure to a person's upper airways through an infant sized anesthesia mask fitted over the nose.

In trials, nine guys who were habitual snorers forgot how. Some said they were in a deep sleep for a longer period.

Seems that when a snorer sleeps, some of them suffer from a malady called sleep apnea, where the snorer has episodes of nocturnal breathing problems which may be the result of breathing through a narrow and an intermittently-blocked nasal passage.

The baby mask seems to eliminate and or help the problem. They haven't figured out why, though, so they are holding back from a full blown announcement that they have a cure for those suffering wives of snorers.

Anyway, I won't be snoring anymore now that we have a couple of festivals to go to during our hard cold winters.

Church announces expansion plans

The First Baptist Church of Boyne City discussed plans for a three phase building program they are anticipating the need for, because of the growth of the church, at their annual meeting held recently.

The meeting, which also heard reports on 1983 was directed by Pastor Nixon.

The church is studying plans for a three phase expansion program, to include an addition to the present building, a two story 62x35 feet addition to house eight classrooms, a kitchen, fellowship hall and enlarged platform.

The second phase is for an educational building including a gym, shower room and classrooms. The third and final phase calls for a new auditorium with seating for 600.

The First Baptist Church is located at 875 State Street, in Boyne City.

Plans are under way for a "Kids' Klub" and a "Kids' Klub Choir" to begin in February.

Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Monshor, the "Jolly Elders" have had several meetings, and promises to be a vital program of the church.

First Baptist is one of the few churches in northern Michigan, providing bus transportation for Sunday school and the morning service.

Letters

Letters to the editor, handwritten or typed, are a welcome and important part of this paper. They should be under 750 words in length and signed by the writer, although he or she, for special reasons, may request that the name not be printed. The paper reserves the right to edit material.

Disappointed with attendance

Editor,
The Middle School Local History classes under the direction of their teacher Mr. Robert Morgridge gave an excellent slide presentation of Smeltania and of smelt-dipping days in the past of Boyne City. Of course this program was of particular interest to myself, but I was disappointed that more people were not in attendance. It is my belief that Boyne City, through Mr. Morgridge's efforts probably has the most complete documentation of local history of any city in this area.

Thanks again,
William C. Underhill

Boyne supports projects

Editor,
Boyne City has been most supportive of worthy projects at Christmas time—and we've had many—United Way, Salvation Army, Red Cross, and a score of other efforts to help the temporarily-in-need in our community.

In spite of all these places to share their money, Boyne City citizens continue to support the World Services conducted through our Church. Of course, a portion of the funds they give come right back here from Church headquarters to assist with our community services—summer camps for under-privileged children, Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking, ministry to families of those in prison, for example. But some also goes to help those in other parts of the world in our international concern.

Please know how very much we appreciate your interest—not only from these words but also by our own citizenship in town. While we wish we could be aware of all who need our help, we may need to have our memories jogged from time to time—or be informed in the first place.

Let's keep Christmas all through the year by continuing to share the blessings the Lord has allowed each of us to have. We are grateful to be a part of your community and wish to share in its progress.

Yours Sincerely,
Gary Russell, Pastor
Seventh-day Adventist Church

Electricity: Instant Energy

Electricity, we can all agree, is instant energy.

There was once a baseball player who, the story goes, could flick the switch on the wall in his hotel room and be in bed before the light went out. That's quick. The Tigers could use him.

But, save for that one fellow, there are few among us who can outpace electricity.

We might also agree that electricity is our lifeline to comfort and convenience. Don't believe it? Think about living without it—without a refrigerator, a TV, lights, a vacuum cleaner..... Enough?

What we may not agree on is that electricity is a bargain.

Consumers Power Company's electric rates for residential customers are among the lowest in the Midwest and are 15 to 26 percent less than the national average, according to a national study released last summer. For a typical family, using 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month without water heating service, 87.7 percent of the nation's other 225 investor-owned utilities have higher rates.

That's not all the evidence. Look at effective buying income. In 1963, it took 1.44 percent of your income to buy a year's supply of electricity. In 1982, it took 1.46 percent. In fact, the average middle-income Michigan family spends more each year on their insurance, their telephone bills, their vacations and even eating out than they spend on electricity.

According to computations developed from surveys conducted by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average family spends $880 a year for insurance, $523 on telephone bills, $818 on vacations and a whopping $1,428 eating out.

But, in Michigan the average middle-income family using 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month will, over a year, only pay Consumers Power approximately $350. For their money, they get clean, instant comfort and convenience.

Is electricity a bargain? Think twice before you say "No"—even if you're not quick enough to flick the switch and be in bed before the light goes out.

Jeff Gabos goes up high for a jumper to get it over the head and hands of Charlevoix's Doug Sloan at last Friday's game. While it was a hotly contested game, Boyne City had a few errors late in the third quarter that contributed to the loss to the high flying Charlevoix Rayders.

Boyne gives Charlevoix tough going before fading for loss

BY PAUL ZINCK
Regardless of their records, when the Boyne City Ramblers and the Charlevoix Red Rayders clash, the confrontation is exciting. Last Friday's game was no exception, for the meeting in Ramblerland was exciting from the opening whistle to the final buzzer. Heading into the game, the 4-7 Ramblers were looking to avenge a loss in early December, and the Rayders were trying to raise their season record to 11-1. Charlevoix took a 10-6 lead about midway through the first period, but Boyne scored five points in a row to take an 11-10 lead before closing the quarter on top, 13-12. Jeff Johnson had six first period points for Boyne. Charlevoix didn't stay behind for long, as they scored the first two baskets of the second quarter, and from there went on to a 29-24 half-time lead. Doug Sloan led the Red Rayders through the period, scoring seven points. The Rayder scoring edge in the second stanza was 17-11. The two teams traded baskets through the third quarter, and hit two more free throws than Boyne to build a 43-36 lead. Merle Carson lit up Boyne's basket with 10 third quarter points. Charlevoix improved their advantage to 9 points quickly, but Boyne started chipping away, and cut the lead to just three points with under 2:50 remaining in the last eight minute period. Charlevoix got tough, and wouldn't let the hometown Ramblers get any closer. Brent Cole led the Rayders through the final quarter, scoring eight points. Carson had seven for Boyne. Charlevoix's 21-16 fourth period scoring edge put the final score at 64-52. Carson led both teams in scoring and rebounding, as he hit for 24 points and pulled down eight rebounds. Jeff Johnson also had eight rebounds, and scored 12 points. For Charlevoix, Sloan and Cole each had 16 points, while Tim LaBlance scored 14. Sloan had seven rebounds. The Rayders hit 26 field goals and went 12 of 29 from the foul line, whereas Boyne made good on 18 shots off the field and 16 of 26 free throws. Each team committed 21 personal fouls.

EJ volleyballers continue dominance

BY JOSEPH BUICK
The East Jordan girls' varsity volleyball team, extended their winning streak to an impressive eight games last Thursday night in a two match sweep against the Inland Lake Bulldogs.

The Devils again showed their strength in serving the ball consistently throughout the evening. In the first match, senior netter Anne Crawford tallied a total 10 winning serves and gained recognition as the match's most valuable player.

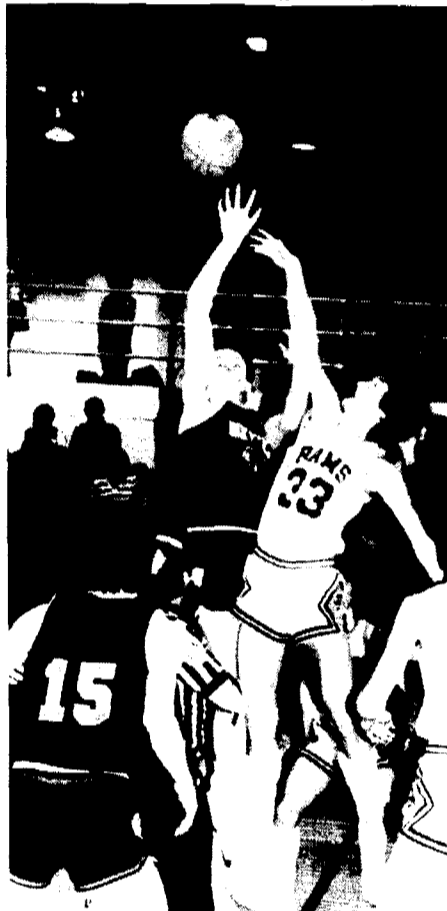

The second match saw the Devils proving the same, while Anita Lytle received the MVP award. Next week the Devils host the Petoskey Northmen. No information was available on the junior varsity contest.

East Jordan senior activities

Feb. 2 - Blood pressures will be taken at 1 p.m. at the Center. This service is free of charge.

Feb. 7 - Barbara Terry will speak on medications at 12:30 p.m. following the dinner meal.

Feb. 8 - Dick Barnett, EJ Fire Dept., will speak on fire safety in the home at 12:30.

Taking control of the jump ball to start the game between East Jordan and Harbor Springs is Mike Goebel. Waiting to get the ball is Mike Baler. The Red Devils went on to win, taking their first league contest so far this year. The team, which has taken a long time for it to come together, won two games last week.

BY JOSEPH BUICK
East Jordan's varsity basketball team broke their menacing nine game losing streak Tuesday, by defeating the Ellsworth Lancers, 62-45.

Coach Dennis Snarey was pleased with the performance of the team and especially pleased with junior center, Gary Coolman, who came off the bench and scored 17 points and added 11 rebounds. Snarey added: "Gary was about due to play to his potential.

In the first quarter, the Devils couldn't get going and only compiled nine total points with Mike Goebel canning five of them.

At the half the Devils went into the locker room with a five point lead, leaving the score at 27-22.

The Devils really started to move their offense in the second half, outscoring the Lancers 35-23. On the night, Coolman had 20 points, with Mike Goebel adding 13.

With East Jordan's speed and height, (especially their height), they were expected to be contenders this year for the Ski-Valley title. But with no solid offense, and really not a set defense, the Devils faltered in all of their previous conference meetings.

"Beating Ellsworth really took some of the heat off," explains Snarey. Conference or not, the Devils showed their ability to run a controlled offense and to take advantage of their height. Scot Hart and Gary Coolman, both juniors, along with Mike Goebel, a sophomore, totally dominated the rebounding.

Drag racers get set to go to "Snow Blast '84"

East Jordan's 'Snow Blast '84' this weekend

The festival atmosphere moves over to East Jordan this weekend and snowmobiles are just one of the features of the Snow Blast '84 being held this weekend.

The action starts Friday night with a guided tour type of snowmobile safari that will go on the Jordan Valley snowmobile trail. Those wishing to go on the tour are invited to meet at the Ben Franklin parking lot in the downtown area.

Saturday morning starts off with a cross country ski hobo hunt with competition open to all ages. That will start at the East Jordan snowmobile clubhouse, off M-32 and Alba and Rogers Road, just outside of town.

Cross country equipment will be available for rent from Summit Sports of Gaylord for the affair if participants do not have their own equipment. The hunting starts at 9 a.m.

At 10 a.m., the main street will be the place to be if you want to see the snow-lovers' parade. The parade is open to snowmobiles, horses, walkers, floats, sleighs or anything that can move down the street.

Participants are asked to form up at the Vanderwall Funeral Home, which is located at Division and Main Streets.

Then the action moves over to the East Jordan Tourist Park where the snowmobiles will have a quarter-mile radar run starting at 11:30 a.m.

At 1:30 p.m., the snowmobilers will have a chance to try to win a Le Mans competition where the snowmobile will be placed on a starting line with everything turned off.

The driver will have his own starting line about 30 feet from the sled. At the signal, each driver will run across the area, jump on his machine, start it up, and drive about 40 yards to the finish line.

No electric starters will be allowed to be used during the competition. There are four classes for the drivers ranging from under 18 years old up to those over 61.

The big action will then start as the famous winter tugs will start. Teams from the area will be meeting in grudge and other matches to determine who is the best in the area. The tug-of-war usually brings out the crowd who cheer on their favorite team. Officials from the Lions Club will be on hand to make sure that every team has the same opportunity to win. At 6 p.m. the snowmobilers will gather for another moonlight ride in the Jordan area. Drivers are to meet at the Ben Franklin store again. At 8 p.m., the East Jordan Lionesses will be hosting a Las Vegas Fun Night at the Rainbow Bar which is on Mill Street in downtown East Jordan.

Sunday, everyone, including snowmobilers are invited to the East Jordan Snowmobile Clubhouse for a snowmobilers' breakfast. The club will be serving all the goodies, starting at 6 a.m., and serve until noon.

With a half-hour break to move the machines to the Ben Franklin parking lot, the snowmobilers will then start on a poker run that should provide some excitement for the participants.

Boyne Mt's. Superbowl popular from very beginning

Though it has been in use less than a month, Boyne Mountain's Superbowl ski area has proven to be a hit right from the very start of this year's ski season.

Opened just in time for the Christmas-New Year's holiday period, skiers flocked to Superbowl's slopes to test their skills on the 35-acre area.

With slopes of 2,200 feet with a vertical drop of 400 feet, there's plenty of room for a racing slope, an intermediate recreation slope as well as a beginner's run on Superbowl. Regardless of how nature performs, there will always be plenty of snow on Superbowl's slopes for more than enough snow-making equipment has been installed to cover what nature may miss. Located in the northwest quadrant of lower Michigan, Boyne Mountain was the first midwestern ski area to install chairlifts, albeit second hand lifts from Sun Valley, Idaho, where Kircher, an avid skier, got the idea for a midwest ski resort located near the large metropolitan centers of Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Indianapolis as well as other Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana communities.

Young children can learn to ski

Austrian-born Alex Haidbauer, Director of Skiing for Boyne USA Resorts, operators of Boyne Mountain and Boyne Highlands in the northwest quadrant of lower Michigan, says that children as young as four can learn to ski.

"Though it is a bit more difficult for young children, I would say that the ideal age is about six or seven. Youngsters that age can learn skiing in five days. They'll be skiing reasonably well within that time and able to enjoy any slope we have at Boyne Mountain or Boyne Highlands, except, of course, the advanced runs.

"Our specially-trained Austrian ski instructors start both adults and children out on a completely flat slope. We simply introduce them to the equipment, teaching them how to walk, slide and push. Slowly we take our new students up on a gentle hill where they simply get used to being on skis.

"From then on we move students ahead at their age and athletic ability. Though we have weekend instruction, ideally our five-day ski week lesson program is the right way to learn the basics. Classes start every morning at 9:45 a.m. Children are taken off their parents' hands for most of the day, including lunch and dinner, even after-dinner activities, until 8:30 p.m., except for a two-hour break between 4 and 6 p.m.

Boyne Mountain ski packages begin at $350 per person, double occupancy. The ski week package includes lodging Sunday through Thursday night, three meals per day beginning with dinner Sunday through lunch Friday, daily lift tickets and class instruction Monday through Friday.

U.S. Marathon Team set for VASA

A strong contingent of top-level racers will lead a field of what promises to be the biggest ever North American VASA Race on Saturday, February 11. The VASA, Michigan's longest and largest cross-country race, is the fourth stop in Great American Ski Chase Series.

recent entries are the U.S. Marathon Team and the Rossingno/Salomon team. Both are fielding some of the strongest racers on the GASC...some familiar names and some new names. (Attached are brief biographical sketches of team members).

Team, now in its fourth year, is a development program for top American nordic racers. The team follows the Great American Ski Chase circuit, considered top cross-country ski marathon series in the country. Selections for this year's squad were made in early January, following the 1984 Olympic tryouts at Lake Placid, N.Y.

"It's going to be a very strong field," summarized Race Director Ted Okerstrom. "We're looking forward to one of the most exciting and competitive races ever, which is the way it should be during an Olympic year."

The VASA, in its eighth season, is expected to attract 1,300 to 1,500 skiers. Already it is approaching last year's event which drew nearly 1,300 skiers from 28 states and 10 foreign countries. Entries will be accepted until Friday, February 10. The entry fee until February 1, is $35. After that date the entry fee increases to $50.

For more information on the race write: VASA Box 581, Traverse City, MI 49684 or call (616) 946-4272.

State Police urge snowmobilers to use caution

Snowmobilers enjoying Michigan's snow-covered fields and roads are reminded by the State Police to use caution and be familiar with laws governing use of these vehicles.

According to Col.

Gerald L. Hough, department director, 12 people were killed and 231 injured in 252 reported snowmobile accidents during the 1982-83 winter season. Driving too fast caused 104 of those accidents resulting in eight deaths.

The majority of the accidents occurred off the roadway. Causes listed most often were driving too fast or following too closely and unable to stop, Hough said.

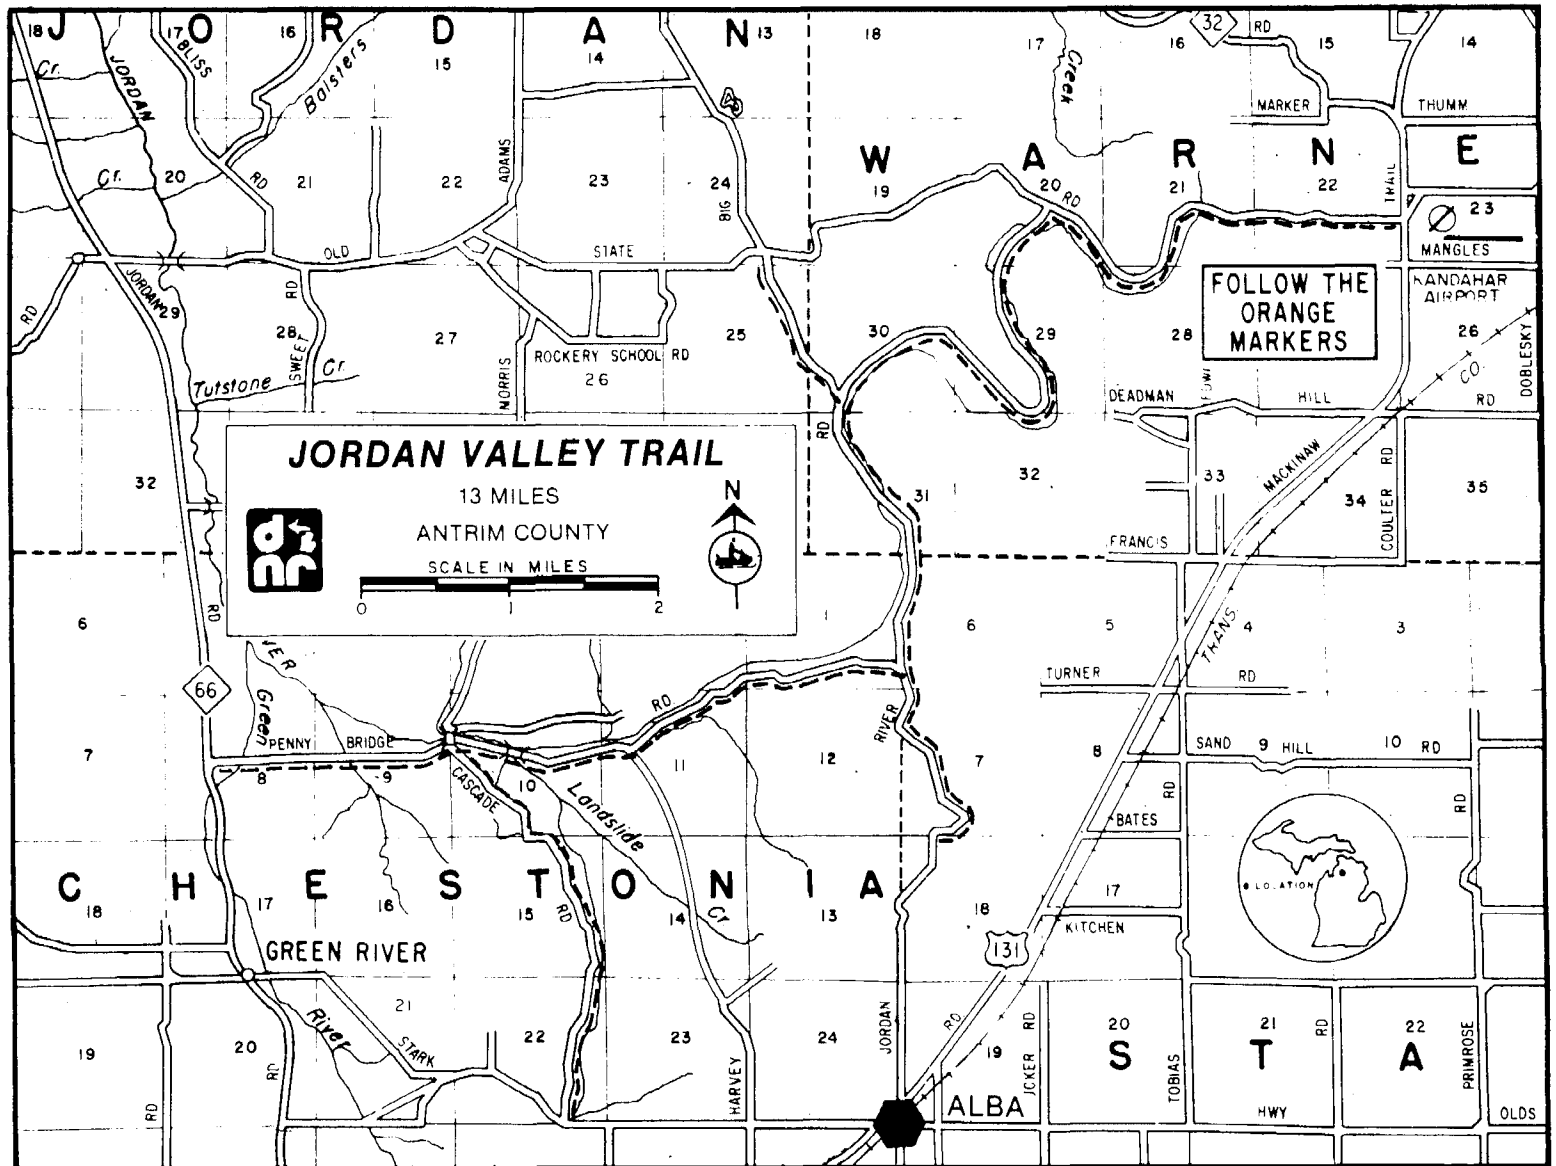

Snowmobilers are offered some safety tips from the State Police. Don't: tailgate or cut across another snowmobiler's right of way... don't drive when under the influence of alcohol ...or forget to signal your intentions to other snowmobilers. Watch your speed. When exploring remote areas, use the "buddy" system; don't go it alone. Stay on marked trails when on public lands and know ice conditions. Check ice thickness, know thin spots and old fishing holes. Heed warning signs.

More than 237,000 snowmobiles are registered in Michigan with many more operated on private property and requiring no registration. Although the number is down from past years, the need to exercise caution and follow safety practices remains as important as ever, State Policy say.

Meet U.S. Marathon Team

Three of the five men and both women on the U.S. Marathon team have competed in previous VASA races. According to their coach Hank Lange all are looking forward to competing again. They are: Craig Ward, 29, of Lake Placid, NY. He was a member of the 1980 Olympic Team, and was named to the World Championship Team in 1978 and 1982. He placed 7th in the 50 km race during the recent Olympic tryouts. This is the 7th time Craig has been named to the National Team. Eric Ahti, 24, of Fitchburg, MA. He will be making his third appearance at the VASA where he finished 9th overall last year. Eric was named to the team in 1983 after placing 3rd in the 50 km nationals. Sten Fjeldheim, 27, of Marquette, MI. No stranger to the VASA where he has placed in the top 10 previously was 7th overall in the GASC last year. He won the "Normarks Runden" 30 km race in Oslo, Norway in 1983 and has placed in the top 20 of the American Birkebeiner the last 7 years in a row. Sten placed 10th in the 30 km National race this year. Bruce Cranmer, 31, of Granby, CO. Bruce may be the one to watch in the 1984 VASA. He placed third overall last year less than two minutes behind Howie Bean the winner. This is his second year on the U.S. Marathon team. Bruce is also a member of the 1984 American Marathon team, which means he won his age category in the 1983 GASC. John Sackett, 24, Lyndonville, VT. He was overall winner of the prestigious Dannon Cup series in 1981. Last year he skied the World Loppet series in Europe. Pam Weiss, 29, of Jackson, Wy. Pam finished 9th overall in the 1983 VASA. She won the National women's 20 km title in 1983. Pam has finished first in her age category in the 1981, 1982 and 1983 GASC series. Jay-Jay Peot, 22, of Anchorage, AK. A former member of the World

Junior Team, Jay-Jay finished 5th overall in the 1983 VASA. She was 4th overall in the 1982 American Birkebeiner. She will be a strong contender again this year. The U.S. Marathon Team is one of our most important development vehicles for cross-country competitors. This elite group is selected from among thousands of competitors entered in United States Ski Association sanctioned events across the U.S. They are in training for World Cup competition and in contention for the U.S. National team which competes in Europe. The team, co-sponsored by Salomon of North America and the

Here's the Rossignol/Salomon Team

Rossignol Ski Company, is part of a national ski racing program designed to increase the sport's visibility in the United States, according to coach John King. They'll bring a strong contingent with them including two previous VASA winners, Reino Keski-Salmi and Ruth hamilton. They are: Reino Keski-Salmi, 26, of Salmon Arm, British Columbia. Reino was the overall GASC winner in 1982 the same year he won here. For the past two years he has been a member of the Canadian National Team. Last year he competed in Europe with the team. Pol Stulstad, 24. Pol a Norwegian native, is coming off an impressive victory in the Lake

Placid Loppet 50 km race on January 15. He won that race by a whopping 10 minute margin and would have to be considered a strong contender here as well as for the overall GASC title. This is his first race here. John Rugger, 33, of Boulder, CO. A member of the U. S. Biathlon Team, he was named to the 1980 Olympic Team and the 1982 World Championship Team. Jim Curran, 28, of Jackson, Wy. A veteran of the Ski Chase circuit, he placed 5th overall in the Yellowstone Rendezvous last year for his best finish. Skip Hamilton, 37, of Aspen, CO. Skip was named to the 1984 American Marathon Team as the top competitor in his age category last year. Ruth Hamilton, 27, of Aspen, CO. Ruth, who won here in 1982, finished third overall among women in the 1983 Great American Ski Chase (GASC), and was named to the 1984 American Marathon Team as the top finisher in her age category.

SKI YOU CAN DO IT

SKI LENGTH

Choosing the correct ski length is often less than scientific for the novice ski tourist. The general rule is that your ski tip should reach to the wrist or middle of the palm of the hand when it is stretched above the head. However, slight variations of 5-10 cm. from this standard may be dictated by such factors as weight, skill or age.

A person who is slightly heavier than average may wish to choose a longer ski to help displace his additional weight over the snow.

For novices, a little shorter ski may help improve control especially on downhill.

Youngsters often pose a problem in choosing proper ski length. Parents want to purchase a ski that the youngsters will not "grow out of in a year." If parents keep in mind that children can use skis 15 cm. longer or shorter than the standard with relative ease, they can plan their purchase more carefully.

Having the skier at the shop to choose the proper length ski is always the best idea. However, if this proves impossible, the following chart may give you some idea of the correct length for certain heights. Remember to adjust for weight and experience.

5'	-180 cm.	5' 7"	-200 cm.
5' 1"	-185 cm.	5' 8"	-205 cm.
5' 2"	-185 cm.	5' 9"	-205 cm.
5' 3"	-190 cm.	5' 10"	-210 cm.
5' 4"	-190 cm.	5' 11"	-210 cm.
5' 5"	-195 cm.	6'	-215 cm.
5' 6"	-200 cm.	over 6'	-215-220 cm.

for those under 5', multiply height in inches by 3 to get approximate ski length in cm.

TRANSFER WEIGHT EARLY TO ELIMINATE THAT STEM

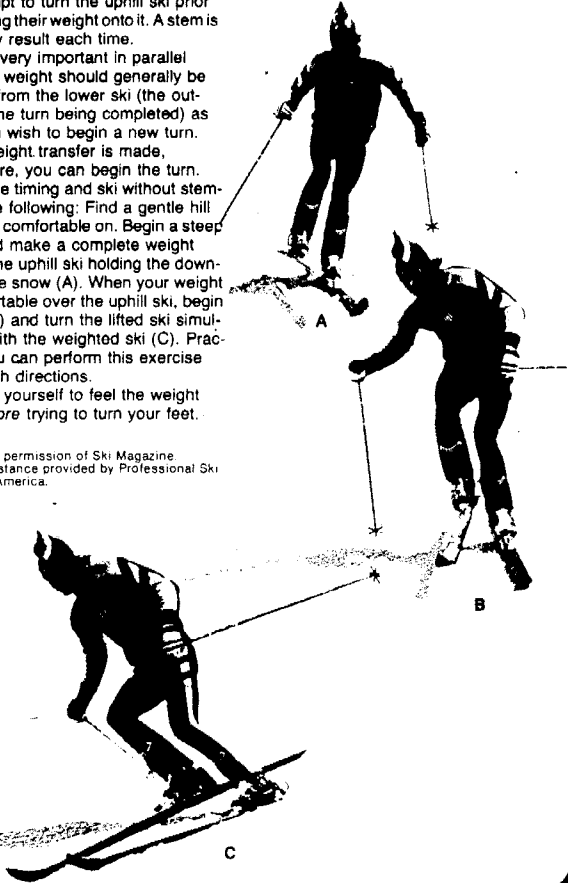

Difficulties in initiating a turn without stemming are common because most skiers attempt to turn the uphill ski prior to transferring their weight onto it. A stem is the unhappy result each time.

Timing is very important in parallel skiing. Your weight should generally be transferred from the lower ski (the outside ski of the turn being completed) as soon as you wish to begin a new turn. Once the weight transfer is made, but not before, you can begin the turn.

To improve timing and ski without stemming, try the following: Find a gentle hill that you feel comfortable on. Begin a steep traverse and make a complete weight transfer to the uphill ski holding the downhill ski off the snow (A). When your weight feels comfortable over the uphill ski, begin your turn (B) and turn the lifted ski simultaneously with the weighted ski (C). Practice until you can perform this exercise easily in both directions.

Discipline yourself to feel the weight transfer before trying to turn your feet.

Highway deaths drop drastically in '83

Michigan's 1983 traffic death rate was the lowest in history and last year was the fifth straight that highway fatalities decreased in the state, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"A total of 1,300 persons died on state roads in 1983, the lowest annual number since 1,150 traffic deaths in 1945," said Robert V. Cullen, Auto Club's manager of Safety and Traffic Engineering. "That total may increase slightly because of delayed reporting."

Michigan's preliminary death rate of 2.05 per 100 million vehicle miles is lower than the projected national average of 2.65. The Michigan Department of Transportation estimates motorists drove 63.5 billion miles in Michigan in 1983, up 3.6 percent from the 1982 total of 61.3 billion miles.

Last year's highway death toll is 8 percent below 1982 and 37 percent less than the 1978 total of 2,076. This is the first time since state police began keeping records in 1933 that the state's traffic fatalities have dropped for five consecutive years.

The Auto Club cited increased safety belt use, more drinking and driving and speeding arrests, conservative driving during the recessionary period and highway design improvements as the major reasons for the five-year decline.

"Seat belt use in 1983 reached 17 percent, the highest level recorded in Michigan, and is up from 15 percent in 1982 and 11 percent in 1981," said Cullen. "The increased use is due primarily to the child restraint law and recent public attention on proposed mandatory safety belt legislation."

Increased police enforcement efforts, traffic safety programs and tougher laws aimed at the drinking driver have resulted in a 13 percent increase in arrests for operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor during the first eight months of 1983.

Cullen cited 20 special alcohol enforcement teams in Michigan which patrol high-risk accident areas during nighttime hours when heavy drinking traditionally occurs as a major factor for the increased arrests. He also credited the state's new drunk driving laws enacted last spring as having an impact on the lowered death count.

In addition, speeding violations issued by the state police were up nearly 11 percent during the first 11 months of 1983 over the same period of 1982.

While the economic climate has brightened in Michigan, the auto club cited the recession as a reason for the continuing drop in highway deaths.

During poor economic times, people tend to live—and drive—more conservatively to save gasoline and wear and tear on their vehicles.

Many of Michigan's highways have been made safer in the last decade under state and federal safety programs. Most roadsides adjacent to the interstate freeway system have been upgraded by eliminating, shielding or modifying fixed objects such as sign supports and guardrails.

Other highway improvements contributing to the death reduction have been safer median barriers which direct vehicles onto the road, energy-absorbing bridge abutment cushions, pavement grooving for better traction in wet weather and road resurfacing.

Smeltania bigger and better than ever

The shanty population was up, the activities were better, the snow for the Avalanche Ski Classic was excellent, the ice was thick, the crowds were larger, the merchants in the downtown were busy, and the weather was just about right, for the first Boyne City Frostival and Smeltania, that was held last weekend.

The only thing that was not up to par was the smelt fishing. In fact, the winner of the 24 hour smelt fishing contest, Mike Karlskin, won with only 38 smelt collected. Second place honors went to Darren Everest, who caught 24, while third went to Pete Harvey with 21.

According to some of the oldtime fishermen, it may have been a little too early for the smelt to start feeding in the shallower waters where the Smeltania shanties were placed.

Some fishermen tried to "seed" the areas under the shanties with fish food in order to try to attract the elusive little fish that is part of the salmon family.

Above the water though, the Frostival was termed a huge success. Each year since the festival was restarted, the crowds have been bigger, there were more shanties in the "city" and the committee had added a few more activities for the residents to play at.

According to some members of the committee, there is talk of expanding next year's "Frostival" to a two day affair instead of having all the activities happening on one day as they did this year.

Someone else suggested that the Frostival become a two weekend affair like "Tip-Up-Town" on Houghton Lake.

The festival seemed to start with the noon gun that started the 5 kilometer racers around the newly designed cross country course set up at the Avalanche Park.

First place winners of the 5 kilometer race were won by Gregg Czarnecki of Petoskey for the men, while Angela Ayers of Boyne City took the first for the women. The winning time on the new course was 20 minutes 43 seconds.

The 10 kilometer race was started about 20 minutes after the 5K racers had cleared the first hill and were out of sight. The winner of the men's division was taken by Doug Melvin in a time of 38 minutes, 20 seconds. His wife, Bonnie, made it a family affair with a first place finish for the women, finishing with a time of 49 minutes, 45 seconds. Ten kilometers is approximately 6.2 miles.

Entries for the race exceeded expectations, as 105 racers started the course. The course itself drew rave reviews from the competitors as they followed it around the 300-acre park weaving in and out of the woods.

One of the more unusual aspects of the race was for the spectators who had an opportunity to watch, first the racers take off from the start, climb a small hill, and then make a turn to a downhill leg.

One spectator remarked that the falls some of the racers took as they came down the section was almost as good as a Warren Miller ski movie, as they showed many states of racing form coming down the short hill. Quite a few took spills as they tried to gain speed on the downhill run and made some spectacular falls. No injuries were reported other than a sprained ankle one racer sustained on another part of the course.

A complete list of finishers appears on the sports page.

One of the funnier activities involved children tied behind the family dog and run through a short course.

The run by the dog was judged by the amount of speed it took, and the number of pylons that the dog sled and rider knocked over on the team's way through.

Taking the win was the combination of Jeremy Murphy and his dog, Heidi, a pedigreed boxer. Second place went to almost-one-year-old Erlene Dawn Gardner, who rode the family sled through the course all wrapped up in a snowsuit, blanket, and other items of wear, in a home-made sled. Third was taken by Kelly Copeland who was pulled through the course by Boomer.

In the snow sculpturing contest, the bar complete with set-ups, took the first place finish for the Little Pub. The under 16-year-old category was won by Bob Mortgridge's middle school class with an igloo.

Broomball competition was taken by a team composed of Jeff Gabos, Paul Varnum, John Tompkins, Scott Moody, Bob Mathers Jr., Jeff Johnson and Kimo Kuhlleana.

Taking first place in the all-important Better Homes and Shanty Division was Nord Schroeder with his freshly landscaped green grassed, two story shanty, with picture windows on the second floor. Jim Kondrat took second place with his Dayglo red painted shanty. Bill McCarthy took the third place with his big green doublewide.

Volunteers to keep trail groomed

Volunteers to keep cross-country ski trails groomed on Avalanche in Boyne City will have equipment loaned by two governmental agencies.

City manager Randy Frykberg said the Department of Natural Resources will loan a spare wide groomer if they could find a snowmobile strong enough to pull it.

They did. Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department double-wide snow machine will be stationed in Boyne City and be made available to take the groomer over the trails.

Sheriff George Lasater said Boyne City would make a good central location as the machine is used for snow rescues. He also stipulated that the machine be kept in a garage and driven only by volunteers cleared by his department.

City commissioners moved acceptance of the machine. It will also be used to pull the two-tracker, made by Bob Huff and Jim Silbar and donated to the city.

Commissioners reviewed the need for a new ferric chloride pump. Corrosion has incapacitated the present electric pump and Frykberg asked for a replacement which would be run instead by a compressor. Then, if future difficulties should arise, replacements could be made just for the part that had ceased functioning.

The pump will cost up to $500. The compressor, up to $1,500. The equipment is necessary in precipitating agricultural phosphorus from the water before it is discharged into the lake.

Boyne team in Alma Bowl this weekend

A team of Boyne City High School students will go to Alma this weekend for the Alma Quiz Bowl for the "Varsity Sport of the Mind." Advisor Barbara Martin said that Chris Howard, Mark Bogetto, Scot Sutliff, Steve Skornia, Simon Sharp, and Liz Sturm will compete against the team from Bellvue this Saturday, Feb. 4, with last year's team member Lisa Pearson as their coach.

Pearson, a senior this year, was too busy to try-out for the competition, Martin said.

The team will spend the day in Alma with about 250 other students from 48 other Michigan high schools. They hope to return on subsequent weekends, to work their way through the single elimination tournament. The contest ends March 21.

While a team consists of four students, an alternate may substitute. Class A and B schools compete with each other while Class C and D teams compete.

The fast-moving game depends on quick responses as well as a good academic background. The game is played in two eight-minute halves and covers a wide range of subjects, including such topics as politics, television shows, and Olympic competitions, as well as the usual categories of literature, science, art, and history.

Last year's Class C-D team winner was Saugatuck.

In addition to receiving trophies, the final four schools in the competition will share $24,000 in scholarships to Alma College.

Heat pump OK'd for One Water Street

Heat pump discharge for the projected restaurant at One Water Street will meet permit requirements, said Randy Frykberg, Boyne City manager. It is a sealed system that draws from ground water and ultimately discharges the water into the lake. No metal deposits can get into the water as it circulates in the heat-pump process.

Frykberg named a number of motels using heat pumps. City commissioners Tuesday approved the National Pollution Discharge Elimination System Permit, also recommended by the Department of Natural Resources. The 20,000 gallons of water per day will be monitored for any possible alteration of quality.
