Jordan River weir starts fishing controversy

After the DNR closed the Jordan River to all fishing this fall, from Rogers Rd. bridge to the river mouth on Lake Charlevoix's South Arm, local sportsmen feel that they are having something forced down their throats that they never wanted in the first place.

They have been expecting Tempotech Ind. to put their temporary salmon harvesting weir across the river, but never expected the Department of Natural Resources to ban fishing from the harvest site to the mouth.

When the Press asked Steve Swan, D.N.R. regional fisheries biologist, why the ban was slapped on, he alluded to situations on the Pere Marquette and Platte Rivers. The question was re-asked, this time as to the Jordan River, and Swan refused to answer any further inquiries by the Press.

Herman Christopher, a long-time Jordan River angler from Bellaire, re-asked the same question and Swan said, "Whenever you put a salmon weir on a river, a potential problem with snaggers arises." The D.N.R. does not have the manpower to totally enforce the no-snagging laws, so they eliminated this "potential problem" by prohibiting anyone to fish in the lower Jordan at all.

This allows nearly every fish that enters the river to be trapped in the harvest weir before sportsmen who pay for salmon plants ever get a chance at the salmon, steelhead, and German brown trout. Swan wants the sportfishers to help enforce the snagging laws, using the Report All Poaching (R.A.P.) hot line.

The fishermen's response, according to Christopher, "If I call R.A.P., the violators are long-gone before anyone from the D.N.R. can get here." Also, this means that the sportfishers have to leave their favorite angling spots and drive to town, as there are no phones along the river.

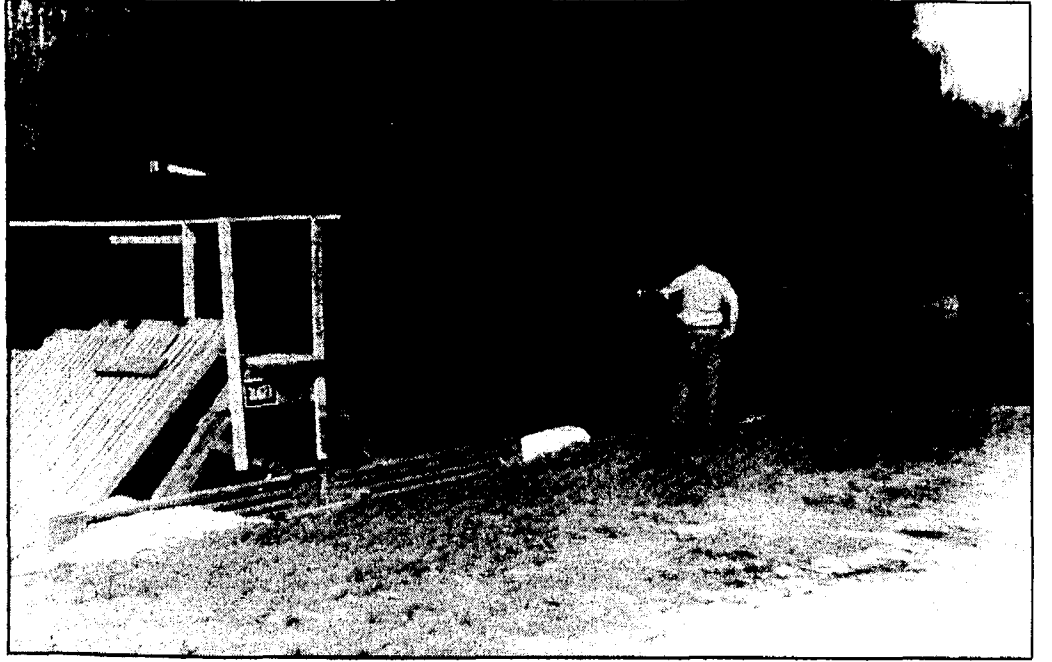

The fishermen are in foul temper over the situation. "Sure he'll (Swan) go up to the weir and talk to people who stop by and look. Why doesn't he come down here to the mouth and talk to us? We're mad as hell and he knows it. That why," says East Jordan angler Claude Vermillion. Joe Detlaff, also of East Jordan, is upset that he can't fish the lower river, and "wants it open for fishing."

Swan said, "If you guys want to organize a meeting, I'll be glad to come and talk with you." The anglers scoffed at the possibilities of results, and feel that it will be too late to salvage this year's season. A suggestion was presented to Swan about allowing fishing from a point downstream from the weir to the mouth of the river. He replied that the D.N.R. needs permanent reference points to accomplish this. One angler said, "What's wrong with putting up signs where we can legally fish? Or is it that the D.N.R. only knows how to make NO FISHING signs?"

Christopher stated, "I've fished below the Rogers Rd. bridge for quite a few years now, wading from hole to hole, and now I can't even do that. This stretch of the Jordan has some of the best fishing places on the whole river, and I think it's a shame that we are prohibited from those spots. They can have the spot where the weir is, I want the prime area downstream."

Christopher also feels he has been cheated out of part of his license fees because, "When I bought my license, the game book stated that the Jordan would be open from Graves Crossing, downstream to the mouth". Detlaff added that he "doesn't think it was right for the D.N.R. to change the rules in the middle of the game." "Now we're

Lawrence Wolgamott and Jack Brown look at some of the fish that have been trapped in the weir that was set up last week on the Jordan River. While no fish have been harvested yet, observers say that most of the fish coming up the river have not gone into the weir set-up but have turned back downriver to hole up in some of the good fishing holes. Local fishermen think that the river should be opened up to fishing at the "sucker hole", where Deer Creek joins the river.

all forced to cram in at the mouth here where there is hardly room enough for two people to fish on either side of the river." Vermillion says, "In four weather, we can't go upstream to fish anymore, we have to drive to Hammontree Creek near Boyne City."

Another angler says that he is changing his fishing vacation plans this year, and will go to Florida to fish for sharks.

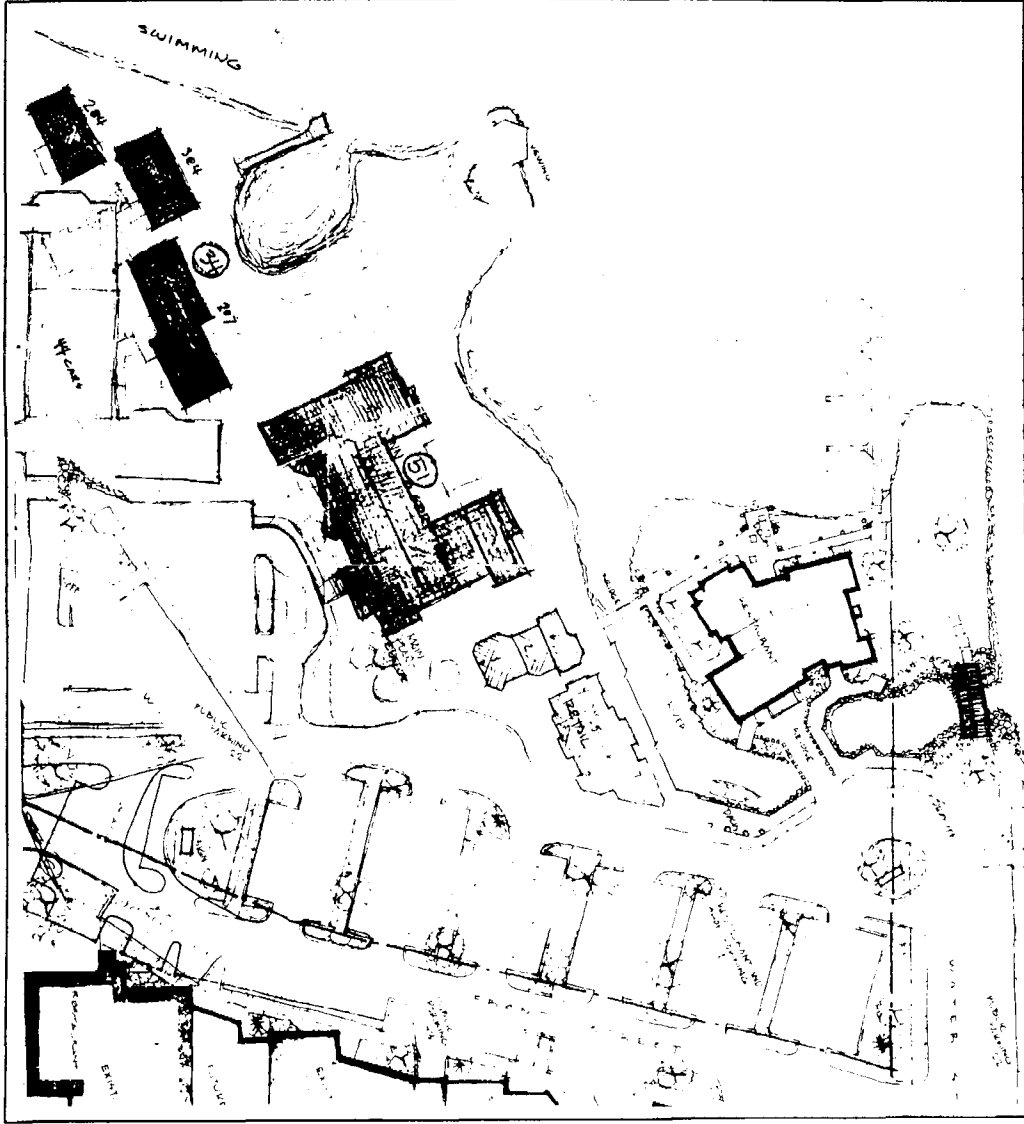

Steve Sloop, owner of the Fishin' Pals Bait Shop, has saved every newspaper clipping he's seen on the subject. In a review of the clippings, there was no statement saying the lower river would be closed, and there was only one definite date published by the D.N.R. It stated that the weir would go in on September 15, 1984, and would be removed by October 31, 1984.

This year the weir went in on Sept. 10, and signs on the river now say that the lower Jordan will re-open on November 30. Sloop says "They have to have the weir, but they don't have to close the whole lower river. I think it's ridiculous and unfair on the part of the D.N.R."

Sloop also says that he receives phone calls from Ohio and other

Zoning interpretation may lead to new rules

A difference in interpretations of the zoning ordinance between the city commissioners and the planning advisory board sparked the discussions concerning Planned Residential Developments requests that were presented to the commissioners at last Tuesday night's meeting.

All of the requests were approved for their first reading, but the discussion may bring some changes to the zoning ordinance that is causing the problem between the two.

The ordinance that is causing the problem was revised two years ago to allow PRD zoning requests.

Tuesday's discussion stems from the requests of Thelma and Marshall Behling, the Gregg Smiths, Lakes Associates and John Kujawski, to have their properties rezoned to the PRD zoning instead of single family residential zoning.

While the planners had approved of the Lakes Associates and the Kujawski requests, they had recommended denial of the Smith and Behling properties.

The planners feel that the ordinance requires a proposed site plan be presented along with the request so that they could see what the property will look like and how it would fit in with the rest of the community.

Because the Behlings and the Smiths did not have a site plan with their requests at the planning board meeting, the planners had recommended that the requests be denied. The two other requests had detailed site plans showing what was intended to be built and where on the properties.

Both parties, the Behlings and the Smiths, brought tentative generalized site plans to the commission meeting to comply with the ordinance.

Part of the discussion pertained to what was a site plan in that the ones brought in by the Behlings and the Smiths were plans that were sketched out showing just general ideas of what the proposed site would look like.

Commissioner Steve Moody said that the sketches were meeting the ordinance, but he added that usually there were many changes between a preliminary site plan and the final one that still has to come in front of the planners.

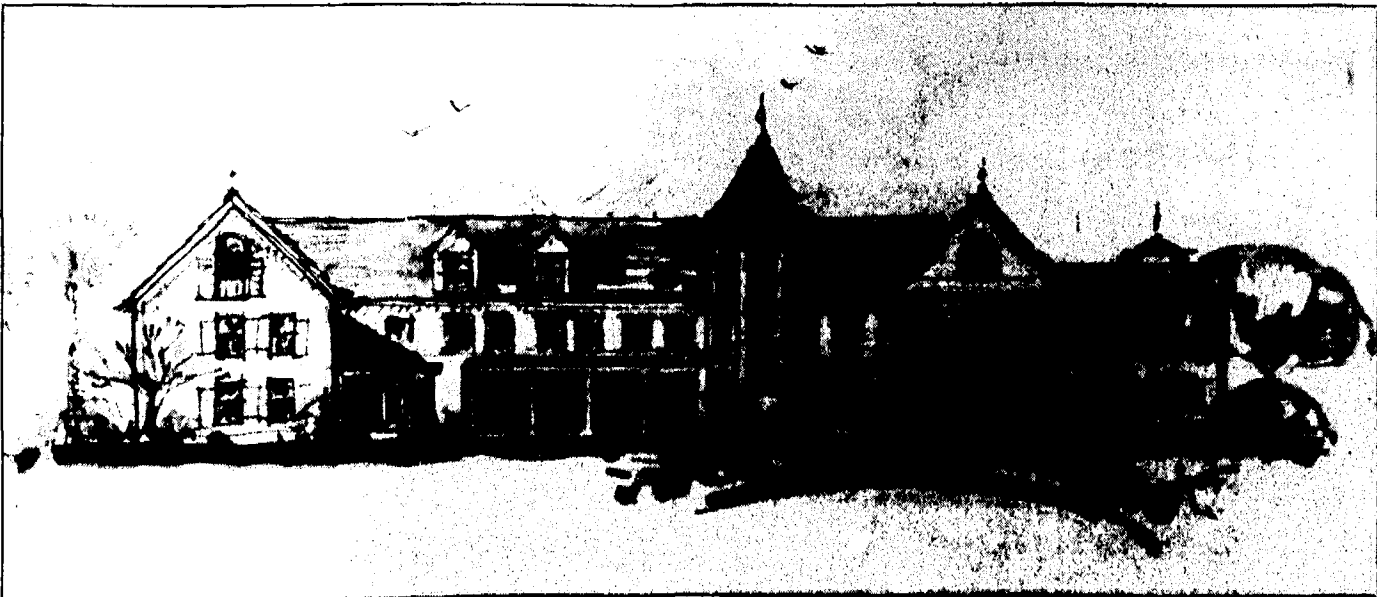

In the discussions that preceded the motions to change the zoning on the properties, city attorney Bill McTaggart suggested that a solution to the problem of interpretation could be resolved with a new ordinance that would allow developers and property owners to make a request for rezoning without having to submit proposed site plans. He said that Boyne City requires a different set of rules as compared to other cities.

He suggested that the commissioners draw up an ordinance that would grant a PRD request automatically if the property owners meet a certain size requirement. With the new ordinance, the developers would still have to present detailed site plans before they begin developing the property to the planners for approval.

Moody said that he likes the idea of the new ordinance, but that he would like to have included, if the law allows, that the PRD rezoning could not be transferred to another owner, and that the land would be developed within a reasonable time to eliminate the purely speculative land holdings.

The reading of the zoning changes took place with the Lakes Associates request receiving the second and final reading, while the others were given the first reading. All zoning request changes take two readings prior to finalizing the request.

Boyne City will really have an old-fashioned type of building theme when this condominium-hotel is completed in 1988. Plans for this and other projects will be discussed at next Monday's planning advisory board meeting.

Hotel to be presented

Site plans and drawings were informally presented to the Boyne City Commissioners last Tuesday night for the second part of the One Water Street development that is currently under construction on the waterfront in Downtown Boyne City.

The second phase of the site will hold a condominium hotel with a total of 51 rooms that will be available for transient customers along with other buildings that will include shoppes, and more housing, but on a larger scale for those desiring more than a hotel room.

The hotel, to be called Stafford's Country Inn, is going to be built in a style that resembles the turn of the century architecture. According to Rick Smith, the general contractor for the project, Stafford Smith is very excited about the plans for the hotel.

Smith said that the hotel industry is turning backward a little to bring back some of the ideas that made the country inns of yesterday unique. The hotel will have large areas for the visitors to gather to enjoy conversation, and a sense of togetherness that seems to be lacking in most of today's motels and rental facilities, he said.

The inn will reflect some of the thinking that the public wants to share part of the experience of a country inn with other users of the facility.

Three detached buildings will hold an additional 34 rental units next to the main inn and will be built along with the hotel.

Seven retail boutique shoppes are also planned in this phase of the project.

The site plan, which differs slightly from the one previously presented to the planners in that the hotel part of the project was to be several separate buildings instead of a single hotel building, will be presented to the planners at next Monday night's meeting for final review.

A GOOD PERIOD IN TIME FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Has there ever been a time in history when the senior citizens were more aware of what is the right diet for them? They know all about the vitamins, minerals and proteins required for their daily needs and many really try to eat the right foods and get their daily exercise. Almost every town in Michigan has a senior center where a good nutritional meal is served at noon daily at a very minimal cost with bus service for those who can no longer drive. They even have special menus for diabetics. Then there are those who sleep late mornings and eat breakfast at noon and still get in most of the daily requirements of good food before the day is over.

I am one of the many oldsters who like to rise with the sun. I think we do this because we are afraid that we might miss something if we stay in bed. I love the quiet early mornings and a brisk walk down to the lake or just to linger on my patio and listen to the stillness with a few bird songs. I am thinking of an old poem that I had pinned to my kitchen curtain many years ago that stated

The fragrant coffee and the bubbling meal
Inspires me with appreciative zeal.
And they still do.

Many of us grew up with a sweet tooth and a hunger for fresh baked foods like muffins for breakfast, and we like to make them with bran or whole wheat. The new emphasis on bulk in our diet has been a life-saver to many senior citizens. Here is Nellie's

Favorite Bran Muffins
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups 100% bran cereal
1 cup milk
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 egg

Preheat oven to 400° F. Combine first five ingredients; set aside. Mix bran with milk until bran is moistened; let stand 5 minutes. Add egg and oil, beating until combined; do not over-mix. Fill greased 2¼" muffin pans ¾ full.

Bake about 20 minutes. Makes 13 to 14 large muffins. Add some of our Northern Michigan cherry nuggets to these muffins for a pleasant change. Added dates and nut meats are also good.

I have a few suggestions for those of us who cook for one or two. Cook a little more vegetables than you want for one meal. Save out some without butter or sauces for salad another day. Any salad is improved by adding cooked vegetables.

When making a casserole, divide the contents into small baking dishes and freeze, or store soups and chili into cartons to freeze and heat up when you do not feel like cooking. A small toaster oven or microwave is nice for these things, saves heating the big oven.

School started Sept. 4, and it started on the right foot. The Boyne City High School Student Council got right down to business within the first two weeks. Student Council President, Merle Carson, called a meeting for all interested students. The meeting was primarily regarding Homecoming and over 60 students attended. It looks as though the school will have a large percentage of student government involvement.

One new addition to the high school is a fruit juice machine. It has proved to be very popular in just one week. This machine sells boxes of fruit juice produced by Sun-Glo.

E.J. MAN BUILT DILWORTH HOTEL

What you find when you're not looking for it! I was reading the book "Build for Tomorrow" by Harry Steele Price, Sr., published at Dayton, Ohio, in 1960, when I ran across an interesting item on page 55.

Mr. Price said: "I always get a kick out of seeing one of our buildings or dams still giving good service after half a century or so. Some years ago, however, I learned it isn't always smart to go back to the scenes of your early accomplishments. In 1911 Price Brothers of East Jordan built a brick hotel—originally called the Wolverine, now known as the Dilworth—in Boyne City. In 1943, while passing through Boyne City on business, I stopped in to see how the hotel was holding up.

"It looked pretty good to me, so I made the mistake of mentioning to the lady manager that I was the builder. She immediately tore into me.

"I've been waiting to get my hands on you!" she exclaimed. "Look how that white enamel on the woodwork is turning yellow!"

"When I got a word in, which wasn't easy, I told her that, if the woodwork had not been painted in 32 years—and it hadn't been—and was just beginning to turn yellow, she really had no kick coming."

In another part of the book, we see that: "Near the rural township of Advance, Michigan, where the company founder grew up, there is that eight-room frame house which Mr. Price built more than sixty-years ago for the grand sum of eighty dollars. It is still standing and it is a fine, sound house."

Price Brothers Company, organized in East Jordan in 1899, was later located at Dayton, Ohio, becoming well-known throughout the United States as a builder of hydroelectric dams, bridges and other structures.

And, as Horatio Alger might have said: "This man who grew up in Advance and built the Boyne City Wolverine Hotel in 1911, went on to make good.

HISTORY GROUP SEEKS OLDEST BUILDING

One of our oldest buildings is the former church structure located next to the public library on Main Street. For years it was used by different churches and was at one time a school. It was moved to its present location from where the old city hall and fire station later stood at the corner of Ray and Park Streets.

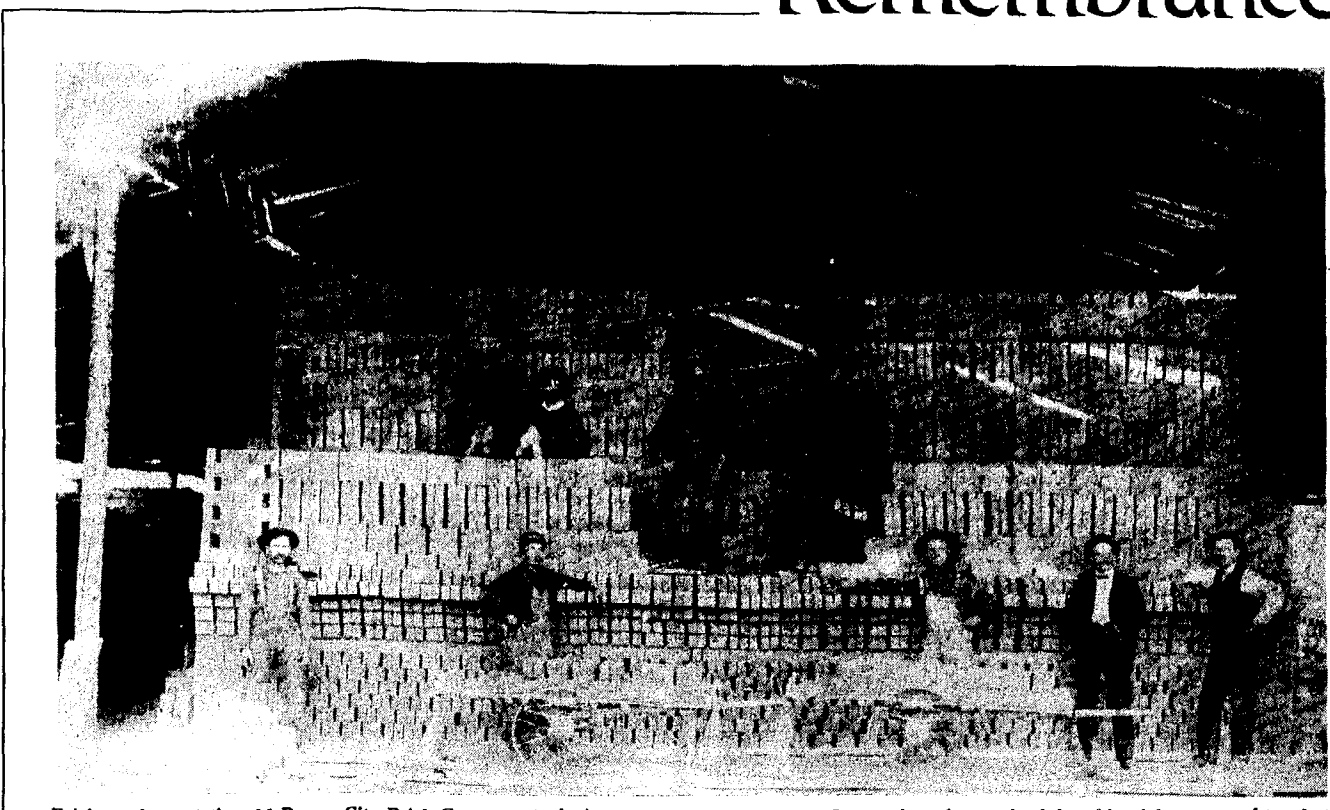

After checking the now empty building, members of the Historical Commission feel the structure would make a "perfect" Boyne City Historical Museum.

To raise funds for the purchase and renovation of the building, the City Council has agreed to place a request for one mill for one year on the November ballot.

One mill is an added one dollar per thousand of your property tax assessment. For instance, if your property is assessed at $40,000, you would pay $40.00 to help construct Boyne City's brand new historical museum. Many individual residents have already donated more than $40.00 to the Historical Commission.

According to stories in Boyne City's first newspaper "The Standard", the church structure in question was built in 1882-102 years ago.

[Dear Editor: My usual upside down column written sideways will return next week under a full head of foolish steam.]

Brick stackers at the old Boyne City Brick Company took time out to pose for this picture from the photographer Leavenworth back in about 1909. The men and boys would take the bricks after they came out of the kiln and stack them to cool down. They would then restack them in this storage shed which was built on the site. From here, after the orders were processed, the men would then restack them on carts to go to the building sites. It must have been a back-breaking job compared to what is done with machinery today. If you have any pictures of the old days, bring them, we are slowly running out and need more. We'll copy them and get them back to you. We are especially interested in the older buildings around the towns.

Polls and surveys seem to me to be a matter of the unsure asking the uninformed. With political polls that makes sense, I suppose, because we, the uninformed, have to make a bet. But what about questions like, should the government build a certain dam? Or, do you approve of capital punishment? For things like that, information is essential. Gathering opinions based on feelings alone is a waste of effort.

Recently a survey asked what we thought about our schools. Many of us have not set foot in those schools nor even bothered to read newspaper articles about them. Most of the rest of us, who may have done these things, still have little knowledge of schools elsewhere in the nation, so what are we comparing to? We can only compare this year with previous years or with our own school years in the area.

The main thing poll-takers get is how people feel. A manufacturer may survey how people feel about home computers. When s/he possesses that data, s/he knows how to woo the reluctant with advertising—and ads are directed towards feelings, as we know.

But, if we are to respond knowledgeably, how are we going to be informed people about everything, nowadays!

Ask me about artificial sweeteners—are they worse than refined sugar? No, don't ask me. Ask an expert.

Check my views on tariffs, instead. Here I can be very positive: Allow free trade!

But then I run into trouble. What about foreign monopolies, or at least foreign government-aided businesses digging into U.S. production? Still, my feeling is that free trade is right. Yet it's only a feeling.

It isn't that feelings are bad to have, but that they can be wrong and we never know they are. And then, too, we often never know we've changed our feelings from one year to the next.

I was just noticing how a vase my daughter has looks so attractive. It's a vase I used to dislike intensely. When did I change!

Some feelings can change in a moment: "today is a great day" will change suddenly or little by little to "today is awful." I keep wonder-

One of the leading citizens of our fine community took a swipe at many of the neighboring communities that surround us the other day when he took it upon himself to describe the feeling that he had when he drove through them. He said Gaylord would be a nice place for the alpine motif that the city has only if it had mountains to go along with it.

Charlevoix, he said, was a mixed bag. Most of the old has been torn down and replaced with ultra modern types of architecture, but some of the Victorian influence is still around the town.

Petoskey, he added, is a city of new, old, and when you include the Bayview area, very Victorian.

Before he got too far into the discussion, he added that he had no problems with any of the towns, just some casual observations that he is making after being in and out of those towns several times.

I asked him what he thought of areas like Elmira, Advance, and Horton Bay, but he just smiled and told me to mind my business.

And then he went into a long pause before telling me about the town I live in, Boyne City.

Boyne, he said, is just coming into its own. The older homes and the new construction along the waterfront, especially the One Water Street project, will bring the community back to where it started in the early 20th century.

The buildings that are being put up, the street lighting, the blending of the different architectures all have a pleasing effect according to the wag.

As I look around the town, I can find areas where I would disagree with him, but that is because I keep taking alleys to get from here to there.

To me, I can tell a lot about a town just by looking at the alleys.

There are problems with that though, the city keeps closing alleys through the planning board and the city officials. And that means that will make a visit to determine a city a little more difficult. For those of us who look at different aspects of city life, our job will just get a little harder.

But Boyne City is starting to look like a turn-of-the-century town. And the mover and shakers who are pushing the community in that direction are keeping up with making sure that the folks who live here agree with the progress.

One concern I have with the developing of the old days in today's times, is that with the waterfront all take up with condos, parks, and factories, where are we going to put the lumber mill.

Maybe after we get that half of the Zilwaukee Bridge to go across the river, we could stick a bunch of piers out into the lake for the mill.

We also need a tanning company and a pig iron smelting firm and then all of the folks who lived here for the past hundred years will really feel that they are at home. Even those who left to go earn their fortunes and have come back would be right at home.

I am going along with the old town look, maybe because with the old town, we may get ourselves a candy store with a soda fountain, a real live butcher shop and a few more millinery stores to service the crowds that will be moving into the community.

The thing that I really hope for though, is that the prices of the merchandise will be as low as in some of the advertising that I look at occasionally in our old newspapers.

Maybe that is why I am continually amazed at the cost of things today. A new house back in the old days was a few hundred dollars. Today you couldn't even touch the down payment with a few hundred dollars.

An automobile was advertised at less than what you would pay for a house. Now look at what a car costs.

About the only thing that hasn't gone up with the years is the price of a garden, unless you count the cost of the fertilizers and the equipment to till one up.

But around this town you really don't need a lot of fertilizer. All you have to do is visit some of the local watering holes and you can find enough fertilizer to feed your garden for a lifetime. Just listen to some of the conversations.

Sometimes it gets a few feet thick.

places, inquiring about the fishing in East Jordan. He tells them to stay home, the river is closed.

When the D.N.R. closed the lower river, they countered with opening a five-mile stretch above the Rogers Rd. site, saying that very few people ever fish the downstream portions anyway. Many anglers disagree, and say that it's not worth your time to fish in the upper river because the weir is holding all the fish downstream.

Contrary to popular belief, Tempotech is not responsible for the river closure. They won the bid to harvest, and "would like to let the fishermen use the river, but the D.N.R. has set the rules, and everyone has to go along with them." Tempotech is expected to harvest some 15,000 salmon this year, putting all steelhead and brown trout upriver under D.N.R. supervision.

Swan says he is encouraging people with complaints to call and register them at the D.N.R. headquarters in Gaylord at 1-517-732-3541.

NuVision franchise starts in Boyne

If you ask Dr. Gary Mellon what's new, what's old, and has a greatly enhanced service, he will be glad to tell you about the new NuVision franchise that he is now part owner of here in Boyne City.

Mellon joined forces a few months ago with Max and Mark Engelman to form a new company that is called Northern Eye Associates, P.C. and that, in turn, purchased Mellon's former clinic and changed the name to NuVision.

NuVision is a very large optical company that is based in Flint and has many stores and franchises throughout the state of Michigan. Northern Eye Associates is one of the franchisees.

With the new franchise, Mellon explained that he is now able to offer many more and varied services that can be done quicker and better.

The present location of the Boyne City clinic located on the corner of South Lake and Main Streets has been remodeled and after many weeks, the new signage saying that the business is now a Nu Vision optical center has been installed.

The new corporation has also purchased the NuVision clinics in Petoskey and Gaylord so that they can offer better services to those needing eyeglasses and contact lenses.

Max Engelman, a recent graduate from the New England College of Optometry in Boston, will be working in all locations as well as Mellon. One of the owners will be in each location to take care of any problems that may come up during the business hours.

The other partner, Mark Engelman, has a clinic in Holly, MI which is also part of the NuVision chain. The new corporation intends to open other clinics in other parts of northern Michigan in the future.

Some of the services that the clinic is able to provide include a greater selection of frames than before, quicker lab times for the preparation of the glasses, additional services with other types of eye care, and most importantly, much lower prices due to the buying power of the NuVision chain.

Doctors Gary Mellon and Max Engelman stand in front of their office in Boyne City in front of the sign that says they are a NuVision Optical Center.

Dr. Engelman shows off one of the many styles of eyeglasses to his partner, Dr. Gary Mellon, inside the new office which used to be Dr. Mellon's office and clinic.

East Jordan takes measures on tree loss

"The best way to go, I think, is to feed," said East Jordan city superintendent Mike Dionne. Concern over the failing health of city sugar maples prompted a discussion at the last city council meeting, and Dionne was instructed to study the problem. "Drainage is a big factor, too," said Dionne, explaining that road salt will collect in low places, bringing slow death to any maples there.

Although salt is considered one of the important culprits in the loss of trees, as reported last week in the Press' interview with John Campbell, of Site Planning and Development, Charlevoix, still the city will have to continue to use it, said Dionne, until a substitute is found.

Research is in progress, he said, adding that meantime some areas have quit using it altogether.

ing how real our feelings really are. I read this week Reagan is 15 points ahead of Mondale. What was it two weeks ago? What will it be next week? Feelings change.

Will one of the candidates stumble, getting off a plane? Will the eyes of one fill with tears at slurs on his wife? Will one confess he's been brainwashed?

Such were the tide-turners for other candidates.

The way public opinion goes up and down suggests that it is all feeling and no information. For a fact, are a candidate's clever insults, emotional pronouncements, promises, and sincere throat sounds — are these information?

So yes, we respond to all these appeals to our feelings and all the uninformed tell the unsure how it's gonna be.

Are the A.P., the U.P.I., and the widely-circulated metro papers giving us day by day a review of what these two men have done and how they have done it so we can rely on something besides our selected-out recollections? Or are they giving us horse-race-type info: how big the crowd, how fast he's running, and polls. Phooey on polls.

East Jordan levies millage, hears co-op requests

Following a truth in taxation hearing held Aug. 14, the East Jordan School Board Monday night levied a 31.3 operating millage for the 1984-85 school year. The .5 mill increase in school taxes includes the allocated operating fund of 2.75 mills.

The school board heard requests from several high school seniors requesting reduced days in order to pursue work outside of the school. Seniors in East Jordan are required to complete a minimum of 22 credits to meet graduation requirements. According to students present at the school board meeting credits for graduation could be met within two or three periods a day. Students felt they could benefit from vocational experience outside the school rather than remaining in study hall or repeating classes for credit when preferred classes are filled.

Superintendent Tom Rossler pointed out that the school system did not have resources to hire a vocational trainer and a vocational training program, under state guidelines could not be considered for this year.

Rossler stated that in order to provide for this year's seniors the board would have to consider a reduced day allowing students to go to work without educational enrichment credit.

Representing two of the senior's requests, Dan Miller, manager of the East Jordan Ben Franklin store, offered his interest in becoming involved in a co-op program with the East Jordan school.

had started out smoothly and enthusiasm with the sports program was high.

School board president Mary Jason said that the board was very interested in helping the student but various questions such as insurance liability needed to be worked out first. Jason said students could only be considered for their individual situations.

Bud Ashton reported to the board that school

Anishinabe group buys land for powwow site in EJ

Twenty-nine years ago Arvita and Bob Walczak bought the land at the end of Mill Street, East Jordan and raised three daughters and watched the sun on the distant hills.

Last Sunday for one dollar they sold five and one-half acres of it, leaving themselves enough for a yard around the house.

The beneficiaries are the members of the Anishinabe Inter-tribal Council.

The ceremony on Sunday brought the seven-member Indian board of directors, friends, and officials who have been interested in the efforts of Anishinabe in the area to revive their culture.

According to East Jordan Title IV director Gigi Antoine, the property transferred to the Anishinabe will be the site of annual powwows and eventually, of an office, museum, and classrooms.

It was while watching a television program on this year's powwow that the Walczaks were hit with the idea.

"The idea came to both of us almost simultaneously," said Arvita Walczak. "Then we thought about it for a week." She said the family was all in favor.

Bill Church, an Anishinabe and Title IV director at Sault Ste. Marie, spoke to the gathering.

"We spend a lot of time looking for the spiritual types in human beings," he said. He explained that Indians like others talk in concepts symbolically. Though the symbols may vary between cultures, "we are very much the same under the same creation," he said.

Everyone, including children, guests, and media people, then made a circle around a small fire. "The circle is in everything in nature," said Church, who dropped a few grains of untreated tobacco in each person's hand. Tobacco is another of the Indian symbols, used only on special occasions.

He invited each to take a turn in going to the fire and dropping the tobacco in it while "thinking good thoughts."

In the quiet of an ancient ceremony, brought up to date with cross-cultural participation, two jets flew high overhead, trailing white streamers across the sky.

Following the signing of legal documents, Dr. George Cornell addressed the gathering. Cornell teaches native American studies at Michigan State University.

Stanley Antoine's famed chili was then served accompanied by Louise Kane and Irene McSawby's frybread.

Donors Arvita and Bob Walczak take their turns at casting Indian tobacco into the ceremonial fire. The Walczak's gift of 5 1/2 acres to the Anishinabe was also legally solemnized Sunday before a gathering of Indians, local officials and friends.

East Jordan JV's take 6-0 loss

The East Jordan J.V. football team came out on the short end of a one-touchdown game 6-0 against Charlevoix. The Red Devils put up an outstanding goal line stand against the Rayders, as it took Charlevoix eight plays and a five-yard penalty to get the ball into the endzone. The game was ruled by the defensive squads as the ball changed hands time and time again in the close contest.

gained 72 yards rushing to lead the Devils, and Darren Graham ran to 52 yards, Steve Dionne got 12 yards, and Greg Kitson ran for 6 yards. Bartlett returned three punts for 15 yards and Dionne returned one for 12 yards. Bartlett also returned two kick-offs for 50 yards.

The Devils defensive unit stayed busy, getting 14 tackles from Dionne. Bartlett got 11, Terry Burt and Don Reich tallied 8 apiece. Graham hit on 6, Steve Smith got 5, Graham, Bishop, Kitson, and Alvin Merrill all hit three tackles, and IV Ashton, Dennis Skrocki, Shannon Olstrum, and Stan Antoine all got in the action also. Ron Cook, Graham, Bartlett, recovered a fumble each and Smith covered two.

BC-EJ cross in CC

Mancelona and Alba ran away with a four school cross country meet Thursday, where Boyne City placed third and East Jordan placed fourth. Mancy put 13 runners into the race, and they took 1st, 5th, 7th, 9th, and 14th places to win the meet. Steve Parsons and Hal Leach took 2nd and 3rd places respectively for Boyne City, while freshmen Mike DeSchryver and Travis Hartman ran to 10th and 11th places for excellent finishes.

East Jordan's first runner across the finish line was Greg Kretschmann.

In Service

Navy Ensign Paul L. Reising, son of Marilyn J. Reising of Charlevoix, was commissioned in his present rank upon completion of Aviation Officer Candidate School.

The 13-week course at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., was designed to prepare candidates for their future duties and responsibilities as commissioned officers and to prepare them to enter primary flight training.

During the course, the prospective aviators received general military, academic, physical fitness and leadership training which included navigation, military justice, mathematics and physics. They also received pre-flight training which centered around aerodynamics, sea and land survival, aviation physiology, and basic aircraft engineering.

Prelude series announced

The Northwood Orchestra announces the expansion of its programming in the Little Traverse Bay area following a 30 percent increase in attendance at last summer's concert series, Festival of the Lakes.

The new Prelude Series of four chamber concerts and recitals will be scheduled intermittently from September through April.

General manager of the Northwood Orchestra, John Bland says the new series will showcase individual talents of Northwood Orchestra members who will be participating in the upcoming season of the Festival of the Lakes. Mr. Bland says the expansion is also a commitment to the area to provide year-round education and entertainment activities for the orchestra's patrons and the community.

"We were excited about the enthusiastic support from the Harbor Springs and Petoskey communities as was shown with the steady increase in concert attendance. We know you will enjoy these new informal concerts presented by the performers in the months ahead. We're anticipating a continued enthusiasm and participation from local residents as a part of our audience."

In conjunction with the concerts, each musician will provide master-classes and workshops in local schools to provide students the opportunity to study with a professional artist; details will be announced when finalized.

The Prelude Series premieres September 26 with the performance of the Alden Ensemble, a baroque music recital featuring music director of the Northwood Orchestra as oboist, Don Th. Jaeger and harpsichordist, Doris Ornstein, soprano, Penelope Jensen and cellist, Crispin Campbell. Each member of the ensemble is a specialist in both traditional and contemporary baroque music.

Solo recitals are planned for mid-season with a November 14 recital with guest flutist Jacqueline Hofto, followed by violinist Renata Artman Knific in concert, February 13.

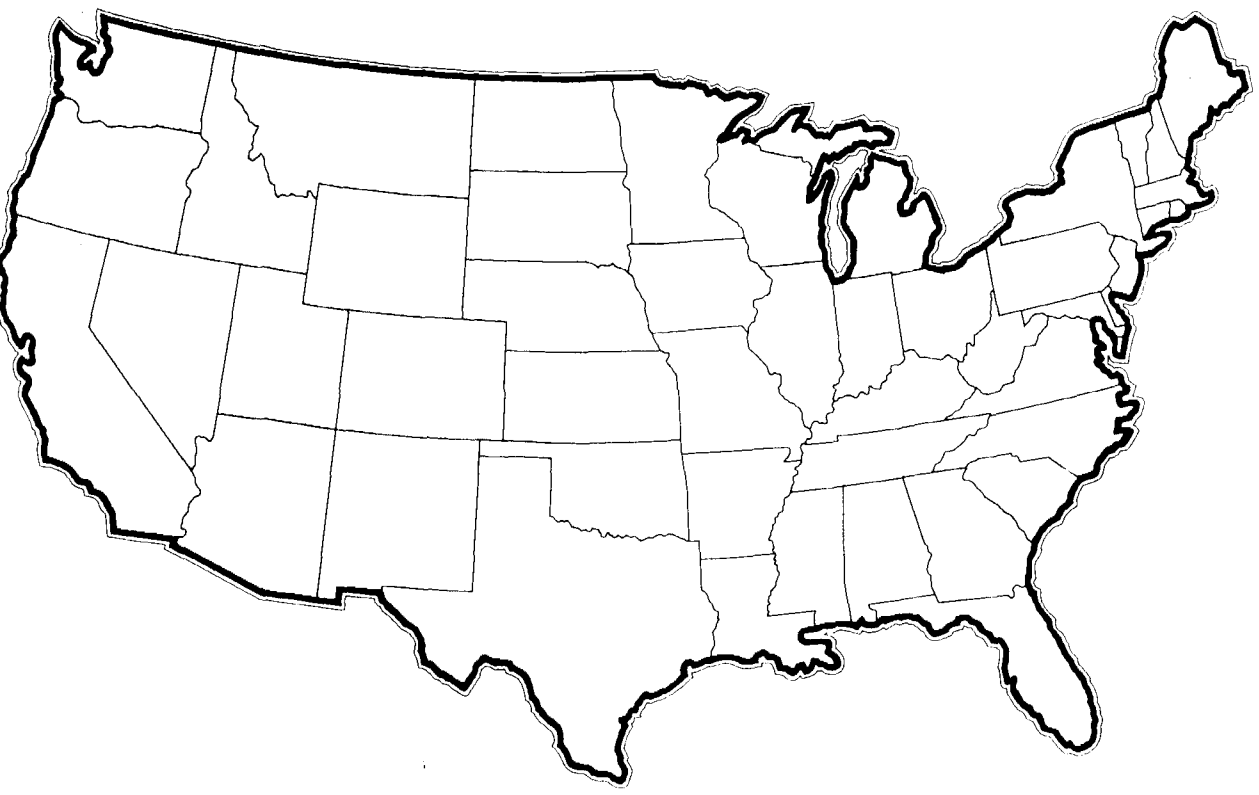

The Interlochen Quartet finishes the Prelude Series April 17 with string musicians Renata Artman Knific, Rosemary Malocsay, David Holland and Crispin Campbell. Three of the quartet members are regular performers with the Northwood Orchestra.

All Prelude concerts will begin at 8 p.m. at the Holy Childhood Church in Harbor Springs. Receptions for patrons, public and performers will follow each concert at locations to be announced.

Event tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for students and are available at the door the night of the concert or at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey. A series supporting patron membership is available for $50. For further information please call (517) 631-1600, ext. 308.

Well bid to be restructured to save Boyne money after bids come in over budget projections

Boyne City commissioners approved, Tuesday, rebidding on separated portions of the original well city well package. The proposed well #3 was originally bid on a complete package of 15 items.

The problem was, city manager Randy Frykberg said, that the three well-drillers in the state who can drill a 12-inch well are from downstate. The one company that submitted a bid, sub-contracted in Lansing with the result that the total package came to $195,605, well above the $147,990 estimated by the city engineers.

Frykberg explained that Layne-Northern's bid for the well, pump, and mechanical construction came to a total of $64,412 or 6.6 percent under the city's estimate. With the other items in the package bid locally, the final price tag for the 178-foot deep well #3 will be more in the range of city budgeting.

Frykberg said packaging a bid for subcontracting is common. In addition, time pressed, he said. The state required for grant purposes that the well be in before One Water Street restaurant was finished. In turn, the restaurant has to be finished by the end of the year in order to hold a liquor license. Packaging was to save time.

On Monday Frykberg was able to reach an agreement with the state which will allow the fact of the well in the ground as sufficient assurance that the city will proceed with the project. Frykberg said the schedule has the well in ground before the end of the year though not yet functioning. He said, the fact that water demand is so much lower in winter convinced the state the supply would be sufficient. The other items of the original package, including electric service, chemical feed system, water mains, and buildings, can come later.

The state's concern, Frykberg said, was sufficient water supply for the indicated growth of the city. With well # 3, the supply projection is "well beyond the year 2000," he said.

A related problem is the upcoming federal requirement for a generator for the well in case of power outage.

"We want to meet the law. We want to be safe for the city," said Frykberg, "but $40,000 (the cost of a generator with enough power to start up the new well)!"

The requirement is part of the Safe Drinking Water Act, due to go into effect in 1985.

The city has not had a prolonged power outage in at least 10 years,

The hope is that a smaller portable generator applied to well #2 would satisfy the requirement.

In another matter, Consumers Power area manager Richard Dahlquist attended the city's noon commission meeting for the signing of a contract change, allowing the city to purchase instead of rent the seven new high pressure sodium street lights on Front Street between Water and Main Streets.

The new well will produce at least 1000 gallons per minute at ground level, Frykberg said, compared to the 100 gallons a minute at North Boyne well #1 and South Boyne's #2 at 650 gallons.

BF schools 'break even' for 1984 year

"For all practical purposes," said Niles Hill of Hill, Woodcock and Schroderus, the auditors for the Boyne Falls School system, "The school system as a whole is breaking even."

The statement was made during a presentation of the audit that the firm had made on the school systems books and showed as Hill later pointed out, that the school was being operated just as it should.

"The budget and the actual are really very close," he added after telling the board that they ended up the year with $1790 to the good.

In other action at last Monday night's school board meeting, the board approved the contract of the new school principal, Mike Wallace.

They also approved the raising of the monies being paid to substitute teachers from $32 per day to $37.

The feeling of the board and the administration was that being the lowest paying school system in the area, could make it difficult to get substitute teachers when the need arose. "We felt that the subs would not want to work at the low pay scale as they invariably have to travel some distance to come to work," said Wallace at the meeting.

The board also approved the banks and the savings and loan institutions where the administration will be placing the school's money. Most area banks and savings and loans in the area were okayed as depositories.

Wallace then told the board that the student enrollment for the year totaled 278 children, with the smallest class being the seniors with only 16 students. The largest classes are the kindergarten and the first grades, which according to the superintendent and principal, reflect a growing school system.

EJ girls lose to start season

East Jordan's girls' basketball squads began this year's season with four losses to Charlevoix and Ellsworth in both junior varsity and varsity action.

The varsity team played a closely matched game with Charlevoix throughout three periods. After playing to a six point tie in the first quarter, the Devils slipped behind 14-18 at half-time. East Jordan gained a point in the third quarter, but Charlevoix went on a rampage in the final period for a 53-26 victory. Danielle Baker was East Jordan's top scorer with eight points. The inexperienced J.V. team took it on the chin in a 70-8 loss to Charlevoix's J.V.s.

Both teams played better and closer games Thursday. The varsity got off on a slow start against the Lancers, being outscored 19-2 in the first period. They regrouped to net 12 points in the second quarter, allowing Ellsworth 4 points.

East Jordan trailed by nine points at the half. Ellsworth outscored East Jordan 12-4 in the third period taking a 35-18 lead into the final stretch. The she-Devils made a good comeback effort after dropping behind by 20 points and rebounded back. They outpointed Ellsworth 16-9 to end the game with a 44-34 defeat. East Jordan's last spurt got them six steals and eight points as they got good pressure on the Lancers, but it was just too late in the game for a win.

Baker lead East Jordan in scoring with 13 points along with five rebounds and four steals. Angela Noiroi shot four field goals for eight points, while Darla Looze got four points and five defensive rebounds. Cindy Fay hit for four points, Jody McDermott got three points, and Kelly Noiroi added two points.

As a team, the girls made 6 of 21 free throws while Ellsworth hit 8 of 19 attempts. Ellsworth got 38 rebounds to East Jordan's 28, and the Devils committed 16 turnovers to the Lancer's 12.

In the early game, the J.V. team played three tight quarters also, but came out on the short end of a 16-2 fourth-quarter game breaker. The final score was 35-15.

Kristy Miller hit for six points with 11 rebounds, Brenda Drenth got four points, Chris Nietupski got two points with 7 rebounds, and Shelly Malpass added two points.

Boyne jvs overwhelmed by Gaylord losing 48-14

Boyne City was overwhelmed in J.V. action Thursday 48-14, as Gaylord fielded separate offensive and defensive squads at home. "We played a real tough game" said coach Dave Bricker, "but we played a tougher, well-rested team."

Gaylord held a 33-6 half-time lead, Boyne City getting a big 40 yard touchdown pass in the first quarter, Pat Weeks to Scott Beebe. They also connected later in the game for a 12 yard combination play. Boyne's second touchdown came in the third quarter on a 4 yard run-in by Weeks. Todd Fanning ran in the conversion.

Fanning was the Rambler's top rusher getting 51 yards. He was followed by Weeks with 36 yards, Jim Feagan-31 yards, Troy Heierman-22 yards, Ray Eggers-17 yards, and Paul McGeorge added 7 yards.

Defensively, Tom Lasater got in on 17 tackles, while Beebe tallied 10. McGeorge and Greg Webb got 7 take-downs each. Weeks and Keoki Kuheana got in on 6. Fall hit for 5 tackles and Norman Hadix got 4 along with Feagan. Todd Eggers got in on 2 tackles and blocked a punt. Brandon Billings, Matt Speltz, Ray Eggers, and Heierman were all credited with other tackles.

Last Wednesday, the freshman portion of the J.V. team played Harbor Springs. Harbor won the game 14-0 playing six oversized sophomores. Putting in good performances for the Ramblers were defensive captain and safety, Kevin Beebe, nose guard and full-back Jeff Fineout, and Shawn Bauman at center and defensive end.

Bowlers wanted

While the bowling season has already started, the Boyne City Senior Citizen's Bowling League is still looking for those who want to do a little bowling.

Boyne girls have best run in 2 years

The Boyne City girls turned in their 'best run in the girls' team in two years of competition', according to coach Rick Fowler. He also noted that the girls' team is short one runner to make up a complete team.

Katie Vickers took a second with a 22:25

clocking while 5th through 7th went to Elizabeth Force 23:35, Heidi Erber 23:45, and Yvonne Hulett 25:56.

Obituaries

ANDREW SNOWDEN, JR.

Andrew W. (Sam) Snowden, Jr., 40 of Metz Road, South Arm Township, died Sept. 12, 1984, at his home.

Services were Saturday, Sept. 15, in the Oak Chapel of Vanderwall Funeral Home, East Jordan. The Rev. Jimmie McWatters officiated and the service was interpreted for the deaf by June Erskine. Burial was in Lakeside Cemetery, South Arm Township.

Mr. Snowden was born Dec. 14, 1943, in Port Huron. He attended the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint and had been in the Ellsworth area since 1966.

On Aug. 20, 1966, he married the former Linda Clark in Eastport. The couple lived in Ellsworth until moving to East Jordan in 1968.

Mr. Snowden had been employed at the Harbor Industries in Charlevoix as a cabinet maker for 19 years. He was a member of the Berean Bible Teaching Center in Charlevoix.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Ted and Mark; one daughter, Sara, all at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Snowden Sr. of Logansport, Ind.; two brothers, Robert and Jack, both of Logansport; three sisters, Sherry and Annie of Logansport and Barbara of Port Huron.

The family suggests memorials to the Deaf Group of the Barnard Grange. Envelopes for that purpose are available at Vanderwall Funeral Home.

Engaged?

The Charlevoix County Press publishes engagement and wedding announcements without charge.

Pictures are welcomed, but we do suggest a few guidelines. Good quality black and white photographs, either of the couple or bride-elect, are preferred. All photographs are kept on file in the Press office and may be picked up at any time following publication; those pictures not picked up after six months will be discarded.

Wedding and engagement announcements forms are available at our office or will be mailed upon request and the receipt of a self-addressed stamped envelope.

While we try to publish each announcement the week that we receive it (and in the case of weddings, the first publication date following the ceremony), space constraints sometimes force us to delay the printing of the announcement for one or two weeks. Therefore, we ask that information be received at least two weeks before the intended publication so that we might better plan for its publication.

We will not accept wedding announcements received more than four weeks after the wedding.

Boyne game plan falls apart against Gaylord last Friday

You could tell that things were not going to go well for the Boyne City Ramblers last Friday when the flag on Brotherston Field would not go above half mast.

Of course, the team was having to start without their number one quarterback, Chris Howard, who was hobbling around the sidelines with a sprained ankle. And the visiting Blue Devils from Gaylord had a state ranking fullback that loves to run. And, a couple of minutes into the game, Gaylord busted through the line for their first score.

The result, a 47-8

loss for Boyne that now makes the record for the team zero wins and two defeats.

Gaylord held a first quarter lead at 14-0, and scored 7 points while the Ramblers scored 8 points in the second period. The Boyne City touchdown came on a 60 yd. run by Tony Napont. The Ramblers converted for two points on a pass from Dave Milks to Craig Napont. Coach Bob McCullough said, "I though we were still in it at half-time, but then in the third period everything started breaking loose". McCullough thought his team performed well in the first half, "but then got tired and we stopped executing properly. We made a couple of key errors and ran out of folks."

Gaylord scored two touchdowns in the third quarter, Boyne City getting a blocked point after kick attempt from Craig Napont. Craig went out of the game shortly after with a knee injury.

The Blue Devils added salt to the wound in the fourth quarter, getting two more touchdowns. Tony Napont matched his brother and blocked another point after attempt in the period. Nowak did gain over 200 yards in the game, but McCullough thought his defence did well against the Gaylord star back, as they dumped Nowak for three losses and brought him down five times for less than two yards gained.

The Ramblers converted to seven first downs to Gaylord's 12, and completed three of nine passes for 24 yards. Fill-in quarterback, Milks, was intercepted twice, but only lost ten yards in doing so. "Milks stepped in and did a nice job for us", added McCullough. Gaylord attempted seven passes and connected on three for 71 yards and one touchdown. Todd Fall intercepted the Blue Devils final pass and returned it 45 yards.

Tony Napont carried the ball 12 times to gain 82 yards. Craig Napont's net yardage was 21 on 6 carries. Dave Wandrie ran for 29 yards in seven assignments, and Fall was called on once to gain five yards. Milks ran 16 yards on two keepers.

Boyne City has an even tougher job in front of them for next week as they visit the undefeated Saints in St. Ignace.

Sport in the area

Dale Sutton gets taken out of the play by a cross fullback to make some yards in the disaster last body block that allowed the Blue Devils star Friday night at Boyne City. The Ramblers lost 47-8.

East Jordan walloped by Charlevoix, 27-0

The East Jordan Red Devils let their season record slip to 1-1 Friday night as Charlevoix took a 27-0 victory in front of capacity crowds from both cities. Near the end of the game, coach Ted Jeffery told his Devils, "you don't have anything to be ashamed of. Everyone played well and they have a good team. Now I want everyone to go shake their hands and congratulate them."

Defensively, East Jordan was very tough on the run to the middle line area, stopping ten plays for two yards or less. They also hit the Rayders for a total of 27 1/2 yards lost on eight plays. Charlevoix found weak spots around the ends and in the air.

East Jordan received the opening game kick-off and punted after being hit for a nine yard loss.

Charlevoix drew a five yard penalty on their first play, but a first down and a 25 yard run earned them their first touchdown of the game. The Rayders kicked the extra point and jumped to an early 7-0 lead.

The Devils ran the kick-off back to their own 37 yard line, and advanced to the 41 yard line before they were dropped for a 4 yard loss and had to attempt a pass on third and ten. Charlevoix intercepted the ball and ran it back to East Jordan's 26 yard line.

Five plays later, a two yard pass gave Charlevoix a 13-0 lead, as they missed the kick for extra points.

Charlevoix kicked an on-sides kick-off to Gary Coolman and East Jordan held good field position on the 47 yard line. The Devils worked the ball to Charlevoix's 23 yard line, but failed to convert and turned it over on downs.

Charlevoix got two first downs as they brought the ball up to East Jordan's 31 yard line, and the Devils recovered a fourth down Rayder fumble.

East Jordan ground out a first down at the 45 yard line and passed to Todd Nachazel for a 20 yard gain. Pete Zoulek ran two plays, making it to the Rayder 25 yard line, where Charlevoix stopped the Devils and took over on downs again.

Charlevoix had worked the ball up to their own 35 yard line, when Coolman got a big 10 yard sack on the quarterback. The Rayders seemed to be rattled after the sack, as they jumped off-sides and Aaron Spence was instrumental in spoiling their pass attempt.

East Jordan took over the ball on the 47 yard line with less than two minutes left in the half. Spence ran 9 yards on first down and Zoulek ran 13 yards to the 27 yard line for a first down. Bill Lytle threw a 15 yard pass to Zoulek, but he was brought down short of the goal, and the first half ended 13-0.

Charlevoix received the second half kick-off, and worked eight plays before they punted to East Jordan. Zoulek received the punt and ran back 12 yards to the 42 yard line. East Jordan fumbled and on second and ten, threw an interception. East Jordan threw up a good defense on the 22 yard line as Charlevoix tried three plays for no yardage. On fourth and ten, Charlevoix tossed it in for another passing TD. The Rayders got a bad snap on the kick attempt, and Leon Carey, Scot Hart, and Jim Roberts smothered the kicker.

The Devils ran and passed for a first down on their own 30 yard line, and got a 20 yard play from Zoulek, but threw two incomplete passes and lined up to punt. The snap was bad and Charlevoix downed the kicker on the 22 yard line to take over the ball. Charlevoix got the touchdown two exchanges later and led 27-0 near the end of the game.

East Jordan ran the ball on the ground for three plays, getting 22 yards and a first and ten on the 35 yard line, but was plagued with incomplete passes and turned the ball over on downs with 15 seconds left in the game. Charlevoix got off one play and let the clock expire.

Defensively, Dale Schroeder got 8 tackles, Carey got 8, Roberts got in on 10 and handled 4 alone,

BF girls lose 2 after great start

Boyne Falls suffered two on-the-road losses last week, to Inland Lakes 55-66, and to Central Lake 33-47, after coming home from a tournament sweep in Alba.

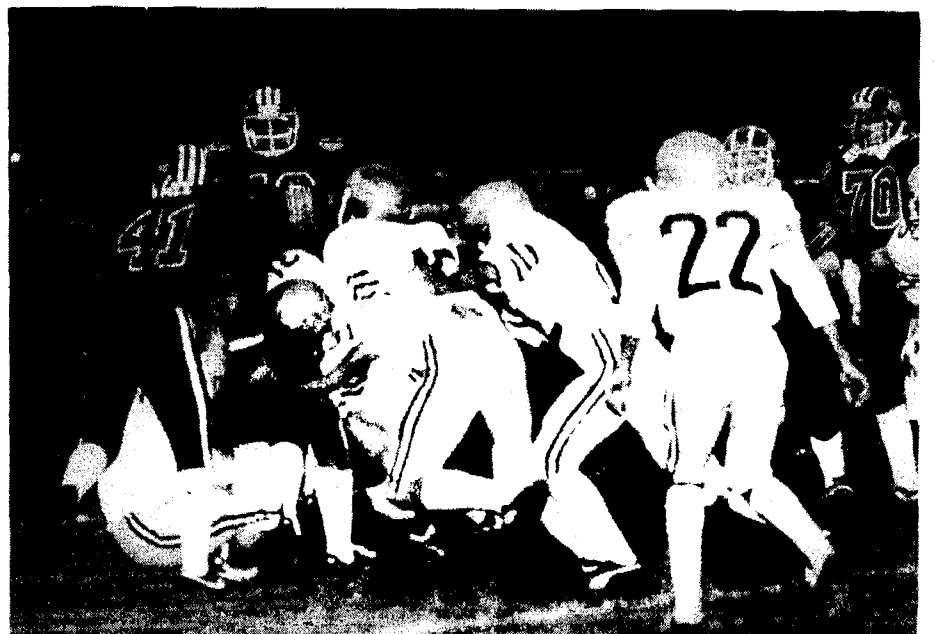

Against the "very tall" Inland Lakes girls the Loggers held their usual two point first quarter lead at 12-10. Inland Lakes had an outstanding second quarter, getting 22 points to 12 for Boyne Falls. Inland Lakes held a 32-24 half time lead. The Loggers outshot their opponents 20 to 18 in period three. They closed the scoring gap throughout the remainder of the game, but "every time they got close, the Inland Lakes team spurted ahead."

Kim McNew lead the Loggers in scoring with 7 field goals and by going 5 of 7 at the charity line. Kris Bell had a big gun also, getting 16 points and bringing down 13 rebounds, 9 of them offensive. Mary Murray hit for 8 points, while Monique Churchill and Dianne Massey scored 6 apiece.

Offensively, Zoulek ran 58 yards, Nachazel gained 32 yards, and Lytle ran 24 yards.

Thursday, in Central Lake, Boyne Falls held an 11 to 7 lead at quarter's end, but only came up with two points in the second quarter while Central Lake rolled for 16 points. The Loggers were down by 10 points at half time 23-13. Boyne Falls hit for ten points in both the third and fourth periods, while Central Lake netted 11 and 13. Both Churchill and McNew were retired from the game early on fouls.

Every time the Ramblers made an attempt in the second half, they were met by a wall of white as the Blue Devils held their ground and worked to make the tackle. Boyne's effort was hampered by the injuries to Chris Howard, Norman Howard, and Craig Napont.

Boyne girls wind up 3rd at Central Lake

Boyne City's varsity girls' basketball team finally got it together in the Central Lakes tournament by defeating the host team 52-38, winding up in third place overall tourney position. Coach Jack Caverly pointed out that Boyne City's press gave the Ramblers 22 steals and dominated the second half of the game.

Boyne City found themselves behind 7-10 at the end of the first period, but came back in the second quarter with 15 points to lead at the half 22-18. The Ramblers scored 13 third quarter points to Central Lake's 6, and went on in the final period outscoring Central Lake 17-14 for the win.

Tammy Winters was the Rambler's top pointmaker with 19. She also grabbed 15 rebounds and 9 steals. Keisha Crozier totaled 18 points with 8 steals, while Julie Montgomery hit for 11 points. Linda Beiganowski and Kerry Harvey contributed a basket apiece. As a team, the lady Ramblers grabbed 23 rebounds defensively and 12 offensively. They hit 10 of 24 free throws and tallied three direct assists.
