Landfill rates increased by BC commissioners

Rates will go up at the Boyne City sanitary landfill, starting Thursday, Nov. 1. New commercial rates will be $2.50 minimum. The city commission made the decision following reports by city manager Randy Frykberg and his staff at the Tuesday noon commission meeting.

Steve Smith of C.H. Smith Company, operating the landfill for the city, said, "I don't think enough people understand the cost of running the fill. We have to face up to the fact that garbage does cost."

One hundred dollars a day (the average take) hardly pays the wages of someone to count the money, he said, much less the cost of using the heavy equipment.

Up to now the commercial trash collector has paid $1 per yard at Boyne City's 160 acre landfill. At Charlevoix County Landfill, Inc. the rate is $3 per yard. The new rate package includes, beside the $2.50 minimum, a fee per yard of $1.50 minimum for individuals hauling their own trash.

The fee structure has to keep in balance between the commercial users and individual users, in order to be fair, the city manager said.

He indicated part of the cost of the landfill is for required earth-cover over the trash piles. In addition, the commission took note of the fact that ultimately, when the fill is used up, the closing costs could come to $160,000.

The city commission also reviewed the airport's hangar situation, and approved starting arrangements for sale of city land for new hangars. Frykberg said the city is presently losing valuable support due to limited availability of hangar space.

The city administration, the city attorney, and a pilots' representative had studied options. They excluded the option of asking for public tax support because, although the airport affects the city favorably, only a small proportion of the residents benefit directly, Frykberg said. Another option could be to sell the land in the city-owned airport boundaries. A proposal states the land would go to private individuals "for the sole purpose of construction of aircraft hangars and/or aircraft maintenance buildings."

The city would place strictures on the quality of the building and the placement of the structures. No discrimination would be allowed.

By creating a condominium type of arrangement for the hangars, the city would be free of the expenses related to hangars, and would still collect taxes from the land they were on.

The proposal includes the present new hangar housing seven planes, and a new hangar for 10 planes to be built on a 250-foot long plot at a convenient point in the air field. An additional future location is proposed for nearby, keeping the hangars clustered in one area.

The old hangar is being torn down.

Larry Trumble of the Pilots' Association encouraged the commissioners to move as quickly as possible, saying the airport had already lost one user due to lack of shelter for planes.

Councilman resigns from East Jordan board

East Jordan city councilman Cal Gots resigned last week for family reasons. At the October 16 council meeting it was decided not to appoint a replacement with the election only a couple of weeks away.

Citizen comments at the meeting were in regard to the Victory Chapel Church building program. Neighbors noted the church group had no building permit when they began building. With the city's recent discussion about extending sewer service into that part of town, residents complained the church group was receiving city favors.

City superintendent Mike Dionne replied that the county, not the city, was the authority for building permits. As for the proposed sewer line, Dionne said that had been proposed for the last six years.

In an interview with The Press, Dionne said many lots "won't perk" on Huron, Barker, and neighboring streets and the long-discussed extension is becoming more needed than ever.

"It's in the best interests of the city to have sewerage. It stimulates development."

A few other areas are also on the list for consideration for sewerage, he noted.

Dionne said the request for closing the unpaved stretch of Echo Street has been denied. It won't be paved in the immediate future, he said, but it is to remain platted.

At the council meeting, downtown parking again surfaced as a problem. A request for a sign limiting the time for parking in front of Bob and Jean's was made.

Dave Waldron, who made the request, noted that some stores want to give their customers plenty of time, but his operation required the opposite.

All day parking on the street by workers at the Senior Center was also complained about. The council called for the public safety committee to study the parking question.

In other business, the council approved purchase of a Toshiba copier for $5,295.

They also decided to purchase chairs and tables for use at the Civic Center from low bidder Select Service Company, Atlanta, GA for $2,504. The Century Club is donating $1,000 towards the cost.

The council approved a new simplified rental fee plan for Elm Pointe. The building and grounds may be rented for a whole day for $100, for a half day for $50, and those who only want a short wedding ceremony under the trees can just take their chances with frisbee players, without making a reservation or paying a fee, said councilman Al Joseph.

Returning with their findings on seat-belts for city vehicles, the public safety committee reported that the use or non-use of safety-belts did not affect insurance, although their presence is required by law. The conclusion the committee reached after questioning city departments was to continue to leave it up to individual choice.

Mayor Bill Merwin went on record that he believes seat-belt use should be mandatory.

Bill Porter, left, was recently presented with the Paul Harris Fellow Award by David Smith, right, in recognition of his outstanding service to the club. Bill has been a past club president, active in Rotary functions, and a member with 44 years perfect attendance.

The naming of a Paul Harris Fellow signifies that a $1,000 was contributed by the club to the Rotary Foundation to aid in the promotion of world understanding. This foundation grants over 1100 college scholarships a year to students who wish to study for one year in a country other than their own. The foundation also provides $1,500,000 for a health, hunger and humanity program for service projects around the world.

Boyne Community Ed growing

Community ed. is growing. The latest evidence from Boyne City is a spelled-out curriculum in English and social studies for the high school completion section of Community ed. (The other section is the enrichment program.)

Shelly Martin, who directs community education in Boyne, said, "Last summer we put together the English and social studies curriculums so we'd have an organized, systematic way of putting people through the program."

The task was funded by a grant obtained from the state department of education.

"As a result," said Martin, "we've been better able to place our people." The English courses include such studies as Great American Writers, Basic Writing, and Short Story.

Martin is also pleased with having day classes for senior citizens and others. These are taking place at the senior center in Boyne City and at Litzeburger Place. Classes taught there include Health and First Aid and Arts and Crafts.

"A major part of the success of this program," said Martin, "is the instructors, Sherry Black, Jim Sturdevant, Cheri Leach, and Richard Sharer."

In this fourth year of the consortium of Straits Area Community Education, Boyne City also took on a program at the county jail. Martin said she is "pleased with the cooperation of the people who work at the jail."

The inmates have the choice of whether or not they want to enter community ed. Classes in American government, psychology, history, and English are available.

The total enrollment in all adult ed. programs comes to 75. In addition, there are enrichment classes for which a nominal fee is charged.

These include classes in bee keeping, quilting, silk flower making, Slimnastics, karate, and CPR.

Community ed. also provides two children's classes.

"A tremendous turn-out," Martin commented.

She noted three $50 scholarships had been awarded. The Carlie Hawkins Memorial Scholarships went to Marion Simmons, Vada Speer, and Barbara Olstrom to help with textbook purchase or tuition.

Funds for the scholarships come from the lottery at the annual Hobby Craft Show, which this year comes on December 1.

Hospital to survey Boyne City residents on health care

Some 400 Boyne City residents will be asked to participate in a mail survey soon.

Charlevoix Area Hospital, working with an independent consulting firm, Arbor Associates of Petoskey, will be conducting a public opinion survey of Boyne City residents on the subject of health care.

"We are concerned that the residents of the Boyne City area may have health care needs which are not currently being filled," Richard Krueger, Charlevoix Area Hospital Administrator explained, when announcing the survey.

"The Board of Directors of Charlevoix Area Hospital believe the Boyne City area is an important part of the primary service area for Charlevoix Area Hospital.

"We hope to learn what the people of this part of the county feel they need and how we might be better able to provide the kind of health care services Boyne area people want," the administrator said.

A questionnaire, designed by the consultants, will be mailed to a randomly selected number of households. The questionnaires, which will include stamped return envelopes, will be returned to Arbor Associates where the results will be tabulated by hand and computer. People who receive and answer these questionnaires will be assured complete anonymity.

each additional household member add $2,175 to determine eligibility.

Last week for Indian exhibit at McCune

The Third Annual Nishnawbe Native American Art Festival opened last week at the Virginia McCune Arts Center, 461 E. Mitchell St. in Petoskey. This annual event is a month-long celebration of the art and culture of the Native Ottawa and Ojibway peoples of our region. All Festival events are open to the public free of charge.

The Arts Center's Exhibition Gallery hosts a special exhibit, "Art of Contemporary Canadian Indian Artists," which will hang from Oct. 5 through Oct. 27. Artists represented are currently living in Canada, and most have learned their artistic skills from tribal elders living on Manitoulin Island. Artists sell their work to earn a living, and it is often difficult to gather an exhibit of contemporary art because of low current inventory of completed works.

The exhibit will feature works by Peter Migwans, a painter from Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and Manitoulin Island; Zoey Wood-Salomon, a young lady from the Soo, painting in acrylic; John Laford, also a painter, whose work includes two pieces of pottery; Phyllis Burrell-Elyk, a painter who depicts still life as well as legends; and many works on loan from the Ojibway Cultural Foundation of West Bay, Manitoulin Island, Ontario representing James Simon, Leland Bell, Randy Trudeau, Doris MacIntyre, and others.

A reception to meet the artists will be held on Friday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m. at the Arts Center. Other Festival events include workshops on Saturdays by participating artists, and films on the Native American Heritage.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Please call the Arts Center at 347-4337 for additional information.

Where we stand as we look at state proposals

This year only three proposals are on the upcoming ballot for the voters of Michigan to consider. Of the three, the one that most have heard about is Proposal C, the voter's choice proposal. The others are just as important, in fact, Proposal B is probably even more important to those of us in the north country.

While we realize that a small newspaper like ours won't carry the election, we would like our readers to know our feelings on the proposals. We will also try to explain what may happen if the proposals get approved.

PROPOSAL A: This proposed amendment would deal with allowing the state legislature to approve or disapprove all of the administrative rules. The rules are usually written after the state legislature writes a new law and the rules are the means of enforcing or making sure that the new law is followed.

Presently, the rules are being written by the agency that the law falls under. If the proposal is approved, a joint committee of the representatives and senate would be able to approve the rules before the law is put into effect.

While we approve of the idea, it seems to us that our representatives who would be asked to approve the laws would add another voice to the lawmaking process. While it may be nice to say that the joint committee would have control over all the facets of lawmaking, we doubt that in reality they would.

Still, we are going to recommend the proposal. Maybe then, some of the outlandish rules that the agencies can come up with to cause more work and more grief in the private sector may be eliminated.

PROPOSAL B: This proposal could affect most of us in the north country as it requires that the state use the monies coming into it from such things as gas and oil royalties, mining rights for minerals, gas, and oil, only be used for the purposes the fund was proposed for in the first place. The money goes now to what is commonly called the Kammer Trust Fund and one-third of the money coming into the state was to be set aside for the state to use to develop recreational property, environmental, or scenic beauty properties within the state. The fund was limited to 150 million which would have been reached this past year, but, the state, looking for money to fund its many other problems, has been taking the money from the fund to spend in other areas.

If approved, this proposal would set up a new name, called the Natural Resources Trust Fund, and would not allow the state to use the money for any other purpose than for the purchase, development, or administration of lands for recreational, scenic, or environmental uses. It would also specify that all of the money coming into the state from the royalties would go into the fund, not just the one-third that is presently being applied.

As we have many areas here in the north country where the new funds could be applied, we are recommending that this proposal pass, and not because of the interests of the sportsmen or the environmentalists. We happen to think that many of the areas here in the north should be purchased by the state because of the many northern jobs that might be created to fulfill the promise that the act would require.

PROPOSAL C: Perhaps the most controversial proposal in this year's election is this proposal which would require that the state relinquish taxing power to us the voters. If passed, it would require the state, local, and county governing bodies to void any tax increases, unless approved by the voters, from a base date which is December 31, 1981. It would require that the voter have the opportunity to vote on all new or increased license, user, or permit fees since December 1981, or have the legislative body approve the increases by a four-fifths vote.

It would also limit non-resident income taxes, similar to the income taxes that the large cities are applying against those who live outside of the community and work within the city, to only one-half of one percent.

Further, it would require that in any tax proposal presented, the voter would know the purpose of the tax, what the total anticipated amount would be, and when the tax would expire.

It seems that almost every governing body is against this proposal because they see nothing but gloom and doom if it were passed. They are trying to tell the voter in all their press releases and advertising that the state would go down the tubes if it passed.

We can't see that happening as we believe that the residents of the state are smarter than the government wants us to be.

Sure, we may have to do without some of the bureaucrats who spend the money, and sure, we would have to vote more times, and that the initial setting up of the proposal, if passed, would cause a flurry of voting activity as the state, county, and local governments try to get the voter approval of all that has been made into law since 1981, but we happen to think that the only way the citizens of the state are going to be able to control those holding political office would be by holding the handle on taxing approval.

We don't think that the state will lose its creditability with Wall Street. We have been down that road before, and we average taxpaying citizens didn't feel the effect of the past disasters that the state brought upon itself.

If anything, the recent income tax increase brought more hardship on us than if the state had gone bankrupt. And, if the state were to declare that problem, the federal government would step in with the money necessary to keep things running. And if that happened, the feds would be in control anyway, just as they are today for the average taxpayer.

We also see that many of the locally passed school millage issues would be reinstated by the taxpayers as the children deserve to have the best educational program possible.

There is another reason we would like to see this proposal passed, and that may be just to see what would happen. Some of us can't go any lower than we are right now.

So our recommendation is that all three of the proposals be approved.

Justice, truth, and the DNR?

Editor,

Let me give to you an example of DNR justice.

On Tuesday night, October 16, 1984, on the Jordan River, at the Old Sucker Hole down river from DNR and Tempotech, Inc.'s weir, where the DNR is giving tons of our protected game fish away to Tempotech for free, there was a group of fishermen who wanted fish to feed their families.

Yes! There is no doubt they were foul hooking salmon, or as the DNR would call snagging. But it's the only way salmon can be taken when they enter our rivers.

The DNR says this is illegal, and the fishermen are called outlaws. You see, us fishermen are not allowed to build weirs and take them legally. The question I would like answered by our officials is where is justice in equality, or human relations in our Courts when the DNR can arrest, take fishing gear and the fish. Then they brag that every pound of fish taken that night will cost the fisherman $5 per pound to be paid to the State, and the fisherman is considered an "outlaw," and the DNR is out to teach him a lesson.

Now, remember the fisherman paid our State $14.50 for a license to fish, and the fish he caught he wanted to eat, but now he will not be able to eat, but he will be charged $5 per pound in our Courts of Justice.

Now, by the same token of justice, our DNR gives to Tempotech, Inc., who does not have to pay a license fee of $14.50, tons of our fish for free. In fact, the DNR officers work around the clock costing our State thousands of dollars for wages and expenses so that Tempotech, Inc., can sell our fish and are considered respectful citizens.

I would like to suggest: Give unto the people that which is the people's - open our rivers to the fishermen, as nine other states and Canada do that compose the Great Lakes Fishery Commission. Let there be equality in our natural resources. Say Yes - to the fishermen - and the fishermen will say Yes - to Michigan - and the fishermen will leave millions in late fall economy that the businesses are entitled to. Tempotech leaves nothing, they just take.

Note "A Story I Just Had to Tell".

Two young boys from Clio, Michigan, who told me that they had saved all summer so they could take a fishing trip up north on Jordan River, were not having any success fishing. They stopped their car on the Jordan or close by, and they heard some splashing. When they looked and saw two salmon in shallow water, they caught them with their hands; but a DNR officer saw them and issued them a ticket or Summons for Violation of ?

They told me this story, and the part that affected me and made me feel so bad was the fact that they will go home broken hearted and with the attitude of injustice. They told me they had no money for a fine.

Now, this is the straw that broke the camel's back. If these two salmon had been stopped by the DNR and Tempotech, Inc.'s weir, the DNR would have given these two salmon to Tempotech, Inc., with their blessing.

close and the streets won't crumble any faster than they are now.

The amendment is so worded that any lost revenues can be restored by a vote of a simple majority of the electorate. This could be accomplished before any revenues have even been lost. The voters will, I am confident vote monies for specific purposes when a clear need has been established. This process assures us that the job we pay for actually gets done and the monies not used by the legislature for other purposes. Those opposing Proposal C tremble at the prospect of a real taxpayer's democracy.

In my opinion, and I have studied the subject with a special interest, tax reductions stimulate new business which in turn stimulates more jobs which in turn stimulates more tax monies. In states where tax limiting proposals are in effect employment and prosperity are both much better than in Michigan. Any public sector jobs lost will be more than offset by increased spending and restored incentives to the private sector.

The real reason for the outcries from the opponents of Proposal C is that they all enjoy a cozy relationship with the legislature and can continuously cut deals for legislation that allows us to pay more taxes and them to benefit financially.

In my opinion it can be reduced to a simplistic concept, if you think you are paying too many taxes, then you should vote Yes on Proposal C. If on the other hand you receive benefit from tax dollars you will not be motivated to vote Yes on Proposal C. A Yes vote on Proposal C Voter's Choice will revive the Michigan economy.

Dismayed by doomsayers of Proposal C

Editor,

As a professor of Economics at Saginaw Valley State College and member of MEA-NEA, I am dismayed by the opposition of those entities to Proposal C. The issue at stake is a simple one, that is, can we trust the voters to decide how much government is needed or can't we? When the voters take back the authority to tax which they originally gave the legislature it of course is a signal that that power has been severely abused.

In my opinion the opponents of Proposal C (MEA, AFL-CIO, Ford, General Motors, State and Local Employees and the majority of politicians) are using baseless scare tactics to confuse the voters in hope that a confused voter will vote no. The sky won't fall, the schools won't close and the streets won't crumble any faster than they are now.

After trying for several weeks to definitely locate where this building was located, we still haven't been able to determine exactly where it was, but we think the corner where the Dairy Queen is today, was the location for these three stores. The building contained two notions stores as well as a tailor if the plat map of 1911 is correct. Upstairs, was located one of the many clubs that were part of the early Boyne City history. This is another picture from the collection of John Hawkes. If you have any pictures of the early days of Boyne Falls, East Jordan or the surrounding area, bring them in so that we can make a copy for our remembrances feature. Our office is located on Groveland, going out of town towards the state park.

A FEW ITEMS TO START THINGS OFF

I am preparing for a long, cold winter. I do it by looking out the window and wringing my hands.

He: I'm having a terrible time making up my mind who to vote for in the national election.

Me: I don't see why. Most people have already decided.

He: Not me. I don't know whether to vote for the one who has the personality of a toad or the one who is trying hard not to be a clown.

Me: Oh, oh, I wish you hadn't said that. Now you've got me wondering which one to throw my vote away on.

He: Throw your vote away on? What kind of talk is that?

Me: It's a new kind of political language thought up by George Bush. He says he will not apologize for it.

***

I was fiddling with our hand calculator the other day. I was adding up what we had in the bank and subtracting what we owed. That would tell me how we stood financially. When I finished, the calculator burst out laughing.

WHERE HAS THE SPIRIT GONE?

It has been too long since Boyne City has displayed an old fashioned, rip-roaring school spirit; so long, indeed, that we now are terribly much in need of one. Remember when 500 to 1,000 people attended our football games? Remember when our highly rated marching band would parade downtown on occasional practice sessions? Remember when proud students wore school sweaters with a large "B" that meant "Boyne" as well as the "Best"? Any successful merchant will tell you that when a business gets a stomach ache, the trouble stems not from the middle or the bottom, but from the very top of the organization.

THE TRUTH WILL OUT

Did you know that throughout life you are a combination of many things? You are a mixture of weak, strong, silly, wise, bad and good. I've known men who were wise and weak and women who were bad and good, but most of my life I've been strong and silly. It got me to where I am today—just a notch above Mr. Reagan's safety net with a powerful urge to make a mad dash to the government's monthly cheese festival. (I spent many a sleepless night wondering if I should let this cat out of the bag.)

HEY, THAT'S MY FACE!

The Devil dances next Wednesday. It reminds me of what happened last Halloween. The day after the goblins had gobbled, I was down town and a man on the street said to me, "Why don't you take your mask off, Halloween is over?"

Well! I had not been seized by the cold shivers in some time. I told the man that I was not wearing a mask and that he should watch his tongue. No fight ensued. But I believe that had I been twenty years younger there would have been chaos in the streets. The kind that made Boyne City what it is today.

OF POLLS AND CURTAINS AND THINGS

There are thirteen days left before we go to the polls and step behind those unwashed curtains. Some polling places don't have curtains any more. You just step into something and vote. No, I don't mean that, what I mean is, you go into something and vote. I remember the time I went into a coma a voted for Richard Nixon.

FINIS

Oh, heavens. I think I shall give a mighty leap and spring from this week's pit.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

After reading through one of the magazines that Boyne City's newest business is putting out, called Seaway Review, my mind went berserk and I have decided that we should jump on the bandwagon and create a few things so that we can also utilize our beautiful water here in the north country.

I have decided that we should have a Seaway Port Authority of Charlevoix County. Of course I will volunteer to head up the authority as I have always liked the big boats that utilize the lakes in the movement of cargo.

Now I realize that those concerned with Lake Charlevoix would be all upset at the idea of making the lake into one of the largest natural seaports on the great lakes, but, quite a few of the other interests might be able to be served by having a shipping port here in our midst.

Like the history folks. They have always said that back when the lumber mills were going 24 hours a day, the boats used to load up with the lumber and go down the lakes.

Some say that Chicago is as big as it is because of the lumber that was freighted out of Boyne City and East Jordan, but that is another story and another time.

What we are talking about is trying to get some of that money that the seaway creates. According to James Emery, the U.S. Seaway Administrator, we are talking about a three billion dollar amount going up and down our lakes and out to the world. He says that that means jobs.

Now our economy is starting to make a comeback, but we could always use a few more jobs in the country.

Other things come to mind also. The railroads which have now been dismantled at all three cities might have to be resurrected to handle all of the freight that would move out of the port.

The cement industry would also be a benefactor as the grain silos that would have to be built are all made of good ol' cement.

Nowadays, the farmers who grow grain have to truck it as far as Toledo, Ohio to sell it at a profit. Toledo, in turn, sells the grain to Russia, China, or the big milling companies here in the states.

I happen to think that most of the ocean freighters could negotiate the channel over in Charlevoix easily. They could then move up the lake to some place that could be called the port, where the huge elevators would be built, and next to that, a huge coal yard could be constructed.

While our lake is still in the pristine stage as far as beauty goes, maybe the economic interests that want to put up condos all around the lake could be dismayed to learn that their condo project would be right next to the port.

The residents could be awakened at all hours of the day by the big blasts of the foghorns as the boats leave the dock after filling up with all that grain for the world.

But I am sure that a few of the people may buy a condo close to the authority because they like to see the big boats.

Just look at the channel over in Charlevoix when one of the coal boats that serves Wolverine Power comes through on the way to Advance. Crowds watch the boat go through the channel.

Charlevoix would benefit also as every time the bridge would go up, all the cars that are stopped would allow the drivers and passengers to see all the offerings of the merchants. Heck, when that bridge is up for one of those freighters, they could go and shop for a wardrobe. At least three changes.

Seriously though, when the Lake Charlevoix planning group gets to considering lake usage, they should be aware of the historical use of the lake, and as things have a way of returning, be aware that the lake could be used for shipping today as it was years ago.

The environmentalists might have a field day as the planning stages for such a port were heard.

Some say that money talks, and if such a thing were proposed, and it may be at some time in the future, the planners are going to have to weigh the economic benefits of megabucks with the values that brought them here in the first place.

So you can see that the planners' job is not going to be easy. They will have a lot more to consider when they work up a masterplan for the lake than where condos, marinas for pleasurecraft, and homes will be allowed to be built.

Maybe having a large seaport might not be a bad idea. I am sure that the lake could hold it, along with many other uses.

As I said, I wouldn't mind having the job as head of the authority, of course it is a government job, and would have a salary level of about a million a year. Dollars, that is.

Even when we can't spend money on clothes, we women will still look at a fashion page with interest. Now with all the Christmas catalogs weighing down the mailbox, there is plenty to look at.

This year, it is clear, we can buy what we could have bought last year and then add a hat to be up to date. Or we can plunge into the new look, all loose and piled on.

At first glance the new look is just one mess after another. But a second look begins to take note of how artfully the models are draped in their overalls and drooping socks. And if we don't get it exactly right, it'll show, just like it always does in fashion.

In the first place, we who are on the plump side will not be more fortunate in spite of all these baggy sweaters. We still have to be thin. There's always a belt somewhere in the drapery.

And in the second place, the wearer of the new look has to watch her posture and facial expression very carefully.

No, no. We don't stand with that high, stretched-out look any more. Now we throw ourselves out of joint at the hips, and prop our arms in outlandish angles.

But most of all we look tough. Tired. Mean.

Sometimes I want to laugh at the picture of the very slender, silky-looking young woman, all togged out in a tough jacket, clever shirt, and pants. She stands there, hands rammed half-way into pickets, lower lip stuck out, hair falling forward.

Everyone knows it's all a look. She's no tougher than she was when she was wearing a lace blouse and ruffled skirt. Are we supposed to think she can crack somebody's bones or something?

I can't picture anybody I know, 16 or older, trying to look at the world in such a nasty way. But then, the fashion ads always go to extremes, and we adopt milder versions of what we see, possibly imagining we are a little bit as wild as they look.

It's all dress-ups. It always has been. What is the mood? Shall we play romantic lady? Tomboy? Dissolute woman?

One decade we were all pinched into pointed shoes and narrow shoulders. Very feminine. Another decade it was boxy shoulders and bobby sox, and we all played field hockey.

The athletic girls who grew up in the pointed shoe decade were probably miserable and blamed themselves for not fitting in, in both senses of the word. It does seem a little cruel.

And then the two decades, going on three, of blue jeans were a revolutionary break-through. I see signs, however, this non-fashion fashion is going the way of all fashions. In jeans we were almost not playing dress-up, but it couldn't last. Jeans turning baggy and pegged and who knows what next.

When I was little I had a spangled gypsy costume. Dress-ups was fun then.

East Jordan and Boyne City have new Senior Center directors

Beverly Freel, whose husband Walter is pastor of the East Jordan Baptist Church, was talking to a friend after the church service. "There's where I'd like to work," she said, nodding in the direction of the Senior Center.

But the position of director had just been filled. Almost simultaneously, however, a vacancy had occurred in Boyne City's Senior Center administration.

BEVERLY FREEL

Freel said she hasn't had time yet to come up with ideas; she is learning the paper work first. But she said she loves sewing, craft work, and cooking, and will be able to put her interest behind these and other activities.

The Freels just moved to northern Michigan. The Rev. Freel is taking over from retiring Rev. Walter Buck. In Grand Rapids where they formerly lived, Mrs. Freel said, she assisted in a nursing home and subsequently in a retirement home.

She started her new job here on Oct. 8. The center is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

A new director for Charlevoix County Senior Center is at work in East Jordan, picking up the many threads of activity laid down by retiring director Dorothy Pelton. Sue Brill, the new director, is excited about the opportunity, and is already laying plans for center programs.

Brill, an East Jordan resident for the past year, comes from Pickerell Lake, and before that, Ohio, she said. Her husband Kenneth is director of Bergmann Center for the handicapped in Charlevoix.

One thing she is studying is a program for having the handicapped and the seniors working together.

Brill, a housewife, mother, and grandmother, has a long list of things she's interested in herself: crafts, more hunting, reading... She arranges flowers for weddings. She will now focus these energies on crafts, trips, and speakers for the center.

She is particularly interested in the Community Education classes held at the center. One of the ways she became involved with her new job was through attending some of these classes as a student.

In that connection, she said, a "very special speaker" is coming Thursday, Oct. 18 to the center at 1 p.m., and that evening to adult ed. history class. He is Al Pifer of Traverse City, a specialist on the American Civil War. He will be wearing a uniform of that war.

Brill's hours at the center are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Speakers listed for 13th Annual Win-Some Retreat at Boyne Mt. Nov. 2 and 3

"Inner Peace" will be the theme for the 13th Annual Win-Some Women retreat at the beautiful Boyne Mountain Convention Center on November 2nd and 3rd. The day and a half retreat will provide an opportunity to join women from many communities for inspiration, fellowship and encouragement.

Actress, author and playwright Jeannette Clift George, who will be making her second retreat appearance, is from Houston, Texas where she has appeared in leading roles as a member of the resident acting company of the internationally known Alley Theater. She has worked off-Broadway, toured with the New York Shakespeare Company and has played summer stock in theaters in major cities across the country. Her film debut was in World Wide Pictures' THE HIDING PLACE, in which she portrayed Corrie ten Boom, a Dutch lady who saved the lives of scores of Jews in her native Holland during the Nazi occupation. Since 1975, the film has been shown to large audiences in the United States, Canada, Australia, and England.

A career in performing theater is only part of Jeannette Clift George's life. She is equally well known as a Bible teacher, speaker, monologist and playwright. She has taught Bible classes, small and large, and her varied speaking engagements throughout the country range from talks to church groups to formal presentations at national conventions.

At home in Houston, Mrs. George is Producing Manager for the After Dinner Players, a Christian Drama Company which offers Bible based plays for churches, schools and theaters throughout the nation. Her first book, SOME RUN WITH FEET OF CLAY, was released in 1978.

The theme of the retreat will be further developed by six seminar sessions. Another keynote speaker for the retreat, Margaret Hess, will be conducting a seminar about "Stress, Distress, and Burn-out". Other seminar speakers and topics will be: Carol Kent, "Speak Up With Confidence"; Joyce Winters, "Quiet Time in a Noisy World"; and the Phillip Keller film, "Lessons from a Sheep Dog". Johnny Hall, the featured gospel recording artist, will share a session entitled "Inner-Directed".

A fine selection of Christian books, records, tapes, instrumental and vocal music will be available in the all new retreat Bookstore. A special Community Banquet for men and women of all ages will be the highlight of the retreat weekend.

JOHNNY HALL

Jeannette Clift George will be the featured speaker and music will be presented by dynamic gospel communicator, Johnny Hall. The dinner and program will be held November 3rd at 7:00 p.m. in the Boyne Mountain Convention Hall.

NMH patient traffic re-routed

Northern Michigan Hospitals announced that patient admission traffic will be rerouted to the east side of the hospital main entrance as of Monday, Oct. 22. Hospital traffic will still be able to go south on the one way West Drive, but no patient drop offs will be possible due to the movement of construction activity to the west side of the entrance.

People needing to drop off patients or handicapped individuals will be directed to drive into the east side of the hospital portico covering the main entrance. A turnaround area will be marked out under the portico, with traffic exiting out the east side.

Pedestrian visitor traffic will also be re-directed to the east side of the main entrance. Signs and walkways mark the new access routes. A hospital security guard is available to answer questions and direct traffic.

All patient discharge and pick up has been redirected to the South Ground Floor Exit, next to the hospital emergency department. Special parking spaces have been set aside for this purpose. The traffic diversion is expected to last at least one month.

In literature, as in love, we are astonished at the choice made by other people. Andre' Maurois

PUBLIC HEARING

BOYNE CITY ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS MEETING

Thursday, November 8, 1984
7:00 p.m.

Commission Chambers - City Hall

Pursuant to rules and regulations as set by the Boyne City Zoning Ordinance concerning zoning variances and non-conforming use variances, the Boyne City Board of Appeals has scheduled a Public Hearing for Thursday, November 8, 1984, at 7:00 p.m., in the Commission Chambers of City Hall, 319 North Lake Street, to consider the following variance requests:

1. A request from James Shepherd, 925 Second Street, to expand a non-conforming use trailer by adding a 12 foot by 32 foot addition. The area is zoned R-2 and the trailer home is "grandfathered" in under the Zoning Ordinance, thereby necessitating the non-conforming use variance request.
2. A request from Dr. Richard Mansfield, State Street, M-75, to expand his non-conforming use building by adding on two foot by 40 foot additions and one 8 foot by 11 foot addition for the purpose of expanding his Clinic. The building is located in a R-1 zoned area.

All interested persons are invited to attend the Public Hearing on the two requests. Additional information is available at City Hall during regular business hours by calling (616) 582-6597.

WHY VOTE FOR

SEBERON "BOO" LITZENBURGER
For Circuit Judge?

There are three important answers to this question:

1. Boo has one of the finest legal minds in the north. Among the hundreds of local and Appellate and Supreme Court cases he has successfully pleaded in his 21 year practice were two which resulted in "Landmark" (precedent-setting) decisions. That is, they established points of law that had never before been developed in Michigan's 147 year history as a state. This is as notable as winning a Pulitzer Prize in other professions.
2. Boo cares about people, and the land and water around us. For fifteen years he has devoted thousands of hours without pay to helping the largest hospital complex in the north become the biggest employer, in fact, the biggest business in the north.
3. Boo is native to this country. Fifty years ago his dad, "Doc Litz", brought everyone into the world for miles around Boyne City. Ask anyone who knew him, he was the kind of doctor who wouldn't start off on a family vacation unless all his patients were on the mend. He was there when you needed him, a real neighbor, a member of everyone's family.

Right now we have an opportunity to elect this man of talent to the Charlevoix-Emmet Circuit Judgeship.

He has always been identified with preservation of our natural resources—the great future of our area. For example, he helped found, and is a Trustee of The Little Traverse Conservancy.

So, how you feel more comfortable with elected officials who are built into the local scenery that way, too. Take our District Judge, Harvey Varnum for example. You can rely on Harvey because he is "home-town"; he has deepdown integrity you can feel. He is conscientious; he is predictable because he is one of us. Boo is that way, too.

For these three reasons we are going to vote for Boo Litz for Circuit Judge November 6th., and hope you will, too.

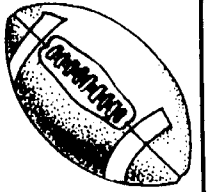

In your heart you know he's right.

Many good things happened for the Devils Friday night, such as this play where Carl Knop broke through the tacklers to gain eight yards. Knop was slightly injured in the game, but will be ready for action again this week.

Six losses in Boyne's season

BY JERRY FROATS
The Ramblers of Boyne City went down for the sixth time this season, this time to the Grayling Vikings 38-8 in Grayling.

The Vikings took the early lead on a one yard touchdown run in the first period. Boyne City did get a drive rolling in the quarter and took it to the Grayling 20 yard line but the Ramblers turned the ball over, ending any possible threats.

In the second period, Grayling worked the ball to the Rambler 7 yard line before carrying the ball over the goal line. The Vikings passed to the endzone for the conversion and led 16-0 at halftime.

Boyne City began the second half on their own 20 yard line as the kick-off went into the endzone. With a strong wind in their faces, the Ramblers stayed to the running attack but punted the ball away on fourth and one to go.

Grayling began their first series of downs at their own 48 yard line where Mike Mansfield, Dale Sutton, and Kip Babcock teamed up to dump the Vikings' quarterback for a 14 yard loss. The Ramblers committed a facemasking penalty and the big loss turned into a one yard loss. Grayling went to the air with the wind at their back and marched downfield to score from the Rambler 19 yard line.

The kick-off went into the endzone for the second time in the half and Boyne City moved the ball two yards before punting again. The punt was returned to the Rambler 40 yard line and Grayling wasted no time in scoring another touchdown. The conversion pass was good and the Vikings led 30-0.

The Ramblers fourth possession of the game was punted away from the 19 yard line and Grayling took the ball from the Rambler 30 yard line to the endzone for a score of 36-0. The Vikings added a conversion pass and Boyne City changed quarterbacks for their next series.

With JV recruit Pat Weeks at the helm, the Ramblers got a 15 yard pass to Craig Napont for a first and 10. Weeks ran the ball for a 7 yard gain and Napont went with a sweep to the right for 15 yards before the young quarterback was intercepted at the Viking 19 yard line.

The Rambler defense held the Vikings down as they forced Grayling to punt the ball and Boyne City began again with a first and 10 at the Viking 30 yard line.

The series began with Weeks going 15 yards on a sweep but the following play was intercepted and the Vikings took over on their own 23 yard line.

After gaining just three yards on three plays Grayling attempted a fake punt but the pass was short and Boyne City took over on the Grayling 32 yard line.

By this stage of the game, the Rambler fans and coaches were getting upset with the officials of the game as many Viking penalties were being ignored and the fans openly voiced their opinions. Dan McGeorge, Weeks, and Napont carried the ball for a first and 10 at the Grayling 14 yard line when Napont went off tackle to the right to score the lone Rambler touchdown. Chris Howard scrambled around the right end for the conversion to make the score 38-8.

Michelle Guzniczak [12], Kelly Raymond [42], and Keisha Crozier cut this baseline drive off to force the Belles to move the ball back out

Grunch wins downstate tourney

With a 213 average over 12 matches, and a stress filled moment when he had to hit a double in the tenth frame, Boyne City's Ron Grunch came through to win the first prize in the Michigan Majors' Bowling Association's Americana Open tournament in Saginaw.

He had a 230 in the last game to beat out Harold Sullins of Roseville by 4 pins. Grunch took home a $1,000 first place prize in the tourney.

Ruhlman running for Scots

Anthony Ruhlman, a 1984 graduate of East Jordan High School, is helping the Alma College men's cross country team aim for a high Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) league finish.

Anthony is the son of Robert and Patricia Ruhlman, R#2, East Jordan. He is a freshman and plans to major in biology and English at Alma College.

Devils take homecoming beat Mancy Ironmen 35-14

BY STEVE GEE
The Homecoming spirit was evident in East Jordan Friday evening, as the Red Devils ripped apart the Mancelona Ironmen 35-14, upping their record to four wins and three losses.

Mancelona got on the scoreboard first on a 38 yard touchdown run. The two point conversion was added and the visiting Ironmen had jumped out to an early 8-0 lead.

Homecoming King, R.C. Smith, recovered a Mancelona fumble late in the first stanza setting up an excellent scoring opportunity for the Red Devils. East Jordan moved the ball consistently down to the three yard line where, even with a strong wind blowing across the field, quarterback Bill Lytle connected with Todd Nachazel for a three yard touchdown pass. Lytle ran the extra point tying the score at 8-8.

The only scoring in the second quarter came when East Jordan's Pete Zoulek scrambled across the goal line for a one yard touchdown run. A bad snap ruined the extra point attempt.

Mancelona had a tying touchdown nullified late in the half by a penalty. The Ironmen eventually turned the ball over on fourth down. East Jordan held a 14-8 halftime lead.

During halftime festivities, last year's king and queen, Mike Graham and Brenda Sulak, were on hand to congratulate this year's winners. R.C. Smith was named Homecoming King and Danielle Baker was crowned Homecoming Queen. Many of the floats were ruined due to the strong winds. The freshman received top honors; the juniors captured second place, and the seniors and sophomores tied for third.

Jim Roberts gave the Devils excellent field position early in the third quarter when he blocked a Mancelona punt deep on the Ironmen's side of the field. After a couple of runs, Lytle again connected with Nachazel for a 13 yard touchdown pass. Dave Russell kicked the extra point through.

East Jordan got the ball back again and sophomore Ted Snowden broke tackles and ran 63 yards for a Devil touchdown. Russell booted the extra point again. East Jordan held Mancelona scoreless in the quarter and at the end of the third, East Jordan led 28-8.

East Jordan drove again in the fourth stanza. On fourth and long, Snowden ran up the middle. It looked as though he would be short of the first down, but he broke a tackle and hustled 41 yards for a Devil touchdown. Russell added his third extra point of the night.

Mancelona's last touchdown was a fluke. The Devils were moving again but they were stripped of the ball and the Ironmen carried it 65 yards for a fumble recovery touchdown. The extra point attempt failed making the final score 35-14 in favor of East Jordan.

Despite the strong winds, quarterback Bill Lytle had a good night passing. He completed four of seven passes for 67 yards with two touchdowns and an interception. Todd Nachazel had two pass receptions and Ted Snowden and Pete Zoulek each grabbed one.

The Devils gained 316 yards rushing on 51 attempts. Snowden led the team with 126 yards on 10 carries. Aaron Spence gained 92 yards and Zoulek added 59 yards.

East Jordan's defense was strong for the second week in a row, putting constant pressure in the Mancelona backfield. Jim Roberts got the hit on 13 tackles, while Dave Russell totaled eight takedowns. Bill Kraemer notched four tackles.

East Jordan will travel to Gaylord Friday to take on the Snowbirds of Gaylord St. Mary.

This Ironman was unable to break up this pass play as Todd Nachazel clutches a reception with both hands and the defender attempts to strip the ball.

BC girls drop two close games

BY JERRY FROATS
Boyne City's girls' basketball teams dropped two close games last week. The varsity lost 51-40 in a game that was closer than the final score indicates, and the JVs lost 36-26 after being down by nearly 20 points.

East Jordan got the ball back again and sophomore Ted Snowden broke tackles and ran 63 yards for a Devil touchdown. Russell booted the extra point again. East Jordan held Mancelona scoreless in the quarter and at the end of the third, East Jordan led 28-8.

East Jordan drove again in the fourth stanza. On fourth and long, Snowden ran up the middle. It looked as though he would be short of the first down, but he broke a tackle and hustled 41 yards for a Devil touchdown. Russell added his third extra point of the night.

Mancelona's last touchdown was a fluke. The Devils were moving again but they were stripped of the ball and the Ironmen carried it 65 yards for a fumble recovery touch-breaking the press and succeeded a few times as Cheboygan took the first quarter lead at 6-3.

Cheboygan opened the second half with a stiff press that the Belles had trouble with and the Belles held a 25-12 lead going into the fourth period.

Kelly Montgomery and Lori Knight got two quick steals and narrowed the margin a little and Boyne City put a couple fast breaks together, making the score 27-21 in Cheboygan's favor, but the Belles went back to their full court press and took the remainder of the game away from the Ramblers.

Kelly Montgomery led the Ramblers in scoring with 12 points. Lori Knight hit for 10 points and took 8 rebounds. Shelly Vroman scored 4 points and got 8 rebounds. Lisa Caverly, the usual high scorer, was held for no points throughout the game.
