Anthony Keller of Cross Village was named to the position of Melrose Township assessor by the township board after a lengthy discussion. Both Keller and Mrs. Joan Hass had bid for the job. Hass was the previous assessor and was also the township supervisor.

Saying that the majority wanted someone from outside the township, supervisor Larry Ollife said the board made their decision after a closed session where both were reviewed.

The City of East Jordan and the Teamsters Local 219 reached a verbal agreement last week on a new three year pact. The negotiations took about a year to work out and now has to be approved by the workers that the contract covers in the DPW. Seven members of the local are in the bargaining unit. If approved, the agreement will replace the one that expired last March, 1984.

Heavy trucks are now allowed on all of the highways in the county as the yearly spring weight limitations were lifted for the summer. The limits, posted when the ground began to thaw, help prevent some damage to the roads within the county.

Cheese and other items are on the giveaway food program that is set for today, Wednesday, April 24. The usual limitations apply and will be given out at the Boyne City Community Services Center and at the Civic Center in East Jordan. The doors will open at 10:00 a.m. and will stay open until 2:00 p.m. or until the food is given out.

While "Camelot," the play that the Boyne City students presented last week ended its three day run, the tree from the set will have continued life. It was given to the elementary school to use for whatever they may want. The tree was one of the centers of activity for the play that drew raves from the audiences that watched it.

According to the DNR, all the streams in Charlevoix County are tributaries to Lake Michigan and are classed as trout streams. Because of the classification, they are closed to spearing during the month of May.

Planners ask for changes in PRD zoning

Boyne City's planners took a step towards letting parcels smaller than five acres allowable for their Planned Residential District zoning after action Monday night at their monthly meeting.

The change recommended to the city commission to adopt would change the zoning ordinance in that it would allow varying density and minimum parcel size requirements.

The reason for the change in the zoning ordinance was brought about when four parcels of land located on Front Street and owned by Mary Anne Watkins of Boyne City, were asked to be included in the PRD zoning by Ron Makino, a developer from Bellville, Michigan who wants to construct eight condominium units on the land.

In order to facilitate his request, as the parcels being considered for the development are less than one acre, the planners decided to make the change after listening to some of the other options that would have to be changed in order to allow the land to be developed.

If approved by the city commission, the change would allow the planners to have more control over some of the smaller parcels of land within the city that may come up for rezoning in the future. The planners intend to look at each request on a parcel by parcel basis.

After deciding to make the change, they they approved the request to change the zoning to the PRD zoning if the city approves the change in the ordinance.

Makino will be coming back at a future planning session to have his site plan reviewed and okayed by the planners. If that is approved, he said he will start construction as soon as possible. Plans for the eight units include having the garages on Elm Street with the housing units facing Front Street.

The planners also approved the request of Jack Francis who asked to allow a conditional use for his property on Michigan Avenue. Francis wants to add an addition onto his home so that he could convert from a single family dwelling to a two family dwelling.

In making his request, Francis said that he is planning on retiring in the future, and wants to have an income to supplement his social security.

He intends on renting out the second part of his home after he completes the construction.

The planners also approved a lot split by John and Cheryl Holt who own two parcels of land at the corner of Charlevoix Street. The Holts wanted to increase the size of one of the lots on which they have a home built upon by moving the property line over onto the other lot.

Both lots would still be above the minimum lot size for building within the city. The larger lot would allow them to add an addition to their home.

They also okayed the parking lot improvement that Ski and Shore is intending on doing this summer. The company will be grading and adding a stone base to make a parking lot behind their office on Water Street. Space for five cars will be made instead of the originally proposed eight.

The planners also approved the final site plans for four units at the Maple Shore Resort Condominium Association which is located along Michigan Avenue.

The site plans show that four lots will have the cottages increased in size approximately 250 square feet.

They asked that the City commission approve Don Glowinski as a member of the planning commission to fill the spot vacated by Edith Todter. While they have another seat vacant, they tabled filling that position until the next meeting when they will have other names from other interested parties.

Tabled also was a discussion of home occupations and satellite receiving dishes.

EJ to get bids yearly on transfer-landfill

BY KAREN NEUMEYER

East Jordan council agreed on April 16 to test private operation for their transfer station which operates now at the city landfill. The decision followed discussion of superintendent Mike Dionne's recommendation to council that the city enter into a six-month contract with Superior Sanitation for complete operation of the landfill.

Councilmen Carl Beck and Al Joseph opposed the recommendation. No bid was put into the newspaper. Inquiries were made by mail to some, not all, of the sanitation companies in the area.

Furthermore, Joseph argued that a 6-month contract would cover the landfill's peak months of operation. This would, according to Joseph, result in increased revenues for the sanitation company and not for the city.

Following this discussion, the council agreed to seek bids on a competitive basis for a one-year contract.

Further controversy erupted over the recommendation that the city purchase the Executone telephone system for the city hall. Beck pointed out that the bid on the Executone was not the lowest received. Jim Yettaw responded that the bid was in the mid-range of those received. Additionally, it provided certain options and features that the less expensive bids did not. Purchase of Executone system was approved.

Council also approved a proposal to vacate the unimproved portion of James Street to Norton Street. In a recent attempt to sell property on the unpaved James Street, the seller found that a prior owner had built a garage onto the city-owned unpaved street. In order to sell the property, the sellers sought the council's aid. The council, after discussing the issue with city attorney Scott Beatty, determined to recommend vacating the unimproved street with notice of a public hearing on the issue to be held on May 21.

Pickup of leaf and brush trash from city yards was announced for this week, April 24 through April 26. Free leaf and brush deposit at the transfer station is available April 20 through April 30.

Mayor Pat Sweet also proclaimed this week of May 5 as Small Business Week in support of President Ronald Reagan's national proclamation.

Historical Society sets night for Caboose

Who among us can recall Cutter's Saloon or the Bellamy Opera House? Who remembers the S. B. Stackus business where the furniture store was in the front and the funeral home in the back?

Then there was Clarence Schaub who sold his meat market to his competitor, Bill Sacks, and moved west, then returned three years later and constructed the building where the Kleverns now practice law.

These and many more stories will be recanted soon by members and guests of the Boyne City Historical Society. Old pictures and artifacts now being stored in attics, basements and garages are being dusted and given renewed appreciation.

Beginning April 26, friends in the community will have an opportunity to view area treasures in the Caboose Museum located on the old railroad track by the Depot Restaurant in Boyne City.

Use of the caboose, the last car in the White Pine Line, is being donated by Glenn Truitt until the Boyne City Historical Commission can establish a museum building.

To begin, the collection will include, among other things, an early area plat map, a copper laundry tub, a colorful, hand-stitched quilt and several textbooks and primers used in local schools during the early part of the century. A special display, encased in glass, will feature the original edition of the town's first newspaper, the Boyne Standard, dated Mar. 25, 1881.

It is hoped that friends who are native to the Boyne area, or long-time residents, will visit the museum and help identify many of the people and events in the old-time photographs.

Persons interested in contributing an article for display in the Caboose may contact the Society's president, Billie Beckenhauer, at 582-9536 or Marge Kapanowski at 536-7283.

Christening of the Caboose Museum will be during the gala hors d'oeuvre party at the Depot Restaurant Friday, April 26, from 5-9 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Health Center gets major donation

"A major donation," is the way East Jordan Family Health Center director Chris Shea described the East Jordan Iron Works contribution to the Center.

The $16,400 donation will pay the initial construction costs of the new waiting room, Shea said.

This spring the Center began its building expansion which will allow for more office space, examining rooms, and also a community room.

The waiting room will be on the first floor level.

Shea said the check will be presented at a ceremony on Wednesday, April 24 at 2 p.m.

With the onslaught of good weather, morels started to pop up out in the woods. This group of morels was found by Fred Sadowski out north of Boyne City last Sunday. He dug them up and brought them to town to show everyone that they were up ahead of their normal season. Entries to the Mushroom Festival will have to wait until Mother's Day weekend, though, before they go out to the woods to find mushrooms for the contest. Entry blanks may be picked up at the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce.

Boyne City to hold city-wide Beautification Day, May 5

Residents, students, retailers, everyone will be making up the Boyne City-wide Beautification Day volunteers on Sunday, May 5.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Gloria Anderson said in announcing the event at Tuesday's city commission meeting that volunteers may call in ahead of time or show up at the Chamber for the directions of the Day.

The Beautification kick-off will start early, she said with the fire department hosing down the streets beginning around 5 a.m.

Business people should roll up a rug and place it in front of their door to keep water from being forced under the door by the power of the hose spray.

Other Beautification projects will start at 1 p.m. and wind up at 4 p.m.

The city landfill will be open. Anyone wishing to be rid of an old washing machine or other appliance or fixture will be able to on May 5. The landfill does not otherwise accept such objects.

A free city leaf and branch pick-up will follow during the week, with pick-ups in South Boyne on May 6-7-8. North Boyne will have pick-ups on May 9 and 10.

Boyne Refuse Company will assist the city at no charge on Sunday.

Anderson said city groups and individuals are signing up already. One of the projects will be to wash windows in empty stores downtown.

City manager Randy Frykberg said, "I'm excited about all this."

Part of the Beautification effort will have to be postponed until after chance of frost. Dee Nagle, who is in charge of flower planting, said they reluctantly bowed to the climate, but something close to Memorial Day volunteer teams will scatter across the city in a flower-planting blitz.

Nagle said the city will be "color-coordinated."

Help in watering and continued care will be the only cost to the city.

Boyne Avenue Greenhouse will be providing labor in mixing planting soil, and Boyne Valley Garden Club will be putting in a garden in front of the public library.

Club member Violet Manglos said the group had also planned to landscape the library this year.

She presented a plan to the commissioners that had been drawn up by a professional landscape architect, and requested $500 from the city towards the $1,500 project. "Seed money," explained Frykberg.

Commissioner Bill Grimm said the city would be getting two for every one dollar. The commission approved the planting which will include an English hawthorn on each side of the building, some flowering crab trees, and boxwood hedging.

Not only was May 5 proclaimed Beautification Day, but also the first day of President Ronald Reagan's Small Business Week. Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick made the double declaration.

Rick Casper, principal of Boyne City High School, hangs the plaque signifying the acceptance of the school into the North Central Accreditation program. Casper has worked for more than a year to earn the honor for the students at the school. The accreditation means that graduating students may have an easier time getting into the college of their choice because the colleges will know that the school is complying with certain educational standards.

SAVING TIME

I could even wax poetic over the way April lies over our land, and I wonder why I always think of those pinto ponies just the color of the patches of snow over the brown fields. Horses always give me the feeling of freedom and joy when they race over the hill. There are still some horses, even pintos, in our area and I will drive out to see them now that the days are longer and we have more time to spend in our beautiful Northern Michigan out-of-doors.

Now, I am all for the saving of time in the preparation of meals, however I do not go along with the idea of rushing through the meal itself. Many people including members of my own family will state that some of their best times were when the family sat around the dinner table. I like to linger over coffee and enjoy the complete and satisfying feeling of family life or revel in the company of my friends.

So let's save the time in preparing meals when time is really the issue. Give your family or friends a western omelet. Our modern society will accept a meal around tacos, omelets, crepes, pancakes or sloppy Joes served with a huge vegetable salad bowl with choices of dressings and a frozen dessert (could be store bought), and they will feel pampered.

Use convenience foods such as special sauces or noodles in sauce which comes in one package. Just add the noodles to hot water and milk in the sauce pan and cook for about 15 minutes. The noodles are cooked and sauce is made in one dish. Very tasty too! Serve this with slices of ham and you can make it a real spring-like meal by putting biscuits in the oven the last minute using either biscuit mix or the oven-ready kind. They will be hot for the perfect spring dessert of biscuits with sauce dishes of maple syrup to dunk them in. That is the way Grandmother did it.

This next main dish can be prepared in little over one half hour.

TORTILLA CHILI PIE

2 - 15 oz. cans chili beans
1 - 8 oz. can cream style corn
1 - 8 oz. can whole kernel corn
1 - 6 oz. can black olives, drained
1 - 8 oz. package tortilla chips
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Preheat oven to 350° F.
Combine chili beans, both corns, and olives in a 9" casserole.
Arrange approximately 20 chips around casserole. Bake uncovered, in a 350° oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle cheese on top and bake 15 minutes more or until bubbling.

Then there are meals with a little preparation done ahead of time. Bake extra potatoes to make delicious hash browns. Vegetable salads can be put together early though do not put the dressing on until just before serving. And do not forget those gelatin salads, made with either fruit or vegetables, which can be made early in the day and are a spring-like addition to any meal.

Spring means fish. Have it cleaned or thawed and ready to fry or broil just a few minutes before the dinner bell rings. This next recipe is a real quickie and so good. To save a little time you could fix the sauce even the day before, if necessary.

COD WITH SPANISH SAUCE

1 tablespoon oil
1 large onion, sliced
1 - 16 oz. can tomatoes
¼ teaspoon oregano
1 pound fillets of cod, fresh or frozen
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
Preheat oven to 350° F.
Saute onions in oil. Stir in tomatoes and oregano and simmer 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, in a greased shallow baking dish, place cod and sprinkle with salt and pepper, lemon juice and dot with butter.

Bake in 350° oven for 20 minutes. Top with tomato sauce and bake 5 minutes more. Another delicious recipe from "Cooking by Touch".

Summer takes 11th in math competition

Seventh grader Christa Sumner of East Jordan took 11th place in a regional math competition for grades 6, 7, and 8, held April 13. A total of 350 students participated at Kirklund Community College where the contest took place.

The top 25 winners go on to state level competition. This means that Krista will be in East Lansing on May 18, testing her skills against those of other students in Michigan seventh grades.

Screening set in county for preschoolers

There will be a Developmental Screening Clinic for all children who will be entering kindergarten in the fall of 1986. These clinics are sponsored by the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. The purpose of these clinics is to provide parents information regarding normal child development, an opportunity to interact with parents of other three year old children, and to have your child informally screened in order to identify any potential learning difficulties which may arise during the school years. These are a free service with appointments made on a first come, first served basis.

A clinic scheduled for the Boyne City/Boyne Falls districts is on May 8, 1985 at the Presbyterian Church on Park Street in Boyne City.

If you are interested in attending, or reside in a district other than the one listed above, please contact Pat Gauthier, 547-9947, at the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District for an appointment or for further information.

Engaged?

The Charlevoix County Press publishes engagement and wedding announcements without charge.

Pictures are welcomed, but we do suggest a few guidelines. Good quality black and white photographs, either of the couple or bride-elect, are preferred. All photographs are kept on file in the Press office and may be picked up at any time following publication; those pictures not picked up after six months will be discarded.

Wedding and engagement announcement forms are available at our office or will be mailed upon request and the receipt of a self-addressed stamped envelope.

While we try to publish each announcement the week that we receive it (and in the case of weddings, the first publication date following the ceremony), space constraints sometimes force us to delay the printing of the announcement for one or two weeks. Therefore, we ask that information be received at least two weeks before the intended publication so that we might better plan for its publication.

We will not accept wedding announcements received more than four weeks after the wedding.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Mushroom festival madness is starting up as more and more people are telling me that they will be up to try to beat out the locals in the contest.

One group of about 25 is making a bus trip from the Chicago area, while another group is coming up from the Ann Arbor area.

I would estimate the number of entries for the contest will be ahead of last year.

And speaking of mushrooms, more sightings are filtering in from the woods already. Seems to me though, that we're about two weeks early as compared to previous years.

The next thing you know, all those who were saying that the festival is too early, will be out picking white morels rather than the blacks that appear first.

I only hope that some of those who find them, find enough to drop off a bag or two here at the office so I won't have to get lost in the woods.

With our summer time hitting us in the head last week, and the lack of rain raising the dust around here, I have suddenly come down with a strong case of spring fever.

It's so bad that I went out with a shovel and immediately picked up a additional malaise of blisters on the hands just so I wouldn't have to rake the lawn or do other things around the house.

Now if I can keep the blister thing going for another couple of weeks, it will be summertime and you just can't do spring cleaning in the summer.

At least I hope so.

Looking over the mail, I found out that there is a place for those who enjoyed as kids, the games of cowboys and Indians, cops and robbers, and other games that involve weapons that shoot.

Seems a group downstate has come up with a survival game that uses a airgun that shoots a dab of paint.

The entrants are put into teams and made to walk through the woods and seek out "enemies". Then they try to shoot each other. Those that survive "win".

The annual contest is set for this coming weekend and I don't think I will attend.

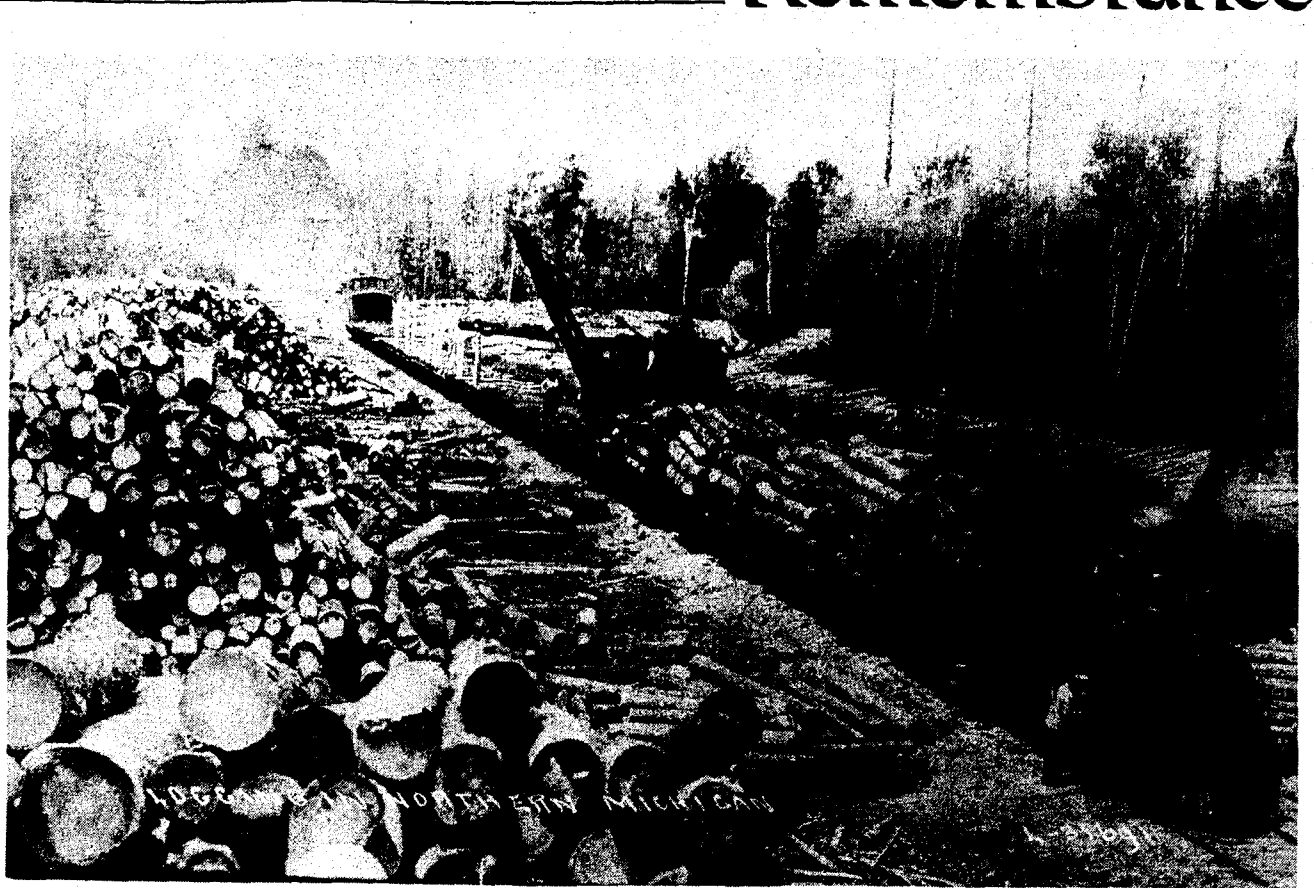

Although there are a few that I can think of that deserve to be shot.

It seems that almost everyone is busy these days, getting ready for summer and the tourist season. Last week I talked with several who said that they are almost ready to start thinking about the summer. And they are the ones who will benefit the most from a good season. I wonder if they have the same procrastination problems that I have as we move from season to season.

Some are busy stocking up, while others are setting up. And those who are open just during the summertime are too busy to talk as they are into fertilizing, mowing, seeding, building, remodeling and getting the dust off the shelves.

We always seem to need a great summer, and all of the indications this year point to one. All we need is to have everyone enjoy whatever we get.

Remembrances

After the logs were cut, they were brought to the railhead and stored until they were loaded by steam cranes onto the flat cars that would haul them to the lumber mills in Boyne City or Boyne Falls. The scene was the same all through the north country when the logging days were at their peak. This picture, taken someplace out east of East Jordan, shows some of the logs that were cut for lumber.

Marshall Sayles

Those of us who have lived more years than we are going to, have great appreciation for Spring's arrival. Without doubt Spring means more to me, the wrinkled, than to most young folks whose vim is chucked full of vigor.

I was so pleased when the heavens opened this morning scattering Spring all over our house and yard. When I saw that sunshine and realized what had happened, I went out into the yard, giving three whoops for the passing of winter. Just a couple of years ago I would have given four whoops.

However, and what a "however" this is. Northern Michigan weather can lie to you. Bare face, bald face, anyway it wants to.

It is my hope that this Spring weather doesn't fade back into a winter-like fit. That has happened many times before and they are the kind of before I can do without. (In these remarks I capitalized Spring but not winter. So you can see where my heart lies.)

It has been some time since I approached the city about changing the name of Front Street to Harbor View Drive; and it sticks in my craw that from day one when I first gave this whirlwind idea the light of day, the city has dragged its feet. I find it passing strange how council members can walk around and drag their feet at the same time. In fact, I've failed to get their attention even though I have taken to rapping on a barrel head with a mop handle.

So to break this do-nothing barrier I went right down there and drew a councilman aside, putting it to him straight.

"Tell me, sir," I said, "whatever happened to my important idea of replacing droopy old worn out Front Street with a brand new, catchy Harbor View Drive?"

Mary Jason to take trip to China, Russia

BY KAREN NEUMEYER

Mary Jason, president of the East Jordan Board of Education, will be spending part of her summer vacation in China and the Soviet Union.

Jason is one of 20 Michigan school administrators and board members who will travel from San Francisco to China this June.

An avid traveler, Jason said she is thrilled to be a member of the delegation sponsored by the People to People International Program and the State Department of Education. Jason was chosen to be a delegate because of her active involvement in education here in Michigan and nationwide.

Although the delegation is composed of educators, the emphasis of the tour is broader than studying educational systems in China and the Soviet Union. The emphasis is on people-to-people contact.

"People are my thing," Jason stated, "and China is changing so quickly." She said she is excited about the opportunity of meeting new people and experiencing new lifestyles, food, and cultures.

"Well, to tell the truth," he said, "we tabled the idea for further consideration."

"Balderdash," I said, "I know a dodge when I see one. In fact, when I was born my folks tabled me for further consideration and nothing was ever done about me."

He looked at me as though I was asking him to grasp the river by the mouth and slow the flow.

"Now, let's get right down to the nuts and bolts," I said. "How come the men who wear the pants at the council have skirted my request?"

"If you must know," he said, "we kind of took a survey around town and ninety percent of the people have no interest in changing the name of Front Street."

That made me mad. "The people don't want a name change?" I said. "What does that have to do with anything?"

Me: Ha, ha. So you didn't win the state lotto this week after all that bragging.

He: No. And I'm thinking the thing is fixed.

Me: What would you do with all that money if you should hit the jackpot? He: Well, I have this lonely dog and I feel very sorry for him. I think the first thing I would do is buy him a boy.

I was having coffee the other morning when a friend came along and sat down. He brought along a stranger who he introduced and we shook hands. "I've never met you," he said, "but I do know you by reputation." Boy, did I get out of there fast.

I hate to tell you this, but this column is coming to an abrupt halt. After all, I do have to leave some squeezings for next week.

Barbara Cruden

The bad boy of the woods is the ovenbird. His reputation began with me a few years ago when I heard him shouting through the springtide woods as insolently as any bluejay. According to ornithologists, the ovenbird's call sounds like a child shouting "TEACHER! TEACHER!" The accent, however, is on the second syllable.

Never mind the accent; as a teacher I do feel a bit challenged during summer vacation when our particular ovenbird seems to be hailing me.

On rare occasions I get to see him, and it never fails to make me laugh. Ovenbirds have longish skinny, flesh-colored legs. And they do not hop or run. Oh no. They walk.

Picture a fat, little olive-colored bird, head set back on its plump chest. It plants one foot after another down the limb of the beech tree, staring at you all the while as though you were the freak, not he.

I was reminded of another of the bird's impudent proclivities while listening to a new recording of bird calls. As the ornithologist would hold the microphone up to catch the Swainson's thrush song or the warble of a golden-crowned kinglet, in the background the ovenbird could be heard whooping "TEACHER, TEACHER!"

This bad-boy behavior is typical. Most birds actually wait politely while a thrush sings, but not the ovenbird. He breaks right in. This, of course, drives the thrush away to more appreciative corners of the woods. The grosbeak and other sensitive musicians also get this rough treatment. "Freedom of speech!" shouts the ovenbird.

According to George Gladden in "Birds of America," there is another side to this rascal. The ovenbird has a lyrical evening flight song. "Having reached its climax of flight," says Gladden, "the bird closes its wings and drops nearly perpendicularly downward..."

He ranks the song with the English skylark's except that it is comparatively brief.

Thoreau, the New England philosopher-naturalist heard it, but never found what bird made the music.

George Wuerth, Sr. gets his potato soup at CAH

Everybody was eating potato soup for lunch Monday at Charlevoix Area Hospital following a tip from one of the hospital's more distinguished patients.

George Wuerth, Sr., 101, of Boyne City, is one of the oldest patients the hospital has ever had. In a recent conversation with hospital staff members, he was asked the secret of his long and fruitful life.

"Potato soup," replied Wuerth without hesitation. A native and lifelong resident of Boyne City, Wuerth said he remembers when, during lean times, potato soup was on his mother and father's supper table quite often. But he never minded because he always loved it and still does.

When word got around the hospital about George Wuerth's key to longevity, potato soup was immediately put on the lunch menu for both patient trays and the staff cafeteria Monday.

Said hospital dietitian Gittel Cross, "It's no secret that good nutrition contributes to a long and healthy life. Mr. Wuerth is a perfect example."

Realtors recognizing private property week in area

Home ownership—a cornerstone of the American way of life—is once again on the upswing, making the investment and personal value of owning a home more attractive than ever," said Mark Kowalski, GRI, President of the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors.

He is urging that April 28 through May 4, which President Reagan has recognized as "Private Property Week," be a time for reflection on the right to own, use and transfer property as being among the most precious rights Americans possess, Kowalski said.

Mark noted that some benefits of owning your own home are: Greater personal savings. A recent University of Michigan study showed that homeowners save 50 percent more than renters at the same income level. A higher standard of living with reduced reliance on government retirement programs. Among Americans 65 and older, homeowners amassed $21,600 in net assets while renters had only $100 in net assets.

Better government through greater participation in community and government decision-making. Homeowners vote in higher numbers than do renters.

Home ownership creates an incentive for people to maintain the nation's housing stock. This incentive helps prevent decay, decline and crime in neighborhoods nationwide.

"Private property rights, which Americans enjoy through the U.S. Constitution, the Bill of Rights and common law, are the foundation of our nation's free enterprise system and the quality of life which is unique to America," Kowalski said.

Private property rights consist of the right to use, enjoy, sell or freely transfer ownership of real property except for certain limitations to protect the rights of others. The Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors, together with the National Association of Realtors, is dedicated to preserving real property rights for housing, agriculture, industry, commercial and other uses against unwarranted governmental actions.

According to the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors, policies at every level of government—federal, state and local—share responsibility for hindering the growth of home ownership. Continued high federal budget deficits threaten interest rates, tax policy changes emphasize consumption rather than savings; and the loss of the tax-exempt mortgage revenue bond program would negatively affect home ownership.

"The protection of private property rights is our top priority," said Kowalski. "Private Property Week is one way of focusing public attention on the need to preserve and protect private property rights and increase awareness of the active role of Realtors in their communities."

He urged citizens to join with the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors in observing Private Property Week.

New arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jenkins are proud to announce the arrival of their first great grandson, born to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Longo of Grand Rapids. Anthony William was born on April 14, weighed 8 pounds and 3 ounces and measured 21 inches long.

Anthony's grandparents are Don and Sharon McMillians of Grand Rapids.

Hospital observing volunteer week

Charlevoix Area Hospital announced this week that special observance is being made of National Volunteer Week April 22-28 with the presentation of small tokens of appreciation to the 70-plus members of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild who donate time to work at the hospital.

"Volunteers are important to many institutions," said Diane Novotny, personnel coordinator at the hospital. "But few places rely upon them as heavily as we do."

Members of the Guild, all of whom volunteer to work in their spare time, perform a wide variety of tasks at the hospital. On any given day, Guild members can be found manning the switchboard and greeting people at the reception desk, operating the showcase gift shop in the lobby, visiting patient rooms with reading material and water trays and coordinating the hospital's chaplaincy program.

Mrs. Jeanne Miles of Charlevoix joined the Guild as a volunteer just over a year ago after leaving her job as a nurse for the District Health Department.

Mrs. Miles now works the morning shift two Fridays a month in the Guild's gift shop where she helps visitors, patients and even hospital staff members select from a wide variety of jewelry, toys, flowers, candy and many other items.

Typical of most hospital volunteers, Mrs. Miles shuns extra attention for her work.

"It was just something I thought I'd like to do," she says modestly.

Also typical of other Guild members, Mrs. Miles takes great pride in her assigned job.

"There are really a lot of nice items in the shop," she said recently. "You'd think some of these things would be more expensive than in other places, but the prices are actually very low." Mrs. Novotny agreed that the hospital volunteers are an especially devoted group saying, "Their thoughtfulness and concern for our patients' comfort make them one of Charlevoix Area Hospital's greatest assets. I'm glad there is such a thing as National Volunteer Week to remind us how much the Hospital Guild's work is appreciated."

Teaching efficiency taught teachers in EJ

"Teach to the objective," said Lorraine Kaminski, curriculum director for Traverse City schools. Kaminski brought her message to East Jordan for teachers in Community Education programs in northern Michigan.

"You don't go through life regurgitating facts," she said, pointing out that education objectives have to be more than simple remembering what the book or teacher said.

The meeting was an evening of four hours' in-service training held April 15 at East Jordan High School.

Kaminski explained the data taken from a program called Time on Task, which contributes directly to effective teaching.

Included were analyses of time lost through intrusive public address announcements and other interruptions in classrooms instruction.

Kaminski demonstrated how to eliminate time wasted in taking roll, how to find out immediately how many students understood instruction, and how to take student learning beyond remembering to application and evaluation of their knowledge.

The Community Ed adult education program is for students who need a high school diploma. In East Jordan the program is aided by funding through the St. Ignace Consortium of public schools in the area receiving state aid.

Graduation for this year's class will take place on June 8.

In service

Pvt. Diana M. Niedzialkowski, daughter of Alex G. and Patricia A. Niedzialkowski of Charlevoix, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Diana is a 1984 graduate of Montello High School, Wisconsin.

East Jordan Council Minutes

PROCEEDINGS OF THE EAST JORDAN CITY COUNCIL

The East Jordan City Council met in regular session on April 16, 1985, at 7:30 p.m., Mayor Sweet presiding, all members present except for treasurer Murphy. Minutes were accepted and authorization was given to pay $37,253.42 in bills. Council heard comments from representatives of the Northwest Michigan Salmon and Steelhead Fisherman's Association.

Authorization was given to Superintendent Dionne to advertise for bids on a 1 year contract to operate the landfill site.

Council voted 6 to 1 to purchase the Executive telephone system for City Hall and the Police Department.

A resolution to show intent to vacate a portion of James Street was adopted. A public hearing to receive comments on the vacation is set for May 21, 1985 at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall.

A bid of $501.00 was awarded to Don Burroughs for a 1983 Chevrolet Truck.

A copy of the official minutes of the above meeting is posted in City Hall for perusal during normal business hours.

EJ Lionesses say service is key for community

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER

"We serve, too." This motto of the International Lioness Club is certainly taken to heart by the 36 members of the East Jordan Lioness Club. Having the most active membership percentage in the area, they make use of much leisure time and many talents to serve and benefit the community.

Funds for the projects undertaken by the Lionesses are provided to a large extent by their annual "Vegas Night" held in February and by their annual fall bingo. They work very hard on these two events and then don't have to worry about having many small fundraisers, according to Queen Lioness Kathy

Locally the Lionesses make financial and gift certificate donations to victims of fires as well as providing glasses and contacts to needy persons.

The annual Christmas time visit of Santa Claus to the Civic Center is sponsored by them. They provide the beverage and food for the bloodmobile when it calls on East Jordan. They collect Glen's green slips to allow many more East Jordan students to enroll at Camp Daggett each summer.

Donations are made to the East Jordan Fire Department, the East Jordan Library, and the East Jordan Ambulance Fund when they are requested. Scholarships are provided for deserving young people to help with college expenses.

One of the nicest and most time consuming activities was a monthly visit by some members to Grandvue Medical Facility. The Lionesses played accordion and piano and gave the patients the opportunity to sing and dance, as well as someone different to visit with.

Funds have been supplied at different times to the East Jordan Public Schools for a variety of special needs. The Athletic Boosters have received money. Funds have been given to begin building a new and better playground at the elementary school. The Lionesses have financially assisted the trips for students to attend the Shrine Circus in past years.

The Alexander Graham Bell Annual Spring Outing has just recently received financial assistance from the Lionesses.

State and national projects include the Leader Dog program for the blind, the Michigan Eyebank, the Better Sight and Hearing Association, the Welcome Home for the Blind program.

The fundraisers and many projects are interspersed with a great deal of good times and good old-fashioned camaraderie. The hard work is lightened by the positive attitude of these ladies.

Margaret Michanowicz, a local member wrote the following "Recipe for a Good Lioness."

She takes a little sunshine she received from God above; and she mixes it with laughter and a little bit of love.

She spreads it all around her, to the needy and the ill; when the batter wears a little thin, she adds a pinch of will.

Then she stirs in some sacrifice; her leisure time is given, to fill the lonely hours of the aged senior citizens.

She adds a sense of humor, those around her will agree; to any task she's given, which aids her community.

She loves her God and Country and tries to do her best; to make this world a better place, to work and play and rest.

Now if the world is looking for peace and harmony; why not let them take a look at our Lioness Recipe.

As a working and active organization they are always looking for "willing workers" says Queen Kathy O'Rear. Certainly the present group is doing a fine job and are appreciated in the community.

Lipizzan stallion to be exhibited at Gaylord farm

A very special exhibition of an extraordinary Lipizzan Stallion will be offered on May 4th at 1:30 p.m. at the farm of Pat Wolf located in Sparr, east of Gaylord.

Carole Gauger-Jessup, a nationally recognized trainer with 25 years experience, is the trainer and owner of Pluto Bona II, a Lipizzan Stallion of Spanish Riding School breeding, and will present the hour long exhibition, set to music, displaying the various dressage movements from basic to Level II. She will be available after the exhibition to answer questions. Jessup has studied dressage extensively and will be traveling to the Spanish Riding School of Vienna this spring for further studies and training. Jessup and her husband, James, operate the Starmount Stable in Montrose, where they keep their herd of Lipizzans and also train and show Morgan, Arabian, Saddlebred, Half Arabian and Appaloosa horses, including their own 1980 National Champion Dressage horse, Astros Sadiratt.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Northern Michigan Arabian Association, will be preceded by a clinic conducted by Jessup on the fine points of preparation and presentation of the halter horse for the show ring. Aimed at exhibitors of horses of all breeds, Jessup will work with a 6 year old race horse brought in from winter pasture, and will offer tips learned during her 25 years of training and show experience on bathing, trimming, training and presenting the horse to a judge. The morning session will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Admission to the full day program is $5.00 Adults, 4-H and Youth 17 and Under, $3.00. Admission for the afternoon Lipizzan Stallion Exhibition only is $3.00 adults, $1.50 children 12 and under. Food will be available on the premises; the public is encouraged to bring their own seating since the events will take place in an indoor riding arena. Grand Traverse Resort awarded 'four star' rating by Mobil Travel Guide Book

Grand Traverse Resort Village, located in Acme, six miles northeast of Traverse City, has been awarded the coveted Mobil Travel Guide Four-Star Award for 1985. Four-Star means the Mobil Travel Guide recognizes Grand Traverse Resort as "outstanding...worth a special trip." The annual award is considered one of the most prestigious in the dining and lodging industry.

This is the first time that the resort has been named a Mobil Four-Star winner. The resort and the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island were the only resorts in Michigan to earn Four-Star recognition.

This year the Travel Guide staff inspected and rated more than 20,000 establishments in 4,000 towns and cities across the United States and Canada. Grand Traverse Resort is one of only 463 hotels, motels, resorts, inns and restaurants nationally to win Four-Stars. The resort is also AAA4-Diamond rated.

Receiving the Four-Star Award from the Mobil Travel Guide places Grand Traverse Resort Village among the outstanding in the food and lodging industry," said Dick Erb, chief operating officer of the resort. "The Mobil Travel Guide is one of the most-respected, and its standards are the strictest in the travel business."

The resort is situated on 850 acres overlooking East Grand Traverse Bay. With over 575 luxury rooms, suites and villas, two championship golf courses, including Jack Nicklaus' The Bear, a Beach Club, Indoor Sports and Health Club and a new $23 million, 188-suite Tower complex under construction, Grand Traverse Resort Village is the largest facility of its kind in the Midwest. Resort amenities include four restaurants, four lounges, nearly 45,000 square feet of premier meeting space and seven condominium complexes.

"It is an honor to recognize Grand Traverse Resort Village's dedication to excellence," said Arnold J. Fury, manager of travel programs for Mobil Oil Corporation. "The Four-Star award means this resort has demonstrated a high level of service that makes it exceptional in the food and lodging industry."

The Mobil Travel Guide has more than a quarter century's experience in quality-rating food and lodging establishments. All awards and ratings are based on the recognized One-to-Five Star system developed by the guide.

A Mobil Travel Guide research team reviews annual inspection reports submitted by more than 100 field representatives. These representatives visit each establishment using a detailed check list covering six basic categories: physical structure, furnishings, maintenance, housekeeping, food service, and overall service. Careful consideration of these inspection reports along with the thousands of reader responses received by the Guide each year are the basis for the rating. Gracious overall decor and luxury guest rooms are "musts" for hotels and resorts in the Four-Star category. Furnishings and appointments should be carefully maintained. An excellent restaurant must be on the premises and all properties must offer a full range of services. Resorts must have extensive recreational facilities.

Annual Chamber dinner to be held at One Water Street Saturday

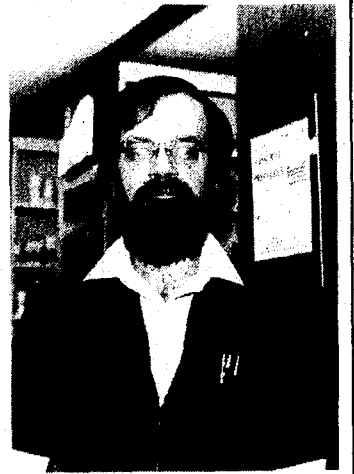

Members of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce will be enjoying one of the first meals served in the new Stafford's One Water Street this Saturday when the Chamber holds their annual dinner party.

The dinner also honors the new president of the Chamber, Bob

Huff, of Huff Pharmacy, who was recently elected to the post. Other inductees include Larry Trumble, of Trumco Building, vice president; Linda Felton, of Century 21 - Kowalski, secretary; and Sam Chipman, of Chipman Plumbing and Heating, treasurer. Huff has replaced outgoing president Ralph Gillett. Others, elected to the Chamber board include Andy Place, Harborside Sports, and John Streu, Jr. of Barrett's of Boyne.

The Chamber dinner will be featuring roast pheasant. Tickets may still be available from the Chamber office.

Tickets available for historical buffet at Depot

Tickets, at $5 each, are still available for the Hot and Cold Hors d'Oeuvres Buffet sponsored by the Boyne City Historical Society this Friday evening at The Caboose, located adjacent to the Depot Restaurant.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, from Billie Beckenhauer, phone 582-9536, or Lois Pollard, phone 582-2747.

The party will begin at 5 p.m. and will provide an opportunity for local people to learn more about the Historical Society and to see the beginnings of the Caboose Historical Museum. Several relics and documents of Boyne City's yesterday will be on display. The Historical Society, which was formed last year, meets regularly on the third Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of city hall. It has a full program of events and everyone is welcome to attend.

The front smelt dipper is staying dry so far. Others are going upstream in the waters of Porter Creek at Advance. Smelt fishing has been better, the experts say. Still, it is one of the northern Michigan traditions, and next time it may be great.

NROTC vessel to visit Boyne on 4th

Boyne City is lucky, said city manager Randy Frykberg. He announced at the city commission meeting Tuesday that the Naval R.O.T.C. training vessel "Alliance" would be docking at the city on July 3 and 4. The 60-foot sloop has a main mast that rises 76 feet above the water line, Frykberg said. The vessel will also stop at other ports as it is spending the summer on the Great Lakes.

New doctor coming to EJ

The East Jordan Family Health Center has been provided with a new doctor from the National Health Service Corps. According to Congressman Bob Davis, this federally funded program supports medical students with tuition and stipends while they're in school. Upon graduation the new doctors are placed in areas that are short of physicians. Under this program, according to Davis, the doctors are required to remain in the town they are placed for a time period equal to the amount they were helped in college. For instance, two years help—two years in the manpower shortage area. The new doctor is Thomas F. Curtain, M.D.

Toxins stay

According to a Boston University scientist, there's mounting evidence that toxic waste dumps cause illness among people living nearby, reports the National Wildlife Federation. Dr. David Ozonoff found an increased incidence of nausea, fatigue, respiratory problems and headaches among residents living near a once highly toxic dump site two years after its chemical wastes had been removed.

Morel contest

The Wednesday Morning Ladies' Golf League will hold a meeting on Wednesday, May 1 at Ye Nyne Olde Holles at 10 a.m. Call Bea for details at 582-6049.

Every spring brings out the fire warnings about grass and woods fires. Tuesday afternoon Boyne City firemen were busy putting out this grass fire that got away. The firemen have been busy every day this week with other fires, too. Sunday, they fought a fire on Tompkins Road in Wilson Township. Monday, they were called out to Courter-Bendix when a small fire erupted.

DNR tells counties not to use salt brine for control

The use of brine for ice or dust control on unpaved roads will be curtailed as a result of Special Order 1-85 from the Department of Natural Resources.

The order, signed by assistant supervisor of wells R. Thomas Segall, says that by September of this year use of "pit brines" for dust control must end.

Effective immediately, no brines will be permitted for ice control.

Brine is a by-product of well-drilling. Pit brines are "liquids accumulating in drill mud pits," the order explains. Produced brines are "produced in association with oil and/or gas production."

The problem with brines is the possibility of groundwater contamination as the accumulating brine seeps down through the sandy soil. Brines contain varying amounts of chemical and organic compounds.

While pit brine may no longer be used, produced brine is accepted for dust control if the contents meet approval. The DNR now requires periodic checks for contaminant levels.

The order resulted from evidence that a potential of groundwater penetration would be a health hazard.

The argument against discontinued use is that brine is one-third as expensive as commercially-produced alternatives.

On the other hand, Segall says, the brine has less calcium chloride in it, requiring more applications than would commercial products. In addition, commercial products do not have the organic compounds considered dangerous to human health.

It is because of the organic compounds the produced brines must be tested before use.

County road commission engineer-manager Fred Welch said the search for a brine substitute continues. The calcium chloride in both brine and commercial products is destructive to vehicles and the environment, and also to drinkable groundwater.

Welch said, "At the present time, the road commission is testing brine for use this year. After the results are determined, the road commission will make a decision on dust control measures."

Pre-school enrollment dates set by Head Start

Head Start for children from ages three to five years old will enroll preschoolers early in May for next fall. The program, which originates from the Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency, Inc., serves Boyne City and Charlevoix.

Jeanne Hice, contact person for the program, says that it chiefly serves children from families with incomes under $5,250 for a family of one to $14,250 for a family of six. Children with special needs, however, are also eligible. Hice says 10 percent of the preschoolers are in this category.

The purpose is to help children become better able to profit from school. The program includes parent cooperation, as parents are the prime educators of their children, Hice says.

Of America's 421 million acres of productive farmland, nearly 40 percent of the cropland is losing soil.

Charlevoix families will have the chance to enroll at the public school on Thursday, May 2 from 1 to 4 p.m. In Boyne City, enrollment will be Saturday, May 18 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Free Methodist Church, on State Street.

Parents will need to bring proof of income (for example: W2 or 1040 forms, paycheck stubs, Department of Social Services Statement), child immunization records, family's Social Security numbers, and blue Medicaid card if they receive Medicaid.

Arline Rullman, head of PREP (Parent Readiness Education Program) in East Jordan, said the school provides all the services of Head Start, with some differences in method and scheduling.

PREP originated in East Jordan some 14 years ago when federal Chapter 1 funding became available. Principal Don Peters instituted the program.

Rullman said their enrollment will be in the fall.

"Anyone with a child who will be four years old by December 1, 1985 needs to call (the elementary school office) to make sure they are on the list to receive appointment letters."

The school will send out appointment letters the first week of school. The preschool program starts in the third week.

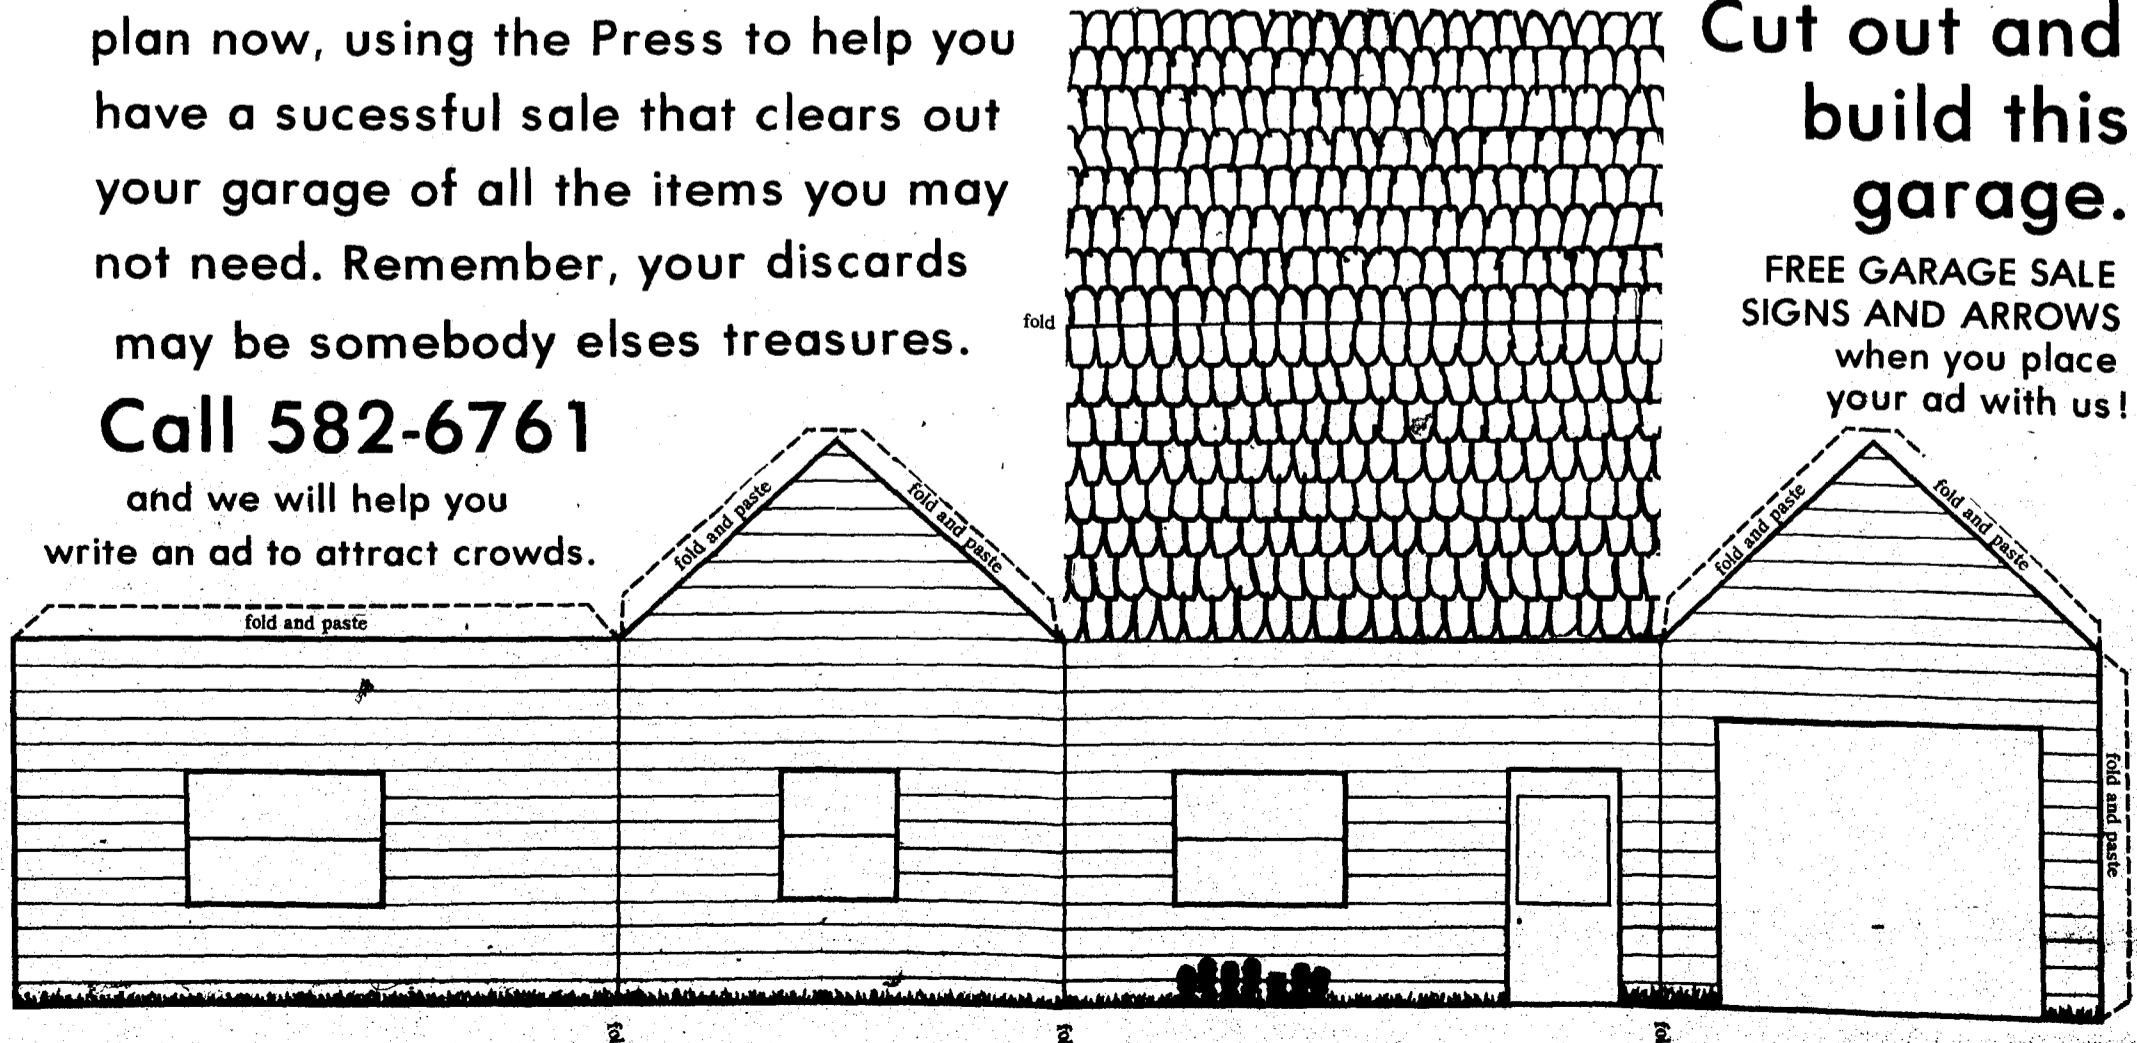

School officials have praised the program, noting that it has improved the chances of children to succeed in their elementary school studies.

Lightning dangerous to those failing to take precautions if you fail

While it may seem that the chances of being struck by lightning are remote, betting those odds in an electric storm can be fatal, warns AAA Michigan.

The average lightning bolt, a high voltage electrical discharge in the air, may contain a few million to 100 million volts. Translated into kilowatts, a one-hour storm could produce enough electricity to light a home for one year. Michigan annually averages 30 thunderstorms of approximately one hour duration each.

In Michigan, there have been approximately 70 deaths and 450 injuries in the last 30 years resulting from lightning storms. Only eight states had higher death totals.

"We all need to be more careful when it comes to taking precautions during heavy thunderstorms, especially persons engaged in outdoor activities," cautioned Bob Cullen, AAA Michigan's home safety and security program manager.

To avoid the chances of getting hit by lightning, AAA Michigan suggests checking the latest weather report before participating in outdoor activities and seeking shelter inside a home or building if severe thunderstorm conditions arise.

"Persons in an open area who are unable to seek shelter when a severe storm develops should keep low to the ground in a ditch or ravine and avoid trees since they could become a natural lightning rod," said Cullen.

Ball fields and golf courses generally account for half of all lightning fatalities and injuries in the United States. Golfers should not handle their clubs during a storm since the metal attracts lightning.

Individuals in a boat who are unable to get to shore should stay as low as possible, hug their knees and protect their heads.

As part of a family safety plan, children should be instructed on where to seek shelter when they are playing outside and a storm hits.

Persons should avoid using the telephone and all electrical appliances during a lightning storm. If lightning strikes telephone or power lines outside, it can go through the wiring inside the house and electrocute someone using a telephone or electrical appliance.

"Not only can lightning be deadly, but often it can cause extensive property damage and start fires," said Cullen. "It is wise to consider lightning protection for the home."

A home can be protected from lightning by installing a lightning rod on the roof. While the rod is designed to intercept all or some of the electrical charge and carry it safely to the ground, one rod provides only a 12-foot circle of protection.

Lightning can invade a house through many different avenues like water pipes, television antennae and power lines, and homeowners should check outside electrical outlets to make sure they are capped. They also should trim trees regularly, ground all antennae and satellite wires and inform the utility companies of any sagging power or telephone lines.

"If a tree is hit by lightning near a house or anywhere near power lines, it is im-

Fish plantings listed for County

The Department of Natural Resources has announced upcoming fish plants in the Charlevoix County area. Some 428,000 fish of various species will be released in the following areas:

The Bear River will receive 24,000 hybrid brook trout.

The Boyne River will have 10,000 yearling steelhead planted in it. Lake Charlevoix will be stocked with 15,000 yearling brown trout, 45,000 yearling rainbow trout, and four to five thousand walleye will be planted from area ponds. Lake Charlevoix will also be planted with an undetermined number of yearling lake trout.

The Jordan River will receive 10,000 steelhead yearlings and 50,000 fingerling brown trout will be planted in the Pine River Channel in Charlevoix.

Elsewhere in the area, 15,120 yearling splake will be released into Lake Louise, while 30,000 rainbow trout will be released into Walloon Lake. Walloon will also receive an undisclosed number of lake trout later in the year.

The Jordan River will receive 10,000 steelhead yearlings and 50,000 fingerling brown trout will be planted in the Pine River Channel in Charlevoix.

Elsewhere in the area, 15,120 yearling splake will be released into Lake Louise, while 30,000 rainbow

The largest number of fish to be planted are 244,000 chinook salmon fingerlings that will go to Medusa Creek in Charlevoix.

The remainder of the 27 member tennis team are sophomores Bill Casper, Kyle Fitzpatrick, Paul McGeorge, Raquel Redmer, Derik Smith, Koni Wolff, and Colleen Toton.

This year's first time players are Greg Talberg, Peter Smith, Eli Sharp, and Jon Greetus. Todd Buckmaster is on the team as a junior.

First year seniors are Merle Carson, Norman Howard, Tessa Culver, Michelle Guznickak, Ray Stolt, and Craig Napont.

BY STEVE GEE

After winning the Ski Valley Conference title in basketball, first year coach Steve Hines will attempt to do the same this spring with the baseball team.

The East Jordan Red Devils started out the season on the right foot by defeating the Vanderbilt Yellow Jackets 6-1 and 14-3. Hines was pleased with the team's defense and hitting, saying that the win will be good for the team by "starting out on a positive note."

East Jordan managed to collect only four hits in the opening game, but took advantage of Vanderbilt's errors. After the Red Devils first four batters, they had climbed to a 3-0 lead thanks to run scoring singles off the bats of Pete Zoulek and Bill Lytle. Zoulek put in a great pitching performance by throwing a no-hitter on his first start of the season. Zoulek walked three, struck out eight and gave up an unearned run in the final inning.

In the second game, Lytle got things going by clubbing a three-run homer in the opening inning. Steve Dionne duplicated the task in the second inning with a three-run clout of his own. The Devils scored seven runs on six hits in the third inning. The game was called in the bottom of the fourth due to darkness. Dionne earned the victory by going three innings, giving up five hits and three runs. Greg Kitson finished off the game by striking out three and walking two.

Collecting the hits over the two games for East Jordan were Lytle and Dionne with three and John Hribljan, Pete Zoulek, Steve Gee, James Price, Keith Matheny, Bill Kraemer, Mike Lercel and Kim McKinnon each collecting one.

Hines is very optimistic about the season and feels the team has deep enough pitching and above average hitting to have a very productive season. According to Hines, the team's hitting is its strong point and its pitching is a little above average. Defense is one thing that the team still has to work on. Even with good hitting and pitching, defense is still going to be stressed during practice.

Hines expects Zoulek and Lytle to pull the team, although there are many valuable players. He feels that Zoulek's experience has given him the capability of being one of the league's top pitchers. He is very pleased with Lytle's "excellent baseball attitude" and feels that he is the best hitter on the team. Coach Hines has 12-15 people capable of starting, so, if injuries occur, he feels it will not be a really big loss. Central Lake is expected to be their toughest opponent, and Hines feels that pitching will be the determining factor.

In game winning style, the East Jordan Red Devils head for the dugout as they put the first inning on ice. Pete Zoulek, the pitcher threw a no-hitter and nearly a shut-out.

Boyne expects good track results this season

The Boyne City boys' track team has been getting ready for the upcoming season for quite a while now and they should get some very strong performances this year from some of last year's returners.

The Ramblers should be exceptionally strong in the distance events this year. Senior runner Steve Parsons is Boyne's most experienced distance runner. He placed sixth last year in the regionals half mile and fifth in the two mile. Parsons also took third in the conference in two miles of running.

Another good distance runner for the Ramblers is Hal Leach. Leach ran well last year and came on strong near the end of the season.

Mike DeSchryver is another good distance runner and had a fine season this year as freshman on the cross-country team.

The Ramblers have some experienced relayers back this year in Mike Gabos and Nick Redman. Gabos also competes in the long jump and the 100 yard dash. Redman was a consistent winner for Boyne in the high jump last year and tied for fourth at the regionals while placing fifth in the conference.

Other team members waiting to "show their stuff" are seniors Tony Napont and Dale Sutton. Juniors on the team are Terry Dell, Dino Franchino, Steve Ketchman, and Roy Kitson.

This year's sophomores are Scott Beebe, Todd Fanning, Travis Hartman, Keoki Kuheana, Gregg Webb, Bill Weber, and Pat Weeks.

NOTICE CITY OF EAST JORDAN ORDINANCE 138 lot division

LOT DIVISION

An ordinance for the division of recorded lots. WHEREAS, the City of East Jordan has no ordinance to regulate the division of recorded lots, and WHEREAS, the County Register of Deeds and the County Surveyor recommend that an ordinance be adopted to provide for the division of recorded lots and have provided a sample ordinance in which to follow. THEREFORE THE CITY OF EAST JORDAN ORDAINS the division of a lot in a recorded plat is prohibited, unless approved following application to the City Council.

The application shall be filed with the City Clerk, a copy to the Zoning Administrator, and shall state the reasons for the proposed division. The City Council may request review and comment by the City Planning Commission. The division, to be approved by the City Council, shall have the suitability of the land for building purposes approved by the county or district health department.

No building permit shall be issued, or any building construction commenced, prior to the City Council's approval.

No lot in a recorded plat shall be divided into more than four (4) parts and the resulting lots shall be not less in area than permitted by the City zoning ordinance.

The division of a lot resulting in a smaller area than prescribed herein may be permitted but only for the purpose of adding to the existing building site or sites. The application shall so state and shall be in affidavit form.

Where such lots are not served by City water and sewer, the minimum lot size permitted shall be as set forth in Section 186, P.A. 288 of 1987 or as set forth in City zoning ordinances, which ever is greater.

This ordinance shall take effect 20 days after its adoption.

Adopted by the Council of the City of East Jordan on April 22, 1985, by an aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes: Cihak, Hoffman, Yettaw, Gibbard, Joseph, Mayor Sweet
Nays: None
Absent: Beck
