Center receives $26,000 for expansion

East Jordan's Family Health Center received a real shot in the arm last Wednesday as three area businesses contributed more than $26,000 to the center's fund raising campaign to cover the costs of their new expansion project.

The largest donation was made by the East Jordan Iron Works whose donation of $16,400 will cover the cost of the new waiting room that is being built on the present building.

Northwestern State Bank donated $7,000, which will pay for the new business office which will be made within the present structure.

And the Sherman Canning Company gave $3,000 to cover the cost of a new physician's office.

With the donations, the center is well into their fundraising campaign to reach the needed local share of $78,300. The total cost of the expansion is estimated to be around $149,000.

The center already has a federal grant of $71,000 for the 3,200 foot expansion project.

Administrator Chris Shea said that the fund raising effort should be completed within three months. He hopes that other area businesses, service clubs and groups will donate to the center for the project.

In order to give appreciation to those making grants or donations, room plaques will be installed for the funding of the community room, lower lobby and stairway, large office downstairs, large office upstairs, the cashier/reception area, physician's office and exam room. The rooms will cost as low as $2,700 up to $14,000.

Those individuals and corporations who donate gifts of $5,000 or more, will be called life members. Those contributing $1,000 or more benefactors, those giving $500 or more, providers; $200 and over, supporters; $100 or more, friends. They will also have their names mentioned on a vestibule plaque.

Those individuals who wish to contribute may also want to buy a square foot of space for $50 or more. A brick would cost $20 or more and a family membership $10. Individual memberships are also available at $6.00.

Those buying square feet or bricks will be given chocolate bricks or a box of them especially designed by Pam Pinney.

The history of the medical center started with a flu epidemic and 21 patients in a downtown location back in 1978 according to board member Fern Morris. The center now has between 20,000 and 24,000 patient visits each year.

Because of the growth, the expansion is needed said Shea. He also said that if the center continues to grow, it would be able to maintain itself without any help from the federal government.

The center, which serves the East Jordan area predominately, has a sliding fee program for the area.

East Jordan has a substantial number of low income residents. They also allow the patients to work off their bills through a bartering system. Some of the carpentry is expected to be completed by those working off a bill.

Members of the East Jordan Family Health Center Board look on approving as Bruce Malpass, president of the East Jordan Iron Works, hands a check for $16,400 to Walter Goebel, president of the health center. Looking on were Fern Morris, board treasurer, Lois Schmidt, board member; Goebel; Maurice Hartung, and Bruce Malpass. Also donating and waiting their turn to give a check were Bob Prebble and Ed Drenth of the Northwestern State Bank in East Jordan.

BC millage passes by two to one margin

"I'm happy it passed and I'm glad it's for two years," said Boyne City Superintendent Rich Kelly after hearing that the special school election that was held Monday passed by a two to one margin.

Passed was a millage renewal of 21.3 mills for two years for the operation of the school system.

"It shows that the people within the school system are continuing to support our school system," he continued. The system has had margins of two to one, and three to one in recent elections.

The total votes cast for the election were 430. The winning vote approving the operational millage for the next two years was 297. Those voting to not renew the millage were 132. There was one spoiled ballot.

The renewal means that the board will now approve a truth in taxation hearing at the next school board meeting next Monday.

That hearing, which will take place

May 13, will finalize the taxes the school system will collect from those units of government that collect summer taxes.

The whole special election was held for that reason. By having it in the later part of April, those governments who collect summer taxes would be able to have them printed on their tax bills they will be sending out shortly.

While this only concerns those living in Boyne City, Kelly expects to have one or two of the townships within the school system also collecting the summer taxes.

Voting was light in the early part of the day, but became heavier as the day went on. The total number of ballots cast was more than the past year when the vote was for the same amount of millage, Kelly said.

One mill is equal to about $110,000 for the system. A mill represents $1.00 per thousand dollars of valuation of the property.

County land values increased by 4.59 percent over all

Land values in Charlevoix County increased 4.59 percent according to figures that were okayed by the County Board of Commissioners at their meeting last week.

The resolution approving the figure was unanimously approved and will be forwarded to the State Tax Commission for their approval.

Part of increase, according to Joan Blanchard, the county equalization director, was caused by new construction. That figure was 2.49 percent of the total increase.

Blanchard also said that property values were starting level off, and in recent years the increase due to inflation has grown smaller.

In the process of determining the valuation of the county, each governing body has an assessor determine the worth of properties and they put a value on the land. These are reviewed by the county along with property sales and the county's own appraisals.

The two figures are supposed to match if the assessors and the county are following the state guidelines for determining the property values.

If a local assessor's figures fall below what the county comes up with, a factor is added to the assessment to bring it up to the county level.

Overall, the county is broken down into five different assessment groups.

Agriculture represents 6.17 percent of the total real property value in the county. Commercial properties represent 9.29 percent, while industrial values are 10.02 percent.

Residential values are the largest category and represent 72.19 percent of the property in the county. The last group, timber cutover figures out to 2.33 percent.

The total worth of the county in dollars represents $418,803,610 for 1985. In 1984, the county was valued at $400,414,172.

Governing units in the county showed varying valuations. Chandler Township was the only governing body showing a decrease in valuation of 2.63 percent from last year, while Bay Township showed a 13.91 percent increase.

School districts within the county will be benefiting the most from the increases as every school district shows an increase because of the increased valuation.

Boyne City Schools show a 6.92 percent increase; Boyne Falls will be up 5.01 percent, and East Jordan will have a 2.70 increase to work with next year.

Other school districts within the county are Charlevoix, up 4.53 percent; Beaver Island, up 4.99 percent; Petoskey, up .87 percent; Ellsworth, up 1.10 percent; and Vanderbilt, up 1.12 percent.

The townships and cities increase/decrease is shown below and compared to 1984.

Gill net confiscated off from Hemingway Pointe

An illegal gill net was taken from Lake Charlevoix this week by local Department of Natural Resources enforcement officer, Tom Sweet. Sweet was called in to the case by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department after receiving a complaint from a Charlevoix angler who caught the net while fishing near Hemingway Pointe.

Gene Bergmann, the angler who called in the illegal gill net was fishing in 40-70 feet of water when he snagged the net and dragged along the length of it for quite a while. Failing to raise the net, Bergmann marked the location and cut loose before he notified the sheriff.

Sweet said "Bergmann did exactly what you should do, mark the spot then call law enforcement to the scene." Sweet says he receives many complaints from fishermen who snag up with the big nets, but many just cut the net loose and let it go. This makes it very difficult to find the net again, even when officials drag the bottom with a grappling hook the net is not located again.

After two nights of observing the illegally placed net Sweet pulled it in, realizing that the culprits were aware of his presence and failed to show. The net contained about 300 pounds of fish, most of them being lake trout. There were also some lawyer and brown trout.

Not all of the fish were dead as Sweet released about 200 pounds of the fish alive and went back into the lake. The fish that were dead were sold to a commercial business and the money received from them will go into the fisheries department for future re-plantings.

Gill netting is illegal on inland lakes and is considered a misdemeanor. Even though the crime is a misdemeanor, the penalties could be quite large. Violators can be imprisoned for up to two years and could receive fines amounting to five dollars per pound of fish taken.

DNR officers can also impound any vehicles utilized to get the fish such as boats, trucks, and other equipment like nets, pulleys, and other gear. These items are usually not recoverable as they are sold at auctions sponsored by the state.

Sweet stresses the importance of marking the nets when they are discovered first thing. Then register your complaint for immediate results. The area will then be under surveillance as DNR officials try to spot the violators and apprehend them. Sweet also pointed out that it is very difficult to maintain tight security on the area, blaming the large number of police scanners.

Serving some of the cake from the first ice cream and cake social, Mrs. Lucille Cowles, head of Big Brothers, Big Sisters organization, dishes up a big serving for Mrs. Thomas Sweet. The affair was held last Friday at the East Jordan Civic Center.

Opinions

Exciting things bring town together

Something exciting is happening to Boyne City.

At least it was apparent at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner last Saturday. It seems many of the various elements of the town are starting to work together on the many projects that can make the community a better place to live in.

First was the surprise, at least to us, of the turn-out on Friday night for a party to kick off the beginnings of a campaign to get Boyne City a historical museum.

Oh sure, the voters voted some extra millage to allow the historical committee to purchase some property, but this party by the recently formed historical society will allow the museum to open and will help pay for the continuing costs of operation, once it gets in place.

Over 100 concerned citizens of the community showed up for the event.

Then on Saturday night, the Chamber of Commerce dinner was a sell-out.

It may be the first time in the history of the Chamber that the event was sold out before the occasion. We heard reports of scalping, just to get tickets for the dinner.

Over 200 people enjoyed their meal and the fellowship at that function and heard Randy Frykberg tell about what is happening and going to happen to the city in the coming years.

We have heard those reports for several years, but now, they seem to be coming true.

With the advent of the new city blossoming along with the spring, and the encouragement of the citizens to keep the growth organized and going in the direction that the community wants, we are encouraged to face the tomorrows of the city.

We hope that many of the citizens of the community agree with the coming developments that is making this city a great place to bring up children, to have a business, and to live year-around.

Boyne City now has its act together and is making waves throughout the north, especially along the eastern shores of Lake Charlevoix. By working together, we can keep the momentum going.

Rumors are even starting that we will even become the center of the supposed "Gold Coast" of the state. While that may be stretching hopes a little bit, we could become known as the "City in the Center of the Fun."

Marshall Sayles

Smelt runs, mushrooms, Mother's Day, flowers poking from the ground, birds singing their heads off in early morning—all these are vital signs of Spring in northern Michigan. There is, however, a more dependable indication of Spring. It's found in the thrill you get from trying to avoid the pot holes.

Another proof of Spring is found in this business of piping. Each Spring we see someone putting in new pipes, or taking out old pipes, or repairing other pipes, or laying plans for yet other pipes, or looking in the ground to make sure the original pipes have not been stolen by pipe stealers. Yes, every Spring it seems that the city, or a business, or a home owner has a high old time messing with pipes.

Few people realize that Boyne City consists of a fantastic network of rusting pipes from one city limit to the other. I find myself quite alone in bringing this to the fore.

Now, let me step out of character and be serious for a moment: Those who have had no reason to take advantage of the Boyne City ambulance service cannot possibly realize how important this is to the community. The crew is made up of highly trained individuals who never fail to come when called. From experience, I can say they are very adept at the business of saving lives. In addition to the fire department, the ambulance service is the most important function the city has to offer its residents.

I was reminiscing the other day telling how, when I left school, I went to work on a newspaper and how for the next thirty-five years I never missed a beat. I guess I was laying it on kind of thick because my wife finally broke in, putting a damper on my talk by messing it up with the truth. I like women of the old days when they were full of gentle trust and childlike confidence and seldom questioned a man's mistaken idea of himself.

With winter finally off in the distance, there's been some wind floating around our house favoring the possibility of leaving the confines of the City of Boyne to drink in the slightly warmer atmosphere of Florida come the next freezing season. We are getting on in life and limb and each winter it's becoming more and more difficult to carry our heads around in our pockets.

Me: I thought you were going to buy a new car.
H: Well, I looked 'em all over and I just can't afford those prices.
Me: Where did you get this car?
He: Oh, I finally went up and bought it off an abused car lot.

And a happy mushrooming to you, too.

Remembrances

It was the best way to bring the logs out of the woods back then, and it is still used today by a few of the crews doing the logging today. This picture, from back in the logging days, shows what the loggers wore in the summertime as they piled up the logs waiting to go to the railroad for shipment to the mills.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

I am getting mad. Mad at the rest of the nation. Almost all of the things that were of value when I was a kid, are now on the block to be disposed.

Thrown away like a used paper napkin.

What I am talking about are the things that companies are known for...their trademarks.

Word was announced last week that the Proctor and Gamble Company was dropping the trademark that they have used for over a century. At least dropping it from the boxes of products that they make.

Seems that some folks think the man-in-the-moon-and-stars logo has something to do with the devil.

The devil it does, I say.

It just shows you that you can take anything and make something entirely different out of it. Whether it is a trademark, or not.

And then, the Big Boy chain is running a campaign to see if they should get rid of their trademark, the little chubby guy with the checkerboard pants.

What is the world coming to?

I have many fond memories of me driving my car through the drive-ins of the past, and the Big Boys were just one of them.

I feel that I grew up a little back in those days, and was part of the mainstream of America.

We who grew up with such things as drive-in restaurants, drive-in theaters, and all the other drive-in services must feel a little bit of remorse because they have gone their way into the drive-in heaven in the sky.

Oh, I'm not adverse to progress, in fact, I enjoy it. But at the same time, I wish for a little bit of stability in the world also.

If we keep changing things like logos, like services, like features, I, for one, would like to keep something from the past just so I can say, I remember that.

I remember Burma Shave signs. I can remember when man walked on the moon. And I was part of when America was emerging as a growing, progressive nation that allowed for many different ideas that came forth and hopefully, still will.

Just remember, those of us in the middle ages have to have to have something to remember so when we have grandchildren, we can tell them all the tall tales of the olden years.

Nowadays, when you talk to some of the senior citizens, they just say they remember the days when they had to walk miles through snowstorms to get to school. And they had their first ride in a car back in ohsoandso.

With us middle agers, we can't say that sort of thing as we just had to take a bus to school, and it closed when the winds blew. And our remembrances deal with what was modern and convenient.

After all, I can remember having to wash dishes without a dishwasher, and that was yesterday.

Dislikes Reagan's actions

Editor,

In the past I have called Ronald Reagan a fool, a stupid man and a hypocrite. I make no retractions. His up-coming visit to a German military grave site is an abomination, an insult to every member of our armed forces both dead and alive and a sell-out to every freedom loving person on the face of this earth.

In the news lately we hear of neo-Nazi members being run down for murder, we see them marching on TV, we hear of their trying to hold a convention on Belle Isle and all the while our president tells us it is time for us to forgive and forget the horror brought down on this earth by the war lords and their willing followers. The very same people he wants to honor were directly and personally responsible for the torture and murder of million upon millions of innocent men, women and children.

The peace and freedom loving people on this earth should never-never forget what happens when we allow mad men to control our very lives.

On one hand Reagan screams and shakes his fist at Russia extolling us to hate their very guts—all in the name of peace—while with the other he is practically pinning a medal on Hitler.

No words—that are fit to print—come to mind to describe this latest action of Reagans. He has been beseeched by all veteran organizations, churches, Jews, the more responsible people in his own administration and the general public not to make this visit. What's his reaction? He calmly thumbs his nose at everybody.

I have a very uncomfortable feeling that we could very well have still another mad man on our hands.

Everett K. Sayles

Giving thanks to those involved

Editor,

Following the tragic aircraft accident on Beaver Island last Friday, April 19, 1985, the residents of Beaver Island again have reason to be proud of their own.

Beginning with assisting the Coast Guard helicopters in locating the wreckage, the Beaver Island Fire Department (a volunteer organization), consisting of young men rivaled any metropolitan area in professional performance.

The names are too numerous to mention and this author would not offend any by having an omission in this gallant list. They went through a battle without hearing a bullet.

Although Beaver Island consists of two townships and is a part of Charlevoix County, we received no assistance from the mainland. One county official came to the site for a period of two hours and returned to the mainland. The one part-time deputy sheriff living on the island received no back-up or relief for a period of 36 hours.

Since I am the island physician and also the deputy coroner, I was at the crash site and made the necessary pronouncements. I want to convey to the people of northern Michigan the excellent performance in assisting me that these young men afforded. Above and beyond, they even used their own clothing as coverings since necessary materials (available on the mainland), but not made available on the island.

My jurisdiction did not reach to spend the long hours in clearing the crash site of personal effects and aircraft debris, however, I have heard only praise for their cooperation and fortitude in accomplishing this unpleasant task. The FAA inspectors also commented on their heroic efforts.

The Beaver Island Fire Department Auxiliary ladies prepared uncountable sandwiches, snacks and beverages and transported food to the crash site several times during the 48 hours following the crash.

The second day as I returned to the site to give encouragement and moral support to these men I noted the emotional strain and fatigue that 48 hours on "raw nerve" created. Although the emotional effects as a result of this tragedy will in time be healed, the spirit of cooperation and old fashioned pulling together on Beaver Island will never die.

Politicians priorities wrong on crime

Editor,

Many of our politicians don't have their priorities right when it comes to dealing with crime.

They seem to think that failure to fasten a seatbelt in our cars is a dastardly felony indeed, that must be stopped at all costs. No doubt after this legislative exercise in big brotherism is over we will next turn to legislation requiring us to wear our overshoes when it rains.

Seatbelts are not the only "solution" to violent crime we have seen our politicians come up with recently. No doubt one of the most awesome efforts to combat muggings and other violent crimes occurred in New York when 1300 policemen were detailed to apprehend Bernhard Goetz, the victim.

Cook County, Illinois has been the scene of an even more recent capture of a victim by the authorities. Philip Roos, the administrative director of the Christian Liberty Academy Satellite Schools was frustrated by the Cook County Sheriff department's repeated failures to apprehend a Peeping Tom who had been frightening his daughters.

In February of this year, it happened again. Roos had his wife call the Sheriff while he took his loaded .38 Smith & Wesson for protection as he went outside to try and catch the peeper. The Peeping Tom fled, and as Roos walked down the street in search of the criminal, the police arrived.

Roos was told by the policeman pointing a gun at him to put his gun on the ground. Roos replied that the crook was getting away. The policeman responded, "Drop it, or you're dead." Roos quickly complied.

After the police captured Roos, they handcuffed him and took him to the precinct for booking. Happily, the charges were dropped when Roos went to court.

Politicians for too long have pressured the police to catch victims instead of criminals. It is time for Americans to be encouraged to carry firearms, not be discouraged. And it is not time to send the police out after "seatbelt bandits" while real crooks are breaking faces and lives.

"Odd Couple" at Mc Cune Arts Center starting May 2

Neil Simon's classic comedy, "The Odd Couple," comes to the stage of the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey for a run of seven performances. Opening night is Thursday, May 2, for the play that captured awards on Broadway, in Hollywood and for TV.

Little Traverse Civic Theatre is capping its 1984-85 season with the popular favorite about two divorced men who move in together to save money for alimony. The fast-paced humor centers on their discovery that they are having the same conflicts and fights with each other, as they had with their wives.

Simon uses every trick in the humorist's lexicon to show how easy it is to spot the flaws in others while we stubbornly refuse to face our own. "The Odd Couple" has been called the playwright's masterpiece, with its sight gags and one-liners skillfully revealing the characters' personalities while keeping the audience totally entertained.

Janice Smith is directing the comedy, and Janada Rehkoph is producing the presentation. As cast of eight features Ron Grow and Micky Berryer in the leads as Oscar and Felix. Other players are Karen Coon, Larry Kilmer, Robert Kyser, Beth Strawbridge, Larry VanLiew, and Bill Zoerhof.

Playdates are May 2, 3, 4, 7, 9, 10, and 11. Senior citizen and student ticket prices are reduced on Tuesday and Thursday, May 7 and 9.

Tickets are available at the McCune Arts Center, located on the corner of Mitchell and Division Streets in downtown Petoskey. Tickets may be reserved by phoning 347-4337.

Boyerne City Garden Club will undertake beautification of Boyerne library

While the Boyerne City Garden Club has been concerned over the years with beautification of Boyerne City, and has been responsible for the plantings of geraniums in a tiered arrangement at the Boyerne City Hall, the old fountain at the City Park, the flower boxes on the Lake Street Bridge and the Chamber of Commerce, They have agreed to undertake another project.

They will be spearheading a drive to beautify the City Library and grounds and are expecting to spend about $1500 to do it.

The library, a gift to the city by the Andrew Carnegie Foundation, was opened to the public in 1918. Over the years, money to maintain the building and grounds has been slowly decreasing and in the last few years, the grounds have been neglected.

The club will be doing the work this spring after receiving a starting grant from the city of $500 and are looking for donations so that the project can be completed.

In other areas of the town, the club has taken the fountain at the Old City Park, and transformed it into a huge container for a variety of flowers.

The club will continue to maintain the other projects as well as tackle the library.

Donations in the form of checks can be mailed to the Boyerne Valley Garden Club, care of treasurer Peg Spencer, 108 W. Pine Street, Boyerne City.

They will be needing help from every club and organization in town as well as individuals who may want to donate.

Crooked Tree volunteers to tour artists' studios May 9

Crooked Tree Arts Council volunteers will tour the studios of four area artists in a day-long excursion scheduled for Thursday, May 9.

Volunteers will meet at the Virginia McCune Community Arts Center at 9 a.m. to car pool for the studio visits.

First on the itinerary is a stop at Bill and Bonnie Staffell's studio and sales gallery south of Charlevoix. Bill, a blacksmith, has promised to have his forge fired for the visitors. Bonnie, a potter whose new collection of porcelain is highlighted in the arts center sales gallery during May, will provide a backstage peek at her studio.

Next tour will be of potter Jo Moffitt's shop and studio at Norwood. When completed there the group will move on to Elk Rapids, for lunch at the Torch Lake Inn. Following lunch, volunteers will see the home and gallery of artist-illustrator Betty Beedy. Enroute back to Petoskey, the group will stop at the Off Bridge Street Artist's new salesroom in Charlevoix.

This is the fourth in a series of special "Meet the Artist" programs sponsored for CTAC volunteers. Other artists participating in the series so far have been Steve and Karen Andrews, potters; and Vivi Woodcock, silk screen printmaker. During April, weaver Sari Ruthven presented a program on textiles, weaving and design, with a woven garment style show for the participants.

Volunteers are needed for a variety of jobs at the arts center, from sales help in the Art Tree gallery, bookkeeping, typing, preparation of mailings, telephoning, hanging shows, to preparing and serving

City turns down offer to sell land

Boyne City will not be offering some land for sale, even though they received a request to buy during the noon meeting Tuesday. The commissioners decided not to offer the land up for sale after hearing from members of the city administration that they would rather not offer it for sale.

The adjacent owners of the property, Mr. and Mrs. Rau had offered to buy it from the city for $200. The land is less than a city lot wide and is a city right-of-way.

They then awarded the low bid for restriping and painting of the city streets to Kenmark, Inc. of Acme, Mi. Kenmark's bid was $1725.25 for the painting of the centerlines, turn indicators and other street painting.

The city okayed the bid providing the firm does the work within 45 days.

City manager Randy Fryberg again reminded the residents of the city that the city wide beautification weekend is coming up and the city landfill will be open on Sunday, May 5, between the hours of 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. Members of the fire department will be washing down the streets in the downtown area early Sunday morning.

In another matter, members of the fire department asked the city to try to do something about the citizens who are following the fire trucks too closely when they are on the way to a fire.

Fire Chief Butch Erber told the commissioners that the problem occurs when people start following the first truck out to the fire and cause problems with the other trucks that follow.

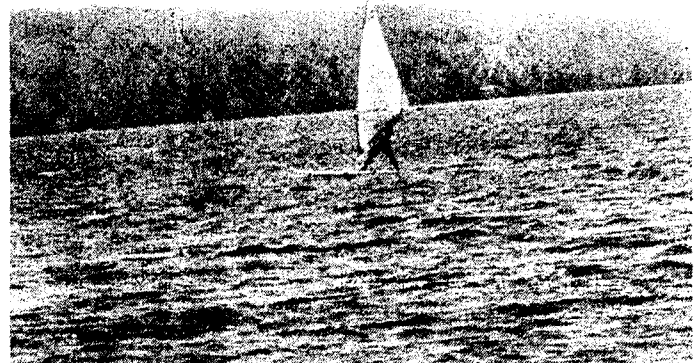

He was told that the city may have to start giving out traffic tickets to those who get in the way.

The state law says that drivers cannot be within 500 feet of a fire truck.

The city also heard recommendations from their insurance carrier on playground equipment.

Last fall, the city pulled out the playground equipment that was in the Veterans Park, after becoming involved with a law suit. Interested people have asked that playground equipment be installed for their children to play upon.

The recommendation from the carrier was to have the city buy equipment from a manufacturer so that the insurance liability would be spread and that the city's cost of insurance would not go higher.

It seems that when the ice goes out, some intrepid soul has to be the first in the water. This picture, taken last Thursday at Walloon Lake, shows a sailboarder really using the wind to criss-cross the lake as he was having a cold, but fun day on the water.

Red Devils move into first place in Ski Valley

This Logger base-runner is demonstrating good hustle, but is out at first base by a long shot while the umpire makes sure that the Red Devils first baseman does not pull his foot away from the bag.

BY STEVE GEE

The East Jordan Red Devils' baseball team continues to win as they took five of six games from their opponents last week. The Red Devils split with Gaylord St. Mary's 7-4 and 10-14, downed Boyne Falls 2-0 and 6-1 and defeated Central Lake 9-4 and 6-3.

On Monday, East Jordan hosted the Gaylord St. Mary's Snowbirds. East Jordan went into the final inning of the first game trailing 4-3 but the Devils were not through yet. John Hrblijan led off the inning with a walk. Darrell LaBeau followed with a single and Pete Zoulek reached base on an error to load the bases. East Jordan's best hitter, Bill Lytle, then won the game with one swing of the bat as he sent the ball skyrocketing over the center field fence for a 7-4 victory. Pete Zoulek earned the victory going seven innings, giving up six hits while walking four and striking out seven.

The second game was a total disaster for the Devils, as 10 fielding errors helped the Snowbirds win 14-10. East Jordan staged a comeback in the final inning by scoring four runs, three of which came on a Carl Knop home run, but fell short. Steve Dionne lasted only 1/3 of an inning for the loss as James Price went the rest of the way for the Devils.

Collecting hits over the double header for the Devils were Bill Kraemer, Dennis Skrocki, Jamie Bartlett and James Price with two and Darrell LaBeau, Bill Lytle, Greg Kitson, Carl Knop, and Thom Ashton with one each.

The Devils used superb defense and pitching to outdo the Loggers of Boyne Falls Tuesday night. Darrell LaBeau earned the victory in the first game for the Devils going six innings, giving up one hit while walking three and striking out 10. Crego received the loss for the Loggers going the distance, giving up five hits while walking two and striking out four. The final score found the Devils on top 2-0.

The Red Devils used eight hits to score six runs in the second game for a 6-1 win. Scott Bartig went three innings for the Devils, giving up one hit while walking one and striking out three. Greg Kitson finished off the game giving up three hits while walking two and striking out five. Czerkies took the loss for the Loggers, going the distance, giving up eight hits while walking three and striking out five.

Receiving the hits for East Jordan were Thom Ashton and James Price with two and Dan Bennett, Keith Matheny, Mike Lercel, Bill Kraemer, Jamie Bartlett, R.C. Smith, Steve Dionne, Dennis Skrocki, and John Hrblijan with one each. Boyne Falls managed only five hits over the two games with Harmon and Gillespie picking up two each and Payton receiving the other. On Thursday, East Jordan breezed past Central Lake, the team Coach Hines picked as the team to beat. Again the Devils used fine pitching and excellent defense to earn the wins. East Jordan trailed 1-0 in the first inning, but Bill Lytle put them back on top with his third home run of the season. The Devils continued their fine hitting and won 9-4. Pete Zoulek went the distance, giving up three hits, while walking two and striking out 13.

The Devils pulled on top in the first inning of the second game with a two run double by Bill Lytle. Lytle had eight runs batted in on the night. Pete Zoulek socked a two-run homer to help Darrell LaBeau earn the victory. LaBeau gave up three hits while walking four and striking out four.

Collecting hits for East Jordan were Bill Lytle with five; Dennis Skrocki, Bill Kraemer, Pete Zoulek, Darrell LaBeau, John Hrblijan and R.C. Smith with two; and Steve Dionne and Carl Knop with one each. The Red Devils are 3-1 in the Ski Valley Conference and 7-1 over all.

Coach Steve Hines is very pleased with the progress the team is making saying, "Our hitting is starting to pick up game by game. Not only from our starters, but our non-starters, too."

East Jordan will travel to Bellaire Thursday.

B.C. shows well at Rudyard

The Boyne City Ramblers track teams opened their season by attending the Rudyard ninth and tenth grade invitational. Boyne City was in fourth place out of 13 schools, but left the meet early to escape freezing temperatures. They brought home two firsts, three seconds, two thirds, two fourths, and three fifths. Winning their respective events for the Ramblers were Pat Weeks with an 11-foot pole vault, and Angela Riech with a 33 foot shot put.

Placing second for Boyne City were Scott Beebe in the high jump, and Kelly Montgomery in the 300 meter low hurdles. Boyne also took second place in the 400 meter co-ed relay. The team consisted of Tammy McPherson, Kelly Montgomery, Todd Fanning, and Glen LaCroix.

B.C. over B.F. in middle school game

BY JERRY FROATS

The Boyne City Middle School sixth grade girls played hosts to the Boyne Falls Loggers girls last week in a scrimmage basketball game. The hosting team came out on top 18-4 after four periods of action.

In the first quarter the Ramblers took a commanding 8-0 lead over the shorter Logger team. Boyne City's first basket came from Brooke Coveyou under the boards. Boyne City played a rough and tumble style of defense combined with a fast paced game as Kim Stadt added two more buckets to the total, one on a steal, the other on a nice shot from the right side of the key. Sharon Ordway got a hoop when she stole the ball and drove in to the key for an easy lay-up.

In the second period Tina Brown gave the Ramblers a 10-0 lead on an offensive rebound and both teams failed to score from that point on until late in the quarter when Kathee Harmon put the Loggers on the scoreboard.

Third period action found both teams exchanging possession of the ball frequently and two pointers were hard to come by. Coveyou continued to be dominant under the boards as she sank an offensive rebound for a 12-2 Boyne City lead. Stadt came up with a steal shortly before the horn and drove the length of the court for a lay-up.

April Sibar opened the scoring for the Ramblers in the fourth

The Boyne City Middle School sixth grade girls play on the ball with highly intense pressure. Here, Brooke Coveyou struggles with a Logger for possession of the ball. The Loggers are short on sixth graders, so they also use third, fourth, and fifth graders to fill the roster.

quarter on a full court drive to the hoop, and the Loggers came right back to score their second bucket of the game. Lori Burkhard was the Logger shooter with a nice lay-up from the left side of the hoop. The last basket of regulation time came from Rambler Brandy LaBrecque on an offensive rebound.

The remainder of the Ramblers team consisted of Kristin Harvey, Christa Degrow, Stacy Thompson, Christina May, Eve Reinhardt, Missy Gregware, Tina Bel-ford, Jennifer Briedenstein, and Traci Spiegel.

The Loggers who did not get on the scoreboard were LuAnne Bennett, Ellen Reynolds, Debbie Bears, JoAnne Bears, Jenny Darrigan, and Tracy Danbert.
