City sets road repairs in next budget

Road repairs in Boyne City are on line for next year's fiscal budget, city manager Randy Frykberg told the city commissioners at the Tuesday noon meeting.

The response come in answer to a letter the city received from Roger M. Smith who asked the commissioners why they authorized the spending of six to eight thousand dollars for the engineering of the airport runway when according to the letter, "most of the major roads of Boyne are like testing grounds for shock absorbers."

Frykberg also said that the city is looking into other ways to fix the roads, like seal coating, but in the meantime, the roads will only be repaired as needed. The city is getting quotes on some of the repairs, but the main thrust of road upgrading will be done in next years' budget.

Frykberg also updated the commissioners as to the new air-industrial park saying that four different firms are looking at and negotiating with the city for space in the park. He added that one of the firms is a major manufacturer.

"It looks very, very good for our Industrial Park to take off," he added.

Negotiations between the companies and the city are being handled by Dick Beagle and others in the city administration.

Then the council authorized the transfer of funds from the contingency account to the water department to pay for some emergency temporary well work that was done several weeks ago. $5,809.03 was the payment requested.

The work was done when the pump for Well Number One broke and the city would have been without water.

A temporary pump was put into the new Well Number Three which pumps at the rate of 1000 gallons per minute while the 300 gallon per minute well was out of service.

The city also pumps 600 gallons per minute from Well Number Two and another 110 gallons per minute from the North Boyne Well.

The city also fielded many phone calls on lack of garbage collection by the licensed refuse company, according to Frykberg. He was telling the people who called that the company had had some equipment problems and the matter was being resolved, although service was, in some cases, slower than usual. He did say that the city landfill is open six days a week from sunlight to three p.m. for people who want to drop off refuse.

He told the commissioners that the reason the landfill closes at that time, is to allow time for the operator to cover the refuse with dirt as required by the DNR.

Commissioner Bill Grimm said that he was bombarded with phone calls concerning the new sign that the Granary had installed in front of their business. Grimm was told because of a pre-existing non-conforming sign the business had in place prior to the road improvement, and the requirement that Terry Toomey had agreed to beautify and maintain the area where the sign was placed, the city agreed with the replacing of the sign on city property.

Toomey has planted maple trees and flowers as well as build an attractive sign that sits on stone work.

EJ to hold annual Indian Pow-wow Saturday

BY KAREN NEUMEYER

The fourth annual Day of the Eagle Powwow happens this Saturday and Sunday, June 8 and 9, in East Jordan on tribal land at the end of Mill Street. "It is the biggest powwow ever," stated Gigi Antoine, executive director of the Ashinabi Intertribal Council, Inc., and project director of Title IV, East Jordan Public Schools.

Native Americans from the United States and Canada will be traveling here to participate in the event, which includes competitive dancing and drumming.

For the first time, the event is held on council-owned land. The land was received as a gift after last year's powwow. Council members have worked to ready the space for this year's special celebration.

As part of this celebration, Chief Geshig Nung, headman of the Odawa Nations, will have his portrait painted at the powwow by artist Michiele Gauthier. The portrait will later be exhibited at the Port Huron Museum.

In addition to the traditional events of competitive dancing and drumming, this year focuses on an art fair of native American artists and craftsmen. "Indian traders will bring their wares to sell and will demonstrate their crafts while they're selling," said Antoine.

Among the artists represented are painters, beadworkers, and basket-makers. Peter Migwans, an internationally known artist from Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, will be at the powwow.

The parade of dancers will start at 1 p.m. on Saturday and will be repeated at 7 p.m. that day, and at 1 p.m. on Sunday. All dancers in native dress enter the dance circle at those times to begin competition. The awards ceremony will be held around 5 or 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Lake management panel to survey residents this summer

A survey to find out attitudes about the use of Lake Charlevoix is planned by the Charlevoix County Lake Management Advisory Panel for a July mailing, according to members of the committee at a meeting of the group held last Wednesday night in Boyne City.

The questions are being formulated by professors from Michigan State University who are affiliated with the MSU Cooperative Extension Service and is expected to cost in the range of $6,000 to $8,000 according to Larry Sullivan, the county planning director.

The reason for the survey, Sullivan added, is to help determine the socio-cultural part of the final lake management plan that the panel has been working on these past few months.

Among the concerns that the panel will be looking at are lake usage, public access sites, development questions, water quality, land use, and what changes that the people responding would like to see.

According to Sullivan, the surveys will be directed at various groups ranging from lake property owners, county residents, boaters and tourists. The panel will have a chance to look at the questions after they are formulated in order to offer their suggestions as to the direction of the questions.

The survey will be tabulated by the professors and the results will be used to help determine the management plan.

In other action, the committee suggested to the planning commission that they were not being given enough latitude to make decisions. The question came up when it was suggested that a part time person be hired to help bring the data that is accumulated together in forms that the committee may understand easier.

The person hired would be doing cartography work, and review data for committee use.

When Sullivan was asked by a member of the panel who the person would be working for, Sullivan said he or she would be working for the planning commission.

This brought on the discussion of who would be responsible for what, the county planners or the advisory panel, as to what work would be done by the person hired.

Sullivan told the committee that the who ever is hired, they would be paid for the time they work, which he figured at a couple of months.

Committee member Carl Beck of East Jordan said that he thought the committee should have control over the person hired. He added that the planners intend to do the interviewing for the position without knowing what the panel is looking for in a job application.

Tom Wieland, who is the County Planning Commission Chairman and also serves on the lake panel told the members that he would appreciate having their input on the selection of a person. Lake panel chairman John Hall will be appointing two members of the committee to help in the hiring decision and writing the job

Opinions

Will lake planning be usurped by townships?

Sometimes we wonder about the wisdom of trying to do what some perceive is the right way and the right thing.

Especially on the county level when the planning commission agreed to have a subcommittee to help formulate a lake management plan for all of Lake Charlevoix.

Perhaps the biggest error of judgement, by the planners, is not giving direction as to what needs to be decided for a lake management plan.

As things stand now, those hard working people on the committee are trying to find the reason for their spending the time to try to work out a plan for the lake when they themselves don't know what sort of plan the county wants to see.

Last week the members of that committee literally asked the superior body what function they should perform. They also asked how much depth the planning body wants them to go into as they formulate a management plan.

Among the questions implied was how much does the county want? Do they wish to see a sociological plan, a zoning plan, or a water quality plan?

Until the planning commission gives the lake management committee some sort of direction, many are probably feeling that they are just spinning their wheels and wasting a lot of time attending meetings that will ultimately be worthless as far as planning actions are involved.

Perhaps the county planning commission should tell the committee that they want a plan that will protect the lake in its present state, develop material to guide the townships who have the ultimate control over the development of the lake as to density factors of housing, manufacturing and commercial development and provide a zoning plan that the county could use.

The problem with the whole idea so far as we are concerned, is that whatever the committee does, no matter how much money they get to spend to determine the final plan, the final decision as to what is developed, planned or suggested, is up to the local unit of government.

If the local unit thinks that a condo development or even a junkyard is the best and most useful thing for the ground that is under consideration, and they vote to have the whatever, there is nothing that the county, the county planners, or the lake management committee can do about it except to say that it is against their thinking.

Assuming that the lake management committee comes up with a great and grand plan for the entire watershed of Lake Charlevoix, and the county planners and commissioners accept those recommendations, the local unit could tear apart the whole idea with some development, some commercial use, or some other use that is contrary to the entire planning idea.

There are things that we disagree with already as far as what the lake management committee is doing, but we also think that other ideas are needed and necessary for the best world that we want to live in.

We have heard from some knowledgeable people that the lake is in fine shape right now, and that pouring millions of tons of phosphates into the water will probably not change the characteristics of the entire lake. We have heard other self indulging groups urge that the lake be studied intensively as to the present water quality.

We wonder why all that is necessary. We wonder if the study that is proposed to be done by the State of Michigan is more than enough to decide what the quality is now and if it has changed over the years since a study was done last.

We think that the committee should be looking more into what recreational uses they want to allow on the lake. Should there be fishing allowed? Water skiing? Ice shanties? Boaters dumping their holding tanks without proper law enforcement to control it? How about speed boats that roar up and down the lake at tremendous speeds, along with the noise factors?

And what about public recreational sites that are in essence, legalized funnel developments?

What about the rights of property owners? Is the lake subject to riparian rights? Or does the state control the water and the ground under it? Can a property owner develop the land as he thinks best from an economical and esthetic viewpoint?

Maybe the only thing that will come out of the lake management plan is that all of the present homeowners living on the lake will have to connect up to a Lake Charlevoix Sanitary District so as to protect what the lake presently has for water quality.

Whatever the committee comes up with, you can be sure that some landowners, some homeowners, some recreational users, will not be happy.

Perhaps the committee should develop a laissez faire attitude and let the townships control their own destiny.

Not happy with rezoning requests in Boyne City

Editor,
The Boyne City Commission is considering the rezoning of 4 lots on Front St. between Pleasant Ave. and Second Street, known as the Watkins Property, from R2 Residential to PRD (condominiums) for the proposed development of 8 three story townhouse condominiums: approximately 35 feet in height, 1700 sq. ft. per unit, and with access (driveways and parking) from Elm Street.

This rezoning and condominium development is not presently possible. The existing PRD zoning ordinance strictly prohibits both on the grounds of minimum parcel size, maximum density allowed, and height and bulk of structures. Therefore, the commission is considering AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE TO ALLOW FOR UNLIMITED VARIANCE OF REQUIREMENTS. The rezoning and condominium development would then be possible (possible, also, throughout Boyne City).

I am concerned about the effect of such a development on the immediate area and the possible consequences of such an amendment for the entire town, and I am ardently opposed.

I acknowledge the dilapidated state of the existing structures on the property in question, and enthusiastically concur that constructive change is needed. It is the nature of the change that alarms me. The mentality that views rezoning of this residential street for condominium development as "better than what's there" is expedient and short sighted. It is not the only, best, nor proper solution.

I honestly believe that had the properties been seriously on the market, they would have been purchased long ago for individual residential use. Truly, a zoning change which would alter the residential nature of Front Street is not necessary.

I acknowledge, also, the Harborage complex directly across the street. It exists, however, as a waterfront community apart from Boyne City's residential streets and single family homes.

My opposition to the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance and the re-zoning and condominium development of Front St. is based on the following reasons:

1. The existing PRD zoning regulations require a minimum of five acres, a maximum density of five dwellings per acre, and the height and bulk of buildings to be the same as established R2 single family residences. These four lots combined total 154' x 148.5'; just over half an acre (4 1/2 acres short.) This renders the issues of maximum density and height and bulk of buildings moot (to follow it through, however, 1/2 acre would allow for two 2-story dwellings, not an eight unit 3-story condominium complex.) The city commissions' approval of the project entails such major exceptions to the regulations that an amendment to the zoning ordinance is deemed necessary.

2. The proposed amendment would permit the Planning Advisory Board "to modify and vary any or all...standard requirements of R2 and R3 Districts and PRD." The Watkins 1/2 acre R2 property on Front St. could then be re-zoned PRD, setting a dangerous precedent for similar condominium constructions on small parcels of land throughout Boyne City's residential areas...for once the door is open, where next? The basic precepts of zoning must be safeguarded, lest zoning become irrelevant in Boyne City.

3. The single family residential nature of Front and Elm Streets should be maintained, as should all of Boyne City's long established residential areas which constitute the very basis of Boyne's small town quality. The city's own Comprehensive Plan warns that the "integrity of the city's primary residential areas must be respected. Mixed land uses must be discouraged from intruding on these neighborhoods."

4. Throughout Boyne City restoration or reconstruction of single family homes is needed and should be encouraged by the city fathers (as is emphatically recommended in the Comprehensive Plan and as has been demonstrated by the renovations of buildings in our downtown business district, in large part made possible by the city's policies, programs, and tax advantages). The old Tannery Row Houses along Front Street could serve as a perfect example of the reconstruction possi-

Wants local trio remembered

Editor:

On Memorial Day, I like to reminisce about three old newspaper boys that I worked with at Worthing News Stand back in the early thirties. I'm referring to the LaBrique boys; Fred, Lee and Joe. They lived in a house on North Park Street, just north of the old Church of God. Their home wasn't in very good condition but was all they could afford because their father was dead and their mother was the sole support of the family which included five boys and a girl.

Fred, the oldest of the three, graduated from BCHS in 1934. He was a newsboy until 1933 when he got a summer job at Camp Valhalla, a girls camp on Walloon Lake. When the girls came to town riding on the back of a truck, they would whistle at Fred, causing him to turn red around the ears.

Lee graduated from BCHS in 1938 and with his large broad shoulders, was the athlete of the family. He was left handed and was the only one who rolled a perfect 300 game at the old duck pin bowling alley on Lake Street. He didn't participate in high school sports because the money he made from his newspaper route was needed by his mother. This was long before the days of welfare, ADC and food stamps. As kids, we used to taunt Lee by yelling "Lee laid a brick", only because it rhymed with his name.

Joe, the youngest, was the one who took over my paper route when I retired at age 14. Joe was about ten years old at the time and the paper route included all the customers north of the Boyne river. Can't remember if Joe graduated from high school. He would have been with the class of 1943.

All of the boys were drafted into the army during World War II and all were killed in action.

Fred was killed by a Jap sniper on the island of New Guinea when our army was preventing the invasion of Australia.

Can't remember the details about Lee, but believe he was killed in North Africa where our army was trying to drive out the Germans and their general, Rommel, the Desert Fox.

Fred was killed in 1942 shortly after the start of the war. Lee was killed in 1944. Both were only 26 years old. Joe was killed during the invasion of Italy in 1944. He was only 19 years old and was killed only a few months after he was drafted.

When one observes their grave markers in Mapleawn Cemetery, you notice they were all in the infancy. These are the soldiers that Rudyard Kipling wrote about when he penned "Oh its Tommy this and its Tommy that and its Tommy wait outside - But its a special train for atkins when the troopers on the ride." Or as many famous generals have said, "It's the foot soldiers that win the wars."

I often wonder why the LaBrique boys seem to be forgotten. It would be a good study in world history class if the school teacher would take their students up to visit the boys' graves.

Maybe this letter will be a reminder for some. After all, how many mothers and how many towns the size of Boyne City gave up three from one family in defense of their country.

ASPARAGUS
Asparagus has grown wild from Siberia to Africa and has been cultivated since early Roman times; at least over 2000 years. It is grown from seed for over 2 years in the nursery hot house then the roots are planted in fields. It takes 3 years to bring asparagus to harvest, and the young spears need to be cut by hand. So it is easy to understand why asparagus has been considered a luxury vegetable.

Grandmother had not studied the vitamin charts so she did not know that it was a rich source of vitamin A, B2, B6, C, Niacin and iron. One good sized spear contains only about 4 calories, cooked or raw. And by the way, do not hesitate to eat asparagus raw, sliced diagonally and served in a vegetable salad; a pleasant surprise. Or try those crisp spears with a dip.

Mother had one small asparagus bed on the farm and it was a very special springtime treat as we only had it once or twice a year. Mother cooked it until tender, added a small amount of cream, salt and pepper. She never thickened the sauce or used other seasonings that would disguise the flavor. This was served in sauce dishes.

This spring, it seems as if asparagus has emerged from the luxury class. In fact, I have been buying the very best quality fresh asparagus at a moderate price in line with other vegetables. There are several ways to cook asparagus to perfection. Bend the stalks and where they snap off is the line between the tough and tender portions. Asparagus can be thinly sliced, diagonally, and cooked in very little water, sauteed in butter or margarine in a skillet or wok, and steamed. Do not overcook it. I cooked some the following way in the microwave. The spears were bright green and just crisply tender, no tough pieces.

MICROWAVE ASPARAGUS
Snap off the tough ends and discard. Wash spears thoroughly in salted water, cut into 1 1/2 inch pieces, put into a glass pie plate with 2 tablespoons of water. Cover with plastic wrap leaving a small opening for the steam to escape. Cook 3 minutes on high; test, and you might need to cook 2 minutes more. Serve with a cheese sauce flavored to taste with a little Dijon style mustard.

This recipe was for 2 using 1/2 lb. fresh asparagus. Increase time to 6 minutes if cooking one pound.

I made the sauce this way.

Cooking

CHEESE SAUCE

For one cup of sauce:
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of red pepper - go easy
1 teaspoon or, to taste, Dijon mustard

1/2 cup shredded American cheese
In a heavy saucepan or non-stick skillet melt the butter. Add the flour and stir, then gradually add the milk, stirring constantly until smooth. Add the salt, pepper, mustard and cheese. Stir until blended and cheese is melted.

PRESSURE COOKER METHOD
I have also cooked perfect asparagus whole on the rack in my pressure cooker. Use the water required for your cooker and steam 2 to 2 1/2 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure. Cool at once. Be sure to steam it only the time required so that it will not be over-cooked.

DON'S METHOD

Don served this special asparagus with fish kabobs. He made Hollandaise sauce following the directions on an envelope mix. The asparagus was tender top and bottom and the sauce delicious.

After washing the asparagus and snapping off the tough ends he tied the spears in a bunch with string and stood them in the bottom of a double boiler. Then he put top part of the boiler upside-down over the top of the asparagus, and cooked it until tender. The tough part of the spears cooked in the water and the top steamed. This way both the whole spears were cooked to perfect tenderness without over cooking the tops.

Asparagus is a delightful addition to any menu.

5. The economics involved in this Front Street issue are attractive to the seller, substantial to the developer, and healthy for the city via increased tax revenues. But profits should not be the priority. The issue of PRESERVING BOYNE CITY'S SMALL TOWN HERITAGE AND CHARACTER BY PROTECTING THE COMMUNITY'S RESIDENTIAL AREAS should be the priority.

The issue is threefold: 1. The danger of an amended zoning ordinance virtually without restrictions. 2. The danger of the precedent set if the residential Front St. property is re-zoned PRD. 3. The danger of the precedent set if a condominium development is permitted on a 1/2 acre of land in a residential area.

I urge your concern and opposition. Please voice your protest, prior to June 11 when the city commission will vote on the Zoning Amendment and the Front St. rezoning request, by writing or calling the city manager or city commission. Please sign a petition of

Let me say something before I start this column. If the city doesn't change the name of Front Street to Harbor View Drive pretty soon, I shall move to town, join the Horse Sense party and run for the council. I'll have to. All of my other wild ideas have been too tame.

June kind of sneaked up on me. I didn't realize it had arrived. Imagining that? Me, who checks the calendar every day to see if my birthday has arrived yet.

With June comes Flag Day, Father's Day and the beginning of summer. Let us all shake hands with June and dance the first jig of our dog days. Personally, I'm looking forward to one of those three-alarm heat waves that sends us all to the beach. Yes, yes, let the fahrenheit rise until it shows January and February a thing or two.

I've been trying to shake winter for the past several months; now I shall turn the field of activity over to June. If it fails, I shall throw the matter up to the month of July.

July has never failed me yet, except the time it layed an egg during a street carnival on the corner of Water and Lake streets back in 1929. It hailed that day and my brother and I scooped it up, making snowballs.

This happened on the 4th of July and others who were around at that time will recall how the city has never held a full-fledged carnival on that corner since. People who weren't there will say it didn't happen. But that's all right with me. People who aren't there insist that the world is flat. Don't you believe them. I beg you not to. (What the beginning of June has to do with the world being flat is more than I can stomach.)

My wife came out of a dress shop the other day and I breathed a deep sign of relief when she said that she had almost bought something.

My greatest supply of energy is most noticeable in the A and M. I pop out of bed, eat breakfast and feel an uncontrollable impulse to fist-fight the world. That's when I like to pull the cord and mow the lawn. All my arms and legs are in shape for the task.

But there's always a snag to my early druthers. Those who rise with the sun are well aware that the grass is damp and dewy. You cannot mow the lawn when the damps are dewy. You've got to twiddle your fingers until the sun gets around to drying things up.

Ha! By that time my zing has all gone to zang and my lawn can go to hay as far as I care. Those who read this weekly miscellanea are welcome to come and check the hay around our house. Bundled, it should be worth something on the open market.

It makes me so angry when I can't mow the lawn come early morning. Today I got up, when out and sneared at it. All I could say was, "Damp that dewy." That's because men who don't go to church ain't supposed to swear—even though their grass turns to hay. I was going to say that our lawn gives me a pain in the grass, but my wife screamed me out of it.

Here's a secret that might be of use to older folks: Whenever I go to the hospital I always tell them that I am poor. This results in my being cured quickly and sent home sooner.

My head just ran out of stuff to put into this column. Those whose heads run out of stuff know how I feel.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Once again this town has shown me something that helps to make the town pull together.

Last Thursday, quite a few of the local folks went out on their own time and planted all of the planters in the downtown section of town.

Sure, some of the same folks who participate in everything were there, but one of my observers told me that they saw many other folks working out in the planters too.

New people. Like it or not, those new people are joining in on some of the fun around town. Oh, sure, it is work, but when you get many people together, the work becomes fun, and it gets done in a very short time.

And the new people have helped. Those new people seem to almost be taking over the town with their brand of enthusiasm. They may be old in age, or young, or just in the middle years, but they all have one thing in common...they are young enough in heart to work for the betterment of the community.

As I was watching a special on TV the other day about China, the one thing that the announcer said as the camera panned across a sea of people, was that the Chinese believe in family and group. Whether that family is a small group of relatives or a large group of the community, we have to realize that everything is just like the Chinese say. It is the group that gets things done.

We're not talking a committee, they just get together and discuss a problem. We're talking about a group of people who go out and do the job that is required.

It's just that this job is making our town a little more beautiful for the residents, the tourists, and the folks who live in the area.

They will probably be lauded by the city fathers, but more importantly, they should be lauded by everyone who goes into the downtown area and says, "How nice this town looks."

Barbara Cruden

It was what I would call a rather post gathering. Most of the people were just up from their winter in Florida. They were chatting on the lawn. "Whoosh!" exclaimed one woman. "I believe it's turning colder."

"Yes, isn't that a sharp breeze," responded another. "I really didn't feel right about wearing summer clothes today."

"I'm in a bad way because summer clothes are all I have anymore," said the first woman.

Another joined in. She had just moved from Virginia. "Well, she's from Michigan," she said indicating me. "She's wearing winter clothes."

All eyes fastened on me. Helplessly, I said, "No, no. These are my all-year clothes."

Now that I think of it, the only things I put away, come spring, are my boots and heavy coat. The main difference between seasons as far as wardrobe goes, I guess, is the number of layers.

It is somewhere between Florida and Michigan that fall clothes make fashion excitement. Virginia is big on fall clothes because there, fall and winter are one season. But in Illinois, too, where I grew up, the year started in September with fall clothes and new model cars.

When we moved to Florida, it was to live there all year around. In August when the fashion pictures came out with autumnal plaid wool skirts, how we moaned! "Wouldn't it be great to wear something different!" we would say, despising our shorts and sun dresses.

It is nice to have seasons. Perhaps I should do more about my clothes. Certainly the trees here are big on fall colors.

As it is my biggest changes are from yard clothes to relatively spotless public-gathering clothes. That's a pretty exciting switch in itself, regardless of season.

I wonder if the two categories are sufficient. I've never heard of such simplification actually. What are advertised are cocktail dresses, walking outfits, running outfits, camping or bicycling outfits, office clothes, country living, and L.L. Bean.

Somewhere in there Michigan belongs. And for sure, I belong in Michigan.

Gibbard—Mottice to visit nations Capitol with NRCEA

An East Jordan boy is one of nine Michigan high school students who will be attending the 22nd annual National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA) Youth Tour June 8-13 in Washington, D.C.

Representing the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co. at the NRECA tour are Max Gibbard, an East Jordan High School junior and Ronda Mottice, a Kalkaska High School junior.

The Michigan delegation represents six rural electric cooperatives in the state. The students will join some 900 teen-agers representing several hundred rural electric cooperatives from 30 states who will be participating in the week-long program.

The tour will include stops at the White House, Capitol and other historic government sites. The NRECA students will also be part of a group that will be welcoming the prime minister of India to the White House. Education sessions at the NRECA headquarters are also scheduled.

Selection of the Top O' Michigan representatives was based on a written contest. High School sophomores and juniors were asked to submit letters to the cooperative explaining why the trip would be meaningful to them and the importance of being a member of the Top O' Michigan cooperative.

The 17-year-old East Jordan student is active in the band, pep band and marching band. His participation in the solo and ensemble competition for the past three years has earned him two superior ratings in district competition and two trips to the state finals.

During his high school career, Max has been on the superintendent's list (straight A's) two years, honor roll three years and student forum three years. He is a former class secretary/treasurer and a member of the youth bowling league.

Max is the son of Mike and Mary Longton.

description, it was decided after much discussion. Most of the discussion reflected the growing concern that the committee would be spending a considerable amount of time developing a lake plan for the superior body, the county planning commission, but would not have any authority to get the work done. That authority was also reflected in the decision of the county planners as to the input of funds from W.A.T.C.H.* a environmental group in Charlevoix, who have suggested that they would be willing to undertake the funding of a water quality study. The planners decided to take a neutral position because of the possible political implications. In a informal polling of committee members, Jerry Puhl asked committee members if they wanted such a study done. All the members present agreed that it would be nice information to have for the decisions that the committee would be facing. Puhl said he would bring the matter up to the board of directors at a meeting held last Saturday of W.A.T.C.H.

Sullivan told the panel that the county planners okayed the use of a leachate detector this fall along the shoreline of areas of the lake. The detector locates possible leakage of septic systems into the lake waters. The detectors will be used along shorelines in built up areas of the lake that may be showing signs of lower lake quality.

Loggers edge Wildcats in Seniors

The Boyne Falls Loggers came up with a big win Monday evening over the Boyne City Wildcats in Senior Little League action at Boyne Falls, 6-5.

The Wildcats took a four run advantage in the first inning getting singles from Tim Hennessey, Bill Wicker, and Keoki Kuheana. Some untimely errors by the Loggers were helpful in the four run inning, and another in the top of the third inning gave the Wildcats a 5-2 lead, but getting one or two runs per inning, the Loggers evened the score in the fifth inning.

In the top of the sixth, Logger pitcher

Pat Topolinski fanned three batters to keep his team in position for a win.

The score remained at a tie until the bottom of the seventh inning when the Loggers loaded the bases with one out. The winning run came when Glen Wasylewski lofted a high fly ball to R.B.I.

Adrian Churchill from third base.

Topolinski got the win for the Loggers pitching staff, walking five and striking out 10 Wildcats.

Shane Baxter, Justin Kelts, and Hennessey were the Wildcat pitchers and walked five Loggers while striking out eight.

Getting hits for the Loggers were Chad Robinson with a double, Wasylewski with two singles, Mark Brady with a one bager, and Steve Sparks who bunt singled in the first inning. The Wildcats had just three hits on the game, all in the first inning.

Logger pitcher Pat Topolinski threw this pitch by one of the Wildcats top hitters, Bill Wicker for the third strike. Topolinski threw well for the remainder of the game, giving up no hits in six innings.

Bike tours set for vacationers

If your vacations are getting more complicated every year, why not consider a vacation that's as easy as riding a bicycle?

Eight bicycle tours through some of the most scenic parts of Michigan will be taking place this June and July as part of the larger "Freedom Classic," sponsored by Michigan's First of America Bank Corporation.

Bicycle Touring Network, a professional bicycle racing and touring organization, developed the tours for First of America to take advantage of the unique scenery sprinkled throughout the state of Michigan.

The first leg of the tour begins on the morning of June 14th in Sault Ste. Marie and will travel southward, across the Mackinac Bridge, through Cheboygan and Petoskey, along the west coast of the state.

The tours are designed to accommodate all ages and levels of cycling abilities, from the beginner who has just given up training wheels to the advanced riders who participate in races. Each rider is encouraged to set a comfortable pace because, as Mr. Smith says, "it is supposed to be a vacation!"

Accommodations along the way are just as versatile: some of the tours have sleeping quarters in colleges and deluxe lodges, while others will include the creature comforts of deluxe hotels and even a masseuse. Supply vans travelling with each tour are always available to give the weary a lift.

Ranging from three day/two night tours leisurely covering 50 miles to more ambitious five day tours travelling almost 220 miles, the tours include all meals and many sightseeing activities in their package price—between $179 and $279, depending on the tour length. Ten-speed bicycles and helmets are also available for rental.

After the bicycle kick-stands are in place, there are a variety of other single and family activities available on each tour, such as swimming, canoeing and sailing. Birdwatching, fish fries and even a dance are scheduled for some of the tours.

While thousands of people watch, hundreds are expected to participate in one or more of the tours, beginning on June 14th with the three day "Northern Lights" tour through the upper peninsula. Discounted family packages are available for this and a number of the other tours.

The tours wind up with the "Canadian Encore" July 5th through 7th. Starting and ending in Detroit, this outing cycles 135 miles past outstanding sights in southern Ontario and includes a cruise to Boblo Island Amusement Park.

Along with the bicycle tours, the First of America Freedom Classic is hosting bicycle races in two Michigan cities—June 30th in Kalamazoo and the 4th of July in Detroit. Top cyclists from around the country, including the U.S. criterium racing champion and the Schwinn and Turin racing teams, will compete in the "Freedom Classic" for a total of $22,000, one of the largest purses ever offered in sanctioned bicycle racing. The public is expected to turn out in record numbers to watch the races, and even participate in other special races open to the public.

Whether you would like to participate or just watch, you can get more information about the First of America Freedom Classic bicycle tours and races by calling the following toll-free numbers: (800)222-0072 in the Great Lakes Region, and (800)222-2032 in Michigan.

Boyne Falls Loggers wrap up 1985 season

The Boyne Falls Loggers high school baseball team closed their season this year with a 12-12 record over-all and were 5-7 in the Northern Lakes Conference.

The Loggers are graduating six of their team members this year and have five juniors to return next year as seniors. Departing Loggers are James Crego, Tim Czerkies, Kelly Harmon, Norm Hausler, Ron Reynolds, and Brian Walker.

The Loggers opened the season this year with two losses to the East Jordan Red Devils in non-conference action 0-2 and 1-6. They then dropped a double header to Bellaire and followed up splitting two games with Alba. Boyne Falls lost the first game to Alba 3-10 and won the second game 10-5.

The Loggers got on the winning track after that, winning five of six games over Central Lake, Cheboygan Catholic, and Ellsworth. The Loggers scored 10 runs or more in each of those games, losing one 11-17 to the Lan-cers.

Eight home games followed the Ellsworth loss in which the Loggers went 6-3, four of those being defaults over the Lakers of Mackinac Island. The team then skidded for four losses in a row as they played at Wolverine, 6-7 and 2-12, and lost at home against Ellsworth in a very close 4-5 pre-district game, and went down

2-6 in a make-up game against Vanderbilt. The Loggers closed the season with two wins over Mackinaw City 9-3 and 15-1.

Offensive statistics showed sophomore Chad Robinson leading the batting averages at .500. Robinson played in three games with two at bats getting one hit, a double. Chuck Skop averaged .487 on the season with 39 times at the plate. Skop hit 12 singles, six doubles, and one homer. He also totaled 17 R.B.I.s and scored nine times.

Third in batting averages was Scott Winhusen with .406. Winhusen had 30 at bats with 12 singles, and one homer. He scored 12 runs and had 9 R.B.I.s and 9 stolen bases. Kelly Harmon averaged .405 this year in 42 trips to the plate hitting 17 singles. Harmon had 8 R.B.I.s and 12 stolen bases.

R.B.I.s and stole three bases. Hitting .326 was James Crego with 43 trips to the plate. Crego hit 10 singles, four doubles, and one homer for nine R.B.I.s. Hitting .300 for the year was Paul Wasylewski. He batted 10 times and hit one single, one double, and one homerun for six R.B.I.s.

Tigers take lead from Orioles in Majors

The third week of action in the Boyne City Major Little League found the Tigers leading the standings by a half game over the Orioles with a 4-2 record. The Orioles are now 4-3, while the Loggers, Dodgers, and Giants are tired with 3-3 records. The Yankees dropped to 2-4.

Saturday was a big day for the underdogs as the two top teams were defeated by lower ranking teams. The Loggers put the Tigers down with a 15-10 victory in the first game, and the Orioles went down to the Dodgers 11-10 in the second half of Saturday's double header.

In the Oriole - Dodger game the birds held a 6-3 advantage through the third inning, but the Dodgers came up with six runs in the top of the fourth for a nine to six score.

The Orioles came right back in the bottom of the inning for three runs that tied the score at nine-all. The Orioles scored a run in the fifth inning to lead again, but the Dodgers crossed the plate twice in the sixth inning and held the birds scoreless in the bottom of the sixth for the win.

Getting hits for the winners were Keith McBee with a fourth inning two R.B.I. single and another single in the sixth, Joe Jankowski hit two singles, one for an R.B.I., and Ken Theaker singled in the fifth.

The Orioles collected 13 hits in their losing effort including a home run by Rob Towne. Towne went three of four at the plate getting two R.B.I.s on a double and singled in another run in the fourth inning. Townes' homer came with two men on base in the second inning. Jim Abney also went three of four with a one R.B.I. double and two singles. Gunther Fine-out singled twice, Chris Johnson singled twice, one for an R.B.I., Jim Hellebuyck singled, Hans Imel and Justin Griffin both singled also.

hit two singles each, and Scott Hamontree added a single.

For the Yankees Matt West tripled, Aaron Sherk doubled, and Dennis Moore, Ricky Poole, Todd Birmingham, and Ordway all singled.

On Wednesday, May 29, the Tigers took a thriller over the Dodgers 18-17. As is becoming a regular statistic, the losing team had more hits than the winning team. Getting hits for the Tigers were McCready with two singles, Aaron Fisher with a double and a single, and Jason Joles with a single.

Getting seven hits in their losing effort for the Dodgers were Theaker and Jankowski with a double each, McBee singled twice, Shayne May, Joel Hamilton, and Damien Leist all hit singles.

Tuesday, May 28,

the Giants beat the Loggers 19-11. Again the Loggers outthit the Giants, but wound up short on the scoreboard.

For the winners Hamontree doubled and Fortune singled. For the Loggers Carl Oelfke doubled and singled, Matelski tripled, Reynolds, Wilson, and Follette singled, and Ron Grubaugh and Joe Westbrook recorded singles also.

With the score tied at nine runs apiece, Dodger pitcher Tracy Capelan delivers a pitch to an Oriole batter. Capelan fanned the Orioles top hitter in the bottom of the sixth inning, then filled the bases and struck out the fifth batter. The third out was fielded by Keith McBee

ARE YOU GIVING MONEY AWAY?

Some people still insist on having an old-fashioned checking account. Letting their financial institution use their money while they get no interest for it.

Smart First Federal of Michigan checking account customers know better. They earn interest on the money in their checking account from the date of their deposit right up until the day their checks are paid. And that can add up to a lot of money.

In 1984, the average interest earned by First Federal regular checking account customers was almost $70. And that's money they didn't have before. Extra money for a bill, a gift or a great dinner out. You can even avoid monthly service charges by maintaining a $300 balance in your account.

So stop by our Boyne City office for details. And stop giving money away on your checking account.
