Twenty-five hundred lake attitude surveys went into the mail this week to randomly selected property owners in the 10 cities and townships that surround Lake Charlevoix.

The survey, an eight page, 21 question booklet, was put together by members of the MSU cooperative extension service with the direction of the Lake Management Planning Advisory Committee and the county planning commission.

When tabulated, the survey is hoped to provide some help in the writing of a comprehensive management plan for the lake.

October 7 is the expected opening of the new Veterans Out-patient Clinic in Gaylord, according to Frank Taylor, the medical center director out of the Saginaw VA Medical Center.

The clinic in Gaylord is next to the present Otsego Memorial Hospital and will be open three days a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

All appointments will be scheduled through the Saginaw Center in advance. Their phone number is (517) 793-2340.

The clinic was set up to enhance the services the VA offers in the northern part of the state.

The Charlevoix Hospital Guild will be holding a membership tea Thursday, September 19 in the lower level conference room of the hospital. Membership in the guild is open to all who may want to attend between 2 and 4 p.m.

Boyne City is again offering season passes to all sports programs of the school. The cost is $50 for a family pass, $15 for a student pass or $25 for an adult pass. The pass is good at any home game and is available from the Boyne City High School Athletic Department.

Boyne City's Chamber of Commerce will be holding their annual stag night tonight at the Ye Nyne Olde Holles Golf Course. Golf and dinner are expected to be on tap for those attending. Call 582-6222 for more information.

Boyne to close landfill Oct 1

It's closed. At least the gate will be shut forever on October 1, and refuse that has been going to the Boyne City Landfill will now have to go to another licensed landfill somewhere else in the area.

The action was taken at Tuesday night's Boyne City Commission meeting after a recommendation to close the landfill was given by City Manager Randy Frykberg.

Frykberg told the commissioners that among all the evidence and input he has received concerning the landfill, his recommendation was to close it as soon as possible. He also recommended that it be capped with two feet of dirt as soon as the city can receive money from the Clean Michigan Fund.

Frykberg had attended a meeting in Gaylord Tuesday to learn more about the fund and how the city could apply for grants from it to pay for the work needed to close forever the landfill.

In the ensuing discussion about the closing of the landfill, it was noted that Evangeline Township would be without fire protection as of the October date unless they work out an agreement with the city to pay for fire protection.

It is expected that the township will work out the details prior to October 1 and maintain fire protection to the residents of the township.

The closure comes after a long struggle by several residents of the township to see that the landfill problems would be taken care of. The landfill has long been a problem for the city since the State of Michigan changed the laws regarding landfill operations. The state has allowed the landfill to operate due to the Headlee Amendment which, if the state had ordered the landfill closed, the state would have to provide the money to pay for the closure. The state has provided a series of wells to check on the condition of the landfill and has since determined that some contaminants have been found in one of the wells.

At the noon discussion earlier Tuesday, the operator of the landfill told the members of the commission present that the means which the DNR used to take the samples for checking the condition of the landfill were not done according to the proper procedures. Ed Gay, the person who is running the landfill for the C. H. Smith Co., said that when the wells were dug he watched a spill of gasoline when workers were taking fuel for other trucks from the drilling rigs.

He also stated that when the sample was taken, the lines used to drop the container down the well was allowed to drag through the dirt around the well and could have been contaminated at that time.

The DNR has long had a problem with the landfill and has tried to have it closed for many years, calling it an unlicensed operation.

Refuse which used to go to the landfill will probably now go to the Charlevoix County Landfill by Iron-

Township cited for non-action on landfill

Even though a decision by the city to close the Boyne City landfill in Evangeline Township is expected this week, township residents continue to raise questions and demand answers.

At a township meeting Monday night, residents pelted the board with questions about the fire protection the township has received from the city since the landfill was established.

Township officials explained that the fire protection is and has always been separate from the landfill agreement. The only connection, they said, was that the fee paid by the city to use the landfill is based on the cost of fire protection it provides the township.

Township residents pay about .6 mills for fire protection, amounting to about $7,000.

"The money that comes in on tax collection goes to general fund, we take out of it whatever is needed to pay for fire protection," township clerk Anne Thurston explained.

But resident Marsha Towne questioned what appeared to be a glaring error in 1979. According to figures Towne obtained from township records, there was no payment made for fire protection in 1979, and also no payment from the city for landfill fees.

"That year didn't just disappear," charged Towne.

Records show that the 1978 payment was not made until 1979 and no payment was made for 1979.

Thurston explained the late payment as being her error as a new clerk and the city made no issue of it. None of the board members could immediately explain what happened to the 1979 payment.

"I don't think this board can seek out why things were done the way they were 20 years ago," Thurston said.

Towne also suggested that previous township boards had been intimidated by what was referred to as "free fire protection" in a letter written by a former township attorney.

"Evangeline Township does not have free fire protection and never has had," she said.

Board members agreed and Betty Houser charged Towne with "taking bits and pieces out of the records."

"Mr. McTaggart (the lawyer) used unfortunate terminology," Thurston explained. "We understood. We understood. We understood."

But Towne sees a link between the lawyer's letter to the board and a decision by the board that shows up in township minutes dated Oct. 13, 1980—immediately after the letter was received.

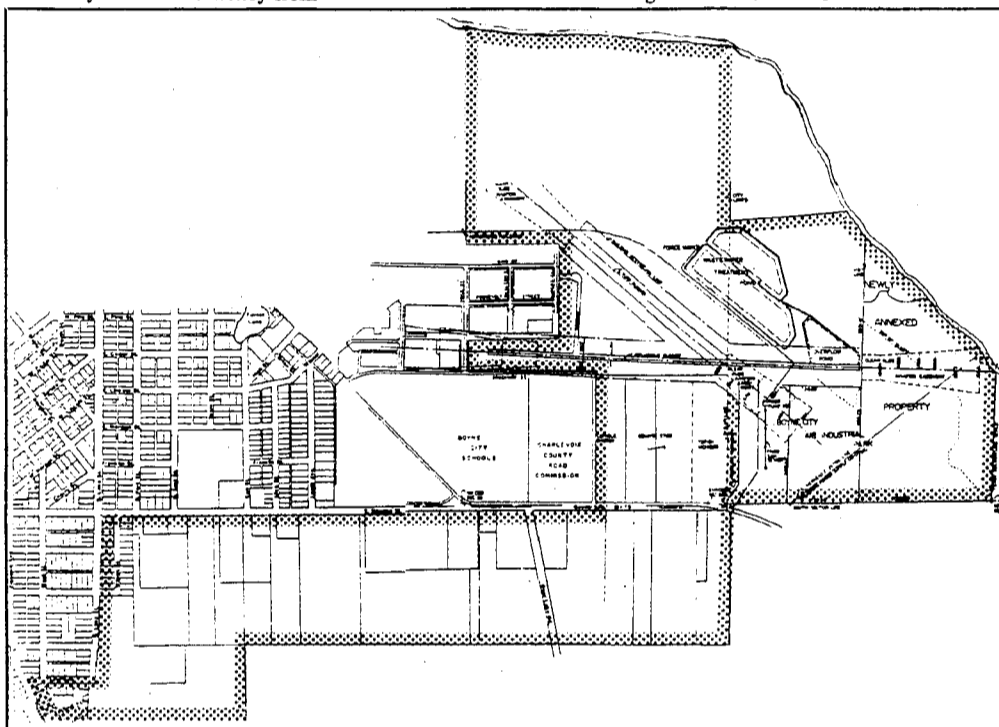

"The excerpt from the minutes says: 'Old business: The Clerk reported a letter had been sent to the City of Boyne City stating the Board's support of that governmental unit in its fight to keep the existing landfill as it is now located in Evangeline Township.'"

"We figured the board was working for us because the landfill was in direct violation of state laws," Eunice Genson said. "That's why the DNR is having so much trouble supporting the township board—a Township Supervisor Bessie Van Dorn and Thurston—were on the board when the letter was written, but neither could remember why they agreed to the action."

Genson said that after the first meetings the township had with the DNR about the landfill, she thought the township would do something to close the unlicensed facility.

"What really gets me is that for 13 years its been illegal," she added. "When something is illegal, as far as I am concerned its against the law."

The proposed TIFA [Tax Increment Financing Authority] zone will allow Boyne City to sell bonds for the construction of looped water and sewer mains within the shaded district. Taxes from the new construction within that area are expected to pay back the bonds.

BC Schools get low rate bonds

Boyne City schools sold their energy conservation improvement bonds to Merrill Lynch Capital Market for a rate of 8.128 percent interest after approving of the firm's low bid for the $475,000 package.

Merrill Lynch's bid on the interest was the lowest of six bidders wanting the new issue. Their bid came in at 8.128 percent per year.

Other bids were as high as 9.10081 or a total interest price of $258,237. Bids were received from E.F. Hutton, Glickenhous, W.C. Roney and others, including Northwestern State Bank, Ohio Company and First of Michigan Corporation.

There was approximately one percent between all of the bidders for the bonds.

According to Stauder-Barch Associates, who helped the school prepare the bid form, the school district should be pleased with the amount of bidders, and the low interest rates charged.

Superintendent Rich Kelly said that the firm told him it was a very good rate and reflects that the school system is in a very good position due to the growing school district and the budget surplus that the district has accumulated in recent years.

While the money is being spent on energy improvements, some of the projects have been completed, Bill Coberly told the board, Monday night. Coberly is working with the school system helping to decide what improvements needed to be done and doing the construction management on the projects. He told the board that the mechanical changes for the media center have been completed, along with the handicap ramps at the high school and the middle school. The firm is starting to look at the high school gym roof to decide what will be necessary to repair the leaks and provide some insulation to the gym.

Boyne schools OK 3 year MESPA contract

Boyne City Schools finally settled their contract with the Michigan Educational Support Personnel Association when they agreed to accept the conditions the union group had tentatively agreed to previously at Monday night's school board meeting.

The agreement will cover from August 31, 1984 to August 1987 and is retroactive to last August. The MESPA personnel had been working without a contract for over a year in their negotiations with the school board.

The agreement calls for a three percent increase in base pay for the first year, 1984-85, plus as much as 4 cents per hour for secretaries, cooks, custodians, and bus drivers.

In the school year of 1985-86, the MESPA personnel will get a four percent increase, and in 1986-87 a five percent increase along with as much as a 15 cent per hour increase.

Further, all new bus drivers will go to a salary schedule instead of pay plus mileage as they have had previously.

Board negotiator John Mathers said that, "We are happy with the contract and all of the board members seemed to be pleased with the outcome."

"We feel that both sides received what they were asking for and that through the give and take of negotiations, both ended up happy with the result," he continued.

The agreement compares with the same raise schedule as the teachers' union had negotiated, 3-4-5 percent.

Other benefits negotiated by the union included an agency shop clause for all new employees, and an increase in life insurance from $5,000 to $10,000.

Many hours of work put in by Michigan Youth Corps workers were destroyed Saturday in a few minutes when drivers of vehicles with off-road capacity tore up a newly seeded area established to prevent further erosion on the slope of Avalanche Preserve Park in Boyne City.

The mulch and erosion control netting was torn from the slope in an incident that Assistant Police Chief Randy Howard said is still under investigation. Howard said citations have been issued this summer to motorcyclists caught driving on the steep hills, but many more violators have not been apprehended.

"There are always more up there that aren't caught," he said.

Charlevoix Soil and Water Conservation and Boyne City Youth Corps workers worked on the project for two summers.

The City of Boyne City has invested $8,000 in the project, which includes a wooden stairway up the slope.

Landfill

When several residents agreed with the closure of the landfill, they suggested the city provide a transfer site that they could use to dump their refuse.

Frykberg told them that while this was first thought of as a suggestion, investigation with companies that would have to provide the transfer station told the city they would not need one as they are too close to a licensed landfill.

Commissioner Steve Moody again told the commission that the city should get entirely out of the refuse business, and they could not control private industry. Rates for the service would probably go up, but due to competition, they could also go down.

The discussion of rates created a diversion to what the intent of the commission was, and they finally voted to close the landfill.

The subject of licensing of the haulers was brought up as a part of a discussion that the city get entirely out of the business. Moody wanted to rescind the entire ordinance that deals with the refuse problem.

Part of the ordinance also allows the city to license carriers, and the intent of the commission seemed to be to try to eliminate that problem also. It was agreed to let the matter be tabled until the city can see what problems may evolve from the closure first.

Towne also showed board members pictures she had taken at the landfill that morning before it opened to refuse haulers showing garbage left uncovered over the weekend and eroded areas where piled of covered garbage were tumbling down and becoming exposed because of erosion of the mounds caused by heavy rains.

Towne remarked that this was what the city had insisted was a landscaping technique.

Towne attempted to question the board further about their actions concerning the closing of the landfill, but she was denied the floor.

"I'm not willing to answer one question after another as if its an inquisition," Houser said. "We are an elected board and I don't think we have to sit here and be questioned. If you have problems with the members of this board, the time to take care of it is at the next election or in a recall."

"We've taken all the action we can on the dump at this point," she added.

But other residents would not let the issue drop. Penny Belford told the board they should be doing what the township residents tell them to, not what the city tells them to.

But township officials defended their position.

"We can't padlock the dump," Township Treasurer Myrtle Wasylewski said. "We aren't a law enforcement agency."

Evangeline

"Two wrongs don't make a right," added Susanne Winter. "We can't now illegally close it. Don't believe we are leaving you alone on this."

But the frustrations of living close to the landfill where test wells have shown contaminated groundwater were evident in Carol Rozynski.

"You tell me to be patient but when I read headlines that say 'Toxins Found in Groundwater at Landfill in Evangeline Township' I go right down town to buy my water because I don't dare give it to my children," she said. "You don't know how I feel and you don't live right next to the dump."

"I feel so sorry for her, but what can we do?" asked Thurston after Rozynski left the township hall. "I don't know what else I can do right now."

It gets cold there, too

After a long winter, 50 degrees feels warm. But imagine a summer-time high of minus-25 degrees. That's what it's like in Central Antarctica, says National Wildlife's Ranger Rick magazine. The average year-round temperature is minus-90 degrees.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Now that all the bruhaha is over about one of the largest newspapers in the state being sold to another large newspaper outfit, let me tell you about this deal I would like to offer to anyone.

Just like the News, there was a time, just a few months ago, when you could have bought stock in the County Press for a little more than a couple of cents a share.

But since the News sale to Gannett, all of the prices of newspapers have been valued upward drastically. Especially in the state of Michigan.

After all, when a newspaper has been losing money for many, many years, and the thing still sells for some umpteen millions of dollars, then all of us other newspapers have a chance to make a few bucks ourselves.

Therefore, I am offering stock in this newspaper now at the rate of 633 percent above what the going rate was a couple of weeks ago.

That 10 dollar a share price would not only cost $633. Such a deal it would make for me.

No wonder the Cranbrook organization wanted to see the newspaper sold. They made about 40 million from stock that was worth only a couple million.

Now people are saying that Gannett "bought" the News out of trouble, but I don't think it was the case. The News is probably the largest newspaper in the Gannett chain outside of USA Today.

And those folks are losing money on that every day.

So if you want to invest your hard-earned money into something that could be a great profit maker on the one hand, and a tax loss on the other, just give me a call.

I will be happy to talk to you about all of the possibilities of losing and making money in the newspaper business.

Speaking of making money, some of the businesses here in this area are telling me that the summer was good, soft, bad, excellent, above projections, about the same as last year, and average.

Not a bad group of answers. Just take your choice. My only objection to the summer is that it was too short.

I never got a chance to bask in the sun, laze around on the boat, take a vacation or any of the other things that I had hoped I would be able to sneak in this past summer.

As one of the kids of today would say, "Oh well."

I see that another car maker is looking for a site to locate a plant here in the US of A.

Well, foiled in the eternal quest for a Saturn plant here in the north, I would like to be among the first to offer this possible solution to the new plant craze.

The latest plant looking to locate is Toyota. And they, according to United Press, are looking for a site so they would be the only car maker in the state.

Well, if we could take Karl Waldner's plan of making a state of Superior.....

If Boyne City is somewhat noted for the mushroom hunting in the springtime, the mushrooms of fall are just about upon us.

Someone who works for me and shall remain nameless, brought into the office three puffballs for me to try.

Now I know that they contain some of the rocket fuel stuff that makes a lot of mushrooms dangerous and poisonous to eat, but that, if I can remember from conversations with Nancy Weber who studies mushrooms, gets cooked out when they are fried. I might be tempted to try one.

So if next week you try to call me to buy some stock in the newspaper, and you don't reach me, try the hospital first, and if I'm not there, call Jimmy Stackus.

We are in the midst of a "how to" explosion in literature with books and articles abounding on how to construct everything from baby cribs to ballrooms and how to renovate anything from our medicine cabinets to our minds. All this literature, in addition to enriching its authors, is meant to inspire us to attempt new projects. And, mostly, it does. I wonder, though, if too much literature hasn't driven good people away from the loveliest of projects: raising children.

"How to" books on child-rearing have been around for years, but there are more of them now and we seem to hear about every last one of them. Their authors are on our television screens almost daily telling us why their theories about raising kids are better than the theories of their fellow experts.

Married couples, thinking about having children and looking for information on the subject, need only to tune in on one of the TV talk shows to hear a childhood expert speak. After hearing several experts with very different views speak, potential parents can't help wondering if children are a worthwhile investment. Raising children is known to be an uncertain venture at best and the disagreements among the experts make it look even riskier. Nevertheless, they decide to move on and consider all the factors involved.

First of all there's the cost. Assuming that insurance covers the medical bills, there's still the furniture to buy for a baby's room. They could just buy a dresser for the baby's clothes and keep the infant in the top drawer, but the experts don't recommend this cost-cutting measure. After the start-up costs, there are the expenses for upkeep. They're not bad at first with only the cost of boxes of paper products, cans of liquid and small jars of slippery stuff. The expenses grow, however, as the child grows.

There's the time involved, 18 years of time. Parents don't have to be with children every second, of course, only the time when they're not working. The rest of the time, they have to hire sitters, which runs up the cost.

And then there's the work. Children do not come pre-civilized. They aren't too crazy about efforts to make them civilized either. It's a lot of work. Experts tell them how much work in depressing detail.

After careful consideration, a great many thoughtful couples are deciding not to become parents. And that's regrettable because they'll miss the grandest adventure they could ever turn their hands and their hearts to.

There's no doubt that the "how to" explosion in literature is generally a fine thing; it just needs some work in areas of over-production. For starters, a five-year moratorium on new child-rearing books should go into effect immediately. I have some other ideas about what should be done with the authors of these books, but the moratorium should provide enough relief for now.

Yes, there was another bank in Boyne City, as this picture of a Boyne City State Bank shows. The bank opened in 1896 in a new brick building which was located on the corner of Water and Park Streets where the Ben Franklin store is today. The bank burned down in 1907. An abstract company was kind of on the second floor. Next door was the Hub, which was kind of a general store that sold men and ladies' apparel as well as dry goods and shoes. We were unable to identify the little building next to The Hub.

Sometimes I get lazy and do not make anything up for this column. That's when I go ahead and tell the truth. It takes imagination and hard work to whip up a believable falsehood. But it's easy to tell the truth: all you have to do is report it as it actually happened.

And that's what I'm going to do right now.

One hundred years ago four of us boys left high school after it was out for the day and ran down to the lake. We swiped two rowboats that were often rented out by an old bachelor whose name I've forgotten on purpose. With two boys in each boat we rowed out into the middle of Lake Charlevoix. When we started to get tired one boy yelled a nasty at us and we banged his boat with an oar. That did it. An oar fight broke out right there over a thousand feet of water. Of course our boat tipped over. What a frightening thing that was! I swam what seemed like several miles through high waves and at long last, utterly exhausted, gave up the ghost as well as my life. Suddenly I stepped on something hard. It was Boyne City.

That taught me something I shall never forget: If it wasn't for Boyne City I wouldn't be here.

We are not envious of our friend's beautiful new home, his huge TV, big car, expensive boat and recreational vehicles, but it does make you wonder how anyone can stand it to be that far in debt.

Letters

George to go to court

Editor,

I, Art George, Pres. of Little Traverse Bay Chapter of Salmon Ass'n. Mich. Inc. took the issue of closing the Jordan River to fishing and placing of a salmon wier directly to the Governor, Senator Irwin and Rep. Pat Gagliardi at the Democratic Pig Roast at Foster's Trout Ponds in Petoskey Sunday afternoon, with the promise of top priority action.

We can not and will not tolerate this disrespect of human rights and laws. We feel that the people of this state should have the right to share in the natural resources of these salmon when they come into our rivers. We will not tolerate the closing of the Jordan River to fishing. Our laws designate the Jordan to be open to fishing the year around.

The mandate of our legislators was ignored. The DNR never asked or obtained a zoning permit from South Arm Twp., never consulted or asked permission from the Charlevoix Co. Commission to install this fish wier.

Act 230 of 1926 mandates that all DNR rulings have to be published 21 days and a copy of the ruling has to be filed with all County Clerks in the area where it concerns or has effects.

If the Governor and our senator and representative can not or do not correct this issue then we will be compelled to take court action.

County requests volunteers for help with numbering system

Charlevoix County will have a new numbering system in use by the first of next year and it could be as early as next month if more help is received.

Howard M. Carson, building official, said he had hoped to have the new numbers issued by the first of September so that resorters would have known their number before leaving the area, but the lack of personnel has slowed down the project.

"We hope we can get it out soon," he said. "People are getting anxious."

Nearly all the work that remains to be done is office work done by Debbie Kennedy, who has been working on the project for three weeks. There had been youth corps workers during the summer and the one experienced office worker returned to college.

"Getting the paperwork out is the biggest problem," said Russell Geck, building inspector. He added that there was volunteer help in the earlier stages of the project, but none now. Volunteer typists would greatly speed the progress in the final stage, he said.

Geck said if volunteers would help type new addresses for people in their townships, it would be a big help.

"Get us 500 labels in a week, and we'll be happy," he said.

There are 7,000 to 12,000 address labels to be typed before anyone can receive their new address.

Geck said the original plan called for the new numbers to be provided one township at a time, but the county commissioners decided to issue all the numbers—except those delayed by special circumstances—at once.

Geck said every rural dwelling in the county will be given a five-digit number. The number is determined by dividing the length of the road in feet within that section of the township by the number of feet the front door or driveway of the house is from the starting point in that section. A number is assigned approximately every 5.7 feet.

Geck said that it took two summers to measure the county roads. All roads except some private roads have been measured.

"I think we've done one helluva job for the three and one-half years we've had it," Geck said.

Houses in the county currently have box numbers with few numbers available per mile, causing a number/letter system to be used in the more densely populated rural areas. Houses in some areas have numbers assigned by Consumers Power in 1957.

"We are going to give everybody an individual number," Geck said.

He added that there is much cooperation needed in such a project.

"You don't realize when you start something like this how many people are involved," he said.

Carson said that the biggest benefit of the new numbering system is that the county will never need to be numbered again. It will also enable a house to be pinpointed within a quarter of a mile on the county map using the house number.

"Fire and police departments and ambulance services will find it much easier to get around," Carson said, noting that precious time is often lost searching for homes under the box number system.

He added that it will also be a big help to the postmasters. "They are pushing for it," he said.

Other benefits of the new numbering system will include an updated county map with complete road names and a numbering grid. Townships have also cooperated by replacing some missing road signs.

Geck said that by next summer, the system should be complete so when a new house is built, it will be given a number almost immediately.

"It will never be finished, we know that," Geck said.

Justin Parks of East Jordan represented Charlevoix County at the State 4-H horse show held at Michigan State University in East Lansing, held Aug. 20th.

Justin showed his pony Double C Jamie and received a bronze award in Fitting and Showmanship, Stock and Seat Equitarian, and Western Pleasure. Justin has won several other awards throughout the summer, including: High Point Horse, three times; Reserve High Point, two times; and Grand Champion Pony.

The State 4-H horse show is an annual event designed to give 4-H horse project members an opportunity to evaluate their horsemanship skills by competing against youth from across the state with similar interests. 483 4-H members from 56 Michigan counties participated in the show.

Elm Pointe ends summer season with memories abounding, workers busy closing for winter

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER

Peaceful. As the lax, hazy days of summer give way to colored leaves and school buses, the scene at East Jordan's Elm Pointe becomes quiet. The water laps against the lush, still-green grass shore and is disturbed most of the day only by the ducks who swim along looking for something to eat. On sunny days the warmth of the golden rays are gratefully accepted by the marigolds, roses and gladioli, still blooming heartily. Soon the dock will be pulled in by the city workmen and the caretaker will move out of the lovely home, once a summer getaway. The gate will be closed as the Historical Museum goes into mothball hibernation for the winter. Until that gate's closing, however, there are the faithful few who will still come almost daily to read on the park benches, watch the boats, and even swim in the increasingly colder waters of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

How quickly the summer has gone! In June the water was still very cold, and crystalline blue. The eager beaver little swimmers were there as often as Moms could be cajoled into taking them. They would swim until they were shivering and then run on the grass until they were warmed or they would lie on their towels in the sun, while Mom read and just enjoyed the beautiful peace that seems to pervade the place.

Picnics were often the kick-off for an afternoon of old-fashioned pleasure. The water is eternally wonderful for the children who can swim. The tots delight in the very shallow edge, where water and sand can be played in, yet the grass is close enough for comfort. Moms and Dads swim, relax, sunbathe, chat with friends, read and just daydream.

Every day is gorgeous at Elm Pointe, but a sunny day is heavenly. The large trees provide shade when needed, but also allow spots of heat to warm cold bodies after a long time in the water.

Looking across the lake often brings images of sailboats drifting lazily by, or faster boats with water skiers flashing across the surface. The water is usually shimmering peacefully, with glints of sun convincing anyone who sees it of his own richness at having been in this place on this perfect day. Swans, Canadian geese, and ducks grace the scene frequently, drawing oohs and aahs from newcomers and receiving smiles of contented continuity from those who have frequently been there.

This small piece of land juts out into the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix just enough to harbor the outlet of Monroe Creek as it flows through the woods on the property of Elm Pointe. A small cove, meant just for swimming, is created and comes in to form a lovely picnic area hidden from the traffic and noise of M-66.

Another summer ends. Imprinted on the memories of little Tom Sawyers and Betsys are the wonderful hours of swimming and chasing Frisbies. Images of beautiful art works will swim all year in the minds of those who attended the Portside Art Fair. The realism of local history will bring lively recall for first time and many time visitors of the Portside Historical Museum. Words nor pictures can truly capture the mood of Elm Pointe. Only the memories and peace it purveys remain.

City of East Jordan Council Proceedings

PROCEEDINGS OF THE EAST JORDAN CITY COUNCIL

The East Jordan City Council met in regular session, Sept. 3, 1985, at 7:30 p.m., Mayor Sweet presiding and all members present. Minutes were approved and authorization was given to pay $49,686.69 in bills.

Further Council action: Adopted a resolution to place the Harbor Project funding on the November ballot; allowed Elm Pointe to remain open through Recreation Commission's recommendation to install a 4x8 plywood informative sign at the Tourist Park entrance; adopted a resolution to amend the 1985-86 budget; accepted the TriVest Company's offer to pay their $10,000 pledge for a sewer extension in 4 monthly installments of $2,500 each; rejected all bids received on Phase I of the Harbor Project; authorized the Emergency Planning Committee to continue working on a house numbering system; heard a complaint from two city residents in regards to a landlord neglecting his property that resulted in pests expanding to neighboring homes, after listening to the complaint. Mayor Sweet charged the Charter & Ordinance Committee to formulate an ordinance to prevent future similar problems; again discussed Glen's application for a takeout packaged liquor license; awarded a paving bill to Hodgkiss & Douma at $32.98 per ton; authorized to proceed with installing dock planks at the Tourist Park boat launch; allowed the city ambulance to be on standby at varsity and junior varsity football games.

Boyerne City Historical Society 1 year old

What local organization has grown from 12 members to over 100 in a year? Easy answer: the re-activated Boyerne City Historical Society.

One year ago, 12 ladies assembled at the Horton Bay home of Billie Beckenhauer and organized a group supportive to restoration and preservation of the area's historic buildings, documents, photographs and artifacts.

In less than one year the society boasts over 100 members—both ladies and gentlemen—and fundraising profits in excess of $3,000.

Last spring the group established the Caboose Museum as temporary headquarters for the area's artifacts until a permanent structure can be established. The Caboose Museum, the last car in the White Pine Line, is located on the track by the Depot Restaurant.

Additionally, the group sponsored a Christmas benefit dinner, a spring tea and the Boyerne Area Home Tour.

To celebrate their first year the society is having a birthday party, and the community is invited. The celebration will begin after the meeting Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall. New and old friends interested in the work of the historical society are invited to attend.

Allergy sufferers, information available from lung association

Want to go sailing 100 miles offshore and stay there until the first frost? If you're one of the 19 million Americans whose summer fun is interrupted by the sneezes, runny nose, and watery eyes of hay fever, being stranded in the middle of a body of water for relief of hay fever miseries may not sound like such a bad idea.

Hay fever, which is not really a fever at all, results when pollen, especially ragweed, stimulates the antibodies within the immunosystem. When the individual is exposed again to the pollen (inhaling it in the nose, for example), the antibodies trigger specialized cells throughout the body to produce powerful defensive substances. This is what causes the miserable symptoms associated with hay fever.

Uncontrollable sneezing, stuffy and runny nose, red, teary, swollen, and itchy eyes, and itching of the nose, mouth, and throat are the most common symptoms of hay fever. These effects differ in degree according to the individual, ranging from mild to severe.

In the past few years hay fever victims were advised to read the pollen count, but according to the American Lung Association of Michigan, daily pollen counts are not dependable forecasts of hay fever symptoms. Nor are the weather trends in your area, such as wet or dry spells.

Since not all hay fever victims react to the same pollen, what is a high pollen count for one sufferer is a mere trifle for another. To make matters worse, the pollen count is only valid for the local area. The information is not useful even a couple of blocks away.

If you suffer the symptoms of hay fever, because there is less pollen near large bodies of water. Air purification systems also may help many people.

For more information on hay fever, contact your nearest American Lung Ass'n of Michigan office or write to the state office at 403 Seymour Ave., Lansing, MI 48914. There's a toll free number for your convenience at 1-800-292-5979. In the Greater Lansing area, call 484-4541.

East Jordan approves ballot wording for harbor proposal

The City of East Jordan will ask voters to approve a $550,000 bond issue to fund the harbor project on November 5.

At last week's meeting, Council approved wording for the ballot proposal that will request half of the total projected cost of the project, less $100,000 already allocated. The remaining funds are expected to come from a Michigan State Waterways Commission grant.

Council decided earlier to abandon its plan to issue the bonds through a building authority, in favor of allowing the residents to vote on the issue.

Stratton Brown, a representative of Miller-Canfield, a bonding agent, said that a general obligation bond is generally "much more marketable than a building authority bond issue."

He added that the city will also have more flexibility "because the ability to levy taxes for the payment of these general obligation bonds is unlimited and the city would have the right to and would be required to levy whatever taxes necessary."

Interest rates will be one-half to one percent lower with the general obligation bonds. Brown said the difference on a 20-year bond issue at $600,000 would be a savings of $40,000 to $45,000. Council hopes to issue the bonds at about eight and one-half percent interest.

Brown said the bonds could be issued for sale four to six weeks after the election.

City estimates are that the bonds would be funded by the levying of two and one-half to two and three-quarters mills during the initial years of the marina.

Mayor Pat Sweet said she hopes that revenue from the completed marina facility will reduce the millage within five years. She added that current millages will be retired in 1988 and 1990.

"If the revenues come in from the marina as expected and the other mills are retired, hopefully we will be back to no mills in about five years," Sweet said. "There's a very good possibility we won't have to put the burden on the people nearly as much."

Council would determine bond length after the election, with council considering 15 to 20 years, depending on the interest rate.

The wording of the ballot proposal also gives the city the ability to continue with a scaled-down version of the project if the Waterways grant is not received next fall.

Council also heard from two residents who complained about pests in their homes that they said resulted from the infestation of a neighboring rental unit.

One of the affected residents, Mabel Hudkins, said she requested help from several government agencies but was told to approach city council about the problem.

Public Works Superintendent Mike Dionne said that he had given the property owner notice that the structure was "blighted" and improvements were made, but apparently not before the neighbors had been affected.

City attorney Scott Beatty told Hudkins that she might have a case for small claims court, but there is little that city council can do.

"We don't have an ordinance to answer this problem," Beatty told her.

Sweet charged the Charter and Ordinance Committee to provide an ordinance to require property owners to maintain their property.

Dionne reported on the progress of the city's efforts to number all structures. Calling it a "very worthwhile project," Dionne said they would start on the new system this week and should have a format by the first of the year.

"We have a mighty big job ahead of us," he told council. "It's no small undertaking."

He added that door-to-door contact must be made at every structure to verify plat and building numbers and later to issue the new numbers.

Council again discussed sending a response to the Michigan State Liquor Control Commission concerning the issuance of a resort liquor license to Glen's Market, and again without reaching an agreement.

Sweet told the council that under state law, only one store should be allowed to sell packaged liquor in a community the size of East Jordan and that two were already in the community because those stores had their licenses before the law went into effect.

She said she has been asked by residents why council members did not indicate to the Liquor Control Commission that they are opposed to the issuing of a liquor license to a third store.

"I don't think it's in the best interest of our community," she said of the third license, later calling the issue "a moral question in the community."

However, council was evenly split for and against an attempt to influence the Commission.

Councilman Carl Beck said that to try to prohibit Glen's from obtaining a liquor license would be restraint of trade. He added that he saw no problem with having three stores selling liquor in East Jordan.

In other action, council authorized the installation of dock planks to serve as a launching facility at the Tourist Park, hired an engineering firm to plan for the extension of the sewer along south M-66 to provide for a new 24-unit apartment complex, and authorized requests for bids to purchase two pick-up trucks for water and sewer use.

Boyerne girls reach finals in Laker tourney.

The Boyerne City Ramblers girls' basketball team opened their season Thursday night playing the second game of the Central Lake Tournament and winning 23-18. The early season tourney has been hard on all the teams entering, as the girls viewed injury after injury in the early games. Boyerne was not to be spared either as they too watched one of the guards go out of action with a knee problem.

In first period action, the Ramblers took a 7-2 lead over the hosting team, the Central Lake Trojans. Central Lake committed an unusual amount of fouls in the quarter, but Boyerne could not put the free throws through the hoop.

In the second period, the Ramblers stretched their lead to a 12-6 margin getting two fast break baskets from Linda Bieganski.

After halftime, Central Lake began to throw up a lot of shots as the Ramblers attempted to put more pressure on the ball, but the Trojans countered and controlled their offensive boards enough to pull within a basket by quarters end 16-14.

With one minute expired from the fourth quarter clock, the Trojans tied the score at 16-16, but a heads up assist from Lisa Caverly to Julie Montgomery in the key gave Boyerne a slight lead.

Central Lake came back to tie the score again at 18-18, but the Ramblers put even more pressure on the ball handler to keep them in check. Michele Vroman gave the Ramblers a one point lead on a timely free throw, and two minutes later wrapped both ends of a one for one for a 21-18 score. With a minute left in the game Linda Bieganski closed out the scoring for both teams as she hit from near the right sideline for the win.

Montgomery led the Rambler scorers with seven points, while Bieganski had six.

Other Ramblers scoring in the game were Kerry Harvey and Heather Thayer with three points each, while Colleen Toton and Vroman had two points apiece.

Due to an untimely deadline we were unable to print the championship game and will have full details in next week's issue.

BC Schools

In other action, the board heard a presentation on the proposed Tax Increment Financing Act that the city is planning on using to develop the water and sewer lines to the new industrial park for the Lexa-Mar Corporation building that is the first of the possible 10 new firms coming to Boyerne City as parts of the Magna International Corporation.

The TIFA area includes a part of the city that would allow the city to loop water and sewer lines. The act allows the city to make those improvements in the areas outlined through a series of public hearings. The city would then be allowed to sell bonds on the general market to pay for the improvements.

Properties within the TIFA Zone would not see property taxes increased for any improvements they make on the property going to the school system for four years as all of the monies generated would go for the paying of the bonds.

At the end of the four years, the school system, which is the greatest beneficiary of the taxing system, would then start receiving taxes from the properties within the zone.

Boyerne City Manager, Randy Frykberg told the board what the TIFA will mean to the schools and the city. "This can be an exciting concept for increasing and continued growth for the city," he said.

Superintendent Rich Kelly agreed, saying, "This is exciting. It will also offer terrific opportunities for the students in the years ahead."

Frykberg said that projects such as the air-industrial park are part of a plan to increase the industrial base of the community so as to be not completely dependent upon the tourist industry with only a couple of months of activity. He said that the industry coming to town will expand the base of the economy, making it a year around base for the community and the school district.

The board then approved in other business, the building of a slightly larger home to be constructed by the building trades section of students for next year, and heard from Harold Hamlin, the teacher working on the building trades program, that the school district should start looking for additional home sites as this would be the last house they could construct on Alice Street.

Then the board finally made the decision to purchase new lights for the football field. The project has been under consideration for many years as the light level in the middle of the field was down to zero. With the new lights, the middle of the field will have at least 30 candlepower.

Bowers Electric won the bid to replace the lighting for a fee of $17,500. The project is supposed to be finished before the first home football game if everything is done according to the schedule set up. Weather may be a factor in seeing the completion at that time but it will be completed this fall.

The board then gave the lights from the field to the Boyerne City Lions Club with the provision that they be used somewhere within the school district. The Lions Club had suggested at one time of putting lights on the ball fields at Rotary Park.

In other action, the board approved the paying of Middle School coaches and made some assignments for coaches in the Middle School girls' basketball program. They also approved the student and faculty handbooks for all schools, transferred $3,000 from the general fund to the athletic fund and heard a report on the number of students in the schools for the 85-86 school year. The student count is up six students over last year.

They also hired three new teachers, Kathy Schofield to replace Peggy Suedhoff for one semester, Wendy Stad for a replacement for Mrs. Corine Babb, and Mrs. Nancy Huff, who will be teaching special education for two hours a day and then taking Mrs. Hosier's class in the afternoon. Mrs. Hosier will be teaching the academically advantaged students during the afternoon.

Landfill

In other action at the commission meeting, they awarded the low bid of $3285 for the repair of the roof on the wastewater treatment building to Hunt Roofing Co. of Petoskey. They also gave preliminary approval for a license transfer request from Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Toomey to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rewald. The city will have to make formal approval when they get the request from the State Liquor Control Commission at a later date. The city then approved the setting up of a Tax Increment Financing Authority and then designated the boundaries of the authority district within which the authority would have powers. The district is used as a development tool and helps to bring new industry to the community. When approved, the district will take whatever new taxes are gained from the development of the district and apply those funds to paying off of bonds that would be used to develop water and sewer services within the area. The district boundaries include the new air-industrial park which will be the site for the new 10 million dollar factory that LexaMar is planning to build in the park. The water and sewer mains would be looped and would allow the city to serve those in the area better, Frykberg told the commissioners. In other public hearings, the city approved a lot split on Lewis Ave. and agreed to a 12 year tax commercial facilities exemption certificate on the east half of the former Schaffer Building. They also reapportioned Ruth (Pat) Wulff and John Kujawski to terms on the Airport Advisory Board.

DNR to promote use of rustic campgrounds

Boasting more than 14,000,000 acres of Michigan forest and a wealth of wildlife and water activities, the Department of Natural Resources has undertaken a major campaign to familiarize Michigan residents with the pleasures of rustic camping. The major campaign messages will be carried by the state's top-rated radio stations as public service announcements and as news releases in the state's newspapers and periodicals. Posters and artwork have been developed to illustrate the very rustic nature of rustic camping, and Forest Management Division personnel are inviting the public to enjoy "Some of Michigan's finest resorts for just $4 per night."

Although the campaign will begin this fall, plans to extend and increase the effort are scheduled for early spring. Anyone interested in receiving a free Directory to Michigan's State Forest Campgrounds should write to Information Services, Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909.

Red Devils take opener despite sloppy ball handling, 26-6

BY STEVE GEE
The East Jordan Red Devils started off the '85 season with some good and bad showings in their 26-6 defeat of the Elk Rapids Elks.

The Red Devils put together almost 400 yards of total offense, but seven fumbles (two of which were lost) and costly penalties kept this game from being a blowout.

The Elks were stopped on their first possession and the Devils went to their bread and butter play, the run up the middle. Senior fullback Dave Russell broke off a couple of first down runs, but the drive was halted with East Jordan's first fumble.

The Elks took over and completed a 37 yard pass to the one-yard line and put the ball in the endzone on the next play for the first scoring of the game. The extra point kick attempt failed, but the Elks took an early 6-0 lead.

Later in the first quarter, Ted Snowden got things going for the Red Devils with a 24 yard punt return. Greg Kitson connected with junior Steve Dionne for a 29 yard pass. A while later another pass completion, this one to Mike Goebel, got the ball to the one where halfback Aaron Spence muscled in to put East Jordan on the scoreboard. Russell provided the extra-point kick to put the Red Devils on top at the end of the first quarter 7-6.

Bill Lytle came in at quarterback in the second quarter. Earlier in the week there were thoughts that Lytle may be out for six to eight weeks. That was not the case though and he had the Devils moving towards paydirt before a deflected pass was intercepted by Elk Rapids.

Spence got the ball back shortly when he picked off a pass and brought it back to the Elk Rapids 30 yard line. Dionne then carried the ball three straight times before scoring on a 13 yard run. The extra point kick was blocked and the Devils held a 13-6 lead.

The Devils got the ball back with 1:01 left in the half, but they were at their own 28 yard line. A couple plays later, Lytle connected with Goebel for a 26 yard pass completion which put them at the Elk's 34 yard line. With seven seconds remaining, the Devils sent three men wide but they were all covered so Lytle broke for the endzone. Junior Kim McKinnon made an excellent block which left one man to beat. But he couldn't quite make it as he was tackled at the four yard line. The Devils gave the fans a thrill and went into the locker room with a 13-6 lead at halftime.

The Devils scored on a 24 yard pass from Kitson to Goebel on their second possession of the second half and Russell added the kick to up their lead to 20-6.

East Jordan's final points came when Snowden broke through the line and scampered 56 yards for the final score of the game. The kick failed and the final score found the Red Devils on top of the Elks 26-6.

Kitson and Lytle shared the quarterback duties all night and both performed very well. Kitson completed three of four passes for 59 yards while Lytle completed two of four for 32 yards.

The Devils gained 293 yards on the ground and received fine rushing from all of their backs. Snowden led the Devils with 78 yards on six carries while Russell gained 61 yards, Dionne collected 58, Darren Graham totaled 43, Lytle collected 34 and Spence added 19 yards.

Senior Mike Goebel pulled down four passes for 62 yards and Dionne grabbed the other reception for 29 yards.

Defensively for the Devils, Dale Schroeder led the team with six solo tackles, seven assists and a fumble recovery. Jeff Gee totaled three solos, eight assists and a blocked punt. Russell had three solos and five assists and Bill Kraemer had three solos, three assists, a fumble recovery and a sack. Goebel also had a sack for the Red Devils. Spence recorded East Jordan's lone interception.

Coach Ted Jeffery was happy with their running attack and says he will pass more in up-coming games, but he wasn't very happy with the amount of fumbles and penalties.

East Jordan's Junior Varsity football team was also victorious over Elk Rapids as they defeated them 36-8 last Wednesday. Freshman Dave Freel scored three touchdowns (two on kickoff returns) and Sophomore Alvin Merrill scored the other two TDs for the Red Devils.

East Jordan will travel to Charlevoix next Friday for what should be a very exciting game. Charlevoix was defeated 21-14 by Petoskey in their season opener but always seem to give East Jordan a good fight.

Running through a hole in the line on one of the many power plays in the East Jordan-Elk Rapids game was Dave Russell, the fullback for East Jordan. The Red Devils pulled this play many times for first downs in the winning effort over the visitors, winning by a score of 26 to 6.

Boyerne golfers start with win

Rambler inexperience shows in 28-0 drubbing

Friday night's non-conference football opener took place in Harbor Springs where the Boyne City Ramblers played conservative tough football through the first half, only to have the game blown apart after halftime for a 28-0 loss to the Rams.

The young Rambler gridders made a good early game showing as they held a veteran Harbor Springs team to very little offense and occasionally exploited the Rams aerial defense with good dives through the line. The Rams expected to see more passes as they held back on defense while the Rambler offense sent their running backs upfield in short spurts to steadily work their way towards the goal line, only to have a scoring opportunity stolen away on the Rams' 25 yard-line.

The game opened with Harbor taking the kick and earning a quick first down, but on the next series of downs, Darren Everest and Tom Lasater put the skids on any further advances through the line. On third and six to go, the Ramblers forced the Rams to punt after Everest sacked the Harbor quarterback 14 yards in the backfield.

The Ramblers took the punt, but only came up with six yards when Keoki Kuheana sent the return punt to the Harbor 21 yard line. The Rams then pounded out another first down, but Kuheana and Everest charged through the Rams offensive line on second down to cause a loss of yardage and set up a pass attempt that fell incomplete, and another punt.

Boyerne took the ball on the 29 yard line where Brandon Billings got rolling with a nine yard run and Bill Wicker made the first down on the next play.

Quarterback Dan McGeorge handed off to Wicker and Glen LaCroix to a fourth and two situation and after the first period expired McGeorge got another first and 10 on a keeper around the right side.

The Ramblers then moved downfield to the Rams' 21 yard line where they lost the ball on a fumble. Three plays later Harbor returned the favor and Tom Lasater recovered for Boyne on the Rams' 24 yard line.

It looked as though the Ramblers might strike first, but a missed pass pattern enabled the Rams to intercept the ball and it went the length of the field for a

Bowlers in top 10

Local bowlers started the pro season off at Timber Lanes in Traverse City over the weekend and came home with a few dollars for their efforts.

Ron Grunch and Ron Peters, both of Boyne City, finished the first tourney in 12th and 13th place, respectively. Pat Weisler of East Jordan, came in 18th.

The tourney was won by Jack Hulse from Clare, MI, who rolled 2454 pins total for the preliminary and final events.

In game one of the Central Lake tourney, Linda Bieganowski [34] goes high over the defender to put up a shot. Julie Montgomery [32] waits to see if there will be a rebound. [See story on Page 5]

RIVERSIDE TIRE

The Discount Tire Specialist, located across from TOP O'MICHIGAN electric in Boyne City, owned and operated by Allan Valkema and Beryl Valkema, has been sold to the McClelland family.

Just 3 3/4 years ago Riverside Tire was started in the body shop of the old Chevy garage, now Boyne Auto Supply building. In that time business has burgeoned from a hoped-for $40,000 a year operation to almost $200,000 yearly... just specializing in the repair and vulcanizing of passenger and truck tires.

Allan Valkema, former pastor at the Horton Bay Methodist Church, and now at retirement from Tire Sales & Service, looks back to the Church as a way to continue his pastoral calling. The time spent in Tire Sales & Service has satisfied his need for continuing education in the "market-place" of life.

Doug McClelland, new owner, is no novice to Tire Sales & Service, coming from Vicksburg, Michigan, where he has been involved in such work. Doug is a licensed mechanic and is capable of performing work related to all phases of State requirements in "keeping the unit on the road."

NO!.....RIVERSIDE TIRE IS NOT GOING OUT OF BUSINESS.

RATHER RIVERSIDE TIRE IS EXPANDING ITS TIRE SALES AND SERVICE IN ORDER TO BETTER SERVICE THE BOYNE CITY AREA.

PRICES WILL REMAIN THE BEST IN THE AREA...SERVICE WILL CONTINUE TO EXCELL.

And so...Allan Valkema departs at days end, Friday, September 20, but not without saying a great big "THANK YOU, BOYNE CITY" for helping on the journey of continuing education. The bread has been purchased, paid for, and greatly appreciated. For now we say, "think of us as we serve God and fellow man in other ways."
