Boyne City to start replacing water mains

Boyne City will be starting a program to define and then replace water mains, City Manager Randy Frykberg said Tuesday at the noon meeting of the Boyne City commissioners.

Bids are being sought to start the program on Pine Street, which Frykberg said is one of the worst streets as far as watermain breaks.

"We have a series of patches on that line, all within several feet of each other," he told the commissioners, "and we have to go out for bids to replace the line."

Commissioner Steve Moody then asked what would be the next step and he was told the city is working on a plan to do the work on a block by block basis.

"We are going to have to start looking at replacing both the water and sewer mains on all of the streets," Moody then said, "and we'll probably have to set up special assessment districts in order to do it."

In the meantime, the city is setting up a schedule of streets that should be replaced in next year's budget.

"The age of all of the water lines is getting to us," commented Cass Toton. "We definitely have to start replacing lines as a way of reducing costs. Maintenance is eating up the budget."

In other action, the city officials presented the revised garbage and waste collection disposal ordinance to the commissioners so they could go through it prior to taking action at next Tuesday night's monthly commission meeting.

The ordinance will update the present ordinance in effect and will have a few changes in it to reflect the city getting out of the garbage business.

The city will no longer be issuing permits for hauling within the city limits and specifying the type of trucks that can be used by any company wanting to serve the city residents.

Cebe Gillespie, owner of Boyne-Land Refuse Company, told the commissioners that if they passed the new ordinance, the city will see more trucks traveling up and down the roads.

Boyneland is one of the companies that has been granted a permit to serve the city residents. With the city not issuing permits to haulers, Gillespie fears many other companies coming into town to serve the city.

He was told by commissioner Bill Grimm that that appeared to be unlikely as the cost of an enclosed, state inspected truck would probably limit the business interest in coming into the town.

Whatever the city decided to do with the ordinance, Gillespie said, "I don't like it."

The city is also making plans for the formal opening of the new Air-Industrial Park Thursday. Several state officials will be in attendance and Frykberg wanted to open the ceremony up to the town. The commissioners offered suggestions as to whom to invite, which included everyone from the high school band to those who may just be interested. The festivities are set for about 1 p.m.

Formal park opening set

The City of Boyne City today announced plans for a groundbreaking ceremony on Thursday, 7

November 1985, 1 p.m., at the site of the new Air-Industrial Park in Boyne City. Creation of an air/industrial park has been an objective of the City for several years. A 1982 grant from the State of Michigan for an engineering review of the City's infrastructure needs identified over $900,000 in improvements needed to make the park possible. The recent announcement of the joint Lexa lite-Magma "Lexamar" has been the catalyst needed to make the project go.

State Senator Mitch Irwin and Doug Ross, Director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, will be on hand representing the State to congratulate the City Commission, the City Planning Board and the City EDC for their successful hard work towards making the air/industrial park a reality. The State of Michigan recently awarded Boyne City a $300,000 grant for park improvements. Tax increment financing will be used for $550,000 of facility improvement costs and $150,000 of other City funds have been earmarked for the project.

Tom Garlock, Boyne City Clerk, said that there has already been an interest shown by several light industries to locate in the park.

LexaMar, which has already begun construction on its new plant, is the first industry to build in the park.

Rambos, Go-bots and Transformers were the popular costumes of the children at the annual Boyne City Elementary School Halloween parade this year. As this picture attests, some of the Rambos were shooting up the place spraying lead all around the football field as they made their way around the track. Most communities in the area experienced a quiet week as the Halloween season ended, according to school and city officials.

Charlevoix school board approves tax levy

The Charlevoix School Board met Monday night with several approvals being made that included an appropriation for monies to replace the elementary school roof, the snow removal problem was solved, and permission was granted to pay some bills.

The maximum tax allotment of 27.41 mills will be levied on property owners in the school district that included the additional 1.25 mills requested by the board for a new roof over the elementary school. From the general fund monies of expenditure included $2,739 for electricity and the general maintenance of the electrical system, $1,888 for teachers' supplies, and $1,428 for a copier machine.

As the Charlevoix school system operates the public library, a total of $589.94 was allotted for the library's electricity, while the board also approved the purchase of the H.W. Wilkes periodicals. The Chapter I Fund will receive $139.28, while the school system will get a rebate of $3,072.00 from the workmen's compensation insurance carrier as the school system will be credited for their low number of claims on the policy.

After running an ad for snow removal around the schools, just one bid was submitted to the board. Robert Drenth joked "Does that mean no snow?" Lambert Construction was the only bidder and several board members recommended the firm from past services.

A request was aired by Yvonne Wendt for permission to plan a trip to France for the French Club. Two packages were offered, the first being a four day and three night visit at a cost of four dollars per student. No meals were in-

East Jordan schools will be holding a book fair in the elementary school cafeteria next Monday from 1 to 5 p.m. The books are from the Volume 1 bookstore in Petoskey. They will be showing books for children as well as adults as part of the parent teacher conferences.

Boyne Falls will be holding their parent-teacher conferences this Thursday, Nov. 7. Conferences will be from noon until 8 p.m. Students will be dismissed that day at 11:20 and no lunch will be served.

Members of the State Board of Education Special Education Monitoring Teams will be visiting the intermediate school districts in the north this week to review the special education programs the schools provide handicapped children and youth. The teams make visits to the school districts every three years to ensure compliance with the state laws.

The county sheriff is warning the citizens of the county to be alert for deer crossing highways during the fall and winter months. They are presently experiencing two to three car-deer accidents a day. While most of the accidents involved property damage, some have included personal injuries and one resulted in a death of the motorist in the past few years.

Northwestern State Bank just sent out 774 Christmas Club checks to those who have the accounts. The amount of money, $329,369 represents a 11 percent increase over last year.

EJ man arrested for bank theft

Charlevoix police arrested a 46-year-old man last Friday as a suspect in the Oct. 18 armed hold-up of a Charlevoix County State Bank branch office.

Charles Francis Bennett was arraigned Tuesday on charges of bank robbery after his arrest at his home in East Jordan. He was also charged with the use of a firearm in commission of a felony.

According to Jack Mol, chief of police in Charlevoix, Bennett was known to be the owner of a motorcycle found off Ferry Road a few hours after the robbery, by some hunters. The bank robber used a motorcycle to get away from the bank branch.

Incumbents take Boyne, Marina passes in EJ

Boyne City's three incumbents earned the right to serve another term after the results were tallied in Tuesday's election, while in East Jordan, the big issue of a marina passed overwhelmingly.

In Boyne City, Bill Grimm was the top vote getter with 283 votes, followed by mayor Keith Fitzpatrick with 248 and Steve Moody with 210.

Vote totals for others running for the commissioner posts were Roger Smith with 163 and Rudy Florenski with 74.

In East Jordan the marina question on the ballot was passed by a vote of 320 yes to 186 no. The project called for general obligation bonds in the amount of $550,000 to finance about half the cost of developing a new marina in the downtown area of the city.

The other amendment in East Jordan that would allow a pay raise for the mayor and council members of $100 per year also passed by a vote of 303 yes, 200 no.

Winning positions on the city council were mayor Pat Sweet getting 416 votes in her unopposed race. Marie Yettaw with five write-in votes, won a seat to represent the 1st ward, while Al Joseph beat out Vern Stark 74 to 55 votes for the 2nd ward chair.

The third ward race was taken by first time candidate Donna Schmitt who garnered 130 votes to beat out former council member Ellen Cihak who had 89.

Boyne sports program set for overhaul

For quite some years now Boyne City's sports program has been lacking for contendership in all areas of competition. The exceptions for this year are the golf team who qualified for the state tourney, and the girls' basketball jayvees who are enjoying a modest winning season.

For the remainder of the year varsity boys' basketball may have a good outlook, but the major issue at this time concerns the football program. Boyne has been struggling on the gridiron year after year and many people are becoming concerned as to what the future holds for Boyne.

In the Michigan Huron Schools Athletic Association other schools are concerned with the issue also. Some of the schools are ranked at Class B while the majority are ranked in Class C. Ranks of B or C are determined by numbers of enrollment in the school and throughout the conference registrations total between 837 at Petoskey and 316 in Onaway and St. Ignace.

The Saints continue to field an impressive team year after year and earn state playoff status consistently in recent seasons. Obviously the Saints have a secret weapon on their side that is yet to be revealed to the Ramblers.

Some possibilities for the resolution of the issue will be discussed shortly when the M.H.S.A.A. head gets together on Nov. 13. Most of the planned agenda will include football as a whole and perhaps the different school districts will settle the problem.

The Gaylord Blue Devils, who finish this season on top of the football league, are classified at the B level of competition with 808 students enrolled. Gaylord will not compete against Boyne next year in an effort to win enough points to qualify them for a play-off berth after next year's season.

Gaylord's athletic director Tom Judge says that they "want to keep Boyne in the league," but elaborated that "they have to strengthen their program though." Boyne is a long time member of the M.H.S.A.A., but some local enthusiasts think Boyne should drop out of the league.

Boyne's athletic department applied for admission to the Ski Valley Conference some time last year, but were denied entry. Some of the smaller schools in Ski Valley felt that if Boyne were admitted, they would put themselves in the same position. As it stands now Boyne seems to be the only community with enough dissatisfied backers that wish to make a major change in their position.

On the eastern side of the conference major concerns are scheduling. It seems that some teams compete at home for several games and go on the road for several games. The athletic director at Rogers City, Stan Lentz, is of the opinion that each team in the conference should play against each other to determine conference champions.

Rogers City enrolls 416 students this year. Charlevoix's athletic directors share the same opinion with a whopping 482 students enrolled at Class C level competition. Boyne City presently enrolls 370 students in high school.

Other changes may occur in the Boyne City football program after the school board meets on Nov. 11 next week. It has been heavily rumored that petitions will be filed from the general public for dismissal of the Rambler coaches.

Although no official petitions have been seen by the Press, and the supposed carriers of petitions have successfully remained underground, an advertisement was published by a local shopper calling all Boyne City residents to attend the Nov. 11 meeting to voice their opinions on the sports program.

When the date arrives and the meeting comes to order, the truth of the matter will be revealed, and those who are in favor of the stand for changes will surface or they will not be heard.

Former BC art teacher's new love is basketweaving

Betty Adgate will offer a workshop on basketweaving at the Virginia McCune Community Arts Center at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 9.

Adgate, well known in the area after teaching art for 20 years at Boyne City and Gaylord, calls basketry a "new-found love."

"I've painted in watercolor on and off for years," the Boyne area resident says, "and a year ago I took a basket weaving workshop from Cathy Siterlet to learn in depth some of the things I had only touched on lightly before."

She was so taken with the craft that she began to practice extensively. Never far from a bundle of splints, reeds or twigs, Adgate says she spent many summer days aboard the family pontoon boat, floating on Walloon Lake, and dangling her reeds in the water to keep them pliable.

Adgate has come to prefer vines and twigs from the woods to commercial reeds for her baskets, however; a difference that gives much of her work a rustic, organic appeal.

"I love to work with things like that because the materials affect the shape of the basket," she says. "I'm still experimenting, trying all different forms so I can create something of my own."

Baskets hold a double charm for Adgate. She finds a fascination in making something that is beautiful in color and form, and also practical for the user.

Her own baskets go to work bringing in produce from her garden, carrying things up and down stairs, keeping odds and ends together in the car, and also decorating her home.

"One of our speakers at the Michigan Basketmaker's Convention this month told us, 'Now that baskets don't have to be functional, they can be works of art,'" Adgate said.

The arts and crafts, she says, are basically forms of communication.

"It's the artist and the materials in unison," she says. "Every time an artist puts materials together their natures come out. You can tell something about a person when you see something they've made."

Before she could take off in her own direction, Adgate said she had to learn the basics. It is the basics she will be stressing in her workshop Nov. 9.

Her students will make a hanging basket from a variety of materials Adgate will provide. Those attending the workshop will need to bring some simple tools from home; a list is available at the arts center, along with registration information.

"If people like to work with their hands, they will enjoy the workshop even if they don't pursue basketweaving," Adgate says. "If you make one basket, it opens all kinds of doors to understanding."

Fee for the workshop is $18, which includes materials plus instruction and supervision during the four-hour session. Participants are invited to bring a sack lunch. To register, call the McCune Arts Center at 347-4337, by Wednesday, Nov. 6.

Samples of Adgate's basketry are on exhibition in the Art Tree, a sales gallery located in the McCune Arts Center, corner of Mitchell and Division Streets, downtown Petoskey.

Have you seen a nervous Episcopalian in your Boyne City Neighborhood

That may sound like a silly question, but come Saturday, November 16th, you will probably see one.

We your brothers and sisters in Emmanuel Episcopal Church of Petoskey send you greetings in Jesus' name. We certainly do not wish to intrude on you, your family, or your beliefs; but this message is to let you know that a group of nervous Episcopalsians from our parish will be conducting a door-to-door religious census in Boyne City on Saturday, November 16th.

One question will be asked of each household: "Are there any baptized Episcopalsians or anyone interested in the Episcopal Church living here?"

We are doing this as a first step to providing Episcopal services in Boyne City. We most certainly do not wish to be "sheep stealers" or even appear to be that kind. We are simply looking for Episcopalsians and any unchurched folks who might be interested in our denomination.

Please pray for us as we make our calls and as we seek to follow God's will in our lives. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to call. Our church number in Petoskey is 347-2350.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Perhaps it's time. Time to talk about things of the past that are still with us with a different name in front of them.

I mean, some of the older buildings around this area are still being called by the name of the firm that constructed them, or had a business in them so many years ago, it boggles the mind that the name is still remembered, let alone used.

Of course there are folks that can still remember some of the businesses that used to be in Boyne, or in East Jordan many years ago. That's not the problem.

We remember those businesses, hopefully with a fondness for what they were, not necessarily where they were located.

Some folks can name off every building in town, as if it were back in 1948...or before.

Heck, they still call this newspaper the Boyne Citizen, even though the name was changed to Charlevoix County Press back in 1969. And for a couple or so years before that, it was called the Northland Press.

Now we don't mind being called a name from the past, but I would like to think that when someone calls a building by the name of a business that was in it years ago, it makes you wonder who, or what, building they are talking about.

This is especially true at such meetings as a planning board.

There, the people involved, usually some oldtimers, call a building that is going to undergo a total refurbishing by a name that 98 percent of the folks presently living around town don't know.

The root cause of all this anxiety is that factor of the new folks in town. They usually don't know what you oldtimers are talking about.

In some cases, that's all right, but usually the building they are trying to refurbish is the one that so-and-so lived in back in 1933. The new people don't know those people, and seem lost as part of the conversation.

And with the county numbering system supposedly coming up soon, those people who know where someone lives by the name of the neighbors around him will have to figure out another way of giving directions.

No longer will you be able to say, just hang a left after you pass the Jones' place, go to the Smith's and turn right, you can't miss it.

Invariably, they do. Especially if they are used to looking for a number on a house or a mail box.

Ah, the sweet reminders of the past. In some cases those reminders don't work on someone who hasn't been around for the last 40 years.

I just received a press release from Boyne Mountain saying that they are going to reduce the prices they set several weeks ago for the upcoming ski season.

I think they are to be congratulated.

As a former ski consultant to the industry, I have wondered why the prices continued to rise over the inflationary values of the resort. This would be true if the resort had not made any improvements to the facilities.

Sure, I know about increased costs of everything from labor to insurance, and I have heard the old saw about the fact of skiing on a per hour basis is still a very cheap form of entertainment.

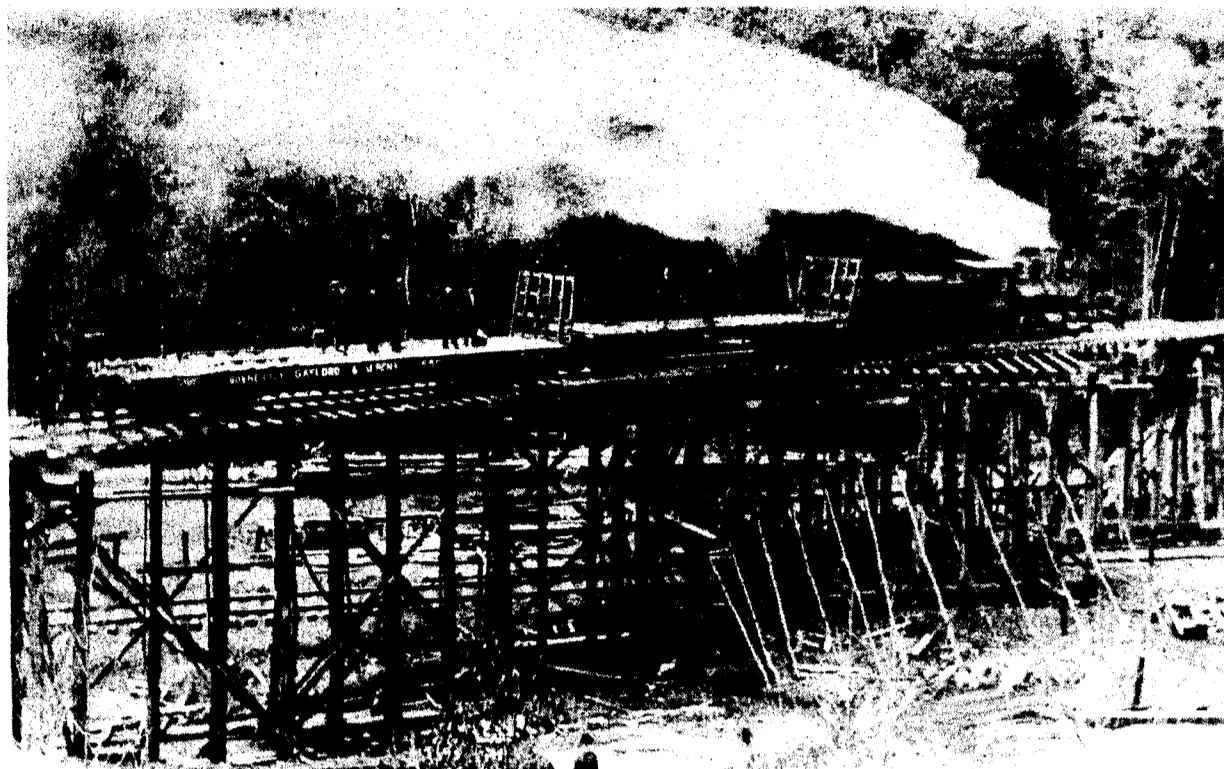

But all of those things don't have the appeal that a reduced rate for the privilege does for the average guy.

He doesn't think of all the factors that are involved with the sport. All he can think about is the cost of sliding.

If the effect of reducing prices increases the number of skiers at the Boyne complexes this winter, then the whole area will see an improvement in the winter tourist season.

Now if we can get that steak dinner price reduced at some of the places I would love to eat at, then we could really be in business.

Remembrances

Building this high trestle must have caused some engineers to sweat as they drove the big engines across it. The trestle was used in place of moving millions of tons of earth as the Boyne City Gaylord and Alpena railroad made its way across the state. The trestle was built somewhere on the eastern edge of the county back in the late 1800s.

Marshall Sayles

Nothing goes in one ear and out the other faster than being told something for your own good.

I know this to be true because I was forever pooh, poohing highly beneficial advice when I was the smartest teen-ager north of Cadillac.

People would say to me: "Don't smoke, don't stay up half the night, don't drink beer and quit fiddling with the girls." That's what people found it necessary to say to me.

I knew they meant well, but who wants the good sapped from all that teen-age excitement? Now that I am on the other side of the mountain, I wish that I had listened.

It is my hope that teen-agers of today will accept counsel from one who has been through more than one mill. Don't be like I used to be, be like I'm telling you to be. That's a lot of "be's" but you will emit several glad cries fifty years from now.

Put the "good life" aside for a moment and lend me both ears. Those of you who would just as leave I shut up, will continue to muddle through life on a hiss and miss basis. And zounds! Your goings on will develop into something fine and noble by the time you are wed and have kids to shake your finger at. The days that are sizzling amiss now will be watered down in your mind and rinsed out.

for a young person than a mishandled head.

Remember now, if you continue to fuss around with trick and mischief, you will be forced to hang a halo around your youthful doings and display the bunk to your kids as a fine example.

I did that and my dad did that and my dad's dad did that. It is the most confounded dad did thing ever created by the human race.

I could continue, but I know full well that any young person reading this quit up there when a gray hair from the back side of eternity told them to forget the "good life" and take heed.

Ware-withal

BY GAIL WARE

I'm not as enthusiastic about "getting things done" as I expect I ought to be in light of the fact that these three words are almost as much our national motto as "E Pluribus Unum". I'm more into studying about doing things than getting all sweaty and out of sorts performing tasks. There are days, though, when I'd like to be productive.

In the past, even when my resolve has been firm, I couldn't get the hang of accomplishing things. I kept getting sidetracked with little stuff like trying to make pairs out of orphan socks or hunting for the telephone bill.

I used to chide myself for having poor mind-body coordination. But recently I decided that it's not my fault. I've just not understood about getting in step with the rhythm of the day.

After many hours of thought, I've come to the conclusion that each day has a unique rhythm. When we don't seek out the beat and go with it, we just bang back and forth between the sides of the hours instead of flowing along with them.

Once I figured out the rhythm thing, I set about examining the construction of days in order to get the best use out of them. Right off, I noticed that the arrangement of days, beginning one second after midnight, was not right for people. It would be much better for us if days began around the time most people get up. That way we could start out together. On the same foot, so to speak.

Since this is not the case, the best we can do is to start our day on the hour like each day does, only later. For instance, if our schedule calls for rising any time around 6 o'clock, we set the alarm for 5:55 to allow ourselves 5 minutes to lay in bed and get in touch with the beat of the day. Then we can step out at 6 o'clock matching the movement of our feet with the rhythm in our head.

A day begun this way has every chance for success so long as we stay alert for possible fumbling problems. Things like slippers can do a lot of harm in the early morning for followers of the rhythm, especially if the footwear is like mine. My slippers are the bootie type with soft plastic soles. When I wiggle my feet into them, I'm never sure if I have them on the right feet until I try them several ways. The beat of the day goes on while I'm kicking my feet around. I mean to make a big "L" and "R" on top with fluorescent paint the next time I think about it when it's daylight so I can see to paint.

Anyway, the thing is to get everything set in the bedroom the night before so that we can flow through the first acts of the day. With a smooth start and a feel of the beat, we can avoid the early morning dithering that plagues many of us who aren't at our best before noon.

If we can stay with the rhythm for the first hour, the rest of the day should be free of lumps and ideal for "getting things done".

Now that I've figured out how the system works, I can make use of it whenever I want to. I might even try it out soon. That is if no new problem occurs to me that I feel I should be studying.

Letters

Farce continues

Editor,

The Hollywood extravaganza being produced in Washington by the administration in preparation for the summit has got to be the biggest farce ever to be offered to the American people and billed as statesmanship.

Our Court Jester is busy learning his lines and rehearsing his role so as to be able to get through the meeting with as few gaffs as possible. I'll bet the producers and directors of this great epic are really nervous about turning him loose among all those bears. It will be tough for them to explain what he meant to say on this one.

Never before in modern times has such a meeting required so much posturing, name calling, fist shaking and strutting around with a chip on shoulder attitude. Nowhere in the orchestration of this meeting is there even a glimmer of true statesmanship.

How can we ever hope to resolve our differences with other countries when we maintain that the only right way is our way? Our

Epilepsy support group formed for area

Plans have been announced for the formation of a support group for epileptics and their families from the Charlevoix and Emmet County area. The group will meet next on the following Wednesday, November 20, at the same time and place. Bob and Shelly Mackowiack of Charlevoix are organizing the effort which they say will give local people with epilepsy and their families an opportunity to share information on coping with the disease and the attitudes of people toward it. Bob Mackowiack, 30, was diagnosed as an epileptic when he was three years old. He and his wife Shelley have worked with the Epileptic Center in Detroit to accumulate many resources available to epileptics and have now expressed interest in sharing their knowledge, as well as their personal experiences, with other families. Tentative plans are to eventually establish support groups in each of the major communities of Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. Initially, however, meetings will be held twice monthly at Charlevoix Area Hospital and will also be open to people suffering with other convulsive disorders similar to epilepsy. Anyone wishing more information about the epilepsy support group or who would like assistance with transportation to the meetings is asked to call Mackowiacks at 547-2323 after 5 p.m.

Century Telephone Ent. improving customer service

More than 55,000 customers of Century Telephone Company, Central Telephone Company, Century Telephone of Michigan, and Hadley Telephone Company inaugurate new toll-free "1-800" telephone numbers throughout Michigan. Calls to each of CTE's Michigan business offices have always been toll-free but often involved calling a different number in each local exchange. The new 1-800 numbers will go into effect on November 1st, the same date that CTE begins operation of its new Regional Customer Service Center in Pinconning, Michigan. Customers of CTE will receive stickers in the mail listing each of the new 1-800 numbers. Each number will put a customer in touch with a specialized department within the Regional Customer Service Center. 1-800-352-5858 will allow customers to reach the Residential Service Dept. where they can order new residential or single-line business service or make changes in existing service. 1-800-362-5858 will allow customers to reach the Business Service Department where they can order new multi-line business service, WATS or Foreign Exchange (FX) service or making changes in existing service. 1-800-372-5858 will allow customers to reach the Billing Inquiries Dept. where they can receive information regarding their bills. CTE plans to install an additional 1-800 number before the end of December for their Message Investigation Center (MIC) in Louisiana. This toll-free number will allow customers to receive immediate information regarding any long-distance calls on their bill. It will also allow them to receive instant credit for any long-distance calls they did not place.

Sen. Riegle's rep. speaks to Dems

"Democrats can't afford to take any constituency for granted," Chris Wright, Senator Riegle's Regional Representative told Charlevoix County Democrats Saturday morning, October 28, in the Boyne City. "Right now there are tremendous cross currents at work in the political picture." In a wide-ranging discussion Wright presented to an attentive and questioning audience Riegle views on current issues: the Wilderness bill, the EPA and Superfund, plant closings bill, tax reform proposals and the property tax exemption (which he wants retained), Senior Citizen concerns, the U.S. trade imbalance and jobs export, pork-barrel military spending and the quadrupling of the national debt we have witnessed over the past 5 years. Looking at the U.S. economy Wright sees an alarming dependence upon government support in the form of Pentagon spending and foreign aid, much of the latter military-related. It is this policy and practice, he says, that has ballooned the national debt to the point where 14% of every tax dollar now goes to pay interest. most of it to foreign investors happy to fund our debt. Going overseas, these huge interest checks increase our balance-of-payments problem, he added. Chris Wright manages Senator Riegle's office at 309 E. Front Street in Traverse City where his phone number is 946-1300. He invites area people to call him or stop in with any questions or concerns. The Charlevoix County Democrats plan to hold the next general meeting in January, 1986.

Wolverine Power offers reward for info on vandalizing

Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc. (Wolverine) is offering a $500.00 reward to anyone presenting information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons destroying Wolverine transmission lines, insulators or associated equipment. Before electrical power and energy can reach homes served by Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company it must pass over Wolverine's transmission lines. Wolverine supplies their wholesale power needs. Besides the inconvenience to members from a possible outage, the problems caused by vandalism are numerous.

A fallen transmission line is very dangerous and possibly life threatening to children or adults who come near it.

Disabled persons in homes and hospitals who rely on life support systems must compensate quickly for the loss of electricity.

Farmers and businesses with specialized equipment lose valuable time and income when faced with a loss of electricity.

And finally, the costs of repairing problems caused by vandalism must be passed on to members.

In short, we all lose when inconsiderate persons take aim at Wolverine's transmission lines.

If you see anyone tampering with a transmission line, please call the Sheriff's Department or Wolverine toll free at 1-800-648-7331.

Boyer City Nursery School students also had a parade of sorts as they visited the Middle School library to show off their costumes last Thursday.

Planners OK new building on Lake St.

Boyer City planners approved the site plan for a new market building to be located where the A & W presently stands, at a special meeting held Monday night.

Making the request for the new building was Mike Gabos.

Gabos plans on tearing down the present structure and replacing it with a 60 x 80 foot building. Gabos said he is still unsure of what the building will be used for, telling the members of the planning board it would be a retail business.

After the planners looked over the site plans, they made a few recommendations to Gabos, including curbing and sidewalks on the Lake Street frontage, screening around the dumpster area, a storm drain in the center of the parking lot along with a buffer barrier from adjoining property owners.

Construction of the new building will start in the spring of 1986 Gabos told the board.

Proper handling key to good venison

Firearm deer hunting season is upon us. The woods will soon be alive with the sound of guns and, hopefully, ablaze with orange hunting gear. The hunter usually prepares for days ahead while the cook of the hunted venison may be groaning because of previous unhappy experiences with the preparation of the venison.

The cook should ask the following questions of the hunter:

Was the deer gutted immediately after it was killed?

Was the meat cooled to below 48 degrees F within 12 hours of the kill?

Was the meat kept at 40 degrees or below continually thereafter, even during transport?

If the answer to any of these questions is "no", the venison will likely be of poor quality and should be discarded.

If the deer is gutted and cooled properly, the next step is to make sure it is properly butchered. The age of the deer will, in part, determine how it is butchered. There is no sense in trying to make tender shoulder steaks out of a five year old buck.

Hunters can stop at a check station and ask a DNR staff person to help them determine a deer's age.

A popular misconception is that a deer's antlers reveal its age. Though there is some truth to this, it is possible for a buck that has been eating well to grow an eight-point rack his second fall. On the other hand, a four-year-old buck that has eaten poorly can have virtually only spikes.

It is suggested that the best deer for eating is one and one-half years old. At this age the meat is of high quality and there's a lot of it. A six-month-old deer also provides good quality meat, but the deer is often too small to yield a lot of meat.

For information on butchering and preparing venison, contact your county Extension home economist and request bulletin number E-657, "Venison... Upper Peninsula Style."

Lyric Opera forming local guild

An Opera Guild is being formed in Charlevoix County for the purpose of supporting opera performances in our area. The Guild will be working in close cooperation with the Lyric Opera of Northern Michigan, based in Interlochen.

The first meeting of the Charlevoix County Opera Guild is to be a Wine and Cheese Party from 4 to 5 on Saturday afternoon, November 9 at the 218 Bridge Street Restaurant in Charlevoix. Anyone interested in opera is very welcome to come.

The organizers of the Guild are Robert and Fran Tollas and Stewart and Susan Boal.

cluded in the price though. The second package was for 10 days for ten dollars and included breakfast and dinner. Wendt was of the opinion that the second plan offered more for the money and that the season of availability for the trip would make the experience more enjoyable for everyone involved.

Twenty students are genuinely interested in participating, she said. Action on the request was postponed when Doris Pearle inquired as to how much of the cost was covered by the students. Wendt stated that one-quarter of the cost would be earned by the students and added that the trip is becoming very popular and generates a lot of excitement.

A thank you was also voiced by Wendt for the installation of the new language lab saying that "the students are thrilled" with the better perception of sound the unit projects, and the privacy enjoyed while listening enhances their learning abilities. Wendt feels that the unit is a very helpful tool and the students greatly appreciate its availability.

Action at the next school board meeting on Nov. 18 will include special recognition to the cross country team for placing second at the state competition in a "re-building year."

Comm. Ed. has history of helping in education

Community Education has been a part of the Boyne City Public School System since 1975.

There are many components of the Community Education Program. We offer a complete curriculum to assist adults in gaining their high school education. During the past 10 years 118 adults have graduated from high school. All classes in the Adult High School Completion Program are free to those without a high school diploma.

Boyer Community Education is an official test center for the General Education Development Test (G.E.D.). Testing is done free of charge and it is necessary to make an appointment prior to taking the test. The G.E.D. is a battery of five tests, which includes reading skills, writing skills, math, social studies and science. Boyne Community Education has been an official test center since 1976. Through the year 1984, 169 adults have taken the test with 68 adults receiving their G.E.D. credential.

Enrichment classes are a unique part of the program. These classes are offered in the fall, winter and spring during the school year. These classes are non-credit and require participants to pay tuition. The majority of classes offered require the participant to pay 75 cents per hour for instruction. All enrichment classes are free to senior citizens when the required number of paying students has been met.

Throughout the year Community Education offers special events. These events include the Holiday Hobby-Craft show which is held annually the first Saturday in December. A rummage sale is held indoors annually in February.

Bank theft

Bennett is suspected of entering the bank about 10 a.m. with a sawed-off shotgun, holding the bank up and making off with an estimated $20,000.

Assisting in the arrest were the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department, Michigan State Police, East Jordan police, and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Charlevoix robbery was one of five in the northern Michigan area that involved the use of a sawed-off shotgun. Investigation into the other four is still continuing.

Red Devils massacre Trojans to close season

BY STEVE GEE

As was the case last year, the East Jordan Red Devils (6-3) finished their season with a total massacre of the Central Lake Trojans.

Last year, Central Lake won the Ski Valley Conference, but left East Jordan on the short end of a 40-0 game. This year the Devils traveled to the Trojans home turf and humiliated them even more by drubbing them 57-6.

With Gaylor St. Mary's 12-6 overtime victory over Inland Lakes on Saturday, the Devils ended in a four way tie for second place with a 5-2 conference record.

East Jordan scored on their first five drives and were forced to punt only once. With the exceptions of one interception and six penalties, the Devils played virtually an error free game.

The Devils took the opening kickoff and traveled 61 yards in 2:29 for their first score. First down passes from Bill Lytle to Mike Goebel and Shannon Olstrom set up a nine yard touchdown run by junior Darren Graham. Dave Russell ran the extra point in for the two point conversion putting EJ on top 8-0.

Less than two minutes later, the Red Devils took over at the Central Lake 34 yard line following a poor punt by the Trojans. The Devils stuck to the ground this time and Ted Snowden leaped in from the one for paydirt. Graham ran in the extra point, upping the lead to 16-0.

Central Lake then got on the board on a 91 yard kickoff return for a touchdown. The extra point attempt failed, but the home town crowd was looking forward to a close game.

The Devils soon destroyed those thoughts when Lytle hit Snowden for a 52 yard gain, giving East Jordan first down at the five yard line. Two plays later Russell plowed his way in from the one. The extra point attempt failed, but the Devils led 22-6 with 1:33 left in the first quarter.

Mike Goebel's 55 yard kick gave Central Lake poor field position at their own five. On the last play of the quarter, Terry Burt and Jim Raymond sacked the quarterback in the endzone with Burt being credited with a safety. The Devils led 24-6 with three quarters left to play.

The Devils started right back up again in the second stanza. With fine runs from Snowden and Russell, East Jordan had a first down at the eight. Aaron Spence then ran the ball twice, scoring on the latter from the four.

Kim McKinnon then gave the Devils excellent field position when he recovered a Trojan fumble at the CL 32. Junior quarterback Greg Kitson hit Goebel with a 25 yard pass reception giving EJ a first down at the one. On the next play, Kitson found Goebel wide open in the endzone for a touchdown. Spence ran in the extra point giving East Jordan a 38-6 lead. Before the half would end, Spence would intercept two passes, but the Devils failed to score after either.

Five different players scored touchdowns in the first half and it looked like everyone would see a lot of playing time.

The Devils kicked off to Central Lake to open the third quarter. Another fine kick by Goebel gave the Trojans poor field position. After a couple of plays, the Devils forced a fumble which Graham recovered in the endzone for a touchdown. Lytle hit Raymond for the two point conversion.

East Jordan started moving again in their next possession, but did not want to run up the score. On third down, Dave Russell attempted a 40 yard field goal, but missed.

The Devil defense was too strong, however, and soon got the ball back again for the offense. A 26 yard run by Graham and a 10 yard pass from Lytle to Raymond gave EJ a first down at the nine. The Devils then attempted a 26 yard field goal, and this time Russell nailed it for his first field goal of his career, giving EJ a 49-6 lead at the end of the third period.

The Devils then decided to let a couple of their senior linemen carry the ball. Bill Kraemer and Dale Schroeder both ran well and Schroeder scored the Devils final score of a year on a four yard run. Spence then ran in the extra point giving EJ a 57-6 victory.

The Devils' offense was spread out, and no one player had over 100 yards in rushing. Darren Graham and Ted Snowden led the ground attack with 84 and 59 yards respectively. Others gaining yards rushing were Dave Russell with 25, Gerry Clark with 20, Dale Schroeder with 19, Aaron Spence with 18, and Bill Kraemer with eight. Bill Lytle completed eight of 10 passes for 135 yards and Greg Kitson hit on two of five passes for 26 yards. Kitson had one TD and an interception.

Mike Goebel had another fine receiving game with three catches for 47 yards. Ted Snowden and Jim Raymond each had two receptions while Ron Cook, Shannon Olstrom, and Dave Russell each had one.

Defensively, Dave Russell led the team with 12 tackles while Terry Burt and Dale Schroeder each had 10. Steve Smith and Stan Antoine each had five with Smith also having a fumble recovery. Greg Kitson also had an interception for EJ.

On the year, the Devils gained 2223 yards on the ground with Ted Snowden gaining 712 and Darren Graham rushing for 667. Both will be back next year.

Bill Lytle (41/517) and Greg Kitson (16/305) combined for 57 completions and 822 passing yards. On the receiving end, Mike Goebel had 27 and Ted Snowden had 13.

Leading tacklers were Dale Schroeder (90), Dave Russell (68), Jeff Gee (55), Terry Burt (53), Darren Graham (45), and Bill Kraemer (40).

Graham led the team with three fumble recoveries and Aaron Spence had five interceptions. The Devils had 20 sacks with Mike Goebel (6 1/2), Darren Graham (4 1/2) and Jim Raymond (3 1/2) getting the bulk of them.

The Devils ended their season on a sweet note and I would personally like to congratulate the team on a fine season.

East Jordan's junior varsity won by forfeit, 1-0 over Central Lake on Wednesday, giving them a 3-6 record (2-5 in the Ski Valley Conference).

BF varsity gets 1 win 40-38 -1 loss 56-43

BY JERRY FROATS

The Varsity girls of Boyne Falls split two games last week, picking up a two point win over Wolverine 40-38 and falling short against Mackinaw City 43-56.

Against Wolverine the Loggers trailed 7-10 after one period of action, and rebounded to a 19-18 lead at the half. Pam Grubaugh scored 12 points in the half. The Loggers were outscored 8-10 in the third period for a 27-28 Wolverine lead and outpointed Wolverine 13-10 in the fourth period for the win.

The Loggers hit 20 shots from the floor with Grubaugh collecting 10 of them to her credit. The Loggers went four of 13 at the line and committed 15 personal fouls.

Grubaugh took top honors in the game with 21 points while Renee Reynolds also had a good night with 11 points. Sandy Towne was good for six points, Dianne Massey scored four points, and Nicky Sparks added two points.

In the game with Mackinaw City the Loggers trailed 8-11 after the first quarter, but outscored the Comets 14-10 enroute to taking a 22-21 half-time lead. The Loggers fell behind 36-40 after being outscored 14-19 in the third period and the Comets put the game on ice by scoring 16 points to seven for the Loggers in fourth quarter action.

Again the Loggers collected 20 field goals but went three of 13 at the charity stripe while committing 22 personal fouls.

Grubaugh led the Loggers with 12 points while Reynolds scored nine. Lisa Topolinski and Towne hit for six points each, Massey had five points, Sparks had three points and Sue Leazier contributed a bucket.

Logger JV's take Mack City and Wolverine

BY JERRY FROATS

The jayvee girls' basketball team of Boyne Falls took two impressive wins over Mackinaw City and Wolverine last week. The Loggers defeated the Comets 25-16, and put the Wildcats down 54-23.

Against Wolverine the Loggers took a 4-3 lead after one period and stretched their margin to 23-12 at the half. Boyne Falls then outscored Wolverine 14-10 in the third period for a 37-23 score and outpointed Wolverine 17-1 in the fourth quarter.

The Loggers hit 22 shots from the floor and went 10 of 22 at the charity stripe. The Loggers committed 13 personal fouls.

Linda Koeman and Kelly Payton were top scorers for the Loggers with 10 points each. Sandy Koeman was close behind for nine points, Patty Bearss hit for seven, Anjanette Massey totaled six while Kelly McNew, Cheryl Sparks, Nikki Kerridge, Claudine Crego, Linda Dowson, all contributed two points each.

Against the Comets, Boyne Falls played to a 2-2 tie after one period and took a 11-6 lead at the half. The Loggers blanked the Comets in the third quarter for a 18-6 lead and were outscored by Mackinaw City 7-10 in fourth period action with the Loggers playing everyone of their reserves.

The Loggers hit 11 field goals in the game while going 3 of 12 at the line. Most of the Comets' points were scored at the line in the fourth period as the Loggers totaled 26 personal fouls.

Payton was high scorer for the Loggers with 10 points, Kerridge totaled five points, Massey was good for four points, while Linda Koeman, Sparks, Bearss, had two points each.

Ramblers close season at home with Petoskey winning 38-8

BY JERRY FROATS

The Boyne City Rambler varsity football team closed a winless season Friday night, as they lost 38-8 to the Petoskey Northmen who emerged from the action with a 6-3 record.

Petoskey utilized a strong running game against the Ramblers as the Northmen rushed for 324 yards while Boyne totaled just 64. The majority of yardage gained by the Ramblers was through the air as Boyne totaled 105 yards to 143 for the Northmen.

After one period had elapsed from the game it looked as though Petoskey might be off their game as the Northmen worked the ball to the Rambler 43 and fumbled it away to an alert Bill Wicker of Boyne.

Boyne's offense was held to five yards on the series that followed and punted to the Northmen who began their first scoring drive at their own 42. Even after Petoskey scored from the Rambler five, Boyne's outlook for the game still seemed reasonable as there were just three minutes left in the quarter, but the Ramblers failed to sustain a drive after two incomplete passes and punted.

The Northmen took possession at their own 42 and passed to the Rambler 34 when on fourth and nine Wicker got to the blind side of the Northmen quarterback for a big sack and a possession for Boyne.

The Ramblers earned a first down with a pass from Pat Weeks to Glen LaCroix and a short blast from Dan McGeorge, but despite two more passes to McGeorge and LaCroix gave up the ball on downs at the Petoskey 29.

The Northmen option play became their best asset as they rolled down the field to have a 10 yard TD called back on a penalty. Two plays later the Northmen optioned their way into the endzone to lead 14-0 with 4:36 left in the half.

Petoskey really turned on the steam after intercepting a Rambler pass at the Rambler 35. A bootleg carry went for eight yards and a 25 yard pass went to the Rambler 20. After Darren Everest and Dan Stoldt put up a stiff defense on the line, Petoskey was into the endzone with a pass for a 22-0 lead.

With :11 left in the half Petoskey connected on a screen pass that zig-zagged back and forth across the field for a 51 yard TD that was nullified by a Northmen penalty.

The Northmen used nearly six minutes of the third period to score again, this time from the 29 on another screen pass. Petoskey ran in the conversion to lead 30-0.

Boyne was not to be denied a touchdown on their next series as Weeks hit McGeorge for 30 yards and LaCroix for 15, but two penalties set the Ramblers back for a fourth and 20 to go. Undaunted, the Ramblers unleashed their best weapon of the year from Weeks to McGeorge to Brandon Billings for a 32 yard paydirt play. Weeks passed to LaCroix for the conversion and a 30-8 score.

The Northmen went on to score again in the fourth period with a 25 yard pass into the endzone to close out the scoring.

On third down and short yardage to go Keeki Kuheana an unidentifiable Rambler, while the off-side of the line makes a cut towards a hole in the Northmen's defensive line. Making a block for Kuheana is Dan McGeorge and make a break up the field.

Rambler girls drop pair of b-ball games

BY JERRY FROATS

In two games last week the Boyne City Ramblers suffered two defeats in varsity girls' basketball. Tuesday's game against the Petoskey Northmen saw the Ramblers trailing 17-30 at the half, but they got fired up by coach Jack Caverly and pulled within three points 29-32 midway through the third period. Petoskey controlled the fourth period action and took a 55-48 win.

High scorer for the Ramblers was Jill Harris with 19 points and 11 rebounds while Julie Montgomery scored 11 points and snagged 10 caroms. Kerry Harvey scored six points, Linda Bieganowski put four points through, Colleen Toton and Kelly Smith had three points each, while Sue Bieganowski added two points.

As a team the girls hit 17 shots from the floor, were 14 of 27 at the line and committed 27 personal fouls.

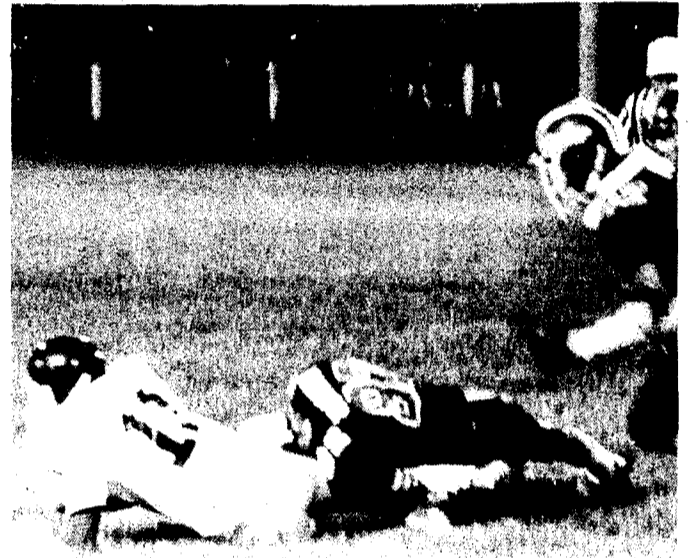

The second loss of the week came at the hands of St. Ignace in a 46-18 outcome as the Ramblers played without the skills of starting forward, Harris.

Boyne was in the game after one period had elapsed with a score of 10-11, but the Ramblers suddenly went cold as the Saints blanked Boyne in the second quarter while putting points through for themselves. In the second half, Boyne scored just eight points to 25 for the Saints.

Thursday, Nov. 7, the Ramblers will visit the East Jordan girls for a non-conference battle with the She-Devils, who are also hungry for a win.

The Rambler defense got to the Petoskey Northmen's quarterback on this play and put him on the ground for a big loss. Boyne City was tough on defense in the early stages of the game, but Petoskey's momentum grew after their first score.

BC jayvee girls look impressive as season nears end

BY JERRY FROATS

The Boyne City Ramblers took a 47-45 win over the Petoskey Northmen last Tuesday in jayvee action after fighting off a late bid for victory by the Northmen.

The Ramblers trailed 12-13 after the first quarter and trailed 24-26 at the half, but came back in the third period with a 12 point surge while holding Petoskey to just seven points for the period.

Boyne led 38-33 late in the fourth period and spent nearly the entire final five minutes on defense as both teams made countless trips to the line that stemmed from intense pressure from both teams.

Mindy Stadt and Lacinda Tompkins were top scorers for Boyne with 11 points apiece. Lori Knight also hit double figures with 10 points. Marci Center and Colleen Williams had four each, Tysh Crozier had 3, Peggy Johncheck and Patt Schmoldt contributed two points each.
