Boyne sells 3rd industrial park site for factory

Boyne City Commissioners approved the sale of two eight-tenths acre parcels of land in the new Air/Industrial Park on the east side of Boyne City to Boyne Precision Die and Engineering during the Tuesday noon meeting. The company, which was formed recently by Gil Redmer, will be the third business to locate in the park. The city had sold some of the acreage to the Magna Corporation for the new LexaMar plant, and Doug Shields purchased another lot to move his firm Prestige Press sometime yet this year.

The sale for the parcels was in line with the suggested price per acre the city had established last year. They are asking $10,000 per acre. Redmer purchased one of the parcels outright, and has an option to purchase the other parcel. His option was for one year.

Redmer hopes to have all the requirements to building a new plant done before the building season starts in Boyne City this spring.

With the growth and expansion of the Boyne Avenue area, Commissioner Bill Grimm asked if the city was considering the traffic flow problems that may evolve from the plants within the park. He was told that because of the road being a state highway, the property owner would have to bear the brunt of the cost for slowdown lanes or any other safety measure.

The city also approved a resolution which is asking for an increase in the amount of money being borrowed from the Michigan Airport Loan Program. The city intends to borrow an additional $18,000 with interest at six percent for five years.

The money will be used to help supplement the local share of the airport runway improvement project that is supposed to start this coming spring. The city will be extending the runway to accommodate larger airplanes that require a longer runway for safety.

In other action, the commission approved some dotting of the "i's" and crossing of the "t's" with a resolution to republish some notices concerning the proposed Tax Increment Financing Act bonds that are in the process of being prepared for sale.

The city had run into a potential problem with the proper noticing to the public and the correction was suggested by the bond attorney preparing the issue.

They also discussed whether the city should participate in the Mayor Exchange Day as part of the Michigan Week activities held every May.

The commissioners told city manager Randy Frykberg to pursue the exchange further as the city, due to budget constraints in the past, had not participated. Frykberg is to find out who the city will be exchanging with at a meeting to be held shortly.

Both the mayor Keith Fitzpatrick and Commissioner Steve Moody missed the noon meeting due to the flu that has hit the area. Mayor Pro-Tem Thelma Behling sat in for the mayor.

News Briefs

For the first time, an official of the Blanchard administration acknowledged the state will have a budget surplus of about $100 million. With that extra money, the average voter would think the legislature would finally get started on reducing taxes. There is no need, they say, for the state to have a surplus when there is little food on the table.

County officials have decreed March 24 as the date for the recall election against two Boyne City School Board members. Both Larry Monshor and John Mathers will have to face the recall vote.

With the state turning 150 years old this year, the planning committee for the state has finally unveiled the plans for the celebration. Included are a series of "sesquicentennial minutes" that will be shown on television, a new historical magazine, and the opening of several new museums within the state.

Sheriff George Lasater warns those who venture out on the ice of Lake Charlevoix to be careful in the area where the department had to cut the ice to find the body of Rex Blanchard. Blanchard went through the ice on Jan. 25. The area is about a quarter of a mile off the shore in the vicinity of Camp Seagull and Brown Road. He said the area is marked with stakes, ribbons and pine trees.

There is still time to get tickets for the benefit dinner for the Challenge Mountain of Walloon Hills. Tickets are available by calling 549-2909.

Boyne Precision is 'ready to go' in industrial park, says owner

With the acceptance of an offer to purchase almost an acre of land with an option for another lot of the same size, Boyne City's Air/Industrial Park is fast becoming a real industrial growth area.

The third purchase of land in the park is coming from a new company called Boyne Precision Die and Engineering, headed up by 42-year-old Gil Redmer.

The new concern is going to be producing the design and engineering for progressive high speed dies that are used in the production of terminal connectors within the automotive and computer industry.

"We are pretty excited about getting started and getting going," Redmer said. "I have already started the planning for the plant, lining up contractors and all the other things that are necessary for the business."

Redmer knows the business as he has spent the last 18 years with Altair Manufacturing, a terminal manufacturer located on Dam Road, just outside of the city. Redmer has 22 years total in the manufacturing business, having started with Boyne Products back in the early sixties just after his schooling.

He hopes to have the plant started as soon as the weather breaks in April and have the plant completed in June. Redmer said that planning is the key to building a manufacturing facility that fast. "I have started with the architect on the design for the plant," he continued, "and will know when the details of construction are supposed to be done way ahead of the actual building."

Redmer is planning on constructing a 5,000 to 6,000 square foot facility.

"We will probably start with only five to 10 people on the staff," he added, "and will have a lot of the new high-tech automated machinery when we get into production."

He said he hopes to start a manpower training program at the plant some time in the future, using young people from area colleges.

With his option for an additional eight-tenths of an acre next to the proposed plant, Redmer said he has room for expansion or to be able to offer the land to some other industry he hopes will be attracted to the new Air/Industrial Park.

He hopes that the new plants coming into Boyne City will be along the lines of his size plant with an emphasis on the high tech manufacturing areas. "I hope to be able to attract a few other plants into coming into the Boyne City park. That way, we'll all be contributing to the growth of the city."

Republicans cause primary in Twp.

Because no one wanted to be on the Democratic ticket, Evangeline Township will have to hold a primary election Feb. 25 to decide who among the Republicans will be in the running for the four spots on the township board.

The openings on the board were caused when four officials of the township turned in their resignations last December.

Those Republicans in the running for the clerk, treasurer, and trustee positions include Marsha Towne and Michelle Cortright for the clerk's office, Judy Everest, John Hauser, Paulette Lehto and Judith Gerrie for the treasurer's spot, and Doug Shields, Bruce Janssen, Garth Hall, William Brooks, William Detlaff are trying for the trustee position.

Cortright, Hauser, Janssen and Shields are all running as a slate.

Each of the candidates have said they want the job to try to bring the township together to work for the residents.

With the primary election, the winners will go into the election to be held Tuesday, March 18.

EJ to approve purchase, contract

East Jordan council members were expected to approve the purchase of a new computer system for the East Jordan Police Department and the city administrative offices at their meeting Tuesday night.

The city will be acting on a recommendation from a computer consultant hired to help determine the best equipment for the city. The firm recommended the city purchase IBM hardware and software which would be able to cover the many facets of city government.

Cost of the system proposed by Micro-Arizola, Inc. was $24,100 with an additional $2,200 annual maintenance fee. The system price is lower than two other systems the consultant had considered.

The council also approved the renewing of the contract between the city transfer station and Superior Sanitation for the hauling of the trash to the county approved landfill.

According to Mike Dionne, the superintendent of Public Works, residents can expect a raise in the user fees because of increased costs from the landfill to the hauler.

Vallance to go to trial Feb. 25

Even though his court appointed lawyer expects to use a claim of insanity, David Vallance, 22, was found to be competent to stand trial for the murder of an East Jordan woman after a hearing was completed in 33rd Circuit Court last week.

Vallance is charged with open murder stemming from the death of Patricia Swanson in East Jordan last October.

Judge Richard M. Pajtas had ordered the psychiatric testing of Vallance on Dec. 11 due to the claim of the insanity defense. The evaluation was recently completed by the state in Ann Arbor.

After the report was submitted, Pajtas ruled Vallance would have to stand trial. The trial is set to begin Feb. 25.

ETHNIC FOODS

We have often referred to America as the world's melting pot; all of those different ethnic groups adding their ways into the American life. And where food is concerned our pot is bubbling over. We are becoming more cosmopolitan as time goes by striving for the very best of all societies. There is a lot being said now for the American cuisine and back to basics in cooking especially using the natural foods. So what really is our heritage food?

First the Indians gave us corn, beans, squash, pumpkins, sweet potatoes and maple syrup along with ways to cook wild game. The word "squash" came from the Massachusetts Indian word "Askutasquash" meaning to eat raw or uncooked. We like our squash cooked, though the Indians might have used some kinds of squash raw as we do now with different summer squashes and a dip. We all like our special buttercup and acorn squash baked. Now is the time for

BAKED SQUASH

Using buttercup or acorn squash, cut in half, remove seeds and bake cut side down on a baking sheet until almost tender then turn them over and put into the cavities a little butter, salt and honey or maple syrup. Continue baking until real tender—so good!

Many families are now making plans for holiday gatherings and will be preparing special meals including the foods that bring back memories of holidays past. Anne Jenins's family, including her sisters, her children and grandchildren, all like to spend a day cooking and enjoying foods from their Norwegian heritage. Here are a couple samples of Norwegian cooking which have traveled from Norway to Michigan by way of Minnesota. First is Anne's Mother's recipe for

POTATO LEFSA

3 1/2 cups mashed potatoes
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon shortening
1/4 cup cream (if it has not already been added to the potatoes when using leftovers.) Add the shortening to the potatoes then other ingredients and mix well.

Take a small piece of dough, form into a ball about the size of a golf ball and roll out as thin as possible on a well floured board. Bake on a dry pancake griddle. Use plenty of flour to roll out though do not add any to the dough. Have to experiment with heat, but not the full flame. Before putting on griddle shake excess flour off the lefsa. Brush off griddle of excess flour from time to time as you bake these pancakes one at a time. Cook until there are little brown spots on pancakes on both sides.

Anne came over to help me make lefsa, she brought her "lefsa stick", a narrow wooden spatula to pick up the lefsa from the board, shake off the flour and turn the very thin pancake. Any wood or narrow spatula can be used.

To serve lefsa you spread each one with softened butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and roll up and eat. These paper-thin potato cakes are similar to the Mexican flour tortillas. Anne and I spread jam on one; it was delicious, and of course one must have coffee with lefsa. It is usually served with lutefish. In the fall a big lutefish-lefsa meal is still served at churches in Minnesota. It is also associated with a New Year's meal.

Anne also helped me make "Romagrot", an old-time pioneer Norwegian supper dish.

1 pint of milk
about 3 tablespoons flour and 1 teaspoon salt is all you need for this dish. All you do is make a moderately thick white sauce. Anne did this by heating the milk in an iron skillet, you could use a heavy bottomed sauce pan. When the milk is about ready to boil, add the flour which has been smoothly mixed in a little more milk, stirring constantly, add the salt. When smooth and thick pour some onto a serving plate for each person. Pour more milk around the edges, put a dab of butter in the center and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. To eat this take a little milk in the spoon then lightly dip into the melting butter than the sauce and eat. You'll be surprised how good it tastes. Anne says that this is fun for a light meal such as a Sunday night supper after having a full dinner earlier in the day. It reminds me of the mush and milk Mother used to make.

BY JIM SILBAR

I just guess that I am impressed easily.

Or else all these new industrialists that I have talked with in the last few years are impressing me with their knowledge of their business and the growth of the Boyne City area as the place they want to create their products.

I mean, when you talk with someone like Gil Redmer, or Jim Kline or Mike Stowe, or any of the other company officials of the many manufacturing facilities in the area, they all seem extremely hepped up on what is happening to this area and how it is getting known across the state as the place to be in business.

What is strange to try to figure out is why?

Sure, we all know the area provides lots of great things, like recreation, low crime, good workers, and an available work force. But, where do these guys think the area is going?

Some folks, mostly the old-timers, don't like all the changes coming so quick to the area. They would possibly wish the industrial growth would slow down. They would also like to see the condominium growth slow down, too. And the growth of other area businesses that will benefit from the additional incomes from the additional workers.

Some other oldtimers are just saying things like...It's about time!

Depends on who you talk with and what you talk about.

I've never been one to try to stop progress.

I would have to say I am against anyone who says, "Now that I am up here, close the door and don't let anyone else in."

That kind of person or attitude can do more to destroy everything many people in this area are working towards than anything else.

And yes, sometimes even those of us who are wanting all this business, industrial, and vacation home expansion, wish it could slow down just a little bit.

But that is only because we sometimes get mad at all the construction mud and trucks working the area.

Myself, I can put up with a little bit of mud.

I know the cities around Charlevoix County will be better off in a few years and will become an even better place to live...and work.

-Why does a mid-month thaw make us yearn for the end of the winter? Or does it just get our hopes up for the next season?

-Have you noticed all the ducks in the little pond across from United Technologies don't spend the night in the water? They all go up on the banks of the pond next to the road to wait for the following day when they can beg some food off of us folks who like to see birds hanging around when they should have gotten smart and left for the south along with all the other "snowbirds."

-And how come the city can only plow the streets on a Sunday morning after a Saturday morning snowfall? I saw quite a few cars and trucks trying to make dents in the snowbanks after Saturday's five or six inches.

-And why is it when the groundhog doesn't see his shadow, the weather folks say we still have plenty of winter left to go skiing, snowmobiling and ice fishing?

While it may be hard to find a hotel in East Jordan today, this picture of the first hotel, called the Eagle Hotel, dominated the East Jordan area for many years. It was located on the west side of the South Arm.

The hotel was built in 1883 to house visitors and workers of the many lumber mills in the community.

BY GAIL WARE

Men are marvelously ingenious creatures, especially when it comes to thinking up things that they can sell to their fellow men. But it seems to me that some of their ideas could stand a little more summer time.

Take for instance the "Broom Hilda". What it is, it's a disguise for a vacuum cleaner, or a broom or mop, for those who lack closet space for storing such things. You put this disguise, a big puppet thing, over the handle of the cleaning tool. Presto! The tool is transformed into a lady supposedly dressed for housekeeping, attired in dust cap, apron and long pink frock.

Somebody somewhere is convinced that reasonable adults are willing to buy big dolls for their vacuum cleaners. I find such optimism woefully misplaced.

I found overdressed-for-the-task Hilda on the first page of one of the gift catalogs that adds color to the daily mail. I have to admit, she hooked me into reading on. And another thing I can say for Hilda: at $19.98, she's a leader in the Expensive category. Most of the stuff is under $10. A lot of incredible clutter even sells for under $5, including salt and pepper shakers.

The pages of the catalog are dotted with shakers in the shape of golf balls, airplanes, trains, lambs. Most of them sit demurely. But not so a combination salt-pepper shaker in the form of a chef's hat. Given a willing hand to wind it up, it walks all over the table.

The idea that someone might set the shaker in motion on my table, especially my breakfast table, is not one that makes me smile.

There are some hats in the catalog that I don't want on my table either. The ones with the cute sayings on them are fine. The hats resembling turtles and frogs with legs dangling down the sides aren't so fine. Nor are the hats that are uselessly small umbrellas. Those are on sale. I predict that even at the reduced price, they'll never get rid of them.

In the semi-useful category, if the day is stormy, there are windshield wipers that can be attached to your glasses. They have to be wound up to work. But I suppose, if you're so inclined, they might be worth the effort.

There is one embarrassing effort that can be avoided thanks to an item in the catalog. That's the effort of breaking into your own home when you've forgotten your house key. A little fake rock is offered with a compartment on the underside where you can hide a spare house key. You keep the rock in your garden where no criminals would think to look for it. It's a great idea. Unfortunately, it's useless in winter in places like Northern Michigan. How are you going to find it under all the snow? You could attach a bicycle flag to it that would stick up through the snow. But this isn't such a hot idea since it's like telling the world: "Right here, under all this snow, is something I'm hiding."

Now if the fake rock inventor had taken time for a ski vacation at some place like Boyne Mountain before he rushed into marketing his idea, he probably would have thought of the winter drawback. Then he could have figured out some kind of a package deal: say a snow shovel with a trap door in the handle for winter key hiding offered with the fake rock for when you can see the ground.

Ideas, like stew, need a long simmer before they're ready to be served.

Valentine's Day can be seen down the road. After it's here and gone, we'll have spring by the tail ready to haul it into town even though we may have to drag it a kicking and fighting through some snow and ice.

Just thinking about spring sends good feelings up and down the spine.

So, hurry Valentine's Day, Washington and Lincoln's birthdays and St. Pat's hoopla, we have a fierce need for a good up and down spine feeling created by a quick look out the window.

He: So you have chucked the nasty nicotine after all these years of puffing and blowing.

Me: Yes, I've gone three years without lighting up a nick o' teen furnace.

He: How did you get addicted to the hobo's delight?

Me: It happened when I was in high school—the big building on the corner of Park and Main streets, the one that isn't there any more.

He: You puffed in school?

Me: On no, it was after school was out for the day. A bunch of us boys would go out between the school building and the gym and attend a class on smoking. It was taught by one of the older boys.

He: You actually learned to smoke between those two school buildings?

Me: Yes, I took sick three or four times and threw up quite a bit, but I hung in there fighting the spasms until I finally got the hang of it.

He: And you smoked ever since?

Me: Yes, I coughed an hacked until I saw the light three years, four months and ten days ago.

He: That guy who taught you to smoke should have been shot at daylight on the twenty-first of June. The sun rises earlier that day and he could have been shot sooner.

Me: No, no. It wasn't his fault. I blame the schoolboard for building the school and gym so close together.

He: A while ago you said you had a birthday coming up. Just how old are you, anyway?

Me: The first week in March I'll be old enough to run for president.

A Democrat says that the American people will stand for most anything, and that's what Ronald Reagan has in mind.

As a child I often asked why I couldn't do this or that. My parents had a habit of saying that when I grew older my time would come. I'm still mad about that. I've waited 60 years and my time hasn't come yet.

As I write this, the television is reporting that our spaceship just blew up with a number of men and women aboard. That, my friends, ain't funny.

So I'm done for the week.

Here's the facts on recall

Editor,
The statement, "The committee violated state law by implementing a sex education curriculum without board approval" (attributed to John Mathers in the Petoskey News Review of January 23, 1986) is contradicted by the Boyne City Board of Education minutes from two meetings as follows:

June 14, 1982-10 teaching concepts developed by the Human Growth and Development Committee were approved 7-0 by the Boyne City Board of Education.

February 13, 1984-The curriculum outline for the Human Growth and Development program and materials for the curriculum for the sixth and seventh grades were approved 6-1.

Furthermore, legalities were addressed by the following letter sent to Boyne City Middle School students' parents:

Local historians to address Boyne Historical Society

Two members of the Boyne City Historical Society will address their own group Tuesday, Feb. 18 at 7:00 p.m. in City Hall. Guests are always welcome.

Vera Tokoly, great granddaughter of early Boyne settlers, John and Harriet Miller, will recount her family recollections and share family photos and keepsakes including the ring and watch belonging to James, second son of John and Harriet, who fell through thin ice and drowned the day before he was to be married.

Robert Morgridge, local historian, writer and Boyne City High School teacher will relate data taken from his book, Settlers to Sidewalks. According to his research, John and Harriet Miller left their home in upstate New York to follow a dream that Harriet had of an abandoned cabin at the end of a bear-shaped lake. Her premonition eventually brought them by boat to the shores of what is now Lake Charlevoix-the-Bautiful in November 1856. Traveling eastward, they tied their fishing boat near the current location of the Landings condominiums and trekked up the hill roughly in the area of Line and Groveland Streets and discovered their "dream cabin," a dilapidated and abandoned Mormon homestead. Living off potatoes still in the ground and with the help of their two teen-age sons Hugh and James, they repaired the shack, settled in and called their new home, "Boyne."

Young women asked to enter

All eligible young women of Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties are invited to participate in the 1986 Miss Chain of Lakes Scholarship Pageant, slated for April 19, 1986.

This scholarship pageant is open to any single female in this tri-county area who will be from 17-26 years old on Labor Day of 1986.

The Miss Chain of Lakes competition is a preliminary of the Miss Michigan and Miss America Scholarship pageants. On a local, state and national level, this is the largest single scholarship foundation for women in the world.

The titlewinner will receive, among many other gifts, an all expense paid trip to the Miss Michigan Pageant, and an $800 scholarship award, to be used for personal development courses, trade school or the college of her choice.

First and second runners up will also receive cash and prizes. Prizes will be given to all contestants, as well as special awards to winners of individual categories of competition. No contestant will walk away from this program a loser, as they will have grown as individuals in self-awareness and confidence, gained experience in the field of competition and goal setting, and made friendships that will last a lifetime.

Applications for contestants are being accepted during the month of February. If you are interested in being a contestant, or if you are interested in working on a committee or sponsoring a contestant, contact Mrs. Debbie Breece, Entries Committee Chairman at 264-9253 (Elk Rapids) or Ms. Jacqueline Smith at 264-8038 (call collect)

RED RAYDERS

Boyne comes close but Charlevoix wins 65-61

Scott Penny [40] of the Boyne City Ramblers got this shot off over Tim Salmonson of the Charlevoix Red Rayders, while Jody Putman [41] looks to see if there will be a rebound.

BY DAN McGEORGE

The Boyne City Ramblers came close, real close, to beating the Charlevoix Rayders but bad breaks combined with good outside shooting by Charlevoix took its toll as the Ramblers lost a close 65-61 contest.

Both teams started out in a 2-3 zone but that didn't stop the Ramblers as they quickly scored four points on a layup by Steve Stutzman and a 10 footer by Scott Penny. Charlevoix responded with a bucket by Shawn Ferguson. Boyne then got one from Nick Redman but the Rayders came back with a hoop from Jody Putman to make it 6-4.

Charlevoix tied the game seconds later on a tip in by Packy LaBlance and then went ahead when he made a free shot. Redman scored again before Putman put in two shots to up Charlevoix's lead to 11-8.

Putman then picked up his first personal foul and Kevin Snyder hit two charity shots to bring the Ramblers within one. Charlevoix's Shawn Ferguson then hit another of his many bombs but Redman again answered for Boyne before he picked up his first foul.

The Rayders couldn't convert the free shots but instead got a shot from Jim Ciuk. Redman then got a layup off a beautiful pass from Marc Archambault to make it 15-14. Ferguson scored again to make the score 17-14 at the end of the first period.

Charlevoix picked up two quick fouls to start the second quarter which caused the Rayders to use one of their time outs.

Boyne then got two buckets from Archambault and Penny to move in front 18-17.

Somebody from Charlevoix then pitched a tent in the paint and got a three second call on them. Ciuk fouled Redman, who in turn put in two free shots, to push it to 20-17.

The teams traded baskets for awhile with a Redman hook shot, one of the highlights for the Ramblers. Charlevoix then went ahead again on a shot from Putman and then LaBlance hit one to make it 30-26. Redman then picked up his second foul and Ferguson hit one of the shots. Stutzman and Ferguson traded baskets to end the first half with Charlevoix on top 33-28.

The Rayders began the second half with a shot by Ciuk but the Ramblers responded with a fine tip in from Archambault. Penny then hit a shot to pull the Ramblers to within three. Redman then got hit with his third foul after he fouled Ferguson who was in the process of making a basket. The foul fever then hit Boyne as Penny, Archambault, and Snyder each picked up one.

Penny and Ferguson traded shots to make it 39-34, and Snyder added another. Ferguson hit a jumper and then added two foul shots before Boyne scored again on Stutzman's shot. Stutzman then fouled LaBlance who hit one of the shots to make it 44-38.

Ferguson hit one of his free shots to put it at 45-38 before Scott Beebe got a bucket for Boyne. Scott then fouled Ferguson who put in one of the shots. Putman followed him to the line and put in one of the shots to make it 49-40.

Archambault then hit one of his free throws, and Redman followed with four to make it 53-45. Redman then made an impressive move and scored with Penny getting a basket shortly after to bring the Ramblers to within four. Stutzman then was caught with a foul, and Ciuk hit two free shots to make it 55-49. Ciuk hit another shot to make 57-51 before Redman hit two free throws.

LaBlance then made one for the Rayders and was answered by Redman who made two more free throws. Archambault then picked up his fifth foul which sent Putman to the line. He made only one shot which put the score at 60-55.

Charlevoix then went into a stall to run off the remaining time. Boyne wasn't finished though and put in two buckets at the end of the game to make the final score 65-61.

Coach Fowler commented on Redman's game and added, "We couldn't put it over the top." He also added, "Maybe one of these nights we'll get some breaks."

Goebel scores his 1000th high school point against Inland Lakes

BY STEVE GEE

Last Friday, senior Mike Goebel scored his 1000th varsity basketball point, for the East Jordan Red Devils (9-3), in defeating the Inland Lakes Bulldogs, 56-46. Coming into the game, Goebel needed 19 points to hit the prestigious plateau. With 2:19 left in the game, Goebel got an offensive rebound and scored on a short jumper. At the next dead ball, the game was halted and he was honored for his achievement. Coach Steve Hines presented him with a "1000 point" basketball.

Last December, the Devils hosted the Bulldogs and soundly defeated them by a score of 78-42. This time the game was a little more evenly matched as the Bulldogs hung in until the last period.

The Red Devils started out hot and jumped to an early 12-2 lead. Goebel scored six of East Jordan's final eight points in the quarter to help them take a 17-8 first period lead.

The Devils kept the margin for most of the second period before a five point run by Inland Lakes pulled them to within six at 28-22. Phil Nemecek stopped the cold streak for the Devils with an eight foot jump shot. The Devils' one time 11 point lead was cut to six at halftime as East Jordan led 30-24.

Greg Kitson had a strong third quarter as he scored six unanswered points for East Jordan to build the lead back up to 10. Inland Lakes quickly called a time out.

This seemed to work for them as they cut the gap to six at the end of the period, 40-34. Goebel was held to one point in the period and was taken out of the game for a while with a sore knee.

It was Jim Raymond's turn for the spotlight in the opening of the fourth period, as he helped build a 46-34 lead, which forced Inland Lakes to call their last time out with about five minutes left in the game. The teams traded a couple of baskets, and the chance of Goebel reaching the milestone in the ballgame seemed slim with the time left. But like many previous games, Goebel got hot in the latter part of the period. The Devils hung on to take the 56-46 victory.

Mike Goebel led the team with 19 points, which was the first time all season that he scored under 20. Greg Kitson played an excellent game while scoring 14. Others scoring were Jim Raymond with nine, Tom Galmore with eight, Aaron Spence with three, Phil Nemecek with two, and Kevin Molby with one.

The Red Devils outrebounded the Bulldogs 43-29, thanks to a 14-6 fourth quarter advantage. Goebel led the team with 18 while Kitson grabbed 10 and Raymond collected nine. The Devils recorded seven blocked shots with Spence rejecting three, Goebel two, and Raymond and Galmore one each. The Devils had their worst night at the free throw line of the season as they shot four for 16 for 25 percent.

East Jordan turned the ball over 19 times and committed 16 personal fouls.

East Jordan's junior varsity (3-9) was defeated 59-33 by the Bulldogs, which was very close to the previous game's score (54-36 which was also a loss).

The Devils led 10-9 at the end of the first period, but the Bulldogs outscored them 21-7 in the second period to take a 30-17 halftime lead. At the half, the Devils were getting outrebounded 3-1. The Bulldogs built a 20 point lead going into the final eight minutes with a 45-25 score.

Mark Moore was the only Devil in double digits, with 13 points.

East Jordan had a Tuesday game scheduled with Jo-Berg, but because of a flue "bug" in Jo-Berg, the game was cancelled. East Jordan will travel to Mancelona on Friday.

The Alanson Vikings quickly work the ball upcourt against the Boyne Falls Loggers. Boyne Falls was defeated 78-49 Friday night before a capacity crowd that showed up for Homecoming.

Area bowler finishes 11th

Boyne City's Ron Peters was the only local bowler to finish in the money at last weekend's Miller High Life Northern Michigan Classic tourney held at the Victory Lanes in Petoskey.

Peters rolled a 1223 pin count to take the 11th place spot in the bowling contest.

The match was won by Chuck Majeski of Muskegon who rolled a 1761 pin count. The tourney also saw one of the first 300 games thrown when Steve Hamlin rolled a 300 in the fifth game. The 300 game was the first ever at Victory Lanes and the first thrown in Petoskey during the last 45 years of bowling.

Wolverine Power starting apprenticeship program

The next time you see a worker scrambling up a utility pole in northwestern Michigan, you can just about bet that you're watching a registered apprentice or journey worker on the job.

And if officials at Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Boyne City, are successful, linemen for rural and municipal power companies throughout Michigan will also be registered with the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training (BAT).

Raymond R. Cristell, executive vice-president and general manager at Wolverine, believes the new training concept is going to improve service and be a major benefit to the power generating cooperative.

"In the past," he said, "we would hire experienced linemen from outside. They might know their trade, but they knew nothing about our operation. With the apprenticeship program we feel we'll be able to build a better employee. We can take our own people, already familiar with our operation, and train them to be linemen," he explained.

Cristell, whose cooperative wholesales power to seven rural electric distribution cooperatives representing about 400,000 Michigan consumers, also said that the program will allow Wolverine to expand preventive maintenance programs and to combat the relatively high turnover rate common in similar utility companies.

"The apprenticeship requires a total of 7000 hours of on-the-job training over 42 months," he explained. "Once the apprentice has invested that much time and has received the wage increases that accompany the training, we believe there will be a strong incentive to stay."

John DeGear, business manager of Local 876, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), which represents electrical linemen in the area, is also pleased. "I can't say enough good about it," according to DeGear, a former utility lineman himself. "When you compare what we oldtime linemen learned with what they're teaching these new kids, the improvement is tremendous. We need this kind of program throughout Michigan."

Cristell is in perfect agreement on DeGear's last point in particular, and is offering other rural electric co-ops, municipal electric utilities and small investor owned utilities a chance to participate. "It's our feeling that smaller electric utilities throughout the state can gain these same benefits. We've got an excellent training package already established and would be delighted to share this successful operation." Cristell added that Wolverine has already received inquiries from other utility companies about the program.

John McCarthy, BAT representative in Marquette and a key figure in acquiring national approval of the Wolverine apprenticeship program, said that he was impressed with the training being offered. "There is no question that the man or woman who completes the apprenticeship program at Wolverine is going to be of value to any employer."

"As nationally certified journey workers in the electrical utility lineman trade, they are going to be well-rounded employees who can not only make the necessary repairs and equipment upkeep, but who will also do a good job of trouble shooting, eliminating problems before they occur."

Members of the three-year-in-a-row winning broom-ball team took some time out of a practice session to pose for this picture. After posing, they went back to making perfect in the annual Boyne City Frostival games. Word was they were challenged by an East Jordan team to come over to the Sno-Blast to see if they could repeat their winning ways.

EJ student signs Army Delayed Entry program because of it's appeal

The U.S. Army's Delayed Entry Program (DEP) has shown considerable appeal for an East Jordan High School Class of '86 senior. Signing for the plan and its many benefits is Sara Lynn Breakey, daughter of William "Butch" and Marcia Breakey of 300 S. Lake, East Jordan.

In signing for the DEP the enlistees had the opportunity to select an Army specialty from many choices. With the DEP a young person usually has many more options than an individual exercising an immediate enlistment.

Miss Breakey, who enlisted for a four year tour of duty, will start active duty on July 3, 1986. She will receive her basic training at Fort McClellan, Alabama, and her advanced individual training at Fort Huachuca, Arizona. Upon completion of her training she expects to be assigned to duty in Europe as an intelligence analyst.

Breakey said she joined the Army because of the educational benefits and the career opportunities that are available to her. She will also have the opportunity to earn credit towards starting at a higher rank and pay scale when she goes on active duty.

One of the main reasons young people are currently attracted to the U.S. Army is its Army College Fund program which provides funds for college education following their enlistments. Under the program the U.S. Army also offers an additional education bonus of $8,000 to $14,400 for two, three or four-year enlistments. The enlistee is required to make a small monthly commitment to the program personally.

Also, if the enlistee signs for a Critical Skill, he or she can receive up to $5,000 as a bonus. Along with the enlistee's contribution, the total yield of the Army College Fund and bonus is up to $17,000 for a two-year enlistment, and more than $25,000 for a four-year enlistment. Bonuses are offered in more than 50 skills for four-year enlistments.

At the optimum, the Army will return $12 for every $1 invested by the enlistee and the government will return $8 for every dollar invested for a grand total of $20 returned for every dollar invested.

Of all the branches of the armed services, only the U.S. Army offers all these advantages. The DEP enlistee was counseled in her decision by Sergeant First Class Harold F. Elliot of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station at 200 South Court Street, Gaylord, Michigan 49735.

Academic Fitness awards issued

Two year ago, President Reagan and the United States Dept. of Education developed the Presidential Academic Fitness Award designed to recognize and encourage individual students who have attained a high academic average in school.

In order to qualify for this award in middle school a student must have attained a B+ or better average in grades six and seven as well as the first semester in grade eight. In addition, they must have taken a recent nationally recognized achievement test battery and received a score at or above the 80th percentile.

The following Boyne City Middle School students have met these requirements and will receive the Presidential Academic

Fitness Award:

These students represent 14.3 percent of the students enrolled in the eighth grade at the middle school.

On Dean's list

Students from this area, Linda C. Breidenslein of Boyne City, Alane M. Johnson of Boyne Falls, Ben G. Griffin and Tom L. Peters of East Jordan, were included on the Lake Superior State College dean's list for the 1985 fall term.

Bates convicted of Walloon embezzlement

Carmel Clifton Bates, a 37-year-old, who now lives at 331 E. Pincherry Road, Charlevoix, was found guilty last week of embezzlement of approximately $48,000 from the Village General Store in Walloon Lake.

Sentencing for the crime was slated to be held Monday, Feb. 24 by Circuit Court Judge Richard M. Pajtas. The charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail and/or a $5,000 fine.

Bates was accused by Harvy Schach, owner of the store, of converting the money from the store to his own use. The action was supposed to have taken place between July of 1981 to May of 1984.

The jury deliberated for two hours before coming back to the court room with the verdict.

Bates' attorney, in presenting the defense, had told the jurors Bates was set up by others. Bates was the manager of the Walloon Lake operation.
