Grant requests filed March 1

If all these grant requests are approved, Charlevoix County will see a great improvement in parks throughout the area. At the top, the proposed site plan, to be built in phases, for Whiting Park would include new campsites and a road to serve them. Bay Township is looking for grant money to buy and build a park along Lake Charlevoix, Boyne City is planning on improvements to Avalanche Preserve and East Jordan is looking for money to build a walkway through Sportsman's Park. According to Mike Davis, the coordinator of the grant effort, the park with the best chance of getting improved would be Whiting's Park as the plans were drawn by the DNR and they are the granting agency.

TIFA district authorized to finance water sewer lines

Boyer City-City Commissioners passed a resolution during the Tuesday noon meeting that would create and establish a Tax Increment Financing Authority (TIFA) within the city and finalized the designation of the borders of the new tax district. The plan, which was to be accepted and enacted upon with the election of officers, establishing bylaws and other matters Tuesday night during the Economic Development Commission at their monthly meeting will allow the city to continue to find a means to recapture the increase in taxes from the businesses locating within the TIFA district. The monies raised will then be used to pay back the costs of providing the water and sewer lines to the new Air-Industrial Park which is the largest part of the TIFA project area. In a related matter, City manager Randy Frykberg told the commissioners the city has met every criteria the State Attorney General Frank Kelly had asked in another case Kelly was asked to make an opinion on. Boyne City's plan takes into account all of the provisions Kelly had suggested. In case the pending lawsuits against TIFA districts goes against the city, the city is prepared to go another way to pay back the monies needed to provide the services to the new businesses.

Frykberg said the city would still use the increased taxes caused by the new construction could be designated to go for paying back loans made to the city for the new infrastructure. Frykberg said after the meeting he did not expect any problems arising from the EDC to start the TIFA program. In other action, the commissioners approved the naming of Frykberg as the soul administrator of the city road system, okayed the use of Veterans Park on the Fourth of July for the annual arts and craft show, and heard a report from county equalization director Joan Blanchard the city had a growth of evaluation of about six percent this past year.

TIFA funding problem may cause alternatives

Boyer City-Boyer City's proposed Tax Increment Financing Authority (TIFA) bonds may be in trouble if you listen to Charlevoix County Growth Alliance Director Dick Beagle. But, if you listen to Boyne City Manager Randy Frykberg, everything is going along as it was and will be. The TIFA plan, which was designed by the state to provide a way for communities like Boyne City to pay for projects needed to attract new industries, was called on the carpet several weeks ago when the State Attorney General, Frank Kelly, issued an opinion that agreed with the contention of several school districts that the planned tax program was illegal. The school districts in the lower part of the state didn't like the fact they would not be able to capture the increase in taxes a TIFA district allows as a way to finance such things as sewers waterlines and roads until the authority has paid off the cost of the project within the district. The taxes earned for a period of years would pay back to the city or the bond holder over the life of the TIFA. The school districts thought the constitutionality of the program was illegal and have filed a suit against them. With the opinion rendered by Kelly, almost all TIFA proposals, including the Boyne City project have been put on a temporary hold until the matter is cleared up, according to Beagle. The bond councils are not issuing opinions on the relative safety of the bonding programs and thus have in essence caused the bond sales to dry up as investors in the bonds wanted to have relatively safe investments. In Boyne City's case, the bonds have not yet been issued, but are still under consideration. Frykberg has said there are buyers of the bonds waiting in the wings for the go-ahead to purchase the bonds for the city's project. Boyne City is hoping to sell about $500,000 worth of bonds to finance the project to provide water, sewer, and other amenities to the new Air/Industrial Park located on the eastern edge of the community. The process of being purchased by area businessmen wishing to become part of the new park. The largest site is the site for the new Magna of America plants that are proposed and include the new LexaMar facility. Alternatives are being discussed on both the state and the local level to clear up some of the problems the act wording is causing, said Beagle. One of the compromises would be to have the local school districts fighting the TIFA get some of the money. Other thoughts locally could involve a special assessment district instead of the TIFA zone. The biggest alternative, Beagle said, would be to have the state legislature acting quickly to solve the problem. Beagle added that many legislators are working on the solution. As it stands, Beagle said, Boyne City is going ahead with their plans to finalize the setting up of the TIFA zone, naming an authority, and adopting a plan set up by the authority. Frykberg said area banks are considering the purchase of the bonds once approved. Legislature members say they are aware of the problems and are working to bring a conclusion to the problems. Beagle said even if they do, it will take about a month to finalize the bond sale. "It's exciting in this area right now," Beagle said. "And it would be totally inappropriate to let the confusion about TIFAS get in the way of projects." He added that Doug Ross, the head of the Michigan Department of Commerce has made many commitments to this area by the state to get the project started. Beagle said there is no way we can let the project slide away. "The one thing I know is that this has created a lot of extra work," Beagle said.

Vallance found guilty of 2nd degree murder

Charlevoix-After a three day trial, David Vallance of East Jordan was found guilty of second-degree murder by a seven women, five man jury last Thursday afternoon. The jury deliberated a little more than four hours to reach the decision. Vallance was charged in the death of Patricia Marie Swanson, who had been found dead on the floor of her home in East Jordan last October 4th. He has been held in the Charlevoix County jail since he made a confession to the murder and his arrest on October 5. Vallance, through his court appointed lawyer Mark Muniak had tried to make a case of his being insane at the time of the murder. Swanson was found lying in a pool blood in the kitchen of the home. Death was determined by examiners to have been caused by severe blows to the head. A claw hammer and a bow saw were believed to have been used by Vallance in the beating death.

After hearing testimony from various expert witnesses as to his sanity, the cause of the death and the materials used and where they were found, the jury ended up determining he was sane at the time of death. Sentencing of Vallance will be held Monday, March 10 in the 33rd Circuit Court in Charlevoix by Judge Richard M. Pajtas. The charge carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. The only moment of emotion displayed by Vallance came when the verdict was read by jury foreman Robert Roberts, during the rest of the time during the trial which started last Tuesday, Vallance remained calm and quiet as the trial developed. After the reading and the polling of the jury by the judge, Vallance appeared to be angry, kicking his chair out of the way as the jury left the room. Vallance's parents and friends seemed to be more upset at the verdict and some were crying as they left the courtroom.

Since Vallance was deemed indigent, all of the court costs for the case, including the testimony by the expert witnesses, will be paid by the court system.

EDC starts TIFA process

Boyer City-Members of the Economic Development Commission passed the resolution Tuesday afternoon that allows the beginnings of the TIFA district in Boyne City. Officers were elected for the district and bylaws were approved. The EDC also recommended the city commission approve the purchase of another site in the Air-Industrial Park. Fred Franchino has an option to purchase a lot for a new building he intends on constructing for his machining business.

IRISH RECIPES

It is impossible to separate St. Patrick's Day, Ireland, and the potato. Potatoes are plentiful again in County Galway, Ireland, once the scene of real starvation because of the potato blight which devastated the whole country. Potatoes were grown as the chief food and maybe the only food for a third of the population. A million Irish died and a greater number emigrated during the famine of 1845-1851. Many died at sea on understocked vessels known as coffin ships. By the end of the century, South American stock revived the harvest and today Ireland's per-capita potato consumption is topped only by Eastern Europe.

The potato yields more nutritious food more quickly on less land and in harsher climates than any other major crop. Few single foods have as much nutritional value as the potato. They brim with Vitamin C, many of the B vitamins and iron, but contain almost no fat. A medium size potato provides only 100 calories. The Irish call them praties.

Ireland depends on tourism for a large part of its income and any one who has visited there will say that the greatest attraction is the Irish people themselves. It is much more than a glass of Irish coffee at the Shannon Airport.

Now for some potato recipes. Occasionally, I still hunger for just plain boiled potatoes with butter or margarine. Evidently the Scots like them the same way. I like to think that my Scottish Grandmother made these

STOVIES

Potatoes
Butter
Salt
Water
Peel and slice good quality potatoes and put them in a heavy pan with just enough water to cover the bottom and to prevent burning. Sprinkle with salt and put bits of butter here and there. Cover closely, and simmer very gently till soft and melted. Mother used to add a few slices of onion to these potatoes.

Leona O'Donnell fixed potatoes this old Irish way, the way her Irish Mother-in-law did it. I have read recipes similar to this in old cookbooks using turnips.

Potatoes
Rutabegas
Chives or green onions
Salt, pepper and butter or drippings.

Boil until tender equal quantities of potatoes and rutabegas. Chop the chives or onions. Combine potatoes and rutabegas, add onion and mash. Add the butter or drippings, season well and serve very hot.

Next is a colorful recipe using new potatoes which should perk up any springtime appetite.

STIR-FRIED NEW POTATOES

1 1/2 lbs. small new potatoes scrubbed and sliced but not peeled)
1 1/2 teas. rosemary
3 tablespoons oil
1 large red pepper, slivered
1 - 10 oz. pkg. frozen green peas, thawed
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt

In skillet at medium heat stir-fry potatoes and rosemary in hot oil 7 to 8 min. until potatoes are almost tender and lightly browned. Add pepper strips, fry 3 minutes, add peas, mustard and salt and stir-fry 2 minutes.

The French have made the potato high art and the key vegetable in their cuisine. This is from an old Raleigh Book published in 1917. "Soup" said a great epicure, "rejoices the stomach and disposes it to receive and digest other food." Parmentier, who introduced the potato into France, was honored by King Louis XVI, a statue was erected to him, a boulevard was named after him, and potatoes were planted around his tomb. Antoine-Auguste Parmentier was a prisoner of war in Germany in 1757 and survived only on potatoes. On returning to France he convinced the people that the vegetable they were suspicious of had really saved his life.

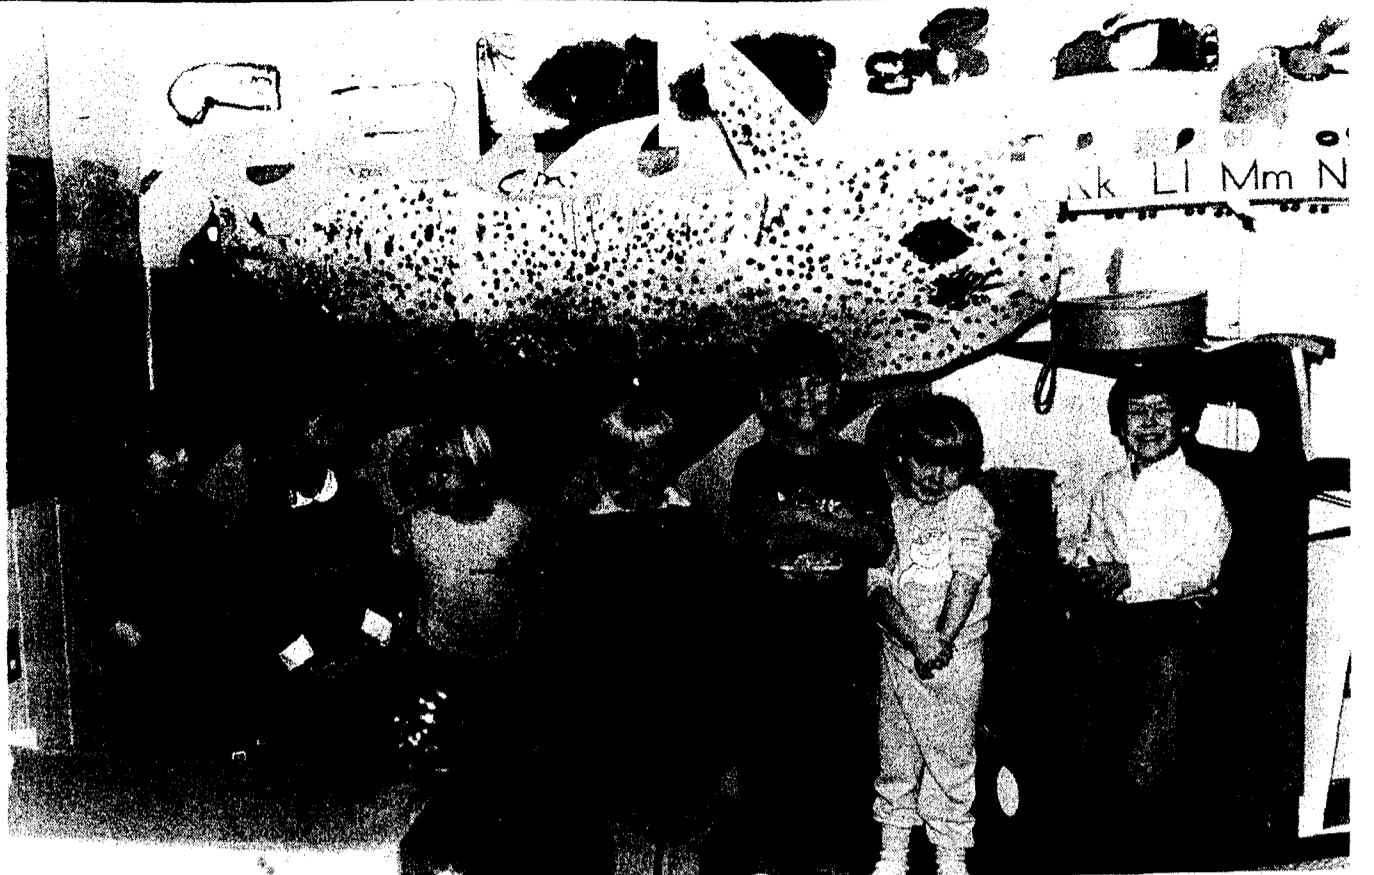

Here is a recipe for LYONNAISE POTATOES

From an old cookbook Melt two tablespoons butter. Add one tablespoon finely chopped onion. When onion is yellow, add two cups cooked potato cubes. Season with salt and pepper, cook until potatoes are heated through, and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley, and serve.

Ireland is now free of the blight. They say that Irish farmers today are ashamed to have it. The radio broadcast blight warnings telling them when to spray. No people have a greater respect for the potato than the Irish.

Boyne Valley Garden Club to support wildflower project

Boyne Valley Garden Club's February Meeting was held at Litz-enburger Place on Thursday the 27th, with twenty-five members and guests in attendance. President, Lois Pollock, called the meeting to order, leading members in the Club Collect. During the meeting the Club voted to give a generous amount to the State Garden Club's project for planting wild flowers along state highways.

Special Projects Chairwomen, Violet Manglos, reported on plans to give a program on gardening to the fifth graders of our schools, with the possibility of organizing a Junior Garden Club.

Our speaker, Charles Williams of Williams Tree and Landscaping spoke on Landscaping your Home Garden, suggesting ornamental trees and shrubs that can be successfully grown in our area. He was most helpful in answering questions about individual problems.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Connie Baumgarten and Anna Van Hoosen, Helen Dietze.

Society hears Boyne basketball history

Scratchy bloomers, sleigh rides and drunken coachmen: what do they have in common? They were all part of the endurance test for Boyne City High School basketball players in the 1920's.

During this era, Boyne was booming and the high school sponsored teams for both boys and girls and it was tough competition to make either team. The males and females took separate sleighs to away games, but for promised good behavior they were allowed to ride together on the return trips.

One winter night at an away game, the sled driver whiled the waiting hours in a well-known Charlevoix saloon. After a door-to-door tavern search, the driver was finally found. The bigger Basketball boys positioned the drunken driver in the coachman's seat but after several spills and a sojourn in the lake, the team mutinied at Young State Park and trekked into town just as the Tannery was sounding its 6:00 morning whistle.

In those days it was thought that girls did not have the stamina to run full court for four quarters so they played by half-court rules.

Former team members, Dick and Arvilla Dixon, will address the Boyne City Historical Society regarding the Boyne City High School basketball teams in the 1920's and '30's on Tuesday, March 18 at 7:00 p.m. in City Hall. Guests are always welcome.

Girl Scouts out selling

"The cookies that make dreams come true." That's the theme being introduced by the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council, a United Way Agency, for this year's annual cookie sale. It was created to emphasize the vital importance of the contribution people make to Girl Scouting every time they buy a box of these great-tasting cookies.

Local Girl Scouts will be taking orders door-to-door from February 28 through March 16. Cookies will be delivered during the week of April 15. There are seven varieties to choose from: Shortbread Trefoils, Chocolate Chunks, Do-Si-Dos, Tagalongs, Samosas, the ever-popular Thin Mints, and our new Pecan Shortees, being introduced this year.

Girl Scout cookies are made with 100% vegetable shortening, no preservatives and the finest, freshest ingredients available. The Girl Scouts depend on the proceeds from the annual sale of these cookies to fund many of their learning and growing experiences. So, for many girls, Girl Scout cookies really are the cookies that make dreams come true.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

While some of the folks around these parts may hate the thought of thousands of skiers coming into the area every weekend during the winter, a trip to the local Midwest Representative Association Show being held all this week at Boyne Mountain, shows the sport of skiing isn't going to die off for many more years.

Skiing, for those who may not think much about the area, generates about 12,000 people a weekend wandering around, if you can estimate correctly the number of skiers who visit the local ski areas in Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

Those skiers, by another estimate, spend about $100 a day to enjoy the slopes of the area. Also included in that figure is the amount they spend off the slopes as well, since you can't go skiing 24 hours a day.

Add into it all the sales of equipment, the cost of running a resort with all of the local personnel, and the businesses that survive during the winter on all those skiers and workers, you can see why it is important to us all to have those people coming up north every weekend.

And when you add the snowmobilers, you can see why many businesses can do quite well in what many thought would be hard times to make a living.

When I think of all the businesses that hire folks to serve those skiers and snowmobilers, I sometimes wonder why all the businessmen don't sing the praises of the sport. If a waitress can earn good money during the winter, then she could afford to buy more items from businesses that don't directly serve the skiers. The carryover effect of the sport is enormous.

It's the same for those who shop in town for their merchandise. If a store can afford an employee, then that employee could buy items from other stores.

We all need the support of the tourists, the businesses and the locals for the community to continue to grow.

In one of my passing moments, I started to think about the new businesses that have come into the area because of the sport. I would venture skiing and snowmobiling have brought more businesses to the area, and caused more people to be hired to work than anyone would care to think about.

Perhaps even more than the summertime crowds.

Winter sports like skiing and snowmobiling have brought some stability to the area by attracting those manufacturing plants, those real estate developers, those folks who look at the area for retirement, than the sports of summer.

I for one, am glad we have a ski season, just as I am glad we have a summer and fall and mushroom season. The more people we can have in the area, the more all of us are going to enjoy living in the area of our dreams.

With all this nice kind of weather, I have dubbed this the season of pothole-mush. You know, the time of the year where the city and county highway folks are working overtime just trying to fill the potholes before they fill with the melting mush.

They, the potholes, are far ahead in the race to get them filled. They seem to grow new ones overnight, especially since we still have freezing weather each night.

About the only people who like this kind of stuff are those starting to tap their maple trees so they can make that sweet stuff we all like to put on the pancakes.

Sometimes I wish I knew more about nutrition. The rest of the time I wish I knew less. As it is, I know just enough to worry.

Once thought I knew about all I needed to know about healthy eating. I grew up in the company of the Basic Four food groups. They were pictured on a big color chart that was tacked to a cupboard in our kitchen. My mother taught me that if I ate the proper number of servings out of each group every day, I was all set. The only restrictions were to take it easy on the sugar and watch out for the fat in pork. Other than that, all food was good.

But along the path between then and now, eating got to be fraught with danger. It was discovered that some foods could cause cancer, some we're allergic to—often unbeknownst to us—and some cause heart problems.

There's the "incredible, edible egg" that used to be advertised on TV. But no more. Eggs are loaded with cholesterol. That's the stuff that slides in and lines the arteries, making them narrower, which makes the heart have to pump harder to keep the blood moving along at a decent clip.

The egg's bosom buddy, bacon, isn't doing too well either. There's a trace of a carcinogen in it as well as cholesterol and salt. Salt's bad for us too.

And lots of breakfast cereals are all wrong for us. Too much sugar in them—any amount is too much according to many experts—and salt has snuck into most of them besides.

Breakfast seemed to be the unhealthy meal of the day until the experts turned attention to the cow. They found that beef is hiding a whole bunch of cholesterol. All the fat we cook off when we cook hamburgers is not all the fat there is. There's still some lurking in there waiting to coat our arteries.

And, of course, portly pork is out. Maybe the pigs can get into a new line of work like mowing lawns or plowing.

The latest hot spots in the nutritional world are the dairy products. Only babies need milk, according to some nutritionists. After infancy, forget it. Besides, there's fat in milk. Furthermore, many people are allergic to dairy products, often without even knowing it. I have a little trouble with that idea, but it makes sense to somebody so I guess I'll just leave it alone.

Once all the bad stuff is pushed aside, we're left fish, chicken, whole grains, vegetables and fruits. It's not a bad assortment, but it takes some getting used to.

I know I should be glad about all the latest news about food. It's meant to help us live longer, healthier lives. Still, I can't help longing for the ignorant old days when we thought all food was good.

The casting room floor of the Boyne City Pig Iron plant was a busy place as the workers molded the pig iron on the casting room floor. Then, the melted iron was allowed to follow down the troughs to the indentations that made up the pig mold. Not anyone was allowed on the floor at the time of the pour with few exceptions. This picture was taken just after a pour with the hot iron cooling down in the sand molds.

An elderly woman in our town down here in Florida left her husband and now she is living with Arthur Ritis.

Have you quit smoking? Have you decided that you will no longer support those tobacco companies?

Well, you can get such nonsense out of your head. Out of your head, I say.

No matter how much you try, you will be hard put to stop from keeping tobacco companies afloat.

Do you buy Kentucky Fried Chicken? Well, the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company owns the chicken company. Do you eat any DelMonte brand foods, or the good stuff like NABISCO cookies and such. R.J. Reynolds owns them, also.

And we older folks who, after smoking for years and now think it is a sin, should be wised up about taking Geritol. It is owned by the tobacco company.

Did you ever think that the time would come when one company would produce various goods that can make you feel both awful and good at the same time?

Let me give you yet a stranger for instance. Did you know that Gulf-Western Industries, Inc., of East Jordan, also owns Paramount Pictures in Hollywood as well as Madison Square Gardens in New York City? (I just threw that in. It has nothing to do with tobacco.)

So let's get back to it. Whenever you drink a glass of Miller High Life beer or down a bottle of Seven-Up soft drink you are supporting the Philip Morris, Inc., tobacco company, which makes five brands of nationally sold cigarettes.

Now, one thing further. I always come up further when I have one more thing.

I freed myself from the nasty habit several years ago, but I am still supporting the tobacco companies. I've had tail twisters but this situation takes the cake—the kind that sort of makes me sick.

Now the question is, how come I am so smart and know some things others don't? Well, it wasn't easy. I had to look them up in the 1986 World Almanac my wife gave me for Christmas. You'd be surprised how smart looking stuff up can make you.

Did you know that if you took two Medics and put them together you would have a pair-o-medics? (That's a joke, son. I think.)

I've been sitting around Florida all winter waiting for the snow and ice to melt in Boyne City so I can return with gusto. He and I have had many a good time together.

I'm going to stop here because it doesn't make sense for my readers to continue reading when I've finished writing.

Editor,

May I please use the public forum to thank you for your coverage of our Labels for Education project at the Boyne City Middle School.

For the past few years our school has saved Campbell labels which we redeem for educational equipment for our school. After two years of saving, we have enough labels to trade for a 19" color television to go with our new video recorder. The equipment will be used in classrooms to view educational videos.

May I also take this opportunity to thank the management of Glen's for their contribution of a 500-label certificate.

In the contest between the grades, the seventh graders brought in the most labels and their celebration party was Thursday, February 27. Mrs. Neidhamer's foods class made cookies for the occasion.

Although this year's collection is over, this is an ongoing project and friends in the community are urged to continue saving Campbell labels. They may be mailed or dropped off at the middle school or given to your favorite sixth, seventh or eighth grade student. There is also a Campbell cannister in the lobby of the Boyne City Public Library.

Your support and the community's support for this project is most appreciated.

The East Jordan Red Devils had a big night against the Jo-Burg Cardinals in their 103-71 victory. Here Greg Kitson goes airborne for a lay-up under the glass.

East Jordan clobbers Jo-Burge 103-71

The East Jordan-Red Devils (13-5) took no prisoners in non-conference action last Tuesday, as they clobbered the Johannesburg/Lewiston Cardinals by a score of 103-71. Mike Goebel had an awesome game for the Red Devils as he poured in a career high of 43 points.

Jim Raymond, Mike Goebel, Tom Galmore, and Greg Kitson each hit baskets early in the first period to give East Jordan an 8-0 advantage. Goebel and Raymond combined for 10 points in a 12 point stretch for the Devils to build the lead to 20-6. The teams traded baskets the rest of the period with the Cardinals sinking a shot at the buzzer to cut the Devil lead to 10, 24-14.

The Cardinals got back into the game in the second stanza, as they outscored the Devils 27-23 in the period. Nine East Jordan turnovers allowed Johannesburg to cut East Jordan's margin to 47-41 at the half.

East Jordan started to open things up a little bit in the third quarter, with Goebel scoring 10 of the Devil's 23 points. Midway into the period, the Cardinals had cut the lead to five, at 58-53, but Kitson and Raymond helped the Devils dish out 12 unanswered points, which helped build a 70-54 third period lead.

The Devils were "Red Hot" in the final period, with Goebel scoring 18 points. It seemed like anything the team threw up, went in. Goebel and Kitson helped build an 83-58 lead early in the stanza. East Jordan shot 25 free throws in the final period and connected on 16 of them. The Red Devils scored the final 10 points of the game, en route to their first 100 total in over five years.

Goebel led all scorers with 43, including 15 for 21 from the free throw line. Greg Kitson and Jim Raymond scored 16 and 13 points respectively. Others scoring for the Red Devils were Kevin Molby with eight, Shannon Olstrom and Ted Snowden with six, Tom Galmore and Darren Graham with four, and Dave Russell with three. The only Devil not to score was Aaron Spence. Spence had to leave the game early in the first period after a shoulder injury.

The Red Devils outrebounded the Cardinals 42-37 with Goebel pulling down 18. Raymond grabbed eight while Kitson collected seven. East Jordan added to their huge amount of blocked shots with Goebel rejecting four, Kitson knocking back a pair, and Galmore and Raymond each blocking one. Ted Snowden led the team with seven assists while Tom Galmore and Greg Kitson each dished out six.

East Jordan hit on 23 of 39 charity shots for 60 per cent. They turned the ball over 27 times and committed 20 personal fouls.

Junior Varsity

East Jordan's junior varsity also went home with a victory which upped their season record to 5-13. It was only third time all season that both the varsity and j.v. won on the same night.

The Red Devils used a strong performance from freshman Mark Moore, who consistently sank the long range shots, in defeating the Cardinals by a 65-50 score.

Moore and Alvin Merrill scored 19 of the Devils 21 first quarter points in building a 21-15 lead. Moore and Mark LaBeau helped the Devils build a 33-23 lead late in the second quarter, but by halftime the score was 35-31 in favor of the Devils.

Seven Devils scored in the third period, as they added two pointed to their lead by taking a 49-43 advantage into the final period. Moore scored 10 of the Devils 16 fourth period points, while the Devils moved on to win 65-50.

Mark Moore led the team with 28 points while Alvin Merrill also finished in double digits with 13. Mark LaBeau scored a season high of eight points while Kelly Harchis totaled five. Others scoring were Jayme Warwick with three and Tom LaVake, Scott Diller, Keith Harchis, and Tracy Morris with two each.

The Devils were outrebounded 50-42, with Keith Harchis leading the team with 13, while Moore grabbed nine. Kelly (9) and Keith (6) combined for 15 steals for the Devils.

East Jordan managed to hit on only nine of 20 bonus shots, while turning the ball over 20 times and committing 16 team fouls.

Boyne Ramblers get by Harbor Springs Rams...

Last Tuesday the Boyne City Ramblers hosted the Harbor Springs Rams and ousted the visitors in a 72-66 non-conference match-up.

Boyne City controlled the tip and scored the first five points before Harbor began their running game and closed in. The Ramblers kept their lead for most of the first quarter getting up by 4 at times and then back to two.

Harbor's Doug Dickinson tied the game at 14 with 1:06 to go and then Tippet put Harbor ahead 16-14 to end the quarter.

Steve Stutsman started the second period with a layup when he swipped the ball and took it in. Redman then picked up his 3rd foul. Harbor converted one shot to retake the lead 17-16. Dickinson and Tippet then hit shots to make a 21-16 lead but 4 points from Snyder and two from Scott Beebe put it at 22-21. Tippet hit 2 more shots before Boyne decided to get it together. The Ramblers regained the lead and pushed it to 37-33 at the half.

The second half started with a bucket by the Rams but Penny hit for Boyne. The teams exchanged baskets throughout the period and Boyne found themselves behind by 2 at the 1:20 mark. Kevin Snyder ended the period with 2 foul shots to make it 55-55.

Nick Redman hit one to start the final quarter and Scott Penny followed by rejecting 2 shots by Harbor and then jamming one down which brought the Ramblers fans to their feet. Harbor kept it close through the rest of the game, but at the end it was Boyne on top 72-66.

For Boyne, Redman had 20, Penny 14, Snyder and Stutsman each contributed 13. Harbor's Tippet hit 30 and Dickinson 10.

Coach Fowler comments said "We had to work for that. It was still good, anytime you beat Harbor it's good."

Go down to Northmen in season finale

The Boyne City Ramblers went to Petoskey to end the regular season and did so on a sour note as the Northmen took a 43-34 win.

Both teams came out and played sloppily. The Ramblers were without center Scott Penny as he was injured with a knee problem.

Petoskey controlled the tip but turned the ball over. Boyne did also and this time the Northmen converted for a 2-0 lead. Mike Deschryver put Boyne on the board with one free throw at 5:56. Stutsman and Redman both hit one charity shot each to make it 3-2 at 5:04.

The teams traded baskets before the Ramblers hit 2 shots to take a 7-4 lead. Steve Mann answered with 2 shots. Eric Beer and Kevin Snyder traded hoops to end the 1st period 10-9 Petoskey.

The second period was very much like the first as both teams played exceptional defense. Both teams were cold with Boyne not rebounding on the offensive end. Boyne and Petoskey passed the lead to each other countless times but at the half it was the Northmen 21-20.

Steve Mann and Nick Redman traded shots to begin the second half then 2 free shots by Beer put Petoskey up by 3. That three point lead held for the remainder of the quarter because at the end, it was 31-28.

Nick Redman put 4 points on the board for Boyne to retake the lead at 7:00 32-31.

The Ramblers then sent Steve Mann to the line three straight times which resulted in a 35-32 lead for the Northmen. Boyne's final two points came from Archambault when he hit two foul shots after Don Proctor fowled him.

High scorers for Boyne were Redman 15, Snyder 12, while for Petoskey Mann hit 20 and Dennis Hewitt 12.

Boyer advances to 3rd round

ALMA--Boyer City is among 16 Michigan high schools making it into the March 8 third round of Alma College's 1988 High School Quiz Bowl. Earlier rounds have eliminated 43 teams and now only eight teams remain in each of the two division, A-B and C-D.

The third round/quarterfinal, semifinal and championship matches in this "varsity sport of the mind" competition will all be played Saturday, March 8. The four quarterfinal matches in each division will be played in the morning, at 9, 9:40, 10:20 and 11. The semifinal matches are at 12:30 and 1:10 p.m. and the championships are at 1:50 p.m.

In C-D action, Boyer City plays Vandercook Lake, the defending C-D champion, at 10:20. After a first round bye (automatic win), Boyer City defeated Saugatuck, 175-165, in sudden death overtime in second round competition. Saugatuck was the 1983 C-D champion. Vandercook Lake first beat Flint Academy, 130-35, then in the second beat Bad Axe, 300-85.

Boyer City team members and alternates are Bill Casper, Dan Stalt, Ulli Sharp, Travis Hartman, Mindy Stadt and James Baker.

Originally planned for the first three Saturdays in February, the tournament had scheduling changes and delays because of adverse weather conditions the first two Saturdays.

The matches March 8 will be played in Alma's Tyler-VanDusen Campus Center, with A-B teams in the South VanDusen Commons. All matches in the 1988 Alma College High School Quiz Bowl competition are open to the public without charge.

Played between two four-member teams, Quiz Bowl is a fast-moving question and answer game lasting 16 minutes and played in two eight-minute halves.

It is a game of quick recall and fast response, with points awarded to the team giving the correct answer first. Contestants have three seconds to answer toss-up questions (worth 10 points each) and five seconds to answer bonus questions (worth a pre-stated number of points from 20 to 35, depending upon complexity and degree of difficulty).

Either team is eligible to answer toss-up questions, but the individual team members must signal to answer by pressing a buzzer which then blocks out signals from the other players. There can be no consultation among players to answer toss-up questions. Correctly answering a toss-up question gives a team the exclusive right to answer bonus questions. Team members may confer in answering bonus questions.

Both toss-up and bonus questions cover a broad range of topics including science, politics, literature, history, religion, art, geography, movies, television shows, Olympic competitions, sports, music and Nobel, Pulitzer and Academy Award winners.

The questions Alma uses are purchased from the High School Quiz Bowl Division of College Bowl Co., Inc.

In addition to receiving trophies, the final four high schools in the 1988 Quiz Bowl competition will share $32,000 in Alma College Quiz Bowl Scholarships. The champion school in each division receives a scholarship worth $10,000 over four years and the runner-up schools each receive a scholarship worth $6,000 over four years. The schools can designate the Quiz Bowl Scholarship recipients, but the recipients must be admitted by Alma and must meet Alma College's scholarship standards.

Red Devils secure second league trophy

The East Jordan Red Devils ended the 1985-86 regular season on a very high note last Friday night with a 57-42 victory over the Pellston Hornets. Going into the game, the Red Devils were tied with the Central Lake Trojans for first place in the Ski Valley Conference with 11-2 conference totals. The Devils needed a win to ensure at least a share in the conference title. But to their surprise, the Harbor Springs Rams knocked off Central Lake by a score of 69-67 to give the Devils the title.

After the Devils victory, East Jordan coach Steve Hines quickly headed for a telephone to find out Central Lake's outcome. When he entered the locker room with a big grin on his face, the whole team exploded in an uproar. East Jordan has now won the conference two years in a row.

The Devils knew that the Hornets would not be an easy victory, because earlier this year the Devils were only able to beat them by four points, 43-39. But a strong game from the Devil front court, consisting of Jim Raymond (6-5), Mike Goebel (6-4) and Greg Kitson (6-2), provided the bulk of the scoring and rebounding.

The game started out very slow with Pellston taking an early 8-0 lead. East Jordan's three big men were able to outscore Pellston 6-2 the rest of the period to tie it up at 10.

Pellston jumped out to a 14-12 lead early in the second stanza. The Devils then installed a full court press which killed the Hornets. Mike Goebel put the Devils up 22-16 with a lay-up with less than two minutes left in the half. The Devils and the Hornets traded baskets before Greg Kitson converted a three-point play just before the half to give East Jordan a 29-18 halftime lead.

The third period was pretty close, with the Devils outscoring Pellston 12-9. Greg Kitson put East Jordan up 37-20 when he grabbed an offensive rebound and put it back in. The Hornets managed to cut the lead to 14 at the end of the period. With eight minutes left, the Devils lead 41-27.

Senior Mike Goebel got hot in the final period. He scored six of East Jordan's first eight points, four of which came off the offensive rebound, to give East Jordan a 49-30 lead. With less than a quarter to play in the regular season, junior Jim "Rim" Raymond gave the East Jordan fans a thrill. An errant pass by the Hornets resulted in a fast break by the Devils, with Raymond being the lead man. He received the ball at about the top of the key and proceeded to go in for the dunk. The East Jordan fans went crazy, but to their disapproval the referee called traveling. Even with the basket nullified, the Devils had really pumped themselves up. They held off the Hornets the rest of the way. The win upped their overall record to 16-5.

Mike Goebel led the team with 19 points while Greg Kitson collected 15 and Jim Raymond finished with 12. Two other Devils got into the scoring, Tom Galmore with eight and Phil Nemecek with three. Nemecek had been out about two weeks, but came off the bench to sink three of four free throws in his first game back.

The Devils outrebounded the Hornets 48-32 with Goebel pulling down 19. Kitson and Raymond each added 10. The Devils had on of their lowest totals in blocked shots in quite a few games, as they managed to block only four. Kitson rejected two while Goebel and Galmore each blocked one. The Devils averaged nearly seven blocks a game.

East Jordan hit 11 of 19 charity shots for 58 per cent, committed 20 turnovers, and totaled 16 personal fouls.

Junior Varsity

East Jordan's junior varsity lost a heart breaker to the Hornets 59-58. The loss dropped the Devils season total to 5-16 and 2-12 in the Ski Valley Conference. The Devils led 58-57 with two seconds left, but the Hornets managed to sink a pair of free throws to win it. Pellston took a 14-9 first period lead, but Glen Stevens sparked the comeback for the Devils as they pulled ahead by one, 29-28, at the half.

Mark Moore put the Devils up 31-30 with a steal and a basket early in the third quarter. A couple of minutes later, another basket by Moore gave the Devils a 37-32 lead. At the end of the third period, East Jordan led 45-42.

Late in the fourth period Pellston called a time-out with a 55-52 lead. Jayme Warwick then went to the line and nailed a pair to pull the Devils to within one. East Jordan's defense really got tough in the final three minutes. With the Hornets leading 57-54, Keith Harchis made a nice steal and drove in for the shot. He was fouled, and went to the free throw line and hit both. On Pellston's inbound pass, Alvin Merrill came away with a steal, but the Devils were not able to capitalize on the turnover. With less than a minute remaining, the Devils made another steal. Mark Moore intercepted the pass and went in to score to put E.J. up 58-57, with about 20 seconds left. East Jordan played really good defense and did not allow the Hornets a good shot, but an accidental foul with two ticks left did the Devils in. East Jordan call a time-out before the first free throw and after the first throw, but it didn't unnerve the Pellston shooter as he canned them both to win it.

Glen Stevens came off the bench and played one of his best games of the season as he finished with a team leading 13 points. Alvin Merrill and Keith Harchis each totaled 12 and Mark Moore finished with 10. Also scoring for the Devils were Kelly Harchis with seven and Jayme Warwick with four.

The Devils were outrebounded 36-32 with East Jordan's leading rebounder being Keith Harchis with nine. Warwick ended the night with seven and Moore grabbed six.

East Jordan was eight for 13 from the free throw line, turned the ball over 16 times, and committed only 10 team fouls all night.

Charlevoix Rayders fade in title showdown

After a gracious win by Gaylord over the Cheboygan Chiefs, the Charlevoix Rayders were gifted with the opportunity to share the Michigan Huron Shores Conference title, but an overwhelming show of contendership on the part of Cheboygan squelched the Rayder's title hopes in a 78-52 decision.

Charlevoix demonstrated the ability to run with the Chiefs in the opening period, providing the spectators with a hustling run and gun game through the entire quarter. Cheboygan drew first blood, taking a 4-0 advantage on the fast break stemming from defensive rebounds.

The Rayders saw the lead change into their favor when Jodi Putman was fouled in the act of putting an offensive rebound through. Putman converted the three point play, and the Rayders were off and running.

Hustling back on defense cut off the Cheboygan fast break and Jim Ciuk put Charlevoix on top 9-6 with two successive buckets, one a full court drive following the defensive steal.

Sean Ferguson added to the margin from the top of the key with four minutes left, but a cold period was soon to follow as the Charlevoix shot attempts carommed away and Cheboygan chipped away to lead 13-11 at periods end.

The Rayders continued to be cold from the floor through five minutes of the second quarter, getting only brief hoops while Cheboygan controlled the action after hauling down defensive rebounds repeatedly. The Chiefs found the back side of the boards to be their bread and butter, setting up wild fast breaks after lofty misses by the Rayders. By periods end the Rayders had collected enough fouls to be converted against twice for three point plays, but after trailing by eleven, pulled within eight points 26-34 at the half.

Cheboygan found an added advantage after the intermission, by cutting the cross-key Charlevoix offense in half with a mid-key post.

Failing to penetrate the paint with passes, the Rayders were forced back to shoot from the perimeter, lofting shots that misdirected into the arms of the defending Chiefs. At the two minute mark Charlevoix had scored just four points, trailing 30-49 and by periods end, Cheboygan had built a 57-37 lead and celebrated through the entire fourth period, displaying elated glee after each hoop was scored.

Charlevoix placed one player in double figures with Ferguson scoring 16 points. Putman was good for 9 points, Ciuk had 8 points, Tim Salmonson, Tim Plagge, Joe Miller and Rick Quinn had four points each, Patrick LaBlance scored two points, and Jim Gibbs contributed a free throw.
