Boyne City will be hosting members of the North Central Accreditation team this week as they start to evaluate the school on all of the factors used to have the North Central Accreditation. The team will be at the school Wednesday through Friday to determine if it meets the criteria. The school has already received the tentative approval this past year, and this examination will determine if the school can continue to say it is North Central approved.

Because the Boyne City High School play will be held next week, a month earlier than usual, sales of the tickets are still available at this writing but going fast. This year the drama club will be presenting "Oklahoma" on the elementary school stage on March 20, 21, and 22. Tickets are available from drama club students, the high school or elementary school offices.

The PTO meeting of the Boyne City Elementary School will be held on the Third Tuesday this month, a change from the normal meeting time, according to Ed Snyder, principal of the school.

Three terms will be available for the Boyne City School Board in the June election, one four-year term, and two one-year terms, according to Rich Kelly, superintendent of the school system. Petitions are now available for those who may wish to serve on the board from the administration office in the high school building.

East Jordan High School will be holding a carnival, sponsored by the junior class, Saturday, March 17, between 1 and 7 p.m. The carnival will offer games for all ages. Proceeds will go to the junior class to help pay for the prom.

Abatement revoked by BC Commission

Saying that the intent of Commercial Facilities Exemption Certificates was to increase employment, Boyne City Commissioners agreed to revoke the tax abatement given to the Rainy Day Lady building in Downtown Boyne City during their noon meeting Tuesday.

The request to revoke the abatement came to the commissioners from the Planning board who had looked at the situation for some months, asking the owner of the building, Judy Kostin, to respond to a letter they had sent out in the city's name. The business has been closed for the last eighteen months.

Kostin had replied in a letter to the planners she wished to wait until the business climate in the community improved before opening back up.

Commissioner Cass Toton, telling the commission that waiting for the business climate to improve would, if other businesses followed that same thinking, cause the community to be without businesses.

He also added "It's not being fair to the others who have abatements and are following the rules."

Commissioner Bill Grimm made the motion to revoke the permit. The motion then passed with a unanimous decision.

The building will now be taxed at the full rate instead of having the improvements made to it several years ago not be included on the tax roles.

The other business of the commissioners was to set up a new special assessment program for the owners of city land along Anderson Road.

Wilson Township had asked the city to participate in the improvement of the road with them. The city was asked to pay for the portion within the city limits along 1300 lineal feet of roadway.

Cost for the city's share of the project was projected to be about $10,700 for the upgrading of the road.

With the special assessment district, the five land owners along the road would be asked to participate in the costs of the paving. The city would be picking up about $3,000 of the cost with the property owners paying the rest over a ten year period.

The city approved the setting up of the assessment district providing all of the legal requirements are met in determining the right-of-way of the street.

The township indicated that if the city had not wanted to participate, it would put the project on hold and look at other paving projects within the township.

Members of the Boyne City Board of Review enjoyed a moment of laughter as they waited for property owners to come in to discuss their assessments. The first of three sessions wasn't very busy for the board members as not too many showed up to discuss their property values.

Smith named football coach at BCHS

Boyne City High School will have a new football coach next fall after the school board Monday named Irvin (Shorty) Smith as the head football coach.

The school board heard recommendations from the athletic committee before naming Smith coach. Smith has been in the Boyne School system for many years and was an assistant coach to Paul Phfaler prior to Bob McCullough being named head coach.

Other coaches were named for spring sports as well. Bob and Marty McCullough will be the boys and girls varsity track coaches, Fred Rice will be the tennis coach for the high school, and David Bricker along with Sara Hildebrandt as an assistant, were named as track coaches for the Middle School team.

Previously, Bob Wollenberg and Shelly Martin were named as baseball and softball coaches.

The board then agreed to start another program in the Middle School to help students learn the fourth "R" of education. That "R" stands for responsibility.

The board agreed to a program called Skills for Adolescence, which was researched first by the area Lions Clubs.

Two Lions members, Dane Chappell from Boyne City and Russ Shephard of Grayling made a presentation to the board concerning the program.

The three Lions Clubs in the Boyne Valley have agreed to fund the program which will consist of one semester of learning in the seventh grade starting next year.

Jack Cyr, the Middle School Principal told the board the school hasn't yet figured out how to fit it in to the schedule, but if they wanted it, he will find the time and the space to hold the program.

It would be an enrichment program according to school administrators who have suggested that Dave Bricker or Nancy Belford may be the teachers.

The professional study committee has reviewed the program and all had positive comments, Superintendent Rich Kelly said.

In other action the board approved the resolution to hold an election in June, approved the firm of Robertson and Carpenter to continue doing the audit for the system, and accepted a letter of resignation from Jean Grimm, a Middle School Learning Center Aide.

They also agreed to let the City of Boyne City collect summer taxes again this year, and approved the wording for any township that may wish to collect summer taxes.

Write-in wins BF Village presidency

The question of who would fill the title of Boyne Falls Village president was answered Monday when Gladys "Joann" Bell received 16 write in votes for the unfilled spot.

She received more write-in votes than six other candidates for the same office. Bell is the former village clerk.

All other places on the ballot were taken by incumbents who were returned to their posts. Those included Debra Taylor as clerk with 29 votes, Gladys Upton, treasurer with 33 votes, and assessor Janet Kondrat with 29.

Upton has served as treasurer for the village for the past 50 years. Trustees elected included William Kondrat, William Zimmerman, Norman Arman, Gerald Bell and William Carson.

A sixth trustee position ended in a tie between two write-ins, Tom Kondrat and Walter Kondrat. Both received three votes. The tie will be broken later.

$2,443,515 budget submitted to city fathers

"The comeback of Boyne City is part of the State's comeback," City Manager Randy Frykberg told the city commissioners at Tuesday night's meeting of the commission. "We are leading the way in Northern Michigan and we will continue to do so. The public/private partnerships and citizen support which Boyne City is noted for are vital to our well-being."

Frykberg added that the city is a progressive community and he is optimistic about the future.

With those remarks, Frykberg handed out the first look at the fiscal year budget he and other members of the city administration have been putting together for the last several months.

The new budget reflects a decrease in income and spending as the city is not anticipating any federal revenue sharing funds and federal grants.

The city budget will show a total expenditure of $2,443,515 for all funds in the 86-87 budget. This represents a 4.22 percent decrease from last year's budget.

In order to reach that budget funding, the city will be asking for 15.75 mills for city operations, 2.00 for capital improvements and .50 mills for debt retirement.

This also will mean a reduction of .40 mills from last year's city millage.

The largest fund in the budget is the General Fund which represents $1,389,545 in expenditures. The fund covers general city operations which includes the fire and police departments, ambulance, city offices and parks and recreation. Other items in the general fund include building maintenance, cemetery, capital projects and transfers to other funds.

Property taxes will pay for about half of the expenditures with the rest of the money coming from state shared revenues, municipal functions and the final payoff of the federal revenue sharing funds.

The biggest expenditure within the general fund will be transfers to the major street fund, local street fund, and capital projects.

Some fees for city services will have to be raised. The city's water/wastewater fund this last year was $65,000 in the red and the city is looking at a 10 percent increase in those fees. It has been three years since the city increased the water/waste water funds.

Other increases will come from the marina area and other user fees.

The commissioners will now go through the budget with the hopes of approving it by the April monthly evening meeting.

Unlike the federal government, the city has to meet a balanced budget, by law, and has had to scale back some projects as well as ask for increases in various areas.

Wolverine-Dilworth gets in registry

Boyne City has a new entrant in the National Register of Historic Places as the National Park Branch of the U.S. Department of the Interior officially listed the Wolverine-Dilworth Hotel on February 13th according to a letter received from the Michigan Department of State who is the agent for the Michigan properties to the National Register.

The listing is one of the main reasons the Wolverine-Dilworth project was started, according to those following the project. With See Hotel/Page 2 members of the Boyne City Economic Development Commission agreed to the purchase of the property by Fred Franchino, the owner of the firm. Construction is planned for this building season.

Ware-withal

BY GAIL WARE

I've noticed for years, and so have those near and dear to me, that working on the income taxes bends me all out of shape. And I know what the problem is; it's that the instructions intimidate me. So this year I decided to do something about it. I decided to allow a lot more time for the project so I could take a relaxed approach to the matter.

So first thing yesterday morning, I settled into a comfortable chair and skimmed through the instructions in the Federal Income Tax package in a casual manner, as if they were an article in a magazine that I'd picked up in the dentist office. I figured this would help me get a feel for the language and, at the same time refresh my memory as to the kind of responses the IRS wants from me.

And it was a help. I felt like I was making real headway because I learned about two things that the IRS doesn't want from me, which I'd never even thought of but might think of in the future. So it's useful for me to know that the IRS frowns on them. They're frivolity and creativity.

The frivolity has to do with filing a frivolous return. According to the instructions, "A frivolous return is one which does not contain information needed to figure the correct tax or shows a substantially incorrect tax, because you take a frivolous position or desire to delay or interfere with the tax laws."

I can't imagine that I'll ever feel lighthearted enough at income tax time to even consider filing a frivolous return. But, in case I ever do, I'll keep in mind that the IRS finds such action very distressing. And it will distress me back by fining me $500 plus any other monetary punishment it can come up with to teach me not to be silly on IRS time.

The other thing the IRS doesn't want me to do is to create my own tax form without following their rules. The booklet says: "You may not use your own version of the tax form unless it meets the requirements contained in Publication 1167 for acceptable privately designed and printed substitute tax forms."

This one I'm pretty sure I'll never distress the IRS with. I can understand that taxpayers get tired of the same questions and format year after year, but re-designing the income tax form seems like an unfulfilling way of expressing creative drive. Better to write a poem or a short story than to squander talent in the arid field of a government form.

Uncovering these two things that the IRS takes a dim view of gave me a sense of accomplishment, even confidence. Now all I have to do is figure out how to fill in the blanks on the forms, which is what I was supposed to be getting a head start on with the skimming, but which I don't seem to be any farther ahead on than I was before I began.

But I will say this much for the relaxed approach. It did make me feel good for a little while. And for that time, I was pleasanter than I usually am at income tax time.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

This past Monday made for weather I wished I were down in Florida and missed.

I hate early spring almost as much as I dislike late fall.

That is the time of year you get the mush, the slush, the ice, and anything else that makes weather disagreeable.

I am ready for summer. I am also ready for a vacation. Anything to get away from this kind of stuff.

These are the days I wish I could call up Greg Smith Senior and ask if he wanted to go to work for a couple of weeks while I take a vacation.

Or try to talk Marshall Sayles into coming back early so he could run the party or a week or two.

That is one of the large problems of a small newspaper. Vacations or the lack of them.

So, in the meantime, you just struggle through, wait for the better weather you know is coming, and keep reminding yourself you live in a vacationland, you don't really need to get away.

I was thinking some time ago that we could just close up for a month, like April, and not put out any papers, but the bookkeeper said if we did that, then we would have any money to start publishing in May.

Maybe she thinks we would spend all the money while we were on our vacation.

She is always right. At least as far as money goes.

And it does. Comes in one side and out the other. Doesn't even say hello or goodbye on the way through.

But I am not alone with that thought, everybody I talk to has the same problems. There is just never enough money to go around to do whatever you may want.

I think I will just quit worrying about it and go out skiing or something. At least the snow on the ski hills is in the proper place and doesn't need shoveling by me to get a good place to park.

Remembrances

This old postcard shows a view of bustling Boyne City about 1910. Taken from the top of the hill that is now Avalanche Preserve, the picture shows all of the stacked lumber along the lakefront as well as almost all of the town at the time. The sender of the card said "This is a very pretty little place, I think." The note was scribed by Mary D. in 1911. If she could see the town now....

Letters

Reasons for recall

Editor,

At the regularly scheduled meeting of October 14, 1986, the following motion was presented:

Motion by J. Mathers, Jr., supported by L. Monshor, that the Human Growth and Development Committee, as of today, be dissolved and that all further human growth and development be dealt with directly by the board, and that a full report from each principal be given before the next board meeting on any class dealing with the subject of human growth and development.

In an area that is as sensitive as human growth and development why was this issue not placed on the agenda? Why weren't all board members informed of this issue until just prior to its presentation at approximately 10:15 p.m.? Why were no administrators informed? In fact, Mrs. Behling had offered to be at the meeting as a representative of the Human Growth and Development Committee to answer any questions concerning the program. She was informed by Mr. Kelly that it was unnecessary for her to be there as it was not going to be on the agenda.

Mr. Mathers and Mr. Monshor have stated in several occasions that they didn't want to do away with the Human Growth and Development Committee. If this were true, then why did the above motion seek to dissolve the committee and all future human growth and development matters be dealt with directly by the board? Mr. Mathers and Mr. Monshor knew that the dissolution of the committee would have effectively destroyed the program and that any attempt to have a human growth and development curriculum without an advisory board would have been in direct violation of P.A. 226.

During the November 11, 1985 school board meeting, the public demanded and received reinstatement of the "How to say no" program which certain board members had tried to get rid of. Mr. May, speaking on behalf of all board members, proclaimed that their intent was not to do away with these programs. The minutes of October 14 clearly disputes that statement.

There have been statements in the paper in recent months that are totally inaccurate and should be clarified. In the Petoskey News Review of January 31, 1986 Mr. Mathers made the statement that he was not concerned with the 6th and 7th grade human growth and development curriculum since the program had been changed from a co-educational instruction to non-co-educational instruction. Surely

Mr. Mathers knew that the human growth and development classes have never been taught co-educational in Boyne City. Before the 6th and 7th grade curriculum was implemented, a poll was sent to all parents requesting their input into the type of instruction they pre-

Wouldn't it be nice if science would advance to the point where we could dump our problems into a computer and catch a pail of solutions?

How refreshing to get rid of life's problems that won't behave. (Now don't turn the page. This is better stuff than last week.)

I was chiding my old friend about his problems. "John," I said. "You've lived all these years and you haven't begun to solve your problems."

John was a public figure with a knack for keeping his gnawing secrets to himself.

"If I were to air my problems," he said, "the rafters would ring all over town. I can't do that. Boyne City has enough rafters ringing as it is."

Not only do I and my friends have problems, but Boyne City itself is buffaloeed with dusty old nuts that have no intentions of being cracked—no matter how many people run for a council seat to "straighten things out."

It's true. The city's long standing, hardcore problems seem to have always been so; and it is mighty difficult to settle anything with a hardcore that has always been so.

Back before they began putting windows into radios, I had a problem that grabbed me every time I got out of bed to face the day. It was a hardcore misery, like the city's; and it hung on and on.

One day I got an idea. Why not ship it off to Ann Landers, the nation's baby sitter? Let her solve my problem. After all, she was an expert—an answer happy expert.

But holy-o-bull! (Usually people say "cow," but this called for something a little stronger.)

All that Miss Landers did was to pull out her standard mimeographed letter: "Go see a counselor."

What an answer! I know counselors who are seeing counselors.

I predict that some day it will be necessary for the city to buy a huge computer so we can all dump our problems into it and catch that pail of solutions mentioned at the beginning of this intelligent discussion. Otherwise our problems will one day slop over into the streets and the city certainly doesn't want that sort of thing on its hands or feet.

Residents could come a running, pails banging. The city itself would need a rather large size bucket. Those people whose last names began with AB and C could catch solutions on even days and those whose names began with XY and Z could fill their pails on odd days.

Darn. Whenever this column begins to make sense I always get to wondering where in the world I went wrong.

Applications are now available for two annual nursing scholarships administered by Charlevoix Area Hospital.

The Peggy Carey Northway Scholarship is awarded each year to a graduating high school senior who plans to attend an approved school of nursing in the State of Michigan. The scholarship totals up to $1,200 and is awarded in increments of $300 per year.

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Nursing Scholarship is awarded annually to either a high school senior or high school graduate who also wishes to attend an approved nursing school within the state. The $700 scholarship is awarded in increments of $350 a year.

For both scholarships, applicants must reside in the area served by Charlevoix Area Hospital and must have applied for admittance to an accredited school of nursing before applying for the scholarship. Scholarships are not awarded until applicants are informed of acceptance by the schools at which they have applied.

Application forms are available from high school guidance offices and from Charlevoix Area Hospital. They are to be submitted by April 1.

Students in the East Jordan kindergarten class prepare snacks during their school day. Of course they make a mess, but that is part of the learning process, isn't it?

Kindergarten cooks in EJ program

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER

The Kindergarten Parenting Program in East Jordan has continued one of the most fun projects for the children—cooking their own snack twice a month. The snacks have ranged from carrot salad to hot chocolate to trail mix and even included making cookies!

The menus are organized by the parents who meet twice monthly with Parenting Coordinator Marilyn Friedly. Lists of "needs"—ingredients for each cooking project—are made up and each child is assigned to bring one thing. These usually arrive via the child's tote bag a day or two before cooking (including eggs which have survived a bus ride and jostling into school).

On cooking day, parents go into the kindergarten rooms, set up for the day's event and help each child follow the steps for the recipe. The old saying, "The proof is in the pudding," is experienced at snack time. Certainly there are some requests for seconds as well as some "yucks" from those who did not like the day's choice.

Parents who have attended the Parenting Program have had discussions on discipline, Kindergarten Readiness Tests, Child Watch and just plain, "What should I do about...?" All parents (in attendance or not) receive a sheet of weekly home activities, fun and educational for the parents to do with their children.

Parents are invited into the classrooms to do certain activities with the children. Each parent works with several children during this time. The teachers also prepare projects for the parents to do during the parenting time, which will be used in the classrooms by the teacher and the students.

The children have become more than accustomed to having parents in their room; they enjoy it and expect to have the extra attention that these additional adults can give them each week. They have learned the names of the parents and are comfortable talking to them. The parents have learned more about what is happening on a daily basis in their child's classroom and have had more opportunity to get to know the teacher, to ask questions and to be a part of their child's learning process.

Ask any East Jordan kindergartener and they will tell you they especially like the cooking days! Messy hands, flour on the floor, new foods are all a part of it. The recipes are broken down into individual serving preparation, so each child does his own. They have counted raisins, measured by 1/4, 1/2 and full teaspoonfuls, and learned to mix, stir, knead, and various other kitchen activities. One of the most interesting cooking endeavors is the tasting party. Each child is asked to bring in something different, giving each of them the chance to taste 20-plus items. Sweet, sour, salty, and bitter are all included.

The children learn about things they would like to try more of and also about things they find distasteful. The comments and faces keep the parents and teachers entertained on this day!

Recall committee expects to win vote

"I can't believe this community is ready to go back to the stone-age if they (John Mathers and Larry Monshor) win," said one of the members of the committee to recall Mathers and Monshor.

Both members of the Boyne City School Board were named in a recall drive that had enough signatures to force an election. One of the reasons for the recall drive was the two members actions concerning their handling of the Human Growth and Development issue.

Mathers had asked the program be stopped and the motion in agreement was seconded by Monshor.

The issue was enough last fall to bring the resignation of Phil Bowman, then the president of the school board. Bowman was also going to be named in the recall campaign but resigned prior to the drive.

The issue facing the voters will be whether or not they want Mathers and Monshor to continue to serve the public on the school board. "If they do win, people in this community won't be able to control the school board as they will think the community is behind them," another added.

With the recall election coming up Monday, March 24th, the battleline of both factions has been relatively quiet on both sides of the issue.

The campaign is being fought in the letter to the editor columns of both local and daily newspapers.

"We respect their right to have an opinion," said another member of ferred. The return of the questionnaires indicated a preference for a non-coed teaching environment. The board succumbed to the wishes of the majority of the parents and implemented the human growth and development curriculum into a non-coed environment.

Mr. Mathers has also stated in the Petoskey News Review of February 26, 1986 that the 8th grade human behavior and development was mandatory. How unfortunate that Mr. Mathers still does not realize that human behavior and development is an elective course. An outline of all enrichment courses detailing the subject area is sent to all parents so they can help their children make intelligent choices.

Mr. Mathers has also stated that the minutes of the Human Growth and Development Committee of March 12, 1985 clearly states who implemented the new course of human behavior and development in the 8th grade curriculum. However, at the time of the October meeting that portion of the class dealing with human growth and development was still in the planning stages and had not been approved by the human growth and development committee. Contrary to his statements, state law does not require review before the start of class due in part that not all of the class deals with reproduction. That portion of the class dealing with human reproduction was scheduled to begin January 13, 1986. Incidentally, that portion of the 8th grade human behavior and development class that deals with human reproduction is approximately one and one-third pages long and is taken from a science text book approved and purchased by the board of education in 1977.

Mr. Mathers and Mr. Monshor violated the open meetings act when they dictated to Mrs. Nancy Belford that she could not teach the K-12 concepts formally approved by the board in June of 1982. Any change in board policy has to be done in an open meeting with a quorum present. That is state law.

If the people of Boyne City had not stood up at the November meeting and expressed their disapproval at the direction being taken by certain board members, the parents of 6th and 7th grade students would have lost not only their freedom of choice but also a human growth and development curriculum. The 8th grade parents would have also lost their choice to enroll their children in an elective enrichment program dealing with human behavior and development. Finally, the high school would have had all segments of biology, science and health classes dealing with human reproduction censored.

Although some people are concerned with the fact that Mr. Monshor does not have his children in the Boyne City school system, this is not the issue. The issue is that by his actions an attempt was made to limit what could be taught to our children in the public school system.

Mr. Mathers and Mr. Monshor were elected to a position of public trust and because of their actions and statements we feel that they have violated this trust. This is the issues we are concerned with at the recall election of March 24, 1986.

Members of the Committee to Recall Boyne City School Board members Mathers and Monshor

Eliminate lakeside camping?

Editor,

We are wondering how many people are aware of proposed plans to eliminate the existing campsites at Whiting Park, which are located near the water.

The concept plans, prepared for the Charlevoix County Parks and Recreation Commission by the D.N.R., would remove all existing campsites and replace them with a tennis court, basketball court, horseshoe pits, and parking lots.

The plans show a new camping area, (totally away from this day use area) across a busy county road, up and away from Lake Charlevoix. These new campsites would be located in a wooded area affording no view of our beautiful lake.

The grant for this project was applied for March 1, 1986, (the D.N.R. is the granting party) and if granted we may not only lose our lakeside campsites, but will most likely result in the loss of local county control - to the granting party!

We have camped and enjoyed Whiting Park for many years. We can see no need for, or benefit from, the removal of the campsites from their present location.

B F bumped by Bulldogs

After finishing in second place in the Northern Lakes Conference, the Boyne Falls varsity basketball team entered into district action last Wednesday night at Vanderbilt. The Loggers were matched against the Inland Lakes Bulldogs after previously being defeated twice at the hands of the Bulldogs, and nearly avenged their losses in a thrilling 42-41 encounter.

The Bulldogs opened the game with authority, doubleteaming Boyne Falls ace, Ross Payton, whenever he got near the key. Adding to their offensive, the Bulldogs sliced through the Logger man-to-man defense and built an 8-3 lead by mid-quarter. At quarter's end Inland Lakes led 12-5 with Logger points coming from Brian Bennett on a cross-key move, and three from Scott Winhusen. Offensive rebounds by the Bulldogs accounted for eight of their 12 points.

Boyne Falls converted their defense to a zone to open the second quarter, and succeeded in shutting down the Bulldog offense somewhat. Later in the period however, the Loggers combined a half court trap with the zone and began to take momentum as the Bulldogs were held scoreless for the final three minutes of the period. Boyne Falls scored four consecutive hoops down the stretch to pull within two points at the half, 18-20.

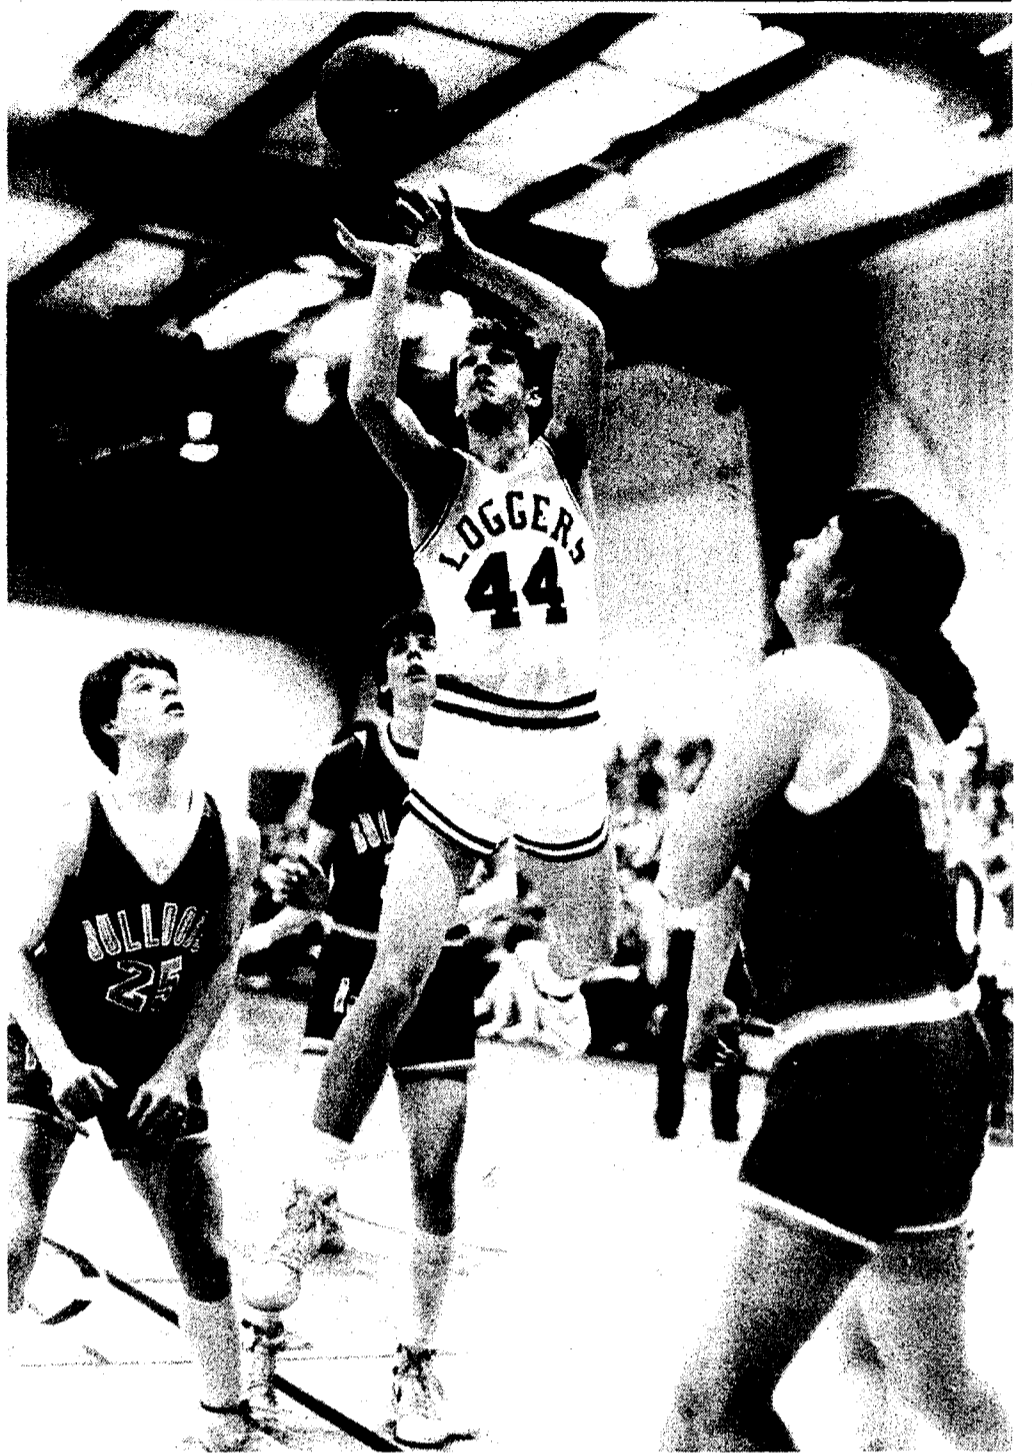

Lacking just five points to reach the 1,000 point career plateau, Payton found the third period to hold his charm after being denied in the first half. Payton's 1,000th point came midway through the period, giving the Loggers a 25-24 lead.

Inland Lakes was kept out of the painted area throughout the entire quarter and the Loggers found a better rebounding position, but the Bulldogs matched the Loggers point for point to finish the period with a slight 28-30 lead.

The Loggers opened the fourth period in game winning style, tying the game when Joe Kondrat assisted to Winhusen deep in the key. Payton put the Loggers on top a minute later, scoring on his own offensive rebounding, and Neil Wasylewski made it a three point margin, hitting a charity toss after being fouled driving down the key.

In the final four minutes of action the Bulldogs took the lead and held off repeated threats by the Loggers. Boyne Falls sent the Bulldogs to the line twice and came up with the ball both times down the stretch, but were unable to pull within more than one point in the final minute.

Bennett and Payton led the Logger scoring attack with 13 points each. Winhusen scored seven points, James Bearss put three points on the board, Chad Robinson and Kondrat had two each, while Wasylewski contributed a free throw.

Getting high over the Inland Lakes Bulldog defenders for a shot is Boyne Falls Logger, Ross Payton. Payton scored his 1,000th point in tournament action last week at Vanderbilt.

BC ousted by Rayders

In the Class C semi-finals of March Madness, the Charlevoix Red Ramblers hosted the Boyne City Ramblers and held off the Ramblers through a tight game until a late surge of fast breaks opened the game into a 57-45 Rayder win. The win moved Charlevoix into the finals held at Gaylord.

Tournament tightness dominated half of the first period as both teams frustrated themselves with a succession of cartoon-ish turnovers and by missing normally easy shots.

After things got rolling and both teams began to play basketball, the Ramblers settled into a tight 2-3 zone and prevented Charlevoix from getting inside. Passes into the key area were quickly returned to the Boyne City perimeter where Rayder ace sharpshooter Sean Ferguson was forced to launch from an undesirable position.

Boyne City's high scorer, Nick Redman was also bottled up which led to a low-scoring 8-4 Charlevoix lead when time expired.

Marc Archambault pulled the Ramblers within one point with a three point play to open the quarter. Archambault was fouled shooting a hanging jumper in the key and converted for a 7-8 score.

On the other end, Jodi Putman got Charlevoix rolling, penetrating for a lay-up under six-foot-five Rambler Scott Penny. Charlevoix built a 13-7 lead soon after with blistering fast breaks headed by Jim Ciuk and Packy LaBlance.

Keeping to the impregnable 2-3 zone, Boyne City continued to keep Charlevoix off the paint, but the Rayders found the range from outside to hold off a late surge by the Ramblers. Two assists gave the Ramblers a brief 19-18 lead when Redman found DeSchryver in a fast break, and later when Archambault fed to Redman low in the key.

With under a minute to go in the half, Rayders Ciuk and Ferguson hit unanswered points to give Charlevoix a 22-19 lead at the horn.

Boyne City opened the second half with two buckets to take another brief lead. Archambault connected with a left handed hook and DeSchryver put his own offensive rebound through for a 22-23 Ramblers lead, but Ciuk answered for the Rayders with a shot from the floor, and a steal for a fast break to put Charlevoix up 26-23.

Through mid-quarter action, the Rayders were led by Putman who engineered assists to Ferguson enroute to a 32-24 lead, but Boyne City was able to put together five unanswered shots from Redman, DeSchryver, and Dino Franchino that tied the score at 32-all, and brought the Ramblers to their feet in wild delirium. With time running out DeSchryver gave the Ramblers a 33-32 lead on a one-for-one, but Tim Salmonson came through for the Rayders with :10 left and a 33-34 lead when time ran out.

Throughout the fourth period, the Ramblers slipped and made up ground repeatedly, falling back by five and pulling it back. Then came the Charlevoix charge that brought them the game. Untimely Rambler turnovers enabled the Rayders to set up the fast break and put the game on ice as they compiled their 20 point quarter to shut Boyne City down.

Ciuk led all scorers in the game with 20 points, while other Rayders in the scoring included Ferguson with 13, Putman with 10, Salmonson had eight, LaBlance scored five, and Dan Drury contributed a charity toss.

For Boyne City, DeSchryver had 15 points, Redman totaled 10 points, Penny had eight, Archambault scored six, Franchino, Todd Buckmaster, and Stony Horn all scored two points each.

NPPW reduces child poisonings

March 16-22, 1986 marks the 25th anniversary of National Poison Prevention Week. During the past twenty-five years the number of childhood poisonings has decreased from 450 in 1961 to 55 in 1983 (the most current year for complete statistics). This represents a remarkable 88% reduction in the number of poisoning incidents to children. This dramatic reduction in the number of poisoning fatalities can be attributed in part to the use of child-resistant packaging provided by the manufacturer's of drugs and hazardous household products. However, increased public awareness of the need to keep medicines and household chemicals out of the reach of children has played an important role in reducing the incidence of poisoning deaths.

District Health Department No. 3 recommends the following guidelines to protect your children from poisoning hazards in the home:

1. Keep chemicals out of reach on high shelves or cabinets. Never store toxic household products under the sink or in other low cupboards.
2. Lock cabinets and drawers containing medicines and chemicals.
3. Use original containers for all drugs and cleaning products.

ing tragedy by careful handling and storage of all toxic substances. For more information about this release contact Wendy Sewell at 347-6014.

Charlevoix holds off East Jordan in first round of Districts

After losing to Charlevoix by over 20 points a couple of weeks earlier, the East Jordan Red Devils gave the Rayders a scare in District 91 tournament action. The Devils held a one-point lead with less than three minutes to play in the game, but a sudden burst of outstanding defense by Charlevoix enabled them to take the lead and defeat the Devils by a score of 63-56.

On February 18, the Devils went to Charlevoix and were soundly defeated 72-49. But it was now, tournament time, and all past games were set aside.

The Red Devils started out hot, as they quickly built a 9-2 lead early in the first stanza. A three-point play by Greg Kitson gave the Devil's their seven point lead. The Rayders came back, though, as Jody Putman sank a jump shot to pull the Rayders to within two at 13-11. Mike Goebel swished a 35 foot shot at the buzzer to give the Devils a 19-15 first period lead.

Jim Ciuk's defense tied the game up early in the second period as he stole the ball away from the Devils and drove in for an uncontested lay-up. A minute later, Tim Salmonson put Charlevoix up 27-25. Goebel converted a three point play to give the lead back to the Devils, and Kitson added to the lead with a lay-up. Ciuk's defense again gave the Rayders the lead. With less than a minute left in the half, the Devils were leading 32-30. Ciuk then got his quick hands moving and stole the ball away twice and drove in for lay-ups to give the Rayders a 36-32 half-time lead.

East Jordan played great defense in the third period, as they held their opponents to only eight points. Early in the period with the score tied 40-40, Kitson made a great steal and dished it off to Tom Galmore. The Devils then had a three on one fast break. Galmore found Aaron Spence open, and Spence made the lay-up to give East Jordan the lead. Charlevoix then called a time out. The delay in the game helped the Rayders as they scored two quick buckets to regain the lead. Jim Raymond gave the Devils the lead with a pair of free throws at the end of the third period. Charlevoix tried to tie it up, but their shot was rejected by Goebel. With eight minutes to go, the under dog Red Devils held a 46-44 lead.

Goebel tied the game at 48 with a 15 foot jumper early in the final stanza. But Sean Ferguson and Tim Salmonson gave the lead back to Charlevoix. With 2:53 left in the game, Greg Kitson scored a lay-up on a fast break to give the Devils a 54-53 lead. Then came the Charlevoix press, and as if the Devils had a jinx on them, they started to turn the ball over. Ciuk came up with a couple more steals, and caused a couple other Devils turnovers. The Rayders went on to win, 63-56.

For the victorious Rayders, Sean Ferguson led the scoring attack with 21 points. Tim Salmonson totaled 14, Jody Putman collected 13, and Jim Ciuk added 10. Others scoring were Packy LaBlance with three, and Tim Plagge with a pair.

Charlevoix pulled down 33 rebounds with Ferguson grabbing nine, while Putman and Salmonson each collected eight. The Rayders totaled 10 team fouls, turned the ball over 20 times, and hit on only 11 of 22 free throws for 50 per cent.

For East Jordan, Mike Goebel and Greg Kitson each totaled 21 points in a fine effort by both. Others scoring were Ted Snowden and Jim Raymond with four each, and Kevin Molby, Tom Galmore, and Aaron Spence with two a piece.

The Red Devils collected 28 caroms with Goebel pulling down 14 while Kitson and Spence each grabbed five. East Jordan was 80 per cent from the charity strip (eight for 10), committed 18 personal fouls, and turned the ball over 26 times. They blocked four shots with Goebel collecting two and Kitson and Raymond each knocking back one.

East Jordan ended the season with a 16-6 record and a 12-2 conference record which was good enough for a Ski Valley Conference title.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF SPECIAL RECALL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF BOYNE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS
CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM COUNTIES, MICHIGAN TO BE HELD
MARCH 24, 1986

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that a Special Recall Election will be held in the School District on Monday, March 24, 1986, for the purpose of submitting the following questions to the vote of the electors.

REASON FOR RECALL OF JOHN MATHERS, JR.
FROM BOYNE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS BOARD OF EDUCATION

He has opinionated views on educational matters contrary to a substantial number of educators and parents with children enrolled in the Boyne City School District to the degree that his objectivity as a member of the School Board is not in the best interests of the students, parents or electors.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION BY JOHN MATHERS, JR.

Think. What have I done to deserve to be recalled? I have saved the school system from possible lawsuits by insisting the Human Growth & Development classes adhere to all state guidelines. I have returned to you freedom of choice by insisting these classes be voluntary--not mandatory as the 8th grade class had been. Please think, should I be recalled for upholding the law and enforcing your freedom of choice?

RECALL QUESTION

Shall John Mathers, Jr. be recalled from the office of school board member of Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan?

REASON FOR RECALL OF LAURENCE F. MONSHOR
FROM BOYNE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS BOARD OF EDUCATION

He has opinionated views on educational matters contrary to a substantial number of educators and parents with children enrolled in the Boyne City School District to the degree that his objectivity as a member of the School Board is not in the best interests of the students, parents or electors.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION BY LAURENCE F. MONSHOR

I believe this recall has disturbed community spirit and has been counter-productive to the educational process. Not only are two positions at stake, but the long term effect would be to dilute the effectiveness of the School Board. Listed below are a few of my opinionated views:

1. At the minimum, a quality education should produce well-rounded, productive, patriotic citizens.
2. I hold a professional outlook on education with accountability expected at all levels.
3. I believe there should be scrutiny and approval of all courses through a proper chain of review.
4. My decision as a School Board member is not affected because I have chosen an educational alternative for my children; as it would not be affected if I had no children or my children were beyond school age.
5. I would like to see optimistic, professional plans for the future of Boyne City Public Schools which would include clear direction from the School Board in academics, student achievement, curriculum, community involvement, facility improvements, as needed, and a continued striving for excellence in education.

RECALL QUESTION

Shall Laurence F. Monshor be recalled from the office of school board member of Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan?

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M.

THE VOTING PLACE IS AS FOLLOWS:

Voting Place: Boyne City Middle School.

All school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside are eligible to vote at this election.

This Notice is given by order of the Secretary of the Board of Education of Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan.

Legion to celebrate birthday

The American Legion will observe its 67th anniversary on Saturday, March 15, and Legionnaires of Boyne City are planning a gala celebration, Commander Pete Faskey of Ernest Peterson Post announced recently.

The local observance will feature a social hour from 6 to 7 p.m., a ham dinner, compliments of the Auxiliary, will be served at 7 p.m. Following a short program, the evening will be devoted to cards, games and door prizes will be awarded. Legionnaires, their wives, Auxiliary members, their husbands, are invited to attend. During the past three years Ernest Peterson Post has sponsored a building improvement plan to make the post home more energy efficient and attractive. The focal point of this year's celebration will be the newly remodeled kitchen area, complete with new cupboards, stoves, and refrigerator, a project of the Auxiliary.

For more than 60 years, the American Legion and its affiliated organizations have devoted countless hours of volunteer effort and millions of dollars in support of programs and activities for the benefit of children and youth, Commander Faskey reported.

During the 12 month period ending May 31, 1985, the Legion and its affiliates spent nearly $24 million in this program area, bringing the grand total spent since reporting began in 1926 to $528 million.

Locally, the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary have made meaningful contributions to the well-being of the children and youth of Boyne City, to veterans and their families, and many national charities.

Recently, the post has opened its doors to the Cub Scout program providing an adequate area for their Blue and Gold Banquets and other award nights.

American Legion membership is open to veterans of World War I, World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War.

Bonar and assistant coach Barry Anderson. Kneeling in the front are: Packy LaBlance, Jim Ciuk, Tim Salmonson, Sean Ferguson, Dan Drury, Jim Gibbs, and Roger Smith.

Charlevoix downs Lincoln Alcona in District Championship game

The Charlevoix Red Rayders made it four out of five District championship titles, as they put down Lincoln Alcona 71-60 Saturday afternoon in the District championship game held at Gaylord.

Charlevoix was matched with Lincoln Alcona last year for the Championship and walked away with it. This year was comparable to last year as the Rayders played their style of basketball all afternoon and were never seriously threatened, although the Lincoln Alcona Tigers put up a good show in the second half, scoring nearly 40 points.

Charlevoix took their time getting into the action as the Tigers took an early advantage 6-2. The Rayders began to run and gun at the 4:00 mark and took control of the game as they came up with a 16-10 lead at quarter's end. The final three minutes of the quarter were highlighted by crisp passing around the defense to set up the open man. Charlevoix went for a last second attempt at quarter's end when Dan Drury assisted to Jodi Putman to close the period.

The Rayders opened the second quarter playing man-to-man with Sean Ferguson and Tim Salmonson ripping down rebounds with a vengeance. Alcona was held scoreless for the first three minutes of period two with the Charlevoix defenders deflecting nearly all of the Tiger shot attempts.

Ferguson dominated the quarter, hitting from various positions on the floor, and a fast break by Packy LaBlance and Jim Ciuk added to the excitement. While Alcona continued to have difficulty hitting shots, Jodi Putman hit twice in the final minute enroute to a 32-23 lead for the Rayders at the half.

Following a two minute quiet spell, the Rayders called time out when the Tigers scored three unanswered buckets to pull within three points 32-29. Alcona had scored twice successfully on the fast break, but after the time out, Charlevoix began to run with the ball too, and provided a 38-33 lead with 2:30 left in the quarter.

Hoops from Ferguson and Joe Miller maintained a Rayder lead, but Alcona was able to sink both ends of a two shot foul to make the score 42-39 when time expired.

LaBlance was the game setter for Charlevoix in the final period, setting up fast breaks with assists to Ferguson and Tim Plagge. Putman was also outstanding in the fourth period, hitting from outside, and assisting to the inside with shuffle passes. Late in the period, Ciuk was sent to the line repeatedly where he sank seven of eight charity tosses in the final minute and a half. Putman closed the game with :03 on the clock with a beautiful follow-up tip-in for the 71st point.

Ferguson led the Rayders in scoring with 30 points in the championship game, while Ciuk and Putman had 17 and 12 points respectively. LaBlance had four points, while Salmonson, Plagge, and Miller contributed two points each.

Spring puddles bring great skiing!

New tourist organization to promote area

Petoskey--A new tourist organization has been formed here to promote the Boyne Falls, Petoskey and Harbor Springs region.

The Boyne Country Convention and Visitors Bureau, composed of area hotels, motels, inns and resorts, will seek to attract guests to a 30-mile corridor in northwest Michigan.

The Petoskey-Harbor Springs region has long been recognized as one of the Midwest's premier vacation areas.

It encompasses the internationally known ski and golf resorts of Boyne Mountain, Boyne Highlands and Nubs Nob, and several large inland lakes. Petoskey and Harbor Springs sit on the shores of Lake Michigan's Little Traverse Bay, a popular boating, sailing and swimming location.

The bureau, officially formed Nov. 1, will develop marketing, promotion and public relations targeted to tourists in downstate Michigan, plus Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Canada.

Peter Fitzsimons, manager, said the region has been traditionally famous as a summer tourist destination and as a lodging center for the Mackinac Bridge area, about 35 miles away.

"Skiing has also become increasingly popular in the area," he said. "Boyne Mountain and Nubs Nob have led the way in snowmaking, hill grooming and facilities, creating a new demand for Petoskey lodging and restaurants."

The area's 2,000 rooms are normally booked on weekends throughout the year. Vacancies—and bargains—can often be found during the week and in the spring and fall seasons.

The bureau, according to Fitzsimons, will develop four-color brochures and advertising, emphasizing the area's nationally rated golf courses and gas-light shopping district in downtown Petoskey.

Boyne Country Convention and Visitors Bureau may be reached by writing PO Box 694, Petoskey, Mich. 49770 or phoning 616-348-2755.

Conventional wisdom holds that the African drought is caused by the whims of nature, yet International Wildlife magazine reports some climate experts believe that man may be the culprit. By rapidly destroying African rain forests and woodlands, water runoff has increased. This, in turn, reduces the chances for water evaporation which forms the clouds that bring rain.

It was a great season, wasn't it?

BY JIM SILBAR
This is the last issue of this season for Snowscope.

Before we say have fun sliding until next year, let me tell you a little about the growth of this publication in an area where many experts say skiing is a sport that has outgrown its expansion phase, has lost the interest of the general public and is not creating any, or very few, new skiers.

The first thing to say about that is Hogwash.

Skiing has only needed a few seasons like this past one to bring itself out of the doldrums it found itself in because of the economy in general.

This past season has been terrific. Plenty of snow early on to the sunny days of the springtime skiing.

And not just here, but all over the Midwest. Many ski areas, many ski shops, many skiers have been telling me this season ranks right up there with the best.

When we started this publication several years ago, we had hopes skiing would continue to be fun for most of the folks trying the sport. It has.

And our little publication has grown in those years. The first year, almost every issue was just a four page tab. One of those pages was usually a full page ad asking for a subscription offer to the Charlevoix County Press.

The second and third years, we also saw a lot of four pages, but we also had quite a few eight page publications. Last year, we had almost every issue as an eight pager but saw a few 12 page publications.

This year, we started off the season and have had lots of 12 pagers, a few eight pagers, and a couple of 16 page sections.

The success of the publication is directly due to the success of the ski season and those skiers who keep enjoying the sport and making it grow.

Sure, the sport is still growing. Maybe not as fast as in the past, but as I looked around the ski areas I was in this winter, I saw many, many, new younger faces.

The sport has matured, and now we are seeing other people coming into it to give it a try. Whether it was cross country or alpine style, all those people are the reason the sport is more enjoyable today than it was when I was their age.

Skiings big growth period was in the late sixties and seventies. Perhaps the late eighties will continue the pattern to keep our great north country hopping with visitors and others who enjoy this cold weather that brings the snow.

Even though this will be the last issue for the season, there is going to be lots of good skiing left this year. Perhaps the best skiing of all season. Come on Up or Come On Back and try our area again.

Minn. ahead in toxic clean-up

Minnesota has been cleaning up toxic dump sites four times faster than the Environmental Protection Agency, reports National Wildlife magazine. The reason: a state law passed by Minnesota that allows private companies to be held liable for personal injuries caused by exposure to leaking toxic chemicals. The law, passed in 1983, was the first of its kind in the United States, and may be the model for tougher federal Superfund legislation.

Please pass the groundnuts

One of the world's most nutritious root crops is perhaps this country's best kept secret. National Wildlife magazine says groundnuts, about the size of golf balls, are as tasty as potatoes and have four times the protein. They were not always unwanted and forgotten, however. The Pilgrims may not have survived their first winter without these nutritious nuts. And now, after some 300 years, scientists are trying to make this wild vine vegetable a household word, that may one day compete with potatoes.

Cabin Fever Concert in Petoskey Sun.

Shake off the winter blahs at the Cabin Fever Concert, Sunday, March 23 from 4 - 8 pm at the Country Inn in Petoskey.

The concert will feature three lively folk, traditional and old time music bands and a clog dance group.

Well known to northern Michigan music fans is Dr. Goodhart's Home Remedy who have been playing their special kind of music since 1982. They are well versed in many musical styles including swing, jazz, blues, Irish, Cajun and more. The band includes Rick Beemon on guitar, Jim Gillespe on mandolin and fiddle, and Kate Kramer on fiddle and viola. Percussionist Jim Clark adds rhythm on Irish drum and triangle.

Kirby Snively (also known as Kirby's One Man Folk Band) is guaranteed to warm your soul with his original songs and renditions of other folk artists. Kirby plays guitar and harmonica and writes songs on themes such as life in northern Michigan. He has performed at the Bliss Fest and local coffee-houses and concerts.

Leather Breeches is the house band at the Music Conservancy's monthly square and contra dances and also performs for concerts and parties. An "Old time string band", Leather Breeches plays old time, Irish, country, and original tunes. Lead vocalist and guitarist, Dale Scott, writes many of the songs performed by the band. Maureen Scott plays hammer dulcimer, banjo and fiddle. The hammer dulcimer, common in this area in logging days, is sometimes known as the "lumber jack's piano." Fiddle player, John Magee, and Phil Wintermute, on mandolin, round out the group.

A sampling of American and British clog dance styles will be performed by Dance All Night, a group from the Traverse City Area. Dance All Night is sure to get your toes tapping.

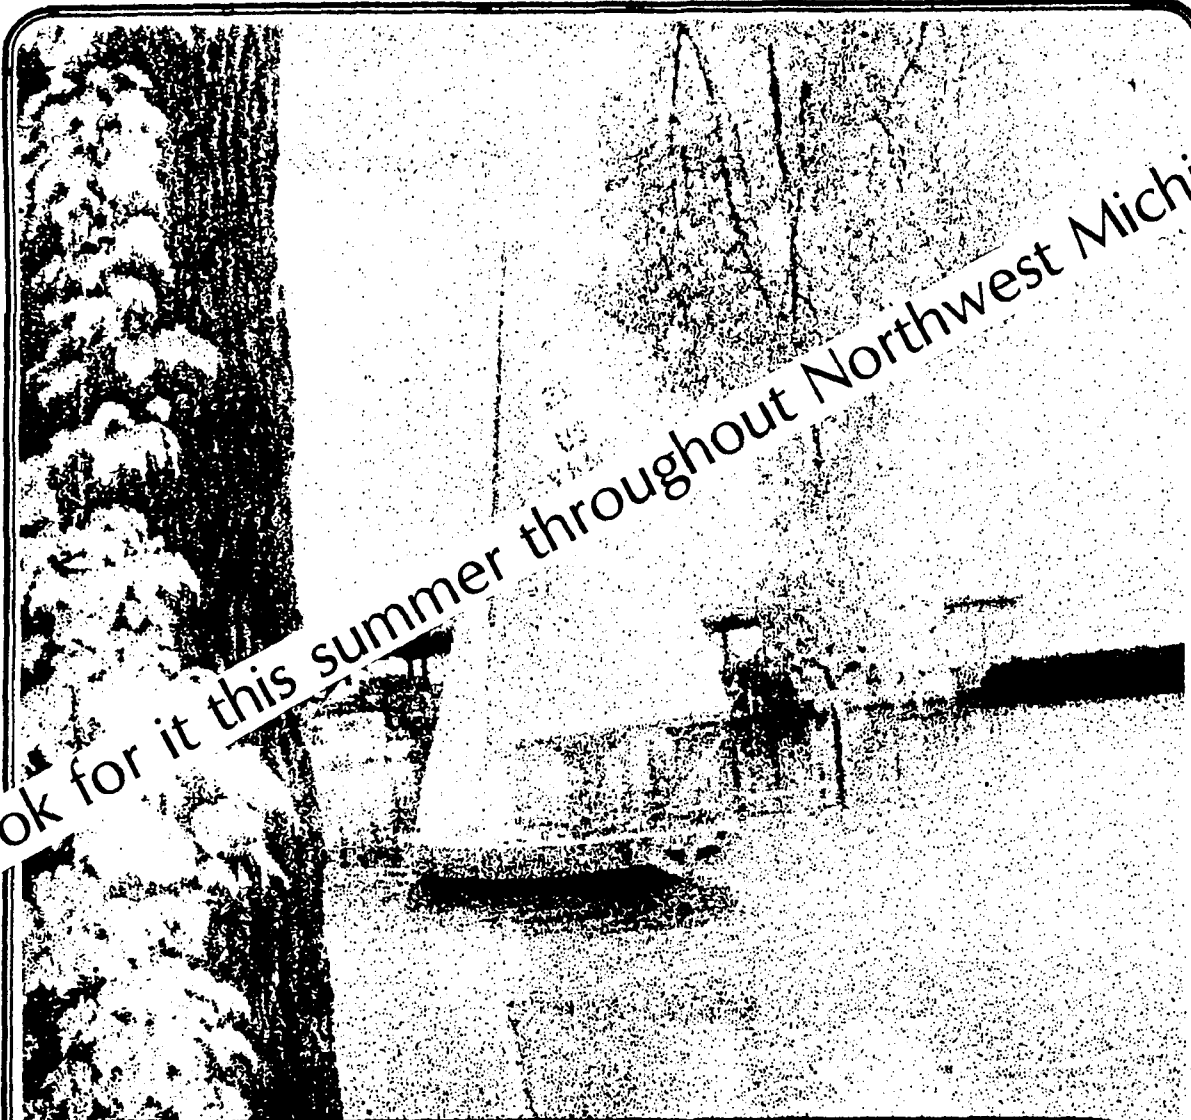

The concert is a benefit for the Music Conservancy, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting traditional music and dance. The Conservancy sponsors monthly square and contra dances open to the public and also holds concerts.

Says concert organizer, Maureen Scott, "we are holding this Concert as a way of promoting some of the excellent local musicians we have in our area. We hope everyone will come out and take advantage of this chance to hear them.

Interest in wildflowers is growing in Michigan

The Country Inn (formerly the Weigh Station) is located one block south of the US 31 - 131 intersection. Admission to the Cabin Fever Concert is $3.00.

Beverages and snacks will be available.

A campaign to promote planting substantial areas of Michigan to wildflowers and prairie plants will be kicked off during Agriculture and Natural Resources Week at Michigan State University.

State officials and civic representatives will meet from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. March 17 in the Lincoln Room of the MSU Kellogg Center to decide how to begin such a campaign.

"There is a tremendous interest in many states and several of them have created spectacular effects by planting wildflowers," says Louis Twardzik, MSU Cooperative Extension Service parks and recreation specialist.

"If people want to glimpse what can be done with wildflowers, they need only read the article in the current issue of Reader's Digest," says Twardzik, who is the coordinator of the wildflower meeting. Twardzik hopes that the meeting will develop an approach to planting and promoting the use of wildflowers and native plants along roadways, in local parks, and around private homes and business locations.

"This meeting is open to anyone interested in becoming part of the project, and we'd like to see a variety of community, civic and youth groups represented," he says.

A number of MSU agronomists and wildlife specialists will participate in the meeting to explore the possibility of commercially producing wildflower seed in Michigan.

Representatives from the Michigan Department of Transportation, the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, the Michigan Forestry and Park Association, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the Michigan Department of Agriculture, and the Michigan Recreation and Park Association are expected to attend the meeting.

Details of the wildflower meeting can be obtained from Twardzik by calling him at (517) 353-5190.

The wildflower meeting is one of 30 sessions being held during Natural Resources Days. Most focus on solutions to community problems, from solid waste management to the need for economic development.

Natural Resources Days is part of ANR Week, March 17-22 at MSU. It features more than 200 activities for commercial farmers, community leaders, government officials and people interested in outdoor activities and health.

Details of ANR

Week can be obtained from the county MSU Cooperative Extension Service office.

Americans have long been eating plant roots (carrots) and seeds (peas), so why not add flowers like roses and violets to the average diet? Many kinds of flowers are served around the world in salads, soups and as garnishes for their high content of vitamins and minerals reports International Wildlife magazine.

Summits: A new type family vacation to try

During your last family vacation, who got stuck cooking, tidying up, squelching family feuds, and planning the itinerary?

If you saw more dirty dishes last vacation than refreshing sights, try a different kind of family get-a-way this summer.

The National Wildlife Federation, the nation's largest non-profit conservation organization, offers Conservation Summits, unique week-long vacations that promise rest and relaxation, recreation, nature education and scenic beauty for the entire family.

Conservation Summits have many advantages of traditional family vacations, with few of the disadvantages. There's plenty of "family time" because families dine together, share the same lodging and spend evenings together. Yet parents, children and even grandparents can go their separate ways during the day.

Teens can take on the challenge of backpacking, hiking and whitewater rafting. Meanwhile, kids, ages five to 12, can enjoy special programs -- including hiking, nature study and arts and crafts -- specially designed for their age group.

Most adults choose to become "students," attending lectures, workshops and demonstrations by noted authorities on nature photography, beach ecology, wilderness medicine, natural foods cooking, edible plants and dozens of other topics.

Those not interested in coursework can join other Summiteers in a seashore hike, raft trip or mountain trek. They can even curl up on a lawn chair to read a book or explore surrounding areas.

"I enjoyed being with adults for part of the day without having to worry about what the children are doing," said Sandra Benet, a Pleasant Ridge, Mich. resident, who recently brought her husband and three daughters to a Conservation Summit in the Rocky Mountains. "In a sense, it was like going on a vacation by myself, but it was still a family trip. Every time we all got back together, everyone had lots of things to tell each other."

Although Conservation Summits are particularly popular with young families, they also attract large numbers of senior citizens. In fact, senior citizens are the fastest growing group of Summit participants, according to Summit Coordinator Josetta Hawthorne.

"They can design their own programs to do as much or as little as they want during the day," Hawthorne noted. "It's also a good environment for meeting other people and establishing lifelong friendships."

Summits

more stimulating than sitting at home watching television," said 85-year-old Dorothea "Dodie" Mulaik, who, along with her husband

Stanley, 83, has attended over 44 summits since 1970. The Mulaiks, formerly on the University of Utah faculty, teach a popular course called "Nature Creep," in which participants, armed with hand lenses, examine the microscopic world of plants and animals.

Summits also attract growing numbers of singles and single-parent families. In fact, one young couple honeymooned last year at the Nova Scotia Summit, having met at a previous Summit.

The greatest testimony to the success of NWF's Summits is the number of people who keep returning. NWF estimates that over half of Summit participants come back.

The 1986 Conservation Summits will be held near Ashville, N.C., in the Blue Ridge Mountains, June 21-27; in the Rocky Mountains, at Estes Park, Colorado, June 29-July 5; and in Brunswick, Maine near the state's rugged coast, August 10-16.
