News Briefs

Friday, Saturday Sunday, March 21, 22, 23 have been designated as "Help Retarded Citizens Days" in Michigan and the local chapter of the Knights of Columbus will be asking for your participation with a fund raising drive during the weekend. A contribution will go to help some mentally retarded person in the state.

Area MichCon customers will see a credit on their bills of about $30 for the typical residential customer using 150 thousand cubic feet of gas a year. The credit will be sent out with the bills during the period of March 10 through April 9.

Labels, labels and even more labels. Both Boyne City Middle School and Boyne Falls have completed their collecting of soup labels this year, but urge people to continue to collect them for next year. Boyne City had 24,780 labels which they used to buy a color Television set. Boyne Falls collected 16,650 labels which they used to purchase a Okimate Printer for the elementary school and some playground balls. The program is sponsored by the Campbell's Soup Corporation as a means of getting school related equipment.

Next Wednesday, March 26th, the Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency and volunteers will be again giving away cheese, rice, and butter in Charlevoix County. Boyne City's location will be the Community Services Building on Park St., East Jordan will have the program at the Civic Center and Charlevoix will be giving the food stuffs away at the VFW Hall. All locations will start the program at 10:00 a.m. and will continue to 2 p.m. or until the food is gone.

Joni Lillis called in to say spring is here. She observed the first robin in her backyard last week. Hopefully, the sign will see no more snowstorms until next November.

Coalition beats sticker campaign

Evangeline election seats new board

Overcoming an intense write-in campaign, the Republican slate of Michelle Cortright, John Hauser, Bruce Janssen and Doug Shields were elected in the Evangeline Township Special General election

Members of the North Central Accreditation committee completed their assessment of the Boyne City High School last week, but results of the inspection will not be available for several weeks while they put it into final form. The committee members were made up of teachers and administrators from many different school districts around the state. They observed classes, talked with teachers, pupils and townspeople to help determine if the school system warrants the continuation of the North Central Accreditation. The school was given the accreditation provisionally pending this examination.

BC starts budget work

Boyne City--City commissioners started working on the proposed $2,443,515 budget at their noon Tuesday meeting as they took a detailed look the general fund revenues, general revenue sharing fund, library, debt service funds fire department and the city clerk/elections funds that are portions of the total budget. Each week for several weeks the commission will be looking over each department budget to determine if there are areas where cuts could be made, or areas where cuts that have been made should be reinstated.

City Treasurer Edith Beck reviewed each part of the budget with the commissioners, helping them to understand where the money is coming from or being spent. As she went through each portion, City Manager Randy Frykberg would add comments for the commissioners. Almost every department saw reductions, due in a large part to the reduction of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds. That section will only be bringing into the city 38 percent as compared to previous years.

The city is trying to hold the line on departmental costs, Fryberg told the commissioners time and again.

The budget will be adopted after the commission reviews each department.

The city is trying to place the greatest emphasis on savings in the departments so they could use more money to make the infrastructure repairs.

Those repairs include streets, sewers and water mains.

In other action at the noon meeting, the city approved a resolution allowing them to agree to accept two grants from the Michigan Aeronautical Commission. The outright grants total $42,000 and will be used to lengthen the runway at the airport and provide other improvements to the facility.

The commissioners then voted to go into executive session to hear about the negotiations the city has started with the city workers.

BC planners ok site plan

Boyne City--Boyne City planners okayed the site plans for the new Boyne Appliance building which is going to be constructed this spring on M-75 across the street from the Carter's Food Center store.

The plans were presented to the board by Dave Vrondran the owner of the business which also includes Boyne Satellite Systems, Boyne Power Equipment and a new discount clothing operation he hopes to establish in the new location.

The building will be constructed this spring with occupancy hoped for by the end of June, according to Vrondran.

The structure will be a 50 by 128 foot building with a warehouse at the back. The retail operations will be in the front of the building which will be constructed north and south to the road. A 40 foot wide parking lot will provide adequate parking for the building, Vrondran added.

The planners approved all of the building request and only added that Vrondran should put low shrub landscaping along the front, road side of the building to help break the visual aspects of the structure.

In other business, the planners heard a report concerning the downtown parking situation.

Boyne City merchants had asked the city to look into the potential problems that may be evolving as the buildings in the downtown business district are slowly filling up with new operations.

The city sent out a questionnaire to 37 businesses in the area concerned asking their input into possible solutions. Eighteen replies were sent back.

The most frequent suggestion was to have the city enforce the parking regulations already on the books. Other suggestions were less frequent and suggested the paving and upgrading of the parking areas by the Depot Restaurant, and the other city parking lots. More use of parking along the Old City park was also among the suggestions as was the idea of purchasing an apartment building along South Park Street to tear it down and turn it into a parking lot for the city.

Most suggestions were taken under advisement by the city officials who also said some of the suggestions were not cost effective.

The planners asked the city officials to determine the total number of parking spaces available in the downtown area to see if a new lot was needed at this time.

After determining the total amount of parking available, the planners will be making a recommendation to pursue additional parking areas for the central business district.

held Tuesday. Only 200 voters cast ballots in the special election held to replace four township officials who resigned last fall. The election ended months of the township not having any leadership as the only remaining member of the township board, Supervisor Bessie Van Dorn, could not act on any of the matters that had come in front of the board during the hiatus of the other trustees and officers.

Cortright ended up with a total of 118 votes to take the Township Clerk's position. She faced a write-in sticker campaign of Marsha Towne who ended up with 71 votes. The Township Treasurer position was taken by Hauser who had to overcome a write-in campaign by Judy Everest. Hauser had 114 votes cast for him while Everest ended up with 77.

Trustee positions were won by Doug Shields who had 117 votes and Bruce Janssen who gathered

Boyne Falls looking at austere future

Boyne Falls-School Board officials in Boyne Falls heard reports giving suggestions and recommendations to further the education of the students within the system at their Monday night school board meeting.

All seem to point out the school system doesn't have the money to follow all of the recommendations and will have to cut many recommendations from future budgets.

The board has started to look at next year's budget early, according to one of the recommendations by Bob Redmond, the Superintendent of the school system, because of the possibility of declining funding from federal and state sources.

"We need to get in a mode of looking towards the future and our concerns with the future," Redmond told board members. "We need to be prepared for the alternatives that may be required to keep the school system at the level it is operating now, or making it better."

Redmond suggested that if the state equalized value of the district only has a 4 percent increase, the school systems fund equity would be exhausted just providing the same level of education they have had this year.

"I would like some direction," he added, "As to what do we leave out, what do we include in the next year's budget. As things stand now, we could be facing a tough financial 86-87 school year."

The budget request came after the board members heard reports from the curriculum committee and the building and grounds committee.

Curriculum suggestions included the addition of a teacher about one-half time for the high school to provide additional class offerings.

The additional classes needed are a fourth year of science.

The reason for the additional science class was given because the University of Michigan accreditation committee had put the school system on probation because of not offering the full four classes each year.

Other suggestions included the replacement of typewriters in the business department, the picking up of the tuition for those taking correspondent courses upon completion of the course and a few others.

The building recommendations included the updating of the plumbing in the restrooms, the replacement of chairs and furniture, the construction of a lobby wall, replacing the gym lights, and the future replacement of school buses.

All of the suggestions will be looked at as the board will have to start working on the budget for the next school year in April.

In other action, the board approved tenure for Michelle Woodard, a special education instructor and Rebecca Disney, a one-third time fifth grade teacher. Doug Doorn, a half time business instructor and Dianna Brown, a half time librarian were approved for a second year of probation.

The school system will be joining with Boyne City Schools for their annual teacher inservice day May 6th when they will be listening to

East Jordan 8th graders practice thinking skills

The final problem has been submitted by eighth graders practicing critical thinking skills for the National Program of Problem Solving. The topics that have been researched are Endangered Species, Feeding the World, and Artificial Intelligence.

Jeanie Healey, Pat Russell, Ken Mickey, Krista Sumner, Bobby Jo Metcalf, Chris Galmore, Julie Brunett and Jennifer Ford are the eighth graders in Katie Taylor's reading class who have been joined by parents Nancy Mickey, Carol Galmore and Zila Healey in this program.

The students are given a topic and then must use six specific steps for working out a solution. They must brainstorm sub problems, synthesize the several sub problems into one area to be solved, brainstorm solutions, select criteria to evaluate solutions, evaluate solutions, select best solution and elaborate upon it.

All three problems are evaluated by trained members of Michigan Future Problem Solving Program and then return them to the team with comments so they can improve their work. The top 20 percent of Michigan's teams are determined by the score given team booklets on the third problem. The top teams are invited to compete in the Michigan Future Problem Solving Program's State Bowl at the University of Michigan.

The Future Problem Solving

Program was originally created in 1974 by Dr. E. Paul Torrance of Athens, Ga., as a curriculum project. By 1977, the program had become national and was introduced in Michigan in 1979. The Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan administers the program in Michigan.

This is the first time East Jordan has participated in the program. Miss Katie Taylor, eighth grade Honors Reading teacher, coordinated the local program by introducing and working with about 30 eighth graders before narrowing down to the eight members who became the team. Miss Taylor stated, "They had to learn to think

EASTER
My friend Joyce Sadler of Charlevoix really helped me plan our Easter dinner when she sent me the following recipe for ham. She also gave me some suggestions for the rest of the menu.

EASTER DINNER
Stuffed ham slices
Coleslaw
Scalloped potatoes
Tray of olives, pickles, celery, green onions etc.
Deviled eggs
Hot rolls
Cherry Breeze for dessert

This ham recipe is great for a family size dinner if you do not want a whole ham. Use good sized center ham slices.

STUFFED HAM SLICES
Two 1/2 in. thick slices of ham
Place one slice in bottom of baking dish
Spoon the following dressing on top
4 C. (6 slices) bread cubes
1/2 C. raisins
1/2 C. packed brown sugar
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 C. melted butter or oleo
Top with other ham slice. Insert whole cloves around edge of ham.

Drain 1 can sliced pineapple
Place slices of pineapple in each corner of pan, cut 2 slices in wedges, arrange on top of ham. Brush with pineapple juice. Roast uncovered at 300 to 325 degrees about 1 1/2 hours. Brush ham with juice several times during roasting.

The scalloped potatoes can be baked at the same time as the ham. Make your own favorite recipe; my family likes the boxed kind, especially potatoes with sour cream or dill flavoring.

We must have something made with eggs for Easter so I will have some deviled eggs added to the vegetable tray.

I am all for doing things the easy way now so I will buy bakery rolls, however I still love the homemade flavor and if you want to make them, here is my favorite

CLOVERLEAF ROLLS
1 cup hot water
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tbsp. shortening
1/2 cup granulated sugar

1 envelope active dry yeast
2 tbsps. lukewarm water
1 egg, well beaten
3 1/2 to 4 cups flour

Combine hot water, salt, shortening, and sugar. Cool to lukewarm, about 80 to 85 degrees; add yeast softened in lukewarm water. Add the egg, half the flour, and beat well. Stir in more of the flour, enough to make a dough easily handled. Grease top of dough and let rise to double in bulk. Knead very lightly and form into rolls. For cloverleaf rolls make three small rolls to fit into your greased muffin pans. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in a hot oven 425 degrees 12 to 15 minutes. Remove; brush with melted butter. This makes about 18 medium rolls.

These are good refrigerator rolls if you wish to mix them beforehand. The dough will keep a week in the refrigerator. After having the dough easily handled grease the top, cover with waxed paper and a towel. Store in refrigerator. Cut off dough as needed letting it stand in a warm room about 1 hour before using, then shape into rolls and continue as above.

Here is one more beautiful cherry dessert.

CHERRY BREEZE
1 C. corn flake crumbs
1/2 cup melted butter
Press into 9 in. pie pan
Beat until smooth:
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pour into pie shell.
Cool. Then top with 1 can cherry pie filling and chill.
Happy Easter!

Election

in 113 votes cast. Write-in candidates Garth Hall came up with 74 votes being cast for him while Bill Brooks had 73 votes.

One other write-in was received by John Zell for a trustee position. The election will be official after the County Board of Canvassers certifies the results. That was to have happened at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday.

The new officers will be seated Thursday evening as they hold the first meeting of the year.

The write-in campaign was formed to give the township voters something to vote for, according to one precinct watcher.

After the special primary election was held last month, some of those who did not win a spot because of all the candidates registering on the Republican party side decided to hold a sticker campaign to see if they could win some of the posts.

On Saturday night Kathy Fruge, Barb Kerridge, Jan Ketchman, Cindy Kramer, Josette West, and Linda Franchino all gathered at the home of Linda Christensen for a little "over the hill" 40th birthday party for their friend Sue Butler.

John and Pat Kujawski Jr. returned this past week from spending about a month in Lake Worth, Florida visiting his sister, Dolly Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greer and son Michael of Thunder Bay, Ontario, arrived on Monday to spend a few days here with his mother, Rita and Monte Townley.

Linda Hanson of Freemont arrived over the weekend to spend a few days here with her mother, Joy Brooks, and family.

Heidi Korhase and friends Amanda Cole and Charmane Smith, all students of North Central Michigan College in Petoskey, enjoyed Sunday dinner with her parents Bill and Jean Korhase and family.

Violet Mueller of Lakeview Village is a surgical patient at NMH due to slipping on the ice earlier in the week and breaking her hip.

Erma Mills is now a resident of Grandvue since last week.

A group of 20 of the Northern Slopes Farm Bureau met at the Bill and Jean Korhase home on Saturday night. The topic of discussion was entitled "And if I am elected" and various issues of the Agriculture Pack of '86.

On Sunday afternoon, many family members gathered at the Wayne and Sally Kleinschrodt home to honor their daughter, Kammy Kay, and Brian Peabody with a wedding shower. Brian, son of the Gerald Peabodys of Lansing, and Kammy were married at the Kleinschrodt home on Tuesday, March 11, with the Rev. Ralph Bramley officiating. The new Mr. and Mrs. Peabody are temporarily residing in Petoskey. Congratulations Kammy and Brian!

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Darn. Another symbol of my youth is disappearing from today's society. According to one of the national newspapers, the Popsicle company is going to do away with the two-stick popsicle.

And with it, a little bit of my memories of youthdom.

Memories of jingling and jangling bells coming through the old neighborhood. Memories of struggling to find enough money to pay the piper for a really good thirst quencher on those hot days of summer.

Memories of standing on the street corner when you couldn't find, beg or borrow enough and shouting at the guy in the wagon he was a rip-off.

And remembering when you could buy a Popsicle for only a dime. Even though you may have had to share it with a friend.

That was why the two-sticker came into being during the depression, I am told. So one coin could buy a moment of happiness for two kids.

I used to like them, no, make that still like them. Even though I now realize there are just colored, flavored sugarwater.

The company, which is still making them for sale in the two-stick version for the party stores and vendors, will only be making a larger, one-stick version for the supermarket chains.

And that is where most of them have been purchased. 80 percent of their sales of the little confection are being sold in the supermarket.

Now I don't know if I am ready for a larger, one-piece Popsicle or not, but I will bet there will be fights among the younger crowd to see who is going to get the last one of the package.

Before, you could tell the kids to share the last one and end the argument.

Of course, before the depression, the company made them in only a one-stick model. The cost during the depression when they came out with the two-sticker was only a nickel. Now if you buy them at the party stores, they will cost about 35 to 50 cents.

No one will ever be able to say the depression wasn't worth anything to our economy.

Also, in the final consideration of the matter, those of us who used the sticks after eating all the Popsicles to make things like boomerangs, log cabins, knives and the like, will have to buy twice as many to accomplish the projects we wanted them for in the first place.

So much for the old, bring on the new.

Just remember that another piece of American Memorabilia is leaving for the great memory bank in the sky.

"Welcome to Pothole City," the old timer said to me as I sat down to a cup of coffee. Seems the guy was trying to tell me something after I had a bonejarring ride from the office to the restaurant.

"You don't have to tell me about those crevasses we get every spring about this time," I answered, "And I know the city is trying their darnedest to keep up with the onslaught."

"Those city workers are out almost every day with that little trailer of tar to patch up the holes. They do this same thing every spring break-up."

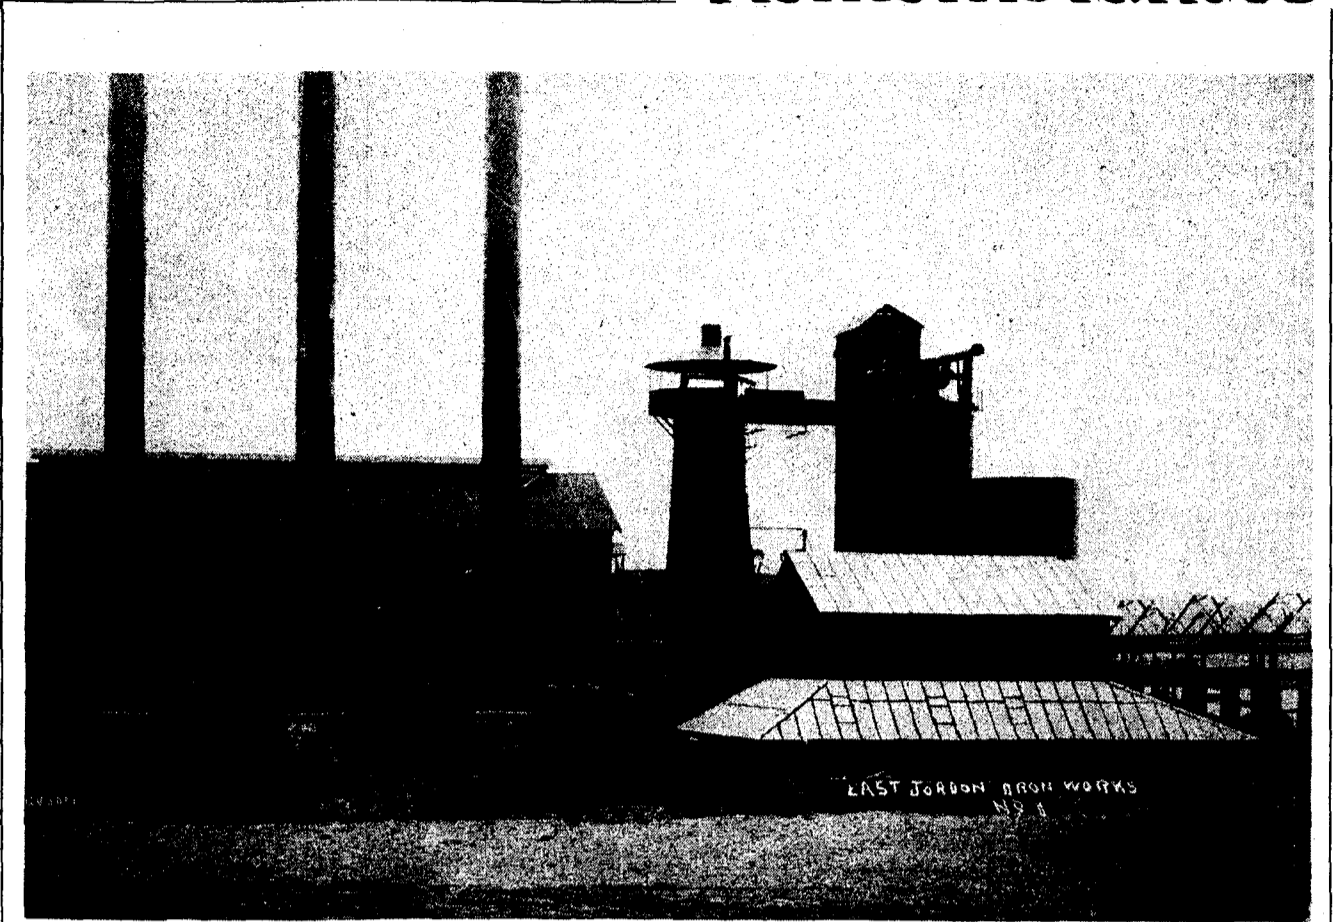

"Sometimes I think the city should just invest in an asphalt batch plant. That way they would almost have enough material to cover the needs of the city. And then they could run the batch plant for the townships and the county. Maybe make a little money so they could repair some of the water mains around town, too."

I thought I had the old timer quieted down a little when he added, "Yeah, and you're the same guy who wanted the city to buy half of the Zilwaukee Bridge they are going to take out when the new bridge gets done. Silbar, why would you want to stop up all the traffic on Lake Street? Most of the employees at Bendix and Essex seem to be in a hurry to get home. They don't want to be tied up just cause you want to raise the bridge like they do in Charlevoix every half hour. And besides, what are you going to raise the bridge for, some ducks to pass through?"

Remembrances

Back about 1908 the East Jordan Iron Works plant looked like this, very similar to what it is like today. The blast furnace can be seen on the right side of the picture. The smokestacks on the front of the building were probably used to help ventilate the casting floor. The firm celebrated its 100th anniversary a few years ago.

Marshall Sayles

When gasoline prices hit the trap door I rushed to the nearest station to fill up with that happy 99 cent no-lead fuel.

As the man was pouring the liquid gold into my tank, another man drove up yelling: "What do you mean ninety-nine cents? Over in Orlando they're selling it for seventy-five cents a gallon."

The man didn't answer. He merely pointed to a sign in the window: Free mouthwash with every ten gallons of gas.

Now hear this: Give your social security number to your banker, if he asks for it, or to your doctor or your employer. And that's it.

It is against the law for anyone else to ask for your social security number for identification.

This came to light when we tried to cash a check and the store clerk wanted our social security number for identification. I said no and a fine fuss followed.

Later I phone up the social security office and the lady said not to give it to anyone for identification. "Read your card," she said. I did and it says in plain English, "Not for identification." She said she would call the store and remind them that they were breaking federal law.

So if anyone asks you for your social security number, call the nearest office and blow the whistle on them. If you don't, someone might get a hold of your number and use it for evil purposes.

And if there is anything I hate, it is evil purposes.

A discovery yet to be made in Boyne City is how a man can support a non-working wife and three children. There wasn't anything to it years ago when few wives worked outside the home, but years ago ain't now. Today, both wife and husband must work if they expect to make both ends baloney. I say baloney because at the end of the year the IRS steps in and gets the steak while the working couple get the liver or worst.

There are three important phases in my life: What I have done, what I shouldn't have done, and all those things I'm not going to do. If I were younger, I am quite sure I would have something to do with those exciting things I have no intentions of doing now. (Don't pay any attention to this, I was just mumbling to myself.)

I woke up this morning and my wife said it would be a little while yet before my coffee was ready. So I turned over and went back to sleep. With me, it's never too late to wait.

Ware-withal

BY GAIL WARE

The amount of mail we receive advertising travel opportunities rises and falls like the tides. Currently, the tide is in. Glossy brochures showing European cities at their colorful best do make me think of travel, which is exactly what the senders have in mind. But there our like-mindedness ends.

They want me to take a trip—preferably an extensive, expensive one. This is certainly a decent idea for those who can spare the time and the other thing that it takes a lot of spare of: money. I can't and I don't. And that's that. But I discovered a long time ago that there is an alternative to hopping on a boat or plane in order to enjoy faraway places. I can read about them.

There are a number of travel books hanging around in both the library and the bookstore. The best known are the travel guides written by the professional goers. They give the latest on where to eat, sleep and find bargains, as well as how to make oneself as comfortable as possible on foreign soil. They're packed with interesting information but mostly for tourists or those in training to be tourists. They're not quite right for me.

What I want are books where the writer's a tourist for me and tells me what it's like to be one.

Since travelers are often writers and writers are often travelers but imagine themselves to be and write anyway, there are plenty of the kind of books I want to choose from. So I choose carefully.

I figure that since I'm reading a book instead of vacationing in the Alps or on the Rhine, I deserve to get from the book the benefit I would have gotten from the vacation I'm not taking; that is, relaxation. And the best relaxation for me is laughter.

There are a number of good, funny books that have been written about travel. Mark Twain wrote about it and so did a lot of other well-known authors. But the two books that I read and read again are "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough and "I Wouldn't Have Missed It For The World" by Peg Bracken. I love them because even the memory of them makes me laugh.

The thing about reading about travel instead of doing it is that you get the feel and the taste of it without any of the discomfort. The experience of hotel rooms that require guests to walk down long, dark hallways or up or down flights of stairs to reach the bathroom is easy to chuckle at in a book but not the sort of thing that brightens real life. And saggy, lumpy mattresses in print don't mess up a night's sleep like they do when they're in your beds.

There are those, including the brochure-sending travel agents, who scoff at such second-hand traveling. But I figure that since some delightful people put up with the inconvenience of taking trips and wrote such hilarious books about their travels afterwards, I might as well enjoy their experiences and save the trouble of wandering about the globe myself.

Governor like Santa Claus?

Editor, A recent poll conducted in the Detroit area indicated 64% of the people polled were "favorably impressed" by the way Governor Blanchard is doing his job.

Those same people must believe in the Easter Bunny and Santa Claus. This governor has, in 4 short years, increased the state budget by 1.4 billion per year, (your tax dollars) collected 203 million more dollars in 1985 than the constitution permits, violated the Headlee amendment by shifting state supported programs to locally supported programs; thereby denying local schools and local units of government 500 million dollars per year in revenue. He has driven us from 12th highest in the nation to 6th highest in property taxes paid, fostered an economy with the highest unemployment in the nation, and continues to have the highest rate in the nation of exodus of persons and businesses from the state. Our colleges have the highest tuition in the nation,

"Oklahoma" following in grand tradition

The stage is set, the rehearsals are a thing of the past, and the Boyne City Drama Department is ready to present this year's spring musical, Oklahoma. After long hours of preparation and dedication, March 20th, 21st, and the 22nd, will reveal the accomplishments of a shorter than normal spring musical season for students at B.C.H.S. Normally held in April the play was moved up this year due to changes in spring vacation schedules.

Some forty to fifty students are cast in the production of Oklahoma with a complimentary orchestra from the music students who will accompany the extravaganza.

Opening night will be Thursday as is traditional for the Spring Musical with the curtain closing for the final time Saturday evening. Thursday and Saturday night tickets are regularly the most sought after adding to the excitement of those performances, but Friday night theater goers always receive a fine performance for their enjoyment.

Miss Taylor had met with Tom Sothard, a teacher from Charlevoix, to learn about the program. He felt the first time would be easier on the junior high level, rather than at the fourth grade level (where the program can begin) as you can capture the junior high enthusiasm and they have begun to develop some critical thinking skills and communication skills which are necessary for completion of the program.

Both Miss Taylor and Mrs. Nancy Mickey expressed desire to see the program continue and said how enjoyable it was to work with the students. They were amazed at the diligence and willingness to go the extra mile the students displayed and were very pleased with the results of each problem.

Blanchard has accomplished all of that, and in addition spent millions of your tax dollars telling us what a great guy he is and what a great job he did bailing out the state. He has completely forgotten, with whose money, he did that job (our tax dollars). He never mentions that a better but harder (for a politician) way to do the job would have been to reduce spending, simplify government, and reduce regulations. It amazes me how the ads on radio, television and the written work in the newspaper can substitute for our ability to think for ourselves.

on the correct names of the companies. Allied-Bendix-Courter and United Technologies, I thought a little before replying. "More than ducks. Just think about that fisherman who has a steelhead on who wants to go upstream. Don't you think the fisherman deserves to fight that fish all he can?"

"We'll just raise the bridge when we have to, and maybe some times when we don't, just to create a little chaos here in town. Things are moving too smoothly." "And a lot too fast for me," the old timer added as he left for the day to go fishing.

Jackie Wollenberge, the Boyne City Drama Department continually turns out high class entertainment each spring since 1973. Curtain time is at 7:00 each night, and attendance for the events result in standing room only for each performance. In years past the B.C.D.D. has performed for over five hundred at each of the three shows.

This year's production of Oklahoma not only has a good selection of players for the leads, but some strong secondary castings have been made, and many of the bit-part performers have added small personal touches to enhance their part of the show. Look for strong performances in vocal presentation, and an outstanding opening for the second act. The closing scene includes a rousing performance of the theme song for the play, Oklahoma, with the entire cast on stage.

Although ticket sales are brisk for the show, some are still available if you contact Drama Department members or the directors.

Laurey [Debbie Molnar] sings "Out of My Dreams", one of the musical presentations from the show "Oklahoma". Also pictured are Debbie Towne, Ami Alger, Julie Karkosak, and Amy Weeks.

Under the direction of James Bogetto, this ensemble of BCHS band students provides the music for "Oklahoma". The musicians spend many hours of preparation for the annual event, and the dividends for the orchestra are few.

three problems, all of them using a process of critical thinking, then a written solution is sent in to be evaluated. During the first two problems the coaches can help, giving guidance and direction as they work through the whole problem, including the written form. The third problem is done more independently and the written form must be done in two hours with no notes, help from coaches, or other aides except a dictionary.

East Jordan Lions Club serve community well

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER

For nearly a quarter of a century the East Jordan Lions Club has served the community and has contributed to the state and national projects of Lions Clubs. With the primary qualification for membership being the willingness to donate time and energy to promote community and to give generously to meet the needs of others, many hours have been logged by the 30 plus members. Charter membership was 18 men, this has doubled, numbering from 30 to 40 at any given time.

An annual Father-Son Banquet had been held for many years in East Jordan, so the Lions began a Mother-Daughter Banquet as one of their first projects. It is held the Saturday before Mother's Day each year (it will be on May 10, 1986) and honors a Mother of the Year. The nomination and voting for Mother of the Year is done within the Lions Club. Tickets are sold for the banquet, but they cover only the cost of the dinner and the program, as this is not one of the club's fundraisers.

National projects and state projects which the local club supports are the Sight Conservation Program, the Michigan School for the Blind, and the Leader Dog School in Pontiac, Mich. They support and work with the Living Organ Donation program, serving those wishing to will their cor-neas and also taking donations of other organs.

The local club helps with the paperwork and arrangements of this program. Many pairs of eyeglasses have been given to local residents unable to afford them. Once a year the local Lions sponsor an eye-screening in East Jordan. This often alerts people to problems they have and potential problems. The Lions are also involved in a hearing program and a sugar diabetes program for detection and prevention of problems in these areas.

The Lions Club has made generous contributions to the expansion of the local Health Center. Contributions are made when needed to victims of fire, to school projects such as R I F, to the East Jordan Fire Department to buy equipment and other needs they may see in the community. Two $500 scholarships have been given to East Jordan students planning to further their education, for the past six years.

The Lions are supportive of community activities, contributing much time and effort to the annual Sno-Blast activity (usually also taking part in a competition such as a tug-of-war or broomball) and in the annual Fourth of July celebration. They are always in planning stages and the work it takes to make these community activities worthwhile.

Fundraisers are held each year to provide the monies for continuing to give to the community. The membership fees are primarily to support the national and state programs. One of the major fundraisers is the annual White Cane Sale, held at the end of April.

This is a nationally organized fundraising method which allows the local clubs to raise funds for their local projects as well as raise money for the many sight related projects of the national club. The local Lions hold various raffle drawings, have a fund raiser during the Fourth of July activities, and sell Christmas trees annually. Community support is warranted for all these activities as most of the money is used locally to help others help themselves.

Certainly anyone who is willing to give some time and energy, have some fun, and see things happen in East Jordan that need to be done is welcome to become a member of the Lions. Anyone interested should contact Bill Johnston, President, or Don Peters, immediate Past President, for information. The East Jordan Lions Club meets each first and third Monday at 7:00 at the Round Table Restaurant.

East Jordan is fortunate to have this organization to promote local activities and to seek out the needs of the community and attempt to fill as many of them as possible.

Towne reaches state festival

Debbie Towne, a tenth grade flute player from Boyne City, will be performing with over 8,000 band and orchestra students March 22 in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra and Orchestra Association State Solo and Ensemble Festival.

The festival will be held at three sites across the state, with Towne going to Ferris State College along with Boyne City Band Director James Bogetto.

Towne qualified for the state festival by participating in the district festivals held recently in Petoskey.

The annual Boyne City-Florida picnic was held March 5 in Phillippe Park, Safety Harbor, Florida, and making new ones a bountiful with 98 former, vacationing or wintering residents of Boyne City, Michigan in attendance. The weather was beautiful. A balmy picnic... it will be held on the first spring day with clear skies and warm sun to make our day enjoyable. To add to the general enjoyment of renewing old friends and making new ones a bountiful and delicious pot luck dinner provided a delightful experience for all. Plans were made for the 1987 picnic... it will be held on the first Wednesday in March - March 4th.

In Service

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Preston J. Laisure, son of Dewey J. Laisure of 310 Echo St., East Jordan, recently returned from a four month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian Oceans.

Stationed aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Fox, homeported in San Diego, Laisure participated in two major exercises which resulted in a high state of readiness.

Merlion was a simulated attack on the ship by aircraft and patrol craft of the Republic of Singapore Navy and Air Force.

Laisure also participated in Valiant Usher, an exercise conducted off the coast of Somalia.

A 1971 graduate of East Jordan High School, he joined the Navy in March 1982.

Four of the Charlevoix Red Rayders were involved in this play. Jodi Putman, Tim Salmonson, and Sean Ferguson all grappled for the ball with a Benzie Central player taking the fall on Ferguson. Moving in on the play is Packy LaBlance.

Charlevoix Rayders bumped from regionals

The tournament trail ended abruptly for the Charlevoix Red Rayders last Wednesday night as they took on regional contenders, the Benzie Central Huskies. Benzie outscored the Rayders 87-71 in the game, utilizing a 24-13 third period scoring advantage to insure the win.

Charlevoix was relentless in their pursuit of the Huskies as they trailed briefly in the first quarter, but trailed at each intermission, after pulling within a few points each time.

At the end of period one, Charlevoix was down 18-22 after a three point play by Sean Ferguson to get the lead was decimated by a Benzie press that resulted in a see-saw score through the quarter. With an obvious disadvantage in height, Benzie controlled their offensive boards, getting second shot opportunities on a consistent basis. The Rayders kept the score close with assists to the inside and the fact that Tim Salmonson had one of his best performances of the year, hustling with an all-out disposition. Trailing 12-18 Salmonson assisted to Ferguson deep in the key to pull within four points, and an opportunity to tie the score came after Ferguson hit a short jumper from the left side, but the opportunity slipped away at the charity strip.

Shortly into the second period the Rayders committed their fifth team foul and Benzie was at the strip for one-and-one chances that enhanced their ability to convert the rebounds to points. With five minutes left in the quarter, the Huskies led 31-20, prompting the Rayders to call for time-out. Charlevoix devised a badly needed press breaker during the break, and defensively put together some steals by Jim Ciuk that resulted in fast breaks. Holding Benzie to five points for the remainder of the period, Charlevoix scored 14 points to trail by a hoop at the half 34-36.

Benzie opened the second half with full court pressure and the Rayders elected to do likewise, but the Huskies slowly became the dominant factor on the press, being a fast moving organization, while Charlevoix was soon left gasping with disbelief as they saw a 56-44 deficit with two minutes remaining in the period. The Rayders saw a brief relief on the press when their own press took effect, but offensively were out-rebounded to nullify the scoring threat.

Through the fourth period the Rayders began to compile enough fouls to hurt their own cause as Benzie sank their charity tosses at will. Charlevoix exploded from the blocks when the quarter opened, when Ferguson scored after coming up with a loose ball, and Packy LaBlance swished two identical shots from the top of the key. After that the Rayders saw a lull in their offense as three of their starters were put on the bench with Jody Putman and Ciuk fouling out and Salmonson going out after a head on collision with a teammate. By periods end the Rayders had been outscored 25-20 for an end to their basketball season.

Ferguson had a big night after starting slow to wind it up with 33 points. Ciuk scored 12 points while Salmonson hit double figures with 11 points. Other Rayders in the scoring column included Putman with 5 points, LaBlance with 4 points, and Dan Drury with 3 points.

Depot edges Oleson's for championship

It was a hotly contested game going for the championship in the Boyne City Men's Recreational League as the Depot Restaurant took Oleson's of Charlevoix by one point, winning 81 to 80. The scoring was matched throughout the game with the Depot holding a four point lead at the end of the first half. During the second half, the points were traded back and forth as each team kept matching the other trying to come out on top of the championship round. For the Depot, Tom Beyers hit for 22 points to take the high point honors followed by Dean Hicks with 19 and Jeff Belford with 15.

Top point getter for Oleson's was Dave Storm with 23, followed by Steve Dunkelberg with 20. Dan McKenzie hit for 12 while Roger Crain added 10 in the losing effort.

Problem solving

By this time according to Miss Taylor and Mrs. Mickey, the students had developed a tremendous amount of teamwork and were able to very effectively use the listening and communicating skills they had worked diligently on during the two previous problems. The goals of the program are to develop creative thinking skills, develop capabilities dealing with the unknown in relation to the future, make decisions after research and investigation, develop group process skills, become able to organize coherently, both written and orally; become more self-directed and to learn to contend with ambiguity. Each problem is worked on for six to eight weeks before submitting the final solution to be evaluated. As a fun follow-up Miss Taylor and the team members designed a Future Problem Solving logo for a T-shirt. Doug Thering, the East Jordan High School art teacher, has agreed to help them silkscreen the logo on T-shirts. Another wonderful learning experience for these eight thinkers!

Utilize your homestead property tax exemption efficiently

As you are filling out your Michigan income tax form, you'll notice a line entitled, "Homestead Property Tax Credit." The Homestead Property Tax Credit is designed so that homeowners and renters who have low or moderate incomes will receive substantial savings on their property tax bills. It caps the amount of property taxes an individual could pay, based on a percentage of that individual's income. Relief is granted either as a credit against the state income tax, or as a direct refund if the credit exceeds the due tax. Here's how it works:

The state reimburses all eligible property taxpayers up to 60% of the amount by which the property taxes on their home exceed 3.5% of their income. The most generous credits are reserved for special categories of people: senior citizens (age 65 or older), eligible veterans or their surviving spouse, the blind and otherwise permanently disabled (including para- and quadriplegics) receive 100% of the excess over 3.5%. A husband and wife are both eligible for a preferential rate if either is age 65 or older; so is the unmarried surviving spouse of a person who dies after reaching the age of 65.

The maximum credit for each year is limited to $1,200, and households with incomes greater than $68,500 have their credits reduced by 10% for each additional $1,000 of income. Households earning more than $77,500 are ineligible.

How do I qualify?
Typically, the credit provides about a $400 rebate. However, it is not given automatically—you have to ask for it! If you want to claim the credit, you'll have to complete the special form included in your state tax booklet. The math is simple, the directions aren't difficult, and it only takes a few minutes to reach the "bottom line." Almost everyone who lives in a "homestead" should take the time, and a "homestead" is basically any house, apartment or mobile home used as the taxpayer's primary residence. Second homes, seasonal cottages, or any dwelling where someone else pays the rent does not qualify as a "homestead".

How to Determine Your Rebate
If you follow our instructions, you'll need paper and pencil (even if you're using a calculator), a clear workspace, and about ten minutes to determine your rebate. You'll first have to know what your household income is, and how much you pay in property taxes, so have those numbers and, of course, the tax instructions at hand when you begin. "Household Income" means ALL income received by persons living in a particular household during the year and includes Social Security and disability payments, pension benefits, interest and dividend earnings, and unemployment benefits as well as wages and other earnings.

RENTER'S WORKSHEET
A 1. Enter your total annual rent:
2. Multiply total annual rent by 17%
3. Your property tax equivalent equals this number.

HOMEOWNER'S WORKSHEET
A 1. Enter total household income on top line
2. Multiply total household income by 3.5%:
x .035
3. 3.5% of your household income equals
B. 1. Enter your property tax total on top line:
2. Enter amount from line A-3 and subtract:
3. This amount qualifies for your rebate:
If you're 65 or older, or otherwise qualify for 100% relief, you're entitled to the entire amount and can skip the next step.

C. 1. Multiply the amount in line B-3 by 60%
2. This is your rebate
NOTE TO RENTERS: While it is possible for renters to unearth the property taxes their landlord actually paid, there is a legal formula used to compute the renter's credit: 17% of your rent is considered what portion of your rent was paid as property tax. You, therefore will just have to know how much you paid for rent during 1985.

B. 1. Enter your total household income:
2. Multiply total household income by 3.5%
3. 3.5% of your household income equals this Compare your property tax equivalent (line A-3) to your adjusted household income (line B-3). If line B-3 is greater than A-3, you do NOT qualify for the tax credit. However, if line B-3 is less than line A-3, enter the difference on the next line and proceed.

C. 1. Subtract line A-3 from line B-3 and enter the amount:
2. Multiply the amount by 60%:
3. This is your rebate.

If you're 65 or older, or otherwise qualify for 100% relief, that's all there is to it! You're entitled to the entire amount and do not have to multiply the amount by 60%.

How the Homestead Property Tax Credit affects school taxes
A taxpayer who receives the homestead property tax credit can substantially reduce or even completely offset a property tax increase without penalizing school districts. For example, in a school district levying a total of 34 mills, a three-mill increase for a home with an equalized valuation of $20,000 would cost the senior homeowner with a household income of $10,000 or less no extra money. However, the state would still reimburse the district another $60 per year with money derived from other revenue sources.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF SPECIAL RECALL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF BOYNE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM COUNTIES, MICHIGAN TO BE HELD MARCH 24, 1986

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that a Special Recall Election will be held in the School District on Monday, March 24, 1986, for the purpose of submitting the following questions to the vote of the electors.

REASON FOR RECALL OF JOHN MATHERS, JR. FROM BOYNE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS BOARD OF EDUCATION

He has opinionated views on educational matters contrary to a substantial number of educators and parents with children enrolled in the Boyne City School District to the degree that his objectivity as a member of the School Board is not in the best interests of the students, parents or electors.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION BY JOHN MATHERS, JR.

Think. What have I done to deserve to be recalled? I have saved the school system from possible lawsuits by insisting the Human Growth & Development classes adhere to all state guidelines. I have returned to you freedom of choice by insisting these classes be voluntary—not mandatory as the 8th grade class had been. Please think, should I be recalled for upholding the law and enforcing your freedom of choice?

RECALL QUESTION

Shall John Mathers, Jr. be recalled from the office of school board member of Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan?

REASON FOR RECALL OF LAURENCE F. MONSHOR FROM BOYNE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS BOARD OF EDUCATION

He has opinionated views on educational matters contrary to a substantial number of educators and parents with children enrolled in the Boyne City School District to the degree that his objectivity as a member of the School Board is not in the best interests of the students, parents or electors.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION BY LAURENCE F. MONSHOR

I believe this recall has disturbed community spirit and has been counter-productive to the educational process. Not only are two positions at stake, but the long term effect would be to dilute the effectiveness of the School Board. Listed below are a few of my opinionated views:

1. At the minimum, a quality education should produce well-rounded, productive, patriotic citizens.
2. I hold a professional outlook on education with accountability expected at all levels.
3. I believe there should be scrutiny and approval of all courses through a proper chain of review.
4. My decision as a School Board member is not affected because I have chosen an educational alternative for my children; as it would not be affected if I had no children or my children were beyond school age.
5. I would like to see optimistic, professional plans for the future of Boyne City Public Schools which would include clear direction from the School Board in academics, student achievement, curriculum, community involvement, facility improvements, as needed, and a continued striving for excellence in education.

RECALL QUESTION

Shall Laurence F. Monshor be recalled from the office of school board member of Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan?

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M.

THE VOTING PLACE IS AS FOLLOWS:

Voting Place: Boyne City Middle School.

All school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside are eligible to vote at this election.

This Notice is given by order of the Secretary of the Board of Education of Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan.
