News Briefs

With the Fourth of July fast approaching, East Jordan just announced some of the bands participating: The Upper Country Drum and Bugle Drill Team, 49th Regiment Sault Ste. Marie (Canada) Bagpipers, Plymouth Fire and Drum Corps, The Grand Traverse Highlanders, The Canadian Neuman Navy League as well as the East Jordan High School Marching band will be participating. The parade will also feature the Lieutenant Governor Martha W. Griffiths and governor candidate Dick Chrysler among the dignitaries. The Grand Parade will be marching July 5th.

This Sunday, make sure you go to breakfast at Robert's Restaurant when the Boyne City Fireman Auxiliary hosts an all-you-can-eat breakfast buffet. Hope there is no fire that morning as the ladies have the fireman talked into doing the serving. Tickets are available at the door and all of the proceeds go into the annual Boyne City Fireworks Fund, which the firemen will be shooting off on the 4th.

Membership in the Walloon Lake Association has hit a new high, according to the Wallooner, a newsletter serving those in the association. 645 families, individuals and sponsors are paid members of the group, 40 more than last year at this time.

Due to a lack of time, the credit lines for the home tour photos were left off the pictures. The credit should go to Ray Valentine of the Valentine Studio who donated the time to take the pictures for the Historical Society. Their home tour is today and there is still time to see the homes around Boyne.

Boyne purchases new ambulance

Boyne City will be buying a new ambulance after the city commissioners approved the bid of the Holden Distributing Company of Clare at the noon Tuesday meeting.

The company was the only bidder, according to city and ambulance officials who called other companies in order to get them to bid. No other bids were received for the equipment even after the prodding to get the bids in after the bid request had expired.

The city will be paying $49,198 for the new ambulance, which will be based on a Ford four-wheel drive wide-track chassis. The new vehicle will replace one currently in use that is not capable of handling the extra advanced life support equipment. It is also 13 years old and had many hard miles.

Ambulances usually have a five to 10 year life, according to Henry Erber, the director of ambulance service. He told the commissioners the company was also going to take in trade the old ambulance and give the city about $8,500 for it.

The new vehicle should be available by late summer or early fall, Erber said after the meeting.

In other action at the noon meeting, the commissioners agreed to renew the contract with the Charlevoix County Department of Equalization to perform the city's assessing for 1986-87.

The contract with the county agency calls for the price per parcel to be $9.75. The city has budgeted between $15,000 to $16,000 for the assessing costs.

In presenting the renewal agreement, City Manager Randy Frykberg told the commissioners the county was working very closely with the city's board of review to substantiate the assessments.

Along with the same request, City Treasurer Edith Beck told the commissioners the tax bills for the city will be sent out to tax payers probably after the Fourth of July because of some computer problems on the county level where they are printed. They should have been in the mail by the end of June, but the city won't be receiving the bills from the county until after the First of July.

The city also accepted the low bid from the C.H. Smith Company for 1,500 cubic yards of 23A road gravel. The company was the low bidder of four firms that bid on the gravel.

The city will be paying $5.75 per yard for the material.

Frykberg told the commissioners the proposed bike path may be constructed this summer. The bike path is supposed to go from the city out to the State Park. The project has been on the books for several years, but the county Road Commission did not have the matching road funds to pay for it. The county will be preparing plans within the city for the path according to Frykberg.

Around the city, construction projects are underway on the top of Avalanche Preserve and the new fitness trail in Rotary Park according to the new recreation intern, Brad Marine.

Signs will be posted saying

"swim at your own risk" at the Lake Street access in North Boyne. Marine also suggested the city install a guard rail to protect the park between Lake and Groveland.

City officials will be taking a look at the end of Alice Street after a resident complained the school system has pulled out driveway tubes and added fill to the land.

The city and the school system had agreed two years ago on the road, but the school had asked some of the trees be saved so the street has no turnaround at the end. The resident was complaining that water from the street could potentially back up in her yard because of the changes.

The beginning of a long pouring of cement started Tuesday as workers started to fill the new sidewalk forms at the Old City Park with cement. The crew from the O.D. Sayles Masonry won the bid last week and have finished the job in time for the first weekend of the Farmers' Market which takes place along this block of the park. The sidewalk was raised a few inches so the city could elevate the parking and let the water from rains drain off to the road.

East Jordan primed for great festival

A bang-up time is planned for July 3, 4, 5, and 6 by East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, civic organizations, businesses, the City of East Jordan and the Freedom Festival Committee. A Youth Tent dance will kick off the weekend of fun on the evening of July 3.

"Anything that Floats" will be welcome to the parade on July 4, at 11:00 a.m. This could prove interesting to the audience, as the advice is to "be creative!" from the East Jordan Lionsess Club, who is sponsoring the event.

A Pizza Eating Contest will be held at 12 noon for those with big appetites and a yen to outdo the next guy. Other events on Friday will be a gymnastics exhibition at 1:00, a Christian Music Concert at 2 p.m. and again at 10:00 p.m., a stunt flying exhibition over Lake Charlevoix at 3:30 p.m. and a Youth Parade with the theme "Celebrating America's Ethnic Heritage." The evening will provide bingo, dance at the Youth Tent, and a street dance. Additionally, the 49th Regiment Sault Ste. Marie Bagpipe Band will entertain.

Saturday will begin early with a Flea Market and Hobby/crafts market starting at 8:00 a.m. and running until 6:00 p.m. Certainly everyone will find a treasure he can't live without here! Canoe races on the Jordan River, starting at Webster's Bridge will begin at 9:00 a.m. For those not inclined to crafts or races, there will be the Second Annual Lakeview Art Fair in the Memorial Park; a showing by local artists of their talents. The Annual Rotary Chicken Barbecue will begin at 11:00 a.m. The East Jordan Health Center and the Charlevoix Area Hospital will sponsor a Health Fair from 11:00 until 3:00. A mini-Ironman Classic Triathlon, featuring a swim, a bike ride, and a running course will begin at 12:30 p.m. Helicopter rides will be available from noon to dark, for those wanting to see East Jordan and Lake Charlevoix from the air.

The Grand Parade, with a theme of "A Salute to Lady Liberty," will begin at 3:30 p.m., with Lt. Governor Martha Griffin as the grand marshal. The grand finale for a busy Saturday will be the fireworks at dark.

Sunday will feature a water skiing clinic at 10:00 a.m. and helicopter rides starting at 1:00 p.m. At 2:00 p.m. the Freedom Festival Mud Derby, with Ice Monster and Junior Ice Monster, a three and four Wheeler Challenge Course, and a Mud Run of 30 x 100 feed of mud created to test and challenge all those gutsy and rarin' to go four wheeler owners and machines. Entry fees will be charged for the Mud Run and the Three and Four Wheeler Challenge Course. Admission will also be charged for spectators, who should also bring their lawn chairs for this event. You won't want to sit too close, however, unless you feel like being all "muddied up!"

Every afternoon from 1:00 to 4:30 the Elm Pointe Art and Historical Museum will be open for visitors.

A Penny Arcade, Dunk Tank, and Petting Zoo will be held on Friday and Saturday under the tent at Murphy Field.

There is bound to be something to interest Mom, Dad, and all the kids during this Jordan Valley Freedom Festival. For more information, call 616-536-7351, the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce or better yet just come to East Jordan ready to have fun over the Fourth of July weekend.

Tag Day sale set

The Grandvue Auxiliary has set July 18 as their date for the annual Tag Day Sale in a county-wide effort to raise funds. Auxiliary members will take turns standing in busy areas in East Jordan, Boyne City, Charlevoix and on Beaver Island to sell tags to those who wish to help in their projects at Grandvue.

Last year $3300 was raised on Tag Day and the hope is that this year's figure will be even higher. The money was used last year to update the equipment in the therapy room. The purpose for this year's drive is to raise funds to buy a Century Tub for the residential area of Granvue. This chair with a lift is used to give oil baths, whirlpool baths, and exercise those who need it. The total cost of this piece of equipment is approximately $6300.

The Auxiliary will be having their annual Salad Luncheon, with hostesses to be announced, and election of officers on July 10.

The Auxiliary is a year-round organization which provides additional equipment and meets other needs.

Retiring EJ teachers honored

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER
"One Water Street is a long ways from the luncheons we had in the basement of the old high school - we've come along ways!" commented Mrs. Cynthia Burrows at the luncheon held to honor the retiring teachers and custodian from the East Jordan Public Schools. Towne-Malpass nuptials spoken

In a June 7, 1986 afternoon ceremony before 250 guests at the East Jordan First Presbyterian Church, Brenda L. Towne became the bride of Tad M. Malpass. Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Towne of Boyne City, and Tad's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Malpass of East Jordan.

Brenda was given in marriage by her father in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Dr. Donald W. Ferguson amidst decorations of pink and white bows on the pews, and arrangements of silk pink and white carnations and baby's breath on the altar. She chose a romantic gown of organza with beaded silk venise motifs featuring a high neckline and basque waist. Ruffles edged the skirt creating an open effect in the back of the semi-cathedral train. Her tiara was inlaid with silk venise lace and silk flowers scalloped the pencil edge finger tip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of silk white carnations and pink roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Organist Bob Bryan provided the wedding music and accompanied Jamie Lynch who sang "The Wedding Song" and "We've Only Just Begun".

Elizabeth Towne, sister-in-law of the bride, was maid of honor; bridesmaids were Brenda Kuzmik, Cathy Mentzer (sister of the groom) and Theresa Skop, all wearing floor length candy pink gowns featuring high necklines with yokes of English net, tulip sleeves, softly gathered bodices and gathered skirts. They carried colonial bouquets of silk pink and white carnations with baby's breath, and pink and white ribbon, and wearing pink and white silk carnations in their hair.

Sara Malpass and Lindsey Malpass, nieces of the groom, were flower girls in floor length high neck pink gowns trimmed in lace and pearls with satin ribbon ties at the waist. Their dresses were made by Brenda K. Malpass. They carried white wicker baskets with silk pink and white carnations and baby's breath, and wore pink and white carnations in their hair.

Michael Mentzer, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Brad Lynch served Tad as best man and his groomsmen were his brothers, Tracy Malpass, Tim Malpass, and Todd Malpass.

Ushers were Brenda's brothers, Brian Towne and Alan Towne.

After a reception at the Hilton Shanty Creek Resort in Bellaire, hosted by the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Malpass and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Towne, the couple left for a wedding trip to Florida and are now making their home in East Jordan.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Malpass at Stafford's One Water Street in Boyne City.

Brenda is a registered nurse employed at Northern Michigan Hospitals, Inc. in Petoskey and Tad is employed at East Jordan Iron Works.

Jottings

This column is being written in the wee hours of the morning. If there are mistakes in it, I'm sorry, but I usually don't get up this early to write a column.

Go fishing, sure, but write? No way. At least until this morning when I decided to try an experiment.

The experiment was to see if I could get up early enough to beat the birds. I figured that if I could wake up before the birds singing, I could come in and write about them singing.

One other thing. My father used to get up early in the morning to write. He used to tell me it was the only time of the day he had to himself so he could put the thoughts down on paper.

After looking at my summer schedule, I thought I could give it a try to see if it makes any difference.

Folks, let me tell you it doesn't.

First, when the alarm went off, I hit the snooze button for a couple more winks. I hadn't gotten up that early since I was in boot camp during my army days.

After snoozing a few more minutes, close to an hour, I got up yawning, took a shower to help wake up, did all of the other things a person does in the morning and headed to the office where I thought I would be able to write this column in a flash.

I was going to be so full of vigor and all, I thought I would just breeze through some of the things I had left on my desk to do.

But nope, it wasn't to be.

I think I am still yawning, still trying to get going, and still trying to write and finish this column.

In a couple more minutes it will be about seven and I can hardly wait as that is when the stores that serve coffee open up and I could sure use a cup or two of that stuff to increase the heart rate, wake up the nerves, start the intestinal juices flowing wanting a breakfast and all that.

But in the meantime, I will just have to keep awake, and keep trying to finish the column before I go back to sleep in the back room.

I'm not used to this, and I hope I will never have to get used to it. To this day, I swear there are day people and night people. I fall into the latter category. And I think I have passed those genes to the rest of the family. They don't want to get up and get started in the morning either.

I told my daughter she better sign up for night school, just in case she misses too many early morning lectures. I figure she might have some of the information sinking in if she has to listen to it twice.

I also told the superintendent of the school system he ought to start the school day at 9 a.m. and it should go through until five. Like the regular world.

But no, he asks the school board to move the day to an earlier time for classes to start. And they agree with him.

I ask.

What's wrong with a nine to five day for the kids. Why not?

And can they justify the additional electrical expense during the winter when they just went through a energy saving program that is costing us about a half a mill?

Ware-withal

BY GAIL WARE

"Money is like manure, of very little use except it be spread." Francis Bacon wrote those words several centuries ago. But the philosophy still holds true today in the minds of many men, not to mention women, who seem to have an instinct for this sort of thing. The vacation season offers splendid opportunities for acting on this philosophy. Spreading money on vacation is universal. How and where to do it is far from it.

For instance, those who camp on their vacations look down on the indoor types who take their lodgings in motels. Never mind that campers these days often "camp" in nicely furnished trailers or motor homes. It's the surroundings not the housing that counts. Campers spend their time close to nature amid trees and assorted greenery, while motel lodgers settle in next to the sterile stalks of light poles rising out of paved parking lots.

Motel vacationers for their part don't have the evangelistic zeal of campers—perhaps because they breathe less healthy air—but they don't lack conviction. Camping to them means being required to do the same cooking and tidying up that they do at home, with far less space to do it in. They hold the view that any vacation worth its salt includes maid service and a restaurant in the neighborhood that's always open.

Then there are those who spread their money on a cottage by the beach or in the woods. They wonder aloud about the restless individuals who spend their vacations wandering across the country or around the globe. No equity can be built up in a record of spent travelers checks or a collection of key chains from Santa Fe and Paris and Anchorage. Property escalates in value too, so a cottage makes a profitable investment. And it always stands available. No need to call for reservations when one wants to get away for a weekend.

Travelers, with books full of pictures or slides or movies, take delight in showing them to anyone too polite to refuse. One home is all the property they wish to maintain. And as for equity, they've years of that built up in memories. And each trip adds more to their investment.

And there are those vacationers who don't go anywhere at all. They spread their money sending the children off to camp. In the absence of offspring, they bask in peace and quiet. They enjoy long, leisurely dinners without mopping up a drop of spilled milk, nor is there any poking nor squabbling about who hit who first. And, for a few brief days or weeks, the odor of peanut butter disappears from the kitchen.

Advocates of family togetherness don't think much of this plan. Some have come around to it though. Most conversions have occurred following a family camping trip on which rain fell relentlessly day after day.

No matter what the style, vacations if they're good bring refreshment to the body and the spirit. But when all is said and done, the thing that often sticks in the mind is how much money was spread around on the refreshment. Certainly Francis Bacon would have approved of that.

Remembrances

Almost 100 years ago, bands like this Boyne City group were featured at annual parades like the Fourth of July parade we have today. This group of unknown band members from the Citizen's Band probably performed every Sunday afternoon at the Gazebo in the then new, now Old City Park.

Marshall Sayles

Nine moons until the day of Independence! The 4th of July and all that, Boyne City style.

Parades, crackers of fire and strange night noises.

Flag waving, band music and ice cream dripping down a child's blouse.

Relatives, barbeques, the bubbly and a general town-wide upheaval.

"Hello, how are you? I haven't seen you in years."

"Bartender, put a head on this for my friend here."

"No use going to the state park, it's full."

"Hey, we've been here a half hour and haven't been waited on."

"Mama, when is the parade coming?"

"Look at those boats. I've never seen so many boats on Lake Charlevoix."

"We should have brought our folding chairs. I can't stand up much longer."

"Look at that old hotel. Isn't it something? They sure did a nice job on it."

"It cost us a dollar and a quarter to ride the Ironton Ferry. When we lived here as kids it was free."

"Are you staying for the fireworks?" "The kids will holler their heads off if we don't."

"Oh, oh. There goes the fire truck." "Don't worry, it's headed for north Boyne."

"That woman is selling tickets to something. Wonder what it is?"

Letters

Editor:

Since we are taxpayers of Wilson Township and have a copy of the Township Ordinance, it appears that there is a commercial activity, on the East side of Wilson Road between Behling and Snyder Road. If this is not a "commercial" activity, then, in our opinion, it is a non-conforming use of land designated as 'greenbelt'. The activity we are referring to is known as 'MUDDING', the competitive operation of four wheel vehicles in mud to see who can drive the farthest without getting stuck.

We own the adjoining property and are annoyed by the excessive noise of the engines plus the litter left by the crowd that is attracted. Since Wilson Road is dirt we are also subject to an extreme amount of dust.

We called the Sheriff of Charlevoix County and he referred us to you. Someone is likely to be injured, be it a par-

"Now you kids stay on the sidewalk. Don't go out into that road."

Good floats, bad floats and "Oh, look at that one!"

"We've got to go back tomorrow. If I could find a job here, we'd never leave."

"Boyne City sure has changed since the last time we were here."

"Where are you staying?"

"We're staying out at Whiting Park. Boy, is that place jammed."

"For land's sake. That girl should go home and put some clothes on."

Now, isn't that better than a column on love, marriage, divorce, illness, speculation or the latest behind the hand whisperings?

For those who think not, I shall write a column on how out here in the boon docks I tried to jump a barbed wire fence and what happened to me when I only made it half way.

New stores open in Atrium Mall complex

Showing off his new engraver is Ron Peters of the Winners Circle.

Trophies, gifts at Winners Circle

What can you expect from a business with its own engraving machine than a business card made out of metal and imprinted with the name of the firm, complete with design elements and a large name of the owner.

That is what Ron Peters, the owner of the Winners Circle passes out to show off just one of the things his newest piece of engraving equipment can do.

Peters, who used to be involved with the bowling alley, opened up his new business recently in the Atrium Mall in Boyne City, on the second level, featuring all kinds of engraving, trophies, and soon will have executive gifts as part of his selection of items for sale.

The Mall is the newest location for stores and shops on Water Street, next to Fineout Carpets. Eight stores will eventually be in the mall on the two levels. The building was formerly known as the Schaffer building or the Dahlquist location. Architect Don Glowinski has created the store locations using a Victorian theme. Entry to the mall is on the side of the building.

Upstairs, Peters small shop holds all of the equipment he needs to produce fine engraved trophies.

The main piece of equipment is a new Dahlgren Computerized Engraving system. It can handle pieces up to 12 inches wide and any length. With it Peters can do rotary, scratch or permanent ink engraving.

The machine can even duplicate logos, although Peters admits he isn't ready to try all styles of art as the machine is capable of more than he has learned to do on it. At least so far. Peters said he will try anything to see if it can be done.

He has been in the trophy business for the last seven years, working out of his home and other locations around town.

Peters trophies are better than most as he said he only used real marble and metal figurines. He tries to eliminate plastic figurines as much as possible, but said he can get them if needed.

With his new machine, Peters can also make signs and name badges, a portion of the business he hopes to expand upon because of the ease the new engraver can make them.

Peters said the reason he moved into the new location was the possibility of serving more people with the engraving department and also the executive gift lines he will be carrying for sale.

He said he will still be able to serve his old customers in this fine location, as well as reach some new ones looking for something special and personalized.

Personalized with a name, a logo, a design and his expertise.

Lots of nice things at Nice Things

When Harriett Hess was driving back and forth from the Detroit area after skiing, she probably had time to think the driving time was a waste of time if she could live in Boyne City.

Those thoughts are behind her now as she has moved into the area she fell in love with a long time ago, purchased a house a couple of years ago and finally left her job as a sales representative.

The store, also located on the second level of the new mall, features plenty of nice things. Nice in that you don't see them in every gift shop throughout the area.

Hess planned her operation to feature the kinds of gifts you could not find in town. Whether it is a wine bottle or gourmet popcorn, or one of the exclusive clocks, her well stocked store is a place everyone should walk through.

Originally from the Birmingham, north Royal Oak, Troy area, Hess has created a unique gift shop. Some of the special items she has in stock include the M. F. Jacquier line of clocks. This German Company utilizes hand painted in France wall clocks built with German clock mechanisms. Hess's location is the only place in the state selling the clocks. She has other clocks from Citizen which can be twisted up in different ways, sport watches and other styles of clocks as well.

"The theme of the store is to have something different, things no one else has," she said, as she opened a package of newly arrived merchandise. One look around the store would confirm it. Quite a few of the items fall in the "trendy" area and will be seen by the younger set shortly on the beaches and around town.

As she was a representative of Jantzen Sunglasses, her display is filled with many different styles. She also has an exclusive line of cards for those looking for a card they could never find anywhere else.

Stuffed in along side of the foot stool, the one with real feet in shoes, is another exclusive item, a massage pillow. It would be just right for those times when you come home from a hard day at work.

Hess also has a perfume display of oil based perfumes. She says oil based perfumes last longer and carry more fragrance than those that are alcohol based. The testers, designed the same way a professional worker would smell just has to come to the store and open at 10 a.m. Monday thru Saturday and mind the shop until 6 p.m.

She has lots of fragrances are featured. For a person who used to run up and down the road selling Topps and Bazooka bubble gum, Hess doesn't have to beat the road anymore, she Surely not the taxpayers should stand this loss, but the board, because of negligence. We keep our land posted but nevertheless, we are extremely anxious and worried that there might be trespassers on our property because of this activity.

Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts, we thank you so much, whatever the part. A special thanks to Rev. June is river activities month-

Carter asks for tips

Lansing-June will be "American Rivers Month," a time for Michigan communities to plan for river festivals, canoe races, fishing derbies and float parades to celebrate this State's 36,000 miles of priceless river and stream resources.

Doug Carter of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) who leads Michigan's Natural Rivers Program, is the State's coordinator for local and statewide river events in June and is available at 517-373-1170 to offer suggestions or assist communities in planning/coordinating their river activities.

"I'd like to hear from anyone interested in organizing any Michigan river event," says Carter. "The possibilities for local and statewide river use activities are virtually limitless -- historical events, raft races, river cleanups, boardwalk or park dedications along river -- have all been a part of American Rivers Month in past years in Michigan."

Adds Carter, "Fishing tournaments this year are particularly popular."

12,500 jobs available to Michigan youth this summer

The first of this summer's 12,500 Michigan Youth Corps jobs begin today, with projects ranging from mosquito control to historic renovation to growing food for the poor, Governor James J. Blanchard announced.

"State government is saying 'Yes' to unemployed Michigan youth again this summer by providing job opportunities to the 80,000 18-through 21-year-old men and women in this state who face the prospect of a jobless summer," the Governor said. "The fourth year of our nation-leading program promises to be another success—for both Corps members and our state. These young workers gain valuable work experience while performing a great service to our state."

The program provides 12,500 jobs this summer, with some projects starting today, and others beginning throughout the summer according to the needs of the areas which they will serve.

Most jobs last six to eight weeks and give participants a chance to earn approximately $1,000 at $3.35 per hour.

Youth Corps members will work for one of five state departments, local units of government and many private and non-profit agencies in all 83 Michigan counties.

Gov. Blanchard said this year's Youth Corps program has several new features, including the "Cleanwater Corps," aimed at helping maintain Michigan's high quality of water resources as part of the Governor's "Cleanwater '86" campaign. At least 1,113 Youth Corps members will work on 118 water-related projects statewide, from erosion control along the Great Lakes shoreline, inland lakes, streams and drains, to the construction of fishing docks and dikes.

Youth Corps workers also will help celebrate Michigan's 150th birthday, the Sesqui-centennial, with historic renovation work to preserve the state's heritage. Other projects will be tailored to respond to unique community needs, such as a Grand Rapids project in which Youth Corps crews will paint an outdoor mural on the Junior Achievement Building depicting the state's Sesqui-centennial and the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce's 100th birthday.

Gov. Blanchard noted that the Michigan Youth Corps is the largest state-sponsored summer jobs program in the nation, and will have provided more than 72,000 jobs from 1983 through the end of 1986. It was proposed by Gov. Blanchard and approved by the legislature in 1983. Applications for Youth Corps jobs are still available at all MESC offices and training offices, career centers, colleges and community colleges.

Foster Parents honored

Coinciding with "National Focus on Foster Care Month", a dinner in honor of foster parents was held at the Bootleggers in Petoskey on May 15, 1986. Mary Ball, Vice President of the National Foster Parents' Association was the guest speaker and shared her experiences and anecdotes as a foster parent. Twenty foster parents licensed by the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services attended the dinner. Two couples were presented with certificates of appreciation in recognition of at least five years as foster parents. Vasco Zucchiatti, D.S.S. Services Supervisor, presented these certificates to Mike and Norvieta Anderson (9 years) and to Harry and Kathy Leist (5 years). Not in attendance, but receiving the same recognition were Pat and Gail Kubesh (14 years), Keith and Pamela Pinney (10 years), Jim and Jan Rathbun (14 years), and Bruce and Kay Brooks (5 years). Other Foster Parents attending the dinner were John and Charlene Bush, Nick and Danielle Moose, Phil and Winnie Rehkopf, Joe and Joy Rouleau, Gary and Sharlene Spencley, John and Joyce Spohn, and Henry and Rochelle Wittenmeyer. Charlevoix County D.S.S. currently has twenty-eight licensed homes throughout the county with a possible capacity for one-hundred and two children.

Most Foster Children have been neglected and/or abused by their natural parents. They are placed in foster homes for their protection while they and their families receive help in an attempt to reunite them. If this fails, children remain in foster care until they can be placed with relatives, adopted, or are old enough to live independently. Other children are placed in foster care because their own delinquent activities have led to police and court involvement, and the Juvenil Court decides that their family is unable to provide the structure and guidance to prevent further delinquent activities.
