News Briefs

As part of trying to develop a great community, officials at Stafford's One Water Street announced plans to host a Homecoming Party for those graduates of Boyne City High School. The party starts with pre-game activities and continues after the game at the restaurant. Everyone is invited, they say.

Traffic deaths are up in spite of the seat belt law, according to a survey being done by the Michigan State Police. Only 45.3 percent of vehicle occupants are buckling up. The rate is 1,093 since January 1, versus 1,075 for the same period last year.

Plans are set for the first "Our Night Out" ladies night being sponsored by the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce. The event will take place Wednesday, Oct. 8th, starting at 7:00 at the Boyne Valley Lodge in Walloon Lake. Tickets for the ladies only event are available at the Chamber office. Proceeds from the event will go the Downtown Flower fund.

Boyne advisory vote set for hallway

Boyne City voters will be filling out ballots in the hallway after action Tuesday at the noon meeting of the Boyne City Commission.

The commissioners approved the using of a special ballot for the advisory vote to decide whether the location of the proposed historical museum should be at the Old City Park and whether or not the Chamber of Commerce would be allowed to share some of the room at the museum.

The use of the punch card voting machines to ask the same questions was denied by the state elections commission as they said it was illegal and good use of public money. The commission learned about the denial last week.

After a weeks worth of consideration, the commissioners decided the voter still wants to provide their input, and agreed to hold a special vote in the hall next to where the vote will be cast in the November election. The polling place is the room of the City Hall being used for Senior Citizens and the Commission meeting room.

"I think everyone wants a chance to cast an opinion," said Tom Garlock, City Clerk, who was acting as the city manager while Randy Frykber was attending a national convention. Commissioners agreed and approved the request.

Control over the proposed advisory vote will be worked out, Garlock said after the meeting. He is thinking about a plan that would give a ticket or a ballot to those who have voted in the general election. "Otherwise, the ballot box could be stuffed by those representing a special interest," he added.

Garlock said he would be trying to borrow some of the voting booths from the school to set up in the hall. He is working on getting a local printer to print up the ballot and is looking for volunteers to man the polling place.

In other action Tuesday, the commissioners agreed to award a bid to Hodgekiss and Douma to pave 310 feet of Franklin Avenue behind the Litzenburger Place Apartments. The bid for doing the work was overlooked this past summer when the city let bids for many other streets improvements.

According to Garlock, there is money left over in the capital improvement fund to pay for the work, and the paving firm will be working in the area yet this fall.

The city is buying a new snowplow to be fitted on one of the newest city trucks after another bid was awarded to Hyde Equipment for $6,030. The plow, which is reversible, has many other features that would make the purchase advantageous to the city, according to Basil Moore, the head of the D.P.W.

Boyne Area United Way kicks off drive Oct. 8

Boyne Area United Way announced the kick-off of their annual drive to gather up $30,000 from area businesses, employees and donors in a letter sent out to businesses this week.

The goal of $30,000 is up $5,000 over the $25,000 goal they exceeded last year. The drive officially starts October 8 with a kick-off breakfast to be held at the Country Star Restaurant. The drive goes through October 31.

According to the letter sent out, Lindsay Adams, the 1987 fund drive chairman said this year, the effort is trying to emphasize employee contributions through the payroll deduction plan available at almost all businesses.

"Our new board members are very excited about this year's campaign," Adam's letter stated, "and we offer you and your employees the opportunity to participate in a very worthwhile and rewarding program."

The letter also stated where some of the money is spent locally, giving examples of the visiting nurse program, Boyne City Swim School, Big Brothers and Big Sister, Boy and Girl scouting as well as other charitable groups.

The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts have more than 250 area members that are financed with the program provided by United Way Funds.

Almost all of the funds generated by the Boyne Area United Way stay and are used with the Boyne area, according to United Way officials.

They hope to reach the new goal set this year as quickly as possible one supporter of the drive effort said.

Calls to area businesses will be starting next week as the volunteers will be visiting and calling those on their list.

Showing off a favored mushroom picking spot is rare, unless because of the recent rains the mushrooms are so prolific the picker needs help. That wasn't exactly the case when Stella Prentice showed off an area that held lots of "stumpers", a fall mushroom some favor all most as much as the spring morel. Hunting mushrooms in the fall is more dangerous than in the spring as many more varieties of poisonous mushrooms also fruit during the same time. Caution is also urged for those walking on private property.

Rain wipes out Jordan River weir

Rain throughout the Jordan Valley caused the washout of the temporary weir recently installed in the Jordan River by the Rogers Road Bridge. The weir was supposed to help in the gathering and the control of salmon that were planted in the river several years ago.

According to DNR officials, the temporary weir couldn't stand the added water pressure the rains have created and washed the weir out after the heavy rainfall last week.

Steve Swan, the fisheries biologist for the area said there was no way it could be repaired or replaced this season. He also said he was hoping the heavy spawning runs of the salmon were over as he did not like seeing the fish getting into the upper reaches of the river.

The river, which was designated off limits to fishing since the weir was installed, was open for fishing but has been closed as of today south of the Graves Crossing.

A permanent weir is proposed for the Memorial Bridge which will help keep spawning runs out of the river when it will be constructed next year.

When the dimming daylight turns our exercise time into a nightly race to beat the darkness home, my mate and I usually pack up our physical fitness program for the year. Walking down winding and unlighted roads after the sun's gone down isn't our cup tea. The dark brings out the most reckless of the young who roar down the narrow roads in their dented cars using a heavy foot and unseasoned judgement. When they're abroad, we're better off staying home doing deep-breathing for exercise.

So it works out that our muscles take a long rest starting shortly after the time that the leaves begin making crinkling sounds on the pavement. But it may be different this year.

This has been a banner season for our walking program, the best ever. We've made the 2 1/2 mile trip from our house, through the park grounds and home again at least five nights out of seven. We do feel proud, maybe even a little smug, about our performance.

In light of this outstanding record and the slimming benefits derived thereof, we're loath to lapse into our usual pattern and sloth around all winter. By Christmas, our bodies will have acquired their off-season bulby pouches. So we're considering indoor exercise.

I've proposed ping-pong. All it would take would be a collapsible ping-pong table that we could set up for play in the living room.

My walking companion does not favor the idea. He feels that our living room can't handle an object as large as a ping-pong table, much less players ranging around it. He pointed out that the only place it could be set up would put it in the position of blocking the front door on one side and the hallway to the bathroom on the other. Also the player on the north end of the table would be unable to come to the phone should any calls come in for him.

Thinking quickly, I countered that these are not drawbacks; they're opportunities. One of the pluses of this program lies in

The Positive Side

"What you think you can be, has a direct reflection on what you become."

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

I wonder what all this rains means.

Does it mean we are going to have a winter with lots of snow, or less?

Does it mean those looking out from the Avalanche Preserve lookout will have a lakefront beach at the bottom of the hill?

Does it mean someone upstairs is trying to get even because of the fall colors being so beautiful and the person upstairs doesn't want us to enjoy it with the sunlight?

In answer to some of the questions, I took a exclusive survey among some of the people I know for an answer.

One said the rain was a direct result of the Chernobyl incident, and we are in for a bad winter.

Another agreed saying he met with an old knowledgeable native of the area who also said we are in for a bad winter. He based his projection on the amount of wood being cut by those living up here.

"The wood being stacked high along side of the house, is ample reason to think we are going to have a long and hard winter," he surmised.

Another said he went out looking for the woolly catapillar, and the only one he could find was all black with brown only on the very ends. He said that was good enough for him to make the guess that we are in for it this winter.

Someone else said they saw all the ducks and geese flying south earlier this year, a sure sign of a bad winter.

But bad is a relative term. For those in the resort business of skiing, the bad is good. Cold weather means they will be able to make snow earlier and if the addition of natural snowfall comes as predicted, it could be a great winter for them.

It must be the same for those in the snowmobile industry.

It may also be good for all those commercial woodcutters you see driving around the town delivering their cut and split wood.

And other businesses that rely on the change of weather also must see something good about the coming of winter.

Myself, I like the changes, heck, I even like winter. Of course I might get a chance to go skiing or something, but that is a long way away right now. I've got to get my bowling game in order first.

And get the house ready for winter. And get the car ready. And I sure the other person I live with can find lots more for me to do to get ready for winter.

I am sure the list doesn't stop, no matter how many things I get accomplished on a weekend. There always is, and will always be much more that could be done.

It always amuses me when visitors find our town such a nice place and then immediately want to tell the natives how to run it. Gretchen Crums letter is a case in point. A usually don't respond to such ridiculously inane criticism, but she needs to be set straight. Boyne City enjoys an excellent city commission, police department, city manager, fire department, historical commission and all the other agencies that go to make a city run properly. If she doesn't want to have her intelligence insulted she can very easily avoid it. After all, before such a thing could possibly happen even she should realize that one must be insubtable.

I am glad to see all the harbor work in the Lake. The dredge pump really can and does move whatever it is supposed to move. I know, I ran one at the Taylorville Dam, in Taylorville, Ohio. Only this one was inland. The sand clay and gravel was run with a 16x16 sump. We really moved it at a high speed.

These bleeding heart do-gooders should clean up their own cities before worrying about us. If our visitors don't like the way we operate, they can just go and pound sand. Watching over the saw sharpening machines was one of the favored and most important jobs during the days when lumber was king in the Boyne City area. These saw blades were used in the White Lumber Company's shingle mill and were used to cut the logs down to the right size before sent into the shingle making machine. We understand most of the shingles were shipped to Chicago and other cities about the turn of the century. If you have any old family pictures that you think would be nice for this picture feature, bring them to the office so we can make a copy.

Cooking

with Bea Smith

The tang of a Northern Michigan October morning takes me back in time to our potatoe digging days. The life on a family farm in our part of the state centered around the potatoe crop. From the time that we had to cut the seed potatoes to the time they were safely stored or sold in the fall our life revolved around potatoes—our money crop for the year.

In early spring Papa was busy in the wood shed cutting seed potatoes; they had to be cut so that each piece had 2 eyes in it. It took a lot of cutting to seed a ten acre field. I remember thinking that it would be so much fun to cut seen potatoes until I was big enough to do it. Then I changed my mind, after the first few potatoes it was no fun at all. However, I am sure that many prosperous dreams of the future inspired the cutters of seed potatoes through the years.

Then there was the planting time. For many years farmers had to plant them with a hand planter. I can see Papa now with a bag of the cut potatoes on his back planting them in perfect rows. It was done this way. First the ground had to be worked ready for the planting, then marked into squares about 3 feet apart. This was done by having the horses pull a wide marker across the field.

Then Papa put a potatoe into his hand planter, he pushed it into a corner of each square marked out on the ground. By pushing the handle forward, it opened the planter and left the potatoe in the hole, then when he pulled the handle back and lifted it out, the dirt filled back into the hole. He stepped on it and went on to the next square. I understand that all of that time consuming and hard labor now is done almost completely by machines.

Through the summer he cultivated them with a horse-pulled riding cultivator, then the plants had to be sprayed to kill the potatoe bugs. This was done by hand with a special sprayer hung over ones shoulder. By mid-summer when the plants were in blossom, those perfect rows were beautiful to behold.

Papa had a special horse drawn digger to dig the potatoes, though I also remember him doing it with a potatoe fork. Everyone got into the act for the harvest. People of all ages were out in the field. School was let out for a couple of weeks and the action began. Children were paid on the average of 3 cents a bushel to pick them up. Many people of my generation remember when we picked up potatoes to buy our winter clothes. We felt so rich and searched the Sears Roebuck Catalog for bright red sweaters etc.

Our appetites were enormous during those invigorating days, sometimes the weather was hot and then cold or rainy. Mother cooked chicken every night or she might have a big stew or pot roast. One would think that we would never want to a potatoe again. Yet, they are still the number one vegetable on the list for our generation. Our king vegetables for many reasons, they are always a good buy (pennies a serving) our best source of Vitamin C, B6, Magnesium, Copper and Iron. They keep good and best of all, they are satisfyingly delicious.

Potatoes are still an economical buy even for those of us who live alone. I like to cook a couple extra potatoes because they are so good heated in the microwave with a little Italian dressing dribbled over them, or to put into a potatoe salad. This is one I like to make for myself. You can do your own thing here, putting in ingredients that you especially like.

My Potatoe Salad
 Potatoes cooked and cubed
 1 egg for every 2 potatoes
 1 tablespoon finely chopped onions for 2 potatoes
 1/4 teaspoon dill weed

Diced American cheese or cheese of your choice
 For the dressing I mix enough low fat mayonnaise with Dijon style mustard to completely coat the potatoes.
 Salt and pepper to your taste.
 Serve this with a bowl of soup—delicious and nourishing for any time of the year.

Now is an excellent time to give you Von Seaman's recipe for potatoe dumplings. Von had been searching for her Grandmother's recipe for them. She says that this recipe is just what she had been searching for such a very long time. Her mother and grandmother made them, they made them without a recipe. Von says that these taste just like the kind her mother made. The call them "Cannon balls."

Potatoe Dumplings
 (Dumplings with a Melting Heart)
 3 cups riced potatoes (2 or 3 medium sized potatoes)
 (These are cooked until tender and put through a ricer or very finely mashed)
 1 egg
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
 24 buttered croutons

Mix riced potatoes with un-beaten egg, flour, and seasonings. Mix well and chill 20 minutes. Divide dough in 12 portions and wrap each portion around 2 croutons. Drop dumplings on gently boiling thickened stew or sauerbraten. Cook uncovered 15 minutes, basting frequently with the stew or sauerbraten gravy.
 Yield: 12 medium dumplings.

You can make the croutons or use the packaged kind. If you have home made bread to make croutons they are especially good.

Croutons
 Trim off the crust of any light or dark bread slices
 Cut into small even-sized cubes
 Fry cubes in salad oil, a mixture of butter and oil or bacon drippings until crisp and golden,

 Here is a very good recipe for potatoe pancakes. As a pancake lover from way back, I relished these:

Michigan Potatoe Pancakes
 From Michigan Potatoe Industry Comm.
 1 egg
 2 tablespoons melted butter
 1/2 cup milk
 1 cup flour
 1 cup grated potatoes (2 average size)
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 Grate potatoes (I grated them coarsely) in a bowl and cover with egg, milk and butter. Mix dry ingredients and sift. Stir liquid ingredients into dry ingredients. Beat well and cook on hot griddle. I used a no-stick pan just a little amount of bacon grease to fry mine, very good.

 getting exercise not only in playing ping-pong but in crawling. All the aforementioned places could be reached, although a bit more slowly, by crawling under the table. And think of all the muscles working in the crawling process. Crawling along with ping-pong would give us a more complete fitness program.
 He remains unconvinced. So we've looked at some of the alternatives.
 Jumping rope has possibilities, but not great ones. We lack the space for both of us to do it at the same time. This means that one would have to watch, or at least listen, while the other jumped and missed and started again, which would prove embarrassing for the one and unrewarding for the other. Then too, jumping rope jolts the knees. At our age, knees should be treated with more consideration.
 As for stationary bikes and treadmill walking machines, they're all right if you have spare money for toys and a high tolerance for boredom.
 So it's back to ping-pong. As time goes on and the pouches start filling out, I'll remind my mate of how much he once enjoyed the game.

He also said the county road commission had purchased one of the same type of plows last year and was very happy with it. They are purchasing another four this year.

The plow has several features besides it being able to work both sides of the street. It is a quick coupler, has a trippable feature for the times when the snowplow driver may hit something solid in the roadway and allows the hooking up with only one man.

Another resolution was passed pertaining to the Benefit Program "E" provided by the Michigan Employees Retirement System. The resolution would give those former city workers a cost of living increase in their retirement checks if they have retired six months before the end of the year. The resolution giving the additional pay to retired city workers will not cost the city anything, according to Edith Beck, City Treasurer. She said the city has drawn enough in interest payments to the fund to pay for the additional cost this year. Next year the cost would be built into the retirement policy and interest gained from the retirement system would be funding the raise in benefits. The resolution would have to be passed every year, she said, and for those years when the cost of living has not gone up, the city would not have to approve a resolution. If that happens, the retired city workers would be getting the same benefit level they had gotten the year before.

Another resolution was passed to formally agree to sell one of the city owned lots in the new Air/Industrial Park to the Robinson Brothers. RBI has offered to purchase one of the remaining lots in the park for a new building the firm is planning yet this fall. The site plan approval for the lot will be the subject of a special planning meeting next Monday at 5 p.m.

When asked by a citizen about the trees in the Old City Park if the museum were to be constructed there, Garlock said a forester will be going through the park to mark trees for removal. Some of the trees are dead or dying, while others are over mature and will have to be removed. The site for the proposed museum was small enough so that many trees would not have to be destroyed.

Mike Davis, the County Recreation Director, told the commissioners he was pleasantly surprised at the large turnout for the soccer program that was started in the Veterans Park. There will be soccer matches every Tuesday and Thursday in the "Mini" facility that was constructed by Davis last week.

Childrens March of Arts at McCune

The Childrens March of the Arts on October 18, sponsored by the Crooked Tree Arts Council will tie in with the Annual Nishnawbe Festival, devoted to Native American Art held at the Virginia McCune Arts Center during the month of October.

The docents, a group of 13 volunteers who escort groups through the gallery of the Arts Center have been researching Woodland Indian history with the help of many leading Native Americans. The docents plan for the children to learn through play and stories more about the art, literature and survival efficiency of the life of the Woodland Native Americans of this area.

Marie Boda, from the Pellston Schools and Joe Mitchell, a staff member of the Virginia McCune Arts Center met with the Centers' docents to make final plans for the day of October 18.

Joe Mitchell will instruct the children in the building of a Woodland wigwam of saplings and bark on the lawn of the Arts Center.

Marie Boda will assist the children in weaving cattail mats for the wigwam and in painting a large shield, announcing who dwells within the wigwam.

Simultaneously, on the Division Street side of the Arts Center, children can participate in an outdoor painting lesson led by Sandy Selden. They will illustrate the Nishnawbe version of the Great Flood told by Joe Mitchell.

Other children will do chalk drawings on the sidewalk illustrating the stories of early life in the wigwam as told by Anne Ford.

There will also be live story telling the music in the centers' Russell Stokes Theater.

Gallery tours of the Nishnawbe Festival of Native American contemporary art will continue through the afternoon for the parents and their children.

All Charlevoix and Emmet County Kindergarten through the 4th grade children and their parents are invited to attend

Smoke detectors, exit drills keys to home safety

Smoke detectors are the best life-saving protection available in a home fire but each family should develop escape plans and practice them regularly, reports AAA Michigan.

"Planning for a home fire emergency is the best way to avoid tragedy later because once a fire starts, there are less than four minutes to escape," said Robert V. Cullen, AAA Michigan Safety and Traffic Manager.

Those safety guidelines and more are included in AAA Michigan's new booklet, "Planning for Home Fire Emergencies," available to the public at all AAA Michigan offices. The illustrated booklet includes sections on home fire hazards, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, Exit Drills in the Home (EDITH) and special planning for children, the elderly and the disabled.

Residential fires claim 6,000 lives a year nationally and nearly 80 percent of all fires stem from carelessness due to smoking; heating elements; cooking and other appliances; matches and open flames.

Cullen explained that most fire deaths are due to smoke and poisonous gas inhalation. Smoke detectors are especially important because 83 percent of fatal residential fires occur between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m. when many people are sleeping.

"No home should be without at least one smoke detector and one fire extinguisher per floor," Cullen said.

Smoke detectors should be installed outside bedroom doors and serviced on a regular basis. If a hallway near bedrooms is longer than 30 feet, it should have smoke detectors at each end.

"The early warning the smoke detector provides can be the difference between life and death," he added.

Multi-purpose fire extinguishers should be kept near the doors of rooms with potential fire sources, such as furnaces or stoves. It also is important that a fire extinguisher be kept in the garage. Never spend more than a few seconds fighting a beginning fire.

"Once the smoke detector activates, it is important to know what to do so pre-planning is essential," Cullen explained. "All families should develop a fire escape plan and practice escape drills every six months."

He advised making a home floor plan with two escape routes from each room primarily the door and a window. Stairways, porches and the porch roof should be included, and it is vital to make sure all windows will open.

If a window is high above the ground, a special fire escape ladder may be needed. A family should have a pre-determined safe meeting place outside the house. The fire department's phone number should be memorized and the call made from a neighbor's house. No one should go back into a burning house.

"Special escape plans are necessary for families with small children, elderly or disabled members," Cullen said.

AAA Michigan suggests that infants and children sleep in a bedroom next to their parents or older youngsters. Children call the fire department and how to stop, drop and roll and cover their faces with their hands if clothing catches fire. They never should hide in a burning house, but escape quickly.

Elderly persons should sleep on the ground floor, if possible, with a smoke detector and telephone in their room. An escape plan should be developed and practiced.

A visual signal system can aid persons unable to hear the alarm and a whistle or shout helps if a visually impaired person gets lost during an evacuation.

A specially designed escape plan may be necessary for the physically handicapped and the mentally impaired must sleep near someone who can help in case of a fire.

"Remaining calm and cool are keys to a safe escape," Cullen said.

If trapped in a room, stay close to the floor, if smoke is present.

One shot at an insulator can drop a city in its tracks.

Some thoughtless people. "just for the fun of it," use insulators for target practice. In fact, this happens a lot.

I know, because I'm a Consumers Power lineman, and it's my job to search for the cause of a power failure.

People who shoot out insulators forget that a single shot can bring down a house, a factory, a hospital or even an entire city.

That's why Consumers Power offers substantial rewards for information resulting in either the arrest and arraignment of persons responsible for damage to our property.

So, if you have information concerning such an incident, please contact a local police agency or call Consumers Power.

I know just how important stamping out this crime is, my home is just as vulnerable as yours.

EJ Garden Club celebrates 25 years with potluck, drama show

Twenty five years ago a group of ladies formed the East Jordan Garden Club and on Monday, September 15, 1986, seven of those ladies helped celebrate those many years of fun and service. Charter members in attendance and active in the club are Evelyn Gigley, Phyllis Malpass, Esther Porter, Cyg Riley, JoAnne Schenck and Norma Thorsen. All of these ladies have held office, many of them serving as President (some more than once!), and all have an impressive list of jobs "well done" behind their names, according to present President Martha Annear.

After a lovely luncheon, provided by the ladies in potluck fashion, the highlight of the meeting was a program presented by the East Jordan High School drama class. They jumped into the pond of theatrics with a big splash as they presented Paul Nolan's "Who's Compatible?" a short play, having had only eight days of school and only five days to really practice. The play centers around an older couple celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary and they appear to be very incompatible. As they stroll through the park, they encounter a young man and young, newly in love couple, all of whom try to help them become more compatible. The term compatible takes on new meanings amid the humorous bickers of the oldsters and the confident exclamations of the youngsters.

The class is taught by Mary Irwin, and began a semester of drama with a fine presentation, greatly enjoyed by the Garden Club ladies. Class members featured were Michele Beauvais, Shandra Sweet, Robert Harvey, Michele Givvard, Darrin Maule, and costumes, make-up, props, programs and moral support were provided by Pam Decker, Heidi Gaunt, Chris Umlor, Tammy Burr, Tanya Hoeksmea, Angie Zoulek, Laura Nemecek, Traci Gardner, Carl Bowen, Patti Schmitt, Jennifer Brun, Trisha Fox, Cindy Fay, Sean Shay, Carin Joyce and Carole McKenny.

After the chuckles died down from the entertaining play, the Garden Club had a brief business meeting and recognition of the achievements of the past twenty five years. Evelyn Gigley gave a brief history and remembrance of past years. Mum plants were presented to past Presidents and scrapbooks of years gone by were perused.

Present officers are Martha Annear, President; Gladys Sattler, Secretary; and Evelyn Gidley, Treasurer and Corresponding Secretary. They are continuing the previous projects and starting a few new ones.

The Greens Market was initiated by the Garden Club the first year of its existence and the swags and wreaths, as well as the accompanying bake sale and craft sale, are still sought by an enthusiastic community each December.

The Garden Club has discontinued the hanging baskets it put up for a few summers, as they could not be properly taken care of. Plantings have been put around the Health Center, at Elm Pointe, at the South Arm Township Hall, and in the Sportsman's Park. A new addition to this was the planting of boxes on the bridge, unfortunately these were repped out three times this summer.

Last year the Garden Club initiated the Farmers' Market at the South Arm Township Hall. This year the Market was moved to the bank parking lot and plans are being made to continue to do this in coming years.

The Garden Club has an annual Flower Show in August which has grown in size of participants and spectators. This year's show was the largest ever and may have been partially due to a workshop given by a professional flower arranger earlier in the summer.

Other activities sometimes include a float for the Freedom Festival Parade. The group is trying to organize a Junior Garden Club and have plans to work on the Brown Creek Preserve Area between the two school buildings.

Before the frost bites to hard, every citizen of the East Jordan area should make an effort to find the spots of beauty planted and maintained by the ambitious ladies of the East Jordan Club. If you happen to run into one of them, you might just say thanks for twenty five years of efforts of beautification in East Jordan.

BOYNE CITY LANES PRESENTS ITS' BOWLERS OF THE WEEK

Paul Folsom

Our first bowler of the week was hoping to get off to a good start this season, maybe even getting his first 500 series. Well, Paul is still looking for one, but he's not complaining about what he bowled the other night. Bowling for Dipzinski's Decorating in the Wed. night Merchants league, Paul bowled games of 210-211-179, for a very fine 600 series, which put him 141 pins over his 153 average for the evening. Nice job Paul. Try not to be too discouraged about not rolling a 500 series. There's a lot of us who would take a 600 set any day of the week!

Sandy Clausen

"What a way to start the season!" That was Sandy's words as she got off to a great start for the 1986-87 season. Bowling in the women's Thursday night league on the Boyne City Lanes Team, Sandy rolled a career high 587 series with a nice 233 game, also a personal best. With her last year's average of 159 Sandy began this year 110 pins over average for the night. The 587 set is the highest series shot so far this year by a women bowler, so it will take some doing to top that. Nice start, Sandy! We hope you keep it up all season long!

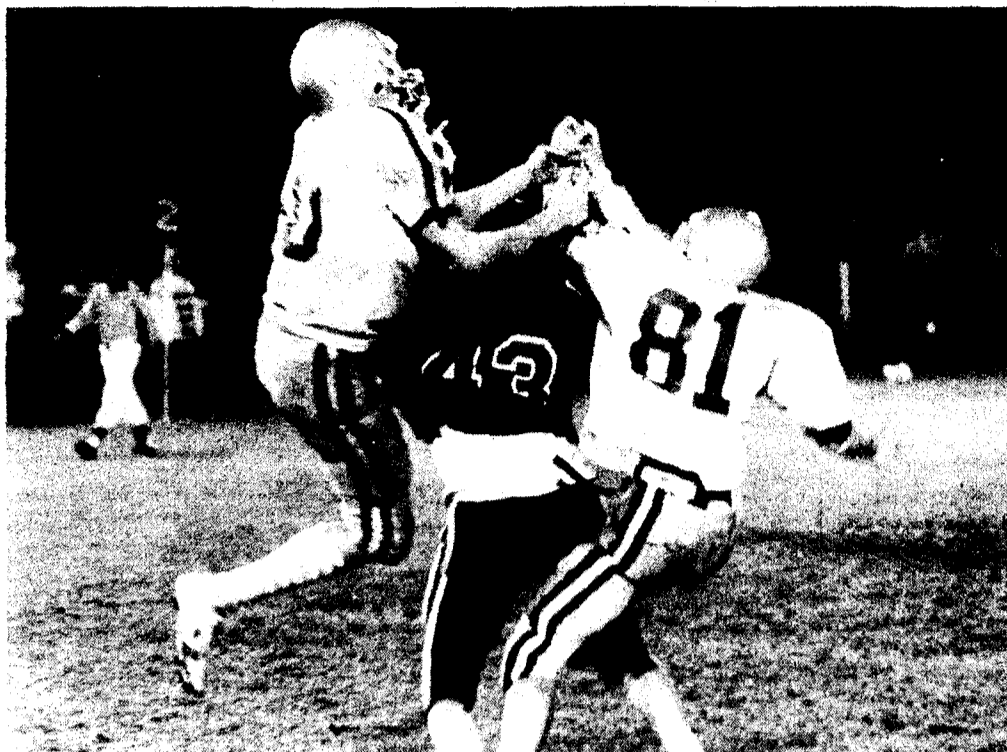

CONGRATULATIONS.

Rayders take Ramblers 18-6

Believe it or not. This pass play was not called for interference as Scott Beebe [43], of the Ramblers is rattled between these two Rayder defenders. Note the referee in the background watching the play.

Improvements were demonstrated by the Boyne City Varsity Football team Friday night, after facing off with three powerful squads in previous outings. But improvements were not enough to pull off a win over the Charlevoix Red Rayders as the Ramblers were shut out in the second half after playing to a 6-6 deadlock in the first half of the game. Charlevoix went on to score twice in the second half for an 18-6 win.

Charlevoix visited Rambler territory and were well armed as they boasted the leagues top rusher, Michael Thompson, (355 yards gained on 47 carries), and another quick cutter, (Pachy LaBlance, 177 yards gained on 15 carries), to do battle against the Ramblers. The Rayders had opened the season with a big win over the Petoskey Northmen, but had suffered two defeats in the following weeks.

Thompson proved to be the Rayders threat as he has the potential to break one loose on any given play.

The Rambler defense was outstanding through the entire first period, holding the Rayders behind midfield following tremendous punts by Rambler quarterback Pat Weeks. Weeks' punts carried high and long most of the evening, trapping the Rayders deep in their own territory behind the stunting Rambler defense.

When the second quarter opened, Boyne City had possession of the ball, and were mounting what proved to be the games first scoring drive. Trapped at their own 16, the Rayders were forced to punt on fourth and nine to go, and a shanked boot from the Rayders punter set Boyne City up Charlevoix' 26. A nine yard run by Weeks and a three yard blast from Keeki Kuheana pushed the Ramblers up to the Rayder 4, where Boyne City earned a first down and goal to go. Three plays later, Weeks wriggled around the right side of a jammed up line, and spun off a Rayder tackler across the goal line. For the first time since homecoming two years ago, the Ramblers led in a varsity game.

But while the team was jubilantly celebrating, the ensuing kick-off was returned 78 yards and the score was suddenly evened.

The remainder of the half was engulfed in a torrential downpour that caused both teams to drop snaps, pass receptions, and quieted the Rambler fans.

Boyne City's second big blow of the game came when the Ramblers received the second half kick-off and promptly fumbled the ball away on their own 26 yard line. The Rayders capitalized immediately when Thompson scampered away for a 12-6 Rayder lead.

Charlevoix clearly demonstrated that there would be no big kick-off returns for the Ramblers, as they booted the ball through the endzone, setting Boyne City up on the 20 yard line.

There were four exchanges of the football after the Rayder delighting runback, until the Rayders tipped a Weeks pass and captured the wobbling orb for an interception. Charlevoix took the first play from scrimmage 37 yards to paydirt for the third big play and final break that the Ramblers would allow.

Late in the fourth period, Boyne City received a punt after their defensive line halted the Rayders in their tracks. The Ramblers took the ball from their own 37 to the Rayder 27 on a pass reception from Weeks to Scott Beebe, and threatened to score for the first time in the second half, but the threat was nullified when Charlevoix picked off an interception with 2:00 left in the game.

The Rayders had an opportunity to capitalize again, but the Rambler defense put up a stiff goal line stand with less than one minute to play and held the Rayders out.

East Jordan girls beat Bellaire, lose to Mancy

By Dennis Skooki
The East Jordan Girls' Varsity Basketball team split games this week once again against tough Bellaire and Mancelona teams.

On Tuesday, September 23, the Devils hosted Bellaire in a 33-32 thriller in which 4th quarter free throws by Erin Snyder and Shelly Malpass gave E.J. the edge.

The Red Devils 3 point lead after the 1st quarter, wound up to be their biggest as the Eagles cut the lead to 1 point at the half but could only keep pace after that as the Devils maintained the 1 point lead after both the third and 4th quarters.

Kristy Miller led the Devil offense with 21 points. Erin Snyder added 7 and Brenda Drenth both turned in two point efforts.

Miller and Snyder also led the defensive attack with 6 rebounds while Kristy Burt and Jill Burt each added 6. Miller also added 5 steals.

Offensively for Bellaire, Chris Harbough and Barb Symbali had 8 points, while Kendra Oeder and Sarah Dingman added six each.

On Thursday against Mancelona the Devils couldn't put together much of an offense as they bowed to the Ironmen 39-34.

Trailing by ten points after the second quarter and 12 points after the third the Devils outscored the Ironmen 12-5 but that wasn't enough as the lady Devils record fell to 2 and 4.

Miller once again led the offensive with 12 points while Erin Snyder and Kristy Burt each added seven (all of Burts being free throws).

Snyder led the Devils defense with 12 rebounds while Miller added seven and Jill Peters came up with six. Miller also had four steals on the night with Snyder adding three.

Kathy Snyder led Mancelona with 14 points, Stacey Duerkson had 10 points and Jonna Schwergart added seven.

The Devils will see their next action Tuesday, September 30, against Harbor Springs.

Boyne lets win slip through fingers

The Boyne City J.V. football squad took on the Charlevoix Red Rayders Thursday evening, and "played our best defensive game so far," said coach Dave Bricker. Despite a good defensive showing, the Ramblers were the victim of the Rayders as they went down 8-7 after leading for most of the game.

Charlevoix was the first team to score, but were forced to the air to accomplish the feat, as the Rambler defense had repaled two Rayder attempts at sustaining drives downfield. Finally, Charlevoix crossed over the Rambler goal-line after connecting on a 40 yard pass play for a touchdown.

The Ramblers immediately set up a long scoring drive that was to consume a lot of time from the clock. Boyne City's coaching staff rearranged the Ramblers backfield somewhat by moving Mark Harris from the quarterback position to a running back, and inserting Will Polleys as the teams' play-caller. Polleys engineered a 65 yard drive that wound up on the Rayder one yard line, where Harris carried the ball into the end zone to tie the score. Unlike Charlevoix, who failed to score extra points after their T.D., Boyne went ahead midway through the second period with a successful extra point attempt off the boot of Kurt Holly.

The one point lead held through nearly the entire second half, as the Rambler defense prevented the Rayders from organizing any prolonged drives.

An ill-fated goal line stand late in the fourth period turned out to be both successful and unsuccessful for the Ramblers. Boyne City had denied the Rayders entry into their end zone and forced a turnover on downs for a Rambler possession. With twelve seconds remaining on the clock, Boyne City was forced into punt formation on fourth and long yardage to go, when the snap from center slipped by the punter and carried through the endzone for a two point safety for Charlevoix.

Coach Bricker was pleased with more than just the teams good defensive efforts, adding that "I am very happy with how well the team solidified together."

Devils get second shut-out

BC to hold shoot-a-thon

By Dennis Skrocki

The East Jordan Red Devils Varsity Football team kept their undefeated season alive last Saturday in Indian River as they blanked the Inland Lakes Bulldogs 12-0.

The early going seemed to be a defensive battle as neither team could mount much of an offense. But late in the second quarter, after marching the Red Devil offense from the East Jordan 21 yard line to the Inland Lakes five, Greg Kitson found Jim Raymond open in the end zone for the first points of the game. The 6-0 Red Devil lead remained as the first half concluded.

The second half was similar in many ways to the first. Defense seemed to be the key as neither team could move the ball effectively.

The pace of the game quickened as, with six minutes left in the ballgame, Dennis Skrocki took over as quarterback after starter Greg Kitson left the game with cartilage to the knee which occurred on the previous punt return. Skrocki headed a couple of unsuccessful running attempts and then, on third down, threw an interception which set the Bulldogs deep in East Jordan territory. But the defense as it has all year, rose to the occasion and with about five minutes left on the clock, Kelly Harchis intercepted an Inland Lakes pass and gave the Devils first and ten field position at their own twelve yard line. Four plays later Darren Graham broke open a 65 yard run to paydirt and extended the Devil's lead to 12-0. The extra point attempt from Skrocki to Raymond fell incomplete.

The EJ defense forced the Bulldogs to punt on their last possession and the offense took over as time ran out and the Red Devils had captured their fourth straight victory, second straight in conference action.

Darren Graham once again led the rushing attack with 110 yards on 11 carries for an average of 10 yards per carry. Kitson was 40 of 10 in the passing department for a total of 37 yards.

Defensively Terry Burt turned in an outstanding performance with 14 tackles while Darren Graham had 10 and Jamie Bartlett, Steve Dionne and Kim Bob McKinnon added 7 each. Ted Snowden and Kelly Harchis had pass interceptions.

The Red Devils will see their next action Friday, October 3, as they host the Bellaire Eagles for their 1986 homecoming. Kickoff is 7:30.

With the aspirations of offsetting the costs of attending the state championship girls basketball play-offs, and perhaps improving their free throw percentages, the Boyne City Rambler Girl's Varsity basketball squad will be holding a free throw shoot-a-thon this Saturday, Oct. 4th.

The girls are out drumming up pledges for the 1,000 shot affair and everyone who is interested in helping the girls make this endeavor become a success should contact either coach Russ Harvey, or one of the girls basketball team members. Not only will a successful pledge count send the girls to the state tournament, but will also help send some of the girls to summer basketball camp who would otherwise be unable to attend.

Coach Harvey predicts that the girls will be shooting around fifty percent on a hit and miss basis for the event, but there will be some exceptions, with some of the girls making more than fifty percent while some others may fall short. The girls will begin the shoot-a-thon at 11:00 Saturday morning and the event is projected to last six or seven hours. The average sponsor is putting up a penny per free throw made, but some donors are pledging up to a nickel a shot that falls through the hoop. At one penny per shot made, the fifty percent success ratio would come to $5.00 earned for the girls.

BCMS wins two

The Boyne City Middle School Girl's Basketball teams opened their season of competition Thursday evening at Charlevoix and brought home two wins. The seventh grade girls won 32-30, while the eighth graders took their game easily, 37-13.

In the seventh grade game, the Ramblers held a 10-8 lead after one period, but fell behind 12-26 at the intermission. Boyne City outscored Charlevoix 12-2 in the third period to trail 24-28 going into the final quarter, and held the Rayders to two points through the fourth period for an 8-2 quarter, and the win.

High scorer for the Ramblers was Kris Crozier with 12 points, while Aulani Kuheana also hit double figures with 10 points. Other point makers included Heather Robinson with six points, and Melissa Anderson with four points.

In the eighth grade game, the Rambler finished the first period with a 10-2 margin, but were held scoreless in the second quarter. Never-the-less, Charlevoix was held to four points, and the Ramblers led 10-6 at the half.

Boyne City scored 13 points in the third period, while skunking the Rayders for a 23-6 margin going into the final quarter.

Brooke Coveyou came off the bench in the second half to lead the Ramblers in scoring with 10 points, while no other Rambler hit double figures. Other Boyne City scorers included Dawn Archambault and Kristin Harvey with 6 points apiece, Crissy Gervassi scored five points, while Christina May and Kim Stadt had four points each, and Tara Belford added two points.

EJ jayvees take Bulldogs

By Dennis Skrocki

The East Jordan Red Devil Junior Varsity Football team maintained its perfect record with a 29-14 victory over the Inland Lakes Bulldogs last Wednesday.

The Devils fell behind early as they fumbled during the opening drive after moving the ball to the Inland Lakes 37 yard line. The Bulldogs made the most of the fumble and scored a touch down and the two point conversion to jump out to an early 8-0 lead.

The lead didn't last long as Pat Russell returned the kickoff 23 yards to the EJ 43 where running backs Ted Sherman, Matt Bishop and Brian Matheny combined for 22 yards on a series of short runs. From there quarterback Dan Pepin hit Mark Moore with a 12 yard pass completion. A six yard run by Matheny, a five yard penalty against Inland Lakes and an 8 yard scamper by Ted Sherman set up the EJ touchdown which saw Sherman go into the end zone from five yards out. The two point conversion pass from Moore to Bishop was complete and the game was dead locked 8-8.

The defense gave the offense good field position near the fifty to start their next offensive drive. Once again the backs all took a share of the running duties before Bishop scored on a run from 9 yards out.

East Jordan scored its final points in the fourth quarter on a nine yard Pepin to Bishop touchdown pass. The extra point kick attempt failed, but the Devil lead was extended to 29-14 which remained the final score.

Ted Sherman led the rushing attack with 64 yards and a TD while Bishop collected 48 yards with two TD's. Pepin was 6 of 7 for a 52 yard total in the passing department. Jeff Olstrom led the defense with 11 tackles while Dan Pepin and Pat Russell added 10 each with Brian Matheny Lyle Walters and Jeff Burks collecting 9 each. Moore also had an interception to go with his interception and blocked punt.

EJ JV's drop two

The East Jordan Junior Varsity Girl's Basketball team had a rough go of it last week as they dropped a home game to Bellaire on Tuesday 48-27 and lost on the road to Mancelona on Thursday, 43-24.

Against Bellaire the girls trailed from the opening tip as the Eagles scored first and never looked back. They led by 9, 7, 12, and 21 respectively after each of the four periods.

Sara Chase led the Devil's offense with 12 points while Dawn Noirot had 8 and Christie Barber, Debbie Skop and Cathy Larson each collected 2.

Defensively the lady Devils were led by Noirot with seven rebounds and four steals. Chase collected three rebounds and four steals.

For Bellaire Shayne Stanley had 12 points, Billie Jo Eggleston collected 6, and Ruth Niepoth, Meagan Cran, Carly Baker and Tonya Lacy each added 4.

East Jordan ran into much of the same luck against Mancelona on Thursday.

After trailing by only 2 points at the end of the first quarter, the Devils couldn't keep the pace as the Ironmen increased the lead with each period.

Sara Chase once again led the Devils offensively with 8 points as Dawn Noirot collected 6 points and Christie Barber added five.

Defensively, Chase led the way with 11 rebounds and 3 steals while Christie Barber added 10 rebounds and 4 steals.

For Mancy, Jill Sanders hit 15 points as Jessica Schram had 12 and Kim Corey added 11.

BC girls come close, lose

The Boyne City Varsity Girl's Basketball squad faced two tough opponents last week and not so surprisingly demonstrated a lot of improvements although falling short in both games. Tuesday's game on Sept. 23, was against Charlevoix and went to the Rayders 50-27 although the Ramblers led at the half. Thursday's game went to Grayling who wound up with a 54-47 win.

Charlevoix went into the play-offs last year with many of the same players returning to action again this year. The Ramblers opened the game by outscoring the Rayders 12-9 in the first period, and maintained a 19-17 lead at intermission.

A three point third quarter proved to be disastrous for the Ramblers as the Rayders compiled 16 points in the period to take a 33-21 lead going into the final quarter. A 17-6 fourth period scoring margin put the Rayders out in front for the 50-27 win.

High scorer for the Ramblers was Kerry Harvey with 8 points, while Colleen Toton had 6 points. Colleen Williams and Michelle Vroman scored 4 points apiece, Mary Beth Archambault hit for two points, while Kelly Smith and Kelly Montgomery contributed a charity toss each.

The Rambler girls came up with one of their best outings so far this season against a powerful Grayling organization. Overall, Boyne City out-rebounded Grayling 54-38, but a 33-26 turnover ratio went against the Ramblers, and foul trouble late in the game sent four of the starting Ramblers to the bench.

The Ramblers took a commanding 14-8 lead after one period of action, but the Vikings held the Ramblers to just 4 points in the second quarter while mounting a 21 point scoring effort to lead 29-18 at the half.

Boyne City reversed the play of action in period three, outpointing the Vikings 20-7 to hold a two point edge going into the final period 38-36. With 1:30 left in the game, the Ramblers were within reach of defeating the Vikings, but suddenly Rambler fouls came into effect and Grayling capitalized to edge the Ramblers 54-47.

The high scorer for Boyne City was Lori Knight with 14 points, while Williams hit the double figure plateau at 10 points. Harvey scored 8 points, Vroman finished up with 7 points, while Toton scored 6 points and Archambault contributed 2 points.

Errata

Last week the Press reported incorrectly that the J.V. touchdown scored against St. Ignace was a pass reception to Damon Zucchiatti. In fact the receiver was Paul Molnar who was also responsible for catching a pass that set Boynt City up for the final scoring push. We regret this instance of misinformation and apologize for the error.
