

The case of the ballot box

After getting a phone call about lunch time, City Clerk Tom Garlock had to move the ballot box for the city's museum advisory vote over to the other side of City Hall because it was determined the vote was not supposed to be within 100 feet of the polls, Tuesday.

After the move, the vote count was less as even the precinct workers did not know where the vote was taking place.

Earlier in the day, the ballot box was in the polls and the election workers were voluntarily handing out the separate ballot on the museum issue. After the ballots were marked by the voters, they were placed in a separate ballot box.

But that was not legal according to the phone call from the Lansing Election Bureau.

It was lonely around the ballot box after elections officials made the city move the advisory vote over to the City Hall lobby. Surprisingly, the regular voting polls were quite busy all day when officials thought the election would not bring much interest.

News Briefs

A parent-teacher open house will be held at the Boyne City High School on Nov. 12, 6-9 p.m. in the gymnasium. All teachers will be present, as well as a counselor from Petoskey Vocational Center. Report cards will be given out at that time and the results of the MEAP testing will be available to the parents of tenth graders.

Boyne Falls will be holding their regular school board meeting on Nov. 10 this month instead of the 17th. The change has been made for this month only, according to Superintendent Bob Redmond.

A few dolls are looking for a good home so they can get dressed, according to members of the Charlevoix County Hospice program. The dolls are available from Northwestern State Bank and its branches. After getting dressed by area residents, the dolls will come back to the bank for display until Dec. 5. Bids will be taken on them and the winners of the bids will be notified. The rest of the dolls will go on sale for $15 or higher. Last year, the program donated $3,079 to the Hospice.

Everyone is invited to the Boyne City Community Thanksgiving Services to be held at the Trinity Pentecostal Church on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 7 p.m. The service, sponsored by the Boyne City Ministerial Association will be taking an offering that will go to the Seventh Day Adventist Community Center. Member churches and congregations will be showing slides of events for which they are thankful.

Museum in park defeated

Area vote shows Democratic support

Voters on this side of Charlevoix County seemed to follow the same 70-30 percentage as the state did in electing James Blanchard to a second term as governor. The 70-30 percent breakdown followed in other areas as some popular candidates took the wins in Tuesday's election.

Taking wins at nearly the same percentage besides the Blanchard-Griffiths ticket was Richard Austin with 71.5 percent against Weldon Yeager for the Secretary of the State Office. Frank Kelly with 64.8 of the vote against Robert Cleland in the race for Attorney General and incumbent Senator Mitch Irwin at 69 percent versus John Knorr's 30.9.

Ellen Addington ran well against incumbent Ralph Ostling losing in this county by only a 7.5 percent difference for the State Representative spot. Ostling garnered 53.7 percent of the vote against Addington's 46.2 percent.

In the race for the congressional seat currently held by Bob Davis of Gaylord, Davis held a commanding lead within the county taking 69.5 percent of the vote with Bob Anderson gathering only 29.1 percent. Independent Phil Bellfy could only gather 1.2 percent of the vote.

For the Supreme Court positions open, Robert Griffin gathered the most votes taking a 23.1 share against second place winner Barbara McKenzie who pulled in 19.6 of the votes cast in this election.

The two candidates with the most votes for the open Court of Appeals spots were taken by Leelanua County Probate Judge Elizabeth Weaver with 32.5 percent of the votes cast, while the other winner within the county was Janet Neff who had 24.7 percent of the votes.

As far as the statewide proposals went, Proposal A, which would allow for the establishment of the Library of Michigan within the state legislature, was approved within the county by a 58.7 percent total of the votes cast.

Proposal B, which would allow for the state legislature to accept or reject administrative rules was defeated by 34.1 percent.

Proposal C, which would allow the expansion of the state officers compensation commission barely was approved by the local voters, passing in a very close race 51.1 percent for approval while 48.8 percent said no.

Locally, in races for seats on the County Board of Commissioners, the only contested race on this side of the county showed Oral Sutliff gathering 62.8 percent of the vote over Rudolph Florenski's 37.1 percent.

In Boyne City's advisory vote, 340 people voted no to having the museum in Old City Park. A total of 570 ballots were cast on the matter. The other question on the ballot is still to be figured out according to Tom Garlock, City Clerk.

BC planners approve new mall in CBD

Meeting in a special meeting to approve a site plan for a proposed mall to be erected where the former IGA store was located, Boyne City planners went through the criteria without a hitch Monday and approved the site plan for the new Water Street Mall which will be constructed at the corner of Main and Front Streets.

The site plan review was called for when the owners of the property discovered that the building was not in good enough shape to try to restore it, according to Nick White, the architect representing the owners.

Others who have seen the building said the timbers holding the roof were dry rotted and could have possibly fallen this winter with a heavy snow load.

After figuring the costs of renovation of the building, the owners decided to tear it down and rebuild a new building using the same footings as the old.

The building has been the home for grocery stores for many years and at one time was the home manufacturing plant for the Boyne City Tractor Company.

After looking at the site plans, planners agreed to approve the building with a few slight changes for parking and greenbelting.

The developers asked to have traffic exit from the east side parking area into the alley. The planners ruled the traffic must make a right hand turn to exit. The planners also eliminated parallel parking along Front Street, and required the sidewalk in front of the building to line up with the American Legion sidewalk.

Previously, a site plan was shown to the planners several months ago. But because the building was not being changed, drastically, the planners had no voice in the matter. With the tear down, the project now comes under the control of the planning body and their approval.

The building will be more traditional than Victorian, according to the architect Nick White, with a little of the Victorian look due to the Restoration Three type of siding. Construction will be all frame and will have store openings from the outside of the building.

Four stores will be able to have inside openings although everything will depend on the amount of space each store going into the mall will need.

As the plans are projected, there is enough room for about nine stores. Although not finalized, room for a medical clinic will take up about one-quarter of the available square footage of the mall.

Tear down is underway with construction expected to start as early as next week, according to Bill Seals of the Seals and Roberts Construction firm which will be doing the building.

Seals said the owners hope to have a portion ready for occupancy in January, but he thinks that may be a little optimistic. Completion of the mall is expected to be in time for next summer.

Evangeline Township residents vent anger at Road Commission

Pinehurst Shores residents showed up at the Evangeline Township Hall Monday night asking what the road commission was doing about their request for road improvements along their road. They had asked the township to have the road improved several years ago and the township had asked the road commission to start the improvement process.

The priorities of the road commission were questioned by the residents saying the commission has done nothing but break promises.

"I have talked to Fred Welch three times," Linda Felton said, "And he told me they would be getting to the project after the summer residents left."

But according to Felton, nothing has been done. Welch is the county engineer for the road commission.

Another resident told the board members the county had promised to cut trees and start work a year and a half ago but he had not seen anything from the county.

Former board member Suzie

One of Boyne City's historic buildings is coming down, due to the lack of it being taken care of for many years. The owners of the building were hoping to use the former Boyne City Tractor Company plant as the basis of a restoration project ending up with a new mall for the community. After investigating the building, it was found it would be more expensive to restore than replace. Construction of the new building is expected to begin next week after the C.H. Smith Company finishes tearing it down. The only thing that could be saved and reused is the foundation. The new mall will be completed by next spring.

Winters asked the board if they had any knowledge of what the road commission was intending on doing, if they had any priorities since roads that are not frequently traveled are getting upgraded while residents who have asked for improvements are not getting them.

Township Supervisor Bessie VanDorn told members of the audience the board had met with the road commission recently but nothing was resolved.

Trustee Bruce Janssen told the board, "We need to ask for times to complete those projects within the township."

Earlier this year the township had considered asking for a millage to fix up all the roads within the township but that was denied due to the lack of time to get the information needed as to what roads would be done first, and the cost structure needed for the millage request.

The township is still considering a millage vote thinking that with the loss of Federal Revenue Sharing coming into the township, the money the township needs would have to come from somewhere else. A millage vote was one of the things being considered.

In other action dealing with roads, the township agreed to a name change of Call Street within the township jurisdiction. Residents along the road had asked the name be changed to Wildwood Heights. With that change made, other residents then asked the board to formally name the roads in the area the county had changed for their numbering system. Spring Road will now officially be called Springwater Beach, the name it has gone under for many years. The board also formally named Pinehurst Shores after residents attending the board meeting feared that road name may be changed by the county.

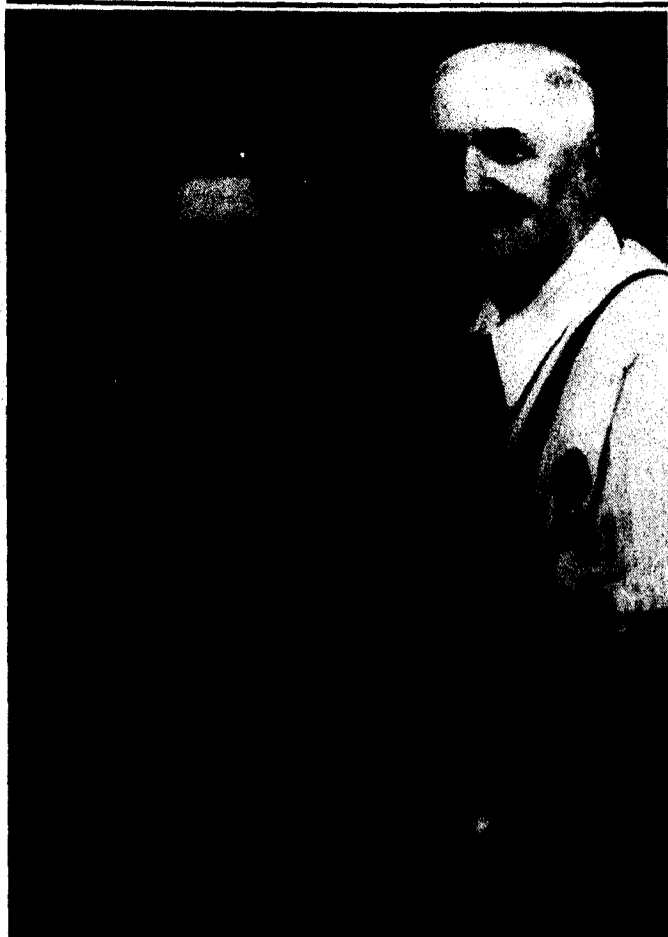

The township took the first step in creating the ordinance for residents of the area being able to qualify for Federal Flood Insurance with the passage of a resolution asking the township to be included in the federal program.

Board members also heard that 450 newsletters had been sent out to township residents and that an inventory of all township property was being made. The last inventory was done in 1970.

SANE gets funded

Governor James Blanchard, Senator Mitch Irwin, and area law enforcement officials announced a major new volley in the war on drugs in northern Michigan on Thursday during a press conference in Cheboygan.

"We have received a commitment from the Governor and the state police to assign three troopers and allocate $210,000 to the Straits Area Narcotic Enforcement undercover squad," Senator Mitch Irwin said. "This money and staffing support for S.A.N.E. will greatly help our local prosecutors and police agencies combat drug trafficking in the north."

Yesterday, when I was supposed to be dusting, I was looking out the window holding a dustcloth in my hand. And as I watched the trees shed their leaves and the squirrels gather provisions for the winter, I got to thinking about how most living things do what they're supposed to do at the time they're supposed to do it.

But somehow mankind missed the message, some of us anyway. So we make up excuses instead. But thanks to psychologists, we don't call it that anymore. We call it rationalizing, which sounds better, or more dignified at least.

We rationalizers don't do it in every area of our lives. We do most things as time and place calls for them. But just not everything.

For instance, I don't do dusting on a regular basis. Mostly, I do it before a big party or when total strangers are invited to the house. Neither happens very often.

Through the years, the tables that we've bought or made, things most people consider candidates for dusting, are either grey or light-colored wood. Their being the approximate color of dust, dusting them seems less called for as well as less rewarding than it might otherwise be.

That is, unless you consider shiny, clean surfaces important, which I don't.

Every once in a while, non-dusting does cause me some embarrassment. There was an incident last week when a friend picked up a book that had lain on a table for weeks, or maybe months. Its silhouette remained behind on the table. That's why I had the dustcloth in my hand yesterday.

I also don't do grass. I used to. I grew up in a time and place where we pushed clicking, whirring mowers around small city yards. I liked that.

Now we have an acre of yard and a mower that shakes and roars and requires shifting gears, which I don't do either. I did try the machine once. But like the dusting, I found it not my style. And for rationalizers, that's as good an excuse as any.

Everyone has his own occasions that call for rationalizing. They range from cleaning the basement to anything that society or your mate or your parents or your children think you should do that you don't want to do.

There are no rules for rationalizing. It's a suit-yourself project. There are a couple of things, though, that I want to pass along to beginning rationalizers because they work for everyone.

First, don't make up long, complicated excuses. They're too hard to remember.

Second, give the excuse one time, quickly and clearly, and that's all. There's hardly an excuse strong enough to bear

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

It's a disgrace. With all the talk about contaminated landfills, water systems and the such, we should really face up to a problem we have all contributed to at some time in our lives. We should face up to this problem post haste because it will continue to grow as long as the manufacturers continue putting out cards for the football and baseball players as well as the other things they are using to sell the product. What I am talking about, is the problem of used chewing gum. You know, that stuff you used to chew in the classroom when the teacher told you not to back in your youth. Or the stuff you started to chew when you needed something to refresh your mouth after eating onions and you were on a "hot" date. What do you do with the gum after it has lost its flavor. Besides putting it on the bedpost overnight, I mean. Why landfills are filling up fast with the remains of what used to be a moment of pleasure. Soon we will have to make applications to the Superfund to take care of the problem. The DNR will come out with some kind of regulation that will stop all of us from enjoying what was a thing of beauty when it was put into the mouth. Bubble gum, we mean, the stuff you used to blow really big bubbles and have them blow up and get all over the face and into the hair. What happens to the gum when it's done? Does it get put under the table? Or the chair? Does it get put into the wastebasket? And if it goes there, does the gum become biodegradable when it hits the landfill? Who has the answers to all these questions? My only job is to raise them, not answer them in this quest to bring up the real issues of the day. But it is about time we heard some of the questions answered. What happens to all the used gum in the world? Someone in the DNR must have some definite answer. After all, they have the answer to everything else that happens to the north country. I can come up with a few solutions myself, but I don't want this sticky subject to spread throughout the paper. And the only reason for asking all these questions is that I walked around one of our local supermarkets trying to find a wastebasket to put the used gum I had been chewing.

Let's remember our veterans

On Veterans Day, November 11, this nation pauses to recognize the services performed by a very special group of men and women.

Recent events have reemphasized just what it means to be a veteran...and to have served our nation and our flag with pride and honor.

The veterans of today are living examples of the type of service which brought our nation into being and preserved it to this day. For more than 200 years, whenever the forces of tyranny and subjugation threatened, gallant citizens have answered our nation's call. In prosperous times and in desperate days, there always have been those in the United States to risk all they had for what we all hold dear.

They answered the call. They served with honor. They kept faith with us. On this day set aside for their recognition, we have the chance to reaffirm our dedication to the principles they have helped to preserve.

Their service has been in keeping with the best traditions established in this nation more than 200 years ago, when the first generation of this country's veterans set down the tradition of the citizen soldier's defending unto death the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy.

America's veterans have fought for that still-elusive objective - the end of all wars. They fought against the recklessness of the few who would try to subject their brand of tyranny on the multitudes. Their sacrifices have not been merely to defend our nation's shores, but the champion the cause of freedom and individual dignity wherever it was threatened.

Today, there are men and women serving in the uniform of our country, stationed in outposts around the world, working to help assure that their sons and daughters may enjoy a world of peace. They will give, as today's veterans have given, until their job is complete.

Veterans - today's and tomorrow's - are the mortar that holds the foundation of our country together.

Let's look back for a moment to consider that cold, tired, hungry soldier of our nation's infancy. What would he say if he could talk to us today?

Could it be that he would begin by saying this is no time to consider reducing our commitment to maintain peace through strength? For - even in 1776 - there were voices of doubt, crying for the citizen soldier to give up his musket for a plow. But - he didn't heed those cries, not as long as his liberty was in jeopardy.

History has confirmed the wisdom of his resolute action. And the spirit of that first veteran must guide us today, no matter what the well-intentioned but misinformed may protest.

We need only to consider the news of the world today, delivered to us as free men and women by a press which is not restricted by government fiat, that we must be prepared to protect ourselves.

There are those which will call it "saber rattling," but the real enemies of peace and freedom will see it as a deterrent to waging war against us.

Today's veterans also know that their service goes beyond support of this country's efforts to maintain a position of strength in the family of nations. Today, they make up the "home team" within the community where they continue to serve the many needs of mankind.

On this very special day we pause to salute the veterans - men and women - of our nation - and our community - for their continued dedication of service in the finest tradition of America.

Marshall Sayles

There are those among us who have often asked in deep wonder: Why the guitar?

Why not a piano, a saxophone, or possibly a violin? Yes, even a zither.

What strange stirrings prompted forty-eight point three percent of all Americans to worship the guitar as the musical instrument of our time? Is man so poor and the world so foolish? Only those brave enough to ask, ask.

National advertisers used to say that anyone with ten fingers and a mouth can learn to play a guitar in twelve easy lessons; then, of course, it doesn't require too much experience to let your hair grow.

Why has the guitar out-shone the violin four ways to next Thursday? That's an honest question and must be addressed with honest answers.

He who starts on a violin today would be hard put to master it before television peters out; and since we have raised a nation of impatient youngsters, many of them would rather learn quickly than spend long hours practicing on a violin while their friends enjoy life in the fast lane.

Now, let us say "alas" for our serious minded musical students. How they must wonder if they are really in the musical stream of their own time. Especially when they know that the ears of America are made joyful with the hearing of the celebrated strum from those who have mastered the nasal drone.

But yet all things point to a wiser generation than television and radio screeching would lead one to believe.

Yes, indeed, there is a hidden virtue in this guitar strumming nation or ours. Older folks have noticed with some delight how cleverly it staves off any possible revival of the paper and comb.

It may have struck some that our country's dearth of finer music is one area in which the government is lily white.

Not so Mr. Beethoven.

Remembers Old City Park

Dear Editor: Recently I received the September 3, 1986 issue of your paper in one of many 'care' packages from home. Your Museum letters section and the front page article on the advisory vote prompts my letter. I spent my childhood on South Park street and am fortunate to have grown up with the "Old" fire station on the corner, the Town clock across from that and the train going to and from the Tannery twice each day. Sadly these are things my daughter will never see, they no longer exist. One by one they were considered too expensive to maintain or renovate. The "City Fathers" felt progress was better for our town and who was I to say differently. Now I read that "progress" is again attacking about the only things left to my childhood memories. Why do you want to destroy something few children get to see, such as the current Chamber of Commerce? How many log buildings are left in your area that are the real thing and not imitation? I now live in an area where the very things your City Council wants to do away with are now being preserved by Historical Societies. We have five parks, each within a one mile radius of my home, yet none of them compare with the park at River Street. None of them have a gazebo for band concerts, a fish pond with over-sized gold fish and a cascading fountain, nor a cannon beside a memorial to war veterans. Thanks to those who have "seen the light", the River street park no longer has them either. I remember sitting on my Grandparents porch listening to the summer concerts held in that park. Of playing tag around the gazebo while families enjoyed a warm summer evening.

Smelling the fresh popcorn and thinking one day I would be a part of the band entertaining families from that gazebo too. I never got the chance. A new band shell was built at the Lake Street park - I played my music to people in cars because it was to cold or to windy to sit on the grass.

I agree with Ms. Kostin - why must you build a new modern building when you could use an old building that may have historical value. Why must you destroy the few remaining historical originals you have left? Let the Historical Society decide what is best for itself. It may take them a few years, but when they do find the building they want it will be easily maintained and more interesting to visit.

If you must build a new building, why not put it right next to the Chamber of Commerce, repair the old building and use it as part of your museum? This would eliminate parking problems since you now have a parking lot where the old railroad building stood. Too bad it was torn down, it would have made a great museum - all that room inside and such a good location.

Hopefully, when the townspeople voted, those who have been in the community since 1950 and before, will have remembered the Tannery, Town clock, Park Street Fire Station and the train that stopped traffic twice a day five days a week. These are things your children, grand-children and great-grandchildren will only be able to see in pictures hanging in your new museum. Wouldn't it be nice if they could visit the actual site. Too many times we say "We should have." Now is

Saluting the home team

They made up our nation's "home team" to defend the cause of freedom and individual dignity during the four wars of the Twentieth Century. They are the 27 million men and women who have served honorably in the uniform of our country. They came back to make up the "home team" of thousands of American communities where they continue to serve the many needs of mankind. On this Veterans Day, 1986, we join with The American Legion in saluting the veterans of our nation and our community for their continued dedication to service for God and Country.

Cooking

DISCOVERY FOODS

When we ponder on the foods that are native to the Western Hemisphere we wonder what the people in Europe and other lands ate before Columbus; considering that our common beans, potatoes, squash, tomatoes, pumpkins, yams and peppers were not known to them.

The early settlers to the new world shores brought seeds and the cuttings of their fruit, vegetables and grains such as oats, rye and barley. Many times their early crops were a disaster and they turned to the Indian foods: fruits, nuts, vegetables, and fish, which were plentiful. And what a wonderful combination resulted.

Naturally, I am interested in what my Highland McNeil Scotch ancestors ate and how they cooked it. The oat crop was especially important to the Highlanders both here and in Scotland. It has been said that Scotland's two great gifts to the world's breakfast table are porridge (oatmeal) and orange marmalade.

So this morning I tried eating porridge the way the oldtimers from the Highlands ate theirs. They do not over-cook their oatmeal nor add hot milk to it which makes a soft "gooey mess." They have a small bowl of cold milk or cream along the side of their bowl of very hot porridge. They dip the spoon in the porridge then into the cold milk or cream for each tasty mouthful. The Scots do not use sugar, though I liked a little brown sugar on mine. I enjoyed my breakfast.

When we toured the Highlands in June a couple of years ago we noticed that there was an abundant growth of elderberry bushes, the roadsides were white with their snowy blossoms, and I wondered if they used the elderberries. I found that my Scotch cookbook has directions for the making of elderberry blossom wine and other recipes using the berries. I am sure that the early settlers here were delighted to discover them growing in their new home.

I recall that as a child I loved elderberry pie and I had almost forgotten what it tasted like. I remember that Mother put chopped apples in the pie to give it a little "tart." I know a place along a quiet country side-road where elderberry bushes grow; so this week I picked enough to make a pie. Not picking too many as I wanted to leave most for the birds. My Audubon book states, "More than a hundred species of birds feed on the fruits of the elderberry."

Elderberry Pie

Crust for a 2-crust pie
About 3 cups of elderberries
1 large apple (I used 2 small MacIntoshes) chopped
1/2 cup sugar (Use 3/4 cups if the apple is real tart)

Flour
Butter or margarine
Cover the bottom crust with 1/4 cup of the sugar and a sprinkling of flour about 1 tablespoon. Fill crust with the berries and chopped apples. Sprinkle the rest of the sugar on top with a small sprinkling of flour, less than a tablespoon. Dot with butter, cover with the top crust and bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes then lower heat to 350 and bake until fruit bubbles up in the center.

I discovered that delicious nostalgic flavor; my friends who remembered it from their childhood relished it as did one friend who had never eaten it before. My pie was a huge success; I will make another one next year.

I imagine that it did not take long for the early settlers to discover hasty pudding or corn meal mush from the Indians. Remember in the song, "Yankee Doodle Dandy" about the "Men and boys as thick as hasty pudding?"

Hasty Pudding

1/2 cup yellow corn meal
3 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix the corn meal with 1 cup of cold water. Bring the other 2 cups of water to a boil with the salt. Add the corn meal mixture. You do it this way to prevent lumping. Lower the heat and cook 10 to 15 minutes stirring most of the time. Serve with cream, butter or milk and brown sugar, honey or molasses.

If you have any left over. Pour it into an ungreased loaf pan and chill over night. Then slice the mush, dust with flour and brown in butter or bacon grease.

repeating more than once at a sitting. As Emerson write in his essay, "Prudence": "In skating over thin ice our safety is in our speed."

That's what I thought about when I was looking out the window with a dustcloth in my hand. Actually, what I was doing by looking out the window was procrastinating.

But, I didn't think about that at the time. And I don't want to think about it now. Dealing with more than one five-syllable word a week makes me dizzy.

EJ drama class treats elem. students

by Dennis Skrocki

On Friday, Oct. 31, students at East Jordan High School, along with elementary students, were given a Halloween treat as the school's speech and drama class performed a play titled, "A Halloween Special."

The play, a comedy farce, was written by the speech and drama teacher, Mary Irwin. It was conceived and adapted from the 1960s TV series, "The Munsters." Special lighting effects and colorful costumes highlighted the show.

All students involved with the play should be commended as the performance was a big hit with the students and was conducted in an orderly, professional manner.

Earlier in the year the class performed a Paul Nolan short play, "Who's Compatible?" to help the East Jordan Garden Club celebrate their 25th anniversary. The students performed the play after having only five days in which to practice.

The class is now organizing a variety talent show in which they are asking other students to participate.

Boyer Valley P.M. Lions Club gave Hugh Juday $125.00 towards the Puppy Program Hugh and Mary Juday run for the Leader Dogs for the Blind. The club also gave an equal amount directly to the school in Rochester, MI. The contributions were possible, thanks to a Halloween candy drive the club had. Bob Bobowski, the Treasurer, and Dave Williamson, Secretary, gave the check to the Judays. The club sold the candy at area businesses over a weekend period.

I know a man who was born in the gutter and raised in an attic and who spent much of his time strumming "Hard time cowboy Joe" on a washboard. One day he fell among social workers who promised succor and solace from the cradle to the grave, giving him soup and bread whenever he needed it.

After that he graduated to the steel guitar and wondered why his neighbors cursed the government.

The above was thought up by a man who failed at the piano, the violin and french horn. By a man who couldn't tell if a sharp was flat or not. One who is jealous of those youngsters making money strumming on a box with a hole in it.

Who he? Me.

PUBLIC HEARING

CITY OF BOYNE CITY

PUBLIC HEARING TO DEFINE TERM "HOME OCCUPATIONS" MORE THOROUGHLY IN BOYNE CITY ZONING ORDINANCE A-28

Monday, November 17, 1986
5:00 p.m.

City Commission Chambers - City Hall

Please take notice that a PUBLIC HEARING will be held by the Boyne City Planning Board on Monday, November 17, 1986 at 5:00 p.m. in the Commission Chambers of City Hall, 319 N. Lake Street, to consider an Amendment to the Boyne City Zoning Ordinance concerning Home Occupations. The Amendment would revise the definitions of the term "Home Occupations" as presently listed on page 4, item 25. The new wording for Home Occupations would be as follows:

Home Occupation: An occupation or profession customarily carried on by an occupant within the dwelling as a secondary use which is clearly incidental to the use of the dwelling unit for residential purposes. Such home occupation shall not have more than one (1) employee outside the family members residing in the dwelling.

There shall be no exterior display other than one (1) non-illuminated name plate or sign, which is not more than two (2) square feet in dimension and which shall be attached to the dwelling.

The space in which the home occupation is conducted shall be within the area of the dwelling used as living quarters by the family and the dwelling shall have the appearance of a single family dwelling or duplex. No addition to the dwelling constructed or used for the specific purpose of the home occupation shall be permitted.

Provided, however, an automobile storage garage which is attached to and an integral part of the dwelling may be used for operation of the home occupation provided that prior application has been submitted to, reviewed by, and approved by the Planning Commission under the standards of review required for conditional uses under Section 2.70 of this ordinance.

All home occupations shall be registered with the City Clerk on registration forms which show the use proposed, the address and area of the dwelling to be used, the site plan of the parcel and structures thereon, proposed off-street parking for the single employee (if any) and family members, and proposed area designated for parking for customers whether on-site or on the street.

In the event any home occupation shall be complained of as creating or causing a nuisance or as being conducted in a manner of a business not customarily carried on as a home occupation, then the Zoning Administrator may order the operator of such home occupation to appear before the City Planning Commission for a review of the use.

If the Planning Commission finds, following hearing thereon, that the requirements for conditional uses of Section 2.70 are not being met by the operator of the home occupation, then the Planning Commission shall have the authority to order a limit of the hours of operation, impose conditions of operation, or if deemed necessary, order a complete termination of the activity.

No home occupation shall be conducted in a multiple family structure containing three (3) or more single family residential units nor in a mobile home park licensed by the State.

Any input for or against this Zoning Amendment will be received by the City Clerk's Office, 319 North Lake Street, through 5:00 p.m. of the Public Hearing Day, either via public appearance or by mail. Statements will also be taken during the Public Hearing. Any and all comments for or against the proposed Amendment will be heard at the Public Hearing.

Should the Planning Board recommend the adoption of this Amendment, it shall be submitted to the City Commission for consideration to be adopted. There will be two readings of the Amendment, held 30 days apart at regular City Commission meetings, before final adoption. Public input will also be received at those meetings should it get by the Public Hearing.

Additional information is available by contacting the City Clerk's Office. Phone 616-582-6597 during regular business hours.

BC PTO to sponsor book fair

The Parent-Teacher Organization of Boyne City Elementary School will sponsor an Autumn Book Fair on Nov. 10, 12 and 13. The event will take place in the school media center, 930 Brockway St. from 12:30-6 p.m. on Nov. 10, 5-9 p.m. on Nov. 12, and for students on Nov. 13 from 8:30-10:30 a.m.

The P.T.O. invites all parents and visitors to attend the fair. They hope to encourage student interest in reading and in building home libraries; in addition, all profits from the sale will go to the support of P.T.O. projects at the school, such as the continuation of the RIF program.

The book fair display will include attractive new books from many major publishers in all popular price ranges - wonderful books to read or to give as gifts. All reading interests will be represented, including classics, fiction, biographies, adventure stories, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books.

Would a prestigious optical store like NuVision resort to gimmicks like coupons during their Fall Sale?

(Couldn't hurt.)

There are those who consider it a bit undignified to offer quality eyewear at a discount price.

In most cases, the people who feel this way are the people who sell eyeglasses or contact lenses. Not the people who buy them.

After all, most people in the market for designer frames welcome the opportunity to save as much as $40 on their next pair of glasses. They don't mind taking scissors in hand in order to pay $20 less for a pair of daily wear soft or extended wear contact lenses.

But, if the prospect of clipping coupons out of a newspaper strikes you as a bit unseemly, feel free to continue paying too much for the latest innovations in eye care. The rest of us will be holding these coupons in our hot little hands and heading to NuVision before the big Fall Sale ends Nov. 22.

Neuman benefit garners $31000

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER

An overwhelming response to a chili dinner originating with and served by the East Jordan Elementary staff netted over $3100.00 to help defray medical expenses for the family of Jenny Neumann. Jenny, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Neumann, is having further diagnosis and treatment in Chicago, with the hope that she will regain use of her legs.

Jenny is a sixth grader at East Jordan Elementary and so has had many of the teachers. In course of discussion about her, the idea to do something to help her family was born and the chili supper with salad bar and dessert bar was the final product. Food was donated by the staff members, some community people and by businesses.

Perhaps the old saying that "Small town take care of their own" has taken on new meaning in East Jordan. Certainly the 600 plus people who enjoyed the fellowship and the opportunity to help were living proof of the adage.

Anyone who would like to send Jenny a card can do so at the following address: Miss Jenny Neuman, Shriner's Crippled Children Hospital, 2211 North Oak Park Avenue, Oak Park, IL 60301

Karen's Place opens in East Jordan

By Eloise Rossler

For five or six years, Karen Hoffman Thonerfelt has wanted a business of her own; finally her dream is materializing. Karen has opened "Karen's Place" at the corner of Rogers, Mt. Bliss and M-32 outside of East Jordan. An interest in interior decorating led her to start the furniture and accessories (including tools) consignment business. "With the encouragement and help of family and friends and with enough money to be considered half a shoe string," Karen has opened her doors for business, offering good quality used goods, crafts, and small tools. She plans to charge 20 percent for consignments and will keep items only two months.

Karen has renovated a portion of the barn in which her business is located into both business place and created a small cozy, apartment for herself, doing the bulk of the work herself. In her spare time she makes fabric wall hangings to sell and does others craft items. Karen already does alterations for hire and plans to add upholstery to her "jobs" starting about January 1.

Karen hopes to get some craft classes going and is looking for people who do special crafts to teach classes. She also hopes to get more crafts consignments in the near future.

Karen is originally from Detroit and has settled in East Jordan within the past three years, after spending many years living in various parts of the country. Her family has migrated to East Jordan, including her mother, and they have helped her endeavor. Karen began young in the business world by making and selling doll clothes when she was seven or eight years old. She has been involved in various other things between then and the present, always maintaining her basic interests of sewing and interior designing.

Karen Hoffman Thonerfelt stands next to the sign telling what her new business is about. The business is located just outside of East Jordan on the corner of Rogers, Mt. Bliss and M-32.

If you need furniture, winter clothing, small tools or if you just like to look, stop in and see Karen Monday through Saturday from 1:00 to 8:00 p.m. If you have something to sell, give Karen a call at 536-2816.

Annual Win-Some retreat features noted author

Final plans are being made for the 15th annual Win-Some Retreat which will be held at the Boyne Mountain Convention Center in Boyne Falls, MI. Dates for the retreat are Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8.

Elisabeth Elliot, author of many books which include, "Through Gates of Splendor," "Shadow of the Almighty," "Let Me Be a Woman," and "Love Has a Price Tag," will be the featured speaker. She was born in Brussels, Belgium to missionary parents, and after completing studies in classical Greek, linguistics, and Bible, she went to Ecuador, South America as a single missionary.

In 1953, she married Jim Elliot, a missionary to the Quicha Indians, and their daughter Valerie was born in 1955. Jim and four other Americans were speared to death in 1956, as they attempted to take the Gospel to a stone-age tribe called the Aucas. Elisabeth with her daughter and Rachel Saint, went to live with the Aucas in 1958, where she worked on their language translation. She returned to the U.S. in 1963, married Lars Gren in 1977, and is now writer in residence at Gordon College, in Wenham, Maine.

Sharon Hoffman and Robin Howard of Fort Wayne, Indiana, have been using music to proclaim and praise the Lord, since 1978. Sharon studied voice at Indiana University, and received her music education degree from Fort Wayne Bible College. Robin studied piano at Butler University and graduated with a Secondary Education major.

Their contemporary music, enhanced by their classical backgrounds, has served many denominations through retreats, church services, conferences, and Christian television. Audiences throughout North America have been encouraged by their spirit of joy as they minister in music.

Six special seminars will be held to enhance the retreat theme, "Christ Our Example." Valerie Elliot Shepard, daughter of Jim and Elisabeth Elliot, will be teaching a seminar on "Christian Mothering." Other seminars will be, "Why Forgiveness? God's Answer," by Dr. Joan Mayers of Cincinnati, Ohio, Diana Helms of Columbus, Georgia will speak about "Principles of Personal Finance," Patsy Clairmont from Brighton, Michigan shares how "God Uses Cracked Pots"; Larry Poller of Petoskey will teach "Y'shua: God's Covenant Messiah," and a special video entitled "Your Friendship with God" will be presented by Gaphre' of Bethany, Oklahoma.

A special highlight of the retreat will be the Community Christian Banquet to be held at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 8. The after dinner program will include Elisabeth Elliot as speaker and Sharon and Robin with music.

More information, registration forms, and banquet tickets may be obtained by contacting your local co-ordinator Diane Bowman 582-6223 or they may be picked up at Gocha's Casuals.

The retreat is sponsored by the Neighborhood Interdenominational Bible Classes of Petoskey, and all women are invited to attend.

Sends thanks for Bible

Gail Heaton Stanhope
Fairfield, CA

Dear Editor:

A note of thanks to the person who returned my Bible.

My Bible, in its leather zipper cover, was removed from my car on October 31st. It is possible that who ever took it thought it was a purse. After finding out it was not, abandoned it.

It was returned somewhat wet, but with not much damage.

I hope that whoever returned it will contact me with more details, and May God Bless her.

Nancy Dunham

P.S. I pray that God will speak His love, thru Jesus, to the one who took My Bible. Come to 509 North East Street and hear more about the one who wrote that Bible.

Gives thanks for benefit

Dear Editor:

We wish to send a very special thank you to the students and faculty of the East Jordan Schools and to all of the wonderful people who sent their prayers, support, love and many gifts to our daughter, Jenny Lynn, during this time of need and uncertainty.

We are so fortunate to belong to such a generous and caring community. Because of all of you, Jenny continues to grow a little stronger each day.

Although the road is still quite long, each step is a little easier because of each one of you.

God Bless you all.

Likes building trades ad

Dear Editor:

That was a great fullpage ad on your back page of October 22nd issue for building trade students, teachers and principal backed by suppliers, incidentally local businessmen. This should be a real eye opener for those who should be advertising locally with community interests in mind. Students excelling in other courses could be backed in the same manner with future job considerations in view. The "Mailing shoppers" do not hold the community together - no way. Now if you can convince the businessmen of this.

Taking the first place in the Gaylord Arts Council's photo contest that was judged last week were these two pictures in the black and white division.

Colleen Ingallas of Ellsworth took a $75.00 cash prize for her picture of a dog looking in the window at the child.

Also placing in third place was this forest picture with sunlight coming through the trees taken by James Doly of Boyne Falls. He won a $25.00 cash prize for his effort.

Over 150 photos were entered in the contest, in both black and white and color. The winning photos will be displayed at Glen's Market in Gaylord for the rest of the week.

Says paper takes cheap shot

Dear Sir,

As a member of the Committee to Elect Ellen Addington, I bitterly resent your editorial, "Here's who we are supporting," in the Oct. 29 edition of the Charlevoix County Press. Your reference (with its very poor grammar) to Ellen as "what the democrats are putting up" is not only unprofessional but just plain tacky. If you feel that Ralph Ostling is the best candidate for the job and should be returned to office, then you should have said so in a positive manner and cited his qualifications and accomplishments, but instead you took a cheap shot at Ellen, and I, along with many others resent it!

At one of the parades this summer, you hollered at Ellen, "call me!", which she tried to do with no success. At the chicken barbecue in Boyne Falls, Ellen tried to speak to you, but you couldn't have cared less and spent all of your time talking to Bob Anderson. In view of the obvious lack of interest on your part, why should Ellen have "taken the time since the primary to come in and visit!"

I'm wondering if you would have been more receptive and friendly to Ellen, if she had bought and run an ad in your paper.

Elizabeth Humphrey
Editor's comment: It's funny, but hopefuls wanting to be elected to office seem to try to come to our office on a regular basis. We spoke with and saw Anderson three times during the campaign, Ostling twice, Davis or his rep once, and have spoken on the phone or received information from quite a few others, even those running for such offices as university trustees. Our recommendation was based on the fact of experience in offices held in the past. We do not send out questionnaires, as we think those seeking the office should shoulder some of the responsibility to get the word out on themselves by themselves or their staff. We do not feel it is our job to search out what candidates should be offering to the electorate. An advertisement would not have influenced our decision. It would have helped to make our community newspaper a little bigger though, as the amount of news put into the newspaper is dependent on the amount of advertising available for the week.

Misplaced wallet returned requires thanks

Dear Editor:

Recently my wife and I took a week of vacation that we spent, for the most part, in Michigan. During the trip, I misplaced my wallet. As I never carry cash in it, I do not regularly use it so I had no idea where I had misplaced it.

Upon arriving home, I proceeded with the rigors of replacing credit cards, driver's license, etc. I was confident that eventually my wallet would be found and hopefully, it would be returned. There were some pictures and momentoes in it that would be hard to replace.

Last Thursday, the postman delivered a package from the County Star Restaurant in Boyne City containing my wallet. I wish to thank all involved. Also, I am certain the finder must have wondered if there had been cash in it and someone else perhaps had removed some, but such is not the case. In fact, everything seemed exactly as it was prior to loss. Thank you once again.

Sayles chastises Davis' voting

Editor and Robert Davis,

And now Mr. Congressman Davis, it is my turn. I am one of the two-thirds majority of your constituents that called to protest giving $100 million dollars to our surrogate terrorists in Nicaragua. You ignored us completely.

Instead you rolled over and said, "Yes Sir" to Reagan. You then sent out form letters, giving three reasons why you did so.

You must think we are just plain damn fools. If you are not aware of the fact that official Washington simply does not give us the real truth about their involvement in Central America or their real goals, then you have no right to represent us and your three reasons are just so much hog-wash.

Any communique coming from the Reagan administration these days is suspect to say the very least. Their so-called disinformation, innuendos, ambiguities, avoiding the truth and "What he meant to say's," can all be boiled down to one thing - They are lying to us Mr. Davis.

It is the little people in Nicaragua that are doing the suffering and dying and are having their lives torn apart. We could help them but we prefer a war. If Communism takes over it will be because we failed the people.

Ronald Reagan, members of his administration, the C.I.A., the state department, the Pentagon, and all the greedy munition makers are causing all the grief in Central America and you Mr. Davis are aiding and abetting it. I am not only ashamed of you - I am ashamed for you.

If one vote can move you back to Gaylord Mr. Davis, you can start packing.

East Jordan clinches title share in Ski Valley

by Dennis Skrocki

The East Jordan varsity football team wrapped up its 1986 season with a 22-18 victory over the Mancelona Ironmen. The win leaves the Red Devils in a tie for the conference title with Harbor Springs. Both teams have an 8-1 record. East Jordan's loss came at the hands of Harbor Springs two weeks ago and the Rams only loss came earlier in the season against Central Lake.

The game got off to a slow start as neither team was able to mount a scoring drive on their first possession.

The Red Devils drew first blood with just under two minutes remaining in the first quarter after running backs Darren Graham, Steve Dionne and Ted Snowden combined on runs totaling 66 yards to set up the touchdown which saw Dionne go into the endzone from six yards out.

Quarterback Greg Kitson ran the ball in for the two point conversion giving the Devils an 8-0 lead.

With their first two drives coming up short, Mancelona put the next points on the board scoring a touchdown with the second quarter just getting underway as 9:45 showed on the clock. The Red Devil defense held the two point conversion attempt short of the goal line hanging on to an 8-6 edge.

East Jordan struck back quickly as, on their next drive with strong running and the help of two Mancelona penalties, they put six more points on the board as Graham trounced 14 yards to pay dirt.

Kitson hooked up with Shannon Olstrom on the two point conversion to extend the East Jordan lead to 16-6. This score lasted for the remainder of the first half.

The beginning of the second half was similar to that of the first in the fact that neither team was able to score on their opening possession.

The Red Devils, as they did in the first half, broke the ice after two unsuccessful drives as, with Mancy backed deep in their own territory, nose guard Jamie "Chainsaw" Bartlett recovered an Ironmen fumble to set up the offense with first and 10 field position at the 15 yard line.

After a gain of two yards on the first play by Graham, Dionne took it in from 13 yards out to increase the East Jordan margin to 22-6. Graham was stopped on the two point conversion attempt.

Although the Devils scored no more points in the contest, Graham brought the crowd to its feet with just under five minutes remaining in the fourth quarter as he broke the 1000 yard rushing mark for the season.

Mancy scored their final points of the game on a 30 yard TD pass with just six seconds remaining in the game. The two point conversion attempt was unsuccessful as was the on side kick attempt, leaving the Devils with a 22-18 lead, which turned out to be the final score.

Graham was the Devils leading rusher of the night picking up 100 yards on 18 carries as Dionne picked up 89 on 11 carries.

Defensively Terry Burt led the way with an astounding 21 tackle performance. Burt was followed by Dionne who also turned in a strong showing with 20 tackles. Darrin Bishop added 13 tackles as Bartlett collected 11 and came up with a fumble recovery.

On the season the Devils outscored their opponents 186-92. Graham led all scorers with 76 points as he picked up seven touchdowns and two extra point conversions and 1010 yards on 136 carries.

Dionne finished with 30 points (5 TDs) and 444 yards on 81 carries as Ted Snowden picked up 381 yards and two touchdowns and an extra point conversion on 65 carries.

Jim Raymond was the leading receiver hauling in 17 passes for 214 yards and three TDs and three extra point conversions for a total of 24 points. Olstrom caught seven passes for 88 yards, a touchdown and three two point conversions.

Defensively Burt collected 108 tackles on the year as Dionne came up with 100 and Olstrom obtained 80. Other defensive leaders were: Bishop, 75, Bartlett, 65, and Graham, 61.

EJ jayvees wind up season in first place with 8-0 record

Dennis Skrocki

The East Jordan junior varsity football team concluded its 1986 campaign in good fashion last Wednesday, Oct. 29 with a 21-6 victory over the Mancelona Ironmen. This conquest enabled the Red Devils to capture the number one spot in the Ski Valley Conference with a perfect 8-0 record.

In the early going it looked as if the Devils were in for a long night as the Mancelona offense, on the game's opening possession, mounted a drive that took up all but 57 seconds of the first quarter. After allowing the Ironmen to pick up 67 yards on a well mixed combination of running and passing plays, the Devil defense stopped the lengthy drive short on the 18 yard line giving the East Jordan offense its first possession of the evening with under a minute remaining in the first stanza.

From here the Devils wasted no time getting the ball into the endzone. Halfback Matt Bishop carried the ball 31 yards to midfield on the first play from scrimmage. On the following play, the first of the second quarter, quarterback Dan Pepin hooked up with Mark Moore on a pass good for 56 yards and the TD. Moore also added the extra point with a kick that split the uprights from 18 yards out instead of 13 as a five yard penalty was assessed on the first extra point attempt.

The Red Devil defense showed strength forcing the Ironmen to punt on their next possession. Bishop returned the punt 20 yards into Mancelona territory but due to a 15 yard clipping penalty called on a downfield blocker, starting field position was near the midfield stripe at the Devils' own 47 yard line.

On both first and second downs the Devils went with the ground game but picked up little yardage. On the third down pass attempt, Pepin was sacked for a 10 yard loss bringing up a fourth and 20 situation in which the Devils elected to punt.

East Jordan's next possession came quickly as Ted Sherman intercepted a Mancelona pass and returned it 33 yards giving the Red Devils first and 10 field position at their own 42 yard line with just 49 seconds remaining in the half.

Pepin, attempting a "hail Mary" pass was sacked for a seven yard loss with time running out. The Red Devils had to settle for the 7-0 half-time lead.

The second half opened on a bizarre play that saw Moore return the kickoff 20 yards to midfield where he fumbled the ball, Bishop picked up the fumble and picked up three more yards getting into Mancelona territory to the 47 yard line.

The Devils kept with the ground game to open the second half and were forced to punt quickly as backs Pat Russell, Don Cutler and Ryan Clark combined for 7 yards on a series of short runs coming up short of the first down.

East Jordan received its next possession at the 5:24 mark of the third quarter after the defense once again stopped the Mancelona offense and forced them to punt.

Starting in Ironmen territory at the 32 yard line, the Devils attempted to go to the air on first down but the pass, intended for Moore, fell incomplete. Then Bishop, Sherman and Brian Matheny were each called on to carry the ball. They combined for a total of 27 yards and two first downs. Pepin went back to the air connecting with Moore on a six yard completion that was called back by a holding penalty. The next attempt failed as Pepin was sacked for a 12 yard loss and the Devils were forced to punt.

The Devils next offensive series was in many respects similar to the previous one. A penalty spoiled the third down pass completion thus forcing East Jordan to punt.

With Mancelona backed up deep in their own territory, the defense caused a fumble which was picked up and returned six yards by lineman Lyle Walters, setting up first and 10 field position at the Mancelona 20 yard line.

Bishop set up his own touchdown with runs good for 16 and 13 yards, respectively, taking the ball to the one yard line where he ran in to score the first points of the second half with under four minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. The extra point kick attempt by Moore was successful and the Devil lead was extended to 14-0.

It was not long before that lead would be added upon. Matheny recovered a fumbled kickoff giving the Red Devils excellent field position at the Mancy 34 yard line. Bishop, on the first down play, displayed great balance and maneuverability as he ran into the endzone for his second TD of the game.

Moore once again added the extra point increasing the margin to 21-0. The Red Devil defense surrendered its first points of the game with just six ticks left on the clock.

They held the extra point attempt short to post a 21-6 final score. Offensively for the Devils, Bishop was the leading ground gainer picking up 108 yards or 8 carries for an average of 13.5 yards per carry. Pepin was two of four in the passing department for a total of 62 yards.

Defensively Brian Matheny led the way with an impressive 20 tackle performance. Matheny was followed by Pepin with 11 tackles, Jeff Burks with nine and Aaron Brock who came up with eight. On the season, the Devils outscored opponents 201 to 46. Bishop was the team's leading scorer with 114 points. He collected these points by leading the team in both the rushing and receiving departments, running for 781 yards and seven touchdowns and hauling in 10 passes for five touchdowns and an extra point.

Pepin completed 32 passes on 50 attempts for 636 yards and 11 touchdowns posting a fine 64 percent completion percentage.

EJ three at state run

by Dennis Skrocki

Three members of the East Jordan ladies cross country team in the state final meet in Cass City on Saturday, Nov. 1. Other members of both the women's and men's team attended to view running at its finest.

The three runners, Jody Cordova, Theresa Brennan and Renee Spence, qualified for the state run by placing in the top 15 at the regional meet in Ludington on the previous Saturday. Cordova, despite running with pain, turned in the best performance of the East Jordan runners with a 35th place finish. She was followed by Brennan who continued to show improvement with a fine 48th place finish. Spence, after tripping at the starting line, managed to regain her momentum and capture the 53rd place spot.

Coach Snarey gave his comments on the

EJ girls down Mancy

by Dennis Skrocki

The East Jordan girls' varsity basketball team was victorious 39-32 in last week's first game against Mancelona on Tuesday, Oct. 28 before falling to Harbor Springs 57-24 on Thursday. The split left the ladies record at 5-11 overall, 5-9 in conference action.

On Tuesday, the Devils fell behind early as they were outscored 13-6 in the first period. Cutting the deficit to four points (16-12) at the half, the ladies tied the score by the end of the third stanza and outscored the Ironmen in the last period to post a 39-32 final score.

Leading the Devil offense were Erin Snyder and Monica Olstrom scoring 12 points each. Also scoring were Brenda Drenth, 7, Lisa, Patton, 5, and Sara Chase, 3.

Defensively Olstrom led the way with 13 rebounds and three assists while Snyder added seven rebounds and two assists.

For Mancelona Stacy Overkson led the offense with 11 points as Jonna Schweighart chipped in nine and Kathy Tipton six.

On Thursday, after being outscored in the first two quarters, the lady Devils were unable to regain their composure and allowed the deficit to become greater with each of the last two periods with the final score ending up 57-24.

Olstrom was again the leading Devil scorer with 10 points as Snyder added eight; Kristy Burt, two; and Jenny Malpass, one.

For Harbor Springs Lisa Brady led the way with 16 points as Kelly Fineout collected 14.

How do you find flood insurance that protects your home and business?

No problem.

Because regular homeowners and business insurance policies do not protect you from flood loss, you might be all wet if you wait until the water rises to apply for flood insurance.

You can now purchase flood protection from Auto-Owners Insurance, the "No Problem" people.

So ask your local Auto-Owners agent just how his flood insurance can be "no problem" keeping you afloat if your home or business is flooded.

EJ Community Ed asking involvement

BY ANNE DINGMAN East Jordan Community Education encourages involvement in these future activities. East Jordan parents are invited to attend a "Session for Parents of Gifted Children", Monday, November 10th at 7 p.m. in the North Central Michigan College Library Conference Center. Dr. Thom Buescher, from Northwestern University's Center for Talent Development, will talk to parents about the Role of Families in Talent Development. There will be no charge for attendance, but it is necessary to register at the East Jordan Community Education office.

Community Education and Crooked Tree Arts Council will be sponsoring a bus leaving East Jordan High School at 7:15 p.m.,

November 13th, for the Boyne City Theater for the production "Broadway '87". There is no charge but registration at the East Jordan Community Education office by November 11th is necessary.

Tammy Jackson, a certified P.E. and Health Education instructor and Sports Medicine expert, will be teaching a six week Exercise to Music class for teens and adults on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursdays from 5:30 - 6:30 p.m. The class will meet Mondays in the large elementary gym and on Wednesdays and Thursdays in the small gym. Emphasis will be on stretching and toning and will not include much jumping. The cost for the 18 sessions which starts November 3rd is $15.00. Call to register at the Community Education Office, 536-2250.

Diabetes screening set

Free screening 3 p.m. tests for diabetes will be conducted at the Boyne Valley Medical Clinic on Tuesday, Nov. 4 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The free tests are sponsored by Charlevoix Area Hospital in observance of Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 2-8.

It is estimated that there are about 240,000 people in Michigan who have diabetes and don't know it. The purpose of this drive is to identify some of these in the Boyne City area and alert them to the need for proper treatment. The earlier diabetes is detected the better.

Eligible for free testing on Nov. 4 are those 18 years old and over who have not previously been diagnosed as a diabetic.

To assure an accurate test, it is important to eat a high carbohydrate meal, one with large amounts of starches and sugars, two hours before the test.

The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, frequent urination, blurring vision, constant hunger or the slow healing of cuts and scratches.

Brown Creek project started

A small, but hardworking and enthusiastic group of students, teachers and East Jordan Garden Club members began the process of cleaning up the litter in the Brown Creek Preserve on October 25. The sixth grade had been the focal grade to help with the project in a joint effort of the school and the Garden Club. In addition to picking up litter, the group also began planting spring bulbs in areas to help contain erosion and to beautify the entire area. The bulbs have been donated by a Garden Club member to be used on this project. The students were awarded for their labors by being treated to pizza after the work session was over. Certainly these young civic minded citizens should be commended for their efforts. Hopefully, even more students will be able to participate in future Brown Creek projects as it is a beauty spot for the school as well as for the entire city.
