

Wilson gets first shovel full

Turning the first spade of dirt to start the new Boyne City Museum was Loton Wilson, the originator of the project many years ago. Wilson had a few pleasant words about the project he has waited for all these many years as several other city and Historical Club officials looked on.

News Briefs

This will be a busy weekend as the annual Fly-In is held Sunday at the airport, along with a breakfast at the V.F.W. Then Monday, the new Boyne City School Boosters will be holding a Memorial Day Breakfast at the school starting at 7 a.m. until 11 a.m. So come on out, see the airplanes, have breakfast, then have another breakfast the next day with the school boosters.

Milk, cheese, rice and butter are on the list of food to be given away next Wednesday at Boyne City, East Jordan, and Charlevoix to those who have qualified for the free food program.

Jim Milliman, of the Rowe Inn in Ellsworth, placed third in the all-Michigan Meal Contest held recently near Detroit.

A petition drive, known as the "Extend Your Michigan Summer", which would require school systems to start the school year off after Labor Day was kicked off today in Alpena. The drive hopes to get 240,000 signatures for this initiative petition drive. Once certified, the legislation will go to the legislature for approval. The Governor does not have veto power over the measure.

Farmers Home Administration is inviting eligible farmers in the county to become nominees for election to the FMHA County committee. The group assists in the determination for loans the agency makes.

This was one of those weeks. Those times you wish you could forget. Our entire typesetting department broke down, and the only way we got the paper completed was due to the Boyne Valley Printing Company which allowed us to use a piece of their equipment. Thank you, Phil.

BC planners okay new B & B rules

Boyne City planners recommended to the City Commission a new finalized version of a Bed and Breakfast Ordinance at their monthly meeting Monday night.

The ordinance will become part of the zoning rules for the community and contain wording that would only allow B & B's to be at least 300 feet apart. They almost must conform to look like the housing in the neighborhood in which they are placed.

Some additional wording will be added to the proposed rules before it goes to the City Commission at the June night meeting that would allow the Zoning Board of Appeals to grant a variance to allow lesser distances between two B & B's.

Planners also approved the site plan for a renovation of a building at 306 S. Lake, next to the American Legion. John Lorenger, Traverse City, appeared in front of the board to show what he intends for the building. He is considering a delicatessen store at the site, but isn't yet sure of the use he will put to the building after completion.

He is planning a total renovation he said of the structure which will end up with a Victorian, early Boyne design. Lorenger said he hopes to have the building completed by the first of July.

The planners also recommended to the City Commission the granting of a six year industrial tax abatement for RBI, Inc. The building was approved pending the owner bring to the city a letter from an engineer to certify the energy savings of the construction. The building is located in the new Air/Industrial Park in Boyne City.

In other action, the board is sending a message to the commissioners that they think the town needs a noise ordinance to help control unnecessary noise around the city.

They also discussed what could be done about a dumpster located at the White Manor Apartments, saying that the owner should follow the original site plan he had presented to the board. The board also asked that the dumpster be screened on all four sides from public view.

They also heard a discussion concerning the installation of curbing along Lake Street in front of the two plants. The planners were told that was not part of the plans at this time as the city is trying to engineer the installation of an insert into the leaking sewer mains instead of ripping up the roadway with digging. City Manager Randy Frykberg told the planners the area would need extensive dewatering as the main is about twenty feet under the water level of the lake. Because of the expensive dewatering, the city is looking into other ways to correct the problems. He told the planners that curbing was not high on the list of priorities as the town was trying to correct the infrastructure problems. Frykberg was asked by the planners to look into having a traffic expert come to the area to help decide and develop a plan around the plants and the Glen's Market area to help with traffic control.

The planners also nominated three buildings as their part of looking for some of the most improved and best looking houses and buildings around town for the first Marvin Loding Awards. Planners also said they are still looking for other entrants to the contest and residents have until June 1 to submit their entries. So far, the planners are considering the Woodbury home for residential, the Atrium Mall for retail/commercial, and the new LexaMar plant for manufacturing. Planners are hoping the city residents will submit more names to be considered before the deadline.

If you had a child in school last Friday, chances are pretty good that he participated in the Boyne City Schools' 150th birthday project when he made a part of the state on the school grounds. This picture, taken by photographer Ray Valentine from an airplane, shows how the state looks when it is tucked in next to the elementary school.

Ground broken for BC museum

Ground was broken for Boyne City's new historical museum by Loton Wilson, a member of the Boyne City Historical Board and the one who has wanted Boyne City to have a museum for many years, since his retirement from City Hall.

The museum is being built along side of the present City Hall and is expected to be completed sometime this year, according to Wilson.

1st step taken in Wilson rezoning

The first step was taken towards the approval of an 180 unit condominium project when Wilson Township planners finally approved recommending a rezoning request for a forty acre parcel of land situated next to Boyne City on Hull Street at a special meeting held last Saturday.

The rezoning approval came after residents, who had appeared at the meeting to voice their concerns, were told the only thing that could be discussed at the meeting was the merits of the rezoning request, not what was proposed to be built on the land.

The meeting was the third attempt to rezone the property as the first two meetings were voided after it was learned neighboring residents were not given proper notification of the meeting.

About thirty residents of the township showed up to protest the change, but Bob McCullough served as a spokesperson for the group. He said he had a list of 60 people he represented.

McCullough submitted a petition from property owners saying they did not want the land rezoned. He also said 95 percent of them did not want to see the land annexed into Boyne City.

Greg Smith, a neighbor to the proposed development, said the condominium project would not work. He cited his 17 years of condominium living and he felt the project would need special features like the lake, a golf

Tisrons celebrating 50th anniversary

The children of Joseph and Phyllis Tison are planning to celebrate the 50th Wedding Anniversary of their parents with a reception on Saturday, the 23rd of May. Relatives and friends are extended an open house invitation to join the happy couple between the hours of 2 and 6 p.m. at the Boyne Falls School cafeteria, Boyne Falls, Michigan. Joseph C. Tison, son of Charles and Rose Tison, and Phyllis T. Goff, daughter of Clyde and Itlay (Silvers) Goff were born, raised and attended school in Boyne Falls. They were later united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage in Boyne City on May 22, 1937.

The couple were residents of Boyne Falls until 1942, when they moved to Beaver Island. They returned to Boyne Falls in 1944, and settled permanently in Boyne City in 1945. Joseph is retired from the Charlevoix County Road Commission in Boyne City, Michigan. Phyllis is retired from Montgomery Wards in Petoskey, Michigan. The couple has 5 children, 18 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Acquaintances and co-workers are also invited to celebrate the longevity of this happy union.

Engagement announced

JOANNE MARIE REBEC

Mrs. Mildred Harris of 404 Esterly St., East Jordan announces the engagement of her daughter, Jo Anne Marie Rebec, to William (Butch) Louis Breakey. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Breakey of 117 Cooperage St., East Jordan.

The bride-elect is presently employed at the City of East Jordan. Her fiancé is also currently employed at the City of East Jordan. The couple plans to be married June 27 at the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Mary Snover and daughter Connie attended the graduation exercises of Port Huron College earlier in May, as Mary's daughter, Karen Lang, was among those graduates of the department of nursing.

Gloria Feaver and Milly Greer of Thunder Bay, Ontario, Canada spent several days here visiting their mother and mother-in-law, Rita and Monte Townley.

On Saturday night, many gathered at the Free Methodist Fellowship Hall for a farewell potluck dinner and program for Darryl Thompson and wife, Marci, who are leaving this week for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they have both accepted positions with the Neolens Company.

Mrs. August Johncheck and daughter, Dorothy Hawkins, spent a long weekend in Greenville, Ind. visiting their daughter and sister, Hilda Johncheck.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Frantz spent a few days this past week visiting friends in Indiana.

Mrs. Anna Pratt of Litzenburger Place injured her back by falling in her apartment this last week and is a patient at NMH.

David Day and wife, Linda, and two daughters of Traverse City were here over the weekend visiting his mother, Sally, and family.

There will be no more scores for the senior bowlers, as many have joined a bowling league for the summer months. Thursday's bingo winners at the mealsite were: 1st regular-Rudy Sterley; 2nd-Jenny Jodway; 3rd-Josephine Markey; 4th-Barbara Ross; and 5th-Alta Skye. The two specials were won by Jenny Jodway and Dane Earl, respectively, and the cover all went to Leonna Griffen. This week's caller was Lyle Ross, who filled in for Ham Dodds, who was on the sick list.

Jim and Jean Taylor of Sault Ste. Marie were here on Sunday to visit his mother, Mrs. Garnet Taylor, and to attend the BAC-PAC fund raiser breakfast at One Water Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett (Carol Lindsay) Hill of St. Joseph were weekend guests of her sister, Margaret, and Paul Ansell.

The Boyne area AACA (Antique Auto Club of America) enjoyed their first outing by touring the Traverse City area.

On Sunday afternoon, Jean Reidel hosted a recognition dinner honoring her son-in-law, Jay Higgins, upon his graduation from Central Michigan University. Attending were her daughter, Debby Higgins; David and Wendy Reidel; and Pat and Maurie Tomkins and children, Bethany and Lyndsay.

A group of relatives attended the North Central Michigan College graduation exercises held at the Bay View Auditorium on Friday night, in the interest of Shiela Webber, and also the reception that followed at the college cafeteria.

The RLDS "45 plus" group, which included the northern district, held a weekend retreat at the Park of the Pines. The theme for the weekend "You Shall Receive My Power and Be My Witness" was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Rosenberger of Clio.

Clara Rolls, Katherine Spaniak, and Laura Eggers were among those attending the Tulip Festival in Holland on Monday, via Le Coche Tours. They enjoyed the Liberty Quilt Show, a special showing of the 51 winning quilts, including the $20,000,000 first prize quilt in honor of the Statue of Liberty's Centennial Celebration. They also visited a Dutch Village, and enjoyed folk dancing, a Netherlands exhibit, various rides, craftwork and many other attractions of the festival, including the beautiful Veldheer Tulip Farms.

The co-workers of Ann Jenkins showered her with gifts, cards, flowers and well wishes at a potluck lunch upon her last day of work on Wednesday, May 13th. Ann is retiring after putting in 10 1/2 years at Allied Bendix Courter, and has lots of exciting plans for the future, which includes some travel. That same evening Ann, Bonnie Cool, Brenda Lowing, and three other friends celebrated their May birthdays with dinner in Petoskey.

The fundraising BAC-PAC breakfast held at One Water Street on Sunday was a great success! The Boyne Area parents, members of the community, and teenagers themselves, have been very supportive of this program. BAC-PAC is a program which offers good alternative choices to drugs and alcohol. All proceeds and donations are used to provide in keeping the chemical free dances, the How to Say No Program and similar projects going.

Bob Mathers, Jr. attended a customer's satisfaction and parts and service award dinner in Detroit over the weekend.

Jottings

BY JIMSILBAR

Are you one of those who was brought up with the tradition of either listening to, or watching the Indianapolis 500 every Memorial Day?

I will admit I am one who has always listened to the "Greatest Spectacle in Racing" since I can remember. It was always the thing to do when you wondered about those brave men who defied everything for speed.

Now everyone on the Boyne City Police Force knows about my love for speed. I think I have supported the library a couple of times since moving here so many years ago.

But, I guess my love for Indy comes from the many years of listening to the radio and all of the announcers telling about each car as it comes through the corners.

Corner one reporting on Jimmy Clark's Lotus, then corner two, then corner three and finally corner four and the main straightaway. It seemed like we were riding along with the driver as he fought the car in the turns and floored it down the straights.

Nowadays, I think the drivers just floor the pedal all away around the track. The technological advances in handling and adhesion just make the cars the easiest thing in the world to drive, if you listen to the drivers.

I don't know if I would want to go a couple of hundred miles an hour around a track with a cement wall on the outside, though.

I hope I have matured enough to let the other guy go that fast.

But, back to the ease of driving one of those cars. I had an opportunity once to drive an Indianapolis/USAC/Cart type of Championship race car, but the darn thing was sitting without having any oil in the transmission so I couldn't make it go.

I will say it was the most comfortable automobile I have ever had the opportunity to sit in, and I think I have been in the driver's seat of a lot of great cars.

I was supported in every way possible. My arms, my back, my legs, my neck, and my head had support. Even the sides of my legs, arms, and torso were supported.

It was neat.

I only wish I had had an opportunity to drive it. Like around the block or something.

Meanwhile, I'll just have to listen, and then watch the race...like millions of others.

Americans have always been touched by the plight of the homeless whoever and, in this case, whatever they may be. So it's not surprising that they have followed with interest the travels of the barge, the Break of Dawn.

These homeless bear no resemblance to the usual walking, talking variety being as they are the unmoving cargo atop the barge—bags and bags of trash. Silent, but not slight, the bags weigh 3,196 tons collectively, a figure which includes some garbage bags, the contents of which are well-ripened now after many weeks at sea.

For the record, Federal environmental inspectors say that the baled trash is nontoxic, so it presents no danger. Still, a number of municipalities have been unwilling to take it in, unwilling to take another's castoffs in the form of trash. Each one has plenty enough as it is without accepting any spares from Islip, New York, which is where the trash originated.

The whole affair began last November when Islip city officials voted to no longer accept commercial refuse at the municipal dump. This meant that professional trash haulers were locked out of their dumping ground. So a lot of trash collected between November and March when a local contractor, Waste Alternatives, Inc., set out to dispose of it.

This company usually gets rid of excess trash by trucking it off to less populated states like Ohio and Pennsylvania, which seems pretty sneaky. But it's common practice in the heavily populated Northeast. This time, though, it had a buyer, an Alabama contractor, who set up a lower cost deal

Remembrances

One of the first jobs a young lumberjack probably had when he started out in the lumber camps was to peel the hemlock bark off the logs so it could be sent to Boyne City to be used in the tanning process. This crew of youngsters took some time out of the day, back around the turn of the century, to pose for this picture. According to an old lumberjack, it was a grueling job during the hot summer.

Marshall Sayles

Now that you have come in, have a seat and we shall discuss Monday's observance of Memorial Day.

Who can speak of that special occasion without recalling Boyne City's unknown soldier standing life size on a large base at Maple Lawn where so many of our fallen now rest in peace?

The seventy-one year old granite memorial was not placed in remembrance of those who fell in World War I or the second World War. The uniform is that of the Civil War.

The one-day special recognition of our soldiers began nation-wide one hundred and nineteen years ago when General John A. Logan, Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued an order designating May 30th as one in which the graves of soldiers would be decorated. Boyne City veterans have been faithful to that directive for many decades.

Forty-eight years after the General's decree a statue of an unknown soldier was placed at Maple Lawn by "patriotic citizens of Boyne City and Community". The year was 1916.

Changes have been made since the citizens took it upon themselves to install the monument.

Memorial Day events, which for many years centered around the unknown soldier, now are also held at Veteran's Park near the shores of Lake Charlevoix.

The government changed observance of Officer Logan's Memorial Day. This year it falls on Monday, May 25th, leaving the unknown soldier nearly unobserved on that day originally set aside for special recognition, May 30th.

Those who have read the inscription on the monument's base may have forgotten the words:

"Erected in the year of 1916, in honor of the defenders of the Union, 1861-1865, by the patriotic citizens of Boyne City and Community, under the auspices of the Woman's Relief Corps Number 195, Department of Michigan."

On this Memorial Day, seventy-one years later, the Civil War's unknown soldier of Maple Lawn still stands tall and unblemished, honoring all of Boyne City's area war dead.

Now, aren't you better informed than before you came in?

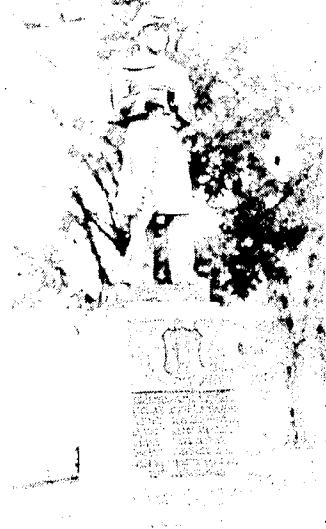

Memorial Day

If our children ask what these markers mean, our answer should be that each of these reminds us that once upon a time there was a person who served, a person who died that we might live in a land that is free.

Composer, lyricist Anderson at East Jordan May 21

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER
Candace Anderson, singer and composer from Kalamazoo, will present "A Sampler of Michigan Women—Their Lives Through Songs" in the East Jordan High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, May 21, public invited with no charge.

Through research Ms. Anderson has prepared an historically accurate composite of the various women in Michigan's past, spanning diverse personalities from Sojourner Truth to a Finnish cook in a lumber camp to Ms. Anderson's own grandmother. The common and the uncommon women have earned a place in Ms. Anderson's lively musical approach to Michigan's history.

Ms. Anderson is a serious student of music, especially folk music and encompassing country, bluegrass, jazz, and rock and roll. She has won folk and gospel music contests in Tennessee and Michigan and is a favorite in folk festivals around the state. Ms. Anderson writes her own lyrics and composes her own music. She has appeared all over Michigan giving her "Sampler" program to school groups and adult audiences.

Dressed in a nineteenth century costume to represent one of her Michigan ladies, she entertains and teaches. Her musical style for each personality is as well researched as the woman's background giving the program an exciting variety of musical directions.

A combination of grants from the Michigan Council for Arts Touring Arts Agency makes it possible for East Jordan Community Education to bring Ms.

Anderson to the school in the afternoon and to the public in the evening.

For an hour's entertainment and move through history, don't miss Candace Anderson.

to ship it to a southern dump in North Carolina. And it was decided that barge would be the best way of shipping it.

Because the trash was shipped in such an unusual way and because there was such a whopping load of it to be going on one conveyance, reporters considered it newsworthy and kept the public informed of its whereabouts. As a result, six southern states, North Carolina being the first, were alerted to its approach and had time to prepare official orders barring it from unloading at their ports.

Then the barge headed for foreign soil. Mexico, being forewarned, called out the Coast Guard for protection. The little Central American country of Belize, upon hearing that it was about to be invaded by a floating trash truck, turned to its Air Force for help.

After one more unsuccessful try for dumping privileges at a small island in the Bahamas, the crew of the Break of Dawn apparently gave up on foreign ports. It was last seen lumbering north along the North American coastline.

By now, cargo and barge have probably become nigh onto in-

RHUBARB

The earliest historical record about rhubarb came from China about 2700 B.C., where its roots were used for medicines. It came to Europe much later, to Italy about 1600. Maybe the reason for this was the fact that the leaves and roots of rhubarb is poisonous; only the stalks are edible. About 25 or 30 years later it was well known in England and used for pies and tarts. It became widespread in the colonies during the 1700s.

I have been thinking of another reason why it did not become popular earlier in history, the fact is that it really needs quite a lot of sweetening. I recall that during W.W. II we did not fix rhubarb because sugar was rationed and we used it sparingly.

Now, I am one of the many who long for that sweet-tart taste of early spring rhubarb, or pie plant as people called it. The first fruity taste of spring. Rhubarb is a perennial and does not adapt to warm climates. It requires a winter's rest with a long cold period to thrive year after year. So our northern Michigan grows it to perfection. We also discovered that it grew in Scotland. We were amazed to see the size of rhubarb plants growing in the grounds at Dunvagan Castle on Isle of Skye; leaves were a foot or two in width. We were not surprised when rhubarb pudding with cream was served that night at Oig Hotel. Which reminded me of

RHUBARB PUDDING

She made this with the first tender shoots before the plants provided enough for a pie. Mother made her pudding in a pudding dish or what she called a milk pan. These pans were used to pour their milk in and to set until the cream rose to the top. Then the cream was spooned off to make butter—this was before the cream separator was invented. They were like a large cake pan with sides 3 1/2 to 4 inches high.

She lined the bottom of the pan with cut up rhubarb; sprinkled generously with sugar; then put spoonfuls of biscuit batter on top. She baked it in a hot oven until the biscuits were golden brown. She served this pudding with fresh cream. This was my father's favorite dessert for dinner at noon on the farm.

I have made this pudding using biscuit mix with a little sugar and butter added to the batter, though I have had to settle for a dab of whipped topping for the cream.

I have been saving this next recipe for the fresh rhubarb. I hope you like it; an extra plus to the old fashioned pudding.

RHUBARB CRISP

Filling:
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 eggs, beaten

1 tablespoon butter, melted
4 cups diced rhubarb
Topping:
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup softened butter
Make filling:
Combine sugar, flour, salt, lemon juice, eggs and butter; mix in rhubarb. Pour into 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan or 9 inch pie pan.
Make topping:

Mix until crumbly all ingredients listed. Sprinkle over filling. Bake at 375° about 50 minutes, until crisp and brown.

Here is one more recipe for a rhubarb dessert; similar to the previous one, except this one is made with oatmeal, making the top a little more crumb-like.

RHUBARB CRUNCH

1 cup flour
3/4 cup rolled oats
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
6 cups small cubes of rhubarb, about 2 lbs.
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup orange juice or apple juice
3 tablespoons cornstarch
In medium bowl, combine flour, oats and brown sugar; cut in butter with pastry cutter or two knives until mixture resembles coarse gravel. Press 3/4 mixture into bottom of a 9 x 13 inch baking pan. Cover evenly with cubed rhubarb and set aside.

In medium saucepan combine sugar, orange or apple juice and cornstarch; bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened and clear. Pour evenly over rhubarb and sprinkle with flour mixture. Bake at 350° about one hour, until bubbly and lightly browned on top. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

I wanted something different made with rhubarb so I made this dessert adapting a couple of old time recipes. This is easy to make and so good to have handy when warm days arrive.

RHUBARB MOUSSE

1 cup cooked rhubarb
Sugar to taste (1/2 cup or more)
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
Cut the rhubarb in 1/4 inch slices and cook in just enough water to cover the bottom of the pan. It makes its own juice and needs to cook only about 10 minutes. Cool. Sweeten to taste. Whip the cream until stiff, add the cooled rhubarb, sweeten with some powdered sugar if it needs it. Stir in 1/2 teaspoon almond extract. Pour into a mold and freeze without stirring. This tastes best if partially thawed before serving.

separable what with the contents of the garbage bags likely to have oozed out and stuck onto the planks of the barge. Certainly the odor has, at least. So while Americans don't usually take kindly to incineration as a solution to the homeless plight, most would no doubt agree that burning the whole shebang presents the best answer in this case.

It would seem a stirring finale to the saga if carrier and cargo were hauled out to sea and one fine morning, just before sunrise, the Break of Dawn and company were set afire.

Walleyes were planted in the new man-made walleye pond located on the peninsula between East Jordan and Boyne City as the TV camera rolled. 150,000 fry were put into the pond that was built on property owned by Norman Lawton. Looking on at the plant is Elmer Hammontree as the DNR fisheries officer released a bag full of fish into the pond. In about six weeks the pond will be drained and the three to four inch walleyes will be put into Lake Charlevoix.

opening contest as Ram hitters shelled pitcher John Cupps for ten hits. The hits, along with four Ram errors and two walks, were good for eight runs.

Defense also played an important part as the Devils held Harbor scoreless throughout the game on their way to an 8-0 victory.

Kitson collected the pitching win going five innings before leaving with a knee injury. Pepin came on in relief.

Pepin led the way offensively with three hits as Skrocki added two and John Hribljan, Bartlett, and Mark Moore added one each.

Ram hurler John Clancy shut down the Devil offensive attack in the nightcap allowing only two hits while striking out 13.

Bishop also hurled a fine game giving up only four hits and striking out seven. The crushing blow was a fourth inning solo home run by Clancy that gave the Rams a 1-0 victory.

Pepin and Steve Shepard collected the Devils' hits.

This week the Devils will travel to Traverse City St. Francis on Monday for district tournament action before hosting Boyne City on Thursday.

Valentine to join in photographing Michigan

Ray Valentine, a professional photographer in Boyne City, has been selected as one of only thirty professional photographers to participate in the biggest professional photography project in the history of Michigan. The name of the project is "A Sesquicentennial Portrait-MICHIGAN". Thirty of Michigan's professional photographers will be covering the entire state of Michigan in a twenty-four hour period on June 1, 1987.

The compilation of this work will result in a traveling print show which will open at the state capitol in September. A select group of some 15,000 images created that day will travel around the state to celebrate Michigan's Sesquicentennial. It is also anticipated that sufficient corporate underwriting can be obtained to publish a book of photos similar to the Time-Life publication: A DAY IN THE LIFE OF AMERICA. A multimedia presentation will also be produced as part of the project.

Each of the thirty professional photographers has been assigned a specific area to photograph during this twenty-four hour period. Mr. Valentine's area is the central Upper Peninsula from Seney to Iron River.

Boyer City at Petoskey for track regionals

BY SCOTT KNIPE

Last Tuesday the Boyne City track teams traveled to Petoskey for the Petoskey Relays, a meet consisting of nothing but relays.

Boyer City did not fare so well in Petoskey, and it went to show that a great part of their point scoring was lost due to the absence of field events.

For the boys, the mile medley team placed sixth; the mile relay team took fifth; the 880 relay team took sixth; and they ended the day at the bottom, in eighth place.

The girls scored better, taking seventh place out of eight teams, but the girls were staggered badly even more so than the guys because of the field event loss, which they sometimes dominate.

For the girls, the mile medley team took fourth; sprint medley team took sixth; 440 relay team took sixth; mile relayers placed fifth; and in the 880 another sixth was grasped.

Saturday showed Boyne at the Regionals held in Kalkaska, from which they emerged eleventh out of the seventeen competing teams.

Mike Deschryver seemed to dominate the boys' placements, taking a fourth in the 100 m. dash, 3rd in the 400 m. dash, and a fourth in the 200 m. dash. It was in the 200 meter dash that Mike qualified for the state finals, with a time of 23.38 seconds.

Also adding to the boys' scoring was Travis Hartman, who took a sixth in the mile run.

On the girls' side of the meet, Angela Reich took a fourth place in the discus and a 5th in the shot put. Her distance in the shot put put her into state qualification also.

Rounding things out, Kelly Smith took fourth in the 400 m. dash.

Tuesday, the 19th, is the Michigan Huron Shores conference meet, which is the last regular meet of the season, and on the 30th, Angela and Mike go to the State Finals in Bangor.

East Jordan girls' softballers split games with Inland Lakes Bulldogs

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

In conference action last week the East Jordan girls' softball team split a double-header with Inland Lakes on Monday before dropping a pair to Harbor Springs on Friday.

The ladies dropped the first game to Inland Lakes by a score of 13-10.

Jeanne Healey suffered the pitching loss for E.J. as Sue Hope collected the victory.

Kristy Burt and Shelly Malpass led the way offensively with two hits each as Billie Jo Crawford and Brenda Drenth added singles.

The ladies came back strong in the second contest as they captured a 19-1 victory with Healey on the mound once again.

Burt led the Devils with two hits as Jari Chanda, Nikki Burr, Jill Burt, Drenth and Malpass collected one each.

At Harbor Springs the girls lost by respective scores of 17-5 and 9-5.

Healey suffered both pitching losses while Lisa Brady collected both wins for Harbor.

Jill and Kris Burt accounted for the Devils' only hits in the first game with one each as Healey collected the lone hit in the second contest.

This week, E.J. will host Boyne City on Thursday before again matching up with the lady Ramblers on Friday in district tournament action.

EJ runners finish 2nd at Petoskey

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

The East Jordan men's track squad captured second place overall last Tuesday at the 36th Annual Petoskey Relays.

The Devils captured the second place spot with 60 points, behind the first place Charlevoix (65 points). Also involved in the Class C bracket were: Rogers City (50), St. Ignace (23), Kalkaska (19), Onaway (9), Harbor Springs (7) and Boyne City (4).

E.J. celebrated two individual victories as Jim Raymond captured first place in the 120 yard high hurdles and Dave Freel took the 100 yard dash.

The team of Freel, Darren Graham, Dave Galmore, and Shannon Olstrom took top honors in the sprint medley as the mile relay team of Raymond, Freel, Olstrom, and Kelly Har- chis placed second.

The mile medley team also captured second place as fourth place finishes were accomplished in the 3/4 mile medley and 880 relay events.

The team traveled to Kalkaska on Saturday to compete in the State Regional competition.

Here, against tough competition, Raymond placed third in the high hurdles with a time of 15.8 as Freel placed sixth in the 100 meter dash with an 11.8 time.

The 800 relay team of Raymond, Freel, Graham, and Dave Galmore finished in the fifth place spot. The 3200 meter relay team finished with a time of 8:48 but did not place.

No Devils placed in the discus, shot put, or pole vault events.

Horton Bay social to benefit 4th parade

There will be an Old-fashioned Ice Cream Social at the Bay Township Hall in Horton Bay on Saturday afternoon from noon until 5 p.m. Ice cream cones and sundaes with a large choice of toppings will be served, including the original "Big Foot Sundae". Video showings of last year's Fourth of July Parade and this year's Windigo Hunt will provide entertainment throughout the afternoon. Proceeds from the Social will help defray the costs of this year's Fourth of July Parade.

Red Devils split with Harbor Springs 6-2, 5-4

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

Last week in Ski-Valley Conference action, the East Jordan baseball squad dropped both ends of a double-header to Inland Lakes on Monday before splitting with Harbor Springs on Friday.

In the first game against Inland Lakes the Devils were down from the beginning as Mike Conners connected on a first in-ning, two run homer.

The Bulldogs ad- ded two more runs in both the fourth and fifth innings. The Devils scored lone runs in the fifth and seventh innings enroute to the 6-2 defeat.

Matt Bishop suffered the pitching loss for E.J. going the distance giving up six hits and five walks while striking out eight.

Jamie Bartlett led the Red Devil offensive attack with three singles as Dan Pepin added two, and Bishop, Steve Dionne, Dennis Skrocki and Mark Moore con- tributed one hit each.

After gaining a comfortable 4-0 lead after two innings in the second game, the Devils were held scoreless through the remainder of the contest as the Bulldogs put three runs across the plate in the third and one in each of the fifth and sixth in- nings to take a close 5-4 victory.

Kitson took the loss for the E.J. Devils, allowing six hits and giving up five walks while striking out five.

Bishop turned in an outstanding offensive performance in the nightcap going 4 for 4 with three singles and a triple.

Kitson added two in the losing cause as Dionne and Pepin

Jack Van Hoesen spends a lot of time on the drawing board as he works out another wildlife illustration. He will be showing off his artwork at a one-man show this weekend at Chandler's in Petoskey. The former Horton Bay native is planning on returning to the area after living in Alaska and Montana for the last ten years.

Local wildlife artist returns to northern Michigan area

After leaving the shores of Lake Charlevoix near Horton Bay twenty years ago, Jack Van Hoesen was painting as a hobby. He left the area to become a nationally known wildlife artist when he was in Alaska.

Now living in Montana, the Horton Bay native returned recently for a one-man show to be held at the Chandler's Wildlife Gallery in Petoskey, May 29 and 30.

Van Hoesen has brought back an impressive resume, as his art has appeared in many national magazines, the Southfield Michigan Wildlife Habitat Art Festival and showings at several other northern Michigan art galleries.

The paintings he will be showing at Chandler's represent

No decision reached in Boyne Falls superintendent hiring

Students in Boyne Falls may have an opportunity to wear shorts to school after the Boyne Falls School Board approved of the idea at last Monday's monthly school board meeting.

The approval is pending on the students presenting the idea to the board, meeting with the school principal to work out details. The plan would then allow the students to wear shorts that are not more than three inches above the knees on a trial basis between now and the end of the school year.

Other rules will apply, according to Rhonda Dowson, one of a group presenting the idea to the board. Those rules will include the times of the year when shorts are acceptable, and the appearance of the shorts. She said shorts with holes or those that are too tight would not be allowed.

In service

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Michael K. Kelley, whose wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Thomas and Darlene Denike of 00647 Belet Road, Boyne City, has been designated an Enlisted Aviation Warfare Specialist.

Kelley received the designation while serving with Air Anti-Submarine Squadron-28, Naval Air Station Cecil Field, Florida.

A 1976 graduate of Boyne City High School, he joined the Navy in July 1977.

The board approved the request after the details are worked out with the principal who will then turn the proposed rule change over to the Ways and Means Committee of the school board for final approval.

In other action, the school board heard an update on their search for a new superintendent but still have not made a decision as to who it should be.

They did agree to borrow $404,000 to cover the cost of school operations as part of a tax anticipation resolution. The money would be borrowed for a period starting July 15 until April 1988.

They also agree to purchase a new computer system for the office following the recommendation of a computer expert. They will be buying a Tandy computer system with a $4,575 accounting software package that will allow the school to maintain their own books easier and faster. The system would be paid for out of this year's school budget and next year's. Total cost for the system is $6,855.

They also agreed to purchase new classroom texts if the budget still allows them the money to purchase the new books.

Other items also suggested for purchase include a separation wall between the computers and the typing classes, the purchase of three to five more typewriters and new wall maps.

Board members then agreed to change some of the names of classes to better reflect what they are. Advanced Office Procedures was changed to Accounting and Typing to Advanced Typing/Word Processing.

Another change being made for the 1987-88 school year is the location of the art and science rooms. The two rooms are being changed as the present art room would make a better lab room for the science students.

The board also agreed to a second section of Kindergarten if the 39 anticipated students come into the system next year. The Financial Committee was instructed to try to find the money to fund the change.

Two other requests were tabled, pending the outcome of costs. One would bring in a portable classroom that was donated to the school by the Allied Bendix Courter division. That room would become a kindergarten as well as a band room.

The second request was to start up a new preschool program using Chapter One Funds.

Board members then agreed to a special In-Service Day to be held May 28th.

They then appointed the election officials for the upcoming school board election, raised the pay for substitute teachers next year to $42.00 per day and learned that four more rooms will be carpeted by the Boyne Falls PTO.

course, and other things in order to make the project saleable.

All of the comments were made after Sue Genc, the new chairman of the planning commission told the audience the only questions that could be asked would be those concerned with the land, and not the project proposed for the land. She said those questions would come in front of the commission later.

She read a written statement of the procedures that the planning body wanted to follow and said the planners would follow a criteria for rezoning prepared by Larry Sullivan of the County Planning Department.

Many members of the audience couldn't understand why they weren't allowed to speak against the project, which they thought was a change in the procedure.

Gil Redmer, representing the R.F.G. Development Company asked to have the land rezoned from R-1, single family residences, to R-4, multiple family residences. He did not review what his project was at the meeting. Redmer stated he would follow any requirements as set by the commission.

After an hour of discussion hearing from area residents, the public hearing was closed and the planners brought out the criteria which Sullivan suggested they use.

They went through the 14 questions that made up the Sullivan list, answering each one the best they could.

They then had to agree to the rezoning request, based on those questions.

The rezoning recommendation made by the Wilson Township planners will now go to the County Planning Commission for their decision and then will be brought back to the Township Board for a final decision.

Loton and other city officials dug up the dirt next to the City Hall Tuesday night.

At the noon Tuesday meeting of the City Commission, Ken Dell, representing the Boyne City Eagles, gave the Historical Board a $100 donation that came from the proceeds of the club's bingo games. Dell said he expects the club to give additional support in the future as well.

many of his experiences in Alaska, Montana, and Michigan. His portrayal of a rural Michigan farm scene with a red-tailed hawk recently won a Best of Show Award at the 1987 National Wildlife Art Show held in Kansas City.

His appearance this weekend at Chandler's was arranged so he may personally autograph prints and posters and talk with visitors about his art and wildlife experiences.

Also available will be a rough-cut version of a new television-length video program featuring some of those experiences from days of watching wildlife in Yellowstone Park.

"Ninety percent of my ideas come from actual wildlife encounters in the field," he said.

A favorite story Van Hoesen likes to tell centers on a leader of a wolf pack when he was sleeping in the Alaska wilds.

"The pack came about 30 yards from my sleeping bag. I greeted the leader with my best wolf call. The wolf howled back and we carried on a lengthy conversation until he led his pack back into the brush," he said.

Since moving to Montana five years ago, Van Hoesen has concentrated on exhibiting his work and conducting seminars such as one he recently had in Grand Rapids.

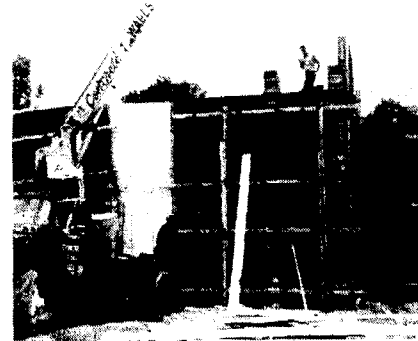

Van Hoesen moved into art slowly, like most artists, working at other jobs because art didn't pay well enough to meet the bills in those early years.

The Central Michigan graduate has a Masters of Science Degree and did most of the research for his masters thesis on the wildlife in the Horton Bay area. That thesis was the basis of an interest in ornithology and the wildlife painting followed close behind.

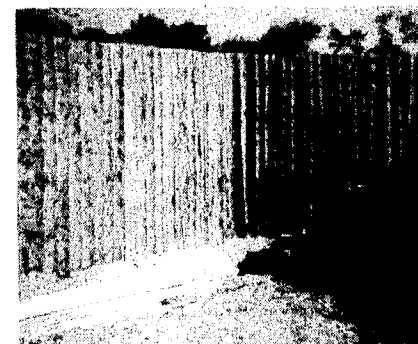

He credits the realism of his paintings from a "call of the earth". Many of his recent works include paintings of Alaska Indians and old-time prospectors along with wildlife scenes. He and a researcher friend also identified and illustrated an Alaska Mushroom Hunters Fieldguide.

Van Hoesen hopes to move back to this area and has been working on new art, writing and video projects featuring this area's rich literary and natural heritage.
