

Thousands mob flea market, car show

Thousands of people walked the lanes between old cars and flea marketers last weekend during the old car show held here in Boyne City. Many of the flea market vendors reported great sales of the many items they bring to the show. The rain Saturday night and early Sunday didn't keep many away from looking at the old cars, peering under the hoods and in the windows of the cars on display.

Boyne hears lake Management plan

Larry Sullivan, the County Planner, brought his show to Boyne City as the City Commissioners had a chance to review and become familiar with the proposed Lake Charlevoix Management Plan.

The plan will be the subject of three public hearings, one here in Boyne City Sept. 2, where the public will be able to provide input and give their opinions on the plan.

The plan proposes to limit the amount of boat usage through controlling the density of boats on the lake based on how much space a boat needs to enjoy the lake. The proposal says that the maximum number of boats the lake could hold is one per 10 acres, or 17,260 boat units. A boat unit is the size of a small fishing boat with a ten or under horsepower engine. Larger boats would require more units, according to the plan.

The proposal would also set vertical site restrictions as well as horizontal siting for houses. The vertical restriction would be based on those building a home having the basement a certain height above water level. The horizontal setback would mean a home would have to be sited about 100 feet back of the water edge.

The proposal plan drew some questions of Commissioner Steve Moody who asked if the plan

Boyne schools to borrow $650,400

Boyne City will be borrowing $650,400 for the beginning of the school year, after the school board approved a resolution that will allow the school system to borrow against anticipated tax revenues.

The borrowing is not new to the system as last year the board borrowed $509,000. The board thinks they will be able to get bids by the next school board meeting from area lenders and financial institutions.

The money will be used to help pay expenses of the school system until it starts receiving tax monies in January.

Superintendent Rich Kelly told board members he hopes the interest amounts would be in the 5 to 6 percent range.

The board also approved the cost for the school hot lunch program with prices the same as last year. Elementary students will be able to purchase a hot lunch for 85 cents while middle and high schoolers may purchase lunch for $1.00. Other prices set were adults, $1.50, student and adult milk, 20 cents and the cost of the reduced price lunch will be at 40 cents.

They also approved the policy which sets the limits concerning the reduced and free lunch program. For example, a family of four could earn as high as $20,720 per year to qualify for reduced or free lunches under the federally set guidelines. Information on the reduced or free lunch program will be in the fall newsletter or sent home with the students.

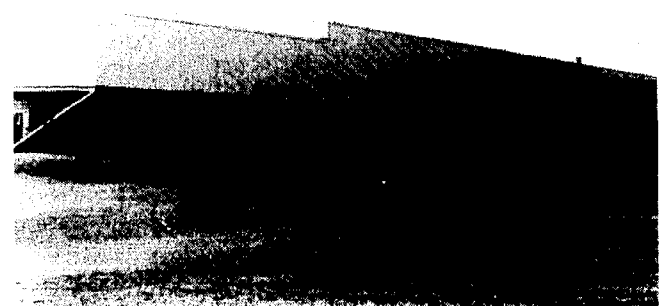

The board then awarded the bids for milk, bread, gas and trash contracts. Winning the bids were Twin Pines Farm Dairy for milk, Interstate Brands Corporation for bread, Howard Oil for gas, and Boyneland Refuse for trash removal.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

After one of the busiest weekends of the area, I am amazed at the apparent lack of damage to Boyne City's Veterans' Park.

After all, after thousands of people tromping around on the turf, cars, trailers and motor homes driving around on and more importantly, a continual rain for several hours that always seems to happen at the time of the show. It also happens during the Mushroom Festival, but that is another tale.

Anyway, after the old car folks spent hours cleaning up the park, it looks like it will take only one rain to bring it back in shape.

Now, for those of you with a little vacation time left yet this summer, who don't know what to do with your leisure time, let me tell you about this company that specializes in finding out what activity you could do that fits into your program.

Yes, program. This company uses a computer program, mostly for those folks so busy chasing the dollar that they have forgotten how to have fun and enjoy themselves, to match clients with activities that best suit their personalities.

The service has a base of 166 activities, ranging from simple things like kite flying to some more strenuous activities like rappelling down mountains. The data base is further broken into categories as social or solitary, mental or physical, sensation seeking and physical competency.

Customers to the firm fill out a 40 item questionnaire and receive back a leisure profile and six suggested activities they may enjoy.

According to a leisure consultant, most people tend to pick something to do based on what is currently in vogue or what their friends are doing. Sometimes, according to the consultant, those things may not be right for the individual.

The best part is that the service only costs $39.95 and has attracted over 200 clients since being in existence.

I can just see the computer program would tell me how to spend my leisure time. Just last weekend, I went to the Polish Festival, the art show, Castle Farms and the old car show. All of them leisuretime activities.

But, as someone once said, it's a tough job but someone has to do it.

So for me, I think a nice quiet day in bed, catching up on all the sleep missed during the weekend would possibly be the greatest leisuretime activity I could think of doing in my leisure time.

But, the house needs painting, the lawn needs work, and the office needs something done with something.

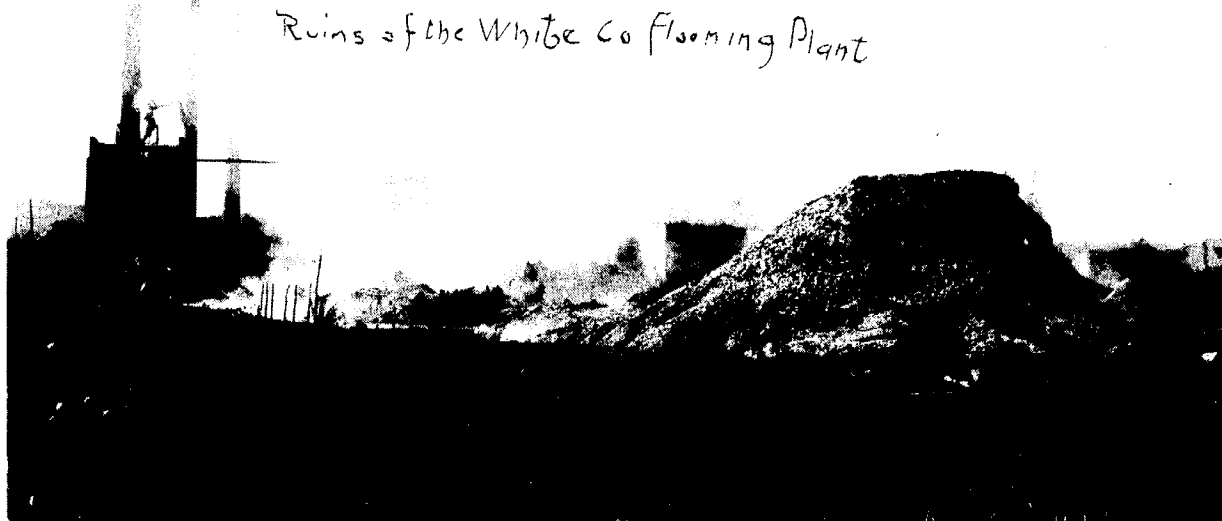

There is no lack of work that needs to be done anywhere in my life. And when I do get a moment of time I can call my own, then someone uses a phone to tell me about something else that they would like to have covered.

Sometimes, there is no leisure time available anymore.

And, sometimes, the idea of leaving house and home to do something else sounds like it is just the right idea.

But, sometimes it is fun to see how many activities can be done in a weekend.

Especially when you are "up north" and you are supposed to have fun all the time.

Last week we showed a picture of the flooring plant, this week we are showing what happened to it and why the building is not around Boyne City anymore. Fire took most of the old structures, and when the lumbering mills had a fire, it was spectacular since they were made of lots of wood. The pile of ashes in the middle of this photo possibly was a large pile of hardwood flooring ready to be sent out to Chicago.

Marshall Sayles

This is the busiest summer northern Michigan has ever seen; and northern Michigan has seen a lot of summers.

People and automobiles are thicker than the weeds in our lawn with whiffs of exhaust hanging in the air much longer than usual.

It seems the whole area is alive with people. I recall back in the 30's when Boyne City was dead with people.

Yes, everywhere you go there are people. We went to Petoskey the other day and there were even people up there. One man told me that people were bumper to bumper crossing the Mackinac bridge, a sight to behold and held on to for a while.

Just to heavy up the bag, Boyne City held an old car rally and flea market while Boyne Falls jumped in with its summer Polish Festival, creating the largest flock of people ever to flock to this area.

The road between Boyne City and Boyne Falls at times becomes a driver's nightmare and ten years from now a death trap. If it isn't improved properly in the future we may find drivers thrown into that great untried realm of the hereafter.

Question: Why do so many people jump into their cars and flock to northern Michigan?

Answer: They come to find out why so many people are coming to northern Michigan.

Comment: People don't flock. Birds flock.

Opinion: However they get here, our merchants hope they will become reckless and spend money without asking the price.

Rebuttal: I still say people don't flock.

Fist pounding columnist: Shut up. You are spoiling my well thought out essay on northern Michigan's busiest summer in history.

Last word: Your readers and I say "poop."

Now I am mad. Now I don't care how many people flock to northern Michigan. Yes, I said flock.

When I get mad, I get hungry. So I'll just slip down to the restaurant and surprise my stomach with a nice, big wedge of lemon pie.

Of all things! As I am sitting there forking my pie a nut bursts into the restaurant yelling, "A nuclear war has been started! The world will be wiped out in a couple of hours." A fellow sitting in the corner looks up from his meal. "That's a terrible thing," he says, "but is isn't as though we weren't expecting it."

***

Northern Michigan's busiest summer is still here; it's me who took the wrong road. Think nothing of it.

CELEBRATE 25TH

Lloyd and Ruby Van Alstine, back on August 1st, 1962, started Boyne Auto Supply. Lloyd had worked at Reynolds Metals in Grand Rapids, Michigan for 12 years. He decided that he, Ruby and the family would move to the north to start their own business. They had sold their new home in Allendale to Grand Valley State College and left for Boyne City on a prayer that they would make a go of it.

With the help of the National Auto Parts Association, Lloyd and Ruby started their new life in the Automotive Aftermarket business at their Boyne City location at 104 E. Main Street.

Twelve years had passed when Lloyd said it was time to move to a bigger and better location. In 1974 they moved to 1000 E. Division, and also added a machine shop. Then in 1984 Lloyd and Ruby decided to move to 9 East St. to better serve the needs of the downtown business area. Now, after 25 years of hard work, they have stores in Boyne City, Bellaire, Charlevoix, and Petoskey.

Lloyd and Ruby have two daughters and two sons. Lyn Reid, the oldest girl, is a loan manager at the FMB 1st Michigan Bank in Holland, Mich. Tina Van Alstine is working in the Boyne City location helping in the office. Tim Van Alstine, the oldest son, manages their Petoskey store, and Terry Van Alstine is the manager in Bellaire.

ment Advisory Committee Report. Many comments opposing the report were voiced in regard to: too many restrictions, unfair to property owners, too restrictive to enforce. Council set two further work sessions to review the report, August 18, 1987 at 7 p.m., September 1, 1987 at 7 p.m. Council also set a tentative joint meeting with the County Planning Commission for September 8, 1987, at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the report.

IF YOU HAD TO THINK ABOUT THAT ONE before answering, you're probably not alone. For years, much of society has been hush-hush about the whole question of birth control and sexually transmitted disease, afraid someone might be offended on moral or religious grounds.

But suddenly, everybody's promoting condom use. It's in the papers and on TV. Even the Surgeon General (who we used to only hear from on cigarette packs) is pushing for more and earlier sex education, and wider condom availability.

It's no wonder, when you consider that more than 179,000 Americans will die of AIDS by 1991, and that this year alone more than a million U.S. teens will become pregnant — nearly 3,000 each day.

Planned Parenthood has worked for years to bring talk about sexuality and birth control out in the open where it belongs — in the family room, at church, and in the classroom.

We're also the oldest and most trusted voluntary family planning agency in the country. It's not surprising that when people think of convenient, affordable and strictly confidential reproductive health care, they think of us.

At Planned Parenthood, we believe now more than ever the time has come for honest, open discussion. Young people need to know how pregnancies happen, and how to prevent them. They need to know how sexually transmitted diseases are spread, and that short of abstinence, a properly used condom is the best protection against them.

Sure, some people think the answer is to continue trying to hide the facts from young people, but there's just too much at stake. Today, keeping young people in the dark could literally cost them their lives.

Shoreline pollution survey being done by Tip of Mitt

A shoreline pollution survey of Lake Charlevoix is continuing this summer. It is being conducted by the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council and is funded by the Lake Charlevoix Association.

In 1986, Dave Heidtke, Consultant for the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, surveyed 27 miles of Lake Charlevoix shoreline. He looked for the presence of cladophora growing on shoreline rocks, logs and cement structures. Cladophora is a type of algae which indicates nutrient inputs to the lake. These inputs may be a sign of degradation in water quality, because they can stimulate the growth of algae and nuisance-causing aquatic plants. Nutrient inputs may come from failing septic systems, lawn fertilization, stormwater runoff, and natural causes.

The shorelines of approximately 692 lakefront homes were surveyed. Cladophora growths were detected at 176 of these. The Watershed Council is now attempting to determine the source of the nutrient input in each case. Questionnaires have been sent to the homeowners asking about their septic system maintenance, lawn fertilization practices, etc. The results of the surveys will be analyzed by Watershed Council staff, and suggestions will be made to the homeowners on what actions they can take to protect the lake.

Heidtke is also surveying an additional 8-10 miles of shoreline this year.

This cooperative project of the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council and Lake Charlevoix Association is designed to help protect the water quality of Lake Charlevoix. Similar projects are also being conducted on Walloon and Mullet Lakes. Because much of the controllable nutrient input to a lake can be detected in this manner, a cladophora survey and follow-up program is an excellent way to identify and control this type of pollution.

The Watershed Council is a nonprofit environmental organization which serves Cheboygan, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties.

Named to head area bike-a-thons

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that the following individuals in Charlevoix County have agreed to chair the 1987 Bike-A-Thons in their community.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gelderblom for Charlevoix and Mr. Andy Andrick and V.F.W. Post No. 3675 for Boyne Falls will each chair separate Bike-A-Thons this year.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkins's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-A-Thon program is dedicated to Brian, a native of Louisiana, was diagnosed with leukemia in October, 1984. Since that time, Brian has come to St. Jude every six weeks for treatment, and every 12 weeks for a bone marrow test and spinal tap to make sure his cancer stays in remission. While at home, Brian received oral medication daily.

session to work out details of the negotiations with the teachers union, the board named Dave Guzniczak as the representative to the Michigan Association of School Boards, and agreed to rent a room at the high school to the Intermediate School District for their use as a classroom for the trainable mentally impaired.

Also approved was a curriculum guideline for the teaching of health education in grades K through three. The cost of the program change will be about $4,200 which will come from funds already budgeted. Kelly said the program was a more organized approach to the teaching of health education and that teachers, administrators and the Human Growth and Development committee had inspected the program and approved its use.

The program was derived from the Michigan Model for Comprehensive Health Education and covers up to the sixth grade. Kelly said he thought the interested parties would be looking at the fourth through the sixth grade program for approval next year.

The Wetlands Permit Process Review Committee this week scheduled an additional public hearing to provide opportunity for citizens to express their viewpoints on Michigan's wetlands permitting process.

The hearing will be held August 17, 3 p.m. - 8 p.m., at LaSalle High School, 840 Portage Road, St. Ignace. Another hearing on the same matter, which was announced July 24, is still slated to be held August 21 at 9 a.m. in the Law Building Auditorium, just west of the State Capitol, Lansing.

The Wetlands Committee was established this summer by Department of Natural Resources Director Gordon E. Guyer. Its charge is to review the wetlands permitting process and report back with recommendations by October 15.

Members of the committee will County approves alarm rule

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, at the request of the County Sheriff, has adopted a policy "regulating and licensing automatic burglar alarm systems."

The policy is directed toward residences and businesses with a history of multiple false alarms. In the last two years (1985 and 1986), the Sheriff's Department has responded to 382 alarms; 373 were false.

False alarms represent an increasingly serious problem to the department. When these alarms are received in the Sheriff's office, they are treated as a "felony in progress."

wasn't just another layer of bureaucracy homeowners had to contend with.

He also said the plan shouldn't consider the setback proposals as they deal with what might happen in 200 years, not the present.

City Manager Randy Fryberg asked if the proposal were accepted and made into law, then would the city be able to have any expansion of the city marina or boat launch site. He said that his interpretation was that it couldn't.

After Sullivan showed the management plan the commissioners adjourned until the monthly evening meeting where they were expected to formally announce the winners of the Marvin Lodging Community Pride Awards and listen to a report of the audit of the city from the city's auditors Hill, Woodcock and Schroderus.
