New Middle School Principal Steve Smith showed Rotary Club President Doug Shields the plaque that will be posted next to the cage of the bush babies at the Middle School Living Laboratory. Looking on is Shelly Martin, Director of Community Education, who arranged for the donations from various service clubs and Boyne City merchants that made the purchase of the animals possible.

Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program is still looking for soccer coaches for their soccer program in Boyne City and Charlevoix. They also still have room for players. Contact the program at 547-5930 for more details.

Although the color season is still several weeks away, the publishers of the Northwest Michigan Vacationeer have announced they will be putting out special issues to cover the color season. Those wishing advertising information or wanting to send in articles about the season are asked to contact the Charlevoix County Press at 616-582-6761.

The Wood Shop of Boyne City earned three awards recently in the annual Signs of the Times national sign contest. They were given a second place honor for a hand carved mahogany and redwood sign named "Trillium" for the Jakeway residence on Lake Charlevoix. Two other signs also received awards, "Dunmaglass," for the MacGillivray house in Charlevoix and the Northwood Restaurant located north of Petoskey.

Michigan History magazine, published by the Michigan Department of State, has an article by William Catton reminiscing about his father, former area resident and Pulitzer Prize winner Bruce Catton. The article is about the time they spent coming to northern Michigan.

The Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors have purchased "Safety Through Songs" kits for an estimated 875 children enrolled in the first grade classes in both counties.

BC okays Division St. rezoning

Without much discussion concerning the lack of a recommendation for approval from the planning board, Boyne City Commissioners approved the first reading of a zoning change that will allow 18.47 acres of land located on Division Street to become rezoned to General Commercial/Industrial from residential at the Tuesday noon meeting.

A portion of the land, next to the REH Acres retail business, is presently owned by Mike Gabos.

He asked for the rezoning so that he could sell the land to the developers for the Harborage Marina and Condominium development. They have an option to purchase the property.

The developers have said they will be using the land to set up a first-class boat salesroom and indoor storage area for customers of the marina. They told commissioners the boats they will be selling will be in the 35 foot to 58 foot range.

They intend on putting up one or two pre-engineered steel buildings of approximately 80 by 100 feet in size. Projected costs will be in excess of $200,000 for the project.

The other portion of the land being rezoned belongs to the Presbyterian Church here in Boyne City. They purchased the property many years ago in case they had to expand because of church growth.

The developers indicated they

Lake Management Plan should be trashed

It isn't often we get disturbed over some pending rule or legislation, but the proposed Lake Charlevoix Management Plan is causing us to have serious doubts about the controls that the members of the committee want to place on the entire watershed of Lake Charlevoix.

First, we find the plan not very conducive to progress. Every time we read through it we are convinced that the planners want to put up a fence somewhere about Clare, and not let anyone else come up to our area for their enjoyment.

We should remember that the biggest factor in growth of this area and other areas of the north is the tourist industry. Without it, many who live in this area would not be able to survive. The jobs provided by that industry, from the small service positions to those of carpenters, site planners and developers would not be in existence. We feel the lake plan would eliminate many of those working in the labor force.

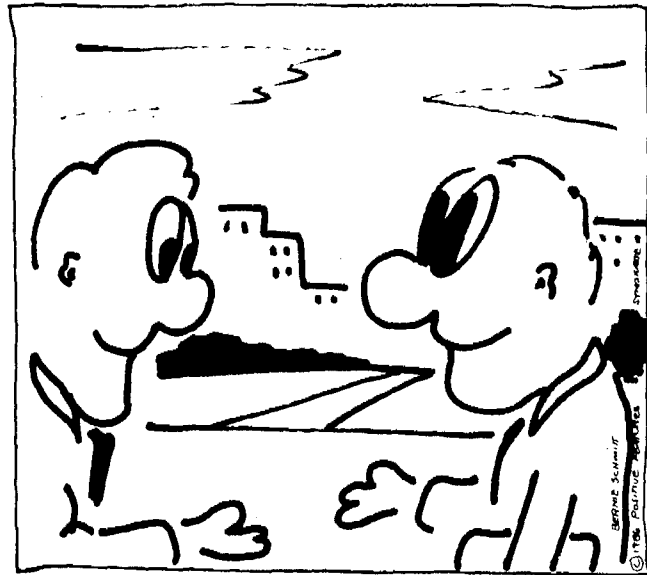

Two parties have filed minority reports, and Boyne City's City Manager has also submitted negative reports concerning the plan. All have merit and should be considered by the planners.

Taking all of the objections in mind, cost, control, enforcement, and the additional bureaucracy involved, we think the planners should tell the committee that spent three years developing the plan thank-you, but you have come up with unenforceable solutions to what may be a perceived problem concerning the usage of the lake.

Those interests trying to control usage of the lake should remember it is only about two months out of twelve that the lake gets somewhat busy. The controls that they are asking for would have to be in effect 12 months of a year in order to be enforced those two months.

Those trying to control the residential development around the lake are only concerned with what they think a

The Positive Side

"Say something positive, to every person you meet today, no matter what the actual situation may be."

Jottings

BY JIMSILBAR

Because of all of the concern about the Lake Charlevoix Management plan, a group of people are forming up on the right to initiate a petition that would change the name of Lake Charlevoix back to Pine Lake.

I am heading up this illustrious position and the committee doing it is just one person. Me.

Now I have lots of reasons, ranging from jealousy to just wanting a change, for changing the name back to what it was at about the turn of the century.

But I think it is about time someone started looking backward instead of forward.

I have asked a couple of other people around the town if they would join me in this quest, but they just laugh. After several others gather up enough names to force the change, perhaps they won't be so smug.

Just think, if the name was changed back, then when some journalist says the name Pine Lake, then readers downstate will think it is some little lake just outside of town. There seem to be a lot of Pine Lakes throughout Michigan.

Ours could easily be confused with those.

Some reader in Bloomfield Hills can say, what do you mean putting up barriers on the little lake outside of town.

Some reader in the UP might ask what problems with our little lake?

Both readers may be thinking the lake in question is not our lake. And that could solve some of the problems the county planners have with the lake.

Heck, there could be another lake in our county already named lake should look like in their eyes. The committee has forgotten what the lake was like back around the turn of the century when it was a lake of commerce. Nowhere in the proposed plan are those interests discussed. It seems like they only want to control the amount and numbers of condos located on the waterfront.

If the rules the group is proposing pass, then commercial use of the lake is forgotten. Who knows if 50 to 100 years from now, commercial boating will again come back to move goods to other ports around the great lakes. With rules, areas for commercial marine activities will not be allowed. Again, a loss of potential jobs for those who live here.

And control would be taken away from those areas that already have control. Like cities with home-rule charters. Why should they give up their rights to a county wide group? So taxes can grow higher?

Sure, the plan says everything presently here will be grandfathered. But that sounds an awful lot like the "I got mine, you can't have yours" syndrome.

Other parts of the plan also leave a lot to be desired. Why, for instance, does the plan have to control areas being controlled by other governing agencies? Doesn't the Corps of Engineers or the DNR do a good enough job? And what about the other county agencies a land owner has to deal with, don't they do anything?

We think our lake is fine as it is. It is a fast flushing lake, still on the young side, with good water quality. The shoreline around the lake has a large amount of undeveloped frontage, probably because those that own and pay taxes on it are not willing to split it up into the small parcels of yesteryear. Determining the amount of boat docks by frontage owned is not good planning in our eyes.

And making trades of frontage for boat interests isn't making life any easier for those who may want to have a boat in the future on land where they have traded away boat rights. We feel they will just put out another dock anyway.

Perhaps the biggest reason to discard the plan is the cost.

Who is going to enforce all of the rules? Who is going to pay for the enforcement? How many more governmental workers do we need to carry out the rules of the plan? How many more questions can be raised on how the plan will be funded?

We don't see any answers coming from the county planners or those who helped write the management plan.

We think the planners had better go back to the drawing board and come up with some reasonable answers before any of the plan gets approved.

That is why we are asking those from areas not even in visual contact with the lake, to come to the public meetings the county is organizing to hear input concerning the plan. This may be the only time you will be able to express your opinion on rules before they become law.

If the planners have their way, the rules they are proposing would affect every township in the county, every city, and even other counties.

We would like to see many parts of the plan scrapped. We don't condone confiscatory control given away without the right for compensation by everyone in the watershed.

If the proposed mess passes, then we would like to see workload on the county planners increase to a point where even they would say "too much!"

So you can see how important these public hearings are going to be and we urge your attendance.

Marshall Sayles

BY MARSHALL SAYLES

This summer has been extra hectic. Each day has been fraught with hustle on top of bustle.

Hundreds of people have been lolling in our parks, restaurants and taverns and just driving around saying oh and ah at the eye-opening wonders of Boyne City.

Dumfounded visitors hang their heads out of car windows saying the marvels of our town have no equal. One man came up to me and said that Boyne City is the only place he has ever been where he can drink all day and stay sober. One family reported that store clerks were so nice to them they spent far more than they had planned. "We will never come back here again," the mother said while the father shook his fist.

But now, at long last, hectic is on the wane.

Labor Day is coming down Boyne Avenue with plans to reach the business loop within a few days. Summer thereafter will be wrapped in a large bale of holy calm. The thrill of our warm, breezy merry-go-round will be all used up and kind of flabby.

Resorters and their spending money will have been spent; visitors will have been all visited out; and the frequent traveler will no longer travel frequently.

The annual fall lull will hover over Boyne City like the still of a dark and scary night. Older folks will begin to shiver.

But not for long.

I've lived on the sidewalks all these years and I have yet to see any one thing last very long.

When summer dries up and blows away the resulting tranquility does not sit on its hind legs for more than a couple of weeks. For one thing, school opens with a bang; and it will stay bung until early summer again creeps into our daily living.

After Labor Day television reruns will stop and new and improved stuff will be shown. What a life! There is nothing like the smell of burning leaves and a fresh soap opera.

When autumn has been properly raked, when Halloween and the giving of thanks have been attended to, winter will poke its nose into Boyne City. It will do it even though summer is one heck of an act to follow.

That's right. When summer fizzles winter will step from the wings, take a bow and bring back the eye-opening wonders to Boyne City.

Snow visitors will flock to Boyne Mountain, to Boyne City and to northern Michigan. Ice fishermen and snowmobilers will appear of a sudden. Just like summer, winter will be fraught with hustle on top of bustle.

Now that I have said all these things, I'd like to tell you the raw truth. Many senior citizens can no longer wrestle with those hectic winters. They drive us batty and to Florida.

Sorry about that.

Mr. Holt will be assisted by Trisha St. George of New York, who will bring her beauty and poise to the stage with Broadway song and dance routines which sparkle with energy and creativity. Ms. St. George studied drama and music in San Francisco and was a member of The Savannah Theatre Company, Savannah, Georgia. She has performed extensively with theatre groups across the United States.

Also assisting will be Sherri L. a California girl; she is "created" night after night from thin air.

Billed as Mr. Holt's "ideal" assistant, she graciously accepts piercing blades through her body, being sawed into several pieces, and possibly being eaten by large beasts, all for the sake of her "creator."

Perhaps the most outspoken assistant to Mr. Holt will be Ricky McClain, provided he is allowed out of his trunk. He is a Operation H.E.M.P.

According to recent State Police reports, Operation H.E.M.P. is starting to take its toll on marijuana growing in Michigan.

Operation H.E.M.P. (Help Eliminate Marijuana Planting) officers have seized nearly 15,000 cultivated marijuana plants so far this year as a result of 166 tips from citizens. Additionally, some 19 arrests of marijuana growers have been reported.

H.E.M.P. is a federally funded program first initiated in Michigan in the summer of 1984 and administered by the State Police Department director, Col. Rich Davis, is quick to point out however that it is not solely a State Police program. "While we coordinate H.E.M.P., we have the cooperation and participation of all law enforcement agencies in the state," Davis said. "In addition to the police involvement, the program depends heavily upon citizen participation in providing tips and information relating to these illegal crops."

Citizens should call or contact their nearest State Police Post or call the toll-free hotline. That number is, 1-800-235-HEMP.

were trying to work out a land trade with the church, as the church property is between existing retail usage and the property the developers have the option upon. The church was to meet Tuesday evening on the site with the developers to see if the swap could be worked out.

With the approval for the first reading, the rezoning issue is expected to be formally approved at the September meeting.

Also approved was an amendment that would allow churches to be constructed in all zoned districts as a conditional use. The approval was needed when in discussing the rezoning request for Gabos, it was discovered that churches were not allowed as a use in commercial or industrial districts.

In other action taken at the noon meeting, the bids were let for construction for the new historical museum. Trumco was the low bidder for the carpentry work, Bowers Electric won the bid for the electrical work, White Pine Plumbing and Heating took the bid for the plumbing and B&B

Roofing was the low bidder for the roof.

The total of all bids was $78,582 which was more than the city has saved up for the building of the museum. The city, through a special millage issue and donations has about $63,100 to spend on the museum. Commissioners approved letting bids with the city picking up the difference between the construction cost and what was budgeted. The city will be paid back by further donations through the years, according to City Manager Randy Frykberg.

The commissioners also approved the representatives and delegates to the Michigan

Zoning

Municipal Employees' Retirement System Annual Meeting.

Then the Commission adjourned to Peninsula Beach for the formal dedication ceremonies.

There, Frykberg told observers that the beach was a long time project of Thelma Behling, who had said that the reason she ran for the commission was to see a municipal beach on the lake.

Behling immediately corrected Frykberg and said that it was more than just her wanting the beach, there were many people involved with making the beach a reality. She wanted to thank them all for seeing one of her dreams come true.

the deputy about a half hour to determine that the largest boat on that Pine Lake is a canoe with a guy fly fishing.

So seeing that he has driven about 30 miles to get to the other lake, he hauls the guy out of the canoe and writes him up for speeding, after all, he was throwing a line out for bluegills and the end of the line must have been going 200 miles an hour as it made the turn before laying down nicely around a few lily pads.

So I think we ought to rename all the lakes in the county, (See how my imagination grows?) to Pine Lake.

All those developers who want to develop condos can all have a prestigious address, Pine Lake, not matter where they want to build.

Gad, the possibilities are endless.

Just get in line to sign the petitions, folks. I don't know where they will be found, but someone will have them out. Perhaps it will be one of those dastardly developers dropping determinately discreditable notes.

Public hearing on substance abuse services Sept. 23

Northern Michigan Substance Abuse Services, Inc. has announced that a public hearing on substance abuse services in northern Michigan will be held Wednesday, September 23, 1987, from 3 to 5 p.m., at the Otsego County Courthouse in Gaylord.

The purpose of this hearing is to provide an opportunity for input into plans for substance abuse services in northern Michigan. Executive Director Dennis Priess states, "The comments received will serve a critically important role in the development of appropriate plans to address the drug and alcohol problems faced in northern Michigan." Comments received will become part of the agency's regional Annual Action Plan for 1988. The agency encourages interested individuals who are unable to attend the meeting to provide written comment to: Northern Michigan Substance Abuse Services, Inc., 1723 West M-32, Suite A, Gaylord, MI 49735.

Special registration session for BC

With Boyne City Schools opening Tuesday, September 8, Warren Wade, the Principal of the high school announced a special registration session for all students who will be attending Boyne City High School or who may have moved into the school district during the summer.

The sessions will take place from August 31st through September 2nd between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Students are asked to bring to the school information regarding their current address and phone number, parents place of work and phone number, name of local doctor, and name of person to contact in case of emergency.

At the time of registration students will receive their class schedules, fill out data information cards and complete all of the information necessary to start the school year.

Students who have had outstanding fines or discipline obligations will be required to complete them before being allowed to register. Those with infractions were notified on their last years report cards.

The schedule for registration has juniors and seniors coming to the school on Monday, August 31, sophomores on Tuesday and freshman on Wednesday.

According to Wade, the registration process speeds up the first day of school and helps to eliminate the confusion of students as they learn where classes are located and receive books.

The first day, school will start at 8:30 a.m. with all students reporting to the gymnasium for a kick-off assembly. Following the assembly, a full schedule of classes will be held with school ending at 3 p.m.

New students who may have moved into the school district over the summer should call the high school to make an appointment with the counselor before registering.

"School Open" program to curb deaths

Pedestrians accounted for 42 percent of the 96 youngsters aged 5 through 14 who died in traffic across the state last year, and AAA Michigan is sponsoring a statewide "School's Open-Drive Carefully" program to help reduce that statistic.

"Last year, most school-related pedestrian deaths happened after 3 p.m., during warm weather months and in densely populated areas," said Robert V. Cullen, AAA Michigan Safety and Traffic manager. "We urge motorists to pay special attention to young pedestrians in the afternoon now that schools are open."

AAA Michigan studies show that school-related pedestrian deaths last year occurred most frequently on Thursday and Friday, with the student—rather than the driver—most often at fault. More than half happened at mid-block where motorists do not expect to see pedestrians.

Over the past five years, an average 93 Michigan youngsters aged 5 through 14 died in traffic. During that same time, an average 10,635 youngsters were injured in traffic. The five-year fatal-injury average rose eight percent from 1982.

While the 40 pedestrian deaths last year accounted for the largest number of traffic fatalities in the 5 through 14 age group, 21 percent of those killed were bicyclists. Nineteen percent were passengers in a vehicle and the rest were classified as "other."

Cullen said parents should walk to school with their youngsters until the route can be traveled safely by the child and these safety rules are learned:

- Cross only at intersections—never between parked cars.
- Check all directions before crossing streets and stay alert for cars turning on both green and red lights.
- Obey safety patrollers and crossing guards.
- Walk on the sidewalk. If no sidewalk, walk facing traffic.
- Follow the safest route to school, using streets with low traffic volume and controlled intersections.
- When waiting for a bus, stand in a safe place away from the roadway.
- Never retrieve anything near the bus wheels unless the bus driver is alerted.

To help reduce the number of school-age pedestrian deaths and injuries, AAA Michigan will conduct 400 safety patrol training programs throughout the state this fall. Nearly 33,000 safety patrollers will assist students walking to school. Safety patrollers are usually stationed at intersections along established student walking routes, especially at heavily traveled intersections.

In addition to the workshops, AAA Michigan will donate safety patrol belts, badges and training booklets to 1,519 Michigan elementary schools and provide "School's Open-Drive Carefully" bumper stickers free to the public at all branches.

Child Care Food Program sponsorship announced

The Northwest Human Services Agency, Inc. announced the sponsorship of the Child Care Food Program. This program is designed primarily to provide meals to children in child care centers, outside school hours programs, and family day care homes. Meals are available at no separate charge to all children 12 years of age or under, migrant children 15 years of age or under, and older handicapped children enrolled in (Head Start) Boyne City Child Development Center. In the operation of the Child Care Food Program no child will be discriminated against because of race, national origin, sex, age, or handicap. Any person who believes that he or she has been discriminated against in any USDA-related activity should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington D.C. 20250.

Numbering

numbers can be assigned.

The numbering system will allow ambulances and fire departments to be able to quickly find homes in the townships as well as allow other utilities to direct bills and services to addresses.

One problem Carson noted was that the county was not authorized to give a number to houses located on private roads. What the department is doing for those homes, is assigning a number at the beginning of the driveway, and if there are less than 26 homes on the roadway, giving the homes an "A", "B", or "C" at the end of the number.

The issue was brought up at a meeting of the County Commissioners when an engineer from Michigan Bell asked when the master list would be ready for distribution. Michigan Bell has been asking for the list for some time, according to David Weaver. Numbers are being assigned based on approximately one number every six feet. That allows for additional numbers when homes are constructed on the open spots between homes when they are constructed.

When completed and approved by the Commissioners, the department will be making the list of home numbers available to those who may want them at a cost yet to be determined, Carson said.

Farm numbers decline in state, nation

The number of farms in Michigan during 1987 is estimated at 58,000, down 2,000 from a year ago. This is also 6,000 fewer than in 1983, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service. Low commodity prices, financial woes and the 1986 fall flood have all contributed to the recent drop in farm numbers. A farm is defined as "a place as of June 1 that sells or could sell $1,000 of agricultural products during the year." Total land in farms at 11,300,000 acres is unchanged from a year ago. The average size of a farm in Michigan is 195 acres, up 7 acres from last year.

Nationally, the number of farms is estimated at 2.17 million, down 2 percent from 1986. The number of farms has declined each year since 1982. Total land in farms is one billion acres, down one percent from 1986. Land in farms has declined every year since reaching its peak at 1.2 billion acres in 1954.

Salmon family homecoming

Michigan's fall salmon run is expected to give anglers variety and geographic choice with pink salmon gaining prominence along with their chinook and coho cousins as part of the state's $91.5 million-a-year sportfishing industry, reports AAA Michigan.

Anglers "thinking pink" should fish northern waters as biologists at 15 state Department of Natural Resources fisheries predict that most Lake Superior and northern Lakes Michigan and Huron parent streams will welcome home naturally produced pink salmon.

The pink, smallest salmon in the Great Lakes, was unintentionally introduced into the Great Lakes in the mid-1950's and has slowly grown in numbers and distribution. This year, the pink is predicted to reach as far south as the Betsie River.

Known as the humpbacked salmon because the spawning male develops humps behind the head, the two-year spawner enters small streams in September and October in the odd years. Smaller than its chinook and coho cousins, the state record pink is about six pounds.

Anglers will find the state's heaviest coho concentrations off Lake Superior, Lake Michigan and Metro Detroit rivers with most chinook running in Lakes Michigan and Huron streams.

The average chinook and coho sizes have been decreasing since 1983. Chinook generally weigh 5 to 25 pounds and few reach 35 pounds while coho average 6 to 8 pounds. According to biologists, fish are smaller because intense angling pressure in the Great Lakes is taking large numbers of fish before they reach spawning age.

Decreased forage - alewives, smelt, chubs and perch - also has contributed to the smaller size and is a major reason why the 1985 Lake Michigan salmon planting was reduced by 10 percent.

Although this summer's hot weather may have forced salmon to remain scattered in deeper waters about 10 to 15 miles off Great Lakes' shores longer than normal, biologists predict that salmon runs should start near the regular time.

Great Lakes salmon action reaches its peak in late August and September when fish begin schooling near mouths of their parent streams. From mid-September to mid-October, best stream action should be in the 48 areas listed in AAA Michigan's Salmon Fishing Guide.

Approximately 8.8 million salmon are planted annually in the Great Lakes, including 2.8 million coho and 6 million chinook. Nearly 50 percent of those plants are in Lake Michigan, 41 percent in Lake Huron, 8 percent in Lake Superior and about 1 percent in the Huron River near Detroit. Ten to 15 percent of chinook and 20 to 25 percent of coho survive for spawning runs.

Mountain triathlon planned by Boyne Mt.

Boyne Country Sports is hosting its first mountain triathlon, scheduled for 10 a.m. Aug. 29 at Boyne Mountain.

Amy Kircher, special events coordinator, said the event will consist of a six-tenths mile swim, a 26-mile bike race and a 10-kilometer run.

Co-sponsors for the triathlon are Bud Light and Coca-Cola.

Classes for male and female competitors are 16-19, 20-24, 25-29, 30-39, 40-44 and 45 and over, she added.

Competitors must be at least 16 years old to enter.

The swim is the first leg of the event and will take place in Deer Lake. Swimmers will round a buoy and return to shore.

The bike race will take place on country and paved roads and ends at the Boyne Mountain Tennis Center. State police, sheriff department personnel and race marshals will be assisting bikers at intersections.

The running leg will be on paved but hilly roads and wind up at the sports shop.

Shower facilities and refreshments will be available at the event's conclusion, Ms. Kircher said.

The awards presentation for the winners will take place between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. at the Boyne Mountain Lodge.

Prizes include Gold Season ski passes for first place, Atomic and K2 skis for second and Boyne Country Sports $50 gift certificates for third.

All finishers will receive a triathlon medal and the top three places in each class will receive triathlon plaques.

Entry fee is $25.

More information is available by contacting Boyne Country Sports at Boyne Mountain. Phone 616-549-2441, ext. 176.

bankside pockets and pools, the best way to catch spawning river salmon is casting with lures such as Little Cleos, Mepps Spinners, Hot 'N Tots and other lively baits. Fly fishing in streams is very productive with streamers, nymphs and spawn bags.

Salmon snagging with artificial baits or unweighted hooks is legal from Sept. 10 to Oct. 25 on sections of the Sable, Pere Marquette, Big Manistee and Muskegon rivers. The DNR's 1987 fishing guide details the liberalized areas for each river.

The Michigan Department of Public Health says that contaminant levels in Great Lakes fish have dropped in recent years, but nursing mothers, pregnant women, women who anticipate bearing children and children age 15 and under should not eat salmon.

New luxury condos at Crystal

Construction of ten new luxury condominium units at Crystal Mountain Resort in Thompsonville is scheduled to begin before ski season.

The resort's new "WinterGreen" development is a cluster of 1 and 2 bedroom condominiums nestled in a grove of hardwoods across from the main lodge, just steps away from the skislopes.

The WinterGreen design offers plenty of private space, with eagle's view lofts, skylights, and half circle windows to frame the outdoors. Building features include a Jacuzzi in the master suite, fireplaces, decks and patios, brand-name appliances, central utilities, and exterior storage for skis, golf clubs and firewood. The units front the 10th fairway of the golf course, and are adjacent to the tennis courts.

The concept of what WinterGreen should be evolved from "focus group" meetings held at Crystal Mountain a year ago. Previous guests were invited for a complimentary night's lodging, to join the Crystal developmental staff in mapping out the marketing and blueprint design for the property. Feedback from those focus group meetings strongly influenced the type of product that WinterGreen has become.

When completed, the WinterGreen complex will bring the total number of on-premise accommodations to 130 units, enabling up to 550 skiers to stay at the base of Crystal's slopes.

Love your enemy—it will drive him nuts.

Michigan fields yield variety of harvest festivals

Michigan's countryside will overflow with the tastes, signs and traditions of fall and travelers can enjoy it all by visiting the assorted harvest festivals this sesquicentennial season reports AAA Michigan.

From sampling sweet apple and pumpkin pies to sipping fine wines and spicy cider, Michigan's cornucopia of fall events is there for the picking.

Travelers who want to take home a memento of Michigan's apple industry can visit numerous events where cider, apple butter, apple cobbler, candied apples, jams and jellies will be among products for sale. Wixom's Applefest is Sept. 12 and is followed by Ionia's Fall Fest, Sept. 20; Belding's Apple Festival, Oct. 4; Bangor's Apple Fest, Oct. 9-12; Beulah's and Benzonia's Ciderfest, Oct. 10-11; and Port Huron's Apple Fest, Oct. 18.

Visitors can reap the past down on the farm at Homer's Blair Fall Farm Festival Sept. 26, where apples become apple butter, corn becomes cornmeal and clothing fashions become 150 years old. An antique steam engine will add history to the old-fashioned festival.

Runners can rest in the shade of the old apple trees after competing in Bintz Apple Farm's Sesquicentennial Apple Run Oct. 3. The Freeland orchard will present prizes, music and pressed cider with contributions donated to Special Olympics.

The largest apple will win a prize for its grower at Niles' Four Flags Apple Festival Sept. 25-27. At Holly's Sept. 26-27 Cider Fest, participants can pack as many apples as they can into a sack.

Several other Michigan festivals will focus on the state's grape crop. Those who visit the Leelanau Peninsula Wine Festival Sept. 5 can take home a bottle of "Sesquicentennial" wine for their fall dinner tables. In addition, amateur photographers with Northport area pictures can give it their best shot for the festival's photo contest.

Vineyard bike tours, grape stomping and wine tasting are on tap at Kalamazoo's and Paw Paw's Wine and Harvest Festival Sept. 9-13. The annual festival has grown into more than 20 events, with information through the "Wine Line" at (616)381-4003.

Southwest Michigan grapes also will be featured at Bridgman's Taste of the Countryside Show Sept. 19-20 when local restaurants, growers and wineries feature the fruits of the vine.

Also from the vine this fall are pumpkins. Fields of orange will draw crowds to South Lyon's Pumpkinfest for more than 20 activities, including pie judging and pumpkin contests, Oct. 24. Apples and grapes will join pumpkins at scenic Suttons Bay Oct. 10 for a downtown Octoberfest with Gogebic County's Bessemer also turning orange for its Pumpkinfest Oct. 9-10.

Other fall traditions - including sorghum, sunflowers, scarecrows and beans - also are festival focal points.

Participants will turn sorghum plants into syrup at Three Oak's Annual Sorghum Fest Oct. 3-4 and sunflowers will show up as seeds and oil at Whitehall's White Lake Octoberfest Oct. 1-3.

Prize-winning scarecrows will be on display at Grand Ledge's annual Color Cruise and Island Festival Oct. 9-11. Travelers can savor bean soup and fresh cider or board the Grand River paddlewheel boat for a fall color tour.

And, what's fall without blue ribbons? Prize-winning cattle and sheep and top-ribbon pies and jams offer a variety of events at the Chippewa County Fair in Kinross Sept. 1-7 while Copper Harbor vacationers will be drawn to the area's Octoberfest Sept. 12-13 to sample the Upper Peninsula's finest flavors.

For a look at the past, tourists can visit Alpena, Kalamazoo, Rockford and Lansing. At Alpena, travelers can witness blacksmithing, butter making, spinning, rug braiding, wheat weaving and sheep shearing Oct. 3 during Fall Harvest Day.

At Delano's 1870 Kalamazoo Farm, the Oct. 18 Bringing in the Harvest Festival will feature a reenactment of farm life in the Re-enactment group to restore Michigan Civil War battle flags

The members of the 24th Michigan Volunteer Infantry, a statewide Civil War Reenactors organization, in Cooperation with Barry County Historical Society, is commencing a campaign to raise funds for the restoration and preservation of the original 24th Michigan battle flags, which are presently displayed within the State Capitol Rotunda.

The 24th, organized in March, 1984, portrays the original 24th Michigan Regiment, which was mustered into service in Detroit on August 15, 1862. The reenactment group participates in living history displays, commemorating the turbulent years of the American Civil War.

Upon recommendation of the Military Affairs Subcommittee of the Michigan Sesquicentennial Historical Observances Committee, the 24th has decided to campaign for funds to completely restore and preserve the flags which were presented to the original 24th by the people of Wayne County and were carried by the regiment throughout the war and while serving as honor guard for the funeral procession of President Abraham Lincoln."

Any tax-deductible contributions and inquiries may be sent to: Save The Flag Fund, c/o 2520 Barstow Rd., Lansing, MI, 48906.

Steve August, talented pianist, plays nightly during the dinner hour and until 10 p.m. at Boyne Mountain's Deer Lake Beach Haus. Steve has been playing for numerous bands since graduation from Berkley College of Music, Boston, but prefers solo piano. At Deer Lake he mixes popular, classical and jazz numbers during his performance and welcomes requests.

Every new opinion, at its starting, is precisely in a minority of one.
