

Boyne planners okay two business sites

Two site plans, one for an existing store to move to new quarters, and the other to allow an existing motel to expand by 14 additional units, were approved at Monday night's Boyne City Planning Board meeting. The store, Boyne Appliance, purchased the former Johnson home on Boyne Avenue, just inside the Central Business District Zone, and will be converting the home to a retail business.

According to Dave Vondran, the owner of the appliance store, a 28 foot by 45 foot addition will be built along with the present building that will be converted to make the space for the retail outlet.

Vondran hopes to get started this week, as he says he was told to move out of his present site by new owners by the first of October. Vondran hopes to be finished with the new location by the first of November.

When questioned by the planners, he told them how the parking was arranged, and how he has been working with the city and the state highway department to plan the ingress and egress to the parking area next to the store. He said the planners will not see a dumpster, as he removes his trash to a separate warehouse outside of town.

He also said that when a delivery truck comes to drop off appliances, it will park along the road only to drop off one or two pieces. The other pieces of freight will be delivered to the warehouse.

After going through the criteria, the planners approved the site plan so Vondran can begin working on the new store site.

The second plan approved was for a 14 unit addition to the Boyne City Motel. The motel is also located in the Central Business District and will feature an extensive remodeling effort with the new addition.

Plans shown to the planning board featured lapboard siding and a Victorian look to go along with the architectural theme that is being developed around town.

Jeff Uloth of Boyne City was the second place winner in the fourth annual Multiple Sclerosis Raffle held recently. He won a 16 ft. Crestliner boat and trailer with a 25 horsepower Mariner engine. The first prize, a 1988 Chevrolet Beretta was won by Krystal Malone of Wyandotte.

Even though Michigan has had a seatbelt law for more than two years, the usage of belts is still less than half using them on a regular basis. The highest usage rates were in Ann Arbor and Livonia, according to a survey done in July. Other high users included those 60 years and older. The area of the state with the lowest usage was noted in the Detroit area.

Homeowners using oil as a source of heat may be interested in retrofitting or upgrading their present heating system with the installation of high efficiency flame retention burners in old inefficient furnaces. The Michigan Department of Commerce figure those homeowners could save about $200 per year.

Class advisors are needed at Boyne Falls High School. Ninth grade advisor, student council and year book advisor positions are open. Those expressing interest in any of the positions are asked to call Mike Wallace, Principal at the high school, 549-2211.

Rezoning Division St. property okayed

Boyne City Commissioners approved a controversial rezoning after an hour of discussion at their noon meeting Tuesday. The rezoning was to approve the change of some 18 plus acres of land along Division Street from the R-1 category to the General Commercial/Industrial classification.

The rezoning will allow the developers of the Harborage Marina to build a commercial boat sales, service and storage area on property they have purchased an option to from the owner of the parcel, Mike Gabos.

The controversy came from many area residents who objected to the increased traffic flow they would experience along the designated truck route as the boats move from the lake to the storage facility each fall and again in the spring when they go back to the water.

Other residents objected to the increase in commercial land being across from the city cemetery.

Those for the proposed change told the commissioners that it was the best possible land use and that the city has been looking at the area for commercial business expansion for several years.

When the matter came in front of the planning commission for their approval two months ago, they were not able to agree on a recommendation for approval and sent it to the commission without expressing any recommendation. The Commission read the first reading of the change last month, knowing they would face the objections at Tuesday's meeting.

Speaking for making the change Commissioner Austin Severer said that he probably was a near future resident of the cemetery and he had no objections on that ground. Commissioner Moody said the traffic problem could be discounted because anywhere the storage of boats is put within the city there would be the same problem, traffic, and that someone would have to face the inconvenience.

Severer finally made a motion to accept the second reading, which, in essence, approved the rezoning.

As several people told the commissioners they were not acting in the city's best interests, looking out for the people, the commissioners heard that the marina slip owners represented 136 slips at this time, all paying taxes to the city at about the same rate as the average house. They were told to look at the matter as a large subdivision wanting to have a marina storage facility.

While that was not entirely convincing to the city fathers, they agreed with Marty Paul, a member of the planning commission who said that the change was good planning for the community.

The city also okayed the development of a new skating rink facility at Avalanche Preserve.

Members of the Parks and Recreation board had asked the city last week if a new place for a skating rink could be found. The present one, located on the corner of North and Jefferson, was not conducive to both children and young adults. A utility pole and a hydrant were in the center of the rink making it useless for playing hockey and could only be used in a circular fashion. They wanted the commissioners to approve changing the site to Avalanche Park.

City workers volunteered time to help make the rink after a site was found.

County Recreational Director, Mike Davis, had checked the site out and found a place where the rink could be constructed. City Manager Randy Frykberg told the commissioners.

He said the site would be large enough to hold both a general skating rink as well as a hockey rink. Plans will be developed to increase the year around recreational use of the park and may even contain a speed skating rink.

Tim Hawley, a member of the Parks and Rec Board said that many people have approached him with ideas, recommendations and possible donations to accomplish moving the rink.

He said he was working with the city crews and will also work with finding other sources for donations.

With the approval, workers hope to start the planning for the rink and hope to start construction so the rink will be ready for use this winter.

The city then agreed to ask for bids to expand the present fire barn.

Two fire trucks are being housed separately from the rest because with the growth of the city and the area, additional equipment needs have also grown. There is no room left in the present fire barn to house all of the fire trucks, according to the city manager.

He told the commissioners there is a sinking fund which can be used to help pay for the addition to the fire barn. The addition is slated to be built on the west side of the present building.

The city also gave their approval to asking the DNR if they would again consider fish plants and a weir in the Boyne River. John Howard asked the commissioners if they would do so and he would then ask the DNR if further fish plants could be made in the Boyne River.

Howard said that a weir would have to be constructed that would probably become a holding weir as well as a lampprey barrier. He suggested that it could be put slightly up river so the fishing at the mouth of the river could continue.

Frykberg said he would talk with the fisheries biologist about the matter and would report back to the commission. Some years ago, the commission gave their approval to additional fish plantings in the river, but the DNR decided not to pursue it since they could not put in a weir at the mouth of the river.

Howard said that because of the lack of a good lake fishery, additional plantings are needed and that he thought the city could work with the DNR on finding a place for a blocking weir up river. One site suggested was behind the present Consumers Power building, which would leave from the river mouth to Old City Park open for fishing.

Rotary helps rebuilding sports facility

East Jordan Rotary President Bob Malpass recently presented a $4,000 check to Tom Rossler, Superintendent of East Jordan Public Schools, to be used for the rebuilding project in the football field facility. The wooden seating facility, which also housed the concession stand and press box was razed this summer because it had been determined that it was no longer safe for public use.

The building which was torn down dates back to the days of the Charlevoix County Fair Association; it was the grand stand for fair activities. It had been used for football activities before it was owned by the school. Rotarian Walt Thorsen recalls playing football on the field in the late twenties. Rotarian Bill Bennett remembers going to the fair in the 30's there. The field and grandstand were deeded to the school, after the Charlevoix County Fair became defunct, by the Fair Association.

Certainly many memories of fun at the fair and great plays in East Jordan High School football history exist at Boswell Field. Many more will take place, but new stands and bleachers will hold the capacity crowds in years to come. The Rotary donation has made those dreams of new facilities closer to reality.

County's first grand jury asked

Thirteen to seventeen citizens selected for jury duty may be seated on a citizens grand jury if a request by Sheriff George Lasater and Prosecuting Attorney Kraag Lieberman is okayed by Circuit Court Judge Richard Pajtas.

The jury selection will come from those citizens already selected to serve on juries within the county and will be empowered to investigate narcotic trafficking within the county.

The jury selected will be working with area police agencies as well as the Straits Area Narcotics Enforcement team, and the Michigan State Police.

The grand jury, the first in memory for the county, will receive complaints and accusations in the narcotic criminal cases and will hear the evidence and issues involved from the prosecutor.

If the grand jury thinks that there is enough probable cause to believe a crime was committed, those accused of that crime should go to trial.

A grand jury may be called if a complaint is heard through outside channels if the attorney general asks for such an investigation.

Both Lieberman and Lasater say they will be filing their request shortly, possibly this week. Judge Pajtas will have to approve of the petition before the selection process and the investigation could begin.

Boyne missing wood

Boyne City is looking for a few pieces of Wolmanized wood that disappeared from Rotary Park during the past year.

The wood, the disassembled parts of the Heart Trail, has disappeared according to Chief of Police John Talboys.

The Heart Trail was dismantled last year to allow the lumbering equipment to thin out many of the mature trees. The stations were put into a pile and left over the winter to be rebuilt when the trails were cleaned up and prepared for reconstruction. When that was done, the wood was discovered as missing.

Anyone knowing anything about the wood is asked to contact the police chief or the City Hall.

BF seniors may miss finals

Seniors in the Boyne Falls School system may be able to escape from having to take final exams next spring if their grades in the classes they are taking are better than a "B" average.

The decision was made at the Monday night school board meeting after they had set the date of graduation of Saturday, June 11, 1988 at 4 p.m.

For the seniors, not having to take the exams may be the incentive for working to get good grades, according to the administration. "I like it," said Mike Wallace, Principal, "And

The Positive Side

"Take action now! The world is full of dreamers. Begin today, and actualize your vision."

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Okay, Mother Nature, enough is enough. We don't have to catch up on all of the rainfall we missed during the summer now in the fall when so many of us are trying to get all the work done prior to winter coming.

We need a few weekends where the sun shines.

We also need those weekends so the visitors wanting to look at all the fall colors will enjoy them as much as we will.

So you can let it rain or snow sometime in December so Santa Claus will have something to keep his sleigh runners from wearing out. We don't need all that rain now.

After all, besides the household projects, there are so many other construction projects that have or are just starting, we need the weather warm during the day with the sun beating down, to allow the workers to get the projects done.

Can you imagine what may happen if the weather keeps the Boyne City infrastructure repairs from being completed until next spring? We need the break.

Heck, I need the break so I can get on the roof to clean the chimney. I don't want the fire department coming to my house this winter and then charging me for a preventable run.

In fact, I think I am looking forward to trying to clean a fire place chimney about as much as I am looking forward to cutting the wood in the first place.

I know it has to be done, but I don't want to take the time off when the sun is out to do all the work to get the job done.

That may be because I have so many other jobs that need to get done before the snow flies, that I am procrastinating on all of them.

I just want to enjoy the fall like others. I would like to take the rides out and about to see the colors, visit with friends, and in general, be able to take a nap.

All of that won't get the work done though as the Boss is asking those questions...When Are You Going To Start Working Around The House Because I Am Tired Of Doing Everything.

So, I will get to work, enjoy the fall from the other side of a paint brush or a chainsaw, or a rake, or a maul as I am splitting the wood, or as I am stacking the wood pile.

I just hope the rain stops long enough to be able to get all of the work done.

After all, there is so much I have to do, I think I will stop off at Robert's for another cup of coffee.

Youthful workers were very much in evidence during the lumbering days of Boyne City as these young workers at the White Lumber Shingle Mill took time out from work to pose for this picture. The shingles were stacked up by the young workers as it was probably one of the entry level jobs for youth back in those days. The shingle mill was located along the waterfront about where the Water Street Inn is located today.

Remembrances

Marshall Sayles

Boyne City has been struck by the autumnal equinox, terminating summer and surrounding us with the power and majesty of Fall's living color.

We now are racing headlong into the month of Yom Kippur, Columbus day, the end of daylight saving time and imps of Halloween. The earth has tilted just enough to bring frost to the pumpkin and station wagons full of household goods headed for Florida.

It's the time when students are at long last settled into school and their books, although my Dad used to say that you can drive a kid to school but you can't make him think.

I know that summer has rung down the curtain because when I jumped out of bed this morning a sudden chill clogged my hydraulic system, causing me to fuss longer with my buttons and zippers.

The first blast of cold weather has a strange effect on older folks. When I went into the bathroom my hands were fraught with indecision: Do I brush my teeth first or shave first?

A little later I went outside to see what morning had wrought. It was so frosty and still out here in the boondocks I could hear a promissory note drawing eleven percent.

There are other ways to tell when summer has whirled its last dust; it's when you quit mowing your lawn and the furnace kicks on.

This is also the time when restaurants take down those door signs: "No shirts, no shoes, no service." I saw one where someone had written below, "Cover your hide or stay outside."

Now I've said some good things about the coming of October and some that were not so good. But to me, the worst thing about glorious October is the fact that it is followed by November.

That's when three ughs and a darn are in order.

Now about last week's mention of Boyne City's cemetery and the fact that there is no sign saying "Maple Lawn". After the paper came out we received a call explaining that a sign could not be placed at the cemetery entrance due to the cost of living.

The IRS is now saying that a person cannot be a candidate for president of the United States unless the tax form reports the correct number of seductions.

I certainly enjoy writing this column, I find it much more fulfilling than my original desire to play a piano in a marching band.

Students at the East Jordan Public Schools were greeted by some new faces and some new equipment at the elementary and at the high school buildings.

The new playground modular wood structures at the elementary have been happily received by the 800 plus students. With the increase from about 740 to 800 this year, the additional structures will be used and greatly appreciated by the students.

The equipment was designed, built, and placed on the playground through a high school training program sponsored by the Traverse Bay Intermediate School District, according to Gary Albring, Director of Elementary Education. The training program is run using federal funds which provide the labor costs and the local district has to pay only material costs. "The most important thing," says Albring, "is that the kids are enjoying it!"

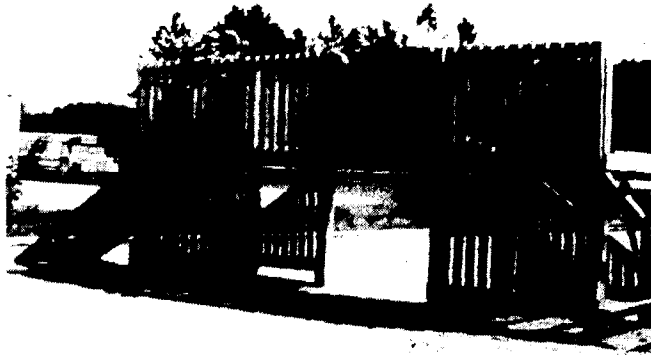

Gravel and sand were also hauled in and the playground is now tapered to provide better drainage and the new surface will help decrease the sand burs. Another area has been seeded to grass to become a soccer and football field.

A fifth section of kindergarten has been added as this grade level reached the 120 plus figure.

New faces at the elementary are not all new: Mrs. Margaret Fleming finished the year last year for a teacher on leave, but has returned to teach the fifth section of kindergarteners. Mrs. Jamie Smith has taught in East Jordan High School and will teach physical education to elementary students. Mr. Leon Dyer will also teach elementary physical education.

East Jordan High School has about 15 less students than last year, due to a small ninth grade class, according to Principal Keith Moore.

The new girls' softball field is nearing completion and will hopefully be ready to go in the spring season. A sprinkling system is presently being installed, the field is fenced, and the infield is built. The seeding will have to be done in the outfield after the sprinkler is in.

East Jordan students are enjoying the new playground equipment built through a training program sponsored by the Traverse Bay Intermediate School District. The new equipment was paid for with Federal funds and was given to East Jordan Schools.

Scheduling conflicts have been worked out and classes have begun to get into the nitty-gritty of work.

One objective of the high school plan for 1987-88 is to review and revise the English curriculum. Staff and administrators have begun meeting to evaluate and suggest changes and modifications.

Miss Martha Moore is the new face at the high school, filling the English and Spanish position left open by the resignation of Miss Susan Petry.

Foot care talk Sept. 30

A free health talk entitled "Foot Health in the Senior Adult and Diabetic" will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 30 at the Pine River Place senior housing complex in Charlevoix.

Conducting the talk will be Michael A. Aleccia, D.P.M., a podiatrist on the adjunct medical staff of Charlevoix Area Hospital.

This health talk, sponsored by Charlevoix Area Hospital, is open to all area residents and will be held in the Community Room of Pine River Place located at 210 W. Garfield in Charlevoix.

Auction, party to benefit popular BC man

A benefit auction, party with three live bands will be held to help defray the huge medical expenses of Joe Sarasin, a popular figure around Boyne City for the past few years, will be held at the KFC Hall in Boyne City, October 4, from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Joe was born and raised in the Boyne City area and worked for many years as a mechanic for Mel's Service in Boyne City after serving for 20 years in the navy and has been a favorite among the customers he worked for.

He retired from the navy in 1974 and returned to Boyne.

Sarasin was discovered to have cancer a few weeks ago, shortly after retiring from Mel's when Mel Howard, the owner of the service station, decided to change the station from a full service station to a convenience store/gas station.

For more information concerning the benefit, call Donna Padgett at 535-2957.

BY GAIL WARE

I've not spent a whole lot of time considering them, but when I did think about them, my mind never ran to positive thoughts about them - beauty contests, that is. As a matter of fact, I thought they were a silly, costly waste of time. But I don't anymore, at least not one category of them, the baby beauty contests.

The baby ones I used to consider among the silliest too, more for competitive mothers than their offspring. Most babies are attractive after all. And duded up in becoming outfits, they look beautiful or handsome. So I figured that in these contests, what it took was mom's good taste and a comfortable bank account, to cover the cost of the wardrobe, contest fees and incidentals. Given these, any baby could win, or be a runner-up anyway, in one or another of the baby contest available with no effort whatsoever.

Then I read an interview with the parents - mostly the Mrs. parent - of Jason Cantrell, a one-year-old winner of both the Baby Mr. Detroit and Baby Mr.

Michigan titles. And I found out that it takes more than I figured. The entry fee and the clothes do put the ball in motion. But the babies make all the plays.

Jason's mom reports that Jason wins because of his behavior at competition time. He doesn't spit up on himself, for instance. Nor does he do so on the judges, which I'm sure brightens their view of him considerably.

He also doesn't dirty himself or didn't at the latest event anyway, a fact which his mother reports proudly. If this includes inside his diaper, which I gather it does, the kid astounds me. Having known none but the spontaneous type of baby, Jason's control, at both ends, borders on the miraculous in my book.

And Jason doesn't cry at competitions. So here again he's got his timing right. Babies of the world, listen up! What he does do is stay loose - be flexible. When changes in napping and feeding time are required by contest schedules, he's relaxed about it. But not too relaxed. He has to stay sharp to be "responsive," a must for the wee ones.

Ware-withal

Like their older counterparts, babies are interviewed as part of the contest. Since they don't "do" words, and only a few sounds, these utterings have to cover a lot of ground in the language department.

For even the most enthusiastic judge, baby jargon doesn't add up to much in the way of meaningful conversation. So the judges rely on "responsiveness" of the kids, especially to their names. Jason shines in this department as well as in obedience, which counts for a lot too. And he smiles wide and often, even at strangers, a big point.

So I've learned that the babies do do the winning at baby beauty contests. And I'm impressed - so impressed I'd like to watch these contests, and have some babies I know watch them too.

The cost still bothers me, though, $1500 to $2000 all told they've spent on Jason's contests, according to Mr. Cantrell. But then, what price glory? Besides, prize-winning kids can earn $375 a day modeling and way more with a contract from a product like Huggies.

Capacity crowd hears talented judge on flower arranging

Speaking and working simultaneously before a near-capacity crowd, Eleanor Yard of Ann Arbor enthralled her audience with her breath-taking floral arrangements Wednesday afternoon (September 16) in the Ross Stoakes Theatre of the McCune Art Center, Petoskey.

The event, entitled "Oops, la vignette Francois" was sponsored by the Boyne City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan Garden clubs. Yard, an accredited national council judge who has studied and worked abroad, combined her talent of flower arranging with her love for music.

Her first work was entitled "The Paris Suite" with music by Francois Hebert. It featured bleached fern and anemones placed before a backdrop of the Eiffel Tower. "Papillon" was a colorful arrangement of zinnias, horse crippler and brilliant green leaves. Her next, named "Espanol" was placed in a container which reminded her of the castle in Segovia, Spain. It contained bear grass and pink carnations, completed with a fan and statice.

Yard's next work was named "Clouds", set to music by Ravelle and was arranged in a pottery container with dried anthurium leaves, four large white feathers and statice with a delicate blue cast. "Barcarolle" was dominated by tall pieces of wood, bark removed, and whittled in a spiral fashion. Trumpet flowers and green anthurium leaves completed the work.

Three silver cylindrical containers held peacock feathers, flax and lucastrum and was entitled "Mirrors" with music by Ravelle, "Afternoon of a Faun" was placed in a driftwood base with pepper grass and white tea roses.

Two shocking pink feathers, euonymus, Amazon lily leaves and asters were the highlight of "Can-Can." Yard's next work was "Claire De Lune" which was an arrangement of bleached broom and white spider mums. The finale was entitled "La Marseille" and set to the same rousing music of the French national anthem. It featured a magnum of champagne, bubbling wine glasses and an arrangement of small yellow orchids and statice set before a backdrop of red, white and blue.

All of Yard's arrangements were placed before a background fitting for the display and were highlighted or spotlighted with great ingenuity, thanks to the capable help of Jim Ledahl and his wife, Inge.

Lois Pollock of Boyne City introduced Yard and also finished the program by drawing names from a hat and awarding the lucky ticket holders with fresh flowers from the arrangements. Those winning prizes were Betty Jessick, Chris Carlson, Louise Gill, Lois Lewis, and Thelma McKinnon. Others were Kathryn Deschermeier, Julie Annin, Bessie Hamm, Skip Crompt and Helen Atemborski.

Helping Yard on stage were Bernie Grieg of East Jordan and Derith Lane of Charlevoix. Also helping Charlevoix Garden Club president, Nancy Fowler, were Sally Ochs and the Ledahls. Assisting East Jordan president, Martha Annear, were Grieg, Evelyn Gidley, Annin, Cyg Riley, Mary Glenna Malpass, Cynthia Burrows and Martha Wolf. Vi Manglos of Boyne City was a member of Pollock's committee.

The program's proceeds will go to "Operation Wildflower", a project of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, Inc. for high-way plantings.

Devils bounce back to post 28-10 victory over Gaylord St. Marys

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

After taking a 54-0 beating from Charlevoix just a week earlier, the East Jordan varsity football team bounced back against conference foe Gaylord St. Marys last Friday and posted a 28-10 victory.

Neither team was successful on its first possession but Alvin Merrill broke the scoring ice for East Jordan on the Devil's second series with a three yard plunge into the endzone. Quarterback Dan Pepin ran in the two point conversion to establish an early 8-0 lead.

EJ scored again early in the second stanza as halfback Matt Bishop broke free of Snowbird tacklers and scampered 58 yards to paydirt. The two point conversion pass from Pepin to Bishop was complete. The tough Red Devil "Rebel" defense shut down the Gaylord offense throughout the half but the Snowbird defense scored a safety before halftime by sacking Pepin in his own endzone.

The Devils took a 16-2 lead into the locker room at the intermission.

Dave Freel extended the Devils' lead to 22-2 as he broke several tackles and rambled 88 yards for the TD. The extra point conversion was unsuccessful.

Minutes later the Snowbirds found the endzone for the first time on a well executed pass play. With the two point conversion they cut the deficit to 12 points, 22-10.

That would be all for St. Marys as they were shut down for the rest of the contest.

Merrill found himself in the endzone for the Devils' final score of the evening on a four yard run midway through the final period.

Bishop was EJ's leading ground gainer as he picked up 162 yards on nine carries. Freel had 120 yards on nine carries and Merrill picked up 44 on ten attempts.

Pepin was 4 of 8 for 64 yards and one extra point conversion in the passing department as he hooked up with Bishop three times for 39 yards and Rick Clark one time for a 25 yard gainer. Freel led the way defensively with 12 tackles and a fumble recovery as Curtis "The Wildman" Weider had 11 tackles and Clark came up with seven.

Head coach Ted Jefferys commented "This game provided a good workout for our secondary as Gaylord was very pass oriented. Our defense is showing some improvement. On offense, the backs all ran well and we got pretty good blocking from the line for both running and passing. We did turn the ball over five times and also made too many penalties this game. We need to continue improving if we are going to test any of the stronger teams in the conference."

This week the Red Devils will host the Inland Lakes Bulldogs.

A strong defensive effort was the main reason why the Ramblers were able to keep the score within shouting distance as the St. Ignace Saints took advantage of Boyne mistakes and went on to win 30 to 6.

Gaylord Blue Devils almost double Boyne JV score

BY SCOTT KNIPE

Last Thursday the Boyne City JV girls' basketball squad took a beating from the uncompromising Gaylord Blue Devils. Throughout the game the Devils pounded at Boyne, relying primarily on outside shooting. Boyne made the fast break work to their advantage several times, but were no match for the hot shooting Gaylord team. Quarterback scoring was respectively 20-9 in the first fourth of the game, and 34-17 at the half. Coming out into the second half, Boyne did little better, scoring only 7 points in the quarter to make it 46-24, Gaylord still maintaining nearly twice the Ramblers score. The final score ended up being 54-30, Boyne's loss.

Michelle Montgomery took the high scoring honors for Boyne with a total of 11 points. Other contributions came from Dawn Archambault with 7, Kristen Harvey with 6, Crissy Gervasi with four, and Trisha Fanning with 2.

On the boards, Dawn Archambault grabbed 12 rebounds for top defensive efforts by Boyne, and she was followed closely by Michelle Montgomery with 11.

The JV squad will be looking for their first win next week possibly when they shore up against Charlevoix.

Boyne keeps score down

One thing that can be said about the Boyne City loss last Friday to the St. Ignace Saints was that it was a good defensive effort. Boyne lost 30 to 6 in the effort.

The good thing was the defense. It held the Saints to only 30 points, a long way from the last time they visited the Rambler field when they beat the Ramblers 88 to 0.

Defensively, because Boyne only had the ball for about four minutes in the first quarter and couldn't get anything together except a couple of first downs.

And the punts on the fourth downs were short which helped to set up touchdowns by the Saints.

They scored first with a field goal from the 25 yard line and then ran a TD off tackle for 31 yards a few moments later after Boyne gave up the ball with a very short punt.

In the second quarter, it almost seemed the Rambler defense was getting help from the gods as the saints seemed to be moving the ball backwards on a fumble, recovery, incomplete passes and a strong defensive effort finally forcing a fumble that Boyne recovered.

Boyne then proceeded to put together a few series of downs but eventually had to give the ball away with another short kick.

The Saints started moving through the air and completed another TD and an extra point two seconds before the half ended making the score 17-0.

In the second half, Boyne fought to hang on making a good effort before punting the ball away to a fake reverse. The Saints took the ball all the way down the field to make another TD and extra point.

Both teams traded the ball back and forth until the fourth quarter when the Saints connected on another pass play for a 78 yard run to a TD. That made the score 30 points with the point after.

Boyne's only scoring came seconds before the close of the game, started on the Saint 30 when quarterback Troy Heiermann hit a 15 yarder to Fineout. A couple of plays later he hit Tim Hennessy with a 43 yard "Hail Mary" pass. He then carried the ball for another 12 yards and finally, with only one second left on the clock, found Aaron Richards in the end zone. The conversion failed leaving the score at 30-6.

Boyne did fairly well in the stats for the game, coming up with 116 yards gained versus the Saints 127 on the ground, but with Heiermann only connecting on eight of 18 passes, lost handily through the air.

This weekend, the Ramblers will take to the road and go against Charlevoix. Perhaps some "road magic" will happen as it did when the team traveled to Harbor Springs to open the football season.

the teachers like the idea also. It gives the kids incentive."

After some discussion, the idea was approved by the board. Involved will be about 25 percent of the class or about six students.

The board then approved the hiring of several Schedule B positions. They named Debbie Sellisen as the cheerleading advisor, Nancy Hellman as the 7th grade advisor, Frank Hamilla as 8th grade advisor, Andy Place as the cross country/track coach, Marilyn Bradford as the National Honor Society advisor and as the softball coach, and Lee Prested as the 10th grade advisor.

The board also approved the hiring of Prested as a new half time business teacher. He is a MSU graduate who has taught in the Lakeshore School District, near Detroit, before moving to Boyne City. He is currently selling real estate.

The board also approved the contract with the school's principal, giving him about an eight percent raise based on the outstanding work he has done for the system.

In other action, the board heard the school system was in strong financial shape during a review of the school's audit by the firm of Hill Woodcock and Schroderus, and approved spending $1250 for a new roof on the portable classroom they obtained from Allied-Courter-Bendix in Boyne City.

"The roof hasn't leaked, yet," said Superintendent Charles Smith, "But I feel it will be good insurance as we face what may happen this winter."

Rambler girls drop game to Gaylord

BY SCOTT KNIPE
Following the JV's loss last Thursday, the Varsity Ramblers took the court in what would eventually turn out to be their second loss of the season. Immediately starting out the first quarter slow, Boyne found themselves behind by a marginal difference. From there on, the Blue Devils of Gaylord steadily increased their lead, using three exceptional outside shooters for most all of the scoring, and putting a pair of top notch rebounders on the floor to add to the fray.

The Ramblers found it impossible to keep up with a team that made every shot it took, and getting only one shot themselves before a devil came up with the rebound. By the sounding of the final buzzer the score was 70-37, Gaylord's victory.

Boyne was missing two starters from their usual line-up, Marci Center and Lacinda Thompkins both out on disability. As a result, Boyne could not put to use their primary defense, the full court press, because of the possibility of putting themselves into foul trouble. It was a good thing they did not use the press, because both Colleen Williams and Tysh Crozier found themselves each with four fouls by the end of the game, and that was while playing a 'safe defense.'

For Boyne, Mindy Stadt had an excellent night, scoring 17 points, 9 of which were free throws. Also pitching in were Patty Shmoldt with seven points, Tysh Crozier with six, Lori Knight with five, and Colleen Williams with two.

Leading the team defensively, Tysh Crozier snagged six rebounds, followed closely by Mary Beth Archambault, Lori Knight, and Patty Shmoldt with five.

Boyne's tremendous effort was fruitless as they were clearly outmatched by Gaylord. In field goals, Boyne hit a meager 29%, compared to Gaylord's 53%. At the line it was a bit closer, Boyne shooting 48% and Gaylord 57%. On the boards Boyne got 26 rebounds and the Blue Devils 37. Even in errors Boyne committed 38, their rivals only 27.

The Varsity squad is batting 500 this season, winning two games while dropping two. Next week they'll be looking to improve this record against the always tough Charlevoix Rayders.

One of the Boyne Falls team members takes a shot during the game last Tuesday with Boyne City. Boyne's varsity won while the jayvee team lost in the earlier session.

EJ lady Devils keep perfect season intact

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

The East Jordan girls' varsity basketball squad kept its perfect record (4-0) unblemished last week by taking Ski-Valley Conference victories over Gaylord St. Marys and Inland Lakes.

E.J. travelled to Gaylord on Tuesday and it was there that they saw their toughest competition thus far in the young season. The two teams matched each other point for point in the first stanza and headed into the second period deadlocked at 11. The Devilettes took a slim 25-21 lead by the end of the second period as they outscored the Snowbirds 14-10.

This third and fourth quarters followed the pattern of the first two as neither team would let the other gain a significant lead. E.J. outscored Gaylord 12-11 and 14-13 respectively to claim a 51-45 victory.

Sara Chase led the Devil offensive attack with 18 points as Jill Burt added 13 and Kristy Miller, Monica Olstrom, and Brenda Drenth each contributed six.

The Devils had an easy time playing host to Inland Lakes on Thursday as they jumped out to an 18-9 lead after the first quarter and never looked back. Outscoring the Bulldogs 13-12 in the second stanza, E.J. took a 31-21 lead into the halftime intermission. They coasted through the second half taking 14-10 and 13-6 quarter triumphs enroute to a 58-37 win.

The Devils hit 22 of 85 shots from the field and went 14 of 23 from the free throw line. The Bulldogs hit 16 of 61 field goals and 5 of 17 free throws.

Kristy Miller led the way offensively for E.J. with 15 points as Chase and Erin Snyder each canned nine. Jill and Kris Burt added eight apiece in the winning effort.

From a defensive standpoint Miller had 17 rebounds and four steals as Drenth grabbed nine rebounds and Olstrom crashed the boards for seven.

This week the girls will travel to Bellaire on Tuesday before hosting Mancelona on Thursday.

Boyne Jayvees 3-0 for season

BY SCOTT KNIPE

For a long time, Boyne City fans have been looking for a football team that would spark a winning season for Boyne. Right now they might just have found it in Boyne City's Jayvee squad.

After a previous losing season, and with the addition of some new freshman talent as well as fresh coaching expertise from Tom Neidhammer, the Junior Ramblers were prepared to do battle against any opponent stepping on the field, and so they have, now holding three wins and no losses as the season progresses.

Unfortunately their winning streak almost came to an abrupt end at the hands of Saint Ignace.

The teams met on the field and for the first quarter held each other in a deadlock as the two forces marched up and down the field, interrupted by a few untimely turnovers.

The second quarter was a bit more lively as Shawn Vondra ran seventy-nine yards for the Ramblers' first touchdown of the evening. The conversion attempt proved unsuccessful.

After the kickoff Boyne held the Saints back with a powerful defense, causing them to punt. Jim Bush received the ball on the punt and made a tremendous 42 yard rush to bring the ball back to the St. Ignace 3 yard line.

Bo Williamson then scored from the three yard line on a quarterback sneak, and Mike Kitson then ran in the conversion for two points. Finishing off the half, Williamson connected on a 17 yard pass to Jim Abney for a touchdown with 32 seconds left. Kitson kicked the extra point to bring the halftime score to 21-0.

Entering the third quarter the Saints made a tremendous rally, scoring twice; once on a 34 yard rush, and again on a 20 yard carry. Both TD's were complimented with successful conversion attempts.

In the third quarter Boyne threatened for a score, but turned the ball over on an interception.

Both teams came into the fourth quarter raring and at each others throats. Boyne fighting to preserve a slim lead, and Saint Ignace waging a desperation battle with the Ramblers to take the lead.

The Ramblers and Saints went back and forth, neither gaining nor losing much in any attempt.

As the clock wound down, the Saints brought the ball to their three yard line and found their chance to at least tie the game.

In a strange turn of events, Saint Ignace fumbled the ball, and Jimmy Bush pounced on the loose pigskin, winding the clock down to zero and securing Boyne's hard fought victory, 21-14.

Jim Bush proved to be the Ramblers most valuable asset, racking up eleven tackles, making the vital punt return in the second quarter, and snaring the win with his quick thinking on the fumble recovery in the fourth.

Next week the Ramblers take on the Charlevoix Rayders, and hope to extend their winning season.

Hartman wins, Boyne short of placing

BY SCOTT KNIPE

In the past week, Boyne City's cross country team opened up their season in Rogers City in a meet that included Sault St. Marie, Petoskey, Rogers City and Boyne.

It was not an overjoyous occasion for Boyne's Coach Glen Irwin. Mike Deschryver, one of the teams foremost competitors, was ill and could not run, leaving Boyne with a five man team.

Still things might have been fine, because a team of five is the minimum number of competitors needed to make an eligible team, but Brian Ledahl pulled up lame with tight muscles, and rather than run the meet and possibly cause permanent damage, Brian did not compete that day.

Now with a team of four, an illegal number of competitors, Boyne was immediately excluded from scoring and by regulation could not place in the meet.

But Boyne's four runners gave it their best, and although the team could not place, it did not stop Travis Hartman from taking first place individually with a time of 17:34.

Boyne's other times were 20:45 coming from Pat Balgenor-th, Will Polleys with 21:35, and Jacob Clark, the only Freshman runner on the team, with 25:20.

Already Irwin is thinking of the future in cross country by inviting any interested junior high students to participate with the high schoolers by running in meets to help condition them and prepare them for competition running, although the middle schoolers are apt to be excluded in all-around scoring of those meets.

The board also approved the repair of a small bubble on the school roof at the same time. The school system has spent $4,590 so far on the portable, still below what the school had budgeted for the additional classroom.

Falls school

The board then heard the school enrollment as of last Friday was at 312 students and according to Wallace, expect one or two more.

The increasing enrollment is a concern of the system.

BC Barbershoppers at Opera House

On Saturday, September 26, 1987 the Boyne City Chapter for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will sponsor two performances at The Opera House in Cheboygan. This marks the third benefit in Cheboygan by the S.P.E.B.Q.S.A. for the Logopedics Institute. The Institute helps people with speech problems - whether its from cerebral palsy, strokes, or autistic people. Therefore, the Barbershoppers sing so that others may speak.

The singing society has 39,000 members with chapters throughout the United States, Canada, and several other foreign countries. The amount raised since 1964 is in excess of $7-million.

The Logopedics Institute was organized in 1934 to work primarily with children who are afflicted with speech impediments. Much of the therapy used to teach autistic children and stroke patients to communicate is done through music. All donations to this organization are private. They receive no help from state or federal funds.

There will be two performances this year to accommodate the many Barbershop fans. The matinee is at 3:30 p.m. with tickets priced at $7 general and $6 for senior citizens. All tickets for the evening show are $8. For more information call the Opera House Box Office at 616-627-5841.

Planners

Owner Russell Auberdine was not present at the meeting, but architect Don Glowinski, who has prepared the plans, discussed the idea and the changes with the planning board. The site plan was approved without much discussion, as the plans meet every criteria.

A lot split was also recommended for approval by the Boyne City Commissioners as petitioned by Celia Polack. The split will even out property lines on the irregular shaped parcel and the land will be added to the property of Robert Bickis. The property is located on Bay Street.

The planners also had a short discussion concerning the VFW sign that has been an ongoing concern of the board. Marty Paul, in a letter to the board, suggested that the proposed and approved work being done with the sign was not in accordance with his interpretation of the rules. He asked if the matter could be determined by the City Attorney William McTaggart.

McTaggart said he would look into the matter and see what could be done after the board tabled the matter pending the city meeting with the VFW.

In another matter, John Howard asked the planners to consider helping the city to get the Department of Natural Resources to return to planting salmon in the Boyne River.

Several years ago, the city had said to the DNR that they approved of salmon plants, but a blocking and harvesting weir desired by the DNR would not fit into the plans as they wanted it in the mouth of the river.

more information call the Opera House Box Office at 616-627-5841.

Planners

the city would still approve of salmon plants, according to Randy Frykberg, City Manager.

Howard said he will try to contact the DNR to see if plants and a site for a blocking weir could be determined.

A change in the formal site plan for the Harborage Marina was also approved when neighbors had asked the City Commissioners to have an entryway to the second stage of the marina closed.

They had cited the concern for children going to the new beach and the traffic the second entrance to the marina parking may cause.

The Harborage developers had agreed to the request providing the planning board approved as they had requested the second entrance on the original site plan.

Along with that request, the planners were asked why the new lights installed by the beach were not of the old style the city had used in other areas of the town. The person was told that cost was possibly the greatest consideration.

In the same area of town, the new neon lights of the businesses at the Water Street Mall received some criticism. Frykberg said his office has received several calls concerning the lights. Planning member Sandra Stanley said she had eight complaints herself. It was decided to have Frykberg meet with the owners of the mall to see if another means of signage could be worked out.

Frykberg said that one company has agreed to remove the neon sign in front of their business.
