BC schools hire mediator for contract

About 15 teachers within the Boyne City School System showed up at the monthly school board meeting to ask why the current negotiations towards a contract are not proceeding as they would like.

Dale Parsons, the president of the local teachers union told board members "If we could just sit down and do it—we have to wait and work on your negotiator's schedule and it is causing problems."

The board had hired a negotiator from the Michigan Association of School Boards to work out the contract with the teachers and the negotiator, Andrew Angwin has been meeting with the union.

When a parent asked why the school board hired an outside negotiator, Board President Richard May said that because of the inexperience of the board, they thought it would be the best for the school system to have the expertise of a trained negotiator.

Parson added that he thought it was a bad choice of spending the taxpayers' money while the teachers decided to negotiate locally.

Former local president Fred Rice said that this was the first time the school board had decided to use an outside person to negotiate with the teachers.

Another teacher, Bob Wollenberg, told the board that working without a contract is starting to cause some staff moral problems. He said that teachers are supposed to work with some enthusiasm but "It's hard to be enthusiastic without a contract."

The board has called for a mediator to help them resolve the issues of wages, fringe benefits, and contract language. He will be meeting with the two parties on October 20th.

The last meeting the union has had with the board negotiating team was September 30.

In action at the board meeting, the board agreed to hire a new special education teacher, Mrs. Nancy Cunningham. She has worked for the past few years in the East Jordan school system and has had experience in the Flint and Lansing area school systems.

The board also hired a new regular cook to help with the preparation of the noon lunches.

Cindy Johnecheck was hired for a three hour period daily.

The board also approved the purchase of a new telephone system for all of the schools at a cost of $13,327. The schools have 33 phones within the system.

Superintendent Rich Kelly told the board the new system would pay for itself in savings after the initial cost was paid off. The board agreed to the purchase by financing the cost at about the same rate the present system is being leased. for monthly.

The board also approved some language changes in the faculty handbook dealing with when parents would be contacted about student problems.

The board then went into a closed session to discuss the purchase of land to be used for the building trades program. After coming out, they approved the making of an offer to buy five lots on Lewis Street for $12,000. The school intends to build four homes on the lots after receiving approvals from the city regarding lot splits and getting health department approvals.

The board then went back into a secret session to discuss the current negotiations with the teacher and support unions.

Like many of these geese flying in for a stopover at Boyne Mountain, many of the area residents will be packing up to go south for the winter. This seems to be the time of year, right after the peak of the color season and before the first snowfall, that the roads south are filled with northern Michigan citizens looking to stay warm.

Bid let for fire barn bldg. expansion

Seals and Roberts were the low bidders for the proposed fire barn expansion in Boyne City and were awarded the bid for $35,743 at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Boyne City Commission.

The bid, which is expected to be started immediately, calls for a cement block addition to the present fire hall towards the lake. The addition will be insulated with an R-19 factor in the roof.

The reason for the expansion is that the city has been storing some of its fire trucks in other parts of the city hall complex, which is not according to the fire code which says that the fire trucks should be housed in a separate building, protected by firewalls from other parts of the building.

The city started saving for the expansion three years ago and has saved up about $28,000 for the construction. The rest of the money for the addition will come from contingency funds, and from the public building fund.

In order to get the fire hall addition, City Manager Randy Frykberg told the Commissioners that a proposed repair to the City Hall roof would be delayed as he considers this project more important as it has a bearing on the insurance costs homeowners within the city pay for insurance on their homes.

The city presently has a seven rating, one of the best for a community of this size and with a volunteer fire department. The rating is the same as Petoskey which has a full time fire department.

The rating allows homeowners to save money on insurance costs.

In taking the vote to approve the new addition, Commissioner Steve Moody said he was voting no, only because he would like to have the city Street Department moved out of the building and into a new one. He said that would allow all of the present building where the city vehicles and the firetrucks are stored to be used for the fire, police and ambulance departments.

Moody proposes that a new structure be constructed on some other city owned property to house the street and sewer departments.

In other action at the noon meeting, the city okayed the leaf pickup dates of October 26-27 for those living north of the Boyne River and Oct. 28-29 for those on the south side of the river.

Frykberg said that leaves should be bagged and placed along the curbside to make it easy for the city crews to pick them up for disposal.

Frykberg then made an announcement that the meeting the city planners and commissioners are having with Mark Wykoff was open to the

Business site plan approved

Construction is underway this week after the Boyne City Planning Advisory Board approved a site plan that allows an inland boat storage and sales facility for the Harborage developers.

The new company, called Maritime Park, had the site plan approved at a special meeting of the planning board last Thursday.

The company agreed to eight conditions the planners required for the site including the elevation of the building to be altered about one and one-half feet from the natural grade, the allowance of four parking spaces that could also be used for a loading zone, an area in front of the building being not closer than 100 feet from Division Street, a 50 foot setback from Division for a greenbelt, and screening so that storage areas cannot be seen from Division or from M-75.

The builder also agreed to the stipulation that no neon signs would be allowed on the building and if the present owners of the lot next to it decide to build a church, the developer will have to pay for a natural screening

There she was. Two garbage bags full of clothes, kids in hand and she said, "I need help!"

It was May of 1977. The year that a group of community women had founded the Women's Resource Center. There was yet to be a shelter, yet to be paid staff; all the work was done by volunteers. In spite of not having the shelter, over 80 cases of abuse were opened through January of 1980, the opening month of the shelter Safe Home.

Today, "Safe Home," the domestic violence project of the Women's Resource Center, continues its assistance to domestic violence victims, offering not only safe shelter, but a wide variety of support services: counseling, child care, transportation, legal referral, and financial assistance. One hundred and fifty-nine (159) families from five counties, including 161 children, utilized the "Safe Home" services this past year, including 3,745 nights of safe shelter, an 8% increase over 1986 figures.

In Emmet and Charlevoix counties, 2,162 nights of safe shelter were provided as 98 women with 84 children sought safety from violence. These figures represent an average increase of 14% in lodging and cases originating from these two counties.

"Domestic violence is a community problem affecting hundreds of people each year," said Women's Resource Center director, Jan Mancinelli. "These numbers continue to remind us of the constant need for services to domestic violence victims and their children."

Nationally, domestic violence occurs in one out of three relationships. Unfortunately, resources to deal with batterers are scarce. Presently, all available Women's Resource Center financial and staff resources are required to staff, operate and provide services to the women and children who seek help. Most batterers, if they want help, are referred to other community counseling agencies. Women's Resource Center funding comes from a variety of sources including the United Way, state and federal monies, donations and memberships.

The Women's Resource Center serves five county areas in northern Michigan, including Emmet, Charlevoix, Otsego, Antrim and Cheboygan county. October is Domestic Violence Awareness month. Domestic violence is a crime. You can stop violence in your family. For more information, call the Women's Resource Center at (616) 347-0067, or the 24 hour crisis line at (616) 347-0082. There's safety in numbers.

The Positive Side

"We often give the most to ourselves, by giving to others."

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

An open letter to Boyne City Schools Superintendent Rich Kelly:

Sir, you recently asked our firm to bid on the publishing of your annual statement of fiscal responsibility. We declined from doing so because we do not feel taking bids from various publications is necessarily right.

Evidently, you and the school board think so or else you wouldn't be asking.

In the same vein as your asking for bids, I would like to ask you for a bid on educating our children.

The bid requirements are as follows:

Please note that bids will be received for only a short time as the teachers, working without a contract, may elect to have a strike and may negate your bid.

1. Teaching every child on an individual basis, working with them to achieve an education of which they and their parents can be proud to say, I graduated from Boyne City Schools.

2. Teaching the students to be able to comply with college requirements for English, Humanities, Sciences and Mathematics.

3. Teaching those not desiring college to be able to read, write and spell in a matter that would benefit them in today's society in and outside of Boyne City.

4. Present a complete program with qualified, ambitious, intelligent instructors in all subjects from the elementary level through the adult education level, preferably with doctorates, and masters level instructors.

5. All of the above should be done at the lowest cost, but fairly, as you are a public institution and derive your income from taxpaying citizens of the community. Those taxpayers need little reminding that they ultimately control your destiny through millage requests. They would also like to see you spending your money locally with contractors, businesses, and merchants for all of your endeavors.

Failure to comply with above requirements will cause severe friction among your constituents who make your salaries possible. They will find other ways to increase the educational levels of a school system.

Sincerely,
The average voters
of the school district

In other unanswered questions of the world, where were all the vivisectionists when thousands, no millions, of members of the insect community died in the last few nights of frost? To those who get all up in arms about animals being used to save humanity, how many were happy to see mosquitoes, flies and other insects die because of the frost?

How many will never see the use of fruit flies in genetic experiments?

How many will never be able to spray the ants in the lawns around town?

How many care?

Speaking of lawns, I hope yours is like mine, covered with fallen leaves as we seem to be getting closer and closer to weather and temperatures in which to make snow at Boyne Mountain.

Some of the kids are chomping at the bit looking forward to the upcoming ski season while some of us older types are still looking for an Indian summer so we can get all of the work done before ski season starts.

Even those who are working around the city are saying they have more than enough to do before the construction season starts to close down for the winter.

One contractor said he has enough work to keep him busy until next March, but all of the people wanting the work done, want it done before the snow accumulates.

You notice I didn't say, before the snow flies. That's because last week I saw it flying around in spots as I drove around looking at the colors of the fall.

It made for a kind of depressing trip, looking at snowflakes smashing against the windshield of the car and causing me to consider buying a new set of wiper blades from Boyne Auto.

But then the sun came out later that day and all thoughts of the upcoming winter were banished from my mind...at least temporarily.

Playing football is nothing new to Boyne City as this picture shows a football team from sometime in the late twenties. About the only thing that is the same in the game today as compared to those years, is the number of players on the field. These Boyne players from yesteryear took the stance of football players today as they posed for this picture.

Marshall Sayles

An honest look at the geritold set, once removed....

When I was first fraught with the bubble of life, I was occasionally involved in the business of wine, women and song. It's something that happens to most of our young men when they are first fraught.

But now that the dust is settling around me, I can no longer drink nor sing; and I am giving some fear to what else age has in store for me.

Recalling those junior days, I figured that it wouldn't hurt to acquaint the younger reader with a little something about the time when it was stylish for women to button clear up to the neck, both fore and aft.

I hate to admit it, but I was modest and dumb and a late developer. (In today's society modest and dumb mean the same thing.)

It galls me now to remember that my friends were having something to do with girls while I was still smelling of bread and peanut butter.

In consideration for my parents' ways of thinking, I felt that I had an obligation to remain ignorant and jittery until I had reached the worldly age of twenty and one.

So by the time the mysteries of youth had been made plain to me I had committed no interesting blunders. Mainly because I was gung ho with the filling of my head with grammar and nonsense and some high type learning. But, mind you, when I did learn the facts of life, I threw my head back and filled the air with a glad cry. The noise was so great it puzzled the minds of women way over in Boyne Falls.

It was during the time when I was an unripe turnip that my friends were wont to scoff at me. They knew their onions and bragged about it whenever the Salvation Army wasn't shaking those tambourines in the poolroom. I once heard them say that the bonds of marriage were so heavy it took two to bear them, and in Boyne City sometimes three.

Of course they were lying and much of their spunk was bunk. I didn't believe them any more than I did a preacher who laughed too much.

When I get to thinking about my youthful ignorance it often boggles my mind to realize how long I spent stalling off a normal young man's slipshod behavior.

I think now that's why I ain't what I should have been and ain't what I could have been. (There are a number of men wandering around Boyne City who also regret their shoulders and could. I could point them out but I don't have that many fingers.)

I am now finding it quite difficult to savor those old wine, women and song days. And I know why. It's because I have more important things to wrestle with.

Like becoming fighting mad when I get right down to telling the truth and people who know their onions break out laughing.

Study not relevant to N. lower Mich.

by Gail Ware

"The criteria used by Grant Thornton to rank Michigan's business climate may well apply to the industrialized Southern portion of the state but it has no relevance in Northern Lower Michigan." So says North Force Magazine in the lead story of its inaugural issue.

Titled, "The 'Other' Michigan", the new Northern Michigan advocacy publication takes sharp exception to Michigan's 48th place industrial rating, as it compares to the Northern half of the lower peninsula.

"To come up with the manufacturing climate rankings for each state, Grant Thornton consultants considered 21 factors," North Force Magazine says. "Most weight is given to those factors dealing with the cost of doing business: Wages, unionization and unemployment compensation. And as long as these are the major criteria for the study, Southern Michigan's auto-anchored heavy industry will continue to produce a poor ranking for the entire state in Grant Thornton's eyes.

"But a curious thing happens as you switch geographic focus to Michigan's outstate regions, beyond the state's smokestack belt," the magazine adds. "All of a sudden you find yourself in a totally different economic environment, one with abundant natural resources, moderate to low wage structure as well as living costs, sparse unionization, a high-quality of life and an excellent work force." North Force Magazine indicates that this profile bears faint resemblance to Grant Thornton's Michigan.

North Force Magazine is a marketing tool for North Force Inc., a coalition of 30 Northern Michigan counties with membership consisting of Community Growth Alliance executives, industry and utility leaders and industrial development professionals.

The publication is geared toward identifying the benefits of the region, on an ongoing basis, to attract industry and jobs to Northern Michigan and to encourage area industry to expand locally. An Editorial Advisory Board has been designated from area utility, industry, financial and educational leaders.

Focusing in sharply on the fact that Grant Thornton cast Michigan as last among the contiguous states in terms of industrial ranking, the publication shows that the Northern Michigan area showed nearly an 11 percent increase in the number of new business incorporations in the last recorded 12 month period, putting it into the top ten states, in terms of percentage increases in new business activity. The publication also points to a number of other studies that the two states which ranked in first and second place in the last two years in the Grant Thornton Study have "less manufacturing employment between them than the Saginaw-Bay City-Midland metropolitan area."

"There is a marked tendency for states that have relatively undeveloped manufacturing sectors to be ranked higher than states that are more developed," the magazine said.

The initial issue of North Force deals with a number of other areas relating to Northern Michigan, including profiles of five businesses which made the successful transition from other areas into the North Force region. In a story called "Combining Lifestyle and Business Success," the magazine deals with the reasons why both large and small businesses moved into the area.

The publication then deals with seven families, giving the viewpoint of the spouse in moving from metropolitan areas into smaller Northern Michigan communities. "Because studies have shown that family considerations play a significant role in the decision-making process concerning the relocation of a business or industry, North Force Magazine wanted to examine how families adapted to this kind of a move," said Michelle Cortright, Managing Editor of the publication.

The Community Growth Alliance program is examined in the publication, with a discussion of their role and function in economic development. Industrial parks in the North Force region are profiled in a directory. This North Force listing, based on material from the Michigan Site Network, provides a comprehensive guide to industrial parks and points to such areas as available acreage, status of utilities and transportation, as well as contact persons for the 22 counties in the North Force area which have industrial parks.

The magazine is circulated to 10,000 targeted local and Michigan industries, county developers, selected industries and industrial realtors across the country.

I don't mind, in fact I'm quite tolerant of people who explain other people's behavior in terms of the unconscious benefits they're getting by the way they behave. But every once in a while I encounter someone who goes too far, even for me. Such a man is Ira G. Zepp, who has written a book impressively entitled, "The New Religious Image of Urban America: The Shopping Mall as Ceremonial Center."

First off, Mr. Zepp defines religion in terms of its Latin root word, religare, meaning to bind together. From this base he jumps off to declare that religion thus means the need for humans to "re-bind, re-connect and reconcile themselves with each other and nature." I find this a dubious definition, but I can go along with it. And I can go along, too, when Zepp asserts that shopping malls are set up like religious centers have been for thousands of years, with all thoroughfares leading to the center.

Where I part company with the man comes when he says that divine strengthening and renewing power comes from that center both in churches and in malls. He claims that the divine power in malls flows from the light - skylights and chandeliers - and from the water - fountains or pools - and vegetation - trees and flowers. He writes that these things which have symbolic significance in a house of worship also do in a mall. Once more, he feels that he proves his point by citing the fact that people tend to congregate around the fountain, which is in the center of the other symbolic things. And they do so, according to Zepp, to soak up the divine power.

Wrong, Mr. Zepp. I know from personal experience that they congregate there because that happens to be the site of the only seating in the mall. And one needs to sit down occasionally, especially during an extended tour of duty malls call for, to make the visit worth the trip.

Others, who spend a lot more time at a mall than I, disagree with Zepp's idea of what malls have to offer, too. Marketing directors of various malls in Michigan who were interviewed on the subject came out unanimously on the side of disbelief in his religious concept. As for the Michigan shoppers interviewed, those who regularly patronize their favorite mall admit to feeling good there but not a divinely inspired good - an "I love to shop" good.

Zepp does grant some profit motive in the setup of malls. But he executes only a small nod in that direction as he forges ahead to explain and extoll the higher purpose and value of malls in our modern world.

Zepp doesn't suggest that churches go out of business, by the way, which I found comforting. He just insists that malls offer and people actually get, their spiritual needs fulfilled there. And so they serve as alternatives or additions to churches - especially suitable for non-church-goers, I suppose.

I don't object to Zepp's proposing his concept, far-fetched as it seems to me. What I object to is the length he goes to sell his proposition.

Still, next time I'm at the mall, I'll watch the people sitting on the benches by the fountain, just to see if any of them look like they could be getting divinely inspired.

Asking for Little League support

Editor

I am writing this letter in concern of the Boyne City Little League.

I am a parent of 2 years in T-Ball; so yes, I'm what you could call new to the game, but interested! As a parent, I share the excitement of every practice and every game, and without organization there would not be a Little League at all!

A meeting for election of officers was held September 16 (which was pre-advertised). At that meeting there was a total of 12 people who showed up; that is not even enough to fill the positions open to operate next year. Yes - out of over 400 children playing ball, only 12 people showed enough interest in next year's league. There were a few people from last year's positions that couldn't make it to the meeting and are still holding the same positions, but we are in bad need of more people to get involved - or you might have to be the one to tell your son or daughter they can't play ball next year!

The next meeting is OC-TOBER 21, 7 p.m., American Legion Hall.

Please come!
Concerned parent,
Lucinda L. Hall

OLD FASHIONED RECIPES

I can still hear Mother say, "Oh dear, I don't have a thing to eat in the house" when she would see a car turning into our long driveway down the lane on the farm. Not having a thing in the house meant that she was "fresh out" of home made bread. In an hour or so she had a meal like this on the table.

- Fresh side pork
- Milk gravy
- Baked potatoes
- Johnny Cake or Biscuits
- Apple pie with Whipped Cream

I have seen her prepare a meal like this and I still wonder how she did it. She no doubt had willing hands to help peel and slice the apples, and she could roll out crust for a pie or make biscuits in "no time flat". Whipping cream was always handy during the cold winter months.

I have discovered that many people still love those old fashioned dinners. I have a friend who says that her favorite meal is fresh side pork, which is now available at our supermarkets, fried to a crisp, served with boiled potatoes and milk or "poor man's" gravy. Mother made her gravy this way.

MILK GRAVY

Fresh side pork or salt pork that has been soaked in milk to remove some of the salt makes the best gravy.

Fry the pork to a crisp, set it aside in the warming oven of the old range, drain off part of the fat leaving a couple tablespoons in the pan. Then she added a couple tablespoons of flour to the drippings and stirred it well. If she wanted the gravy brown she let the flour brown, by cooking a little longer, and stirring constantly then she added about a pint of milk and cooked and stirred until thick and smooth. Add salt and pepper to taste. MMMMMMMM Good!

Double this for a quart of delicious gravy.

This gravy is also very good made with water in place of the milk; in that case, let the flour brown well.

Old time cooks made lots of cakes. For a family meal they made many like the following. This cake could be "stirred up" the last minute and served warm without frosting. I do not know if this cake is named for the ninth president of the United States, William Henry Harrison (1773-1841) or Benjamin Harrison, our 23rd president, (1833-1901). Anyway, it is a delicious cake recipe from Helen Coble of "Glorie Be" near Charlevoix, Michigan. I made it recently, ate a good sized square warm from the oven and have the rest in the freezer to serve when company comes.

HARRISON CAKE

- 2 eggs
- 1 ¼ cups granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
- ½ cup milk
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Beat the eggs until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in the sugar then the butter and milk. Combine the flour, soda, nutmeg, and salt. Beat in the batter until smooth and bubbly. Pour into a well-greased and floured 9" square pan. Bake in 375 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes, or until the cake is golden and a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean.

Makes 9 good-sized squares. This cake is good with a dab of whipped cream or non-dairy whipped topping.

To Mrs. Meredith who requested a recipe for corn cob syrup. I found this recipe in "An Antique Cookbook" by Bertha Barnes. I am sure that it would taste good because we find that the good things do not change through the years.

CORN COB SYRUP

Boil 15 red, clean corn cobs covered in water for about 2 hours until you have about 1 pint of liquid. Strain and add 2 lbs. of brown sugar. Boil until of the desired thickness.

I would imagine that the flavor would be just as tasty using white corn cobs. However the color might not be as dark.

Boyne takes second win!

With hands raised in triumph, Boyne City players jumped for joy as this play went for six points during the opening minutes of the first quarter. Pete Smith is somewhere at the bottom of the pile in front of Bill Wicker (52). The official blew the whistle and then raised both hands to signify the TD. Boyne scored two more times in the first half and went on to win the game 19-6.

Ramblers put together four quarter win

BY SCOTT KNIPE

Two-thirds through the season and Boyne City has doubled their record of last year, winning for the second time their Homecoming game against Onaway by a score of 19-6.

One of the largest crowds of the year watched the team pull together and play four good quarters of football, both offensively and defensively. Boyne City Coach Shorty Smith said it was great with the crowd behind the team and the lack of mistakes that has characterized the play in some of the games so far this season.

Offensively in the first half, as the Ramblers took control of the ball from the opening kick-off and drove to Onaway's goal-line for the first score, Pete Smith took the ball over the line from four yards out. A successful conversion kick made Boyne a leader on the field with a 7-0 standing early in the game.

Boyne then tried an onside kick to give the opponents a chance, but they flubbed the ball and Boyne recovered on Onaways' 40 yard line. Not wasting any time, Boyne kept the ball on the ground and minutes later, Smith carried the ball in for another score. The conversion was wide so the score at the end of the first quarter was 13-0.

Starting the second quarter, Onaway managed to hold onto the ball for a few plays, but the Rambler defense did a job and Onaway was forced to give up the ball after a fourth down attempt to make enough yards for a first down.

Boyne then took to the air and with a 40 yard Troy Heierman to Pete Smith to Tim Hennessy double pass play, Boyne found themselves on the Onaway goal again. This time, Heierman took the ball into the endzone on a quarterback keeper.

Again, the conversion attempt did not add a point so at the half, the Ramblers were leading 19-0.

After the halftime Homecoming ceremonies, Boyne gave up some yards defensively before toughening up and making a goal-line stand on the one yard line.

After Onaway couldn't score, the Ramblers went into action, taking the ball a few yards up the field to the Onaway 11 yard line. But a third down fumble gave the ball away to an Onaway player.

They then took advantage of the turnover and used an end sweep to give them their only touchdown of the game. They failed on their conversion, leaving the score 19-6.

After the Onaway kickoff, Boyne used their muscle to work the ball down to about the five yard line.

In a play that was possibly too good, Boyne scored again, but the play was called back after a referee was confused by the play and whistled the ball dead after looking at a massive pileup of players. But Boyne still had the ball during the pileup and the runner just bounced off the wall and broke through for the TD for what could have been another Boyne score. The fast whistle caused Coach Smith to fume at the sidelines.

On the following play, Onaway broke through the line and sacked Heierman which turned the ball over to Onaway.

But Chuck Vondra penetrated the Onaway line on the next series to sack their quarterback in a repeat of Boyne's previous possession.

Boyne then took the ball down field for another TD, but that was also called back because of a holding penalty.

Boyne turned the ball over to the Onaway eleven, who started to move the ball up the field before a Hennessy interception stopped the advance.

BC girls in basketball slump, drop 2 more

Boyne City's girls basketball squad just can't get the breaks to go their way. Throughout the season they've been subjected to narrow losses and unfortunate circumstances that have led to their only winning two games thus far in the season.

Tuesday, Boyne played host to an unmerciful St. Ignace team. Boyne came out in the first quarter and maintained a close game with the Saints, but in the end the Saints pulled it together for a devastating win of 65-40 by the end of the game.

Lead scorer for Boyne was Mindy Stadt with 15 points, followed by LaCinda Thompkins with 14, ten of which were from freethrows. Also contributing were Amy Weeks and Tysh Crozier with 4 points each, Mary Beth Archambault with 2, and Patty Schmoltd with 1. Lead rebounder for Boyne was Lori Knight with 8 rebounds, followed by Crozier with 7.

Then on the 8th, Boyne again hosted the rivals, this time Gaylord. Boyne was the underdog by a large margin in this game, after losing to Gaylord immensely in September, but Boyne had Gaylord worried when play continued into the final minutes with only a five point margin. The only thing that saved Gaylord was a quick basket for them in the final minute and a few successful freethrows that ended the game at 53-43, Boyne's loss.

Snatching high scoring position this game was Tysh Crozier with 14, trailed by Mary Beth Archambault with 10, and Mindy Stadt with 8. Contributing baskets were Colleen Williams with 4; Patty Schmoltd, LaCinda Thompkins, and Amy Weeks with 2, and Lori Knight with 1. Tysh Crozier also was top rebounder with 9 followed by Mary Beth Archambault with 8.

BC jayvee girls drop two last week

Boyne City's JV girls' basketball team simply could not manage to bring the St. Ignace Saints down last Tuesday in a contest that was blown out early in the second half. The young Ramblers gave it their all, but it was too late, and the game ended 40-23, with Saint Ignace taking home the victory.

The outstanding player of that game was Michelle Montgomery with the team high score of 8, and top rebounding score with 16 rebounds.

Thursday they met with Gaylord here for a roof raising confrontation lasting into the last seconds of the game, but ending 50-45, Gaylord's lead.

Again Montgomery was high scorer, this time with 27 points, far better than half Boyne's final score. Michelle also tied with Dawn Archambault for top rebounding position, each with 9 rebounds. Adding to Boyne's score against Gaylord was Crissy Gervasi with 8 points, Dawn Archambault with 6, Nancy McCullough with 5, Trisha Fanning with 3, and Kristen Harvey with 2.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS TO THE BOYNE CITY LANES ALL STAR, ALL CITY MEN'S 1986-87 MEN'S BOWLING TEAM

All City Team Loaded With Talent

If one thing could be said about the All City Team at Boyne City Lanes, it's that they don't take a back seat to anyone. With the averages and series and games that this team accumulated during the 1986-87 season, they can hold their own anywhere in the state. So on that note, here is the 1986-87 All Star, All City Team from Boyne City!

Steve Sutfin-the Big Guy, as we call him, and Steve can put some big scores together. Steve had the highest series shot last year at Boyne City, a super 792 set, with games of 289, 279, 278 and six more 700 series, you kind of get the picture why Steve is on the All City Team. Both of his league averages were over 200. And the list goes on and on. A terrific bowler when he sets his mind to it, and a pleasure to have on the All City Team, Big Guy-Steve Sutfin.

Joe Deisler Jr.-not to be outdone, Joe had himself a very fine year. A 300 game in Boyne City and in Petoskey, a 777 series plus five other 700's. Joe ended up with a 201 average in the Merchants League and a 197 average in the Sears 3-man League. As anyone will tell you, when Joey is on, look out, because some big numbers are going up on the board. A very deserving selection to the All City Team.

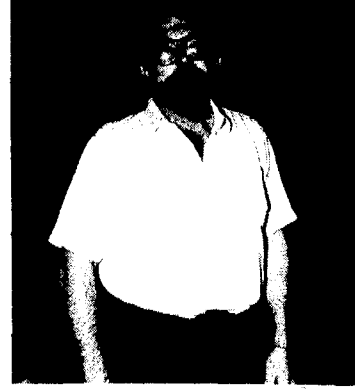

CAPTAIN

Ron Grunch-Captain-on occasions, he is called Captain Crunch and rightly so. While bowling in 3 leagues this past season all of Ron's averages were over 200. A 204 in the Fraternal League, a 207 in the Merchants League and a 204 in the Sears 3-man League. That's a combined average of over 205 for more than 216 games bowled. Ron had a perfect 300 game to go with his credentials, plus numerous 700 series. (Too many to mention!) If anyone is deserving of being selected as captain of the All City Team, it's Ron Grunch.

Denny Peck-an All City Team wouldn't be complete without at least one lefty, and Denny Peck deserves to be on the All City Team. A solid 192 average bowler this past season, Denny rolled a 713 series, plus a few 690's and some big games also, 279, 268. Denny really never has a bad night. A bad night to Denny is less than 600, and with that competitive attitude, Denny Peck is on this year's All Star Team for 1986-87.

Ron Peters-Ron might not have had as big numbers as the other members of the team, but nobody, and we do mean nobody, bowled as consistent as Ron Peters did. If you needed a 200 game bowled, Ron would bowl it. If your team needed a 700 series, Ron would get the job done. His averages in the Fraternal League and the Merchant League were, what else? 200 and 202. Add seven 700 series and a couple of 279 games in, and you have one of the most respected bowlers in this area, Ron Peters.

....AND THE SECOND TEAM....

There were five other bowlers who had themselves a good year, too! Although not quite as big scores as the All City Team did, we feel they deserve some recognition for their efforts.

John Gasco-another bowler from the left hand side, John carried a 190 average this past year, with a few series well over 650, and a season high 711 series. Fine job, John.

Bill Korhaas-Bill's 186 average is a bit misleading. After a slow start, Billy set the house on fire, especially in January, when he shot 715 and 713 during that stretch. After missing all of the 1985-86 due to an injury, Bill had himself a nice 1986-87 season.

Carl Bayster-if a guy bowls six nights a week, he either has to be crazy or good, and for Carl, he's good. Featuring a high average of 191, Carl also had himself a season high of 722 with a 268 game. His other averages were well over 185. A very good year for Carl.

Al Van Dusen-probably the quiet man this year. Al didn't hit any big 700's series, or 290 games, but his three averages were 189-189-187, which we think is excellent. Al is always around the pocket, and gives his team a good effort every time out. A bowler who we feel deserves some recognition!

Wayne Kleinschrodt-good, steady, consistent, mentally tough. Well, you get the idea. They all describe Wayne. A 190 average bowler, two 700 series, numerous big 600 sets, just a darn good bowler! A pleasure to have on anyone's team. Mr. Wayne Kleinschrodt!

Those are our stars from the 1986-87 bowling season. What's in store for this year? Well, we'll just have to wait and see. But we got a feeling that with the competition that is out there now, nobody has a sure spot locked up on our 1987-88 team. Next week, look for the women's 1986-87 All Star, All City Team.

East Jordan Red Devils drop close homecoming game 22-20

BY DENNIS SKROCKI
Time ran out on the East Jordan varsity football team last Friday as they fell short of claiming a Homecoming victory over Pellston.

The Red Devils scored on their opening possession as Matt Bishop capped a nine play drive with a 20 yard TD romp. The conversion pass attempt from Dan Pepin to Dave Freel fell incomplete.

Pellston was forced to punt on their first drive by the Devil defense but scored as an EJ fumble was taken into the endzone, with the extra point conversion Pellston was forced to punt on their first drive by the Devil defense, but scored as an EJ fumble was taken into the endzone. With the extra point conversion the Hornets took an 8-6 lead.

Minutes later the Devils regained the lead as Bishop scored on an eight yard run. Curtis "The Wildman" Weidler plunged into the endzone for the two-point conversion giving the Devils a 14-8 edge. Neither team was able to score over the next seven minutes and the score stood at the half.

The Devils suffered a blocked punt on their opening possession of the second half and gave Pellston excellent field position at the 17 yard line. Moments later the score was tied 14-14.

EJ once again bounced right back as Bishop capped a lengthy drive with a 31 yard scamper to paydirt. The conversion failed leaving the Devil margin at six points, 20-14.

Early in the final stanza, Pellston scored a TD on a drive that was aided with 45 yards worth of defensive penalties by EJ. The successful conversion gave the Hornets a 22-20 lead which turned out to be the final score.

The Red Devils threatened late in the game as a 53 yard touchdown run by Al Merrill was called back due to a holding penalty.

Bishop was the leading ground gainer with 122 yards on 15 carries as Dave Freel picked up 37 on six attempts before leaving the game with a knee injury. Merrill gained 29 yards on 12 tries as Weidler ran for 22 on six runs.

In the passing department Pepin completed two of five passes for 13 yards as he connected with Dennis Skrocki on a 13 yarder and Mark Moore with one good for four.

Skrocki led the way defensively with 13 tackles as Bishop, Shannon Gee, and Aaron Bieshlag had nine each. Jeff Olstrom added eight as Pepin and Moore each contributed seven.

This week EJ will host Harbor Springs in hopes of getting back on the winning track.

Red Devil jayvees tromp Pellston 26-0

BY DENNIS SKROCKI
After losing a tough game to Bellaire a week earlier, the East Jordan JV football squad dominated Pellston and captured a 26-0 victory.

The Red Devils put their first points on the board at the 3:23 mark of the first quarter when Scott Beal made his way into the endzone from six yards out. The extra point conversion was stopped.

An interception by Tony Joseph brought the EJ offense right back onto the field with starting position near the midfield stripe. After moving the ball to the Pellston 29 yard line, the Devils turned the ball over on downs.

The EJ defense showed strength and forced the Hornets to punt after three plays. Bill Gotts returned the ball 31 yards bringing it into Pellston territory at the 31 yard line where the Devil offense took over. After a two yard run by Scott Beal and a five yard Pellston penalty, Pat Russell scampered 24 yards to paydirt. The extra point pass attempt fell incomplete and the Red Devil lead stood at 12-0.

EJ gained possession of the ball once more before halftime as Fritz Healey came up with a fumble recovery. However, time ran out before any more points could be put on the board.

With starting field position at the 44 yard line to begin the second half, the Red Devils wasted no time scoring. Carries by Beal and Russell got the ball into Hornet territory before Ted Sherman broke loose on a 47 yard run into the endzone. The conversion attempt was fumbled, thus leaving the score at 18-0.

The Devils scored their final points of the game with 4:34 remaining in the third period as Russell crossed the goal line on a five yard run. Gotts connected with Steve Shepard for the conversion and extended the lead to 26-0.

Sherman was the leading ground gainer as he picked up 78 yards on six carries. Russell gained 76 on seven attempts as Beal and Ryan Clark each had 30 yards on ten and two carries respectively.

In the passing department Pete Inman connected with Jim McWatters for a 14 yarder as Mike Rebec hit Gotts with one good for 21. Defensively Sherman led the way with seven tackles as Healey had six and Shepard, Gotts and Dan "Mad Dog" Freel had four each.

Joseph had an interception as Healey, Shepard and Dan Ruhling had fumble recoveries.

The victory raises the Devils' record to 3-1-1 overall (2-1 in the conference). This week EJ will travel to Harbor Springs to take on the Rams in Ski-Valley action.

Both teams traded the ball back and forth for a few more plays before Boyne ended up with the ball and six seconds left on the clock. They played out the last seconds to make their season record so far, two wins, four losses and a step from the bottom of the Huron-Michigan Shores League standings.

For Boyne, Pete Smith was the leading ground gainer with 17 carries and 63 yards. Heierman had 52 yards passing and carried the ball for 38 more yards. Hennessy had the ball in his hands four times and gained 34 yards while Scott Patton carried the ball seven yards on a single carry.

Not a single defensive player was left out of the action Friday, and they too should get special regards for holding Onaway to only 67 yards total, 20 in the first half.

Friday, the Ramblers will carry their winning attitude to face Grayling at home.

EJ girls have perfect week, beat 2 teams

BY DENNIS SKROCKI
The East Jordan girls varsity basketball team turned in two exciting performances last week with victories over Pellston and Gaylord St. Mary's.

Tuesday's game not only saw the Devils defeat the Hornets 80-32, but also saw senior Kristy Miller set a new school record with a 39 point effort.

After leading only 13-6 at the end of the first period, EJ extended it to 34-17 at the half. The score stood at 56-22 after the third before the Devils ultimately won 80-32.

Other than Miller, Jill Burt was impressive from an offensive standpoint as she canned 20 points while Kris Burt added five and Jenny Malpass contributed four.

The Devils hit two 3 point field goals and 30 two-pointers for the night while going 14 for 29 at the freethrow line. The Hornets canned 14 two-pointers and hit 4 of 12 at the line.

Things weren't as easy against St. Mary's on Thursday. Despite leading by ten points, 38-28, at the end of the third period, the Devils had to fight off a late Snowbird rally and won by a slim 50-46 margin.

Miller was once again the leading scorer with 15 points as Jill Burt added ten and Erin Snyder contributed eight. Also scoring were: Sara Chase (5), Brenda Drenth (4), Monica Olstrom (4), Malpass (2), and Kris Burt (1).

During the evening the Devils hit 22 of 50 shots from the field (44%) while going 4 of 9 at the line. St. Mary's sank 19 of 51 from the field (37%) and canned 5 of 11 at the stripe.

Top defensive honors also went to Miller as she came up with 22 rebounds while Snyder grabbed eight and Drenth crashed the boards for six.

The victories raise the Devils' record to 8-2 overall, 5-2 in the Ski-Valley Conference.

This week EJ will travel to Central Lake and Inland Lakes.

Back injuries accounted for one out of every five workplace injuries or illnesses in 1980. A fact sheet prepared by the Labor Department's Occupational Safety

Boyer City to plant daffodils

Not to be outdone by the petunia plantings of Charlevoix, Boyer City will soon be planting daffodils, according to Sandra Stanley, the coordinator of the effort from the Boyer Valley Garden Club and the Parks and Recreation Board.

She said that $240 was raised this year through private donations and was used to purchase 1,000 daffodil bulbs through the Boyer Avenue Greenhouse.

They will be planting them Thursday, October 22 at various locations throughout the city. Volunteers are asked to join in the planting and are to call 582-6251 with your name and phone number if you are willing to help the Garden Club plant the bulbs.

Residents are also urged to continue this theme next year by pledging money for future plantings and also by planting daffodils in their own yards.

Stanley said to obtain the best price, large quantities should be ordered in the spring and the greenhouse will be accepting orders.

Unlike Charlevoix, the plantings will not be along the main roads, but in places where they will be protected. There are several patches daffodils in town now, but the group is looking for additional planting sites for next year.

Conserve Conservancy has option to buy North Point dunes

The Little Traverse Conservancy, a non-profit land conservation organization, reported today that it has purchased an option on 28 acres of land known as North Point. The property includes over 2,800 feet of frontage on Lake Michigan, environmentally sensitive sand dunes and three threatened plant species. It is located just north of the City of Charlevoix in Charlevoix Township, adjacent to the Mt. McSaubra recreation area owned by the City.

The project will involve a major fundraising drive, according to Tom Bailey, Executive Director of the Little Traverse Conservancy. Approximately $700,000 must be raised in order to cover the option payments, land cost, and project expenses. The money must be raised within two years, Bailey said, to complete the project.

If the acquisition effort is successful, the Conservancy plans to turn the property over to Charlevoix Township for dedication as a public park and nature preserve. Bailey noted that township residents played a major role in getting the Conservancy involved with North Point, and that Township officials are interested in the property.

The Conservancy will not be undertaking the project alone. Bailey cited several local groups for their support in the early stages, and said that additional support will come from WATCH (Water and Air Team Charlevoix), Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, and DUNE (Defenders United for Northpoint Ecology).

"The support of these groups is very important to the project," Bailey said, adding that as with other Conservancy land purchases, this project will depend upon people in the local area for its success.

The Conservancy has successfully conducted similar protection efforts in the area, all funded with local support. These projects include land between Harbor Springs and Petoskey, a 10 acre wetland on Walloon Lake, and the Colonial Point Forest near Burt Lake in Cheboygan County.

Bailey said that the Conservancy and other groups involved believe that support for the North Point project will be strong. "Following events in Charlevoix over the past couple of years," Bailey said, "we have seen a great many issues that involved opposition to something-action against particular developments, anti-condominium sentiment, and that sort of thing. The North Point project offers the people of Charlevoix something to be for, without having to be against anything in particular." Bailey added that there is no regulatory issue in question, no controversial proposal, but "simply an effort to acquire a very unique piece of property for the enjoyment of people in the area for generations to come."

North Point is "ideal" as a site for a park, Bailey said. The half-mile of Lake Michigan sandy and rock beach gives way to sand dunes and forested uplands, with small pockets of wet areas. Bailey says that one day a network of paths and nature trails will help visitors to see all of North Point. "Being adjacent to an existing park is also an ideal feature of the Point," Bailey along the lotline if requested by the church.

According to the developers of the parcel, there is room for expansion for other like concern-said, "because it allows us to create more recreational land in an area already established as a place to enjoy the outdoors."

Part of the funding for the purchase will be sought from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund, a program administered by the state Department of Natural Resources. Fund revenues come from oil and gas leases on state land, and are designated for the purchase of recreational and environmentally significant land in the state. Bailey says that an application has already been filed with the Trust Fund, and that so far he is optimistic about the project's chances of receiving a grant. A final decision, he said, will come from the Trust Fund Board in January.

Youth organizations fight drug abuse through statewide campaign

A new anti-substance abuse campaign including a "rap" music video featuring basketball star Earvin "Magic" Johnson will be available for use by schools, 4-H clubs and other youth-serving organizations with a message that promotes a positive attitude about being drug free.

"Drug Free and Proud to be...High on Myself" is the theme of the campaign targeted at youths between the ages of 8 and 12—which, according to 4-H program leader Leah Cox Hooper, is a good place to start.

"The percentage of kids using drugs by sixth grade has tripled over the past decade, and there is evidence that drugs and alcohol are in every middle school and high school in the state," Hooper says. "We cannot emphasize prevention enough."

The campaign, which will be launched in October to coincide with National 4-H Week and Substance Abuse Awareness Month, is a partnership effort between Michigan 4-H Youth Programs and the South Central Michigan Substance Abuse Commission, a regional substance abuse coordinating agency serving Calhoun, Hillsdale, Jackson and Lenawee counties and based in Jackson.

"Through this partnership, we have developed materials that kids all over the state can get excited about," Hooper says. "Our goal is to help young people feel good about themselves and feel confident in their abilities to make the right choices about ns, and if they decide to expand, plans for a new site plan would come in from the board for review.

The site will use a portion of the area for outside storage behind the building for trailers, cradles, boats and other items, but the planners are requiring the area to be completely screened from the road.

All of the site is to be maintained and landscaped by the developer.

Completion of the building is expected yet this fall if the weather allows according to the builder.

wouldn't scare them." Suggested activities and classroom lesson plans that teach and reinforce important substance abuse prevention concepts may be ordered. The posters, stickers, T-shirts, etc., are designed to complement the messages and serve as reminders of the message after the club or classroom activities are completed.

For information about ordering "Drug Free and Proud to be...High on Myself" materials, contact your county cooperative Extension office or the South Central Michigan Substance Abuse Commission at (517) 788-4400, or 120 W. Michigan, Suite 904, Jackson, MI 49201, or call the state 4-H office at (517) 355-0180.

"We want to reach children through as many vehicles as possible with a positive, upbeat message," says Jan Parson, prevention officer with the Jackson agency. "Many substance abuse messages are either scary or depressing. We wanted a message that kids would be proud of, that they could relate to and that

Four file for Boyer commission seats

Four candidates, including an incumbent, will be trying for two seats on the Boyer City Commission after the close of petitions last week.

Filing as an incumbent was Commissioner Thelma Behling. She will be heading the list of non-partisan candidates. Joining her will be Sandra Stanley, Bernarr (Andy) Andrick and Rudy Florenski.

Of the three, only Florenski has tried to win a spot on the commission before.

They will be running for seats created by the late Casimir Toton and the expiring term of Behling.

Also on the ballot will be an issue to allow the city to lease airport property to the Boyer City Airport Authority for 25 years to allow construction of new hangars. The hangars would become city property at the end of the lease.

Absentee ballots are available from the City Clerk's office in Boyer City.

Teachers' scholarship fund to benefit selected BC graduating seniors

The Boyer City Education Association is pleased to announce a formation of the Teacher's Scholarship Fund where scholarships of $500 or more will be awarded to selected graduating seniors to help them to continue their education.

Applications will be available early 1988 for this year's graduating class. The scholarship award can be applied towards any post-high school program. This includes not only the 4 year college program but also vocational programs and 2 year junior college programs.

Awarding of the scholarships will be based on the student's academic achievements and extra-curricular school and community activities. Our goal is to recognize those young people who were solid students in school and in the community.

The scholarships will be awarded during the graduation ceremony in June and the recipients' names will be placed on a plaque, which will be permanently displayed in the high school.

The Boyer City Teacher's Association has already donated $1000 to the Scholarship Fund as a memorial to Mrs. Ricka Jarema and Mr. Robert Klevorn.

Jazz band returns to McCune

Pollen not only cause of hay fever

Hay fever is not only seasonal. Up to 40 million Americans suffer from it - and as many as 20 million of these sufferers are afflicted with hay fever symptoms throughout the year.

According to the American Lung Association of Michigan - the Christmas Seal people - seasonal hay fever only occurs during the early fall, spring and summer when plants are shedding pollen into the air. Perennial hay fever, however, is a year-round sensitivity to a myriad of other airborne particles, many commonly found in the home or workplace. These particles can also cause the typical symptoms of hay fever - sniffles, a running nose, teary and itching eyes, uncontrollable sneezing, nasal stuffiness, and a tickly throat.

The typical home is a virtual treasure trove of allergy-provoking particles. People with perennial hay fever are allergic to one or another of the hundreds of different types of microscopic airborne particles that fill the home and, for some, the workplace. Common house dust contains tiny fibers of wool, linen and cotton shed from clothing, rugs, and other items made of those fabrics. Dust also frequently contains living creatures: the small house mite has attained a certain notoriety among allergy doctors as a potent instigator of hay fever attack.

Other household triggers include human hair and skin as well as animal dander, which includes the skin sheddings and saliva of a household pet. Feathers, glues, plaster, newsprint, and insecticides are also on the long list of potential allergy triggers in susceptible people. Finally, molds growing in dark, humid recesses throughout many houses can shed spores that, like pollen, provoke an attack.

Sufferers from perennial as well as seasonal hay fever know all too well that tobacco smoke and chemical fumes can aggravate their symptoms, as can drafts, chilling and sudden temperature changes.

Hay fever, also known as allergic rhinitis, occurs because of an inherited sensitivity of the nasal tissues to inhaled particles called allergens. These particles set off reactions resulting in the release of chemical irritants, including the recently discovered class of substances called leukotrienes.

During hay fever season (which includes early fall), the best advice is to stay indoors as much as possible, keeping windows closed and the air conditioner running (with a closed vent). Electrostatic air filters and similar devices may also help. For people whose active lives keep them outdoors much of the time, the best solution may be one or more of the available allergy medications. Antihistamines are usually effective, but can cause sleepiness. Nose drops or sprays work for a while in relieving nasal congestion but then backfire, leading to an increase in congestion. Consult your physician so that the best drug or combination of drugs can be recommended.

For more information on hay fever and asthma, call your American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5929.
