

Booooo!

Boyer City likes to dress up the homes to scare all the little witches and goblins almost as much as they like to decorate homes for Christmas. The George Wuerth residence on Terrace Street and the West residence on Boyne Avenue are just two of the dressed up for the occasion homes in Boyne City.

News Briefs

Boyer City officially designated Trick or Treat time for Halloween at the noon meeting yesterday. The time for children to ask for candies and other goodies will be between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Other communities are expected to follow suit.

Work on Lake Street by the C. H. Smith Company is coming along almost on schedule, according to Steve Smith. What has been holding up progress is that the company has been correcting problems as they continue to add a new sewer line on the east side of the road. Smith said he expects to have the work completed yet this year and be ready for the road work that is scheduled next spring.

Northern NOW, the local chapter of the national organization, will be holding their monthly meeting today with the focus being on making personal decisions. They meet in room 52 at NCMC at 7:30 p.m.

Consumers Power announced a program that will offer energy analysis for its smaller commercial customers. The program is designed to help small businesses run more efficiently.

With the emphasis on eating healthier meals taking over recently across the nation, Janet Rathke, the Cooperative Extension Service's home economist says you can still eat "normal" foods. She is presenting a program called "Take Heart In The Kitchen" at the Ellsworth Town Hall Thursday, October 29 between 7:30 and 9 p.m. You will have a chance to sample some healthy foods and learn how to monitor your cholesterol.

Planners ask city to tackle VFW sign

Boyer City planners asked the City Commission to start action against the Veterans of Foreign Wars as they say they have tried to work out signage complaints concerning the VFW and the city's sign ordinance. The planners had asked City Attorney Bill McTaggart to give them an opinion last month and his response to the question covered three pages. He told the board that the sign was in violation, as he could determine, on six different sections of the ordinance.

But, he suggested that before the city take further action, further evidence as well as other signs in the area also be included as they are in violation, too.

In the letter to the planners, McTaggart said the sign violates section 7.20 D of the zoning ordinance as the VFW has more than the allowable 75 square foot of signage. He included the signage that is painted on the sides of the building.

In section 7.20 G, the ordinance requires that any freestanding sign, not attached to the building shall be at least five feet from the street or lot line. He said that sign appears to be

It started as the Lakewood Savings and Loan but through transaction is now the First Federal of Michigan building. Bank officials announced Monday the office will be closing December 18th, ending a five year stay in northern Michigan. The reason for the closing was that the branch was too far away from other branches and could not support itself alone.

First Fed to close doors in BC

About 1,000 customers will be affected with the announced closing of the First Federal of Michigan offices in Boyne City according to officials with the savings and loan institution. Also affected are about 125 mortgages that the bank had with property owners in northern Michigan.

The savings and loan institution announced the closing of the branch in a form letter sent out to all account holders of the institution Monday and Tuesday.

While the decision to close the branch came after many months of study and effort, bank officials said, the decision was reached to close the northernmost branch of the almost statewide institution last month.

The branch is about 150 miles from their next nearest location in Grand Rapids and it was felt that the stand alone branch could not be competitive with other banks and savings and loan companies serving the area.

According to Richard Platt, the Executive Vice President, Marketing Division, the branch closing was a result of the deregulation process which has changed the way the banking institutions look at branches these days.

He said the branch, with the competition within the marketplace and the general environment for financial services just wasn't in a position to carry itself over a long period of time.

A letter went out to all customers of the bank telling them that the bank would be closing on December 18, 1987 and if the customers wanted they could close out their accounts or continue with mail service only utilizing the main office in Detroit.

The letter stated that those holding certificate accounts could close them out without any penalty for early withdrawal.

The letter was the first letter

Boyer Falls names planning group

Boyer Falls will start a special committee to study the growing enrollment problems the school system is anticipating facing in the future after board President Bill Cousineau appointed a Needs Assessment Group to develop plans for the school.

The board members are concerned about the growing enrollments in grades K through 3 and expect continuing enrollments in the next few years due to growth of the school district.

Named to head the group was Board Member Andy Czerkies who will be chairing the group. Also included on the panel will be two other board members, two elementary teachers, one teacher from the middle school level, one from the high school, a P.T. O. member, a community businessperson, a senior citizen and the school administration.

They are charged to come up with a plan by the January board meeting as to how the

EJ action disciplines 14 athletes

Wondering why the East Jordan football and basketball squads were unable to claim a victory last week?

It was mostly due to the suspension of 14 student athletes who, on the night of October 10, violated the athletic training policy that pertains to the use of alcohol.

Although there was no evidence to prove that any of the athletes violated the rule, they were expected to show honesty and admit to the infraction.

The boys varsity football and girls varsity basketball squads are each without the services of five players. Last week the girls dropped games to Central Lake and Inland Lakes by respective scores of 57-46 and 57-51. Combined with injuries, the boys were easily handled by Harbor Springs, 50-6.

The junior varsity football team lost only two players but were also hampered with injuries and lost by the score of 24-0. Although no members of the JV basketball team were suspended, they are also suffering as three starters were moved up to fill in at the varsity level.

EJ Wickes plant earns Ford Q1 rating

The Mechanical Components Division, Wickes Manufacturing Company - East Jordan Plant has earned the elite Ford Q1 Preferred Quality Award. At a special luncheon in Dearborn, Michigan, Harry Tate, Vice President and General Manager of the Mechanical Components Division and Tom Caraher, Ford Account Manager for Wickes were presented with the award by Louis R. Ross, Executive Vice President, Ford Motor American Automotive Operations.

Ford credits Q1 suppliers with helping produce the highest quality cars and trucks built in America for the seventh year running. The prestigious Q1 Award, which has been earned by 34 percent of Ford's suppliers, goes to individual manufacturing plants that have implemented an effective quality assurance program and received an excellent quality rating. These plants use statistical methods to build quality in, rather than catch errors at the end of the manufacturing line.

The Q1 Award evaluation criteria entail a comprehensive review of plant quality practices and performance. The satisfaction of the "customers" - Ford assembly plants, in Mechanical Components case, as well as the ultimate retail customers - is a major consideration of the ad hoc team that determines if the Award should be given. Included on the team are specialists from Ford's corporate quality office and representatives from both the "customer" plants and the Bonnie has lived in Boyne City for over 50 years, coming from Port Huron with her husband, Edward, a conservation officer.

BC going after violations

Boyer City Commissioners authorized the city attorney to begin proceedings against some of the ordinance violations that have occurred around town during the noon Tuesday meeting of the Commissioners.

Most of the ordinance violations fall into the nuisance category, according to City Manager Randy Frykberg. The authorization will allow the city to proceed against those cases where every other avenue has been tried but has failed.

In other action Frykberg told the commissioners the city has two options to buy land from property owners adjacent to the Air/Industrial Park for future park expansion.

But he said the proposed expansion also would have to include property owned by the Catholic Church to make the expansion plan work in the best interest of the community.

The expansion would include a total of 18 acres, of which 5.7 is owned by the church. In meetings with the church council, the city showed that selling a portion of the property they would own would still leave them with about double their present usage.

Frykberg said he is writing a letter to the Bishop to explain why the land is needed for the park expansion and what jobs could be created when the land is developed.

Frykberg then had Police Chief John Talboys explain why the vote is crucial to development of the airport. Talboys said the issue on the ballot is the same as the one passed a few

They were joined for dinner by Jean Marcham.

Paul and Mary Karl and daughter Amy of Climax were here over the weekend visiting her sister, Betty Spencer, and her mother Peg.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson and three children of Dwight, Illinois were here over the weekend visiting his brother Verlin and Dorothy Thompson and family.

The Laff-A-Lot Club met at the home of Laura Eggers on Friday for a noon luncheon and an afternoon of playing bunco. Myra Kurtz won the high prize, with Leonna Griffen getting the low, and Iva Fear getting bunco.

George and Judy Shiotelis spent a week bow and arrow hunting at a deer camp near Cadillac and were joined by the Paul Hibbards of Millington and the Russ Whiteheads of Vassar. Joyce Hibbard claimed a button buck.

Last week, Clara Rolls and Katherine Spaniak went to Mt. Pleasant shopping and stopped in Harrison to help Clara's son Donald and her great granddaughter, Danielle, celebrate their birthdays.

Scores from Wednesday's senior bowling games were: Jerry Kimble-438; Pros Blandkaert-415; Dick Brannon-379; Chuck Calvin-378; Chick Rickard-376; Norm Kruger-341; Jean Marcham-340; Clara Kimble-306; Pearl Frieden-298; Mary Rumpf-230; and Betty Calvin-202. Winners of Thursday's bingo games were: 1st regular-Grace Maves, 2nd-Jessie Padgett, and 3rd-split-Dorothy Hayden/Dorothy Nowland/Minnie Martin. The specials went to: 1st-split-Alice Wilson/Harold Moyer, and 2nd-split-Zada Moyer/Minnie Martin and the cover all went to Evelyn Stebbins, with Lyle Ross as caller.

Mrs. Alice Clancy of Clarkston (who has spent the past few months in Ellsworth with her son) spent several days this past week visiting her sister Dorothy Nowland. Last week, Dorothy and her daughter, Caria Jarema, of Flint spent several days in Crystal Falls visiting the Pat Robinsons.

On October 11th, many friends and relatives attended the baptismal services at the Presbyterian Church, officiated by the Rev. Milton Walls, for Daniel Lysle, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Shiotelis. Among those here to attend the special occasion were Mr. and Mrs. George Shiotelis of Grand Rapids. A lunch was served following the services.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

All day long, I have been in a fog. Similar to the one I woke up with Monday morning and I didn't want to get out of bed after I got back in after turning off the alarm.

So, after finally arising, I have not been in a mood to work all day long.

Which, for me, on a Monday and a Tuesday could be disastrous, if only because the rest of the column could look like this...

lkajsdfk afkjasdf asdlkjasdf ;lkajsdf oiugwer kljasdf xcvmas;lkjasdf opuiqwer lkjasdf asflkj.

That is because I have a blank mind, especially at times when I am walking around in a fog.

Oh sure, I can always think of great things to write about when I am driving a car going from here to there, but not having a tape recorder or a secretary riding with me who knows shorthand, some of those great thoughts end up flying out the windows with the fresh air.

But, in parking the car at some of the city's parking spaces, I wonder what the government intends to do about all of the cars that leak oil on the pavement.

If the EPA found out about it, they would be up in arms and start writing rules that will be putting every gas station out of business.

If only because they sell oil. Sometimes I wish the EPA could look at reality instead of trying to protect everything with their own level of government.

After all, we, the taxpayers, pay their salaries and they end up treating the citizens like polluted dirt or worse.

It's a little like many of the governing bodies we have allowed to start up as we are afraid to protect ourselves. We always want someone else to do the work.

And in the case of government, when they do the work, we all end up suffering.

For example, let us say that a new rule has been written by these blue-sky thinkers that says we are producing too much carbon dioxide in our breathing because the cost of government is causing humans to breath too hard.

Maybe they would offer to mitigate, whatever that word means to them, and you may have to provide one of your lungs so you can keep on breathing and working to pay the bills that those bureaucracies continually create.

Someone said that the price of a car would be considerably less, if the government had not created all of those new rules.

The same is true of almost everything we do and would like to do.

The cost of food is higher because the farmers have to buy more expensive fertilizers because the manufacturer of the fertilizer has had to ensure the government that his fertilizer will pass all of the government rules for fertilizers.

The manufacturer of toys has to charge more because the government has had a hand in that business also.

It is the same in almost every business that produces products for you and me.

And if the government cares, they sure don't show it. Their concern for the average citizen carries about the weight of a fleck of dust.

If our legislatures, both in the state and federal government had any guts, they would come down hard on those who make rules that are expensive to live by.

They would also pass a rule themselves that would eliminate most of those regulatory agencies.

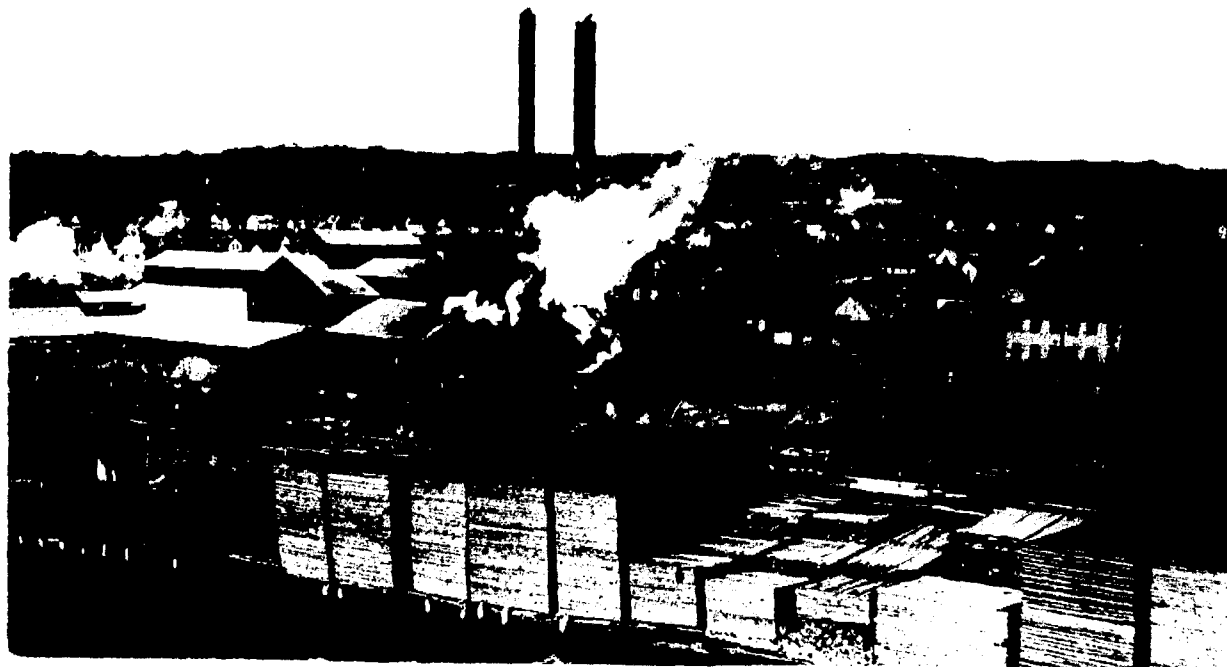

But, waiting for that to happen is the same as waiting for some alien creature to appear and tell the world it is doomed to live with sugar or something.

So, I guess we will have to live with oil spots on the parking places...until the government takes action against them.

WHITE MILL No. 1, BOYNE CITY, MICH.

Pictures of the White Mill Number 1 like this view, show how the mill was sited along North Lake Street. The building was where the present Veterans Memorial Park and City Hall are located today. The white building on the other side of Lake Street is where the present Northwestern State Bank is today and was, at the time of this picture, called the Pine Lake House. Just out of the picture is where the Boyne River used to run before it was moved in the fifties.

Wherein Smith beats Jones and Johnson slips past Miller....

Checking the other day to find the number of Mr. Smith, I discovered that our phone book is no longer just a phone book. It's this Ameritech Pages Plus thing with more pages of advertising than people listings.

And another thing. It is no longer easy to run your finger down the page to find the Smith you are looking for. It takes a while because there now are 229 Smiths in our book.

In these modern times keeping up with the Joneses is an exercise in kibosh. Today it's keeping up with the Smiths. That's because there are more Smiths to keep up with. (That is not correct English. One should never use a Smith to end a preposition with.)

Jones doesn't come anywhere near Smith with the 53 listings compared to Smith's well over two hundred. In fact Russell is only two men and a woman behind Jones and moving up fast.

Johnson comes in second behind Smith with 109, and Miller a close third with 104. It never occurred to me that Johnson would pass Miller before the year 2,000, but there it is in black and white.

Those whose names are not mentioned here should not feel slighted. If they wanted their name in the forefront they should have made arrangements to come from a long line of fertile folk.

My family name isn't mentioned hardly at all in the book, for which I do not feel put out because I know that I came from a short line of ancestors who were laying fallow back when the courthouse was burning so the ashes could be hauled down Pine Lake to a place called Charlevoix.

Why are so many people trailing the Smiths in northern Michigan? It could be that back there in history the Smiths got the jump on everyone else by forming the American Association of Inspired People. I say that off hand because I do not know Smith's secret of whipping the Joneses everyone used to keep up with.

After checking the number of names listed in the telephone book, I phoned up the call company to see if I had figured correctly. The computer static in my ear went from Traverse City to Grand Rapids over to Saginaw, ending up with a woman's voice out of Detroit.

The lady misunderstood my question. She got very excited swearing upon a stack of Bibles larger than the ten commandments that no one in her company had anything to do with the recent increase of Smiths. And she also said that if I knew what was good for me I'd keep my mouth shut.

HALLOWEEN

It is natural for us to have an eerie feeling of the presence of un-natural things and beings these autumn evenings. After the leaves have gone from the trees, they show their strange shaped skeletons, making weird silhouettes against the fast darkening sky or in the light of a full moon.

It is an awesome time which gives us that mystic feeling that must be as old as the World. We have learned that the ancient Celts celebrated their New Year the first of November. They had their bonfires which added to the eerie feeling. This made them brave enough to come into battle with evil and even death itself.

We find that the Romans had their apple festival this time of the year and they started the fun of bobbing for apples at their celebrations and parties.

The mysticism is still there, though our celebrations are so much milder. Halloween is for our children; we are happy to see them dress up like monsters, animals, and beautiful ladies or pirates, and watch them parade through the main street of our town the afternoon before the fun of "trick or treating." We used to call it "going Halloweening"; we never heard of the term "Trick or Treat" until I was 10 or 12 years old.

Mother will be busy and dinner will be a hurried affair at the best. She could have these apple stuffed pork chops fixed ahead and baking in the oven before the excitement begins and have them ready to serve on notice. This is one time that no one is going to linger at the table.

APPLESTUFFED PORK CHOPS

8 half inch thick pork chops
2 tablespoons margarine
1 large onion, chopped
2 cups chopped apples
1/3 cup raisins chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 cups seasoned croutons
Rubbed sage to taste, about 1/4 teaspoon

Sear pork chops, set aside. Saute onion in margarine. Stir in chopped apple, raisins, salt and pepper. Cook until warm. Stir in croutons and sage. You can judge the amount of sage by the amount that might already be in the croutons.

Arrange 4 pork chops in oven-proof pan. Place half the stuffing on top of chops cover with remaining 4 chops. Top with remaining stuffing. Bake covered at 350 degrees for about 1 hour.

This Italian Chicken is a meal-in-a-dish; also prepared ahead and cooked in the pressure cooker - saves time!

ITALIAN CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 head cabbage, cut in 4 wedges
1-8 oz. can tomato sauce
1 teaspoon oregano, crushed
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt

1/2 teaspoon dried basil, crushed
1/4 cup shredded Mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons cornstarch.

In 4 quart pressure cooker arrange chicken pieces, mushrooms, onion, green pepper, and cabbage wedges. Combine tomato sauce and seasonings; pour over chicken. Close lid. Cook at 15 lbs. pressure for 10 minutes. Cool quickly under cold running water. Remove chicken and vegetables to serving platter; sprinkle with cheese. Keep warm. Skim fat from pan juices. Combine cornstarch and 2 tablespoons cold water. Add to juices in cooker. Cook and stir till bubbly. Pass with chicken. 4 servings.

If the monsters are too excited to eat before, you could have apples, cider and peanut butter popcorn with doughnuts. When they return.

PEANUT BUTTER POPCORN

1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup chunky peanut butter
2 quarts popped corn

Mix together corn syrup and sugar in one quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and sugar is completely dissolved.

Remove from heat. Stir in peanut butter until smooth. Immediately pour mixture over popped corn in large bowl. Stir until evenly coated. Grease hands and shape into 10 two inch balls.

"The American people are obsessed with how they smell." Thus began the sermon the Sunday after the clergyman's week in bed accompanied by a cold, a TV set and a growing high dudgeon over TV advertisements. He went on to say that this state of affairs might well be responsible for the sorry condition of morality today - too much attention to odors and too little to moral values.

This goes a bit far. But Americans do care about odors in general and personal odor in particular. And they spend appreciable amounts in order to remove or improve their own odor, which enriches the makers of deodorants and deodorant soaps, plus those of toothpastes and mouthwashes considerably.

Perfume manufacturers do just as well or better. They keep marketing new smells to keep people coming back for more. Last year saw "Poison" and "Opium." It's "Ombre Bleue" this year, a scent that combines the smell of mango, papaya, coconut, jasmine, rose, vanilla and geranium. This dizzying combination is admitted by its creator, Jean-Charles Brosseau, to be a "nontraditional scent." He says he whipped it up for "The modern, independent woman with a strong romantic streak." Indeed. She also needs a strong bank balance because it sells for $150 an ounce.

Not only have many products for body odor flooded the market but some for clothing as well, particularly for shoes. In recent years, odor there has been controlled by insoles that devour the smell while the feet are in the shoes. But a new product, "Stinky Pinkys," is now out that can clean up the mess while the feet are otherwise occupied. The product is made up of two beanbag-like objects filled with earth's minerals that can be stuffed in a pair of shoes at night. In the morning, the inhabitants of the bedroom where the shoes reside can "wake up to a miracle" - shoes that no longer assert themselves.

When the research and development field for personal odor products got crowded, some chemists turned to a new challenge - the air. Room fresheners have been around for years, but not much happened in the outdoor air line.

Now it has, though, in the Boston area, when it comes to their sewage treatment plants, anyway. At several suburban pumping stations, the aura surrounding the plants gets altered to smell of various flavors like vanilla and tutti frutti. The latter scent smells like bananas when the sewage odor comes on strong. Then when the natural odor eases up a bit, the air smells like tangerines.

The courts have even gotten involved in smell-related concerns. In San Francisco, a winery, Chateau Phelan-Segur, is suing the Chevron Chemical Co. for supplying its vineyard with an insecticide that made the wine three years running smell like rotten vegetables. Why the vintner didn't catch this after the first year no one has reported. The stuff's awful and can't be sold in any case.

Perhaps as the clergyman said, Americans focus on odor, on smelling sweet and clean, too much. But never has it been said that folks who smell like gyms are known to be more moral than deodorized ones. And it's been long reported that cleanliness is next to Godliness. So who would you rather share a duplex with?

Boyerne Falls

Boards for representation as negotiators for teachers contracts for one year. If needed the board said they will use the firm on an hourly basis.

Boyerne Falls to get cable next year

Boyerne Falls may soon get cable TV as the Boyerne Valley Township Board approved a contract with Northern Cable to come into town to serve those within the village of Boyerne Falls and other areas where homes are close enough to make the cable system feasible.

The board approved the franchise agreement at a recent meeting. The cable firm is expected to start construction sometime next year.

school will deal with the upcoming problems.

In other action, the board held a short discussion on Senior Class trips and referred the matter to the Ways and Means Committee. Some of the items being discussed were setting guidelines for the trips length and the educational expectations. All discussions were to lead to an eventual phaseout of senior trips by the school.

They also decided to not renew a contract with the Michigan Association of School

I chucked as I read the CCP front page account of the Boyerne City teachers working without a contract:
"Another teacher...told the board that working without a contract is starting to cause some moral problems."

Possibly the word is "morale"?

Gotta do something 'bout diapers

Editor,

DEARECOLOGY
A few years ago the state of Michigan put into action a law that requires a return on bottles and cans. In this short period of time the state has reduced the debris tremendously.

On the other hand the state allows for the use of paper diapers.

Number one, paper diapers are not disposable, as the manufacturer claims. They are made up of polypropylene and wood fibers, they can take as long as 500 years to decompose in a landfill.

We find the diapers in our parks, campsites, beaches, etc. and also in our public dump sites. Human excretion is to be handled in a professional manner. This is why we have sanitary sewer systems, and no longer use outdoor toilets. People also try to flush these diapers down the toilet, where they end up at the sanitary sewer systems, and cause problems with the pumps and other equipment.

There is nothing more unpleasant than picking up a soiled diaper in my yard that a dog has torn from a trash bag down the street.

When you multiply the thousands of babies born each year, by the thousands of diapers they use each year, you get millions.

Where will these diapers be in 20 years from now when our landfills are full?

Worse yet, now that Rhode Island landfills are full, they truck their garbage to Pennsylvania and Michigan landfills.

If you are as concerned about this matter as I am, please mail me your signature, along with as many more as you can gather.

I have begun a petition to present to our state representatives.

product engineering office that designs the parts.

Particular attention is paid to the plant's ability to maintain quality as it implements new manufacturing processes and the application of statistical methods to the development and maintenance of efficient manufacturing techniques. This approach focuses on defect prevention, rather than detection. It increases quality and productivity by reducing the need for redundant testing, inspection, product rework and materials scrappage.

The Ford Q1 Preferred Quality Award has been earned by 738 supplier plants to date and is well-known for influencing the acceptance and widespread use of statistical methods among Ford's 2162 suppliers in North America.

Mechanical Components Division makes parking brakes, window regulators, side door latches and hood latches for Ford vehicles and has plants in East Jordan, Mancelona and Gordonsville, Tennessee employing over 600 people.

Fumbles, half game jinx decides Rambler effort against Grayling's Vikings

BY SCOTT KNIPE

Errors and the dreaded "half game syndrome" were both contributors to helping make the Boyne City Rambler record stand at 2-5 for the season so far after the Ramblers dropped the game last Friday with the Grayling Vikings, 30 to 13.

The team may have been able to partially break away from the syndrome but it wasn't enough as the Grayling bunch didn't care if Boyne was playing a whole game or not.

Boyne started off with a promise of repeating their Onaway game when about five minutes into the first quarter, Jeff Fineout ran a fine 65 yard touchdown play. That play was also followed by a good conversion attempt.

But a few plays and a minute or so later, the Vikings did nearly the same thing as they ran in a long touchdown. They then went with the two point conversion and took the lead after taking it.

Boyne then took the kickoff and drove back down to the Grayling 35 yard line, working a good ground game. But taking to the air to try to make the TD, found the passing game had eluded them and they were stalled in Grayling territory.

After changing ends for the second quarter, the Viking machine scored again, taking along with them, another two point conversion.

With about 13 seconds left on the clock, Grayling scored again on a broken up pass play when their quarterback ran for 30 yards and a touchdown. He also ran in the conversion for another two points leaving the score at the half, 24-7.

Starting the second half, Boyne started out looking like a winner, taking control of the ball and moving it down into Viking territory until Jeff Fineout executed a great play and ran in two for Boyne's second touchdown. This time the conversion attempt failed when Boyne tried for two points.

Winding out the third quarter, Boyne stopped the Vikings with a good defensive effort, forcing them to punt. But the Ramblers couldn't take advantage of it and fumbled away the ball themselves on the 20 yard line.

Grayling then scored again, shortly after getting the ball for the last score of the game.

Jeff Fineout had an outstanding game scoring both of the Boyne touchdowns, and gathering in 142 yards rushing. Pete Smith added another 28 yards, while Kevin Beebe pulled 212 yards. Others included Scott Patton with 13, Kevin Hunt with 10 and Troy Heierman with 3. Heierman also completed only one pass out of five attempts for 9 yards.

On the defensive side, Chuck Vondra had five solo tackles and numerous assists. Beebe, Heierman and Tim Hennessy each added two tackles.

With two games left on the schedule, Boyne will be traveling to Rogers City next Friday.

Mindy Stadt goes up against some tough defensive effort trying to make a score on this play during the game last week between Boyne City and Charlevoix. The Rayders dominated the game winning over hapless Boyne City by a score of 39-27.

EJ jayvees have 24-0 loss to Harbor

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

The East Jordan junior varsity football squad dropped its record to 3-2-1 overall, 2-2 in the Ski-Valley Conference, with a 24-0 loss at the hands of Harbor Springs.

As the score shows, the Devils were unable to mount a successful offensive attack. They were forced to punt on four of their eight possessions while turning the ball over on downs twice along with an interception and a fumble. This was partly due to the absence of quarterback Bill Gotts who was sidelined with a knee injury, and two others who were out due to disciplinary actions.

The Rams scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and with successful conversions, held a 16-0 lead at the half-time intermission. They added another TD at the 2:14 mark of the third period and extended the lead to 24-0 with the two point conversion.

During the night EJ was held to only 85 yards in total offense. Ted Sherman led the rushing attack with 26 yards on six carries as Pat Russell gained 23 on six attempts and Scott Beal picked up 12 on four tries.

In the passing department Pete Inman connected with Jim McWatters for 20 yards on his only completion of the night.

Defensively Sherman led the way with 12 tackles as Bill Barnett and Mike Rebec came up with 11 each. Also collecting tackles were: Inman (9), Dan "Mad Dog" Freel (8), Russell (6), Fritz Healey (6), Pat Muma (3), Jeff Nyland (3), and Tony Joseph and McWatters with two apiece. Russell also had a fumble recovery as McWatters came up with an interception.

BC girls lost two more last week

BY SCOTT KNIPE

The thirteenth, Boyne City's varsity girls' basketball squad visited Cheboygan for what turned out to be a rousing game filled with high emotions.

Boyne never got rolling, starting slowly and not being able to pick up the pace. Quarterly scoring was 19-8, 42-14, 17-59, and 73-37. Cheboygan dominating the entire game.

High scorer for Boyne was Tysh Crozier with 12 points, followed by Lori Knight with 10. Mindy Stadt scored 6, Laciinda Thompkins had 5, and Mary Beth Archambault added 4.

The girls hoped to pick things up Thursday when they hosted Charlevoix, but the Rayders proved a bit too much for the Ramblers and the game went down in the record books as 39-27, Charlevoix taking the win.

Taking top scoring honors for Boyne was Mindy Stadt with 11, and the closest scorer behind her was Amy Weeks with 6. Patty Schmoltdt, and Laciinda Thompkins both added two while Mary Beth Archambault contributed a single point.

Top rebounding players of the game were Mary Beth Archambault and Colleen Williams with six apiece, followed by Stadt and Knight each with five.

Boyne starts the new week off against Grayling in Grayling.

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

The East Jordan Girls' varsity basketball squad had a rough go of things last week dropping games to Central Lake and Inland Lakes by respective scores of 57-46 and 57-51.

With the absence of five members due to disciplinary actions, the girls surprised many by hanging close with conference leader Central Lake. They trailed by respective quarter scores of 10-6, 31-21, and 41-34 before eventually bowing by the final score of 57-46.

At Inland Lakes on Thursday the girls trailed by five, 15-10, after the first quarter of play. Behind a seven point second period effort from Jill Burt they cut it to 25-23 at half-time.

The Devils lost momentum in the third stanza as the Bulldogs increased their lead to 44-36 heading into the final period. EJ outscored them 15-13 over the last 12 minutes but that wasn't enough as they lost 57-51.

Jill Burt led the way with 16 points as Barber added 15 and Sara Chase canned seven.

Burt also took top honors defensively with ten rebounds as chase and Kristy Burt came up with eight each.

This week the Devils will travel to Ellsworth on Tuesday before hosting Bellaire on Thursday.

BC jayvee girls take win against Charlevoix

BY SCOTT KNIPE

In the past week Boyne City's JV girls' basketball squad split, dropping a game to Cheboygan and picking one up against Charlevoix.

Boyne put up a good fight when in Cheboygan, but couldn't come back from behind and ended the game 49-32.

High scorer for the Ramblers was Dawn Archambault with 9 points followed by Trisha Fanning with 6 and Michelle Montgomery with 5. Also contributing to the score was Kristen Harvey with 4, April Silbar with 4, and Nancy McCullough and Sharon Ordiway with two apiece.

But the girls didn't get down on themselves and bounced right back Thursday when Charlevoix was in town. Boyne came to a good first quarter and played a powerful game all the way through, finishing off Charlevoix with the tidy score of 50-32.

In high scoring position were two players, Crissy Gervasi and Michelle Montgomery each with ten, and followed closely by Dawn Archambault with 9. Nancy Mc-Cullough had 5, and Cristina May, April Silbar, Kim Stadt, and Toni Toton all contributed 4. Rebounding honors go to Michelle Montgomery with 11 and Dawn Archambault with 10.

The girls intend to extend their winning ways this week while they face off against Grayling.

Harbor beats the devil out of East Jordan 50-6

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

The East Jordan varsity football team lost its fourth consecutive game last Friday, 50-6, to visiting Harbor Springs.

The Devils were down early as the Rams put a touchdown on the board during the games first three minutes. The two point conversion gave them an 8-0 lead.

EJ wasted no time in retaliating as Dennis Skrocki connected with Mark Moore on a 62 yard TD pass. The conversion run by Rick Clark was held short. This ended up to be the Red Devils only score of the night.

Harbor added two more TD's in the second period and took a 22-6 lead into the halftime intermission.

The worst was yet to come for EJ as the Rams dominated the entire second half. They found paydirt on every possession which consisted of two scores in each period. Two of the four conversions were successful, thus raising the score to 50-6.

A tough defensive effort by Harbor held the Devils to a mere 44 yards on the ground. Kelly Harchis was the leading rusher with 13 yards on one carry as Curtis "The Wildman" Weidler picked up ten on three carries and Al Merrill gained ten on seven attempts.

Skrocki completed five of eleven passes for 91 yards including the scoring strike to Moore.

Defensively Jeff Olstrom led the way with nine tackles as Skrocki came up with eight and Weidler and Merrill added seven each. Also contributing in the defensive effort were: Scott Diller, Lyle Walters and Aaron Brock with six tackles each; Mark Moore, Scott Nachazel, and Mike Root with five apiece; and three from Harchis, Bill Mathers, and Mark "The Rookie" LaBeau.

The loss drops the Devils record to 2-5 overall, 1-4 in the Ski-Valley Conference.

This week the team will travel to Central Lake on Saturday and attempt to get back on the winning track.

East Jordan quarterback Dennis Skrocki gets set to throw a pass to his end in the losing effort against the Harbor Springs Rams. Skrocki took the quarterback position after injuries ended the season for Dan Pepin. The school had other problems and was playing without several of the first string team members who were being disciplined for breaking training rules.

Watershed Council to hold workshop

Citizen involvement in wetland protection is the topic of a workshop that will be presented by the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council on Friday, October 30th.

Violations

One member of each of the varsity and jayvee cheerleading squads admitted to the infraction.

This was the first test of the school's new policy that states for the first offense the student athlete will be suspended for 25% of the current season with time to be carried over into the following campaign if needed. The second offense forces the student to give up eligibility for a calendar year. This is newly revised from the old policy which called for suspension for the remainder of the season on the first offense and the same punishment as the old policy for second time offenders.

Thus, members of the girls basketball squad will be eligible for the last five regular season games and tournament play. Football players and cheerleaders will be allowed to participate in the last three quarters of the season's final game against Mancelona.

This change follows a trend that other area schools have reportedly gone to that seems to be more lenient toward athletes violating the training rules.

The workshop is free, and will run from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Petoskey Holiday Inn. It is intended for citizens and planning officials interested in wetland values, regulation, and protection.

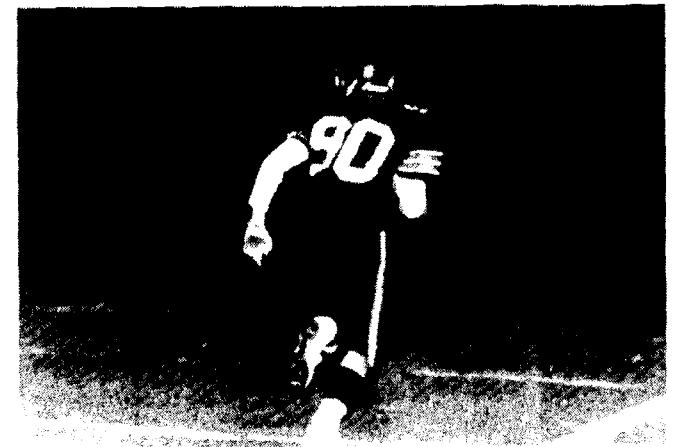

The workshop will have four parts. It will begin with a presentation on definitions of wetlands, including a slide show on wetland types. This will be followed by a discussion of wetland values, and a slide show on the values of specific wetland types. After a break for lunch, which will be served at the Holiday Inn, there will be a presentation on wetland regulation, including both state and federal legislation. The workshop will conclude with a discussion of wetland protection measures, and a question and answer period.

The workshop is funded by a grant from the C. S. Mott foundation, and is the final part of a three year wetland project at the Watershed Council. Other efforts in the project included the identification and evaluation of the critical wetlands in Emmet, Charlevoix, and Cheboygan Counties, and a comprehensive inventory of wetlands on the area's lakes.

The workshop is free, but advance registration is required. Please call Stephen Brown at the Watershed Council, at 347-1181, for further information or to register for the workshop.

On his way to a touchdown moments after the game started is East Jordan end Mark Moore. He caught a pass and ran down the sidelines for the score early in the first quarter, catching the Ram defense out of position.

He also said the ordinance provides that any sign extending over the public right-of-way shall not be lower than eight feet. It appears, he said in the letter, that the permanent sign is about six feet above grade. The sign also did not pass the intent of section 7.40 A. 7, which prohibits any sign structure which no longer advertises a business or product. The sign contained no message when viewed by him. He also said the freestanding sign is not permanently anchored to the ground. The lighted sign on a snowmobile trailer is presently supported by four steel legs and is not anchored into the ground.	Planners All of the above violations come into force if the signs were in existence prior to March 1982 when the zoning ordinance was adopted. He verbally told the planners they would be taking on Apple Pie and Mom when and if they decided to ask the city for enforcement. He recommended the city planners ask to find all of the violations and send letters to all concerned about the violations of signage. Then an investigation could be started and enforcement of the sign ordinance could begin. Saying that the violation impedes the planning for the community, the planners approved asking the city commissioners for enforcement. The planners also asked McTaggart to work up some new rules prohibiting or controlling neon signs. One of the planners said he didn't want the community to become a little Las Vegas. McTaggart will come back to the planners with some suggested wording to cover those signs at next months meeting.

Planners

Then the planners approved a change in the site plan for the One Water Street Inn which will allow them to site the third building of the complex so it can take more advantage of the lake views.

The developers had come to the meeting to ask for the changes now that they have obtained the right to former city property that was part of Main street.

The city went to the courts several months ago to close the street so they could trade some of the property with the developers to provide a better Peninsula Beach area park.

The planners approved the request after seeing how the project would fit in with the recently built phases of the Inn.

They also approved not having to follow some of the procedural rules concerning the change.

The planners then went through a criteria and ended up turning down a request from Fred Moore to develop two duplexes on two 55 foot lots he owns on Spring Street.

The planners found the proposed projects would bring too much density in the limited area. The two parcels, platted in the early part of the century, did not provide enough room for the dwellings as concerns about parking, and what it may do to the neighborhood did not fit into what the planners have zoned the area for in the ordinance.

They then approved a request to allow the builder to build one duplex on both lots if he wants.

The planners then started a discussion of what they want in the future. They worked on setting some short and long range goals and direction for the city as well as the Planning Board. Those ideas will be compiled with those from other boards and will be presented to the City Commission for review.
