Students from Boyne City High Schools and the Boyne City Historical Society will be presenting a program on the history of Smeltania and the smelt runs, February 17 at the monthly meeting of the society. Cindy Clavier will be the narrator.

Added to the Frostival activities will be ice skating races for children between the ages of 5 to 18. Each child will be grouped according to age and the races will be held at the new ice skating rink located at the Avalanche Preserve Park. Races will start at 10 a.m. with registration opening shortly before 10.

Lansing legislators are falling all over themselves to pass legislation to eliminate the supposed "Kiddie Tax." Due to an error by the group, all children who earned money in 1987 would have to pay state income taxes. But the bill will exempt minors from paying taxes on income up to $1500 even if claimed as an exemption on their parents' tax form.

Forty eight Boyne City High School Drama Students will be going to Chesaning for their drama festival Jan. 30. They will be presenting a 45 minute version of "Annie" as part of the contest. If they do well, they will move to regional levels in two weeks. If you would like to see the presentation, they will be performing it at the All School Talent Show Feb. 10 at 7 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

With the controversial Lake management plan adopted by the County Planners, it will be up to the townships and cities to formally approve the recommendations. Expect the cities to deny the plan while the townships will approve most of the regulations.

Looks good for EJ Treatment project

It looks very promising, said City Superintendent Mike Dionne Monday afternoon, that the city will get funding from state and federal agencies that will allow it to expand its sewage treatment system.

Dionne was encouraged by letters the city received Monday from the proposed project and said that the plan had been put into the Fiscal Year 1988 High Priority List.

Last Tuesday, the city council agreed to an alternative plan which was developed during the extended public input period and addresses the concerns of the South Arm and Wilson Township residents.

The alternative plan eliminates the need for land application area in the townships. The plan calls for the present lagoons to be redesigned by digging them deeper and installing a new plastic lining to keep the effluent from leaking out into the ground surrounding the area.

The plan also calls for a reducing the amount of bird netting that would be required, a concern of the Federal Aviation Administration since the lagoons could possibly attract birds which may cause airplane problems as the lagoons are near the runways of the city operated airport.

The cost for the proposed project has also been reduced. The first plan considered by the council was projected to cost about $1.6 million dollars.

The plan adopted by the city officials last Tuesday is estimated at $378,000 and included adding an aeration system to the lagoons to help speed up the bacteria growth and the algae growth that helps to filter out the nutrients in the sewage.

The effluent is then sprayed and irrigated onto land surrounding the runways.

The city looked at three different plans before deciding this plan would be the most cost effective.

If the project is funded, Dionne said the Federal Government Construction Grants Program would provide about 55% of the project cost. An additional 35 percent would come from the Farmers Home Administration while the city will be selling revenue bonds for 10 percent of the project cost.

In Guyer's letter to the city, the DNR director wrote "Recent Congressional action has resulted in the appropriation of Fiscal Year 1988 funds for the Construction Grants Program. With these funds in hand and the relatively high priority ranking of the East Jordan project, there is an excellent chance that financial assistance will be available for East Jordan this year."

The letter, according to Dionne is almost an assurance of getting the grant monies, but he also said there is a possibility the grant may go to someone else. He hoped that it wouldn't as the community needs the project.

Even Congressman Davis' letter to the city indicated the project has an excellent chance for funding this fiscal year. He said he was sure the DNR would be in touch with the city regarding the status of the project.

The plan was developed by the firm of Wade-Trim/Granger for the city and has had several weeks of refining with meetings between the city and the townships to help decide the plan that will serve the best interests of all concerned.

The alternative plan of the East Jordan sewage treatment expansion shows where the new aeration sites will be located on the airport property. The project will see the current lagoons deepened to hold the additional sewage the city will be treating in the future if the project gets the grants from the state and federal programs involved.

City joins suit against one of city's insurance carriers

Boyne City will be enjoining Home Insurance Group in a suit against another insurer the city says that did not participate in a lawsuit that was settled out of federal court last summer.

The case, involving the city police department which tried to help a citizen who had fallen into the river, was settled by the insurance company for $50,000. The insurance company paid $35,000 while the city paid the remaining $15,000.

The city and the insurance company is now trying to sue the United National Insurance Company which carries the insurance for actions by the police department.

That company refused to participate in the suit, saying that it was a medical situation and therefore not covered by the company.

The city and the Home Insurance Group have said the UNI should be included in the suit because the police department responded to the call.

The suit was filed on behalf of the estate of Mrs. Sally Rostar, who was found and helped out of the river in March of 1983. She was taken to her apartment over the then Michigan National Bank, and the police were called.

The police department came and asked if water could be run in the tub to warm up the woman as she refused to take a trip to the hospital at that time.

She was given a warm bath, fully clothed, and put into bed by the police officer. Her daughter was called home from school and her boyfriend was also called.

According to city attorney William McTaggart, the woman apparently expired in bed as when the ambulance was called the next morning she was listed as dead on arrival at the hospital.

An autopsy determined that she had received a blow to her head some days prior to being pulled out of the river.

Because of the autopsy, a suit was filed in the Federal Court of Grand Rapids saying the police officer should have known about the previous condition and should have forced the woman to go to the hospital even though she had refused when asked.

Since the police department responded to the call, both the city and the Home Insurance Group thought the other insurance carrier should be involved.

When they refused, the city's insurance carrier along with the city continued to fight the suit. When it was settled out of court

Three variances granted by Appeals board

Meeting for the first time this year, the Boyne City Zoning Board of Appeals considered and gave their okay to three requests, one of which will change the skyline of the downtown area when completed.

The change in the skyline will reduce the height of the Boyne City Cinema building by about 10 feet and bring the roofline to conform with the former Granary Restaurant building that is in the process of being converted to a condominium development.

The request was made by developer Ron Makino, who is doing the changes in the former Granary building. He has formed a partnership with William Forehan, the owner of the theater to use a portion of the building to be remodeled into additional condominiums.

Makino told the zoning board of appeals he will be presenting formal site plans to the planning board at the February meeting but wanted the okay from the ZBA so that the project will end up looking good for the community and eliminate the top of one of the tallest structures in town.

Makino is proposing a three phase development project of which the Granary remodeling would be the first phase, the tearing down of the rear portion of the theater and the rebuilding of condominium units on the site and the adjacent parking lot, the second phase. The third and last phase would be the developing of a new theater/conference center on the remaining land that fronts Lake Street.

Makino gave no time period for the project saying only that

The candidates for the Presidency have been off and running for some time now, a whole bunch of them, and hard too. But for many of them, the endless speaking and smiling and handshaking and being nice to people they wouldn't even consider being in the same room with under other circumstances, the best they can manage is to stay in place. Why? Because they have an image problem. Either they have a weak image, or worse, no image at all. But they can fix this before November if they pay attention, notice what really concerns the voters today. And then whip up an image accordingly.

Certainly the nation's debt situation, its trade deficit and its foreign policy, matters the campaigners are focusing on, are among voters' concerns. But they don't rank nearly as high as another national problem - stress.

Seminars and adult education classes are continually being taught all over the country on how to manage stress. And advertisements trumpet products to relieve it.

A four-page advertising spread in a recent edition of "Insight," a news magazine, attests to that fact. Of the 16 products advertised, all of them having to do with improving the quality of life in one way or another, seven of them have to do with relieving the conflicts sort of stress, or "nerve-wracking" in the ad harks back to the days when stress was called "nerves." Maybe the new name came about because psychologists felt that it sounded more dignified or clinical. Stress does sound less neurotic than nerves come to think of it.

Anyway, some of the ideas for stress-reducing products aren't new either. For example, some years ago, psychologists recommended for the relief of tension - another former name for stress - that people picture in their minds the most peaceful scene they've ever known. And then concentrate on it for 20 minutes. A grand idea but it's hard to do. And now you don't have to. A 45-minute video can be slipped into a VCR and does it, or something like it, for you. It takes you through scenes of untouched beauty in the Pacific Northwest. No words accompany the pictures, only an original musical score that plays to the scenes.

An even older idea, 800 years old, has recently been imported to this country in the form of Chinese Exercise Bells. They "induce well-being of the body as well as the spirit." Arthritis sufferers claim the bells help relieve pain when used as recommended. You roll the faintly chiming bells around in the palm of your hand.

Where Presidential hopefuls in search of a strong image fit into this stress-conscious picture is that if voters are willing to buy gadgets to relieve stress, they probably also want a Presidential candidate, and a President, that appears to do the same. So weak or no-image candidates just need to present themselves as personifications of stress-relievers.

A father image sounds too authoritarian for a society of independent voters. But a daddy image might seem soothing to stress-filled '80's voters - a benevolent daddy image, as in the words some little kids say after they've broken something: "Daddy can fix it." Then whoever projects the best daddy image, would get the most votes - and win for his efforts the most stressful job in the nation.

Skrocki returns from seminar

Angela Skrocki has just returned from Novi, Michigan where she attended an American Family Life Assurance Company seminar which introduced new convalescent care and accident policies. On the way home she and her husband Chester visited Audrey Backus of Caro, Michigan.

Maryanne Walkins has just returned from East Lansing where she completed the Michigan State University course in Health and Life Insurance and passed the state's Bureau of Insurance test. She will be an agent with the American Family Life Assurance Company and concentrating on Cancer, Intensive Care, Accident, Nursing Home and Supplement to Medicare Policies.

Marvin and Kathy Potter and children Sharon, Karen, and Kenny, moved into their new home on the o'd Potter homestead on Anderson Road earlier this past week. The Potter family had been scattered here and there since fire gutted their home on Jersey Street last fall, and now they can all be under one roof...isn't that great!

All the Thayer children were called here this past week due to the failing health of their mother, Mrs. Leona Thayer, at Grandvue. Mrs. Thayer has been having a hard bout with pneumonia.

Gordon Yahr of Battle Creek was here over the weekend visiting his mother, Ruth, at Litzenburger Place.

A belated Happy Birthday to Margaret Parks Archer of East Jordan, who celebrated her 85th at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Harley and Ann Parks and family earlier this month. While there, she held her great grandson, 8 month old Preston Wayne Peck, son of Dan and Natalie Peck.

Art Yahr of Portage was here over the weekend visiting his daughter Sandra Newville.

On Thursday, Bee Howard visited her brother, Ed Szczepaniak, in Elmira, as he had just returned from spending a week in the Gaylord Hospital.

Scores of this past week's senior bowlers were: 4 games - Bob Rumpfelt-550; Jean Marcham-549; Pros Blanckaert-522; Goldie-433; and for latecomer, Norm Kruger-3 games-430.

Thursday's bingo game winners were: 1st regular-Albert Towne, 2nd-Bernice Sedachurski, and 3rd-Split-Helen Lake/Ken Blossie. The special-1st-Split-Albert Towne/Leonna Griffen, and 2nd-Bernice Suchara, with the cover all going to Dorothy Liscom, with all games called by Lyle Ross.

Ed Davis entered Northern Michigan Hospitals on Friday as a stroke patient. His son, Ed and his daughters, Ruth Springer and Louise Nichols, all of Florida, were called home.

On Wednesday night, the Xi Gamma Sorority met at the home of Thelma Behling and made plans for the upcoming Frostival weekend.

On Saturday night, the Boyne City Fire Department hosted a wild game dinner at the VFW Hall, as a way of saying thank you to the local police department and many others in the community who have helped out in times of emergencies throughout the year, which made their jobs of firefighting more successful.

On Saturday night, about 200 friends and relatives attended a retirement party held at the Eagles for Eugene Belford. The party was hosted by his children, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Belford, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Belford, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Looze, Mr. and Mrs. Allie Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Belford, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lamacchia, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fitzpatrick. Among all those attending, were Mr. Belford's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Belford of Illinois, and another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Belford and family of New York.

Mr. Eugene Belford has retired after 41 years with H&D Incorporated.

Guests this past week of the Lloyd VanAlstines were his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Milton VanAlstine, and a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Bud VanAlstine, all of Big Rapids. They also visited Wm. VanAlstine at Grandvue. On Monday, the Lloyd VanAlstines and daughter, Tina Horn, attended the funeral of his niece, 18 year old Samantha VanAlstine, in Lake Odessa. Samantha was killed on Friday night, in an automobile accident, where she was struck broadside by a truck.

Lois Brooks became a new resident of Grandvue this past week.

EJ garden Club meets for first time this year

The East Jordan Garden Club met for their first meeting in the new year with a glowing report on the successful Greens market conducted in December. The market provides the funds for civic plantings that the Garden Club provides annually.

Librarian, Mickey Hamerski was introduced by Program Chairman Virginia Bouska. She presented a film on four women artists in Mississippi - a colorful documentary on life in Mississippi and the effect it had on the writings of Eudora Welty, a journalist; Pecolia Warner, who learned fireside quilting from her mother; Ethel Mohammed and her embroidered "stitch" pictures; and Theora Hamlett's primitive paintings of home, children and their games and landscapes with trees in her "homeplace."

A cleverly arranged tea table centerpiece reflected the artists works with a star quilted placement with an arrangement of red and white carnations, interspersed with embroidery threads and antique inkpot with pen and a hand painted card on an easel. The arrangement was done by Fran Pletz and her co-hostess for the day was Helen Dudek.

The February Meeting will be a party for the "stay at homes" and a silent auction will be held for the State wildflower fund on Feb. 15.

The Positive Side

"If you start each day ego - involved, instead of human service - oriented, you will soon find yourself in trouble."

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

As I was sitting and eating some of the finest food prepared by some of the finest cooks last Saturday, I overheard a remark by Henry Erber saying something about vitamin A.

And with the news item saying that a certain kind of vitamin A has been found to eliminate wrinkles, my mind started to wander about all of the things the medical folks have produced in the past few years that can prolong life.

I mean, you could almost remake an entire person.

We now have plastic joints for almost every part of the body. The doctors are getting really good at replacing live organs like the heart, liver and others, it seems like a person could be alive for many additional years as the doctors go about replacing this and that.

About the only thing they haven't tried to replace is the brain. The exception is in the Frankenstein movies, where mad scientists rebuilt the entire body and made a monster.

Now, I am not saying that all those who have gone to the hospital for some replacement parts are slowly turning into monsters, I am just saying that through the miracles of science, we are making tremendous changes in lifestyles.

Heck, the quest for eternal youth just took a quantum jump when they announced the wrinkle thing.

If we normal folk can just hang on a little longer, the chances are pretty good we will live to become a ripe old age.

Even Willard Scott, the NBC Today Show weatherman who announces those birthdays of centennial citizens, is having to take time each day because the list of those reaching that age is growing longer.

Pretty soon, he may have to take a few more minutes to name all those who have reached that plateau.

I guess that if you eat the right kinds of food, make sure you get the right kind of exercise, breath clean fresh air, your chances are good you may have your name read and get a letter from the President.

I don't think that will happen to me.

As I grow older, I still think I am young. That was apparent last week when I went skiing with a sixty year old and he outskied me all over the slopes. I thought I was young enough to keep up with him.

I also thought I was not going to have those stiff muscles the next day, but I found out you can't just start physical exercise without the pain afterwards.

I think I will let the wrinkles appear. On some people, a few wrinkles make them look a little more distinguished, more stately. I guess it is a little like some grey hairs at the temples.

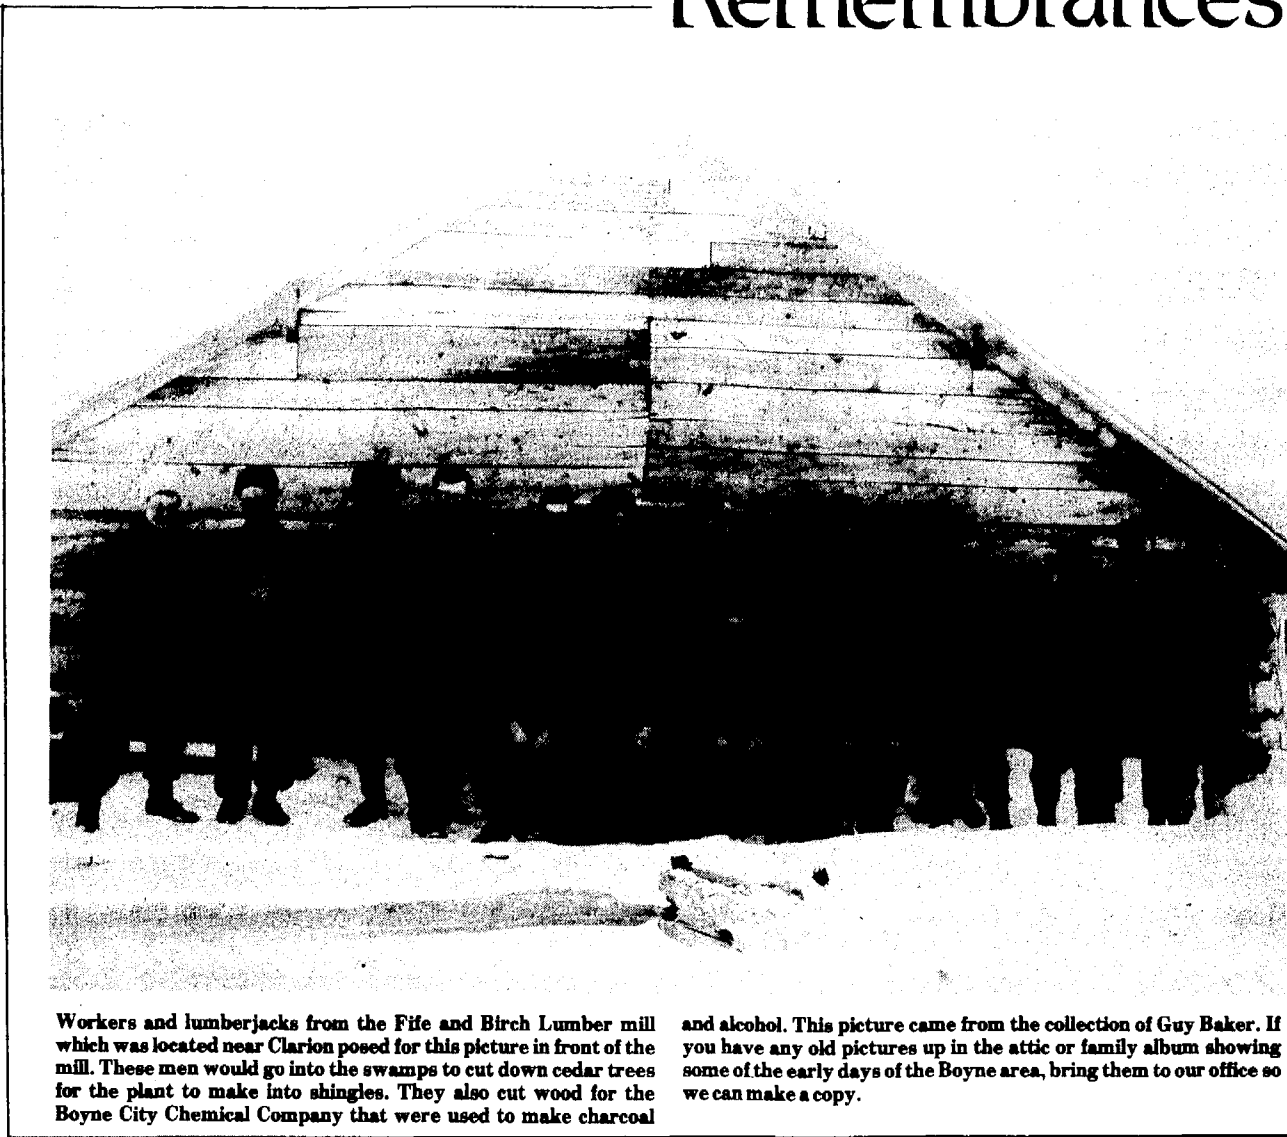

You look at those people and they seem to command respect.

After all, respect is something you gain from age and experience. Maybe that is why the boss is respected.

Or in some cases, feared.

If he didn't have those wrinkles, or those signs of aging, he would still be a kid, right? And everyone knows you don't have to follow the kids demands...unless you should not con-

And the Workers and lumberjacks from the Fife and Birch Lumber mill which was located near Clarion posed for this picture in front of the mill. These men would go into the swamps to cut down cedar trees for the plant to make into shingles. They also cut wood for the Boyne City Chemical Company that were used to make charcoal and alcohol. This picture came from the collection of Guy Baker. If you have any old pictures up in the attic or family album showing some of the early days of the Boyne area, bring them to our office so we can make a copy.

Marshall Sayles

Once a man has put the gold watch on and slipped among the retired, his past too often becomes the present. And he is prone to chew his cabbage over and over again.

Here's a for instance: Those who grow weary reading and hearing about Boyne City's past should have been here before all the rogues were dead.

What living! How exciting to watch rum and religion square off on a hot Saturday night with fists swinging and with lay preachers hawking their heavenly wars from the sidelines. After all, with the week's wood cut and the mills resting, it was recreation time for the jacks who worked with lumber.

1988 society has a bone to pick with those memories. We long ago decided that the days of wine and violence had to go. Oh, sure, there's still rum here and there's still religion here, but they no longer meet along saloon row.

Authoritative voices demanded change, and a new society took over. It gave us mind-boggling drug scenes, clean fingernails, mixed up computers, non-marriage marriages and a life so sophisticated one is hard put to know how ignorant we really are.

To be socially acceptable and ignorant ain't what the Lord had in mind.

Those who cut their eye teeth on slippery elm find today's chic life about as exciting as a boiled potato.

Gray hairs with no ax to grind with the past seem happy to have lived in Boyne City's heretofore, saying there is endless merit in a man's knowing what he grew out of.

This business of measuring the past with the present could go on forever. But it gets tiring after a while. About as tiring as those TV shows that now break all the rules of decency, not day after day, but hour after hour.

Oh, oh. Now that I've grabbed the past and held it up for all to see, I suppose I'll have to suffer the consequences. Heavens how I hope that not too many people in Boyne City know what that word means.

Advertising shouldn't be a gamble.

Mary Jason enjoys spending time with MASB

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER
There is an old saying, "Give the job to a busy person and it will get done." Mary Jason, East Jordan Board of Education President and Michigan Association of School Boards President certainly meets that criterion. Mary is a wife and mother (four active children ranging in age from 1 1/2 years to 17 years) and works full-time as Director of Regional Centers of Lake Superior State University with offices in both Petoskey and Alpena. In addition Mary is actively involved with the Michigan High School Athletic Association and is an active member in her church in East Jordan.

Mary Porter Jason became President of School Boards Association of School Boards in September, 1987, and will serve until September, 1988. This type of public service is typical of the Porter family as Mary is the fourth generation to serve on the local school board. William P. Porter, East Jordan pioneer began serving local education in the late 1800's and was followed by Howard P. Porter, Mary's grandfather. William A. Porter, Mary's father, served on the local board in the 1950's until the East Jordan and Boyne City school districts were de-merged into two once more and a board was appointed by the Intermediate Superintendent. Mary received the nod at this time because of her interest in educational issues, millage campaigns and the local school system. Mary has been re-elected since to serve as a board member and has served as President the majority of those years.

Mary feels this is a unique year to be President of M.A.S.B. for many reasons. A new Executive Director has been hired and is getting acquainted with the program of M.A.S.B. This entails several changes as the previous director had served for 17 years.

Two major areas of emphasis during Mary's tenure as president are communications and personal relationships. Since all districts in Michigan are members of M.A.S.B. it is beneficial to increase communication between them. A Blue Ribbon Task Force has been created and is charged with creating a "filtering system" to provide issue positions for M.A.S.B. to present ahead of developing situations. This should give the board a more active position in problem solving rather than reacting to something which is occurring.

Another goal for this year in M.A.S.B., according to Mary is to strengthen ties with other organizations such as P.T.A., M.E.A., M.A.S.S. and M.A.E.S.P. (school administrators groups) in order to all work toward a common goal of better education for all Michigan students. To this end, the Michigan Association of School Boards is meeting in February with the Michigan State Board of Education for a workshop to better understand each other's goals and increase a working relationship.

M.A.S.B. is one of ten state board organizations involved in putting together an assessment instrument for local boards to use to determine how well they do what they do. The project partially funded by a Kellogg Grant will use twenty districts as a pilot group and will then in-service other boards.

Mary will be in Washington the end of January for a National School Boards In-service on leadership roles; she and about 3,000 other board members will attend sessions on legislative issues, and they will meet personally one-on-one with congressmen.

Since financial matters are of such great concern in Michigan, Mary says that the quality of education has to do with where you live. Funding is one of education's greatest inequities. School quality also affects the kind of people who move into an area. It is a major problem that M.A.S.B. is addressing, but Mary concedes there are no easy answers.

"To serve as president is really an exciting thing. It gives an opportunity to interact with others, the opportunity to raise my own awareness and to raise others' awareness. It is a real honor to serve as president. I look forward daily to the mail as there will be something from many people and places with new ideas and new options to stimulate my thinking."

In addition to the three R's Mary believes we need to look at philosophies, histories, languages, art, music, literature and religions that have made us what we are. We need to develop a more global perspective in our students with background knowledge to support it, she feels.

Having seen education systems in Asia, Russia, and Europe, Mary says that one thing she became aware of was a personal gratitude for living in the best system in the world. We have a voice in our system, we can design our local programs within basic guidelines. Certainly her faith in the good old American system of democracy, as imperfect as it sometimes is, was only reinforced by her travels. This is perhaps the source of some of her willingness to give time and energy to keep the system of local support and control alive and well in Michigan.

he hopes to start construction of the first phase in time to have a model open by the summer.

In the second action before the board was the approval of a variance to the off-street parking requirements as required by the zoning ordinance. Arthur Kujawski asked for the variance so he could upgrade the apartment building he owns on Lake Street by adding a second floor for a loft bedroom.

Kujawski, through his architect, Don Glowinski, is supposed to be trying to work out additional off premise parking spaces. He is looking for an additional four to six spaces which he hopes to lease form an adjacent property owner.

The residents voiced objections to the request including Warren Davis, representing the American Legion which is located nearby the proposed remodeling.

Davis said that parking in the area was a problem and he thought the remodeling would bring additional pressures on the parking at that end of the Central Business District.

That objection was also stated by other residents who objected to the additional noise the apartment users may make.

The board then decided against the neighbors, thinking that the upgrading of the four apartments would bring a better class of citizen to the area. They approved the request with stipulations that will require Kujawski to maintain a greenbelt, and to be constructed according to the plan that was presented.

Kujawski has had site plan approval for the remodeling pending on the action of the ZBA from the planning board.

Since the apartments are vacant, construction is expected shortly. Glowinski said there was a possibility the apartments would be turned into condominiums if additional parking can be found.

The Central Business District zoning, however, does not require parking, although the way the present ordinance is written, parking for all projects in the zoning district is required if the building is substantially changed.

The third request will allow the One Water Street Restaurant to install a free standing sign on their premises.

Len Neeb, a spokesman for the restaurant told board members that since the restaurant was on the waterfront, a sign was needed to show those arriving by automobile what the building was named. It will also help direct customers to the restaurant.

this past summer, the city's carrier then filed suit against the police department's carrier of insurance to help pay for some of the costs.

The Home Insurance Group is suing the other carrier for a portion of the costs as well as a portion of the expenses of having to defend the city.

Suit

The city joined with the insurance carrier to try to get back some of the $24,000 in costs they have incurred in defending the city.

The action taken at the Tuesday noon meeting will not cost the city, as the insurance carrier found a lawyer in Grand Rapids who would take the case for a 25 percent contingency fee.

Red Devils nip Boyne in close game 76-74, lose to Pellston

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

In varsity basketball action last week the East Jordan Red Devils claimed a 76-74 victory over Boyne City on Tuesday, before bowing to Pellston on Friday by the score of 83-62.

At Boyne things looked grim in the early going as the Devils experienced cold shooting in the first period and trailed 22-10 at its conclusion.

The tide turned in the second quarter as EJ hit for 33 points, including four 3 pointers. Defense held the Ramblers to 11 points and gave the Red Devils a 43-33 halftime lead.

Boyne got back a few points in the third stanza by outscoring the Devils 23-18, thus cutting the margin to five points, 61-56, and setting the stage for an exciting final period.

With the score tied 74-74 and seven seconds remaining, Matt Bishop found the hoop for EJ and broke the deadlock. Boyne immediately called a timeout hoping to set up one final shot. But an errant inbounds pass shattered all hopes of victory as the Devils held on to capture the 76-74 triumph.

The win was the Devils second of the year. Their record currently stands at 2-9 overall, 1-6 in the Ski-Valley Conference.

EJ sank 26 shots from the floor, including five 3 pointers, while going 19 of 28 at the freethrow line. The Ramblers canned 29 field goals (two 3 pointers) and 14 of 22 freethrows.

Dan Pepin and Mark Moore led the East Jordan scoring attack with 19 points each as Matt Bishop added 12 and Jeff Burks contributed 11.

Defensively Bishop led the way with 13 rebounds as Pepin and Moore both crashed the boards for eight. Also collecting rebounds were: Burks (7), Gerry Ciszewski (5), Glen Stevens (5), Keith Harchis (2), and Tim Brennan (1).

For BC Mike Deschryver was the leading scorer with 36 points as Aaron Richards chipped in 13.

At Pellston the Devils fell behind early and this time weren't able to recover. They trailed by respective quarter scores of 22-8, 47-26, and 67-43 before losing by the final score of 83-62.

In the contest EJ hit 24 shots from the field while making good on 12 of 30 freethrows. The Hornets made 30 fields goals, five of which were 3 pointers, and 18 of 26 shots at the line.

Ciszewski led the EJ offense with 14 points as Pepin added eight and Bishop came up with seven. Mark Lercel scored six points as Jeff Olstrom contributed five and Harchis and Burks hit four each.

From a defensive standpoint Ciszewski had nine rebounds as Burks added seven and Bishop crashed the boards for six.

This week the Devils will host Ellsworth on Tuesday and Harbor Springs on Friday.

Deschryver hits career high of 46 points

Boyne wins, dominates Cheboygan Chiefs 82-60

BY SCOTT KNIPE

Boyne City watched themselves get out of the losing column this past Friday, soundly beating the Cheboygan Chiefs 82 to 60, but allowed themselves to lose three days before to East Jordan 74 to 76.

The game seemed to be a tuneup for Boyne as they returned to league action against the Chiefs. Boyne was ready.

The Chiefs took a one point lead in the first quarter, but by the end of the first half, the Ramblers were in control with a 36 to 28 advantage.

Coming out after the break, Boyne continued to extend their lead and at the end of the third quarter was up by 15 points.

In the last quarter Boyne continued to extend the lead and the game ended with a win for Boyne and a score of 82 to 60 as Miller hit two freethrows.

The win offered a little revenge as the Chiefs beat the Ramblers in the first game of the seasonal pairings by just a few points.

Deschryver hit a career high

46 points while three other teammates hit in the double figures. Richards had 12, Miller and Hammontree each had ten. Nine of Hammontree's points came on his hitting three point baskets from outside the ring.

The only other Rambler to get into the scoring column was Molnar with four points, all from freethrows.

With the victory under their belts, Boyne wants to continue a winning streak and will be meeting Charlevoix and Grayling this week.

BC Jayvees continue hot streak

Boyne City's JV squad has upped their record to 9-1 by taking victories over both East Jordan and Cheboygan in the past week of competition.

Tuesday night the Red Devils were in town and Boyne made quick work of them, taking an early first quarter lead, 20-9, and they continued to roll, ending the game with the secure score of 72-46.

High scorers for Boyne were Todd Gasco and Eric Smith, each with 15 points. Two other Ramblers hit double figures, Wayne Avery had 12, Scott Knipe 11. Also contributing were Dean Alger and Bo Williamson each with 6, Eric Fisher had 3, and Eric Richards and Jason Hunt both had 2 points. Defensively, Smith took top honors, with 20 rebounds, 4 blocked shots, and a single steal. He was followed by Knipe with 12 rebounds, 9 blocked shots, and his own steal.

Friday, the Ramblers were looking forward to Cheboygan, the only team to defeat them this season so far, and when it was over Cheboygan took home a loss, the final score was 64-52.

Boyne came out to take the first quarter lead, 16-10, but the Ramblers advanced that in the second stanza, taking the half-time score up to 36-23, and they continued throughout the third and fourth quarters to advance their lead, the quarterly scoring being 47-33 and 64-52 respectively.

High scorers were Eric Smith and Bo Williamson, each putting in 17 points. They were followed by Wayne Avery, who connected for 12 points. Also adding to the score were Knipe with 8 points, Jason Hunt and Dean Alger with 4 each, and Shawn Vondra had 2.

Defensively, Knipe had top standings, with 15 rebounds and 9 blocked shots. He was followed by Eric Smith with 8 rebounds and two blocked shots, and Wayne Avery with 7 rebounds and 1 blocked shot.

EJ frosh unbeaten so far

BY DENNIS SKROCKI

The East Jordan freshmen basketball squad kept its perfect season intact last week with victories over Boyne City and Central Lake by respective scores of 89-35 and 99-22.

At Boyne the Devils jumped out to an early 25-6 lead after the first period and extended it to 53-9 at the halftime intermission.

The Ramblers outscored EJ 18-13 in the third stanza but the Devils controlled the rest of the game and captured the 89-35 win.

The Red Devils canned 38 of 106 (36%) field goal attempts while hitting 13 of 28 shots from the freethrow line. BC shot 11 of 72 (15%) from the floor and 11 of 25 at the line.

Jimmy "The Skywalker" McWatters led the EJ scoring attack with 18 points as Pete Inman added 17 and Tim Shea contributed 13. Also scoring were: Scott Beal (12), Andy Malpass (12), David Patton (10), and Kris Snyder (7).

Against Central Lake, the Devils dominated all aspects of the contest enroute to the 99-22 victory.

EJ was excellent from the floor as they sank 46 of 89 (52%) shots as well as 7 of 16 from the charity stripe. The Trojans made 9 of 35 (26%) and 4 of 13 respectively from the field and the line.

McWatters was again the leading scorer with 26 points as Inman added 19 and Beal chipped in 14. Also hitting double figures were Shea and Snyder with 10 each. Shea also dished off five assists.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARINGS BOYNE CITY PLANNING ADVISORY BOARD FOR TWO SITE PLAN REVIEWS

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Boyne City Planning Advisory Board to be held on Monday, February 15, 1988 at 5:00 p.m., 319 N. Lake Street, Boyne City, MI 49712 to consider the following two Site Plan Requests:

1. A request from Ronald Makino, to construct an 18 unit condominium building on part of the Boyne Cinema property and vacant lot north of present building. The Property Code No. is 1551-450-006-00 and the address is 216 S. Lake Street. The property is zoned Central Business District. This is Phase No. 2 of the "Granary Project". A height variance has already been granted by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

2. A request from Trapline, Inc., 01875 M-75, Boyne City, to construct a 60 foot by 80 foot aircraft hangar on Planned Industrial Development zoned property at the Boyne City Airport, under the provisions as provided for by the Boyne City Airport Authority. The approximate location of the new facility would be at the foot of Roosevelt Street and be backed by Kunert Street. A proper greenbelt must be planted to separate a PID from a Residential Zoned Area.

These Site Plan Reviews are a requirement as set by the Boyne City Zoning Ordinance.

For further information or inspection of the two Site Plans and areas in question contact the City Clerk's office during regular business hours. Phone (616) 582-6597.
