

BCHS installs Nautilus equipment

Frank Pomarico, a representative from Nautilus Equipment, explains the training procedure to a video camera as he instructed the instructional staff at the Boyne City High School on the equipment. The machines were purchased by the school and the school boosters club, with a little help from the Community Education department at the end of January and was installed in the new weight room of the high school last Wednesday. The equipment was owned by Dr. Mansfield. Other contributors to the purchase included the Rotary Club, both local banks, and the student council. Proceeds from the concession stand at the basketball games will also be used to pay off the machines. Pomarico presented a training schedule in front of the camera so that others not able to attend the training session will know how to use the equipment. The equipment will be available to residents as well as athletes as soon as schedules can be worked out. School officials were pleased to get the equipment saying it will make a definite difference with the athletic program.

Boyne okays Harborage agreement letter

Boyne City commissioners made a couple of changes in an agreement with the developers of the Harborage Condominium development at the last minute, but approved the plan which outlines and updates what the developers will be doing with the property along Front Street and the lake.

The changes made at the last minute are very minor and include such things as screening a dumpster if it is in place for a long period of time, and having uniform dry dock storage of boats so they won't appear to be placed haphazardly on the site where they are allowed.

Although Rick and Dave

Smith were not in attendance at the noon meeting, City Manager Randy Frykberg felt the two would comply with the last minute requests.

Major changes in the annual updated letter of agreement between the city and developers include adding space between the new cluster of housing units. The letter agreed that the clusters should be 120 feet apart so as to allow views of the lake for those passing in cars.

A sidewalk that has been installed next to the marina was okay, but if it causes problems, the developers will have to install a sidewalk along Front Street in front of the marina. Frykberg said that acceptance of the present sidewalk is good as many area residents like walking along the boat slips.

Another addition will be the installation of additional fire hydrants. One per cluster was the agreed plan. The developers are also looking into adding dry hydrants, but that part of the plan has not been resolved.

Areas for dry storage were determined and what can be called a private marina.

The plan also calls for no indoor storage for boats on the property along the lake. Additionally, a previously approved site plan called for a storage building, but that has been found and is under construction.

The completion date for the project was also changed, along with the total number of units planned for the project.

The number of units was dropped to 106 from 108 and the completion date for the entire project is now projected for 1992. Previous agreements had the project being completed in 1987.

Any additional construction will require a new site plan for that portion of work proposed. The terms which protect the property will only be allowed to be four feet higher than the projected completed elevation.

Frykberg told the commissioners that the plan will be updated annually from now on. The last letter of agreement made between the city and the developers was several years ago and quite a few changes have occurred as the plans were refined and improved.

Commissioner Thelma Behling, one of the specially appointed members of a committee assigned by the city to work out the letter of agreement told the commissioners that "This was a very agreeable discussion between all parties."

Behling and Commissioner Sandra Stanley were the two commissioners on the committee as well as members of the planning board.

In other action, the commissioners approved a resolution of support of the state's bid to the federal government as to the proposed super conductor super collider in the Stockbridge area.

A presentation of a video tape was presented to the commissioners by Chris Bandy of Consumers Power Company. His firm prepared a video tape to help urge federal officials to award the project to this state instead of eight other proposed sites within the United States.

Bandy told the commission the importance of the collider and what it could do to help tourism in the northern part of the state if approved.

Beaver dams, such as this one near Pearsall Road, are starting to cause some problems as they cut down trees on Fuller Road in Wilson Township. Other beavers have been cutting trees near the millpond in Boyne City as they get food. The beavers haven't tried to build a dam yet on the Boyne River, but some people are considering trapping them out and moving them to a new home.

News Briefs

March 2 is the cutoff date for those wishing to become head of the Department of Natural Resources. Commissioner Tom Anderson is conducting the search to find a replacement for retiring Charlevoix County summer resident Gordon Guyer who has said he will be retiring sometime this spring. The seven member commission, which is appointed by the Governor, has been given the authority to hire a new director.

East Jordan High School will be the headquarters for a blood drive next Thursday, March 3, sponsored by the East Jordan High School Student Council. The students are asking that anyone wishing to donate blood from the East Jordan area come to the high school band room between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Since blood cannot be manufactured, the students are reminding everyone of the need for donations and the desire to join them in a successful blood drive.

Central Michigan University will again be holding a motorcycle certification course in northern Michigan this spring and summer. Courses are being set up in Charlevoix County, along with 17 other counties throughout the north in a state funded program. State law requires motorcycle operators 16 and 17 years old to go through the course before they apply for an endorsement on their drivers license. The 15-20 hour course will be held over two to three days. For complete information, call or contact Paula Russell, Continuing Education and Community Services, Rowe 126, CMU, Mt. Pleasant, Michigan 48859, telephone 517-774-7141.

Boyne City High School and Middle School bands will be presenting a special pre-festival concert at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 25, on the elementary school stage. Featured will be songs to be played at the band festival competitions set for Saturday for the high schoolers and March 5 for the middle schoolers.

Remember, if you have school age children, that Boyne City Public Schools will be holding a teacher in-service day Monday, February 29. There will be no school for students on that day.

Fifteen Boyne Falls students were named as S.T.A.R. students for the first semester. That means they maintained a grade point average of at least 9.0, had no detentions, high attendance records and are carrying at least five to six academic classes. The winners earned a free weekend ski pass at Boyne Mountain for their efforts.

City, township hold landfill session

Boyne City and officials from Evangeline Township worked last Wednesday at a work session to try to find a solution to paying the cost of the final capping of the former landfill and agreed to ask all local units of government to send letters to the Natural Resources Commission supporting Boyne City's request for Clean Michigan Fund monies.

The cost of capping the landfill with clay and the other work that needs to be done is estimated to be about $490,000, and according to Boyne City officials, getting a grant is the only way the city can afford to finish the closure of the landfill.

While many communities are asking for the money from the fund for various projects, the Boyne City project is one of the higher on the list.

If the city wins a grant, they will have to come up with about $163,000 as the city's 25 percent matching share to complete the project.

City Manager Randy Frykberg told the audience that finding the money was not an insurmountable goal but would be difficult.

City officials have said they are considering asking other units of government that used the landfill, to help participate in the closing costs.

But that idea was not met with much enthusiasm by other trustees of the Evangeline Township. According to Trustee Bruce Janssen, if the township participated in cost, it could be a liability problem in the future.

Child Watch program coming to Charlevoix

Charlevoix City Police and the Charlevoix County Sheriff Dept. Crime Prevention Unit are coordinating the Community Child Watch Program for Charlevoix.

Application forms for adult volunteers will be sent home with elementary students in the near future, and training in the school system will be in late March/early April.

The Child Watch is a program designed for the children of the community as an educational tool to instruct young people in areas of personal safety. Chief Halverson noted that while the area does not have a child abduction problem, there have been instances of emergencies involving children, and this program is just a preventative measure.

Sheriff Lasater and the crime prevention officer have worked in conjunction with the East Jordan and Boyne City School Districts instituting this program, and are now working with Charlevoix and Boyne Falls in an effort to make the program county wide.

The Child Watch Program has been widely accepted by school administration officials and law enforcement personnel statewide, as well as by parents and students. Anyone wishing further information can contact Chief Dennis Halverson of the Charlevoix City Police at 547-3255 or the crime prevention officer at the Sheriff's Dept. at 547-4461.

State to pay for EJ weir change order

Contractors working on the East Jordan River salmon weir will be adding a timber deck and railing at a cost of about $10,000 according to City Superintendent of Public Works, Mike Dionne.

The state will be picking up the cost of the additional structure which was built over the summer and fall at the mouth of the river.

The city council is the administrator of the weir and had to pass a resolution approving the change.

The change was made so spectators and workers could look into the weir to see what salmon was being caught.

The city is also working on trying to find a solution to a traffic bottleneck that occurs in the summer at the intersection of M-32 and M-46.

The bottleneck backs up traffic when the nearby factories let out at shift changes and during heavy tourist traffic times.

The Michigan Department of Transportation knows that intersection is a problem area and is trying to determine the best way to ease the problem. They have completed plans which they think will help but have not continued the project to the funding stage.

Dionne said he was working with State Senator Mitch Irwin to find funding that will improve the situation. The state has not determined if funding is planned or is available.

Zero the Hero stopped at the East Jordan Elementary School recently and played with the children on the playground and in the school as he taught them math concepts in the early grades.

"Zero the Hero Day" at East Jordan Elementary School

BY ELOUISE ROSSLER

If you have attended school 100 days you deserve something special, right? That's just what Zero the Hero thinks if you are in kindergarten, first, second or third grade and studying Math Their Way. Zero the Hero is noted in some special way every time the students hit a number ending in zero in the East Jordan Elementary. However, this year something happened on the 100th day! Zero the Hero appeared in person (also known as Gary Albring, Elementary Administrator). Donning a cape made by Ellen Brouwer, a kindergarten mother and various other donated items, Zero the Hero helped the kindergarten airlift balloons, handed out $100 bills (strangely oversized and in black and white) and visited each classroom to congratulate them on reaching 100 days on their numberlines.

The Math Their Way philosophy is for children to understand patterns of math through use of concrete materials. With this in mind they do many activities in the East Jordan Elementary School with objects during math time. On the 100th day the children had brought in collections of 100's which included buttons, M&M's, toothpicks, pennies, etc. Each class was preparing something using 100 such as 100 hearts, 100 foot-steps, 100 smiley faces, necklaces of 100 Cheerios, measuring 100 feet of clothesline, a 100 year time line of American history, flags of 100 stars and more. They were also making books of Zero the Hero, drawing faces of what they would look like when they are 100 years old and doing things in 100 seconds of time. Treats were tied in to 100 with Ritz crackers, cookies, and push-ups, which have a zero on each end.

The day was a smashing success whether you carried home a dalmation with 100 spots or wore a Cheerio necklace home.

Many of the early elementary teachers have taken special training to teach the Math Their Way Method. Area teachers will have an opportunity to get in on training and the fun when a training class in Math Their Way is offered in East Jordan in August. For more information, teachers are invited to call Gail Weimer at the Char-Em I.S.D. or Betty Walker at the Elementary.

Until next year, Zero the Hero has retired from the scene, however, he will no doubt return on the next 100th day.

A welcome goes out this week to Fern Shaler, who moved into Litzzenburger Place over the weekend.

On Saturday night a group of 18 of the Northern Slopes Farm Bureau met at the home of Ed and Arlene Korthase. The topic of discussion was "Is My Water Safe To Drink?"

An open house is planned for 4 p.m. next Saturday, February 28th at the new home of Marvin and Kathryn Potter and family on Anderson Road.

Jim and Kathy Rice of Tecumseh were here over the weekend visiting her sister, Dorothy, and Verlin Thompson and family.

On Friday, the tenants of Litzzenburger Place were entertained by the singing group of the Boyne City Elementary School 3rd and 4th graders. Dressed in elementary school red and white T shirts, they did a great job, under the direction of music teacher, Mrs. Dee Kelly, in presenting their many songs by memory.

My apologies to Ira and Wendy Breneman. It was the Brenemans, not the Mike Stowes, who, as I mistakenly reported in last week's column, spent a week on the Berry College Campus in Rome, Georgia, through the Elder Hostel program.

Judge and Mrs. Harvey Varum and their guest exchange student from Japan, Koichi Ishiyama, attended the Lake Superior State vs. Michigan State University hockey game in Sault Ste. Marie on Friday night, in which Lake Superior State won with a 7-3 score.

This past Wednesday, the Church of the Nativity, with the Fr. John Schaffer officiating, held their first Ash Wednesday service. This Episcopal Church, which has had its doors opened for about year, is located on Main Street, next to the Public Library.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Long of Grandville visited her sisters, Julia Daniels of Bortz Nursing Home, and Clara Rolls of Litzzenburger Place over the weekend. They also visited his parents, the Emery Longs.

Ralph Brooks is scheduled to be transferred from Northern Michigan Hospitals to Grandvue Medical Facility.

Scores of the senior bowlers this past week were: Barney Barnhart-469, Pros Blanckaert-466, Norm Kruger-449, John Tjapkes-442, Bob Rumpf-381, Goldie-351, Mary Tjapkes-350, Jean Marcham-344, Chuck Calvin-329, Pearl Frieden-317, Ardith Dorgan-294, Betty Calvin-239, Mary Rumpf-192 (2 games)-190.

Bingo winners on Thursday at the mealsite were: 1st regular (split) Alta Skye/Bernice Suhara, 2nd-Leonna Griffen, 3rd-(split) Mary Towne/Gene Matthew/Alice Wilson, and 4th-Erma Norton. The two specials went to Mary Kritcher and Minnie Skop, respectively. The cover all went to Barbara Ross, and the caller was Lyle Ross.

Congratulations to newlyweds, Salvation Army Lt. Scott Nicloy and Lt. June Steele who were married on February 6th in Van Nuys, Calif. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James (Curtis) Nicloy of Boyne City and June is the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Clinton Steele of Haines, Alaska. The Nicloys and daughter Linda spent a week there sharing in the big event.

In service

Paul L. Arnold Jr., 19, son of Paul and Gwen Arnold of Charlevoix, has entered the United States Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program.

According to Sgt. Robert Scamehorn, the Air Force Recruiter here, Mr. Arnold's entry into the DEP allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Mr. Arnold is a 1985 graduate of Charlevoix High School and will enter the Regular Air Force on March 21, 1988.

Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive technical training in the General Area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

The Positive Side

"Take time to give yourself a break . . . It is one of the secrets of youth."

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

I used to have a friend until I outgrew him.

He was born on a year like this, called leap year and is now only about 12 years old. He thinks of himself as a fully trained doctortype. But I don't think I would ever call on someone who is 12 to prescribe drugs to me, no matter how much I might need them.

I almost feel sorry for him and others like him.

While you and I, regular type of folks, grow old gracefully, those folks born on February 29 have a tough time growing up, let alone growing old.

When I am gathering up my Social Security, my friend will only be 16 years old. I wonder how he is going to explain that, along with the grey hairs, to a government official who is going to say he is too young to collect.

One thing though, he can now qualify to drive a car, providing he has taken driver education, at the same time you and I who were born about the same time in years, are drawing out the money that has been set aside.

When I asked him if he had any real difficulty with his youth a few of our years ago, he looked over at me and gave me one of "those" looks. He has a hard time dealing with someone who kids him about his youthful age.

Just think of all the trouble he may have, besides getting a drivers license. He was one of the few who could say they graduated from high school at the age of four-and-a-half, or college at eight.

It could be a real problem when he or she gets out into the real world of business. Who wants to deal with a preteen?

I do envy people born on that day, though, everytime I look at some youthful skier having fun at the Mountain, or see someone doing something I know would be outright dangerous for me to try, but it looks like fun.

If I had the advantage of youth, I could probably join right in and end up in the hospital, thinking what a great day I had.

And maybe I could still have "greenstick" fractures instead of old brittle bones.

But that is me, I often wonder how some of those born in a leap year day feel when they see people their own age still living through the pains of youth. I wonder if they ever get used to it. Probably, they don't get too concerned and then lie and tell everyone they were born on February 28th, just so they can appear to be like the rest of us.

But we know they could never run for high political office, some media person would make a big deal about them having to lie everytime they talk about their age. We all know we can't have a liar in that position.

But I don't think we have to worry too much about them running for the office of president. They would have to be 140 years old, in our years, in order to equal out to the minimum age a president can be.

Maybe with modern medical miracles, though.

On the other hand, that may not be a bad idea. For a campaign slogan they could use an expression like, "Old enough to have the experience of life, yet young enough to have the hope of the future."

Or "Never too young to know what to do."

The political advisors could have a field day with a leap year baby.

Speaking of politicians, have you given any thought to running for office? It appears that a lot of positions will be opening up in a few weeks that could use your talents.

From school boards to township and on to state and federal jobs, and all you have to do is express interest.

Lower our taxes, provide more than we are presently getting, and keep the status quo as you don't appear to have any axes to grind.

Just get those petitions going folks, and get enough signatures to confuse the ballot makers.

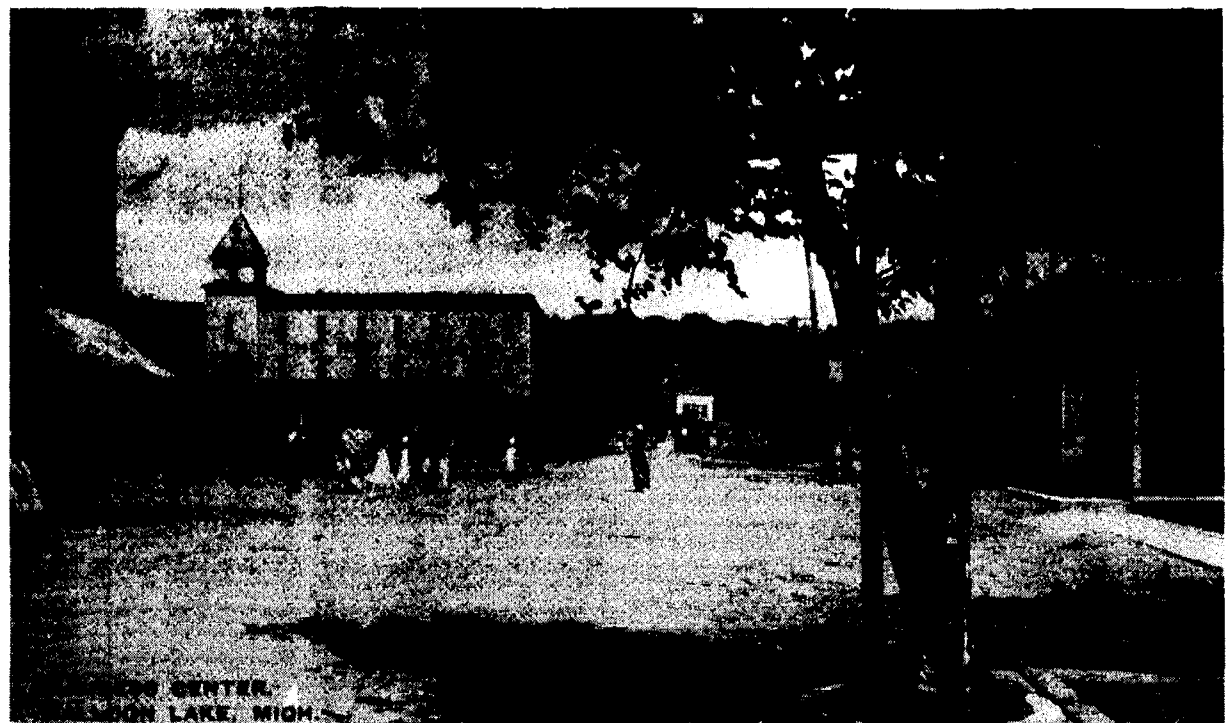

Landfill

Township residents are also against any plan to have the township participate in the funding.

This leaves the matter up to the courts as a matter of litigation, according to Evangeline Township Trustee Doug Shields. He suggested that the township and the city will probably have to fight it out in court.

While both the township and the city agreed that the best answer would be to get a grant, they also agreed to keep the channels of communication open between the two units of government as they try to find a solution to the cost of capping the landfill with either a layer of clay or a PVC plastic liner.

1902 - 1906

Walloon Lake was a busy place back around the turn of the century. This picture shows some of the buildings that made up the downtown area of the village and shows the hotel where many vacationers spent the summer. It sure looks a lot different today, especially when you drive through it in the winter.

Marshall Sayles

The winds of spring are upon us.

They are tripping merrily along, hitting town like a winning lottery ticket.

March. It's neither winter nor summer. Just blowy.

But, hey. Look what March will throw at us: St. Patrick's Day, the first day of spring, a full moon and Palm Sunday, all chilly gusts at kite-flying time.

Rejoice, my friends. The gloomy fizzle of February is now a mere cold ghost of the past. (I said that myself and I'm proud of it.)

Mixed between the breezes will come the day when I shall have trod this orb for another fifty-two pick-ups. Weeks, bub, weeks. It's a time when few kick up their heels with a draft of society's poison. My birthday is seldom celebrated beyond the length of our driveway.

Now, those who are still with us will be treated to a fresh work of art.

Viz: The subject is March. The enemy is wind.

It's true. March will generate more wind than those who sit around Dan Rathering the city council; and that's a lot of wind. But not as much as we experienced up here on Mount-rush-moore last spring.

It blew so hard up here it ripped a post hole out of the ground and sent it flying. I went outside to see what was going on and was struck full in the face by a flying post hole.

I was laid up for three days, unable to take that lucrative job pushing advertising sheets under windshield wipers at super-market parking lots.

Was I mad!

I took that post hole story down town to see if it would hold water among the intelligent. Everywhere I went I was given the raspberries even though they were out of season. In some huddles I was called names that are not on my birth certificate.

Booing and hissing has a habit of turning my stomach.

So I wrote to the agriculture department telling them what the wind had done out here and would they kindly put their official stamp on what had been called a farce.

Well, they wrote right back saying they felt sorry for the city council and that, by the tone of my letter, there was no doubt but what I had been sideswiped by a post hole.

Heavens what a relief.

Cooking Ware-withal

LENTEN MENUS

The Lenten season has a new meaning for me since I have learned that the word "Lent" is from the Old English "Lenten" meaning springtime.

Many churches have for centuries honored the forty days between Ash Wednesday and Easter as a time for sacrifice, and it has become a tradition in many countries. People were encouraged to eat fish and cheese to replace meat during those forty days. The old cook books had chapters on "Economic Cooking." These books had many pages of fish recipes; especially salt cod and mackerel, fish balls, fish cakes and souffles, even fish pudding. Baked beans, lamb, mutton and veal recipes filled many pages along with puddings of all kinds.

It is an interesting fact that what was once considered economical some years ago certainly is not true today. Our modern marketing system has changed all of that. We do not save anything by buying what is in season or locally grown as used to be the case. Our fruits and vegetables are shipped to us year-around and of course our frozen foods make everything abundant, so a variety of foods cost no more than eating the same foods endlessly as our forefathers were required to do during the long, winter months.

I have a few recipes that were once considered Lenten meals with what I think is a cheerful modern touch. Like the old-time LOW CALORIE MACARONI AND CHEESE

- Only 275 calories per serving
- 5 green onions with tops, sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash of cayenne
- 2 cups creamed small curd cottage cheese
- 8 oz. elbow macaroni, cooked and drained
- 1 teaspoon paprika

In saucepan cook onions in butter until tender. Stir in flour, salt, mustard and cayenne. Cook and stir until smooth and bubbly. Over low heat gradually stir in milk; stir constantly until sauce starts to boil and thickens. Stir in cottage cheese. Pour over macaroni in ungreased 2-quart casserole; toss well. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake covered in preheated 350 degree oven 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 minutes or until hot. Serves 6

Or you can make this trifty meal in a matter of minutes, using canned tuna.

TUNA AND CHIPS

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1 - 7 oz. can tuna fish
- 2 cups crushed potato chips
- 1 cup sliced, cooked mushrooms

Place alternate layers of tuna, potato chips, mushrooms and white sauce in greased casserole until all have been used, topping with a layer of crushed potato chips. Melatonin Blues

Some research that scientists have done I'd rather they'd not done, or not told me the results of at least. Take the case of apples for example. Researchers in Denmark found that, if eaten in sufficiently large quantities, the skin on red apples causes cancer. In rats it did, anyway. I eat a lot of red-skinned apples. Then again, other studies scientists have published reports on, have perked me up considerably. And such is the case in the phenomenon that scientists have discovered - SAD. The name says it all.

Seasonal affective disorder, which SAD is the acronym for, makes people feel low when they're deprived of adequate periods of sunlight. So it follows that they suffer the most during the short days of winter when, even with the clouds staying discreetly away, the sun doesn't show for long. I shudder to think of those who live in parts of the world like Northern Europe or Alaska where for periods of time, short or long depending on proximity to the North Pole, the sun never shines day in and day out. The mere thought of these folk, makes me stop sniveling, for a minute or so anyway.

Now scientists have discovered that "winter weariness" don't originate in people's minds but come from a physical disorder in their bodies. The pineal gland does it to us. This gland, which only works in the dark of night, gets a chance to produce more of its hormone, melatonin, during the long winter nights. And if it turns out that it manufactures so much that it gets out of balance with the hormones the other glands produce, which it does in our cold season, then the excess helps make us depressed.

Scientists didn't even know what hormone the pineal gland produced much less when it did nor what it did until thirty years ago. But since then they've studied it hard.

Thus far, they've learned about the depression connection and also that it affects the maturity rate of children. They've found that children growing up in the sunny climes of countries close to the equator, mature physically earlier than children living in countries farther away from it. I'll bet they grow up cheerier too.

Melatonin affects our biological time clock in another area also, our sleep-wake cycle. This shows up in travelers who experience jet lag when they go by air to countries in other time zones. Jet lag sufferers have been helped by doses of the only known antidote for SAD, periods of exposure to very bright light.

Researchers feel that they're beginning to understand the instinctive knowledge that people of ancient civilizations like the Incas and the Persians showed in worshipping the sun. And that is that human as well as plant life could only green and grow and blossom and thrive with the sun's help. The greening part for people is only figurative of course, which is most fortunate indeed I'd say.

Scientists plan to do lots more research on SAD and melatonin now that they're onto it. But they don't have to do any more of it for me. They've done enough by assuring me that my winter blahs come from one of my glands outdoing its fellow glands and not from mental mushiness.

But I don't mind their doing further research on it. It'll keep their minds occupied, and both they and their crew of ratty helpers away from my apples.

NMPP to offer AIDS antibody testing in Petoskey and TC

Northern Michigan Planned Parenthood (NMPP) will begin offering AIDS antibody testing February 15 at its clinics in Petoskey and Traverse City.

The decision to offer AIDS testing came after the Board, staff and medical advisory committee of NMPP took a hard look at the agency's role and responsibility in the fight against the fatal disease, said Scott Blanchard, executive director. "Our conclusion was that as a medical and educational organization we bear an important responsibility to educate our clients and the public about the deadly virus and how to prevent infection," he said.

NMPP is the first Planned Parenthood affiliate in Michigan and one of only 20 nationwide to offer HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) testing. According to NMPP clinic manager and nurse practitioner Alice Clayton, several factors weighed heavily in the decision to provide testing in Northern Michigan.

Northern Michigan is not immune from the AIDS epidemic. Local health department officials estimate there will be between 250 and 500 AIDS-positive cases in Emmet and Charlevoix counties by 1992.

AIDS is not a disease that can be cured through traditional medical interventions. At present, AIDS can only be prevented, not cured.

For many NMPP clients, the non-profit reproductive health care agency is the only health care provider they see.

Teenagers are especially at risk. They tend to experiment with drugs and sexual relationships, and see themselves as invulnerable, which promotes a lack of awareness and acceptance of the risk of AIDS. Years of listening to and working with teenagers has earned NMPP their trust and a special understanding of their needs, said Clayton.

Clients will be offered the option of confidential or anonymous testing (in one recent study, 90% of clients at an anonymous testing center indicated they would not have had the test had it not been offered anonymously). Clients electing anonymous testing will be identified only with a first name and test number, and results will be released only to that person, said Clayton. For clients electing confidential testing, results will only be released upon written request of the client, she said. Cost for the test, which includes pre- and post-test counseling, is $35. Further information can be obtained by calling Northern Michigan Planned Parenthood at 347-9692.

Gilmore to coordinate Bike-a-thon in Boyne City

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Ms. Kathy Gilmore has agreed to be the coordinator of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Boyne City.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-a-Thon program this year is dedicated to Brian McCollister. Brian, a native of Louisiana, was diagnosed with leukemia in October, 1984. Since that time, Brian has come to St. Jude every six weeks for treatment, and every 12 weeks for a bone marrow test and spinal tap to make sure his cancer stays in remission. While at home, Brian receives oral medication daily. Brian is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

We sincerely appreciate the concern that Ms. Kathy Gilmore has for our work, and we hope the citizens of Boyne City will support the Bike-a-Thon this spring to help provide the funds that are needed to preserve the world's greatest asset... "Our Children."

Two Public Hearings will be held on Tuesday, March

Four construction students at Ferris State University recently were awarded over $2,100 in scholarships. The fourth annual awards were funded by the Mecosta County Home Builders Association, the National Association of Home Builders and the Ferris Associated Construction Students. Scholarship recipients were (front, from left) David Skornia of Boyne City, Timothy Morey of White Pigeon, Robert McFarlane of Iron River and Michael Novakowski of Grand Rapids. Presenting the awards were (back, from left) Kevin DeFever of Big Rapids, MCHBA president; Russ Gerber of Reed City, NAHB Region IX vice president; and Ferris President J. William Wenrich. The scholarship program has awarded over $10,000 to 13 FSU construction students.

Ramblers defeat Elks, fall to Saints

BY SCOTT KNIPE

The Boyne City Ramblers added another win to a primarily defeated record last Tuesday when the Elk Rapids Elks were in Boyne.

For the most part the contest was a one sided affair, being no closer than the first quarter score of 15-9. The Ramblers played with confidence throughout the game, upping their lead to the substantial 37-22 halftime score, and 60-36 in the third. Boyne was outscored in the quarter, but for the Elks it was already too late, losing 75-59.

After having been easily defeated by the Saints early in the season, no one really expected Boyne to make a showing in the Saints hometown, especially after a poor first quarter, but by the half the score was tied, 39 all, and Boyne took the lead in the third, 59-57, but through a few bad breaks and three starters fouling out, the Ramblers momentum slowly gave way to the Saints and at the final buzzer

Boyne was down 5, 79-84.

Mike Deschryver led the team in St. Ignace with 29 points, followed by Jim Abney and Aaron Richards with ten each. Scott Hammonree had 9, all on three pointers, Eric Smith had 8, Keith Harvey put in 7, Mark Harris nailed 6 all of freethrows.

The toughest portion of the season is just now approaching, as Boyne faces Harbor Springs, Petoskey, and Rogers City for their final three games.

Leaders showing determination to win a hearing on Social Security benefit issue "Notch"

James Roosevelt, Chairman of the five million-member senior lobby, the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, today congratulated senior leaders across the nation for showing the determination necessary to win a hearing on the controversial Social Security benefit issue known as the "Notch."

Roosevelt sent telegrams alerting grassroots leaders in every region of the country that the Senate Special Committee on Aging will hold hearings on the Notch February 22. The "Notch" is the 1977 legislative error which resulted in dramatic reductions in Social Security benefits for seniors born between 1917-1928.

"We have fought for four years to win a fair hearing on this issue in the Senate," said Roosevelt. "Now, because of the leadership of Sen. John Melcher, chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, and because of the persistence of millions of Notch victims, we have won a chance to tell our story."

In the last two years alone, Roosevelt said, at least 450,000 petitions, letters and postcards have reached the Congress urging a hearing. He added that U.S. Rep. Andy Jacobs, (D-Ind.) Chairman of the House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Social Security also has promised to hold hearings later this spring.

Senator Melcher, (D-Mont.) has scheduled testimony from Sen. Terry Sanford (D-N.C.), author of legislation to correct the Notch inequity (S. 1830), Notch victims and Social Security Commissioner Dorcas Hardy. "We know that Commissioner Hardy will oppose any correction of the 'Notch,'" said Roosevelt, "but at least we will be able to publicly confront the many erroneous statements that have been made by the Social Security Administration on this important issue."

In recent months the Notch issue has commanded the attention of Presidential candidates in Iowa where there is a well-organized grassroots Notch organization numbering 60,000. Against the expectations of many political pundits, the Notch has become a pivotal issue in Iowa according to recent articles in the New York Times and Newsweek magazine, among others.

In Iowa at least four Presidential candidates, Democrats Michael Dukakis, Jesse Jackson, Paul Simon and Republican Jack Kemp, have committed to finding a solution if elected President. Other White House hopefuls, while not making commitments, have recognized that the 1977 legislation inadvertently caused a serious disparity in Social Security benefit levels. Roosevelt said that recognition, by itself, signals a major victory.

But the struggle for recognition of the Notch as an important, or even legitimate issue, has been long and arduous, according to Roosevelt. "Notch leaders have come to Washington to demonstrate twice in the last two years, we have seen legislation blocked by the House Ways and Means Committee chairman year after year, and we have fought for years to win the support of other aging organizations in our battle for simple justice for 'notched' seniors," said Roosevelt.

The former Congressman said that the hearing would provide his organization with the opportunity to demonstrate that the Notch has caused benefit levels for affected seniors to fall below the benefit levels of most seniors born since 1900. "Time after time, we have had to answer the spurious notion that Notch victims are trying to equal the high benefit levels of those born between 1912-1916—the so-called 'bonanza babies.'" He said that the Sanford legislation would level out benefits for most seniors, correcting the Notch, but would not bring benefit levels up to the 1912-1916 levels.

"Finally, it was the dogged determination of hundreds of thousands of affected senior citizens that won this first step toward a real legislative correction of this injustice," said Roosevelt. He predicted that the growing momentum which made possible the hearing and the commitments by Presidential candidates would lead to passage later this year of both the Sanford legislation and parallel House legislation introduced by Rep. Harold Ford, (H.R. 3788).

Red Devils drop to Charlevoix 69-49 and St. Mary's 85-56

BY DENNIS SKROCKI
Last week the East Jordan varsity basketball squad suffered consecutive defeats to Charlevoix and Gaylord St. Mary's by respective scores of 69-49 and 85-56.

On Tuesday at Charlevoix the Devils trailed 19-9 at the conclusion of the first stanza but came back and tied things up with two minutes remaining in the second. The period ended with the Rayders in front 34-29. EJ went cold in the third quarter as they managed only four points as compared to the Rayders' 14. Behind 48-33 heading into the final quarter the Devils were unable to recover and eventually bowed by the final score of 69-49.

In the contest EJ hit 20 of 61 (32%) field goals and went a perfect 8 of 8 at the free throw line. The Red Rayders netted 28 of 71 (39%) shots from the floor and 10 of 16 free throws.

Matt Bishop led the Devil offense with 16 points, 12 of which came in the second period. Dan Pepin, Mark Moore, and Jeff Burks each added six. Also scoring were: Glen Stevens (4), Tracey Reich (3), Keith Harchis (3), Jeff Olstrom (2), and Kelly Harchis (2). Pepin also chipped in four assists.

Defensively Burks had six rebounds and three steals while Bishop and Gerry Ciszewski crashed the boards for five rebounds each.

Ranked No. 2 in the class D state polls, Gaylord St. Mary's proved to be too much for the Red Devils.

Behind by only two points, 16-14, after the first period, EJ faltered in the second and trailed 47-23 at the half. The Snowbirds extended their lead to 72-46 after the third quarter and from there coasted to the easy 85-56 win.

The Devils sank 26 of 64 shots from the field as the Snowbirds made good on 30 of 71. At the line EJ hit only 2 of 17 shots as Gaylord canned 20 of 25.

Pepin was the Devils offensive leader with 14 points as Bishop added 11 and Moore found the hoop for 10.

Defensive honors also belonged to Pepin as he turned in a nine rebound, three steal performance. Also obtaining rebounds were: Bishop (7), Reich (5), Ciszewski (4), Stevens (4), Tim Brennan (2), and Kelly Harchis (1).

As no game is scheduled for Tuesday, the Devils will see their only action on Friday against Bellaire.

Boyer jayvees top Elk Rapids, lose to Saints

BY SCOTT KNIPE
In the past week of play, Boyne City's JV's defeated the Elk Rapids Elks by the score of 53-42, and then went on to lose to St. Ignace 53-58.

Boyer held the lead against Elk Rapids the entire game, although the first half of play was close, 12-7 in the first quarter, 23-19 in the second. Early in the third quarter Boyer opened their lead up considerably, 44-29, and finally took the game 53-42.

High scorer for Boyer was Bo

Williamson with 14 points, and Dean Alger, Wayne Avery and Scott Knipe followed Williamson with 10 each. Shawn Vondra contributed 6, Jason Hunt 2.

Friday night the Ramblers took to the road and headed to Saint Ignace. They started out well, leading 18-6 at the end of the first period, 30-22 at the half. They extended that lead to nine, 43-34 in the third, but then fell down rapidly while in foul trouble, losing the game 58-53.

In the losing effort Williamson was again the high scorer with 13, followed by Dean Alger with 10. Wayne Avery and Scott Knipe each added 7, Shawn Vondra and Mike Kitson both put in 6, and Chris Johnson had 4.

Boyer faces tough challenges this week as they face both Harbor Springs and Petoskey.

East Jordan freshmen bow to Petoskey 62-51

BY DENNIS SKROCKI
On Wednesday, February 15, the East Jordan freshman basketball squad suffered a 62-51 defeat at the hands of Petoskey.

In the contest the Devils sank 20 of 50 (40%) shots from the field while sinking 10 of 16 free throws. The Northmen canned 24 of 65 (37%) field goals and hit 14 of 32 shots from the foul line.

Kris Snyder led the EJ offense with 16 points as Scott Beal added 12 and Jim McWatters chipped in nine. Also contributing in the losing effort were: Pete Inman (5 points), Tim Shea (4), Dennis Prevo (3), and Andy Malpass (2).

From a defensive standpoint Inman had 11 rebounds as Shea and Beal each grabbed four and Snyder crashed the boards for three.

The loss drops the Devils' record to 13-3 with three games remaining on the schedule.

This week EJ will host Inland Lakes on Monday and Harbor Springs on Thursday.

Michigan looks back on successful celebration

Although Michigan's Sesquicentennial celebration ended quietly on January 26, 1988, the year and one half celebration will continue to make noise as it leaves a legacy of good times, new special events, new museums, and a new sense of pride in what it means to be from Michigan said Merri Jo Bales, Sesquicentennial executive director.

Bales said the statewide celebration gave all 9.2 million Michiganders the opportunity to become involved and ultimately became a catalyst for thousands of local events sponsored by more than 150 local Sesquicentennial agencies.

The celebration included spectacular events like the Michigan Water Festival and Parade of Sail in Traverse City; the 10 city Blue Care Network Tour de Michigan; the 12 city Sesqui Wagon Train tour; the premiere of the Michigan Festival in East Lansing; and the Smithsonian Festival of American Folklife in Washington, D.C.

But Bales emphasized that the celebration also stressed local quilting bees, historical reenactments, and a new look at the cultural diversity of Michigan. Michigan, which has one of the most varied ethnic representations in the nation, showcased that rich cultural fabric with ethnic festivals, Indian pow wows, and Smithsonian Folklife Festival. The Smithsonian Festival involved more than 100 Michigan folklife artists from such diverse groups as American Indian, Hmong and Lebanese, who exhibited and displayed their folklife ways.

"The Sesquicentennial, above all, became a catalyst for launching new major special events and the opening of new museums," Bales said. Special events that will continue long after the Sesquicentennial observance are the Warren Festival, the Michigan Festival, and the Tour de Michigan professional bicycle race.

"These events have the potential to become major national events providing a significant long term economic impact on local communities," she added. An example of this economic impact was felt at Traverse City in July, 1987, when more than 250,000 people attended the Parade of Sail.

The Sesquicentennial was not limited to high profile events. For example, thousands of Michiganders toiled in libraries to complete family genealogies proving that their Michigan heritage went back at least to 1837.

"A major reason to celebrate the state's birthday was to look at its rich history, and without a doubt, that goal was accomplished," Bales said.

Hundreds and hundreds of history-related activities and reenactments were undertaken ranging from a look at the pre-statehood days and the Toledo War to a canonade exhibition that caught the eye and ear of Lucasfilms for an upcoming film.

More than 100 historical markers were erected in one year—an all time record. The markers recognize such historic sites as Motown's Hitsville USA and the State's first railroad in Blissfield, Michigan.

Authors and photographers were busy publishing scores of books in time for the Sesquicentennial celebration. Among them were Detroit News columnist George Weeks' book on Michigan Governors; Detroit Free Press Editor Joe Grimm's book on the memories of average Michiganders; Balthazar Korab's photographic look at this great state; an aerial view of Michigan by Dale Fisher and noted historian George May's new Michigan history book.

The U.S. Postal Service issued a statehood stamp and the Mackinac Bridge, in its thirtieth year, displayed illuminated 150 numerals.

Special guests galore came to the state including Harry Blackstone, Jr.—the world's foremost magician, who helped promote the "Magic of Michigan."

The state's travel industry also was the recipient of Sesquicentennial benefits. A Michigan Family Reunion promotion sent 100,000 letters to former Michiganders now living out of state inviting them to come back and visit.

"It's safe to say that virtually every school in Michigan celebrated the Sesquicentennial in some way," the Executive Director said. She expects this will have a lasting impact as students show a greater appreciation for the history of Michigan and what it means to the future of this state. As just one example, 150,000 historical calendars were distributed to schools and libraries thanks to the sponsorship of Consumer Powers, Inc.

"Without the cooperation of the private sector, we simply would not have been able to accomplish everything we set out to do," Bales said. The Yes 150 Foundation, led by Peter Stroh, raised more than $3.5 million to help underwrite the effort. The Foundation estimates that another $1.5 million was spent directly on Sesquicentennial-related projects by corporations and foundations. Bales said that investment will be around long after the time capsule is sealed at the final event on January 26 in the rotunda of the State Capitol.

Numerous museums and exhibits opened during the celebration including the impressive Automobile in American Life exhibit at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn; the long awaited African American Museum in Detroit; the richly deserved Michigan Women's Hall of Fame and Museum in Lansing; and the Michigan Iron Industry Museum in Negaunee.

Waiting in the wings to open in 1988 is probably the most impressive legacy of the Sesquicentennial—the new State Museum, Archives and Library in Lansing. When it opens in December, 1988, the $44 million structure will immediately become one of the nation's leading historical museums which will track the state's history from the glacier age to the present.

Chefs 'ski against hunger' at Boyne Highlands

Proceeds from Midwest Grand Marnier Ski Race to benefit Michigan Chefs Against Hunger

The old adage, "Too many cooks spoil the broth," has one colorful exception: The Grand Marnier Chefs Ski Race, which will draw some 200 apron-clad chefs and restaurateurs to Boyne Highlands, Michigan on Sunday, March 6.

The Grand Marnier race is known as one of the nation's most colorful, eccentric — and successful — amateur events, in which competitors ski the slalom wearing the traditional chef's coat, apron and toque blanche, or tall white hat. Beginning with the 1988 season, the more than 1,250 participants in the national race series will share that success with non-profit groups fighting hunger in five major U.S. cities.

Ski race participants represent the "creme de la creme" of America's restaurants, from New York's Lutece and Le Cirque, to Detroit's London

Chop House, Denver's Rattlesnake Club, Boston's finest hotel dining rooms and the legendary Masa's and Ernie's of San Francisco. They cover the culinary spectrum from student to superstar; from sous chef to sushi chef. All food professionals age 21 and older are invited to participate, and the resulting chef's salad of competition and camaraderie has made the Grand Marnier ski race series the nation's most "tasteful" amateur event.

Proceeds from the Midwest regional race in Boyne Highlands—a portion of each racer's registration fee and all post-race banquet fees—will be donated to Michigan Chefs Against Hunger. Founded in 1986 by a group of prominent Detroit area chefs including Keith Famie, Edward Janos of The Money Tree and Milos Cihelka of the Golden Mushroom, this group raises money for the Capuchin Community Center Soup Kitchen, which provides emergency food and clothing to the needy.

Established in 1929, the Capuchin Center provides nearly 1,000,000 meals annually, and distributes almost half a million items of food and clothing throughout greater Detroit.

As president of Michigan Chefs Against Hunger, chef Famie—whose new restaurant, Les Auteurs in Royal Oak, will open in the spring—will represent the organization both as a racer and as recipient of the Grand Marnier donation pledge. Other Michigan Chefs Against Hunger members who will be on the race roster include chef Janos of the Money Tree, Master Chefs Jeff Russell and Jeffrey Gabriel of Schoolcraft College in Livonia, and Dean Fernon Feenstra of Schoolcraft.

The Grand Marnier Chefs Ski Race in Boyne Highlands will draw seasoned skier/chefs from throughout the midwest to compete "toque to toque" on Boyne's NASTAR race course. The race originated at Hunter Mountain in 1975, and has expanded over the years to include five qualifying events and a national championship, which in 1988 will be held in Snowmass, Colorado.

As always in the Grand Marnier races, Boyne Highlands competitors—who range in age from 21 to 75—will ski in the "signature" Chefs Race uniform: chef's jacket, flamboyantly decorated with restaurant logo; a Grand Marnier apron bearing the racer's number; and the distinctive toque blanche, whose value is more picturesque than aerodynamic.

Despite the whimsical racing uniform the Grand Marnier Chefs Ski race is a serious slalom competition following NASTAR guidelines. Entrants are divided into five age categories for men (21-30; 31-40; 41-50; 51-60; and 60 and over) and three for women (21-34; 35-40; and 41 and over). After morning trials, the top four finishers in each male, and top two in each female, category compete toque-to-toque in afternoon dual slalom finals, with age handicapping. The fastest skier in each age group—a total of five men and three women—comprise the team of finalists that goes on to the finals.

In addition to racing titles, the Grand Marnier Ski Races offer more unusual distinctions, such as:

The Chefs Coat Fashion Award—for the most wildly and creatively decorated jacket. The winner will be awarded a trip to the finals in Snowmass as a spectator.

The Grand Marnier Golden Egg Beater Award—for the best crash.

The Battered Sauce Pot Award—for courage in the face of alpine adversity.

The Spice If Not Speed Award—a spice wreath for the skier/chef who best

SKI YOU CAN DO IT

EXHALE TO HOLD ON ICE

If you have trouble skiing when the snow surface changes to ice, it's sometimes due to a reaction which causes you to tense up and raise your shoulders. The action results in loss of stability and responsiveness to the terrain.

Next time you approach an ice patch, drop your shoulders and exhale forcefully. Doing this relaxes your body, keeps you from "pulling away" so that you lose your balance, and keeps you "feeling" the terrain so that you become more responsive to the situation and "go with it" rather than resist it.

Olympics dictate coming ski fashions

If you are like the rest of the world, watching the Olympics, then you are seeing what will be forthcoming in next year's ski equipment and fashions.

For instance, the hottest thing alpine skiers are wearing is the new Descente skiwear that will be available next year in your favorite ski shop.

The new skiwear is made up of a revolutionary outer fabric called Solar Alpha. It was developed by Descente and is patented by them for their exclusive use. The "hot" part of the clothing line comes from this new fabric which actually converts the ultra violet rays of the sun, on cloudy as well as sunny days, into a heat energy. This in turn gives the skier optimum and instant warmth in a waterproof and breathable fabric.

You can see this new fashion on various teams in the Olympics right now, but you will be able to purchase clothing made of this material next fall when the ski shops will be featuring it.

It is from the new Olympic collection of Descente and will be fashioned into one-piece suits, jackets and pants.

Other new items from the same firm include the World Cup collection which features some outstanding colors and designs.

The firm began as high technological racing pant company several years ago and has since expanded into an all encompassing line of ski and sportswear for the entire family.

The research and development of the company is reflected in the same popular clothing you will be able to get next fall. Descente is the skiwear firm chosen by the United States, Swiss and Canadian Ski Teams.

In other areas, the new designs of skis are also apparent at the Olympics.

The same firm that brought out the teal color in skis, Rossignol, is changing again and making a purple color the newest fashionable one.

It is interesting that each ski company changes outer cosmetics of their skis almost every two years.

The Olympic years and the World Championship years. Technological improvements happen almost every year and are included into the ski lines as they develop.

Even ski bindings get into the act. One evolution from the Salomon Company that will be available next season in the ski shops will continue the quest to make skiing a safer sport. The new 757 binding can be seen on several top rated skiers throughout the Midwest as the product is introduced to ski shop owners and ski instructors.

Professional racers have had the equipment since the beginning of the year.

Many other changes are coming in almost every ski line. Buyers will be testing out the new equipment in early March as they look for interesting items to carry in their stores next year. The annual trade shows are not open to the public, though, you will have to wait until next season to have the latest and newest equipment.

All this promotion and interest the Opympics causes every four years just whets the appetities of skiers as they prepare for next season.

North Force Magazine targets forest industry

A description and an analysis of the forest products industry in Northern Lower Michigan has become the first targeted industry to be identified and examined in depth by North Force Magazine. The special section points out that experts agree that present Michigan forest resources could support as much as twice as much demand.

The story adds that Michigan has the fifth largest commercial forest in the nation, indicating that the nation-wide forest products industry must look next to the Great Lakes region for expansion. The magazine notes, "demand on our forests is up 50 percent statewide and $1.5 billion has been invested in the state by the forest industry. The growth has already started." The North Force Magazine notes that with proper management Michigan's forest resources will "produce indefinitely."

In its second issue, broadly expanding the use of color and photography, the new regional business publication has provided an important and valuable new tool, along with incentive for business expansion in this first of several targeted industries. The new magazine has provided an in-depth look at not only the abundant natural resources of the forests of Northern Michigan, but also details success stories of large and small forest-product related firms who are successfully doing business in the North Force area.

Moving to other areas concerning Northern Lower Michigan, the January issue of North Force Magazine provides insight into the cultural life of the region by identifying both the centers and many of the leading creative organizations which enrich the lives of residents through the performing and visual arts. This quality of life section of the magazine looks beyond the obvious benefits of the world-renowned Interlochen Arts Center to examine cultural centers in such diverse locations as Petoskey, Manistee, Bay View, Fremont, Alpena, Roscommon, Ludington and Traverse City.

Magazine also has devoted six pages to the major utilities which serve Northern Lower Michigan and their ability to meet the growth potential which has been identified for the region.

And as a follow-up to the lead story in North Force Magazine's October issue, "The Other Michigan," which identified Northern Lower Michigan as standing outside of the Grant-Thornton evaluation of Michigan's economic climate, the magazine further supports that position by pointing to a recent study by Inc. Magazine which to over 10,000 business executives both within Michigan and nation-wide who have expressed interest in the North Force region.

Shanty Creek-Schuss Mt. will observe St. Pat's Day with Irish Weekend

BELLAIRE-In the Tradition of St. Patrick's Day, Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain Resorts once again celebrates with Irish Weekend festivities March 18-20, 1988. This family oriented spring ski get away features contests, laughs and more on and off the slopes.

Saturday's events include a Rope Race on the Shanty Creek slopes that connects a four person slalom race team by rope as they try to maneuver through the gates together. Inside, the fun and games will center on eating, singing contests, a treasure hunt and silly hat parade.

Every contest has a winner and prizes range from 1988-89 season ski passes to gift certificates.

SYNERGISM

With a group of friends, organize a group formation in which you then proceed to ski in a synchronized manner. It usually helps for everyone to begin shouting the cadence even prior to starting to ski, then continuing to shout the "turn, turn, turn" cadence as everyone skis in synchron rhythm. The exercise teaches you adaptability and skiing with peripheral vision, as well as giving you a sampling of the power of synergism.

exist in each and every community in Michigan, Bales said, thanks to the efforts of 155 local agencies that were set up across the state to help celebrate the Sesquicentennial.

"The community spirit was phenomenal and we just can't say enough about local involvement. Without doubt, it was a key to the success of the celebration," said William A. Zehnder, Chairperson, Michigan Sesquicentennial Commission.

Local agencies helped organize and execute such events as the Tour de Michigan, the First Lady 150 Award, the Parade of Sail, and the Sesqui Wagon Train. "The Sesquicentennial was one of the largest voluntary efforts ever undertaken anywhere in the United States," Zehnder said.

Planning for the Sesquicentennial celebration began in July, 1985, with the first meeting of the 32-member Sesquicentennial Commission. Bales said the plan was to start slowly and build a broad base of community support that would take the celebration through 1987.

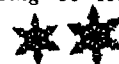

"Once the excitement started, the celebration took off like a rocket and without a doubt the Sesquicentennial exceeded everyone's expectations of what a celebration could be." Bales emphasized, that probably the most gratifying measure of the success of the Sesquicentennial is the pride that Michiganians displayed for their state and its citizens. "Our number one goal from the start was to increase pride in Michigan and wherever I travelled in the state during 1987, you could feel and see that the Sesquicentennial slogan "the feeling is forever" took on special meaning," Bales said.

Put the telephone pole over here, please: According to International Wildlife magazine, an ant weighing .0086 grams can carry a caterpillar five times its weight and 15 times its length. If the average adult male had comparable strength, he could carry an 810-pound object measuring 86 feet long!

exemplifies the spirit of event. The event was founded in the winter of 1975, when a handful of top New York chefs dressed in traditional culinary uniform for a ski race in honor of their injured colleague, Jacques Pepin. Grand Marnier liqueur, one of the race's original sponsors, assumed title sponsorship in 1983.
