Boyne City Headstart students recently participated in a "Hop-n-ing", a disability awareness program of the Michigan Easter Seal Society, and raised $224.59. The seek-long program taught young children what disabilities are, the different types of disabilities, and makes them aware that people with disabilities are just that - people. Also included in the program was the "Hop". Children collected pledges for the number of times they can hop in a three-minute period.

EJ council approves $882,422 for '88-'89

East Jordan's City Council approved a $882,422 budget for fiscal year 1988-89 which was 2.9 percent higher than last year's beginning budget.

Even though the budget has increased about $24,854, the amount of millage the city will levy will remain the same at 14.1 mills, ac-ording to city officials. A portion of the additional amount being budgeted will come from the fund equity the city has built up. The city will be using $12,630 from that fund balance.

Police and street department budgets will be seeing the largest growth, according to the figures as the street improvement program will see $25,405 being spent on major and local streets. Slated are renovations to Division Street from North Maple to the city limits.

The police department will have an additional $15,595 in their budget. Most of the additional money will go for a new patrol car which is expected to cost about $11,700.

The Council approved the budget as one of the first items on the agenda of the council meeting after a public hearing prior to the council meeting.

Also approved by the council was a rezoning request for property located at the corner of M-32 and M-66. Dr. Kevin Steely hopes to build an office for his dental practice and asked the zoning be changed from commercial to professional office. Steely said he was planning to start building immediately.

BC Commissioners discuss eyesores as snow goes away

City Commissioners spent much of the Tuesday noon meeting discussing problem areas around town. Roads and houses that need clean-ups were the main topic of discussion.

With City Manager Randy Frykberg on vacation, Clerk Tom Garlock chaired the meeting, telling the commissioners that there wasn't much that could be done about blading roads until the weather dried them out more.

Street Department head Basil Moore told the commissioners the department was filling potholes and was waiting for the roads to dry out so additional work could be done on them.

The commissioners then asked what was being done about some of the eyesores around homes within the city and were told that in one case, the district judge had given the property owner six months to have the property cleaned up. Chief of Police John Talboys told the commissioners that would put the clean-up in August and suggested the commission write a letter to the judge asking if the date could be moved up.

The commission agreed to the suggestion and added that it has been a year since the eyesore problem has been ruled on in the court system. They want the judge to shorten the clean-up period so it will coincide with the annual citywide clean-up campaign slated for May.

Talboys also told the commissioners that his department is preparing a list of properties that will also need clean-ups. He said

Residents suing for beach property

Thirty four residents in the Chandler Township area have banded together to determine the rights of use of an 1800 foot

The group claims to have gotten the rights to use the beach by using it for a number of years and have taken the property by adverse possession. They also claim to have minutes from a

Services remain same as Waste Management takes over refuse routes

If you have seen tan trucks instead of the familiar red ones picking up your trash, you needn't be alarmed. It is just the new company, Waste Management of Northern Michigan that took over, about a month ago, the refuse routes of the former Boyneland Refuse Company.

The transaction took place rather smoothly, according to Bob Simons, the former owner of Boyneland after he sold out his firm to Waste Management of Northern Michigan, a firm with national connections. Simons is working for the new firm, helping them make the transition from the old to the new.

During the past month the firm has been making pickups of trash, working the same schedule as has been the past practice.

What has changed, however, is the way the service works as far as the billing is concerned. The new firm dropped the special red bag idea and is now charging customers according to the previous way Boyneland was billing prior to the bag system.

Monthly charges are the same as it used to be, $8.50 per month if you live in Boyne City and $9.50 if you live in the surrounding area. Customers will soon start receiving bills on a quarterly basis, with customers being asked to pay for the service for the quarter in advance.

The advance billing system will allow the company to start trash pickups at area homes. Those not paying 30 days into the billing period will find their service stopped, according to Waste Management officials.

The company is a division of Waste Management, known world wide for their work in the refuse industry.

According to Don Pizzurro, the general manager of the northern Michigan division, the refuse pickup division has little to do with the division that recently took over the operations of the Ironton Landfill. Pizzurro says his firm is paying the same rates for dumping refuse as any other firm, although the parent company owns both operations.

He said the only hitch in the changeover to his company, may be the cost of the service involved because he has no control over what the landfill operation will be charging. If their costs go up, he said, so will the costs of trash pickup throughout the area he serves.

Pizzurro is the manager over the pickup operations in Petoskey, Charlevoix, Boyne City, East Jordan and the surrounding area. He is about the only new employee brought to the area by the firm. Others working in the operations include long time employees of Boyneland and the other operations that were purchased. Many of the former owners are working for the new firm as well.

In Boyne City, the firm immediately replaced the pickup trucks with new or refurbished units that are capable of compacting the refuse better, reducing the volume of waste and allowing the firm to get more on a truck.

The best benefit of the better compaction of the trash is that it will help to keep the costs of the service low as the only variable, Pizzurro said, was the charges the company will be getting from the landfill operation. With the new trucks, and the tighter packing, they will be able to reduce the volume of trash going into the landfill as the bills are figured on the amount of volume dumped per load.

Pizzurro said that within five years, all of the equipment presently used will be replaced with new trucks. He said the firm is purchasing two new trucks which will be arriving shortly. In Boyne City, he is using one new truck and a refurbished one to pick up the trash.

Pizzurro also said the firm has plans for the future to start a recycling operation if a way can be figured out to make the operation cost effective for the customers to start separating their trash. Pizzurro said the recycling operation will have to at least pay for itself before the firm will develop it further.

News Briefs

For about three hours Monday, the National Mushroom Hunting Championships were going to break with the annual Mothers' Day tradition after a phone call determined that the carnival was scheduled for the weekend after the traditional date. But a few more phone calls were made and the Lions Club sponsored Mushroom Madness weekend will still be held on Mothers' Day and the day prior, just like always. Entries for the event are being taken at the Chamber of Commerce offices in Boyne City.

Two high school students will be winning a free, all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. in June if they are the winners of an essay contest being sponsored by the Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company. The students must also live in a home served by the electric company and be a high school junior during the present school year. Entries must be submitted to the company by April 15th.

A bill aimed at reducing plastic litter has been approved in the State House. It would prohibit the sale of all containers connected to each other by a plastic device unless the plastic is degradable within 360 days. The bill is aimed at the litter caused by plastic rings that hold soft drinks and other beverages. It now goes to the State Senate for their approval.

Entry forms for the annual Boyne City Fourth of July parade were sent out last week in the hopes that, with planning, more and better float entries will participate in the parade. Officials for the event are hoping to make the parade better every year and are devoting a lot of time to seeing that idea come true. They are planning many new activities, including a greased pole, the return of the raft race, additional kids' games and much more. The firemen are also receiving donations for the fireworks, which can be sent in care of the city hall.

"Take that idea and put it on paper. Don't lose it!"

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

Aaahhh spring. This is the time of the year where we can have warm sunny days, like Easter Sunday morning, or foggy, slushy days like Monday. It's called the benefit of living in Michigan because the weather changes so much.

I wonder what the Boyne School system is going to come up with as they try to find voter approval so the schools will function next fall.

Will it take the new school roof that the voters approved and want to see to completion? Or will it take a total reassessment of school programs as the board tries to pare down the programs it has tried to develop over the past few years in response to a few parent groups?

Will it be that the board has seen the light at the end of the tunnel of doom by agreeing to a raise in the teachers salaries? Or, is it just the light of the torches of people getting ready to tar and feather the board members?

Either way, those sitting on the board are saying they will have a tough job trying to get the budget in line with what the voters will approve.

Is it just me, or is it an ordinary thing that I am seeing a lot of empty buildings around the area. Is this town, East Jordan and Petoskey starting to look like Charlevoix in the wintertime? Do a lot of the stores just close up because of the lack of people in the winter? Or is there a crack in the appearance that this place is the fastest growing area of the state?

I guess it is who you listen to when they are speaking of growth. If you look at the building statistics, the growth of the area is coming within the townships. But the city is experiencing some growth also.

I just hope the cities can keep up with the increased pressure that the townships will be putting on them to provide services.

In fact, that is one of the reasons why it costs more to live within the city. The higher costs of maintaining things like roads that outsiders use, like parking lots for those visiting the area and some other things that increase the cost of city government.

Police protection is one factor the city has that the townships don't. While many wish they would see an officer on patrol, there are others who do. They like to see speed laws enforced, the drunks taken off the road, and someone to help with emergencies on a timely basis.

If in doubt, just try to call for a sheriff's deputy after midnight if you live in Hudson Township. You may have to wait some time before one will get there.

I just hope that all of the stores that are for sale in the city get sold before the summer season hits. It seems that most always do for at least a season or two before coming up for sale again.

I can't think of a service that is lacking in the business world around this area of the north. Everybody is trying to fill a gap to serve all those who visit, live and enjoy our area.

Wants priorities sorted out

Editor,

I think its about time for some straight talk about our school situation and the constant requests for more and more money. I also think its time for the school board and administrators and perhaps a representative body of tax payers to sit down together and get the priorities sorted out. Number one has got to be the very best education possible for all the children, from kindergarten through the 12th grade. All extra curricular activities, adult education, sports programs or anything else that is not necessary for the basic function of this priority should be put aside.

Do you realize what we have just been through? We had All Fools Day, Good Friday, Passover, Easter, a full moon, a quarter of a dollar postage stamp and a fiddling with the clocks to show that you at least know what time it is. And in addition I saw winter waving a white handkerchief as it surrendered to beautiful spring. Stuff coming so fast like that made my head swim. As you read on you'll probably notice that it's still out of whack.

And here's something else: I turned all of our clocks back one hour on Sunday morning. When I went downtown I discovered that everyone seemed to be living in the fast lane. I should have turned them one hour forward. But when I returned home I refused to change them. That's because I live in a slower fast lane than most people.

When spring poked its nose out of the ground, it sent temperatures rising, giving birth to tiny weeds and flowers. It reminded us that we would be needing some fertilizer for our garden plants. So when we went for groceries we also bought some manure. At the check-out everything was totaled in a routine manner just as though there was no difference between body nourishment and plant manure.

Well, let me tell you something. There's a whale of difference. I wish Harry Truman were alive so he could explain it to you.

As a young man I just missed becoming a man of the cloth. That's because the thought never occurred to me. Now as I watch those reverends on television I wonder what would have happened if I had not let the thought escape me.

When I was a smart young executive, full of vinegar and that other stuff, I had a hip pocket full of one dollar bills. In those days I used to hound out of bed in the morning whistling up a storm and anticipating an exciting day. But since my hot-shot prime wandered off toward Chandler Hill, it doesn't do me a bit of good to bound nor anticipate. Age, man, Age.

When sugar turns to salt: Last week I finally got something that I've wanted all my adult life. It turned out to be the worst thing that ever happened to me.

I was teetering on the very brink of chopping this column off when the phone rang. A strange woman had dialed the wrong number. We laughed and joshed for a while and then hung up. I like strange women who dial the wrong number when I am teetering on the very brink.

Cleaning up environment is crucial says DNR director

EAST LANSING-Michigan has a history of ravaging and then repairing its natural environment. The director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources says current cleanup efforts must be given renewed vigor.

Gordon Guyer made his remarks to about 300 forest industry, government leaders and university faculty members March 24. He was the featured speaker for the Friends of Natural Resources Banquet during Agriculture and Natural Resources Week and the Governor's Conference on Forestry at Michigan State University.

Guyer said that Michigan's natural resources are at the heart of Michigan's future industry.

"I believe that we are facing a critical point in the history of this state, a time which will test our resolve just as certainly as the challenges presented to our ancestors at the turn of the century," Guyer said. "We must make tough choices on the priorities that we place on the state's natural resources."

He said that goals must be set now that will ensure the integrity of Michigan's natural resources for the 21st century.

Early industrialization ruined much of Michigan's natural environment during the turn of the last century, and now modern technology has had severe side effects on today's environment, Guyer said.

"The most critical challenge we face is toxic materials in the environment," Guyer said. "We must support research, monitor air and water (quality), and make tough, knowledgeable regulatory decisions to protect the gains we have made in environmental quality."

The 1,778 toxic sites identified by the DNR and the 69 sites on the EPA's Superfund list are an index to the magnitude of the problem in Michigan, he said.

Another critical need is to reduce the volume of waste generated in Michigan. The state's landfills should also begin meeting stringent design and operating standards, he said.

Calling for new and increased partnerships between universities and industry to tackle the problems facing the state, he said there is a danger that the public is losing its concern about the cleanliness of the environment.

"Most of the enthusiasm, dedication and commitment that was so obviously important in the '60s and '70s has, in my estimation, dissipated," Guyer said. "The public has become increasingly complacent, our public servants less anxious to respond to environmental concerns and issues, and Michigan citizens have lost some of their enthusiasm for pursuing important environmental issues."

"In my estimation, this has come at a most unfortunate time, at a time when our resources need additional support and increased attention, and at a time when this must be a part of our national agenda as well as our state and local concerns," he continued.

No state, Guyer said, is risking more by not pursuing a vigorous environmental cleanup than Michigan.

"The responsibilities for the future of Michigan's environment rest squarely on our shoulders...I hope that you will review my concerns, accept my challenges and continue this momentum," he said.

Ware-withal

Last Friday while leafing through a book of quotations to cheer myself up after a lengthy spell of reading the Federal Income Tax instructions - working on the income tax made me morose - I read a couple of pertinent quotations that helped straighten out my thinking about taxes, which is way ahead of what the other reading had done.

The first: "The life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience." So wrote Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. in "The Common Law" back in 1881. I can accept these words, coming from a man who certainly should know, and not expect logic from the new tax laws passed in 1986 and affecting this year's tax forms. But just what experiences prompted the lawmakers to enact these laws?

Take the separation of investment and mortgage loan interest from interest paid on cars and refrigerators for example. The amount of interest on a loan for the latter goods is deductible for income tax purposes at the rate of 65%, while the interest on stocks-and-bonds kinds of things can be deducted at the rate of 100%, with certain limitations. And the same 100% rate holds true for mortgage loan interest, with some limitations as well.

What made the lawmakers think there should be a difference in handling the two kinds of interest paid? Loans are debts upon which one pays interest no matter what the money's used for.

But perhaps the lobbyists for mortgage and investment interest were pushier than those who represent companies that issue credit cards. I wonder if lobbies even existed much less yielded so much power in Congress in Justice Holmes' day?

And then there's the deduction for charitable contributions. Beginning in 1987, travel expenses for charitable reasons - I'd guess this means taking part in entertainment or speaking tours, the proceeds of the tickets for which go to charity - can't be deducted "unless there was no significant element of personal pleasure, recreation or vacation in the travel."

This one seems pretty tough to gauge. And I'm glad I don't have to make a judgement on it. But perhaps I'm making too much of it. Perhaps all one has to do is ask oneself, "Did I have fun, a significant amount of it, on the trip?" And if the answer is yes, then the expenses aren't deductible.

For both the charity and interest deductions, explanatory booklets have been published and are available free to perplexed taxpayers. In fact, many of the items covered in the tax forms have further explanations available this year in booklet form, about three dozen of them. And in Tele-Tax tapes too, over 150 of these, including a dozen in Spanish, can be heard over the phone by dialing the appropriate 800 number and requesting the specific tape number in the area of interest. Apparently the I.R.S. anticipates some confusion in the ranks.

Justice Holmes also wrote: "Taxes are what we pay for civilized society." I can accept this fact, too. This year the price seems awfully high, though. But I've read that the instructions and forms will be easier to understand next year. Maybe so. I'll hang onto the good thought at least. But I'll also hang onto Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations". That I know I can count on to make sense.

Retirement tea planned for Dr. Brannan of Willow Run ECDC April 17

The staff of Willow Run's Thurston Early Childhood Development Center is planning a retirement tea for Dr. Phyllis J. Brannan. Dr. Brannan was the principal at Thurston ECDC from its inception as an Early Childhood Development Center in 1978 until she retired.

The retirement tea will be held on Sunday, April 17 at Thurston ECDC School, 181 Oregon St., from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. All friends and former students are invited to attend.

Stress Management classes offered by East Jordan FHC

There will be a series of 4 classes on Management of Stress offered by the East Jordan Family Health Center in the Community Room on the Lower Level on April 7, 14, 21, and 28th from 7 to 9 p.m.

Michelle Bonneville, R.N. will be the moderator. The four workshop-structured classes will cover the definition of stress, stress with changes, coping with conflict and other stress, and will concentrate on management skills. Wear comfortable clothing.

There is a charge of $20, however those qualifying for the sliding fee scale may receive a discount. For further information, call the health center at 536-2206.

Head Start announcing '88-'89 recruitment

The Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency, Inc., is announcing the '88-'89 school year recruitment activities for enrollment in the Boyne City Head Start Center located at 899 State Street, Boyne City, MI, on Tuesday, April 19, 1988 from 9:30 - 11:30 and 12:30 - 3:30 at the United Methodist Church, 324 S. Park, Boyne City.

Head Start is a complete preschool program primarily for children three to five-years of age whose families have a limited income.

The basic goal of the program is to encourage well-rounded development. This is done through the teaching of health, language, self-help, socialization, large and small muscle, and cognitive (thinking) skills. Teachers, community professionals, support staff, and parents (whose participation is extremely important) work together to accomplish this goal.

Through the involvement of parents, the program aims at enhancing the parent's role as the prime educator of their children. The program is carried out through center and home-based activities.

To qualify for Head Start, you must be within the Federal Income Poverty Guidelines listed for household size and income: 1 - $5,770; 2 - $7,730; 3 - $9,690; 4 - $11,650; 5 - $13,610; 6 - $15,570. For each additional household member, add $1,960.

While this is an income-eligible program, families whose income exceeds these guidelines may still qualify if their child has a special need documented by a professional (doctor, psychologist, social worker) who makes a referral to the program. Ten percent of the enrolled families are over the income guidelines. Those interested in applying for Head Start enrollment should bring your preschooler along with the following information:

1. Your child's immunization records
2. Proof of income
3. Social Security numbers of all household members
4. Your blue Medicaid card (if you are on Medicaid)

For further program information, call (616) 347-9070.

RAISING IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

In some cases, a lawyer may see fit to file a "motion". This is a document which raises a question that begs a ruling by the court. To support the motion, a brief, or written legal document, is submitted along with the motion. An example of a motion is questioning whether a plaintiff's complaint is too arbitrary. As with any motion, such a question has the potential to alter the entire course of a suit. In pure logistical terms, a motion and accompanying brief can take many hours to draft. Many more hours can be taken to form a response by the other side, in addition to the time it takes for the court to formulate a ruling. Such time-consuming strategy often underlies the actual intent of the motion.

In some areas, a motion may go under the name "petition".

Charlevoix HS planning Centennial Homecoming

This year is the celebration of the one hundredth graduation for Charlevoix High School. In honor of that occasion, a celebration is planned for the weekend of July 2, 3, 4, that will honor all graduates of Charlevoix High School and provide an opportunity for the graduates to re-establish acquaintances.

A community meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 2, at 7:00 p.m. in the middle school cafeteria for all who are interested in assisting in developing activities for this historic event.

An aspect of this celebration is the re-establishment of a Charlevoix High School Alumni Association. The Association is actively seeking names and current addresses of as many alumni as possible. Individuals who have served as class secretaries for reunions and others who may have addresses are asked to bring lists to the meeting or send them to Jan Raecke in care of the Charlevoix Elementary School.

Lions Club Easter Egg Hunt is sweet success

With the winners of the annual Easter Egg Hunt standing still to pose for a picture, just a few moments before, they were running around Veteran's Memorial Park like a whirlwind. Over 200 children

About 200 children participated in the annual Boyne Valley Lions Club Easter Egg Hunt held Easter Sunday in Boyne's Veterans Memorial Park. The hunt was held under sunny and warm conditions for the first time in several years and the weather brought out more than usual egg hunters for the fun and candy.

Gathering the most eggs went to Molly Handy who found 53 of the special candy eggs the club members had spread around the park. She was competing in the 7-8 year old division.

Other winners included preschoolers: 1st place Irlene Gardner with 27, 2nd, Joey Farley, 26, and third Tristan Garner with 25.

Five-six year old winners included, first, Karla Stark-Behling with 49 eggs, followed by Gary Groh with 46 and Devin Eaton, 43.

Seven-eight year old winners included Handy, followed by Keely Stark-Behling with 49 and Rahman Moose with 47.

In the 9-10 year old division, Jenny Anderson had 48 while Jay Anderson gathered 36 and Jennifer Fisher found 32.

In the 11-12 year old division, Bowdie Crumpler had 22 while Robin Sharp found 18. Jenny Schaffer had 15 to place third in the division.

participated in the event which featured the children picking up individually wrapped candy "eggs". The children were split into groups so everybody had a good chance to find some eggs.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

The City is proposing to decrease the General Operating Property Tax Levy to Boyne City Taxpayers to 16.00 mills, which is an increase of 1.9633 mills over the Base Tax Rate of 14.0367 mills, or an increase of 13.99%. The increase of 1.9633 is published at this time because of legal requirements of the Truth-In-Taxation Law.

In FY 87/88 the total City millage rate was 19.25 (15.75 mills Operating, 0.50 mills Debt Retirement, 3.00 mills Operating for Capital Improvements). The proposed total City millage rate for FY 88/89 is 20.00 (16.00 Operating Millage, 3.75 Voted Millage for Infrastructure Improvement Debt Retirement, and 0.25 mills for City Hall Debt Retirement). Compared to the present City millage rate, the proposed rate is an overall increase of 0.75 mills.

The maximum millage authorized by the City Charter to be levied for General Operating purposes is 20 mills.

The Public Hearing will be at 7:00 p.m. on April 12, 1988, in the Commission Chambers, City Hall, 319 North Lake Street, Boyne City, Michigan 49712.

money available and the money needed to fulfill this function if there should be money left over, then and only then, the extras can be added on in the order of their deservability or necessity but only to the extent that they can be paid for. I think they have been going to the well far too often.

I know adult education is real nice but it is not truly necessary and can be dropped with no damage to the first priority. If the school can't have all the sports programs they want they will just have to learn to do the best they can with what money is available. These programs are spending far too much money for far too few students. Nobody seems to be able to say no anymore.

Now I think it also is time for one more thing. I believe the school board, administrators, teachers and any one else that has anything to do with the day to day operation of the Boyne City school system should be putting forth one hell of a lot more effort to achieve some academic excellence in our school and even perhaps teach the children something about keeping within a budget.

Letters 'Understanding Hypertension' at E.J. FHC

I also happen to think it is more important for a high school graduate to be able to read and write, make change, know a bit about the world they live in and most important of all—be able to think and use their brains—than it is to be able to ski, play golf or be a high school jock. I know the above will ride a lot of people but being upset is not going to change the facts. We are stressing the wrong things in our school system. I think sometimes its more of an ego trip for the parents than anything else and throwing more money at it will only make it worse.

The millage was defeated 2 to 1 and if the board thinks they can sugar coat it and get it passed in a few months they are not only wrong but a lot dumber than even I suspect them to be.

The real needs of the students will be much better served by a good solid basic education that prepares them somewhat for the future than the add-on frills that are so dear to the hearts of our school board and administrators ever can.

Boyneland rules are still in effect, the firm will not accept liquids or toxic chemicals. Pizzurro said that he will help those firms with toxics to find companies that can handle those items with proper disposal. Anyone wanting information can call the office, he added.

Pizzurro has had 12 years of experience in the refuse business, working with Waste Management in operations on the east coast and midwest. He also worked with the firm in the Near East and in South America.

Pizzurro purchased a home in the Charlevoix area and hopes to move his family up in April.

He said he is looking forward to working in the area although living in a small town will be a new experience for his family. He hopes he will like area and is looking forward to the summer when he feels he will be adjusted to the area.

The office for the firm will be based in Charlevoix and will serve all of the communities from an office located on US-31. The phone number is 547-2814.

120 In Memoriam

In Memory Of

In loving memory of my mother, Sophia Walker, who passed away April 8, 1982.

For many years, the words simply would not come, Mother though your voice I no longer hear, and your face I no longer see, I can see you so clear in my memory, No way could I forget you, You were so dear to me, For no mother on earth was more precious than thee, Sweet though you were, and oh so patient with me, Mother you meant the world to me, you see.

Kind and gracious, a cross word you never spoke, You were understanding in all your ways, You could warm any heart with the kind words you would say, But one day the Lord took you home to be with Him in Heaven, I pray through God's grace, some day I'll see your precious face again.

Sadly missed
Daughter, Sharon Walker

mental contamination sites. Since July, 1984, $50,040,700 has been authorized for use at 271 sites statewide. Of this, about 1 percent of the funds have been used to provide temporary bottled water at 185 sites; 40 percent of the funds have been used to provide permanent alternate water supplies at 159 sites; 21 percent of the funds have been used for surface cleanups and/or security at 43 sites; 34 percent of the funds have been allocated for evaluation at 48 sites; and 4 percent of the funds have been allocated for final response actions at 5 sites. In all, 440 actions have been completed and/or initiated at State expense under Act 307 since funds were first appropriated in mid-1984. The greater percentage of funds allocated for interim response measures reflects Michigan's commitment, under Act 307, to eliminate immediate threats to the public health, safety, and welfare from environmental contamination.

The Act 307 cleanup funding recommendations for Fiscal Year 1989 are proposed for over 29 sites totaling about $6.4 million. As in previous years, first priority for funding has been given to those sites which pose imminent or immediate threats to the public health, safety, and welfare, or to the environment.

For a copy of the Lists or the funding recommendations, contact the Site Assessment Unit, Environmental Response Div., 517-373-4800.

Harold Cowles, the new manager of the newest lawn and garden center in Charlevoix County, shows off one of the features of a new Lawn Boy garden tractor. The garden center is a division of the Haggard's Plumbing and Heating Company located on US-31 just south of Charlevoix. The new store also features Jacobsen and Homelite power equipment and will be servicing all makes of lawnmowers and power garden implements.

Haggards branching out to lawn/garden

Haggards Plumbing and Heating of Charlevoix recently opened a new lawn and garden center at their location on US-31 just south of Charlevoix.

The new department is featuring the full Lawn Boy product line as well as Homelite and Jacobson equipment. The center will be able to provide lawnmowers, push mowers, self-propelled riding and garden tractors, garden tillers, string trimmers, along with a full line of accessories in the three lines.

The new center will also be carrying generators, light duty pumps and other lawn or garden machinery.

The garden center is being managed by Harold Cowles, a resident of East Jordan. He brings over 30 years of retailing experience to Haggards, with his most recent experience at Meyers Tru Value Hardware in Petoskey.

Along with the garden equipment being offered, the firm will also provide service for all makes of lawn and garden equipment, including mowers, tractors, chain saws, trimmers and almost anything that runs, Cowles said.

Scott Wells, a Charlevoix native, will be running the service department at the new center. He has over ten years of experience with small engines and will be able to handle almost all kinds of repairs.

Cowles said he has spent the last few days unloading all of the new equipment and setting up the showrooms for the display of many of the models the firm will be selling.

The center will be holding an open house in the near future, but in the meantime, they invite customers to stop in at the showroom and look at the new department and the lines that will be featured.

Cowles said the firm will be taking trade-ins as they want to develop a supply of used equipment for those who may not be able to afford new equipment.

Cowles said the firm will be offering the line of Homelite Chain Saws as soon as they arrive from the factory.

The center will be sharing part of the showrooms for the plumbing business. Cowles said with a twinkle in his eye, he figured that with the amount of interest he has gotten so far, the plumbing side will have to look out.

Spring turkey hunt for 20,000 hunters

Nearly 20,000 turkey hunters will take to the woods this spring during the 1988 season. Thanks to the continuing growth in the wild turkey population, hunting licenses were issued to 19,952 applicants - an increase of more than 3,200 licenses issued in 1987.

Two mild winters and good nesting seasons doubled wild turkey numbers. This year's preliminary count in the hunting areas totaled 80,379 turkeys.

"The population is at an all-time high" said John Urbain, Forest Game Bird Specialist. "I'm expecting another record harvest if the spring hunting weather is good."

Several thousand hunters not selected in the recent drawing are eligible for leftover permits in certain areas, reported Urbain.

About 8,300 people are eligible to purchase the 308 leftover licenses which will be sold on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

Beginning at 9:00 a.m., April 13, the licenses are available at certain DNR field offices, during regular working hours, as follows: Hunting Area A, Hunt Period 3, available permits-42, Gaylord office.

Keller elected to ag and natural resources board

East Lansing, MI- Merle Keller, director of the Charlevoix Fishing Station, was elected to the board of directors of the Michigan State University College of Agriculture and Natural Resources Alumni Association at the group's annual meeting March 23 in East Lansing.

Keller was graduated from Michigan State University in 1962 with a bachelor's degree in fisheries and wildlife. He has held his current position at the fishing station for 24 years. He also worked for the Ohio Division of Wildlife and the U.S. Fisheries and Wildlife Service and was a commercial fisherman.

Keller is a member of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the American Fisheries Society and the Michigan Steelheaders.

During his career in fisheries and wildlife, Keller has been honored with many awards. In 1977, he was presented the King Salmon Award from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Division. In 1980, he was presented the Fisheries Conservationist of the Year Award by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, and in 1985 he received the Charles Pistis Award for outstanding work in fisheries.

The College of Agriculture and Natural Resources Alumni Association (CANRAA) is affiliated with the Michigan State University Alumni Association and has more than 27,000 alumni worldwide. The CANRAA keeps alumni updated on college and university events and is working to develop new scholarship and placement opportunities for agricultural students as MSU.

Navy Seaman Recruit Daniel J. McGeorge, son of John E. and Carol D. McGeorge of Boyne City, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, IL.

During McGeorge's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

McGeorge's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1986 graduate of Boyne City High School, he joined the Navy in December 1987.

PUBLIC HEARING BUDGET HEARING

CITY OF BOYNE CITY
Fiscal Year 1988-1989

The City of Boyne City will hold a Public Hearing at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, April 12, 1988, in the Commission Chambers of City Hall, 319 North Lake Street, for the purpose of hearing oral comments and considering written comments from the public concerning the proposed annual budget for Fiscal Year 1988/89, as summarized below.

All interested citizens, groups, senior citizens, and organizations are encouraged to attend and to submit comments. Said budget summaries are available for review prior to the Public Hearing at City Hall, 319 North Lake Street, during regular working hours, Monday through Friday.
