

Students give for Christmas

Boyne City Middle School students held a food drive this last week, pitting homeroom against homeroom to see who would bring in the most canned goods. And the winner is, Mrs. Leach's homeroom. Shown arranging the food before it was to be delivered for the Community Christmas Basket program are student council members: L-R, Jilaine Towne, Grade 7; Joey Bonebrake, grade 6; Dan Hissong, grade 5; Denise Coon, grade 8; Kable Drury, grade 7; and Sean Battiste, grade 5.

Boyne City faced first fire fatality in 13 years

Boyne City firefighters had their first fatality in 13 years when a six-month-old baby girl died from smoke inhalation and heat in the opening stages of a house fire last Thursday.

Dead is Amy Turnbull, daughter of Patricia and Mark Turnbull of 729 Wenonah St., Boyne City. She died during the night at Northern Michigan Hospital where she and her brother, Brad, 2, were taken after they were rescued by Fire Chief Nord Schroeder. Also taken to the hospital was Mark Turnbull with lacerations after diving through a window to save himself.

The fire call was received by the city dispatcher at 10:50 a.m. and the fire crews and the police department were on the scene at 10:53. They were immediately informed there were children still in the house.

Fire Chief Nord Schroeder, the first fireman on the scene, was donning his fire protection equipment when he was informed of the two children still in the burning home.

He immediately entered the structure, along with another fireman, Captain Steve Erber, and, not knowing the layout of the house, made a wrong turn that turned out to be right as he entered the kitchen from the front door. As he was crawling in the dense smoke, he knocked something off the kitchen table and tried to find it before proceeding further. His hand brushed over the two-year-old boy who was found under the kitchen table.

Schroeder pulled the boy out of the house and the child started coughing when he was given fresh air.

Schroeder immediately went back inside the house along with Erber to search for the baby after being told she was in the middle of the living room. After searching, he found the child under the Christmas tree that was knocked over when the fire hose water sprayed on it. Schroeder pulled that child out of the house and she, along with her brother went right into the ambulance to NMH.

The ambulance crew was met halfway by crews from Life-Link Ambulance Service and the paramedics took over trying to revive the baby.

Mark, the husband, was also taken to the hospital with lacerations on his face and chest. He and Brad were released from the hospital over the weekend.

The fire was largely confined to the back bedroom, but the smoke filled the entire house and was coming out windows and cracks in the structure when firemen arrived on the scene.

They fought the fire for four hours and started looking for clues as to how it started.

Schroeder, along with Police Chief John Talboys, the State Fire Marshall and a private investigator looked for clues as to where the fire started and how. They said Monday, the fire was still under investigation.

The home, valued at about $40,000, was owned by the Boyne City Housing Commission. The housing department said they will try to repair the building as soon as possible.

The mother, Patricia, was across the street at a neighbor's using the phone as the family did not have one in the home when the alarm was called in.

The fire was noticed by Mrs.

Belford and Mrs. Hoover and they notified the fire department.

Because of the heat and the smoke, the family lost everything to the fire and two agencies have started collecting donations.

Donations can be directed to either the Free Methodist Church in Boyne City, or the Northwest Michigan Human Services, Petoskey. Cash donations can be made for the family at Northwestern State Bank.

Schroeder said it was sheer luck he found the children so fast, and he credited a recent change in the department that requires the chief to carry his firefighting equipment with him at all times. The captain's equipment is loaded on the first truck out so the two officers can go directly to the fire instead of having to go to the fire barn first.

According to Schroeder, the community has been very lucky not to have had a fatality in a fire for the last 13 years. He said the average between fatalities is about three years. The last fire fatality was the Holley fire on Pleasant Valley Road.

Planners discussing mini zoning areas

During a discussion about a proposed condominium project at the monthly Boyne City Planning Board meeting, City Attorney Bill McTaggart, told the board members they could have several options in order to decide the future plans for the project.

The first plan would be to do nothing, which would then cause the project to not be considered, the second would be to change the zoning to a multiple zone for the four lots, which could cause other problems with density and other factors, and the third option may be to create an amendment to the present zoning law that would allow smaller units to have a Planned Residential Development classification.

No matter which course the planners may follow, McTaggart said that each has problems.

One of the problems with changing the zoning to a smaller PRD plan would be that the change would open other parcels up to additional condominiums along the lakefront.

Most planning body members seem to think that would not be a good idea.

"I don't think that it would be a good thing," said Planner Dale Parsons, "It may open up the whole shoreline to possible developments."

McTaggart agreed that it may cause the opening of a Pandora's Box, but said that is one of the possible answers to getting approval for the proposed eight condominium project.

The discussion was started because the developer may have to install a sewer system if the project is approved by the planners. The Developer had come to the planning board meetings for the last two months seeking input on the proposal, but has not yet filed for a formal review of the site plan or asked for a

Boyne grants industrial tax abatements to firms

City Commissioners gave the final approval to two Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates during the noon Tuesday meeting, based on the recommendations of the Economic Development Commission and the Planning Board.

Approved for six years was the certificate for Trumco, Inc. and a twelve year certificate for Auget/Altair.

Both are building plants in the new Air/Industrial Park area.

The Commissioners also were given an idea to develop a proclamation that would start a concept of not holding city meetings on a Wednesday evening as that would become a night for family, church or neighborhood activities that could be done with the family.

The concept was presented by Shelly Martin, the head of the Community Education Department of the Boyne City Public School System and Reverend Michael Conklin.

It is hoped that the governing bodies of the area will embrace the concept as it is felt by a great number of people that there are too many things that are drawing the family further apart. It was hoped that a concept such as this would help to bring the families back together for at least one day a week.

While no action was taken at the meeting, it was decided that the city should look at the concept and try to comply with the idea.

Martin said the school is also looking at the concept and will be bringing a formal resolution in front of the school board in January. She said it will take some time for all meetings to be rearranged from Wednesday nights, but she was working on the changes within the school system.

If all governmental units go along with the idea, it is hoped the idea will spread to other communities and eventually to state and national attention.

News Briefs

Boyne Falls will be giving out winter sports equipment next Wednesday, December 28 to those who wish to use school equipment from 4 to 7 p.m. at the school. This will give parents time to get the equipment adjusted prior to the recreational program starting at Boyne Mountain on Thursday, January 5.

Char-Em and Resort Center School were among the grant requests issued by the State Board of Education, the only ones within the county. Gerry Brindel was given $385 for his project in the ISD, while Evelyn Howell was granted $750 for her project at Resort Center. Both requests were part of the $100,000 given out throughout the state for the direct-to-classroom grants.

The State Health Department has issued a warning on eating fish from inland lakes in Michigan. They say they have found traces of potentially toxic chemicals in some fish caught from some lakes and rivers. The chemicals most cited was mercury. They recommend pregnant women, nursing mothers, women who intend to have children and children under the age of 15 eat not more than one meal a month of rock bass, crappie, yellow perch over 9 inches in length, largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, northern pike or muskie. Vacationers, who only eat fish one or two weeks a year, can safely eat fish during their vacation. Others are urged to eat no more than one meal a week of these fish.

Good idea for Christmas giving

Here's an idea for families in the Boyne City area who are looking for a project they can do together to share the joy of Christmas with someone less fortunate. In 1984, my wife Diane and I started an organization called Friends of the Americas to reach out to children in Latin America and the Caribbean suffering from war, natural disasters or extreme poverty. Since then, we have founded a hospital, refugee center, five medical clinics and 25 self-help projects in 21 countries of this hemisphere. We help homeless children — refugees, disaster victims, street children, orphans and children living in the marginal areas of the big cities of Latin America. Our most popular project is the Christmas Box Project which allows an American family to put together an individualized gift box for a needy child of a particular sex and age. Families send the boxes to us, and we process and ship them to our chairman in each country — usually the American ambassador or his wife. Each box must be personally handed to the needy child by the ambassador or another American citizen.

Friends' Christmas Box Action Kit provides instructions on how to prepare a box. Each box contains 30 new items, including clothing, school supplies, toys and a small American flag. Most important, it includes a letter and a photo from the family who prepared the box. In the highlands of Guatemala, the slums of Mexico City, the San Blas Islands of Panama, La Mosquitia of Honduras and a thousand other places, Christmas boxes provide a chance for Americans to go where the need is greatest and share with children the joy of Christmas and the generosity of the American people. Here in the states, preparation of a Christmas Box is a chance for families to express our love for the children of Latin America and spend family time together giving of ourselves.

Since 1984, Friends has delivered more than 200,000 Christmas Boxes to needy children, including many prepared by families in the Boyne City area. This year thousands of children in Latin America are hoping and praying that we will remember them. These are children who have never had a single toy or new piece of clothing. We invite you to prepare a Christmas Box this year. To receive Christmas Box Action Kit, call (504) 926-5720 or write Friends, 912 N. Foster, Baton Rouge, La. 70806. When women decided to step up and out and make some non-traditional decisions about the course of their lives, they made pretty reasonable choices on the whole. There's one area though which they seem to have gone astray in recently and that's in the area of clothes, the one's they've been wearing, particularly the fit of them. The plain truth is that they don't. A lot of women are picking clothes in the very loose styles that make the plump look like popovers and the lean look pathetic. One can only guess at why so many opt for looking so strange.

It could be argued that women shouldn't be faulted for buying the clothes that stores offer and advertise more than any other style. Still, the closer fitting clothes are offered too. They just don't come on so strong. The blimp look in clothes apparently appeals to buyers of every taste from K Mart shoppers to those patronizing classy New York stores like Bergdorf Goodman. Starting at the top, a Bergdorf Goodman ad a few weeks ago featured a fur coat the picture of which resembling a short air mattress with sausage-like appendages at one end. The advertising blurb presents the coat as "an incomparable silhouette". Indeed it is.

Closer to home, K Mart ads don't feature any fur coats, but their ads plug the ungainly look in other apparel offerings. The blouses, sweaters and dresses hang on the models in carefree clumsiness. In case the floppy folds of the clothes don't emphasize enough that this, the "relaxed" style, is right for hard-working moderns, all sorts of patterns and surrealistic art work appear on or in the fabric to make them look up-to-date. They only make the clothes and the people in them look bigger. To advance this further, the top part balloons down over the waistline not even acknowledging its presence. Instead, a stretchy band at the bottom of sweaters or blouses hits women at the widest part of the hips and clings there. "Incomparable silhouettes" here too, but K Mart wouldn't use such language.

To illustrate how little these styles differ from a more specialized line of clothes, yesterday's ad from K Mart heralding the usual assortment of duds, also showed a subdued pink pant set with only a spattering of glitter on it for decoration. A closer look at the picture of this unobtrusive outfit on a page showing equally wide but louder selections, revealed that it had "Maternity" printed across one leg. Even the advertiser felt that such must be noted to distinguish it from the others of similar proportions but not created especially for "ladies in waiting".

Perhaps women are conveying a message by wearing these big clothes. Maybe their loose fit is a metaphor for liberation or something. Of course, there's a chance that women really like the droopy fashions. A "relaxed" fit after all allows them to rest on their oars, enjoy the freedom of not having to hold their stomachs in, which their mothers drummed into them from about their tenth year on. Wearing these clothes, even their mothers couldn't tell if they were tucking in their tummies or not. On second thought, probably dear old mom could but not anybody else.

Tidbits

During the winter months many people put out an extra helping of birdfeed to fatten our feathered friends. An excellent cold weather bird feed is suet, a dense meat fat. More birds seek out suet in winter than any other type of food.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

According to one of those press releases we editors get daily in our mail, we noticed something that we think is one of the neat things, if only it would work.

The release says that a program that will encourage recycling of paper and the use of recycled paper was approved by the state legislature.

I whole heartily agree with it. In fact, I would love to see a whole lot less paper coming out of Lansing, the home to paperwork in the state.

I got to wondering how I, if I were the Gov, try to see how that could be done.

I think the first thing would be to tell the Department of Natural Resources that they would have to eliminate all paperwork. When someone wants an answer to a question, they would have to give it out verbally. They would not be allowed to have any technical, scientific stuff on paper at all. They would have to work out the wording as they are asked.

The next thing would be to eliminate the state boards of unemployment, finance budget and a few others.

Let's see someone tell the legislature the budget of the state verbally.

I would only take about three or four months, to hear it, and then the lawmakers would not have time to pass any other legislation. That is because they have to take breaks for Christmas, New Year's, deer hunting, election, spring break, and a host of other vacation days that they should be working.

I would hope that the mail would be less full of stuff that I have to pay for two or three times to recycle in the landfill.

Almost every day, I get some letter from some department within the state that takes up my time to read, my time to throw into the round file chamber, my time to bundle up in a plastic bag, and my time to take it out to the curb to throw away.

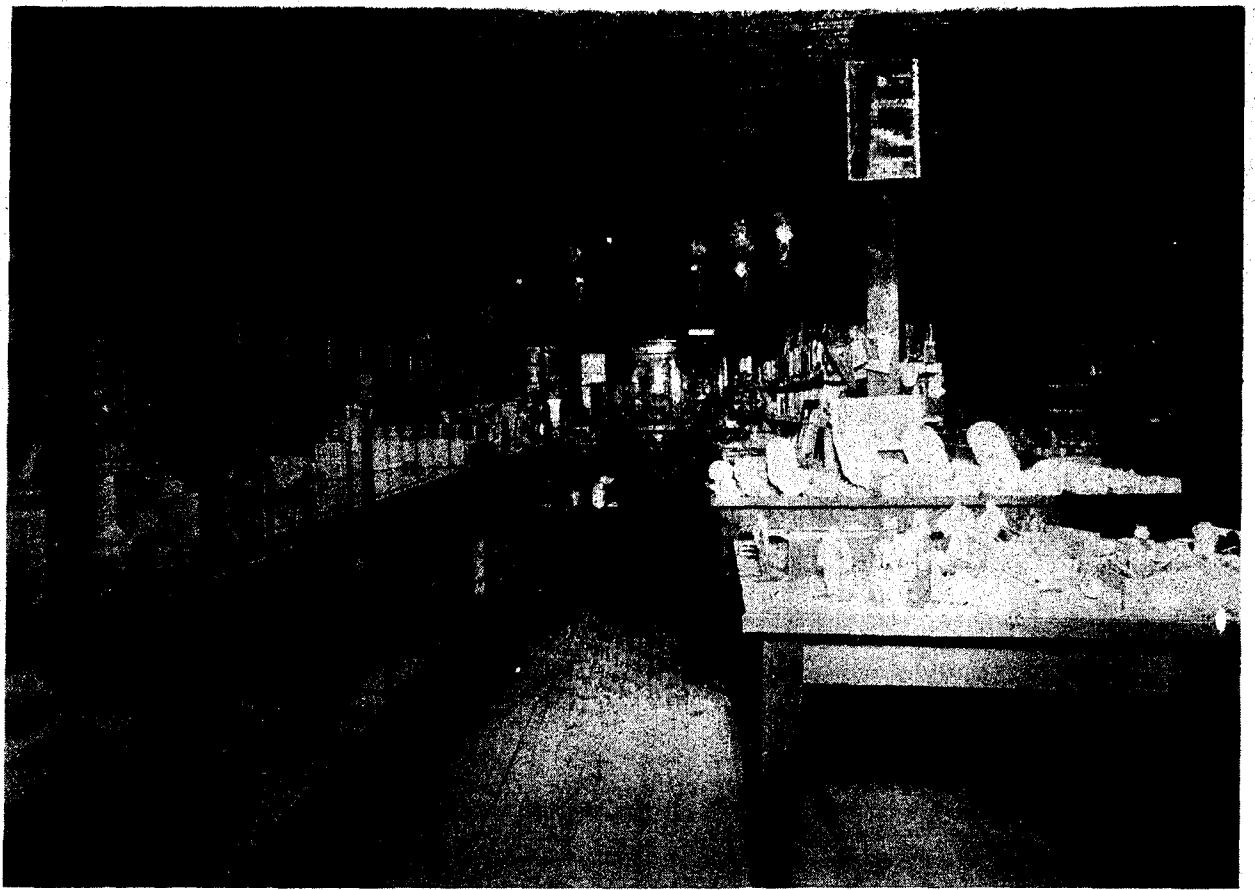

It also takes my money to make sure it goes to the landfill as that costs a little too.

We could eliminate about one garbage bag a day if I could keep the stuff from being sent to our office every day.

The release said the benefits of the approval of the program in the state level is to help decrease the amount of waste being dumped in some of the overcrowded landfills. The easy way would be to just eliminate the waste causer.

Recall him or her if necessary, send them to the landfill itself and make them cover their material with dirt they shoveled themselves.

Remembrances

This photo of Bailey's Drug Store at 207 Lake St., was brought to us by Leah Waggoner. Her note reads "I worked in this store for my Dad first, then with Keith, (her husband), then for Bob Dykema. In front is W. W. Bailey, next person is unknown, the boy probably is Mike Fry who worked for Bailey for a number of years. The prescription department was behind the big case at the back of the store. If you have any old pictures of the area our readers would enjoy seeing, please bring them to our office so we may make a copy for this feature.

Marshall Sayles

How wonderful! Only four more days until drumstick time.

Winter fell officially with a thud Wednesday of this week and Christmas falls on Sunday. At my age that's about all the falling I can stand.

I have hung around Boyne City pretty much since I was high grass to a knee hopper and I have never seen the city, commercial and home Christmas decorations so breath-taking. If you haven't seen the night display go down and oh and ah at them. (Most people pay no attention to what I tell them to do, but if you don't do what I say this time I won't mention your name in this column next week. Imagine the horror of not seeing your name in this column? What will people think?)

I've got to take it easy over the Christmas weekend. To me, having fun is like going to the hospital, the older I get the more it costs.

I shall now speak of the city commission's annual Christmas dinner held last week at One Water Street.

As I approached the front door I anticipated great pleasure and gratification, thinking that I would be greeted by a glance of recognition and a yell of delight by those assembled for a fine dinner.

I have thought wrong twice in my life. This was the second time. Everyone was noticing everyone else. I wasn't even sure I was there. No hugs, no kisses, not a single hurrah.

A large hot tear stole down my pale cheek and fell with a loud report on the warty surface of the back of my hand. When the water hit the wart you could hear a pin drop as all present stood silent wondering who had blundered into offering me a free dinner.

About an hour later, when I had finished one of the finest meals I've had in a long time, I patted my stomach, hoping the city would make the same blunder next year.

I am so old I can remember when home was a place where everyone stayed.

Winter has already begun to bother me. To tell the truth I have never yet seen a northern Michigan winter when it was just right.

Darn. I am having a more difficult time ending this column than I had starting it. Like some marriages.

Wants to give thanks

Editor, I would like to take this opportunity to give a heartfelt thank you to the members of the Knights of Columbus of Boyne City for the wonderful party they gave for the clients of the Adult Training Center in Walloon Lake.

The Knights of Columbus provided gifts, entertainment, and a wonderful meal to 39 developmentally disabled people from the Adult Training Center, as well as for the clients from Bergman Center.

The staff and clients look forward to this annual event with great anticipation and joy and would like to thank them for caring so much.

If you are looking for the ultimate health food drink, the Chinese have just the thing: ant juice. According to International Wildlife magazine, ant juice is touted as a cure for all sorts of ailments. It's rich in protein and trace elements. There's just one hitch: the elixer can add inches to the waistline.

Ants have four times as many calories per pound as beef.

What to do with refuse?

Editor,
What will we do when we run out of land fill space? Many things we could do. Once upon a time I was a school janitor during WWII I took the tin cans from the cooking class home, cut top and bottom out of them, put tops inside, mashed them together, set them out on the curb where they were picked up for the tin that was used in the war effort. We also set the surplus grease out which was used in making explosives.

Now all cans can't be opened on both ends so I take those to the pole building and use a brick hammer to open the other end and hammer them flat. We could also demand that all glass containers be returned for deposit.

Recently I got the wrong kind of coffee filters. I got bawled out about it. I said why use a filter? Having been a cook's helper in three states I saw coffee made in a 4 or 5 gallon clean kettle. When it had been brewed long enough the cook dashed 1/2 cup of cold water in and all sediment went to the bottom. We fed our men well and we never killed a man;

although I saw a chef back a trouble maker out of the kitchen in front of a butcher knife. He rehabilitated himself and from then on was a useful citizen. So there is always the right answer.

It would help a lot if all glass was returnable. Sure we would pay a deposit on them. Supermarkets would not like it as they spent millions fighting the bottle deposit. It sure put Michigan on the map. It also did a world of good.

Things can always be saved. We may be old before we get to first base. Remember the rat situations in Detroit years ago. In most all alleys you could see them in the daytime. People, mostly city officials, were helpless. I once wrote a letter to call in any farm hired man and he could tell them what to do.

Once I backed my car up to a neighbors garage, put a hose on the tail pipe and started the motor. Many rats died trying to get out. I don't think my neighbor liked it.

Planners

re zoning the project would need in order to be approved.

The planners tabled the matter, asking that the developer work further with the neighborhood and the city to work up exactly what was going to be the proposal.

There have been meetings with neighbors, but the final agreement between them and the developer have not been finalized.

Planners also tabled a site plan review for a new hanger that is proposed to be constructed at the airport. Thomas Shaw from Cheboygan was to present the plans for a 40x35 foot hanger which will be located near the grass runway.

The planners then recommended the approval of two Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates (IFEC) in the area of the Industrial Park.

The first will give a six year tax abatement to Trumco, Inc. who plan on building a 4,800 square foot building for the assembly of electrical components and some woodworking fabrication. The abatement will add about $1,800 to the tax rolls instead of $3,700 for the next six years.

The other IFEC was for the new Auguet/Altair plant being constructed behind Carter's Food Center. That abatement would add about $60,000 to the tax rolls instead of $120,000 during the 12 years the certificate is good for.

Both abatements do not include the cost of the land the buildings are being built upon, so the actual taxes that will be coming to the city and schools will be higher.

The planning body also approved the changes that are being made in a condominium project located on South Lake Street. The developer has reduced the number of units from four to three and changed the roofline because of overhang objections from some of the neighbors.

 BOYNEAVENUE 582-6812 Boyne City

After being close, Boyne dropped, 53-46

BY SCOTT KNIPE
In the past seven years, the Charlevoix Rayders had defeated the Boyne City Ramblers 15 times consecutively in basketball. After last Tuesday it is officially 16.

They had something to prove. Tough defense and hustle from the tip-off set the precedence for what was to be an exciting evening. After the first quarter the Ramblers trailed by 1, 13-14. Throughout the second quarter they held that margin, until with just one second left on the clock, Wayne Avery canned a jumper to give Boyne the halftime lead. Coach Mike Wallace opted to go with only six players throughout the game, in hopes that they could find a groove and roll with it. The Ramblers seemed to do just that, as they came out in the third and quickly scored the first six points, taking a seven point lead. But the Rayders were still there, as they made up the difference to bring the game back into a tie going into the fourth quarter, 37-37. Boyne wanted the win desperately, but six players pushed to the limits of endurance couldn't pull it off. Careless fouls gave the Rayders a lead, and as the game wore down, Boyne was forced to foul again and again. Unable to make up for the lost points, the Ramblers reluctantly gave Charlevoix their sixteenth consecutive victory over Boyne in seven years, the score 46-53.

Leading the Rambler scorers was Keith Harvey with 19 points, followed by Eric Smith with 13, Wayne Avery with 10, and Scott Hammtree and Mark Harris each with 2. The Rambler squad travels to East Jordan this week, where it hopes to hit its stride before continuing into Christmas tournaments during the break.

Devils win third straight On Ferris list

BY PAM BURR
The East Jordan Red Devils won their third straight game Friday night by defeating the Rams of Harbor Springs 76-59. The Devils now 3-1 overall and 3-0 in Ski Valley Conference play, are tied for the lead with Gaylord St. Mary's.

Leading scorers for East Jordan were: Matt Bishop with 27, followed by Gerry Ciszewski with 13 and senior guard Mark Moore with 10.

Nearly 1,200 Ferris State University students were included on the academic honors list for the fall quarter, University officials have announced.

To be eligible, a Ferris student must have compiled a 3.50 grade point average in at least 12 quarter hours of graded work. The total list of 1,177 includes 163 who earned 4.00 grade point averages, or all A grades.

Among the honored students were: John A. Hribljan, Jerimy C. Moreau and Danny Gene Six all of East Jordan.

The Devils led by one point with 11 seconds left in the first quarter when Matt Bishop sank a three pointer at the buzzer to put the Devils up by four. The momentum went East Jordan's way from that point on and the Devils led by 10 at the half.

Leading in the rebound department was Bishop with 10, Ciszewski and Jeff Burks with 8 and Tracy Reid with 6.

The Devils shot 25 field goals, had 5-3 pointers and sank 11 of 24 from the charity line. The Devils also committed 19 fouls. The Rams shot 20 field goals, sank 15 of 23 from the line and committed 20 fouls.

In the junior varsity game, East Jordan defeated Harbor Springs 85-58. David Patton was high scorer with 20 points followed by Pete Inman with 18, Kris Snyder and Jon Ramsey chipped in 10 points.

The third quarter had East Jordan's leading scorer Matt Bishop blazing the nets with three field goals and three 3 pointers.

BY PAM BURR
On Tuesday night the East Jordan Red Devils took the 50 mile trip north to Pellston and came away with a 82-71 victory to remain tied for first place in the Ski Valley Conference.

Mary Tims, Boyne City is among the Michigan State University 2,147 degree candidates for fall term commencement 1988. She will be getting a master's in speech and audiology.

Of the degree candidates, 1,537 earned bachelor's degrees, 425 were in-master's degree programs, and 172 in doctoral programs.

The top scorer for Boyne Falls was Steve Sparks with 18, followed by Mark Brady with 17, Lewis Sevanski with 8, Robert Hausler with 7, and John Burns with 6 points.

The Devils hit 27 field goals, 4-3 pointers and made 16 of 23 at the charity line and committed 15 fouls. Pellston had 27 baskets, seven of which were 3 pointers, sank 10 of 15 at the line and committed 29 fouls.

For East Jordan, Matt Bishop led all scorers with 29 points.

Boyne City's freshmen basketball team opened up their season last week against cross-county rival Charlevoix. The Ramblers came out strong at the home of the Rayders, taking an early first quarter lead of 9-6, and extending that margin to seven points at the half, 21-14. The Rayders came out hot in the third, and backed their game with tenacious defense, to take a 25-30 lead after three periods of play.

Boyne could not regain momentum, and inevitably fell to Charlevoix, 35-50. Leading the Ramblers in that contest was Roy Angel with 11.

The Ramblers took their vengeance out on the Red Devils Thursday evening while they were in East Jordan. Boyne again stormed out of the gates with an early lead, 9-8 at the end of the first quarter, and 21-18 at the half.

The Devils regrouped and took a two point lead late in the third, 31-33, but Boyne tied things up in the waning moments of the fourth quarter, 43-43.

The Ramblers held East Jordan to only two buckets in overtime, and went on to win 51-47. Jason Joles led the Ramblers offensively with 28 points, followed by Angel with 12, Andrew McCready with 6, Keith McBee with 4, and Paul Hardy with 2.
