After several meetings, the board decided that the scope of the project was too much for the voters to approve and asked the architectural firm, Kingscott Associates, Inc. to revise the plans downward which reduced the amount of money the project would cost as well as eliminate some of the more controversial portions of the proposal.

Specifically, the revised proposal calls for changes at the elementary school which would convert the building from a K-4 building to a six section K-3 building to accommodate 540 students figuring 136 students per

The proposed plans call for the 22 existing classrooms to be used as 18 classrooms and four special education classrooms. The building would be reconfigured to include three kindergarten rooms and would include remodeling to add additional storage/receiving area, add additional parking, convert present Chapter 1 space to a new computer room and add specialist teacher space. The plan also calls for the conversion of some present storage space to house a specialist and upgrade the present heating and air conditioning in the cafeteria/stage to solve some of the code problems the school has had for many years.

Boyne officials looking to cut budget

Boyne City officials are looking for ways to balance the community's budget after taking a look at the requests each department is making for the next fiscal

City Manager Randy Frykberg said the requests so far have the budget off about a quarter of a million dollars as compared to what the city is expecting to get in taxes and other income. He asked the city commissioners and the general public at the Tuesday noon meeting to provide some input into what requests should get funded and how these requests could get the budget in balance.

Some of the areas that are drawing quustions include the library, parks and recreation, streets, motor pool, fire and police departments as well as the cemetery and legal costs for the Frykberg went through each of those departments asking the commissioners which items would they like to see cut. For each, there are definite needs, like the street department getting a new plow truck, the fire department a new fire engine, the police department concerning overtime or the hiring of a summer street officer. The library could ask for support from the townships or could start charging for services, he said.

Another cost item is the city cemetery where he said the fees charged hardly pay for the maintenance and may have to be raised for the users.

User fees may become a reality for much of the city, with the possibility of fees for such services as boat launching, docking, park usage, ice skating fees, and the

Although no action was expected for the present, Frykberg asked the commissioners to think about where the budget could be cut as the city gets closer to for-mulating the new fiscal year budget.

EJ Sno-Blast event entries up 30%

The weather in the past few years for the East Jordan Sno-Blast has always been cold, windy and dreary. But this year, it was almost a summer Sno-Biast as the weather was perfect with a nice warm sunshiny day for all of the many activities the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce had prepared for the winter celebration

With the nice weather, the crowds for the many events were considerably larger, said Marie Yettaw, the head of the Chamber who expressed pleasure to all those who helped make the event successful.

Perhaps the biggest event for the weekend is the annual Radar Run and LeMans event. This year saw a large entry come to the event, with entrants still trying to get in after the registration desk

This year the Radar Run was held with two machines at a time going down the plowed off ice in front of the East Jordan Tourist Park. The winner of each run was then stepped into another run later until the fastest sled and driver were chosen for each class.

Taking the 600 to 700 cc stock liquid cooled class was Gary Fettig of Petoskey, driving his Polaris while another Fettig, Dick Fettig, took the second place on a similar machine.

The 400 to 599 cc liquid cooled class winners included Dennis Mouseau of Charlevoix driving a Yamaha for the first place, followed by Rod Their of Central Lake on a Ski-Doo.

Aging conference set for Dearborn

Over 700 professionals from the aging community will come together at the only statewide gathering of its kind - the 1991 Michigan Governor's Conference on Aging - scheduled to take place at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency hotel March 25-27. Designed to draw on the talents and expertise of state and national experts, this meeting provides a forum to discuss the current state and future directions of aging programs and services. In addition to providing an ideal forum for the exchange of ideas, the conference funding by corporate donation and registration fees demonstrates the co-operative relationship between aging and the public and private sectors, says OSA Director Nancy Crandall.

This conference and its generous sponsors demonstrate the depth to which aging services and programs are dependent on both the private and public sector," says Crandall. "Without the support of these firms, our conference could not be held. Likewise, aging programs throughout the state which also rely on private donations, corporate volunteers and other types of assistance, would suffer without private sector help. We are greatly appreciative of our sponsors and their assistance in helping us put on a high quality conference and for their continued support of programs for Michigan's older

Major contributors to this threeday conference include, but are not exclusive to, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, MichCon, ANR Pipeline, Oakwood Hospital Corporation, Consumers Power Company, Coburn Clinic, Michigan Department of Civil Service, Hoechst-Roussel Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Bi-County/Horizon Gold Hospital and the Michigan Hospital Association.

Conference events include over 28 different workshops and five pre-conference intensives providing in-depth coverage of issues such as fundraising, marketing, the future or long-term care, guardianship and adult day care. Conference participants will visit over 50 exhibitors at the exhibition and trade show which will qualify them for a chance in a prize drawing. Other special events include an opening night reception at the Henry Ford Museum and the ever-popular breakfast roundtable. Featured speakers include national experts who will address the "right to die" issue at the opening plenary session, and luncheon speakers on ethnic diversity and multi-generational family dynamics.

The registration fee for this event, which includes a ticket to the opening night reception, admittance to the exhibit hall, two luncheons, one breakfast and all conference materials, is $135.00 per person for those who register before March 8, 1991. The registration fee will increase to $150.00 for those registering after March 8. The five pre-conference intensives are available for an additional cost of $45.00 each. Preconference intensive registration is limited to a first-come, first-served basis. Those who do not wish to attend the entire conference, but who may wish to attend only an intensive, may register for an inten-

Registration materials for this conference will be available beginning January 24, 1991. Those who have already received advance promotional materials pertaining this conference will automatically receive registration materials. Still storms ahead

Some of the worst storms and coldest days of this winter are still ahead for Northwestern Michigan. Many of us find outside winter chores unpleasant. This attitude tends to make us stay inside until winter's snowy activities demand that we venture out to attack the largest and heaviest snow

It's fine to enjoy the slower paced winter lifestyle, but it's also important to remember not to get too relaxed. Summer activities can include digging in the garden, mowing the lawn, or perhaps jogging or swimming. Without this constant type of activity in the winter our bodies tend to relax. It's very important to give our bodies time to adjust to the strenuous intermittent activities that winter can demand.

Dr. Brian Youngs, Regional Medical Director for District Health Department No. 3 recommends that "people with certain medical conditions such as hypertension or anyone over the age of 40 should consult their physician before undertaking any strenuous winter activities."

Snow shoveling is strenuous work. It involves lifting heavy snow and turning and throwing each load. This activity strains both the heart and other muscles. The cold weather makes the strain even greater since your heart has to work overtime in order to keep you warm. Every year we hear unfortunate reports of individuals who suffer severe and sometimes fatal consequences as a result of shoveling snow, pushing cars out of snowbanks, or becoming overexerted in the cold while hunting or ice fishing.

It's a good rule to avoid the kind of activity that puts lots of stress on your heart and upper body unless you are sure you're in good enough shape to handle such strain. Remember that getting into proper condition takes more than a day or two. Ideally, we should be in good shape long before the first heavy accumulation of snow

If you must go out to shovel your walks and driveway, be certain to dress in warm clothes. Wear a hat or scarf, since an unocvered head guarantees a significant loss of body heat.

Opinions

They're not withholding

Every now and then, we are accused of being in the back pockets of either City Commission, the Planning Board, the School Board, the county, the state or the federal government, depending where someone or a group thinks we stand on an issue.

We try to be fair and honest in our reporting, covering both sides of an issue.

One issue where we can't see the argument for both sides, is the brochure saying we are withholding evidence concerning the overcrowding of the schools.

One only has to look into the right places to see where the school system is overcrowded, and it isn't in the high school.

If more people would take some time to walk around, better yet, get a guided tour of the elementary and middle schools, then they should see where the pressure to build new facilities is coming from.

The Boyne City High School is definitely not crowded, has small class sizes, and has rooms that are not in use all of the day. But it is tough to walk through one school at one time, see uncrowded classrooms, and say that it is the same for the entire system.

If the schools were not crowded, then why does the elementary school, which was originally designed for grades kindergarten through sixth, only have room for kindergarten through four?

Is the answer to build an elementary addition to house a school the size of a class A high school?

Or is it time to, like the volunteers who have looked at the overcrowding issue time and again, suggest we need to do something?

That is what is happening, although we don't like the thought of additional taxes to pay for education any more than anyone else.

We just hope that the new state government can change the way the school aid formula is written to allow schools like Boyne City to get a piece of the pie.

With the additional money, maybe we could figure out a way not to have to raise taxes to pay for the education of the children.

The school board is listening to all concerns, maybe one of them will come up with an answer to the problem without taxing our residents higher and higher every three years.

Letters

Is peace peace?

Editor:

I am confused - completely confused. Why in the name of humanity, in the name of world peace or in the name of any of the great religions of the world would it have been immoral and against our national interests to have taken Saddam Hussein out when he first began to be a problem? In President Bush's State of the Union speech, he spoke of the war in the Gulf as being both moral and just. How can it be more moral and just to kill tens upon thousands of innocent people, spend hundreds of billions of dollars and reduce the landscape of both Iraq and Kuwait to rubble than it would be to just go in and - yes - assassinate him? We are trying to kill the snake by cutting off his tail - bit by bit instead of starting at the other end where with one quick cut the problem would be over.

Maybe the United Nations should set up a regular hit squad that would deal with problems such as Saddam. If he or Hitler, Mussolini, Hirohito, the Russian tyrants, Idi Amin or any of the lesser tough guys was absolutely sure that their names would be on the first list of the dead we would have never had any problems from them. Yes, if even George Bush had known his name would have been on the first list he would have never - but never - invaded Panama or Iraq, and you can lay your money on that.

Bush speaks of a new World Order and that confuses me. There are about 50 active wars going on in the world today. Is our president going to war over these too? How many behinds does he plan on kicking?

He says he is doing it all for neace. The truth is when he is through in the Mid East any hope for peace will be set back for generations. Peace is not conceived in the barrel of a gun.

Back a few years ago, Boyne City residents could learn to ski and enjoy the slopes at Avalanche Park. This picture was taken sometime in the fifties and shows the small warming house skiers used in between runs on the slope. The city sold the ski hill to a private party who after several owners sold it to Boyne USA. They then put the land into the Conservancy holding which in turn gave it back to the city with stipulation that uphill transportation could not be installed or used.

Jottings

Are you getting lethargic? Feeling tired all the time? Want to just sleep the winter away? Gaining weight due to a craving for candy or other carbohydrates?

I know I do, and probably several other people around town are feeling the same way.

But, I found out that I have a disease. It's called the Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD), and it causes people with the problem to become sad, anxious, irritable, and socially withdrawn.

At least it says that in this news release I recently received.

I always thought I was just getting lazy, mad at people who can't pay their bills, and cold when the weather has been like it has the last few days.

And I feel I am getting more irritable daily.

So don't mess with me, I'll probably snap some snide comment right back at you and will make you feel almost as bad as I am getting.

Or you will end up saying that I really am a bad guy, and not want to have anything to do with me for ever because of some quick comment I may have made.

Just in case that has already happened, excuse me, but I have SAD, as I have found out by reading that newsletter.

I don't think it is a life threatening disease, in fact, I already know the cure. But in order to get the cure, I would have to have a lot of people offer me money so I can go take it.

I would also need someone to run the office, write the stories, and in general do everything I would normally do during a week. I figure a couple of thousand dollars, or having Ed McMahon or the lottery folks tell me I won the grand prize would be enough.

You see, the cure is to get some sunshine, some warmth, and some I just want to go to Florida or some place for a few weeks so I can get the cure. Then I could come back and continue to be the irritable, normal guy I usually am. According to the newsletter, I could go to some support group meetings in Kalamazoo or someplace and listen to others with the same problems. In fact, if you have any of the symptoms, you may want to write to those folks and ask them to send you some information about SAD.

Of course there is another group with a closely related name. SADD, which is students against drunk drivers, but I am not a student anymore so I can't go to those meetings. Of course, I don't drink either, so I am sure not going to drive drunk anyway.

If you want the information about SAD, write to Bronson Health Answers, 252 E. Lovell, Kalamazoo, Michigan 49007.

Or you could just send me some money so I can go to Florida and go to the annual Boyne-East Jordan- All Florida annual pienic that is coming up soon.

Then I know I could get cured, just laying around in the sun, See Jottings/Page 4

"Lemon." A bit of a shock to see that under a picture of a squatty black Bug in an auto ad. Still, I have to grin some. Our family once took up with a blue one just like it.

Reduced from a full page to snapshot size, the scaled down copy of a thirty-year-old ad illustrates a promotion for a PBS program on advertising. The pitch for the program says this ad, considered one of the greatest in advertising history, sold millions of cars. (Studying the rest of the ad's tiny text, I read that the automaker's inspectors rejected this car due to a minute flaw in its chrome trim.)

Maybe the lemon ad gave the Volkswagen Bug its initial boost, but the unwavering loyalty it fostered in drivers, much as parents have toward wayward little children, kept enthusiasm high. Such was the case at our house, anyway.

Perhaps our car came off the production line perfect. But when we began keeping company with it - 10 years, two owners and 90,000 miles later - it was woefully short

My husband, Bob, flew to Florida to collect the car from the previous owner, his sister, one spring afternoon. At 10 p.m. the same day, he and the car headed

At midnight, Bob gasses it up. Then he was set to go. The car, "Little Blue," wasn't. Bob pressed; Blue gave in.

Several hours later, he stopped at a roadside park to rest. Restarting the car at the park took over two hours.

His original travel plan included at least one night in a motel, leisurley meals in restaurants and, of course, gas and rest stops, all of which call for turning off the ignition, clearly out of the question now. So he spent most of elapsed time port to port (20 hours), with six foot body folded inside the tiny car, which was crammed with furniture from his parents' old home. Since he dared not turn off the engine even to gas up, he had to explain why at every stop.

in Charlevoix District Court:

Judge Harvey C. Varnum

Rodney P. Pittman, 39,

After long, forced intimacy, did Bob resent Little Blue? Not for long, nor did our teenagers, who considered driving it a challenge. It left them stranded at times, but they became adept at fixing it, or hitching a ride home.

I never drove the car, not being a stick shifter, which it demanded, seldom rode in it. But I recall once when I did. Just back from the repair shop (where it had part-time resident status), it took Bob and I to a concert in Ann Arbor.

The car exhibited more than usual lethargy on the trip. Then, about three miles from town, it got chattery. At city limits, it went into Big Racket mode. We kept on going and parked by the concert hall, every ear in town tuned to

After the concert we tried to rent a car. It was too late, but we could catch a limo to Metro airport, which we did, planning to rent a car there. On the way, Bob thought of catching another limo at Metro headed toward home. If we turned out to be the fares living farthest from Metro, we'd get taken to our door (A few times after an air trip, Bob got home this way.) And thus we did too. At 3:30 a.m.

Bob soured on the car after that? Not yet. That came six months later, a hot July morning, when it pooped out on his way to work in the same area it often did. But this time, instead of calling from a close gas station for a tow and a ride to work, he walked the four miles home, phoned Blue's mechanic, asked if he'd buy the car. Sold for

While I grant that maybe Blue wasn't born a lemon, it's clear, to me anyway, that by the time we signed up with it, Blue wasn't up to being much of anything. Why the rest of the family saw it otherwise, I'll never understand. Perhaps her pale blue color, small size, sagging innards, aroused their protective instincts. In any case, Little Blue is long gone, which arouses in me a grateful, "Amen."

Economic office at NCMC

The Northern Lakes Economic Alliance announced today the closing of the Business Development Center (BDC) located at North Central Michigan College, Petoskey. The closing is a result of Governor Engler's announced budget cuts and the resulting action taken by the Department of Commerce to suspend program

The goal of the BDC was to stimulate job creation by assisting the owners and managers of local businesses and start-up businesses through counseling on problemsolving, financial management, marketing, personnel and needs assessments.

Since the BDC's inception in November, 1990, twenty-two (22) clients have been provided over 135 hours of counseling. Four of these clients are ready to seek financing to open their businesses. Several other clients already in business were able to make sound decisions based on BDC-provided

In addition to his recommended budget cuts forwarded to the legislature, Governor Engler has announced numerous and significant executive budget cuts. These cuts will have a direct impact on the Community Growth Alliance (CGA) network through out Michigan, affecting future economic development.

The BDC program was designed by the Michigan Department of Commerce as an integral part of the CGA network, and has good service track record throughout the state. However, all BDC funding for fiscal year 1990-91 has been eliminated, as well as for the entire CGA structure within the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Due to strong local support, the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance will continue to provide high quality business assistance services to local companies and to attract new businesses to Northwest Michigan. In addition, the staff will maintain contacts with the state government in Lansing in order to keep area businesses and community leaders abreast of the latest development issues.

VALENTINE'S DAY

St. Valentine's Day is associated with two martyrs in the early Christian church. Scholars have had great difficulty in finding historical facts among the St. Valentine legends. One St. Valentine seems to have been a priest who suffered death during the persecution of Claudius of Goth on Feb. 14, A.D. 269. Then there was Bishop who died in Rome ebruary 14 of the same year. Were there two St. Valentines or were they the same man? Feb. 14 was also a Roman feast day of Lupercalia when young men chose by lot young women whom they would court during the following

St. Valentine has been the Patron Saint of lovers through the centuries. Summing it all up; it seem possible that it might take at least two St. Valentines to solve lovers' problems in this world.

The custom of exchanging valentines on February 14 can be traced to the English poet Geffrey Chaucer. He mentioned that birds begin to pair off on that day. Shakespeare also mentions that choosing of the birds for mates on February 14th.

The idea of a Valentine's day has continued down through the vears because there is that need to have a day to express our love and to entertain our friends in some way especially during the cold winter months when many of us are fighting off "cabin fever."

I like the civilized image of an afternoon tea for my friends. It could be a formal tea with the silver tea pot, tiny sandwiches and all kinds of goodies. However what can be more cosy than sitting ont he sofa at home or casually surrounding the kitchen table. After all, in this fast-paced world we have earned a quiet time to sit back and enjoy.

The main ingredients for a Valentine tea party besides your special friends are:

If you have some of this next pimento cheese spread in the refrigerator you can make little sandwiches any time. This spread will keep at least three to four weeks in the refrigerator. It is nice to have on hand for those ribbon sandwiches made with three slices of bread.

port our young men and women in the Gulf, but we certainly DO NOT have to endorse the policies that put them there.

The war has practically taken over the entire media. Bush has his damage control boys on every talk show, panel, discussion group, press conference, and military briefing, every day, and he himself is on T.V. daily. Now this confuses me too. I have an uncomfortable feeling that we are being conditioned for something that they are not ready to tell us yet. Never has a war had to be publicized the way this one is. Something is wrong.

There must be some good believer in George Bush's War that have the time and inclination to clear this confusion of mine up. Please, help. There are so many of us that want to know. Speak of morality, speak of peace, speak of why it is so much better to kill tens of thousands instead of one, speak of love and hate, speak of a new world order and above else, speak of truth. School Woodburning can be health hazard

Cost projections for the upper elementary school remodeling are projected to be about $265,000.

Present plans call for the construction of a new middle school addition to the high school, which would house 405 students in grades six through eight figuring 135 students per class. The building would include 18 rooms for teaching, including some shared spaces with the high school students.

Cost projections for the new addition for a middle school are $4,764,000.

The new middle school would be connected to the high school so that both schools could share some facilities. Included in the plans for the shared facilities are instrumental rehearsal rooms, vocal rehearsal room and the support facilities for those rooms. Art would also be a shared use and would include rooms for that and support facilities.

A new central kitchen would be developed that would serve both schools and would include a staff dining area. A new receiving and maintenance room would also be included in the shared facilities.

Estimated cost for that portion of the project has been projected to be $1,477.500.

At the high school, some additional classrooms would be added and others remodeled to be able to house four language arts rooms, three social studies, three math, one foreign language, one business education classrooms.

One room would be converted to become a new distance learning

The high school would retain present

Some rooms would be converted so the school could have more community education space. Another room to be converted includes the present music room to become a new drafting/technology

The present cafeteria, school entrance and kitchen would be remodeled to include additional expansion of gym seating, make more storage for gym/locker rooms, expand administration and guidance rooms and add some staff work space.

Other changes for the high school include the expansion of existing locker rooms to give the girls' locker room more space, remodel the ministration/guidance room and add two new science/lab classrooms and support space. The high school would also add a new cafeteria of about 2,500

Cost projections for the changes at the high school are projected at

Other costs expected to be considered are site work that would see changes in the parking, drives, walks, drainage and landscaping for the high/middle school complex.

Another projected cost would see a new all weather track and improvements to the football field to include new bleachers and crowning of the field.

The site work, including the new track would add about $945,000 to the proposed bond

While no final decision is expected at Tuesday's work session, board members were hoping to hear of an alternate financing plan being proposed by a local development company which could reduce costs to the voters.

The board is expected to make their final decision on the proposed building projects next week at their regular board meeting which will be held in the high school media center next Monday evening. If approved, the board will also formally set the date for the election so the voters would have their say in whether or not the system is allowed to expand.

Film on D.L. Moody

to be shown

Moody!, a dramatic motion picture from Quadrus, is the unforgettable story of an ordinary man who changed the course of thousands of lives because of his extraordinary faith in the power of God. The film is a biography of the 19th century evangelist and reformer who started the Sunday school movement, helped start the YMCA and founded several schools bearing his name, including the world-famous Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. An estimated one hundred million people heard D.L. Moody in person.

This film, on the life of D.L. Moody, will be shown at the Free Methodist Church, 839 State Street, Boyne City, ML, on Saturday, Feb. 13, 1991 at 7 p.m.

This story, filmed on location in Chicago and Northfield, Massachusetts, depicts highlights from Moody's remarkable career, featuring exciting scenes of the great Chicago fire, poignant episodes of Moody's self-doubts and heartaches, as well as his triumphs over tragedy.

Bil Rodgers, as Moody, ably portrays the evangelist and vividly exemplifies Moody's faith and convictions, his character and wit.

Moody! will inspire and entertain the entire family.

Joe Musser, founder and president of Quadrus Media Ministry of Rockford, Ill., is the producer of Moody! and co-author of the books, Joni, The Tommy John Story, Beyond the Next Mountain and a biography of Josh McDowell (of Campus Crusade for Christ) entitled A Skeptic's Quest.

Where are songbirds this winter

BY REG SHARKEY

Where have all the birds gone? So far this winter we've been feeding far less avian boarders than last winter.

Those brash, noisy blue jays, so prominent in past winters, are nonexistent at our avian "soup kitchens." Just one made a belated appearance just before Christmas. then departed for parts unknown. This seems to be the case all over this immediate area of Michigan.

Some people who aren't too fond of jay birds, accusing them of being seed robbers, say that they stash away far more than they consume at one sitting. But regardless of their shortcomings, I miss their raspy salutations.

Then, too, the large flocks of those summertime yellow goldfinches, buffy green in the winter, just aren't showing up in the large numbers like last winter.

Neither are the purple finches or the red polls. And those gluttonous but beautiful evening grosbeaks haven't been around for two winters now. About the middle of October a half dozen drifted in a couple of times for refueling then left, evidently energized for flight farther north.

And the goshawk that kept the mourning doves on their toes has not been seen so far this winter. Usually we get a chance to see this fierce winged raptor put on a display of airobatics while pursuing a panicked mourning dove. the only birds we have in perfusion. We have thirty, or so, that chow up twice a day, morning and late afternoon.

We usually see an eagle, or two, flying along the now frozen over lake shore. So far this winter we haven't seen any, but there are a pair that are being seen near their nesting site in the vicinity of the Pickerel-Crooked Lake channel.

About the only consistent feeder visitors are the cheerful, ever busy chickadees, and therein lies some interesting facts about this little bird taken from the February-March issue of the National Wildlife magazine. It states that a chickadee needs 20 times more food in winter than it does in summer; that the bugger has to eat 60 percent of its body weight on subzero days. That would equal about 250 sunflower seeds daily. Perhaps this is why no matter how stormy it is, or wherever you might be when it's a corker outside, you'll run into these cheerful busybodies.

What bothers me most about the dirth of birds is the fact that I usually buy around 1200 pounds of black sunflower seeds each fall, hoping it will see me through the year until I repeat a purchase in the following fall for the same amount. Actually I fed more seeds last summer than the previous winter. So, come on birds. I need your help in reducing the larder. Anyone that has more birds than they can handle tell 'em to file flight plans for our homestead. Dinner will be served promptly. P.S. (Parting Shot): Did schoolsanctioned release of balloons serve the purpose they were intended I refer to the release of 200 red, white and blue balloons by the Boy City fifth and sixth graders in support of U.S. troops in the Persian Guld area. In this day of environmental concern, with littering being an awareness, this practice should be discouraged. If littering, deliberate or otherwise, is an unlawful act, why should the release of helium inflated balloons be encouraged or allowed? Although we aren't near the Atlantic Ocean, it has been found that deflated balloons touching down in that body of water have been responsible for the deaths of sea turtles, and some type of small whales, who mistakenly ingest them as food.

As a veteran of the Air Force in World War II, I think there are far better ways of showing support for our troops at war in the Persian Gulf than by ignoring the littering war on the home front.

Addendum: Since writing this Parting Shot I found out that the balloon release was okayed by state and local agencies.

Suppose I wanted to dump a couple of hundred support-the-war leaflets from an airplane. Would those same agencies give me their blessings? How can you differentiate what materials litter and what cause makes littering

EJ volleyballers take 3 from Mancy

BY MARGARET WORGESS

The Red Devils swept three matches to defeat Mancelona. This win gave the Devils their fourth win in a row. Top setter was Denise Shea. Top servers were Jenny Sherman and Lori Chanda. Defensive leader was Barbara Lercel and offensive leader was Buffy Kooyer.

The Devils do very well when they start with the serve. East Jordan came out and quickly took a 50 lead. Mancelona caught up and took the lead 5-11. After taking a time, the Devils came back to tie it

The Devils again took the lead but only by one, 12-13. Mancelona recovered to tie the score at 13. With good net work and tips, East Jordan won 15-13.

The second game started out and followed the same pattern as the first. The Devils started with the serve and scored three points. Mancelona went ahead 3-8, and East Jordan was tied again at 12. The Devils kept Ironmen from scoring while scoring three points

The third game was different from the first two. Mancelona took an early 2-5 lead, and was still ahead 7-9, when East Jordan decided it was time to get it together and end the game. Coming back to score six points while the Ironmen only scored one, to take the lead 13-10. The Devils scored two more to win and take the swept-over Mancelona, 15-10.

The junior varsity had an upsetting night. The girls lost the first game 7-15. Then they came back to win 156. Mancelona came back to repeat the first game and won 7-15.

Boyne dumped in last seconds by Rayders

A Charlevoix basket with 10 seconds left on the clock spelled doom for the Boyne City Ramblers last Friday as time ran out with the Ramblers holding onto the ball trying for a last shot which would have put the game into overtime. The final score was Charlevoix 55, Boyne City 53.

and the state of t

But it wasn't to be so between the two evenly matched teams which saw the lead change several times in the last quarter after Boyne had built up a nine point lead at the end of the third quarter. Both teams played almost even in the half, with the Ramblers pulling out a slim 15-11 point lead in the first quarter and a 33 to 25 lead at the halftime break.

Charlevoix battled back in the fourth quarter, although the Ramblers kept the game close until a technical foul and another foul against the Ramblers put in four points for the Rayders giving them the lead for good.

In the meantime, Boyne hit a scoring plateau in the fourth quarter until Mike Mont hit a two pointer to break the quiet.

The one area that has hurt the Ramblers this year is the continual turnover problem the team has been having. Turnovers gave the Rayders plenty of scoring opportunities, but as coach Rob Neu said after the game, "We got to learn how not to shoot ourselves in the Neu did remark that he was looking forward to meeting Charlevoix in the districts, vowing that they would not win against the Ramblers a third time.

Eric Smith again had the scoring honors for the team hitting 28 points, gathering 19 rebounds while Joe Jankowski hit 13 points. Kevin Smith added 10.

Boyne City's record is now 6-7 as the season starts winding down.

East Jordan drives over Kalkaska

BY JENNIFER BURR

East Jordan hosted Kalkaska on Friday night and were rarin' to go, due to not having a game on Tuesday and being on a losing streak for so long.

They had a great night, played agressive defense, smart offense and came out victorious.

The Devils did start out in the first quarter a little slow, with a score of 7-6. Picking it up a bit in the second quarter, East Jordan was ahead 24-17. They kept their lead throughout the third quarter as well, with a score of 41-32 for three quarters of play.

East Jordan never looked back. They had a big enough lead to keep ahold of it and didn't allow the Blazers to catch up.

East Jordan's Ross Miller lead the scoring with 24, followed by Dave Patton 11 with five assists, and Kris Snyder eight. Miller also led the team in rebounds with 14 points, and Joe Hiller twelve. East Jordan was 20 for 26 from the free-stripe, scored 18 baskets including one three-pointer, and committed twenty-two fouls. The Kalkaska Blazers were 10 for 22 from the line, hit 18 baskets. and made 20 fouls. In junior varsity action, East Jordan was defeated 66-60 in double overtime. Gale Ramsey led with 29 points.

East Jordan travels to Harbor Springs on Friday night.

Don't be a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning

Many Michigan residents die each year from accidental carbon monoxide gas poisoning. Carbon monoxide poisoning, the silent, eeping killer causes more deaths than any other type of gas poisoning. Carbon monoxide is treacherous because it is odorless, tasteless and colorless. It is doubly treacherous because in concentration it acts so quickly that a victim often has no warning of the gases danger. Carbon monoxide (CO) is dangerous because it sickens and kills by cutting off the oxygen supply to body tissue. Oxygen is carried throughout the body by red cells. When CO is present it can combine with the red blood cells 200 times easier than oxygen. If enough oxygen is driven out of the cells, death will

About 34 of Michigan carbon monoxide deaths were caused by improper use of motor vehicles. Whenever you drive or park a car with the engine running, CO goes with you. The following list of precautions can help prevent carbon monoxide poisoning:

1) Check exhaust systems regularly, especially in areas where salt and chemicals are used on ice and snow.

2) Only work on a running engine in a properly vented area. Winds can blow CO back into a garage. 3) Shut engine off when sitting in a parked car.

4) Never drive with all windows closed completely. A side window should be left open slightly.

5) If you become sleepy while driving or while parking, the cause could be carbon monoxide. Stop at once; get out and get fresh air. With the window open, drive to the nearest service station and have the exhaust system checked. 6) If a vehicle is parked, or stuck in the snow, the tail pipe should be cleared of snow.

There are many sources of CO besides automobiles. A prime example is the portable space heater. Others include gas-fired appliances, gasoline powered lawnmowers and snowblowers, charcoal grills, wood stoves, fireplaces, gas (natural or bottled) heaters, kerosene or gas powered camp lanterns, stoves and similar COMMISSION MEETING, JANUARY 15, 1991 AT 12:00 NOON - All Commissioners were present with 22 people in attendance.

A group appeared before the Commission for their backing in forming a new Boyne City Chapter of the Jaycees.

It was announced that "Concerts in the Park" would again be held in the gazebo on Wednesday nights from July 10 through August 28. Barb Polinaki will again spearhead the activities.

A discussion was held between the City, Stafford's Hospitality and the Beaver Island Boat Company, concerning the construction of a floating dock at the north side of the Boyne River mouth. The dock would be paid for with private funds and then given to the City. The Beaver Island Boat Company would use the end of the "L" shaped dock to deliver passengers to Boyne City to shop, browse or use one of its restaurants and then return to Charlevoix. In turn, the passenger ship would take Boyne City people to Charlevoix.

Fishers would be allowed to fish off the south side of the dock at all times and fish in other places unless the passenger ship was in Both the Chamber of Commerce and the Parks and Recreation Board have given their unanimous approval. A Public Hearing will be held next Tuesday for citizen inmat.

It was also announced that the Walleye Association has been given a state grant to construct a new dock at the launch ramp. The cost of the dock will be $3,900. The City's share will be $45.00. Work on the project will start in the spring. Meeting adjourned at 1:00 p.m.

SYNOPSIS

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners met in regular sessions on the above dates in Charlevoix.

Business conducted included: December 12, 1990; bank depositories for 1991; a regular Grandvue Operating Transfer; adopted 1990 subsidiary funds budgets; the public hearing for the 1991 General Fund budget was held and numerous appointments were confirmed: December 27, 1990; a resolution to adopt the 1991 General Fund Budget; authorizing the signing of the 1991 Marine Grant; a resolution to upgrade the weapons at the Sheriff's Department; a deficit resolution plan for General Fund; amended Commission on Aging bylaws and the 1991 salary schedule: January 8, 1991; Donald Smith elected Chairman of the Board; numerous other appointments were confirmed; resolutions were adopted for a regular Grandvue Operating Transfer and a resolution to amend the General Fund deficit resolution; January 9, 1991; a survey agreement was authorized with Emmet County; the Plan Reviewer contract was algred for the calendar year 1991 and numerous committee appointments were confirmed; January 28, 1991; a resolution concerning the Soil Erosion Officer fringe benefits was adopted and several committee appointments were confirmed.

Copies of the complete minutes of the Board are on file in the office of the County Clerk and are available for public inspection during regular business hours. City. The smoke machine is used to produce non-toxic smoke for firefighters to practice in. The machine costs $500.00.

A payment of $18,111.25 was authorized to be paid as the City's share of water and sewer lines for work in North Boyne. It was pointed out that none of this money was used for the Hawkridge Development project.

A Public Hearing was held to take citizen comments for the possible construction of a multi-use floating dock at the mouth of the Boyne River.

The actual length of the dock would be 150 feet from the shoreline out to an "L" which would be 55 feet long. The promenade would be eight feet wide to the "L" which would have exclusive use at the end of the dock.

The majority of the people were in favor of the proposal. A Resolution was passed to accept the initial concept of the installation of the dock and that the City Attorney be authorized to work out a lease agreement with the Beaver Island Boat Company. Meeting adjourned at 192 p.m.

WEEKLY MEETING, JANUARY 29, 1991 - 12:00 NOON: All Commissioners were present except Mayor Fitzpatrick and their were 30 people present at the meeting.

Walter Cole was re-appointed to the Board of Review Board with his term of office to expire March 1, 1994.

Chief of Police John Talboys was honored with the presentation of 3 plaques in acknowledgement of his retiring from the City following 34 years of service to the City with 25 years serving as Chief of Police.

Talboys received plaques from the Chamber of Commerce, the Sheriff's Department and the City. His entire family was present to observe the ceremonies held in the Commission Chambers.

Meeting adjourned at 12:20.
