

Boyne City McDonald's opens to good crowds

A millisecond after Boyne City Fire Chief Nord Schroeder cut a ribbon made of one dollar bills, a couple of dozen kids went into the new McDonald's to try out the newest restaurant in Boyne City. The store is the first "Small Town" designed store in the state and the first in the nation designed with a drive-thru according to McDonald's officials. Helping to hold the ribbon of bills are owner Tom Holka of Kalkaska, city officials Bill Casper, Bill Grimm, Thelma Behling and Sandra Stanley.

Tuesday afternoon wasn't much fun for Becky and Mike Powers visiting the area from Lansing. According to Becky, she reached over to turn on the key of their 1990 Volkswagon to lower a power window when the car suddenly lurched ahead and over the bank at the Boyne Automotive parking lot. Her husband was talking to the postmaster when the accident happened. It took about 30 minutes to retrieve the car which seemed to be in pretty good shape for having taken a 12 foot drop over the edge.

Wants to complete N. Lake Street

Boyne going after grant

To allow construction to start before the Fourth of July or after Labor Day will be one of the decisions the Boyne City Commissioners will have to make if the state gives them a grant which would allow for the completion of North Lake Street from the bridge over the Boyne River to the City Hall.

The commissioners have approved the seeking of the grant after some discussion about when the best time to begin construction would be for the city.

The issue arose because of the two major construction projects this past summer have severely affected merchant sales this summer and city officials want to work with the business owners so that will not happen again.

Commissioners agreed that construction this summer may have been a mistake, but it was due to the way the grants occurred that made the construction happen all at once they said. Commissioner Bill Grimm said that the rebuilding of M-75 was supposed to be done three years ago but delays happened with right-of-way concerns. Other commissioners said the bridge grant was given out and had to be used in order to meet state guidelines.

The rebuilding of N. Lake Street is estimated to be a six week project, according to City Manager Randy Frykberg and would include widening, adding a passing lane, additional paved parking, bicycle path, curb and gutter to the major roadway.

He said that almost all of the underground work has been completed so the roadway would not need to be completely torn up in order to add sanitary sewer and water lines. He did say the street would be torn up to add storm sewer connections.

Jim Carrow, a downtown business owner said he wasn't sure he could support another year of construction. He would rather see the city work on several smaller projects than one major one that could affect the business owners greatly.

John Faulknor, another businessman who is working on the next years' Mushroom Festival, wanted to make sure the city, if construction were to happen, did not jeopardize the festival and wanted to make sure the city was planning on doing the construction after the Labor Day weekend as the tourist season would be over. He told the commissioners that he thinks the city doesn't have much choice as to when construction should occur. His comments were reinforced by Gloria Anderson of the Chamber of Commerce who also wanted the city to start construction after the summer.

Both were told that anything is possible, although starting after the summer may cost the city more and that the chance of weather problems might be greater.

The main concern of the commissioners at this time was to give the approval to submit a grant application by the end of the week, which is the deadline for grants from the Michigan Department of Transportation Economic Development Tourism section.

The city would find out if their grant is approved early next spring.

Greta Mackler, representing the Boyne City Historical Society presented a check to the city for the Boyne City Historical Museum of $2,000. The money was raised from the annual Boyne City Home Tour that the group sponsors each year.

City officials expressed thanks for the outstanding weekend activities which brought the first Hot Rod and Custom Car show to Boyne. Some concerns were raised about the car show and the sailors from the annual Red Fox Regatta being so close together, but those concerns evaporated as the two groups worked together and enjoyed the two different activities. The city said the park was cleaned up by Monday by the car show workers.

One concern was raised about the safety of the DALMAC bicycle tour that comes through Boyne over the Labor Day weekend. The city will be sending a letter to the tour officials asking them to make sure that the riders on the tour follow the rules of the road for their safety. It was noted that riders were sometimes several riders abreast as they passed through town. Others noted the riders did not stop at stop signs and had other infractions that could be ticketed.

BC teacher gets AAUW grant

Cheryll Leach, a middle school science teacher at Boyne City is one of twelve teachers honored nationwide with an American Association of University (AAUW) Women Eleanor Roosevelt Teacher Fellowship.

Leach has planned a three tiered program to excite girls about science. The program includes bringing career scientists into the classroom for demonstrations, providing a hands-on science activities for small after school groups.

The fellowship is part of an annual program given out by the AAUW to help teachers develop a better understanding of how

Two Boyne City Commission slots are up for grabs at the November election although both incumbents, Thelma Behling and Sandra Stanley have not indicated yet they will continue to serve the city. Petitions to run for the City Commission will be available from City Hall Friday, September 13th.

Party to follow hosted by the Bride and Groom. Honeymoon to include an Air Force Reunion for the 48th Bomb Group in Kansas City, MO.

Security Administrator gives advice

Let me explain why I think an earnings and benefit estimate statement can be useful and relevant to you, even if you're still in the twenties or thirties.

First of all, if you have children, you should know that Social Security will pay survivors benefits to them if you die, as long as you have worked and paid into the Social Security system. Your statement tells you how much each child would receive. For most people, the amount is often more than they expected. Knowing that information can help you make realistic decisions about work and other investments you need in order to provide for your family.

No one expects to become disabled as a result of an illness or injury, but most workers are covered for Social Security disability benefits if something happens to them. Your statement also shows the amount of disability benefits payable to you, your spouse, and your children.

Everyone would find the earnings section of the statement useful. Your earnings are listed for each year you worked under Social Security along with the amount of Social Security taxes you paid that year. The amount of your Social Security benefits is based on your total earnings at jobs covered by Social Security, so you can see that it is important to make sure you get credit for all you employment.

You should check your statement against your old tax returns or other employment records for as many years as you can. If you find an error, we will be able to correct it for you. Just because you always used the same Social Security number and the same last name, don't assume your wages were always reported properly. It will probably be easier to check the accuracy of your earnings information if not too many years have gone by. We recommend that you send for a statement every three years, especially if you have changed your last name or worked for several different employers.

Senior games this week

Hospital campaign climbs

Charlevoix Area Hospital campaign contributions climbed to $616,991 this week.

Industrial gifts reported amounted to $76,000 of this total.

Solicitation in East Jordan, Boyne City and Ellsworth also kicked off this week. Steve Weber and Margaret Lasater are heading up the Boyne City area campaign. Pat Tinney and Sharon Jackson are co-chairmen for East Jordan, and John Hastings, Katie Sowers, and Mary Peterson in Ellsworth.

Thus far major gifts have been received as living memorials to cover the cost of two operating rooms at $50,000 each; four labor-delivery-recovery-post-partum maternity rooms at $15,000 each; surgery and family waiting areas for $25,000 each; and the outpatient recovery area for $15,000.

General Campaign Chairman Jeffrey Porter said of the campaign progress, "With about one month to go in the campaign, I feel we are making great strides toward our goal. I'm confident we will reach our goal if the community and area continue to show such wonderful support."

Seven members of the Boyne Valley Garden Club (B.V.G.C.) had an enjoyable day Tuesday, August 27, when they attended the luncheon and program hosted by the Friendly Garden Club of Traverse City at the newly decorated Park Place Hotel. The tables for the luncheon were decorated with winding ropes of flowers in the pink and purple theme. Green net and purple ribbons were used for the most attractive centerpieces. After a delicious luncheon, members were entertained by a youthful ballet group who danced the "Dance of the Flowers". The program, which followed, was beautifully done by the talented Dottie Mangden, who is an accredited flower show life judge, a member of Greater Detroit Flower Arrangers Guild, and also a member of the Dearborn Garden Club. She did several weathered wood arrangements, using a minimum of wisely chosen flowers and foliage. The beautiful pieces of weathered wood used, were from her collection she had gathered while boating on Michigan lakes. The finished arrangements were an outstanding art form. Dorothy Grant of the B.V.G.C. was the lucky winner of a large original water color painting which was done by Robbie Carmichael of Traverse City. Robbie donated the painting to the Friendly Garden Club of Traverse City of which she is a member.

Opinions

Build after Labor Day

We whole heartily concur with business owners who want the city, if a grant is approved to allow for the rebuilding of a two block section of N. Lake Street, to have the work done after the Labor Day weekend.

Working after Labor Day is really nothing new to the city, after all, the Water Street and S. Lake Street projects were all completed in the time span between Labor Day and the first of November.

We have seen what the construction this summer has done to area merchants and if the same were to happen next construction season, there is a good chance not many could survive.

Area businesses need the summer months, along with the tourism created by summer in order to pay the taxes, pay for the merchandise, and all of the other costs involved with the running of a business.

It is tough enough for a small merchant to make any money at all these days, and to have another year of construction which would slow down customers would, in our estimation, be the straw which breaks their backs.

One of the reasons it is so important to maintain a viable downtown business community is that it helps maintain a small town atmosphere. All you have to do is look at neighboring communities to see what happens to a downtown business district when other business is allowed outside of the central business district.

It is happening in almost every community and while the city cannot eliminate growth outside of the business district, they can discourage it.

What the community really needs is to have the residents of the community make sure they shop their home town first before heading out to some other place to purchase items.

Sure, you can always find it cheaper somewhere else, and even cheaper if you want to travel further, but the convenience of the downtown shopping area is something which makes this community unique and should be encouraged to remain.

It will only remain if the city fathers do not throw up roadblocks causing people to drive away from the area.

Remembrances

Playing football is nothing new to Boyne City as this picture shows a football team from sometime in the late twenties. About the only thing that is the same in the game today as compared to those years, is the number of players on the field. These Boyne players from yesteryear took the stance of football players today as they posed for this picture.

Jottings

BY JIM SILBAR

If you got a little frosted hearing about the government paying tons of money for a hammer, or a toilet seat, then you should be interested in this little message about our tax collectors in Washington.

According to a newspaper sent to me by Government Waste Watch, they told about an investigative reporter for WJLA-TV in Washington, D.C. who uncovered an interesting project that could set a dangerous precedent for us taxpayers.

Seems that the Internal Revenue Service is in the process of buying 125 health club memberships for employees who complain the IRS gym is too far away.

According to the paper, this "Too far away" is about 1,200 yards, just a short three times around the old Boyne City track almost.

According to an IRS Human Resource director, he feels that this is a good way to spend some of the money collected from you and I. He said that as one of the governments largest employers, they need to support health and fitness initiatives. He thinks it contributes to better work performance.

That much I can agree with, physical fitness does help the productivity of myself.

But, I would think the government tax collectors could get a little more fit just following some of the governmental brochures that tell us that walking is a great means of staying in shape as it is aerobic exercise.

I would think a walk to the gym could be a better benefit, as well as saving the taxpayers $85,000 for a membership in the Loews L'En-fant Plaza Hotel Fitness Center. Heck, they could just join me up to a season pass to Boyne Mountain cheaper than one of those memberships.

Of course a few of us taxpayers just might get a little upset that the IRS didn't allow that season pass as a write off or perk of just living around here.

And I can imagine other IRS employees getting a little miffed that they don't get a membership in a health club as well, even if they don't work in Washington.

Or, I wonder if those memberships for those employees will be figured as ordinary income when they file their own returns?

I know I can't afford a health club membership, and I don't think I can get the government to pay out good money to fund my joining one.

But it would be nice to be able to get on the public dole for a perk such as that.

I might even be able to get in shape for the upcoming ski season.

That newsletter is just filled with all kinds of information that would cause the average taxpayer to go bonkers.

One governmental agency, the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) asked congress recently to fund several projects they said were to "Promote National Security."

One proposal asked for $158,880 to the Louisville Orchestra, "to promote better understanding of and appreciation for contemporary music by examining the various techniques composers have utilized in the creation of music in the last two decades."

Make you wonder how they are going to study the "Rap" music phenomena.

Frenchman Knows Americans

So how goes it these days, the healthy lifestyle scene? Changing. Scripts and props keep getting revised, updated. But then, faith that new ideas represent progress, Frenchman Alexis de Tocqueville noted as central to American character 150 years ago. Quite right he was, not only in this point, but in another that revealed great perception and wisdom.

Folks dance around some new stuff these days, however. Take jogging, for instance, (stay put - just ponder on it) which has proved to be hard on the knees, hips, ankles, some shins too, accounting for why many former joggers dropped it. But sales of outfits promoted as proper attire for pursuing the activity haven't dropped, and with good reason.

Noting the obvious comfort, easy care of the garb, fashion designers jumped in, added beads, braid, sequins, lace, whatever. They fiddled with the outfit's shape too - took a seam in here, a tuck or two there. Some put designs all over it, some just a sketch, slogan, or both on its top.

And, shazaam, outfits made of humble sweatshirt material or similar cozy stuff score big with young and old females (males too, minus the tucks and doodads). For the fairer sex, they've become a fashion statement, no less, the fancy ones going out on the town even, or cocktail parties.

A much promoted set piece for the healthy living scene, exercise equipment, hasn't fared so well, likely due to its frightfully high cost plus the effort it entails. (Jogging suits can justify their purchase by simply lounging around in them, cheaper ones anyway, but not so these pieces.) Still, equipment pushed with promises of rejuvenation snag buyers with dreams of a Fountain of Youth in their own home.

But oftentimes, sweat and soreness obscure the clarity of the vision, or the mechanism is abandoned due to injury incurred doing whatever one is supposed to do to derive benefit from same. But all is not lost here either. The often ungainly apparatus can be used in various other capacities. Due to their sturdiness, they serve well to help big expanses of glass maintain wind resistance in gales or even in hurricanes. They make grand props for ailing clothes dryer and oven doors and dandy plant stands too.

As for the growing gaggle of goods to ingest or inhale put forth in the name of a healthier lifestyle, grocery retailers, who are called on to find space for ever more new ones on already packed shelves, see no useful purpose in this scene. But lately they've likely noted that owing to fall from grace, or profit, the oat bran crowd has thinned.

Due to the no longer clear threat of caffeine, however, the number of coffee and tea offerings more than fill the vacated cereal box space. The latest entry is coffee with 50 percent caffeine content for folks who want the flavor or quick fix of the real deal, but don't want to get hyper.

The same situation, hedging your bets, has crowded cigarette shelves too. After a decade of coming out with new brands or redoing the old to get ever lowered nicotine, tar in these dangerous tubes, the latest consumer demand has brought cigarettes in "medium", meaning that they taste like the originals but have less of the bad stuff than formerly.

One brewery bucked the trend, lowered alcohol content 50 percent in one product, took it all out in the newest. The non-alcoholic outsold the 50 percent beer that the latter slunk away. Consumer health consciousness or more of Tocqueville's view? Hard to tell - likely some of both. In any case, enthusiasm for the new is still the American way.

The Frenchman also observed that if he were asked to what he mainly attributed American's prosperity and growing strength, he'd reply: "To the superiority of their women."

No question here - Alexis de Tocqueville had it absolutely right.

Bicyclists and supporters of the Boyne City Ski Team enjoyed a pancake breakfast Sunday morning on the lawn of the Harborage Marina. The breakfast, served to all who wanted is one of the fund raisers for the team and has helped pay for race equipment, coats, and giant slalom uniforms.

Water color society to exhibit at McCune

Thirty nine paintings representing the best of this years 45th Annual Michigan Water Color Society Exhibition will be on display for the public at the McCune Art Center gallery in Petoskey, September 4 through the 28th.

Included will be award winning paintings by Ellen Wilt of Ann Arbor, Arts Foundation of Michigan award winner of $1,000; Donald Mendelson of Southfield, Mary Aro of Harper Woods; Electra Stamelos of Dearborn and Sharon Hackman of St. Clair Shores.

The Crooked Tree Arts Council operates the McCune Arts Center on East Mitchell Street, bringing

WITH BEA SMITH

GRAPES

Concord grapes, Michigans long-time abundant favorites are ripe. Their tangy fragrance is in the air along orchard fences and arbors. I hope there is a good crop this year even though I hear that a late frost last Spring did some harm.

The early settlers brought their cuttings for Concord grapes with them, and how those vines have endured and thrived through the years. This is the way early Michganders preserved their grapes. First they made wine, canned their grape juice and made jams and jellies. Here are a couple of recipes from my "White House Cookbook" (1982)

GRAPE CONSERVE

Wash five pounds of grapes and remove from stems. Pulp. Cook pulps and skins separately. Put pulp through a strainer to remove seeds. Add to skins with five pounds of sugar, one pound of raisins, the juice of three oranges and the grated rind of one and one-half. Cook fifteen minutes and add one cup chopped nuts. Cook until thick. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

SPICED GRAPES

Pulp five pounds of grapes. Boil skins until tender. Cook pulp and put through strainer to remove seeds. Add to skins with two and one-half pounds of sugar, three teaspoons cinnamon, two teaspoons allspice, one-half teaspoon cloves and one cup cider vinegar. Boil ten minutes and pour into sterilized pint jars and seal.

Then the red and green grapes are available throughout the year.

They add color and flavor to any meal, try them in your favorite salads. They add a special touch to all fruit salads and cole slaw, or this:

WALDORF PINEAPPLE SALAD

3 large apples
1 C. diced celery
1/4 C. coarsely chopped walnuts
1 4 oz. can pineapple chunks, drained, reserve juice
1/2 C. mayonnaise
Red or green grapes
1. Wash and core apples. Cut into cubes to make 2 to 2 1/2 cups. Add celery, walnuts, and pineapple chunks. Mix lightly. 2. Combine mayonnaise and reserved pineapple juice. Mix until smooth. Pour over apple mixture and stir until coated. 3. Add as many grapes as you wish for a delicious finishing touch.

I have been making this next salad through the years; a family favorite.

GELATIN SALAD OR DESSERT
1 can dark sweet cherries, drained, reserve the juice
1 pkg. (3 ozs.) cherry gelatin
1 C. haved red grapes
1 C. hot water
Nut meats (optional)
Dissolve the gelatin in one cup hot water. Measure cherry juice and add enough water to make 1 cup. Add to the gelatin mixture. Stir. Put mixture in the refrigerator until partially set. Stir in the drained cherries, grapes and nut meats. Chill until firm; serve with whipped cream or non-dairy topping. This is a beautiful dish to grace your Thanksgiving table.

What a weekend!

Hundreds of people appeared in town over the weekend to look at some of the finest hot rods and custom cars in the state during the first Boyne City Car Club Auto Show. Show officials were surprised at the amount of interest for the first year and expect the number of cars to double next year when they hold the show again.

Cyclers participating in the annual DALMAC (Dick Allen Lansing to Mackinac Bridge) tour had a hard time getting up the hill going to Wildwood Harbor. They almost all made it, but some took their time and walked part of the way up the long climb. About 1,000 riders came through Boyne City and East Jordan over the weekend.

Lindsay to head insurance group

James Lindsay, Jr., has been elected President of the Independent Insurance Agents of Northern Michigan. He was recently installed by Michigan Deputy Insurance Commissioner Hal Ziegler. Lindsay is with the Campbell-Lindsay agency of Boyne City. Elected vice president of the agents group was Kerry Jones of Burns & Eustice Insurance, in Cheboygan. Karyn L. Brooks of Harbor/Brenn Agencies in Petoskey was elected secretary/treasurer. The Independent Insurance Agents of Northern Michigan is a county affiliate of the Independent Insurance Agents of Michigan, a state wide association of approximately 7,000 property and casualty agents.

District Health Department to charge fees for testing

The quality of drinking water has been of increased concern in Northern Michigan as well as in other areas of the state. Basic bacteriological and partial chemical analysis of anyone's water was done in the past with the only expense being postage. Since August 1, 1991, the Michigan Department of Public Health began charging fees for all water testing. The fee schedule is the result of the Governor's Executive Order 1991-17 of June 14, 1991.

Water sample results issued after the effective date will contain an invoice for the fees due the laboratory and method of payment requested. Owners of facilities licensed by the health department can expect a bill for water testing done in conjunction with annual licensing inspections. The new fees are applicable to everyone including federal and local government owned facilities, schools, churches, nursing homes, medical facilities, Indian reservations, and the local health department.

Individuals may still obtain sample bottles at their local health department branch offices to conduct routine bacteriological and partial chemical analysis of their well water. The cost for this service is $7.00 for a bacteriological sample analysis and $8.00 for a partial chemical analysis. This fee will be invoiced by the State of Michigan when the test is completed.

Anyone with questions about water sampling, or how to interpret the results, may call the Environmental Health Division at the following District Health Department No. 3 locations: Petoskey (616) 347-6014; Charlevoix (616) 547-6523; Bellaire (616) 533-8670; and Gaylord (517) 732-1794.

For the newly unemployed CPAs give advice

Gone are the days when a loyal employee could count on a longtime career with one employer. If you have been the unlucky recipient of a pink slip, keep in mind that unemployment need not lead to financial disaster. A positive outlook and wise financial decisions can minimize the damage, says the Michigan Association of CPAs. Unemployment insurance benefits are for everyone.

As a rule, if you have lost your job through no fault of your own and are actively seeking another job, you are entitled to unemployment benefits. Since each state has different eligibility requirements, you will need to check with your local unemployment office to see if you qualify. Make the most of your severance pay.

If you receive a severance package, you may have to choose between taking the funds in one lump sum or stretching them out over several weeks or months. CPAs generally recommend that you opt for the lump sum so that you can invest the money and start earning interest right away. What's more, if your former employer's financial stability is questionable, taking a lump sum gives you one less thing to worry about. Protect your 401(k) and pension funds.

When you leave a job, you may receive a sizable sum from your tax-deferred 401(k) retirement plan or pension plan. Because this money is earmarked for retirement, an early withdrawal could trigger trouble. To avoid hefty taxes and penalties, it's best to roll over the proceeds of your 401(k) or other pension plans into an Individual Retirement Account (IRA.) Any money you don't roll over is taxed as ordinary income. If you are under age 59½, you may be hit with a 10 percent penalty as well.

If you think that you may be forced to use some of your retirement savings to meet living expenses, invest your funds in a liquid account. This way, your money will not be tied up in a longterm investment and taxes and penalties will be due only on the amount you actually withdraw. Staying insured.

Employers with 20 people or more are required to offer medical insurance to departing employees. Regardless of whether you are fired or leave a company voluntarily, you and your dependents can continue to receive health coverage for up to 18 months, providing you pay for it yourself. If your spouse works, it may be cheaper for you to get family coverage under your spouse's plan. But find out if your spouse's coverage will last for the duration of your unemployed period.

If you have a family to protect and most of your life insurance came from an employer's policy, you should also consider picking up life insurance coverage. Term insurance is generally the least costly way to go. Manage your debt carefully.

If you can't meet your monthly payments, talk to your creditors. Most are willing to work with responsible borrowers. Explain your situation and offer to send smaller payments. If paying your mortgage is a problem, you may need to make formal arrangements with your mortgage lender to delay monthly payments. Some lenders may agree to rewrite your loan to lower your monthly payments; others may even offer a forbearance agreement that allows you to pay nothing or interest only for a few months.

Reg Sharkey's Northern Journal

Thanks to weather turkeys abound

Early indications are that there are lots of wild turkeys available for hunters this coming season, according to Reg Sharkey. The large birds shown here gathered for food last winter at one of the area farms which provide feed for the winged animals.

Hot WeatherTurkeys and Grasshoppers

Although the summer has been dryer and hotter than the hubs of hell, it has been a bonanza for the wild turkey population in this area—and in most of the rest of the state.

A crucial stage in the life of turkey poults is from the time they hatch until the down is replaced by feathers.

Although the hen will be able to brood the poults in the down stage, protecting them from the elements, any that are caught in a cold drenching rain usually end up as casualties. So dry warm weather becomes an asset to producing a good crop of hens and young jacks (juvenile toms.)

Then, too, this hot dry weather has produced a bumper crop of grasshoppers—and turkeys love 'em.

I've seen them go across open fields in an undulating frontal line, and like feathered vacuum cleaners they rid a field of 'hoppers.

From all over I get reports of large brood of poults. On Blanchard Road, not too far from where I live, I saw two hens with combined broods of twenty poults a couple weeks ago. They were almost half grown.

And on a trip downstate I saw at least 25 poults staging sparring matches in the middle of a rural road east of Big Rapids. Like adolescent youngsters they paid no heed to my approaching vehicle.

The fall hunting season for turkeys begins October 7th, and runs through November the 4th in designated areas by lottery.

I've put in for area which surrounds my domain and hopefully I'll be successful after being unlucky in getting a spring hunting permit for three years.

Of course I'd rather hunt turkeys in the spring when only toms are legal; when the fun part of bagging a tom depends on your skill in calling into shotgun range a wily, strutting, looking-for-a-hen feathered Romeo.

The fall hunt will be for either sex. About the only way to bag a turkey is through waylaying them as they move from roost to feeding grounds in the morning, and from feeding to roosting areas in the later part of the afternoon. Legal hours are between local sunrise and sunset.

As a rule, if you get a fall hunting permit, you'll probably end up with a juvenile as the old gobblers don't mix with the adolescent youngsters. But come the spring breeding season it's a different ball of wax.

So far I don't know if I've been successful in the turkey lottery, but if I am I'd be happy bagging a young, tender juicy spring poult. It would look good on this Thanksgiving festive board.

Oh yes, just the other day Ray Hartker of Camp Petosego called to tell me he saw a brood of young poults only the size of teacups. Kinda looks, I'd say, like anyone getting one of those late comers would have a mighty nice fryer.

At times Old Dame Nature kinda deals from the bottom of the deck.

Addendum: Rose Elzinga, of Charlevoix, called me a few days ago and wondered about a mamma porky and her bristly offspring ambulating around her yard conversing in that almost human like manner. Said they were spending a lot of time under her automobile. Told her she should have shagged the salt lovin' critters away in a hurry. Porkies love salt, and break lines, and even tires that have collected road salt are vitals for the chisel-toothed buggers.

Employment consortium gets grant to train dislocated workers

Northwest Michigan Employment & Training Consortium, serving Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee and Wexford counties, will receive a special $91,076 grant to train dislocated workers.

State Labor Director Lowell Perry said the money is part of a $4 million discretionary grant awarded to Michigan by U.S. Secretary of Labor Lynn Martin. He said the State Labor Department aggressively sought this grant as part of its efforts to return more federal dollars to Michigan.

Of the $4 million in federal funding, 60 percent will be distributed to the state's 27 Service Delivery Areas (SDA). The SDA's are local employment and training programs that delivery job training programs under the federal Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

Perry said that special thanks must go to Governor John Engler, the Michigan Congressional Delegation and Michigan Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) who helped fashion

Michigan's request for the money. Ford is one of the original authors of the JTPA law. The State Labor Director said this grant is especially important because last year Michigan received no additional discretionary monies to train workers.

The new 18-member Michigan Job Training Coordinating Council (MJTCC) also assisted in obtaining this special grant through MJTCC Chair Vonnie Strother.

Each year Michigan receives some $160 million in JTPA funds to train workers. Last year more than 100,000 unemployed Michigan workers were trained for new jobs by local SDA's.

"The grant award represents Michigan's on-going commitment to allow local communities to determine the best approaches to training unemployed workers," Governor Engler said.

He said the Labor Department's number one responsibility is to train workers for the jobs of the future.

"This special award will allow us to train an additional 2,200 workers statewide," State Labor Director Perry said.

Approximately $1.6 million of the award will be used for state response to major plant closings and to help specific communities and geographic regions deal with a high number of layoffs.

Charlevoix Sec. of State to move

The Charlevoix Secretary of State Branch office located at 101 W. Hurlbut will be closed on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 17 and 18, 1991 to move to new quarters.

The branch office will close at the end of business on Monday, September 16th and re-open in its new home at 05651 North M-66 at 9 a.m. on Thursday, September 19th. The new office is conveniently located on the corner of M-66 and Loeb Road. A more spacious facility will be provided to the public as well as for the staff in the office.

Citizens who must do business with the Secretary of State during the time this branch office is closed are urged to go to one of these local Secretary of State branch offices: Bellaire, 616-533-8831. Petoskey, 616-347-9681. Gaylord, 517-732-1413.

Task force to hold hearing on tourism

A legislative task force examining Michigan's tourism industry will conduct a Mackinac Island public hearing on Sept. 5, according to the lawmaker who chairs the panel.

State Rep. Beverly A. Bodem, R-Alpena, said the House Republican Task Force on Tourism will hear public testimony beginning at 2 p.m. in the Brighton Pavilion of the Grand Hotel. Bodem will be joined by Rep. Frank M. Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, who heads the House Republican Policy Committee.

The group is focusing on the quality and profitability of state tourism, Bodem said. The total impact of Michigan's travel industry in 1990 was $16.5 billion, matching the record level of the previous year.

Anyone needing additional information regarding the task force hearing should contact Bodem's Lansing office at (517) 373-0833.

Former Cityite gets national recognition

Lynn (Grauel) Smith, daughter of the William Grauels of East Jordan, a resident of Holland, MI received nation-wide recognition as a stock broker in the September issue of "Registered Representtative," the leading retail stock brokers trade magazine.

Feature writer Jas C. Naleid in the article, "The Class of '80," cites Lynn as an outstanding example of a new trend in the nation's marketing profile.

Theme of Naleid's story is that three quarters of the country's retail stock brokers have "signed-on" since 1980. Naleid traces case histories pointing out that today's brokers, mostly men, have landed on the trading decks after a variety of educational and occupational experiences before settling down to their life work as financial counselors and securities tradesmen.

Lynn, wife of Timothy V. Smith, M.C., a Boyne City native, started her stock brokerage career on the advice of her father-in-law, following an honors graduation in finance at Grand Valley College and while her husband was completing his residency at St. Mary's Hospital, Grand Rapids.

The article cites her career as unusual since Lynn went directly into stock brokerage while the ink was still wet on her finance degree.

George Stocker, broker for Paine-Weber, Grand Rapids, also a native of Boyne City, noted her job application, and invited her to take a competitive exam. Instead of realizing her ambition to become a CPA, she joined the firm's training program.

When her husband joined a medical professional group in Holland, Lynn was signed on by the Robert Baird & Company, a regional firm headquartered in Milwaukee.

In addition to her stint of tending a large clientele of investors, Lynn is cited by Naleid as one of the super achievers of the "Class of '80," tending the care of the Smith's 2 sons and their residence in the Scenic Shores section of the "Dutch City."

Conservancy program looking for volunteers to help

Do you have a love for the beautiful northern Michigan environment? Are you willing to share that love with local school children? The Little Traverse Conservancy could use your help with our highly successful Environmental Education School Program. The Little Traverse Conservancy Fall School Program begins on September 16 and runs through October 18. During this past spring, more than 1300 children from Charlevoix and Emmet

Schools were able to attend the Environmental Education program offered at Thorne Swift Nature Preserve located north of Harbor Springs and at North Point Nature Preserve near Charlevoix. Volunteer Naturalists are needed for the fall program to help students gain a better understanding of the world around them. No previous experience is necessary, only a willingness to share a love and interest in the environment. The orientation training for volunteer naturalists will be held on Tuesday, September 10 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Thorne Swift Nature Preserve. The orientation days are lots of fun in addition to being informative. After a short overview of the education program, volunteers will learn techniques, facts, and useful tips on helping to guide groups of children through the outdoor learning activities. Please call the Little Traverse Conservancy at 347-0991 for more information and to sign up.

What's Happening

FISH & CHIPS
Come to a good old fashion fish and chips dinner in honor of Hulda Cross. There will be whitefish, carrot salad, roll, cold slaw, and lemon pie just like Hulda made. It will be from 5:00 to 7:30 on Friday, Sept. 13th at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church, 104 State Street, Charlevoix.

BENEFIT ART AUCTION
Over 200 works of famous artists will be up for bid at the Zonta Club of Charlevoix Annual Art Auction on Sunday, September 8, at 2:00 p.m., with a preview of the art scheduled at 1:00 p.m. The auction will be held at the Pointes North Inn of Charlevoix. The works of artists such as Rockwell, Picasso, and Matisse will range in price from $5.00 to $2500. Proceeds will go to the Charlevoix Area Hospital Obstetrics Ward. Tickets are available in Charlevoix at the Chamber of Commerce, Central Drugs, and Barb's Hallmark. An Hors d'oeuvres reception catered by Staffords and a chance on a painting as a door prize is included in the ticket price.

DAVIS' REP
Congressman Davis' District Representative Bill Huber will be visiting your area in the near future. Anyone wishing to meet with Mr. Huber is invited to do so without an appointment. Mr. Huber will be available to discuss any problem you may be having with state or federal government. He will be in Charlevoix County on: Friday, Sept. 13 at the Boyne City Hall Auditorium from 11:30 - 1:00.

GIVE THE GIFT OF LIFE
Ellsworth Community Blood Drive, Tuesday, September 10, 1991 from 2:30 PM to 7:30 PM at the Township Hall in Ellsworth. Your donation could mean life or death to someone!! Sponsored by the Ellsworth Lioness Club.
