Police officer honored

Boyne City Police Officer Craig Remsberg was honored Tuesday at the noon meeting for his work in investigating three criminal sexual conduct cases within the past year that ended up with convictions. Remsberg was given a plaque and letters of commendation from the prosecutors office and the Department of Social Services for his outstanding work. # Boyne bans open burning within city

It's official. You can't burn leaves, grass or brush starting yesterday when the Boyne City Commissioners approved the second reading of a new amendment to the city's ordinances at the Tuesday noon meeting.

The new ordinance effectively bans the burning of leaves for city residents except under certain conditions and approvals from the Boyne City Police Department.

The ban took effect immediately upon the passage of the reading by the city commissioners due to it being considered for the health and welfare of the community.

The city has been considering the ban on leaf burning for several years after some city commissioners received complaints from residents with respiratory problems. After discussing the issue they finally decided to have the city attorney work out the wording of the ordinance which was first read at the Tuesday evening meeting last month.

The ban on burning does not include bonfires or campfires, the burning of wood or charcoal used in the preparation of foods while in a safe container, or burning with a permit.

Permits will be issued, according to the ordinance providing the outdoor burning will not cause any general safety hazard, will not endanger any overhead obstructions, is not in such proximity to structures and vegetation it could cause a fire, is not close to lot lines or activities that would endanger neighbors, would not cause smoke to adversly affect neighbors or the public, or would emit no objectionable emission into the air.

If permitted, the fire would have to be attended to by those responsible for the fire and the state Department of Natural Resources fire conditions would allow the burning. The remains of the fire after burning and extinguishing will not cause damage to the property, further pollution or safety hazards.

The fire or police chief and their authorized representatives now have the authority to extinguish open burning and enter public or private property to do so if deemed necessary.

Penalties for open burning will include fines up to $100 or imprisonment of up to 90 days or both. Those found guilty of open burning will also have to reimburse the city any costs that may occur by the city to extinguish the blaze.

While the new ban took effect immediately, Boyne City Police Chief Randy Howard said he Cider, hot or cold, and donuts will be served for a small donation. This event will be held at the Art Center in East Jordan located at 301 Main Street. Proceeds will be utilized to support art programs in northern Antrim and Charlevoix counties.

appointed in Bay Twp.

Bay Township has a new attorney after the Township Board released the former attorney for "being too nice."

Appointed last Thursday was David Fershee of Petoskey who will replace Seberon "Boo" Litzenberger.

Fershee is a former District Court Judge who was among the four attorneys the board considered hiring. They acted on hiring Fershee at a special meeting last Thursday.

Of the four considered, the board determined Fershee was the best but according to Trustee James Chellis, any of the four could have done the job.

According to Fershee, he knows of some of the problems within the township and said he hoped he could work out solutions to them. He said he doesn't shy away from a challenge, Fershee has had years of experience in law and he is a trained mediator. Those were the factors which caused him to be named, according to Pat Johnson, Township Clerk.

He is currently associated with the firm of Stedman, Fershee and Fershee and will be earning $125 per hour, the same as the previous attorney. He will be working with Litzenberger on some pending cases during a transition period.

Good idea

Congratulations should be given to the Charlevoix County Commissioners who are finally getting out into the communities they serve. We are appreciative that the commissioners have taken their show "on the road" to other areas of the county, not just the county seat, to hold their meetings.

We would like to see the commissioners adopt a resolution that would have them meeting several times each year in the communities of East Jordan, Boyne City as well as some of the township halls like Hudson and Chandler.

We see this as a move in the right direction as many citizens of the area can't, or won't drive to Charlevoix to see local county government in action.

While it may become a little more difficult for the county workers to provide the support items needed for some of the meetings, it should almost be mandated by the people that their commissioners meet outside of the county seat.

Of the almost two meetings a month the commissioners have, we would like to see them hold at least one of those meetings outside of the county offices.

The idea of sharing the locations for meetings should bring county government out to the people who are most affected, our residents.

The first meeting was to be held Wednesday evening in Boyne City. We would also like to see meetings scheduled for East Jordan at the Civic Center, and Boyne Falls, at Boyne Mountain. They should also try to get out to townships as well.

It's important to the community to see the county representatives in action, and it is important that their actions carry down to the citizens as well.

Bringing government out to the people is a trend that should be continued. And we appreciate the fact that Boyne City is the first place they will hold a meeting outside of the county offices.

almost everything. Those are just a few of the many new things that have occurred in our lifetimes, and the promise is that there are probably just as many other new items to come in the next few years. Now those who are seniors have also seen such things as the ability to fly in airplanes, the beginnings of radio, movies, and the conversion of small businesses into large congiomerates.

So, just think of all of the many things that have been developed in just a few short years. Like computers. It was just a few years ago that the idea of a machine that would do mathematical functions took up a room the size of the Boyne City gym. Now, a machine that can do all that and more, can set on a desk in an office. Sometimes you just have to stop and think of all the things that have occurred. It only takes a moment to realize that these are the best of times, especially when you can compare them with just a long lifetime when people had to work harder, using more manual labor to accomplish tasks, and wash the clothes by hand as there were no machines capable of doing the job. Perhaps the greatest changes have come in the way we can now do things, like washing the clothes. Now, we just throw them into a machine, add a little detergent, and go about doing other business while we let the machine perform the task of washing the clothing.

I can remember coming to this area in the fifties to stay at a cabin on Lake Michigan that still did not have electricity. I am sure it does today, along with many other devices created in the last fifty, sixty, seventy years.

So when you take a moment to reflect on all of the things that have been created, you have to marvel at the amount of items produced that have changed our way of thinking, doing, and reacting.

Nare-withal WITH GAIL WARE

Speaking Of Hair One has to admire the spunky lass for carrying it off, managing a smile, albeit a small one; it could be a smirk, too. Whatever, she gets points for showing up with what resembles a pile of pale sausages perched atop her pate. Likely she considers herself lucky anyway, assigned to this, which doesn't reduce her vision - more than sullen girl next to her can say. Such hairdos, and from the staid British.

These models appear with 28 others from six nations in Good Housekeeping magazine's fourpage spread, "The World's Best Hairstyles". Well, none of them are boring, anyway.

The blurb beneath the picture of girl wearing sausages reads: "Fake curls all over - an avant-garde look!" Even dressed up with French, they can't pass as pretend curls, especially with blond real hair curls bubbling at her neck.

As for her dispirited neighbor, her blond hair has been shorn in an "asymmetric cut". One side's front locks are combed forward - exit the vision of one beautiful blue eye.

Canada exhibits the most sensible styles with several pageboys and a short, curly "do". The nation's one awkward offering, crown-centered ponytail drooping down beside one eye, doesn't impede vision, at least. The model doesn't appear to appreciate the arrangement, however.

Italy presents some strange stuff, but so blatantly bizarre that it's fun. One short "do" is sweetly demur but fragile. A quick move and likely it slides into the eyes.

Mexico's hairdos favor tangles 2 to 1. "Scrunching" gel into hair firms them up. Result is termed "saucy curls."

Germany offers bounciness in all styles. For natural curly-haired misses, a just-below-the-ears length cut gets shined up with gel worked in. For shoulder-length hair, twist it, make pin curls in the bottom, fluff up when dry.

ward. It looks dicey from the vision standpoint, but perky nonetheless. For long hair, pull loosely back into bun and disengage some strands for stringy ringlets kept curly with hair spray. Or arrange gel-held loose curls atop the head, pull strands for wispy hangers. Clearly tidy hair won't do here. A guaranteed vision messerupper would be this "free-flowing crop for fine hair with layered top, longer front." Woman wearing this 'do" looks mighty annoyed by it.

Ah, France, home of sophisticated fashion. A couple of styles show the hair drawn upward, one with it tucked into a roll, pinned at about the flat spot on the head, adorned with velvet jewelcentered bow. "So Chicl" says the text.

Then there's the hair pulled up to the side of the top of the head, chiffon scarves braided in, knotted at the end. Woman wearing this style has head tilted away from the scarf knots, likely to emphasize them, which there's scarcely a need for since they cover near all of one side of her head.

Then here's a pageboy, half hides an eye; another, same style, is so skull-tight the lady looks sick, and sad also.

Very young Frenchwoman sports serious disarray on her head. Her picture's caption suggest such is intended: "For the busy woman, a soft 'unkept' perm is ideal."

Hoot Rudolph puts some final adjustments on the sign located in front of the newest restaurant in the area as his wife Anne and restaurant manager Tim Basler look on with their approvals.

'Hoots' newest restaurant in Boyne area

Taking over a bar with a slightly "checkered" past is one thing, but to remember it by putting the checkers on the floor is another as "Hoot" Rudolph and his wife Anne opened the doors for the new "Hoots" Restaurant located just outside of Boyne City. The restaurant is located on Old State Road and has been known in the past as the Homestead, Ryan's Public House, Rick's Roadhouse and other names over the years the building has served customers.

Hoot purchased the closed operating last spring and has spent the last few months remodeling and refurbishing the building, making major changes in the operating of the former bar that served sandwiches.

With a totally new and organized kitchen the operation opened recently as a restaurant first, with cocktails and other amenities second, which changes it from previous owners ideas.

The Rudolphs have been in the restaurant business for many years and are presently the owners of the Douglas Lake Steakhouse in Pellston, a seasonal restaurant long known for it's excellent foods.

Hoot's reasons for purchasing the former roadhouse was that he wanted to have a year around business that would cater to the local residents and to tourists who ski and snowmobile as well as the people who visit the area during the summers.

He has been spending the winters down in Florida at Marco Island where he was a head chef. He said he felt the opportunities in Boyne are better than going to Florida each year.

Hoot says he was almost born in the restaurant business as he has owned the Douglas Lake Steakhouse for the past three years, worked at the location for another three years before buying it, and has worked on Mackinac Island as the head chef of the Village Inn for many years before that.

In changing the roadhouse into a restaurant, he opened up the seating to allow room for about 75 people, redecorated the entire interior and painted the exterior. He had to rebuild the bar area so it could seat about 12 people.

Hoot says the emphasis will be on casual dining and will feature "Blue Plate" specials each day for the local residents who may want more than just a typical hamburger.

The Rudolphs are being helped with Tim Basler as the manager of the restaurant. He has spent 20 years in the food service industry and has worked for the Douglas Lake Steakhouse before being named as the manager for Hoot's.

The Petoskey resident says he has moved to Boyne for the "warmer" climate, noting that most people like to head south. Basler also worked at the Bay View County Club in Petoskey for five years before joining the Rudolphs at the Douglas Lake Steakhouse.

So if you want to try the newest restaurant in the area, residents are invited to stop in at the location on Old State Road and try some of the specials priced as low as $5.00.

The menu also features other items such as regional specialities, Mexican styled foods and, of course, good drinks.

East Jordan Community will involve prepping the porcelain, painting, and assembly. Cost is

MICROWAVES

Cooking

WITH BEA SMITH

It's a beautiful September morning, there is a quiet, bluish haze over our town that will soon disappear with the morning sun, and I am doing some reminising with a second cup of coffee. Today, I am thinking of my father; he was born one-hundred and fifteen years ago today. He was the ninth child in a family of eleven children, and was raised on a homestead in Lapeer County, Michigan. What a different world he lived in.

I think of all the things that my father learned in his seventy-five years; from that farm in Lapeer County where he drove his father's oxen, later working on the railroads and back to his farm in his late years. We cannot turn back the pages of time and it is a good thing. I do not remember him as a very young man; he was close to forty when I was born, so he was ageless and he still is.

Papa bought his first car in 1917 and always looked into the future for new improvements on farm machinery, radios, and other applicances for the house. I am sure that my microwave would be magic to him as it was for me when I bought mine about 10 years ago. Sometimes during our hot summer days, I've asked myself. "How did I ever get along without my microwave?" I have never counted the times that I have used it daily.

First, it might be to warm up a cup of coffee, and it never tastes warmed-up. The microwave is the perfect answer to the question, What will I have for dinner when everything is in the freezer?" It is great for quick thawing and to reheat foods. I have used it quite often lately to partially thaw fruit from the freezer. I find that berries, peaches and apple sauce tastes just great when partially thawed.

I would still want my microwave if all I used it for was to bake a potato for my dinner. It's the perfect answer when we are cooking for one or two. Who wants to heat a big oven for one potato or to bake an apple for a quick dessert? The microwave is that second oven whey you have a roast or a casserole in the oven and want to cook vegetables, to heat up some rolls or an appetizer without disturbing anything in the regular oven. Our butternut, buttercup and acorn squashes are at their best now, a perfect vegetable for tasty fall dinners. Here is one easy way to fix,

SQUASH

Split squash, remove seeds and pulp and place cut side down on a microwave safe pan. Bake on high until fork-tender. The time varies according to the size of your squash. When cool enough to handle scoop out squash; put in a microwave serving dish, fluff with a fork and season with butter, salt and pepper. Then the last minute zap it again in the microwave to serve piping hot.

Appetizers are so very easy with the microwave; here are a couple for your special guests. SPICY SHRIMP

- 1/2 C. chili 1/2 C. sweet pickle relish
- <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> C. beer
- <sup>1</sup>/4 t. curry powder

1/2 lb. medium shrimp, shelled and cleaned

Combine all ingredients except for shrimp in a 1-quart glass casserole. Set microwave oven at High for 5 minutes, and then power at low and defrost for 16 minutes. Stir occasionally during cooking. The sauce should be hot and thickened. Stir in shrimp, cover, and microwave at high  $2^{1/2}$  to  $3^{1/2}$ minutes, or until shrimp are curled, stirring once. Let stand, covered 2 minutes. To serve skewer with picks or pass with cocktail picks or toothpicks.

SWEET AND SOUR

TUNA CRACKERS 1/2 7 oz. can tuna, well drained

4 T. cream cheese, softened 3 T. crushed pineapple, well drained

1 T. white vinegar

1/8 t. curry powder.

Flake tuna and combine with all remaining ingredients, except crackers in a 1 quart mixing bowl. Blend thoroughly. Spread mixture on 24 crackers or melba toast rounds. Arrange 12 pieces in a circle on a paper plate. Microwave, uncovered at lower high for  $2^{1/2}$  to 4 minutes, or until crackers are bubbling. Repeat procedure with remaining crackers.

Don't forget to pick up some of that microwave popcorn while at the store, for snacks these early fall evenings.

Now, one more hint; if you are a pie maker like me you love pie. I've been under the impression that I should make a pie only when I had some helpers to eat it. Recently I have discovered that I can keep fruit pies in the refrigerator then zap them one piece at a time for less than a minute on low power and I have pie that tastes like it was freshly made.

Farmers in 37 counties qualify for disaster loan assistance

Bill Schuette, Director, Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) today reminded eligible Michigan farmers of disaster loan assistance recently made available by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). The aid came in response to a request by Governor John Engler for assistance to Michigan counties that experienced weather-related crop damage this spring. USDA Secretary Edward Madigan designated 17 counties disaster areas and a total of 37 counties as qualifying for loan assistance.

Schuette said the damaging weather occurred between April 1 and June 11 and included frost and freezing temperatures, excessive rain, high temperatures and humidity. He said the weather caused over $75 million in agricultural losses to fruit and vegetable crops. 'The Secretary's declaration makes it possible for farmer's who have suffered losses to apply for emergency loans from the Farmer's Home Administration," said Schuette. "This will allow them to recoup their losses and prepare for next year's growing season." In his declaration, Secretary Madigan said, "We have determined that 17 counties sustained sufficient fruit and vegetable production losses to warrant a Secretarial disaster designation." The counties are: Allegan, Antrim, Benzie, Berrien, Cass, Grand Traverse, Ionia, Iosco, Kent, Leelanau, Manistee, Mason, Monroe, Muskegon, Newaygo, Oceana, and Ottawa. Farmers in these areas may qualify for emergency loan assistance.

In addition, 20 other counties were named contiguous counties where eligible family farmers who grow fruit and vegetables may also qualify for loans. Those counties are: Alcona, Arenac, Barry, Charlevoix, Clinton, Eaton, Kalamazoo, Kalkaska, Lake, Lenawee, Mecosta, Montcalm, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego, St. Joseph, Van Buren, Washtenaw, Wayne, and Wexford.

Boyne plays even, but loses at end

If Boyne City could play defensive football for only one half of the game, then perhaps the 0-3 record of the team would be 3-0. The defense is one of the highlights so far this year as the players are doing a great job for at least one half of the games they have played.

But last Friday, the team found out, unfortunately, there are four quarters to a football game and the second half is where they found out how tiring a game can be when they are always trying to defend against their opponent's onslaught.

Boyne played well defensively during the first half of the game against Mancelona, holding them off on a goal line stand while keeping the game to a 0-0 standoff at the end of the first half.

Coach Pat Klooster told the players at the break that the first team to score in the second half was probably the team that would win the game. He prediction came true as the Ramblers went down in defeat 20-6.

The Ironmen took the scoring honors first by a 12 play scoring drive that ended with an Ironman two yard plunge to set up the first score. They hit again in the fourth quarter with two additional TDs and made the extra points.

The only highlight of the game for the Ramblers was the play of Boyne Falls senior Mark Reynolds who ran a pass play to the Ironmen 24 before fumbling it away, and the running 54 yards for the only Bovne Touchdown to close out the game in the last few seconds.

 $d(y_i,y_j) \in \mathbb{R}^{n+1} \times \mathbb{R$

In between, the Ramblers couldn't put together any kind of drive up the middle or outside. And the passing attack wasn't having a great night either as Bob McCullough hit only 2 of thirteen passes, both in the first half and both to Reynolds.

Klooster said everything the team tried to move the ball was met by the Ironmen. He added the team has to do a better job of blocking for the runners.

The team was playing without fullback Kevin Smith who was out with a slight knee injury. Klooster made adjustments to fill in the holes during the practice session early in the week, but the team appeared to miss Smith as he is the team's rusher and team leader.

Reynolds carried the ball four times for 67 yards and had two catches for 28 yards. Roy Angel carried the ball 14 times for 49 yards. Offensively, the team only had 15 plays in the second half as the Ironmen bottled up the offen-

This Friday, Boyne will play Harbor Springs at Harbor. That team had to cancel their game with Charlevoix when a key player was injured the day before the game and they had no backup trained for the quarterback position.

Sometimes in a game, you have to use anything possible to make a tackle as Boyne City's Steve Seeyle made this tackle against a Mancelona runner last Friday evening. While Boyne played even the first half, the defensive effort fell apart in the second half and allowed the Ironmen to

Noirot's 3 TDs not enough for Devils

BY JENNI BARNETT

Although Mike Noirot scored the first touchdown and went on to score two others, it wasn't enough for the East Jordan Red Devils as they dropped last Friday's game with Elk Rapids 20-33. Noirot scored his first TD the first play of the game when he scampered 51 yards from scrimmage to start the scoring. After that is was just common football with the Devils falling behind 13 to third quarter.

But the Devils started to come back when Noirot ran the ball in from the fourteen yard line to make the game a little closer 12 to 19. The Elks then marched down the field after the kickoff and scored again to round out the scoring in the third quarter.

They ran another drive in to make it 33-12 before Noirot scored again with three seconds left when

When Coach Hubbard was asked about the team, she said, "You will see a definite improvement as the season progresses. The beginning of the season was a little shakey, but things are going to start to pick up." Hubbard believes the strong points of the team are their willingness to get along and their attitude. She added, "The team gets along great and that makes things a lot easier."

The girls also play a strong defensive game according to Hubbard. Some weak points of the team is their ball handling and shooting. But, she added all these points are being worked on and should improve throughout the season.

Noirot carried the ball nine times and ended up with 148 yards rushing for the Devils. The team totaled 230 yards on the offensive action.

Defensively, the team was a little weaker, not being able to hold Rob Smith, the Elks runner, from making the needed yards when they had to for first downs and scores. Taking the lead in tackles was Tom Reid with 15 while Noirot had 14 and Enos Bacon and Poole had 10 each.

The game drew praise from Coach Bob Rebec who said the team had five players on the injured list but the replacements did a great job with three players taking over spots on the offense

Annual prediction time

Winter according to Menhitis

It's that time of the year again when weather prognosticators, and soothsayers, match wits with meteorologists whose forecasts are based on information from high flying satellites and banks of sophisticated instruments.

The question? What will the coming winter be like?

With all that hoopla laid on the line, I'll go out on the limb once more and give my prediction of what the coming winter will be like.

As in other years my forecasts have been based on the wooly bear that happens to be the larva of the Isabella moth, or the food-hoarding actions of our chipmunks, but mostly by the black and white markings of our skunks.

These stinking, long-furred, night wandering mustelidaes seem to have an affinity for our domain, probably because my wife feeds them. So it is that I have a ringside seat to figure out which one of the four midnight mouchers is the one that is the "forecaster."

I've settled on the one that seems to dominate the quartet of pushing, grunting critters, trying to get into the basement through the open window. He's as black as midnight except for a white spot on the forehead, and a whitetipped tail. And if I understand his verbal communications correctly along with his markings I'd say our coming winter will be like this: Small white spot on the head means a short fall season. The long expanses of black to the end of the white-tipped tail can only mean a long, cold, big snow winter with a short spring.

Of course you might say or ask?

How about the other three smelly Mustelidae?

What about their black and white variations? How do you read them?

Well using common sense I'd say they will migrate southward, each one stopping in an area that coincides with his overcoat; with the final heavily white-haired one ending up somewhere in the Lansing area, taking advantage of the hot air dispelled by politicians that helps spring come early.

Addendum: Edgar Lotspeich, my Walloon Lake correspondent says he observed a cormorant swallowing a large fish.

Must have been a migrator as Walloon Lake doesn't have the proper nesting habitat for these voracious consumers of fish.

Which skunk do you pick when you make a winter prediction be the amount of white on a skunk. Reg took the near skunk for his prediction, and said the other will be making a trip slightly south of the area this fall.

Finding an oppossum in this area is still a rarity, but Reg found this one coming in for nightly feeding his wife puts out for the animals. He was joined by the skunks and although the two usually don't get along, Sharkey said the skunks did not spew their odoriferous fluids but were more concerned in getting their share of food.

McCullough honored in scholarship program

The principal, John McGeorge of Boyne City, announced today that Bob McCullough has been named Commended Student in the National Merit Scholarship Program. A Letter of Commendation from National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). which conducts the program, will be presented by the school to this outstanding senior. About 35,000 Commended

Students throughout the nation are being honored for their outstanding performance on the 1990 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which was the route of entry to the 1992 Merit Program. Commended Students have shown exceptional academic promise by placing among the top five percent of more than one million program entrants, but their qualifying test scores are slightly below the level required to continue in the 1992 competition for Merit Scholarships.

As officer of NMSC stated, "The high performance of the young people honored as Commended Students in the Merit Program is indicative of outstanding scholastic ability. We hope that recognition of these students will increase their motivation to make the best use of their talents and to develop skills that our nation will need in the future. Being named a Commended Student in this keen competition is a credit to these young men and women as well as their schools, which play a key role in their development.'
