New disaster zone??

No, it is not some disaster zone, just the construction site on South Park Street in Boyne City where workers are installing a new sewer line down the middle of the road. The work is expected to be completed by this weekend, city officials said with an eye out for the weather which has delayed the two week long replacement project by about a week.

Evangeline twp. sewer project moving along

Evangeline Township Supervisor Doug Shields told Boyne City Commissioners at their Tuesday evening meeting that things are progressing nicely and that they will be setting up a special assessment district for the Glenwood Beach residents to pay for a sanitary sewer line that would be connected to the sewer line the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) plans on installing to serve Young State Park.

Shields said the petitions are in from 26 residents out of the 35 residents along the street, more than the 51 percent needed to force the residents to pay for the im-

He also said the language has been written for the special assessment district for board approval which will come after a public hearing October 21. Residents of the street will be able to express their concerns at the hearing, Shields added.

After the hearing, the Township Board expects to approve the district and will be sending their approval to Boyne City.

Boyne City officials have indicated they will also approve the request which will bring the township residents into the sewer system along with the DNR.

Present plans indicate the proposed sewer extensions will see construction begin in the spring for the DNR route which will come along the Boyne City-Charlevoix roadway to connect with city sewers on the corner of Michigan Avenue and John Street. The Glenwood Beach line will be connected to the DNR line at the corner of Charlevoix and Michigan

Residents of the Glenwood Beach area have indicated they are in approval for the setting up of the district and township officials expect no problems to develop as the need for the sewer line in the area will help clean up pollution problems of drain fields seeping into Lake Charlevoix.

Bovne City's sewer treatment plant, when it was built, took into consideration the expansion into the township to serve those residents. Even with the additional 35 homes on the system, the plant will not be above 60 percent of

At the Tuesday noon meeting, Commission Sandra Stanley asked the rest of the commissioners to support a resolution asking for a delay in some proposed changes in the current wetlands laws the state is considering. She said the proposed changes would eliminate the possibility of having the city provide any input into proposed developments within it's jurisdic-

A member of the legislature wants to make changes which would exempt city township or counties from being able to make their own zoning criteria for the wetlands and have to rely strictly on the DNR. The changes would lessen some of the current rules in effect on the state level which could allow for additional developments to be constructed in wetland areas.

While the city has not indicated it is considering any wetland criteria of it's own, commissioners feel that the matter should be studied through public hearings on the state level.

The commissioners then approved sending a letter to the proper authority asking that the matter be allowed to have further study and opposed any changes that could eliminate local governmental units from providing any input into wetland zoning.

Commissioners then accepted a new Safe Start Vest for the newest police officer to join the force, John McCloud. The vest is provided through a program of the Michigan Association of Police (MAP) and is the first for a Boyne City Officer.

According to Jim Gudenburr, representing the MAP, the vests are given to graduates of a Michigan Law Enforcement Academy, who are employed full time on a police force and has a need for the vest. The approval for giving the Boyne City Police Officer the vest was made in June, but the delivery wasn't until Tuesday.

The vest is made by the Second Chance Company of Central Lake and is worn to help protect police officers in shooting incidents. Gudenburr said the vest will stop up to a 30-06 rifle round and costs about $500. He said that telephone solicitations throughout the state have paid for the vests which have been given to about 300 police of-Commissioners then approved the low bid of C.H. Smith Company for sand that will be used on roads this winter. The low bid was $3.83 per cubic yard. The city is hoping to only purchase 1,500 cubic yards of sand for the winter.

Commissioners then accepted a donation of $19,272 from the Boyne

El to see school options October 28th

Members of the East Jordan Facility Review Committee will be getting their first look at possible solutions to the growing school overcrowding issue when they meet Monday, October 28th.

The members will be seeing what Bob Stowe, representing GBKB Architects/Associates has decided after reviewing all of the input from the Community, staff members, PTO and students that were interviewed over the past few months. Stowe said the firm will have tentative ideas and options for the committee to review at that meeting.

While the growth of students within the district has continued Superintendent Chip Hansen noted that the elementary level has declined in population from last year, down from 612 to 579 students, while the middle school level has increased by 29 students. Overall, the district saw a 21 student increase over last year and is consistent with the projections of Stanfred Consultants which have been providing the service to the district.

Hansen said he is supplying the firm with the new numbers and the firm will be updating their growth projections based on what is happening this year.

The Facility Review Committee was formed last year to help decide the future facility needs of the East Jordan School District. Indications are pointing towards the system having to build an additional school, possibly a middle school, or adding more classrooms to the present schools to accommodate the expected future growth of the community.

News Briefs

Boyne City Public Schools will be holding another staff development session Wednesday, October 16th. The middle school students will be dismissed at 11 a.m. and the elementary and high school students will be dismissed at 11:15 a.m. There will be no afternoon kindergarten classes and the morning kindergartners will come home with the rest of the students.

Boyne City's High School Band is in the process of selling a "Say No To Drugs" calendar this week, going door to door. The $5 calendar profits will be split with $3.00 going for new band uniforms and other band projects. The program is being held in conjunction with the Boyne City Police Department which is donating their share back to the band program. If you want a calendar and are not solicited, call the Boyne City High School at 582-6587.

Charlevoix's Applefest this weekend

Charlevoix's 12th Annual Applefest on October 12 and 13th will provide an excellent opportunity for visitors to see, sample and purchase apples, crafts and pumpkins from area orchards and farmers.

The Applefest, started in 1980, was originated to bring attention to the agricultural community in Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet Counties. Residents and visitors alike often ask what is being grown locally and how to find area orchards and farm markets.

As a result, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce decided that at least once a year they'd bring the harvest to the people. So each year on the 2nd weekend in October, Saturday and Sunday, the Applefest takes place in down-town Charlevoix. It's held outside in East Park overlooking beautiful Round Lake.

The park will be lined with farm market booths selling over 20 different varieties of apples. The ever popular eating apples - red and gold delicious - will be plentiful. Also available will be MacIntosh, Spartan, Cortland and Johnathan, all excellent for pie baking and munching. For perfect stuffed baked apples remember to take home some Red Rome apples and the tart, crunchy Northern Spy is ideally suited for streudel, pie or cobbler. Other fall harvest items available will be pumpkins, squash, tomatoes and peppers, apple but-

Community workshops for family sexuality month

"How To Be An Askable Parent" A workshop which focuses on providing parents with the communication tips necessary to effectively talk with their children about relationships, responsibility, decision-making, self-esteem, goal-setting, family and religious values, sexuality, and other sensitive topics, in order to help children make responsible choices.

This workshop will be held in Boyne City on October 14, 1991 from 7:00 pm until 8:30 pm. Call Boyne City Community Education at (616) 582-6765 to register.

"Family to Family; Heart to Heart" is a workshop for parents and their teenagers (aged 13-19). The workshop is designed to help parents and teens communicate more openly and comfortably about relationships, responsibility, decision-making, self-esteem, goal-setting, family values, sexuality, and other sensitive topics, while learning factual information. This is a chance to learn about each other, and have some fun together!

This workshop will be held in East Jordan on October 17, 1991 from 7:00 pm until 8:30 pm. Call East Jordan Community Education at (616) 536-2250 to register.

"Enhancing Your Child's Self-Esteem" is a workshop that will allow parents to share and learn about the ways in which they influence the development of their child's self-esteem. How children feel about themselves determines to a large degree how they will live their lives. Parents are the primary "Significant others" and role models for their children, and hence have the most profound effect on whether or not a child leans to value him or herself. As parents, we can give our children a sense of personal worth; give them guidance and unconditional love so that they will think well of themselves and respect the rights of others. Among the topics for discussion are: discipline and self-esteem, how self-esteem affects decision-making and goal-setting communication and self-esteem, peer and societal influences, and tips for enhancing your child's self-esteem.

This workshop will be held in Boyne City on October 10, 1991 from 7:00 pm until 8:30 pm. Call Boyne City Community Education at (616) 582-6765 to register.

Win-some Women's Retreat scheduled

The 20th Annual Win-Some Women's Retreat will be held at Boyne Mountain Lodge, Boyne Falls, Friday and Saturday, November 8th and 9th. The featured guest speakers will be Luci Swindoll of Fullerton, California and Peg Rankin, Monmouth Beach, New Jersey.

Luci Swindoll has mastered the elusive ability to celebrate life. She takes each day as a gift from God and lives it with a genuine sense of adventure. Luci has found numerous ways to express her zest for life. She maintains an ambitious speaking schedule, traveling across the United States to motivate and inspire her audience. The author of seven books, she has a unique ability to communicate through the written word. As a business professional, she chose early retirement from a Corporation to become Vice President of Public Relations at Insight for Living, her brother Chuck's international radio ministry

The other featured guest speaker is Peg Rankin, a former English teacher, who now invests her training in dynamic and captivating teaching of the Bible, bringing to her presentations a creative blend of drama, humor, and instruction. She is the author of Yet Will I Trust Him and Glorify God and Enjoy Him Forever. With her husband she has authored Your Marriage, Making It Work Because of her sensitive approach to her audiences, Peg is in demand both nationally and internationally, delivering up to 250 messages each year.

Special music will be provided by the exciting, contemporary female foursome Just Four. Myrna White, Cheryl Fornelli, Marcia Twadell and Joanna Hettings will entertain and ecourage any audience in any setting. Myrna, Cheryl, Marion and Joanna combine versatile and eclectic talents and personalities to create the best of four worlds from the best of four friends. The title of their third album describes the relationship of these ladies well – Singers, 'Sisters', Friends.

This year's theme: "Now here is what I am trying to say; all of you together are the one body of Christ and each one of you is a separate and necessary part of it" I Corinthians 12:25-27, is expanded on through assemblies and seminars where other guest speakers will be sharing. Boyne Valley Garden Club members; Thorneta Rowe, Lois Pollock, Bessie Hamm, Jackie Arman, Skip Cromp, Peg Spencer, Irene Brannon, Geri Burgess. Dorothy Grant, and Marion Harper Davis, left on Wednesday, October 2, to attend the district 5 fall meeting at the Ramada Inn Convention Hall in Ludington. Thursday morning's meeting was given by Mr. William Fink, Superintendent of Isle Royal in Lake Superior. Isle Royal is unique world wide, as a living outdoor laboratory.

After a delicious luncheon, the afternoon meeting began with a noteworthy flower arranger, Dottie Duggan, of Dearborn, giving a program of beautiful flower and design arrangements with a theme of each of the holidays throughout the year.

Before closing the afternoon, there was considerable discussion on the fall 1992 flower show plans scheduled to be held in Traverse City for all of the district 5 garden clubs, which is the northern part of Michigan.

Enroute, several of the Boyne City members stopped in Manistee and took a driving tour of the Victorian homes and churches built in the 1800's. The First Congregational Church of Christ, completed in 1892, and the Holy Episcopal Trinity Church, completed in 1888, both are designated as historical buildings, on the State's Historical Register.

The group also enjoyed a visit of the Ramsdell Theatre which is in the restoration process. Though it was closed for that day, office personnel were kind enough to let them inside. Among many things, they saw a museum, lined with "Then & Now" pictures of homes and downtown buildings and also 3 dimensional sets of plays and the colorful costumes of the late 1800's and the early 1900's, all of which might be of interest to the people of the Boyne City Historical Society.

Many friends and relatives attended the wedding of Leslee McGeorge, daughter of Lester and Caroline McGeorge, of Boyne City, and Jim Taylor, son of Glen and Marcia Taylor, of Charlevoix on Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was held at the Free Methodist Church with the Rev. Lane Eddv officiating. Among those here for this special occasion were Leslee's uncles, E.J. Snyder of Texas, and Leroy Colter of Indiana. A reception and dinner party followed the ceremony at the Hudson Township Hall The newlyweds, who are planning a wedding trip at a later time, will be at home in Petoskey.

Jenny Hardy, a student at Čentral Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, was home for a long weekend with her parents, Woody and Penny Hardy and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy (Sandy) Schmittdiel and children of Rochester were here for the weekend at their Glenwood Beach home.

The Xi Gamma Sorority met at the home of Lila Mueller on Wednesday evening, October 2, with 10 members present. The group sent the evening knitting mittens for the community Christmas tree. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Marie Boynton celebrated a "Happy Birthday" on Sunday, October 6, at Grandvue. Her husband, Francis Boynton, Curtis and Carmelita Nicloy, and other family members and friends helped in the celebration over the weekend with visits, cards and gifts. Marie also enjoyed a birthday cake! A belated Happy Birthday, Marie!

Gary and Lynn Osterbeck spent a long weekend in Searchmont, north of Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, over the weekend to enjoy the fall colors.

Mark Archambault, a Junior at Grand Valley State in Grand Rapids, was home for a long weekend with his parents, Paul and Pauline Archambault.

Former residents, Stary and Edna Packard of Belding were here over the weekend visiting his sister, the Wilber McDonalds in East Jordan and other friends in the area.

Several from Boyne City are now residents in the Tender Care Nursing Home Facility in Gaylord. They are Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, and their daughter, Jack Koepke, and Henry Dougherty. Judge and Mrs. Harvey Var-

Judge and Mrs. Harvey Varnum arrived home this past week from a 2 week Circle Tour around Lake Superior. On Saturday, the Varnums were called to Detroit by the death of his brother Bud Varnum. The Varnums were accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Elsie Varnum, his sister, Jan Arasim, and their daughter, Penny and husband Woody Hardy for this family time of sorrow.

There was a good turnout on Sunday at the Free Methodist Church for their annual "Homecoming Sunday" event. In the morning, guests soloist was Marilyn Campbell, assisted by Sylvia Garbrielsen, both of Boyne City. All enjoyed sharing in the fellowship of the noon potluck. The evening vesper service of beautiful songs and music was presented by Larry and Jackie Boog of Charlevoix.

Opinions

Let them do their job

We find the current bruhaha concerning the East Jordan Library Board and the actions it has taken to be slightly amusing.

Amusing because of the people who are looking for problems and trying to protect their own interests and friends. It reminds us of several children telling everybody that they did not spill the milk, but someone else did.

The struggle to maintain the current levels of service is tough on everybody, even those being taxed to pay for those services.

We happen to think the current board has tried valiantly to maintain and keep the library open for residents to use. Sure, we have heard about the assistants being rude to customers, and to special "deals" made to residents, but those were in the past and we should start looking to the future.

Libraries fall into the same category as the arts when it comes to funding by governing bodies. The district has appointed members to oversee all of the operation and they should be allowed to do what they think is best.

Fond memories brought back

Your Remembrance picture, in your Oct. 2, 1991 paper brought back memories when I attended the 4th grade in the building where the present library is. It was a frame building, the same as the one I attended across from the present Methodist Church, where the Middle School now is.

There were 4 grades in your picture of Oct. 2.

I remember it well because of our teacher, a Miss Chase, who used the ruler unmercifully on the boy's hands. If she caught us chewing gum, we stood in front of the room with our gum on our

Across Park St. from the old building, where Hair Unlimited now stands, was Tammy's Candy Kitchen. Here is where we spent our pennies on taffy or lady gum, a pencil size parafin gum, vanilla flavor, wrapped in cellophane. It sold for one penny. If you had three pennies you could enhance a finger with a silver ring with a setting of a bright stone.

As for the churches, they've housed number denominations.

The City Fire Barn & City Offices replaced the one across from the station, after a fire destroyed the one under the Big City Clock. Horses were used at that time.

The upper story was where the City Clerk & Treasurer were reached when we paid our taxes by a long and tedious stairway.

The big brick building facing Water St. on the corner housed our only bank at the time. It is now where the Ben Franklin Store is.

Care & Share needs you

A lay off, sickness, repair bills, a work injury, or food stamps that just don't stretch far enough are some of the reasons that people come to the Care & Share emergency Food Pantry for assistance. These very reasons led to the formation of this organization several years ago, whose aim was to provide food to the families in an emergency situation. This goal is being accomplished through the united efforts of churches, organizations, businesses, and you, the people of East Jordan.

We are once again approaching the holiday seasons, and we need to ready ourselves for the preparing and distribution of food baskets to those who are referred. to us by churches, school, Salvation Army, Social Services, and individuals. It is our wish to continue this good work and we can only acsh this through generous financial support. Last year we distributed 117 food baskets at Thanksgiving and 135 at Christmas, and this year we expect these numbers to increase. These baskets will include a turkey or roasting chicken plus all the trimmings to provide a full holiday meal. It has been stated that, "The poor will always be with us", and it is unfortunate that, in a land of plenty, we find this statement so true. It is our hope that your holidays may be made more joyous because you have had the experience of showing your care and concern by sharing with those less fortunate.

All the services provided by the East Jordan Care & Share Emergency Food Pantry are done by volunteers and we are constantly in need of helpers. Through August of this year we have provided food to prepare 15,328 meals. We will be packing and delivering Thanksgiving baskets on Tuesday, November 26th starting at 9:00 a.m. in the Community Room of the East Jordan Family Health Center, and December 23rd at 9:00 a.m. for Christmas baskets. If you would like to help or would want to know more about this program, please contact our secretary, Margaret Thompson at 536-7375.

During the month of October an effort will be made to contact all people in the East Jordan area. If you would like to help, please sent your contribution to: Care & Share Emergency Food Pantry, PO Box 162, East Jordan, MI 49727.

Of course after the meals, she would go lie down and let the rest of us entertain each other. Somehow, most of the family would gravitate to the bedroom and quietly talk with her as she listened and gave out words of encouragement or disagreement.

That her death was unexpected and quick can be looked at as a Godsend.

My in-laws were here in Boyne just a couple of weeks ago in their motor home. They really enjoyed touring the state this past summer and visiting with their children, grandchildren, cousins and friends. On her last visit, my mother-in-law had brought up twelve bags of family treasures, that she wanted help in sorting. In retrospective, it almost seems like she knew something was going to happen.

Only the grief of the family was the one thing I wasn't too happy about as it hit home real quick.

During the winter, I think pine trees are great as they seem to want to hold onto the snow with their branches and it makes for something almost as spectacular as the fall color changes of the leafed variety of trees.

Dr. Seuss's Paper Trail

He said that most of what he wrote was "just plain pleasant tommyrot." And, strictly speaking, he was right.

Not the most admiring of his fans could call great or even good literature the likes of: "Vera Violet Vinn is very very very awful on her violin." Nor do Dr. Seuss's cartoon illustrations depicting such as Vera's musical inentitude raise the artistic level of his work.

Yet his 47 books, translated into 20 languages, sold hugely round the world, triggered a dandy domino effect too; adults enjoy them near as much as kids which means they read them oftener to their young, who delight in the pictures and silly words - "Zizzer-Zazzer-Zuzz" an example - the look and sound of which tempt them to learn to read themselves. Also Seuss's boundless imagination moves them to use theirs too.

Surname Geisel, christened Theodor Seuss. Dr. Seuss died September, 24, 1991, at the age of 87. Daily newspapers gave him front page coverage, not to mourn ' his death but to celebrate the lovely, long paper trail he left Commencing a career in the early '30s, Geisel hoped to become a novelist, but he and his new bride needed to eat as well. So he wrote advertising copy and twoline gags for magazines. He did so well at the former that an ad agency signed him to a contract, which he found kept him from other writing of anything but childern's books. So he wrote them.

His first, "And to Think That I Saw it on Mulberry Street," set the pattern for most all others. He drew pictures first (and, oh, what pictures these were of a cart and horse, a small boy who saw them on Mulberry Street, how they grew and grew until they became a full circus parade,) which then inspired a text. The sing-song style came from writing it aboard a ship, its engine's pulse caught by his pen. Ryming couplets likely flowed from gag-writing days.

For that first book, he adapted his name to Dr. Seuss. The title of Century's new

"Dr." was a spoof of self-important

Not long after "Mulberry Street", Seuss did manage an adultnovel, "The Seven Ladies Godiva". It was shorter than most novels, and it's subject more frivolous, a fanciful rewrite of history claiming not one but seven of the bare, buxom beauties, the Godiva sisters. Also seven Peeping brothers, their suitors, figured in it, one of whom was Tom, therein shown clearly not the sort to peek through panes at ladies disrobing, a deed synonymous with his name. Horse maxims, such as, "Never change horses in the middle of the stream", Seuss fiddled with too seven of them, of course.

To further bomb the book, which it did indeed do, this rollicking roll with history came out shortly after Margaret Mitchell's frightfully successful "Gone With the Wind". Scarcely as great as many swear, still the lengthy Civil War potboiler doesn't play fast and loose with history at least.

Anyway, from that time on until 1900, excepting one in '86, Seuss wrote books that especially tickle kids although he says: "I don't write for children, I write for Whatever, he's left the world with memorable words and unforgettable pictures such as the pages showing "Silly Sammy Slick sipped six sodas and got sick sick sick." And who could forget "Oscar's only ostrich oiled an orange owl today" or "Icabod is itchy. So am I." If there's any sense in this mad, mad world, these cool statements will be longer cherished than the steamy exploits of Scarlet O'Hara.

Seuss's last book, "Oh, the Places You'll Go!", rhymed commencement speech for nursery school through law school grads, came out in 1990. Could be he knew it was his last before going because it's as much philosophical as funny.

But thanks to his gift of "tommyrot", one can imagine him composing choral couplets for a choir of cherubim now.

Deming retires from Grandvue after 23 years

"A cozy friend, someone who will listen. She will be missed!" These are some of the fond words given by a resident of Grandvue Medical Care Facility describing Helen Deming, designated social worker, who is retiring after 23 years of service this week.

Helen began her career at Grandvue in 1968 as a billing clerk for Medicare at the request of Hilda Watkins, then administrator. She served in that capacity for several years and later as secretary to the administrator.

In 1978 she was appoined as designated social worker. "A job," she states, "that has become my life's joy."

"Placing someone in a nursing home often is a traumatic experience," explains Helen. "Being directly involved with the waiting list, working closely with the Department of Social Service and hospital social workers has made the placement process more effec-

Cooking sauce. Melt 1 T. butter in skillet. PANTRY SHELF RECIPES add the chopped onion and cook

During our busy fall season I am often reminded of Mother's fruit cupboard. It was a sight to behold. Shelves of canned berries, peaches, pears, applesauce and tomatoes; nearly everything in two quart cans or one quarts and the pints were for chili sauce, chow chow and relishes.

Those of us who live in apartments do not have the room to can 100 quarts of fruits and vegetables. Yet, it is a natural instinct to store food for the winter as generations long gone by have done for centuries. There is a bit of the squirrel in all of us. I notice couples of all ages at our fruit markets buying large supplies of tomatoes, peaches and apples this fall and late summer; besides so many young people also have their own gardens.

I do not have room for a fruit cupboard, yet many of us fill our freezers with all of these harvest goodies. Then when October arrives the supermarkets have their fall festivals; that is the time to fill our cupboard shelves with those wonderful bargains of canned vegetables and fruits. I do this every year. I would buy more if I had the shelf space. Having all of these supplies on our pantry shelves sure helps us to decide what to have for dinner. We like casseroles these nippy cool days; something to take from the oven for an easy supper after enjoying our colorful season. We just want to be outside; even raking leaves gives us a robust appetite. Just about everything in this next recipe can be on your pantry shelf or freezer

CAULIFLOWER SURPRISE

18 oz. package stuffing mix 1/2 C. melted butter or margarine 1 bunch cauliflower about 3 cups, cooled. (You could use broccoli) 1 medium onion chopped

For the sauce: 1 T. butter or margarine

1 C. milk

1 T. flour 1 can "Mixing Chicken with broth" (5 oz. size)

1 T. chopped stuffed olives

1 C. shredded Cheddar cheese. Layer stuffing mix in a 9 x 13 or 8 x 12 inch pan. Pour melted butter but do not brown, then add the flour mixing good and gradually add the milk, stirring constantly until thick. If it is quite thick add a little more milk. Add the cooked cauliflower and olives. Pour this over the stuffing, sprinkle with the shredded cheese and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes.

1 C. chopped cabbage 1 small onion

Salt and pepper to taste. Mix all together and cook slowly for 2 hours. Stir occasionally.

Most cooks have the makings for breakfast on hand. Try this weekend brunch for a special Sunday morning or even for a delicious autumn supper.

WEEKEND BACON BRUNCH 1 lb. sliced bacon cut in 1 inch

1 C. finely chopped onion 3 T. butter or margarine 1/4 C. flour

1/4 t. pepper 21/2 C. milk

1/2 C. grated Parmesan cheese 3 C. cooked rice

2 small zucchini, coarsely shredded 1 21/2 oz. can sliced ripe olives, drained Paprika

In fry pan, cook bacon on medium heat until crisp, set aside. Drain fat from pan, cook onion in butter or margarine over medium heat 5 minutes; blend in flour and pepper. Gradually add milk; cook, stirring until thickened. Stir in cheese, bacon, rice, zucchini and olives. Pour into lightly greased 12 x 8 inch baking dish, sprinkle paprika on top. Bake, covered with foil at 373 degrees, 10 minutes. Remove foil, continue baking at 373 degrees 10 over stuffing. Then make the minutes 6 servings.

Red Devils take rainy homecoming win, 34-20

BY JENNI BARNETT

It was raining cats and dogs all through the game East Jordan played against Mancelona last Friday, but if you asked any one of the Red Devils there wasn't a cloud in the sky as their homecoming spirit, good plays that excited the wet crowd led the team onto a dominating 34-20 victory over the Ironmen.

The team showed the control from the opening reception of the football as Mike Noirot started off with a strong three yard run up the middle. That started a 17 play drive totaling 63 yards as Noirot took the ball into the end zone from the one yard line. Steve Poole then collected the two point conversion.

But when the Devils kicked off to the Ironmen, they decided the rain wasn't going to delay them keeping up with the Devils and it only took a couple plays, highlighted by a 45 yard run for them to score.

Disgruntled, the Devils took the kickoff and two plays later, and 60 yards downfield, Lyman Harris who accounted for 59 of those yards ran the ball into the endzone for his first of three touchdowns for the evening. The extra point attempt failed.

On their next possession, the Devils again had an exciting run, but the 71 yard punt return was called back because of the penalty.

The Devils continued the scoring drives in the second quarter following the games only pass attempt from Tom Zipp to Poole who ran for 30 yards. Harris took the ball in from the one yard line after Noirot moved the ball into position. Juan Quintanilla hit his attempt for the extra point.

Mancelona scored again just before the halftime cermonies, cutting the Devil lead but moments before the gun Kent Gilmore drove the ball 27 yards breaking tackles along the way to another

The third quarter was quiet with both team playing conservatively in the rain, but in the fourth quarter, Mancelona scored again to wake up the team.

Mancy then recovered a Devil fumble to stop another drive but fumbled themselves and the Devils recovered after Mike Reid tackled the quarterback and made the recovery. Harris then took the ball into the endzone for his last score of the game with Quintanilla hitting again.

Statistically, the Devils carried the ball 51 times and gained 315 yards. Harris added up his yards and counted 131 on only 13 carriers while Cliff Russell had 78 on 22 carriers. Noirot added another 74 on his 13 carriers.

Coach Rebec praised his offensive line for doing an excellent job. He added that the defense came up with the big plays when they

The win improved the team record to 23 as the players look forward to playing Harbor Springs this coming Friday at Harbor.

How to control bugs in your home during the cold season

This is the time of year when it appears to many homeowners that there are more bugs in the house than at any other time.

The reason is often that the bugs would rather be inside where it's warm than outside where it isn't.

Tom Ellis, Michigan State University entomologist, says that insects can also find their way into the house via pets, plants, people, or materials or items brought into the house.

For the most part, insect migration indoors is temporary and can be controlled by judiciously using an over-thecounter insect spray and depriving the insects of the things they like to eat. That means keeping food cabinets and drawers clean and food containers sealed and practicing good generally housekeeping.

Ellis says there are five general reasons why insects are found inside buildings.

*They are damaging the structure by feeding on structural materials or by building nests that incorporate building materials.

*They are inhabiting structures because they have found favorable environmental conditions and a constant food supply.

*They are seeking a secure area

during long periods of inclement

*They are living outside of the structure and come into the building foraging for food.

*They have wandered in or been carried in and can't leave.

If an insect problem is persistent, it may be wise to contact a pest control operator (PCO) who is a member of the Michigan Pest Control Association and/or the National Pest Control Association. Homeowners should obtain estimates from several PCOs, ask to see their credentials, and be sure each PCO has indentified the insect and the reason it is in the structure and described control options.

If a persistent insect infestation is present in the structure, the PCO should be able to show the evidence - the presence of more than one life stage, signs of longterm habitation, feeding damage,

The PCO should have a thorough understanding of the control measures being prescribed and why a specific pesticide is to be used, Ellis says. The PCO should also have a good working knowledge of building construction and be able to detail why the insect problem is persistent.

Keep in mind that many household pest problems can be remedied permanently through proper sanitation and by making structural repairs. Be sure that all options are thoroughly explored.

Ellis notes that many pest control services are available, some good and some not so good.

A good, reputable, established company will be willing to supply a list of customers, detail what is guaranteed or implied in its service contract and probably encourage the homeowner to check its recommendations with the local county MSU Cooperative Extension Service or the MSU Department of Entomology going to have a tough game, and the rain that constantly fell did not heln as the Ramblers went down to defeat 040 to the powerful St. Ignace Saints.

Offensively, Boyne could only muster 86 yards as they tried to control the Saints from making the score overwhelming.

With the team on the field playing defense most of the evening, coach Pat Klooster gave the team praise as they continued to play against the odds. Klooster figured the Saints would try to eat up the clock and that is precisely what they did, never having to punt. Their starters played most of the game Klooster said noting that the team has a tradition of always looking for scores.

Kevin Smith led the team statistics in offense, gaining 41 yards on 14 carriers while Roy Angel had 27 yards to his credit. He left the game in the third quarter with an injured arm.

Quarterback Bob McCullough hit for two of four passes for a total of 15 yards, one to Brandon Stadt and the other to Jason Joles.

Defensively, Mark Reynolds had 12 tackles along with four assists, Andy Vondra added eight with eight assists, and Smith had nine with four assists.

The Lady Ramblers took their second game of the season last Tuesday night when they beat Mancelona 52-42. The Ramblers showed a definite improvement in their game as turnovers were cut down and defensive actions were ore obvious.

Boyne City used the boards well and used their height to the greatest advantage. Their efforts paid off and that shows up in the final score of the evening.

Points were well spread out between the team for the night. Doing their best for the Ramblers were Aulan Kuheana with 13 points, 12 rebounds; Melissa Williamson with 10 points, 8 rebounds; Abby McCrumb with 9 points, 4 rebounds; Daphne Crozier with 7 points, 4 rebounds; Kris Crozier with 6 points, 7 rebounds; and Wendy LaCroix with 6 points, and East Jordan was, unfortunately, not as successful for the Ramblers. Although the game stayed close the whole night, the Ramblers just couldn't hold down the Devils. The final score was 42-54.

High scorers for the night were Williamson with 14 points and 3 rebounds, and Kuheana with 10 points and 9 rebounds. Also scoring for the Ramblers were Daphne Crozier with 5 points, 6

Remember the popular saying, 4.40 or fight? expansionists in the 1800s who wanted the northern boundary of the country to be established at 40 degrees north of the 54th parallel.

The lines mark latitude, circling the earth by degrees from the equator to the poles in both the northern and southern hemispheres. Longitudinal lines circle the globe perpendicular to the latitude markings, pinpointing any spot on earth.

Grouse, No. 1 game bird

KING OF THE GAME BIRDS

If the whitetail deer ranks No. 1 as North America's big game animal, then the feathered bombshell, called the grouse, ranks No. 1 in the game bird category.

Anyone who has ever hunted this cagy, unpredictable bird, that explodes into flight from underfoot, knows how nerve-racking it can be, and how difficult it is to make a clean-killing shot.

I've hunted this woodland drummer for quite a few years, and I can unashamedly say that I've missed more birds than I've mit in the game had put in the game bag.

Most of my "pat" hunting was done without a dog, although for a few years I had the privilege of working with a friendly little buff cocker spaniel who up to the time I used her had never had the chance to hunt. But she was a natural born hunter, and I got birds with

I remember going down an old logging road and she flushed a pat out of some brush alongside the road, with the pat giving me an easy straight-away shot; and when the bird hit the road it took off running. But Ginger ran it down. Making a grab for it she came away with a mouthful of tail feathers. Surprised, she looked at me, then spit out the feathers and took off after the bird, which she ran down bringing it back to me.

About every pat hunter's dream is to make a double. And that I did one time.

Walking through a wooded area I came to the edge of an alfalfa field and flushed a pair of pats who flew straight away over the open field. With my 12-gauge Browning semi-automatic (a surplus World War II Air Force aerial gunners training weapon) I downed both birds.

About this time of the year some pats do the dangest thing. They fly crazy crashing into buildings, windows, and other unyielding objects. Why they do this has never been proven.

Some say that they get juicedup on fermented berries, while others say nature screws up their gyroscopes so that flocked young of the year disperse helter-skelter in uncompassed flight.

But grouse populations have plummeted and grouse hunters are alarmed - and well they may.

Looking back at a 1917 Game and Fish Law Digest I found Upper Peninsula partridge (grouse) season ran for a month, October 1 to October 31st, inclusive, with a bag limit being 5 a day and 10 in possession; 25 in a season.

And for the Lower Peninsula the season also ran for a month; November 1 to November 30th, inclusive, with the same bag limits as the UP.

Yet the grouse becoming alarmingly scarce the DNR is still allowing a two month season in the Upper Peninsula, Sept. 15-Nov. 14th with practically the same bag limits; 5 per day, 10 in possession.

And in the Lower Peninsula the two month season is split into two periods: Sept. 15-Nov. 14th, and Dec. 1 to Jan. 1st., with the same bag limits. The very same limits as in the Good Old Days of the early 1900's.

Come on DNR! Don't you think it's time for a change? Let's save the king of the game birds from extinction.

Let's have a realistic season and bag limits.

All you need is a good dog, a shotgun, a good eye and a lot of luck to successfully hunt what Reg calls the num-

d a ber one game bird, the grou

In service

Navy Ensign Marc C. Mentel, son of Delores F. Mentel of 2638 Center St., Boyne Falls, MI, recently completed the Officer Indoctrination School at the Naval Education and Training Center, Newport, RI.

During the course, students are prepared for duty in the naval staff field corresponding to their civilian profession.

The first five weeks of studies include naval history and traditions, personnel administration, military law, close-order drill and other general military subjects.

The 1984 graduate of Boyne City High School, Boyne City, and 1988 graduate of Albion College, Albion, MI, joined the Navy Reserves in March 1990.

Army Staff Sgt, Stanley C. Hall has been decorated with the Meritorious Service Medal.

The medal is awarded for outstanding non-combat meritorious achievement for service to the United States.

Hall is an electronic warfare/signal intelligence analyst with the 731st Military Intelligence Battalion at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

He is the son of Douglas F. and Shirley I. Hall of East Jordan, MI.

His wife, Catherine, is the daughter of Thomas Brun of Richland, Wash, and Margie Donaldson of East Jordan.

The sergeant is a 1975 graduate of East Jordan High School and a 1990 graduate of Western New England College, Springfield, Mass.
