Fire safety taught at Boyne Falls

Boyne Falls Schools held their annual Fire Safety Week last Thursday and fireman Dave Carson along with others from the department showed Kindergartners and First graders what they should do to put out a fire on their bodies. The firemen brought special felt flames they put on the children and had them "drop, cover and roll" until the fire was out. The children were going to inspect a fire truck but the rains kent them in the classroom for the day.

Costs may kill Antrim-Charlevoix 9-1-1 system

Costs may become the big factor with the proposed 9-1-1 emergency phone system if the planned addition of Antrim County is brought into the system with Charlevoix County.

Officials working with the combined plan have determined that it would cost an additional $93,000 to bring the two counties together with the Boyne City, East Jordan because of the added expense it and Boyne Falls phone exchanges would be on the customers within as well as the others serving Antrim County. The exchanges are important because funds which will operate the system will have to come from raised phone bills for

Alliance-MSU merger

All that has to be done now is to get approvals from Charlevoix County, Emmet County, Antrim County and Michigan State University as the Board of Directors of the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance agreed to merge at a meeting held last Thursday.

The merger will give the Alliance more resources to work with in helping to locate firms to the area as well as additional funding.

Presently, the Alliance is being funded by several economic growth agencies in the three county area.

The partnership between the Alliance and Michigan State University will still be based in Boyne City and Charlevoix County will be asked to become the fiscal agent for both the Alliance and the University.

Both would be used to set up the system while the local equipment and personnel to run it would have additional, separate costs.

Those "one-time" costs for a joint Antrim-Charlevoix County plan figure out to $145,000 said Larry Sullivan the County Planner. He said that could be spread over 10 years on the monthly bill changes were included with the

If just Charlevoix were to set up a 9-1-1 plan, Sullivan figures the costs would be lower, especially if the 582, 549, and 536 phone ex547, 535, 448 exchanges. He said if the 582, 549 and 536 exchanges were not in the plan, the costs would be slightly higher.

The problem was started when Antrim County decided to include those three exchanges in their system as they did not have enough phone numbers to effec-

Consumers Power Company announced they will be giving refunds on their November electric bills, an average of about $26, based on the amount of electricity a customer used between August 5, 1987 and May 7, 1991. The refund reflects the effect of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 on the utility's abandoned Midland nuclear plant.

East Jordan Chamber of Commerce will be holding a "Business After Hours" get-together at Willies' Up North located just outside of town on the Advance Road November 7 from 5 to 7 p.m.

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce announced that the Ghost Ship will be back in Charlevoix just in time for Halloween. The ship, actually the Coast Guard's Acacia, is being transformed and Coast Guard personnel have been working hard to come up with all of the things to get the heart going for children on Halloween evening between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. There will be treats for those brave enough to tour the Ghost Ship in the Charlevoix Harbor.

All plastic flowers and decorations must be removed from the Maple Lawn and Division Street Cemeteries for the winter, according to officials at the Boyne City Hall.

Only two people are up for election for the Boyne City Commission, both incumbents and a single ballot question that will help clarify rental property at the Boyne City airport in the November 5 election. The incumbents, Thelma Behling and Sandra Stanley are running unopposed in the election and have served the community for several years.

Halloween Trick or Treat hours were established by Boyne Commissioners and are between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Thursday evening. Be sure to watch out for small ghosts, goblins, witches, and Ninja Turtles that may be darting out into traffic.

The vote by the sixteen member board was almost unanimous with the exception of East Jordan City Superintendent Mike Dionne and Charlevoix's City Manager Mike Wiesner.

Both had expressed some reservations about the partnership, saying the merger would or could allow the loss of local control. Charlevoix earlier that week voted to withdraw from the Alliance if the move was approved.

Dionne said his concerns are over the losing of the original focus the Alliance was set up to provide. He thought the Alliance would be better if it were to stand alone and work on providing new jobs and focusing on industrial development. He didn't see the need to join with Michigan State University as there are no financial problems in the Alliance and doesn't need the money the university will provide.

Wiesner was following his city's vote which was based on the Industrial Development Committee and approved by the city commission. Their concerns were based on the loss of local control.

The majority of the Alliance Board agreed with the merger saying it will put the resources of a large university at the disposal of the Alliance. The partnership will be between the MSU extension service. which has in the past been primarily responsible for agriculture but has itself, changed the direction of the scope to help fulfill the needs of the community regardless of the agricultural base or manufacturing base.

Lutheran Church to hold open house this Sunday

Now that renovations have been completed at the Christ Lutheran Church, the public is invited to an open house November 3 between 2 and 5 p.m. to see the expansions the church has added to their facility.

Dedication ceremonies for the additions will be at the morning service to be held at 10:30 a.m. the same.

The church add four classrooms on the east end of the Fellowship Room along with additional bathrooms, a total of 1520 square feet. On the other end of the church, they added 1,200 more square feet which will be used for the pastor's office, secretarial office a meeting room and a new fover. Also added was a new drive thru area so parishioners would not have to walk in the rain and snow to get to the church.

They also constructed a new bell tower and had a carillon system installed so now bells can be tolled at 9-12-3-6 o'clock. At the noon and 6 p.m. session, hymns will be played.

Along with the renovations, new signs are being constructed in the front of the church.

The church is located at 1025 Division Street in Boyne City.

Margaret Gould of Boyne City was among a group of 11 from the Harbor Light Chapel of Harbor Springs that went on their 2nd annual excursion to Germany on a short term missions trip. They spent from October 1-17 in Poland. East and West Germany and also visited Czechoslovakia, for the first time, as an effort of encouraging the churches there in faith and working for Jesus and to preach the gospel. They were welcomed in various homes. Among the many meaningful events was a trip to Cheb Park in Czechoslvakia where there was a monument of the American troops of 1945 who had helped many towns along the border of West Germany.

The Monday Studyclub met at the home of Jewel Bryan, October 21st with 22 members and guest Vernice Nelson present. The program "Journal of a 19th Century Circuit Rider" was given by Olive Bernier, of a distant relative, A.L. Thurston. It was taken directly from a well kept journal which was done in elaborate penmanship by the Reverend Thurston, dated April, 1860. The title of his journal was "The Labors and Incidents Connected with the Chaplaincy among the Boatmen in the Illinois River and Canal". He was born in Wexford County in 1829, where he homesteaded. As a circuit rider, he came by donkey to our local Methodist church in 1860. The trip over rough terrain, woods. thickets, few roads, etc., took three weeks. It was said in Kingsley where he later lived, no meeting was complete unless the Rev. Thurston was called upon for the address, which was sympathetic, humorous, or euligistic, as the occasion demanded. His remarks were to the point, scholarly, with a command of language which was marvelous and which could only be explained by his own statement of his early and complete study of the dictionary. He died in 1915. Hostesses for the evening were Vi Manglos, Bessie Hamm, and Edna May. The next meeting, November 18, will in the home of Irene Hennessey, beginning at 1:30 in the afternoon.

Last Monday, in my mail, was note from Florence White, telling me that on October 6, following the morning church service, she went down state with Pete and Lil Cikalo. The Cikalo's dropped her off at the home of her son Donald in Livonia. While there. she also visited her brother David Wren and wife Betty in Westland and her sister and husband in St. Clair Shores and the four of them brought Mrs. White home. The Wrens visited their daughter Sherrie and Scott Collins and family in Gaylord. The families all had a good visit before returning to their home later in the week.

The $1.00 raffle tickets will be available at the door at Glen's for the next 3 weekends with the drawing to take place November 18. All enjoyed delicious refreshments of the hostess.

Rita Hacker of Houghton Lake spent Monday through Thursday visiting friends Bill and Jean Kor thase.

Approximately 24 members of the Boyne Valley Garden Club met on Thursday at Litzenburger Place. All enjoyed the slide presentation of Vera Hallman of Boyne City who showed the beautiful colored wild flowers that we all take for granted. Her magnifying lens picked up the vivid uniqueness of these natural flowers along local roadways. Following the program, final plans of the B.V.G.C.'s annual Harvest Dinner for the residents of Litzenburger Place to be held on Monday night were made.

Mr. and Mrs. Cristy (Louanne) Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Art Tooley of Mt. Pleasant and Dorne Davis, also of Mt. Pleasant were among the many here to attend the funeral service of Kathy Davis Metzger on Tuesday.

Mike and Becky Griffin were here over the weekend visiting Leona Griffin and the John Kirbys.

Herbert and Jane Denise were honored for their 50th wedding anniversary at the Chandler Township Hall on Sunday afternoon.

Approximately 200 family, friends and neighbors came from Clarkston, East Lansing, Holly, and the surrounding area and enjoyed the buffet dinner, congratulating and reminiscing with the Denises as they shared this special event in their lives. The party was given by the Denise children, Robert of Boyne Falls, Richard of Clio, and Jolane Hess of Beverly Hills, Florida. A group of 14 of the Xi Gamma Chapter of Beata Sigma Phi recently enjoyed visiting The Music House in Traverse City and lunch at the Hacienda.

Kim Stadt of Hillsdale College was here over the weekend visiting her parents, Leon and Wendy Stadt and family and also attended the B.C.H.S. homecoming game. On Sunday, the Stadts went to Alma to see their daughter Mindy, a student there, pe the Glee Club Choir. On Sunday, Roger Korthase and fiancee' Gina Kraemer hosted a 'get aquainted" dinner at One Water Street for their parents, Bill and Jean Korthase and Paul and Maxine Kraemer of Onaway. Also on Sunday afternoon, Dan and Diane Kitchen of Rudyard, who were enroute from Lansing, stopped in at the Korthase home. Senior bingo scores for October 24, 1991. Regular-Anne Sckorean. tively spread the costs. With the exchanges added, it would give Antrim County border to border service. Without those exchanges, the county will have to pay the difference to the phone companies. It may be another matter if the three exchanges are included in the Antrim 9-1-1 system as none of the communities in Charlevoix County who have emergency service capability want to provide a central site for receiving phone calls. Calls to 9-1-1 would be sent to someplace in Antrim County where they would have to call by ordinary phone lines to com-munities like Boyne City for emergency services.

Some people say it may add several minutes to a fire call or ambulance run that are not needed. Bay Township officials have expressed some concerns as they are possibly the furthest away from emergency services that are currently provided by Boyne City.

Sullivan and Boyne City based County Commissioner Phil Johnson will be meeting with Antrim County officials to determine if the costs figured by Sullivan are right. If they are, the County may decide it is not in the best interests to combine the two counties accor ding to Chairman Don Smith.

Sullivan said the costs of a combined system would be about 11 per month higher than if the county were to set up a system of its own.

The county will be deciding what they will do at its' 9 a.m. Wednesday November 13th meeting. If they decide to combine with Antrim County, they will be going to a public hearing that that county will be holding on Thursday, November 14.

It all comes down to money

With the tough economic times that we are supposedly facing, we wonder if the additional expense of a 9-1-1 system is really necessary.

Especially when you consider that both East Jordan and Boyne City have the means in place to provide almost all of the emergency services that may be required for the area.

The current proposal to include the Boyne City, Boyne Falls and East Jordan phone exchanges into the Antrim County system is just a means of grabbing additional money so the residents of Antrim County won't have to spend as much for their system.

Basically, it boils down to money. Money that could be used to pay the phone bills, the heat and light bills as well as the school city and county taxes.

We just don't feel that a 9-1-1 system will be worth it to residents of this area. Even if Charlevoix County cares to "go it alone" and set up their own system.

We can't see the emergency response being any faster, anymore cost effective than what is presently in place in Boyne City and East Jordan. All we can see is additional time spent on phones to do the same thing one call is presently serving.

The only reason Antrim County wants to include our phone exchanges in their system is that it would provide 9-1-1 service to maybe several hundred homes in Antrim County and give them border to border coverage, not to include the phone exchanges that were grabbed by Kalkaska and Grand Traverse Counties when they set up their 9-1-1 systems.

Of course, all of the other homes within the 582, 536, and 549 exchanges would be providing money every month to support the system. That would be added to everyones phone bills every month. Those folks with phone numbers already are paying for the emergency services through cooperative efforts of the County Sheriff's Department, the city police, fire and ambulance departments.

In any case, it appears to be setting up another layer of bureaucracy the residents will have to pay for through additional costs on phone bills for many years.

About the only people who will make out with this sort of arrangement will be the phone companies who will share the "profits" from such a system.

Even if our county goes it alone, and includes all of the phone exchanges within our county, we wonder if the additional costs would be worth it. Is the county 9-1-1 system going to get better results for services than what is presently being used? Will they agree to provide full-time emergency services using full time operators, drivers, EMT's and firemen?

We don't think so as they don't want to spend the money if would cost for full time people. And we don't think it would pass muster if it were placed on a ballot so we residents could vote on the idea either.

'Tis the season to worship satan?

Halloween is his high holy day. Some people think Halloween is Halloween activities, really know that they are opening up their lives to satan worship and possibly human sacrifice.

There will be many human and

The newest school in Boyne City taken before it was completed in 1904-05 shows some of the construction materials piled around the front during the winter layoff. The school served as the high school for many years before it was torn down to make room for the mid-

After driving around Boyne City these past few days, I am starting to think the entire town has gone pumpkins. Not just crazy, but slightly worse in a colorful way.

It's all because of the many, many, many pumpkins on everyone's doorsteps and porches.

I think it all happened when some semi truck or two came to town and said here, everybody this year needs to have some pumpkins to dress up the town for the Halloween evening.

Some of those pumpkins were carefully carved with toothless smile faces by little children, while others were carved with mean faces by some of the adults.

Even those who missed out on all of the real pumpkins, seemed to go to the stores and bought plastic ones to put next to the porch. Some even went further and bought the trashbag pumpkins and filled them with leaves.

We all know what goes into a carving. Seems like the adults in the family get to do the dirty work of cutting out the top and digging out the seeds. Then the children get to cut in a face under the watchful eye of a mother, who then gets to clean up all of the mess made by the ordeal.

And of course, there are those who whink it is great fun to try to destroy the great work it took range of "too big to lift" and a 1.000 lbs. If I am lucky, my guess will become the winner. If not, I am sure there will be plenty of pumpkin pies available to eat around this community after October 31.

Which brings up another question. I wonder what the costume of the year will be this year? Last year it seemed to be Ninja Turtles, followed by witches and angels. That was closely in front of G.I. Joes.

Of course I am speaking about the best parade in the community, baring the Fourth of July and almost as good as the Horton Bay wonders. I am talking about the Boyne City Elementary School Parade around the football field tomorrow at 1:15 p.m.

The children will be showing off what they intend to wear when they go out to see who can get the most candy for the year.

Some day, all of the people are going to get smart and only hand out goodies that are healthy. Like maybe granola bars, apples and other things that don't cause the children to become hyper for at least a week and a half.

I say a week and a half because it takes that long for all of the candy to disappear. Some of by eating, while still more by the parents who wanted to put it away so the amount of cavities won't be overwhelming when the child goes to the dentist. And to eat it themselves.

a cute kids holiday and allow ghosts, bats, jack-o-lanterns, witches, spiders' webs and other satanic signs to decorate their property.

As I drive thru Boyne City and the surrounding area, I see eviden-ce of the need to rid this area of demons and other evil things.

I wonder how many, who allow their children to participate in animal sacrifices on October 31st. I urge all who claim Jesus as Lord to fight the evil in this area especially on this one night of the year. Let's put a stop to satan's actions and let God have full affect.

Pray and take authority over the works of the demons, in the precious name of Jesus, our redeemer.

Those pumpkin people are some we can do without, as far as I am concerned, and I know the local police are all tuned up to try to catch some of those types.

At our house, we have found a cure for all of that kind of stuff. We didn't carve a pumpkin this year ... just plastered on a sticker face. But even our house has pumpkins.

One member of the family, who will go unmentioned due to my safety, has carved pumpkins ever since the kids were about one year old. As the years progressed the carving was transferred over to the kids when it was felt they were safe enough to handle a knife without killing each other.

Another member of the family decided to grow pumpkins this year in an unused spot of the garden. Of course he has some of the giant variety that he tried to give away to members of the family.

I am glad I didn't take one, only because I would probably put the back out and get a hernia trying to lift it into to the car.

And there was no forklift in the area to do the job for me

I think a pumpkin bigger than 18 inches too heavy for my lifting ability, and these were all in the two-foot and bigger range.

Some of them were bigger than the "Guess the Weight of the Pumpkin Contest" in Gocha's window. But having seen pumpkins about the same size, I guessed the weight to be somewhere in the

Ware-withal DSS honors foster homes and volunteers

Space Exploration

As if we didn't have enough concerns what with trying to avoid fat, getting enought fiber plus heart-pumping exercise, now comes news that design of our new homes can mess up our mental health, cause the bad "S" word -Stress.

Many older homes have been redone in the new styles too. So lots of folks may suffer from the illusory space-makers: cathedral ceilings and their companions, the great rooms.

Housing developers started leaning on these dupers a decade or so ago when the price of land and lumber climbed fast. Builders figured that to profit on the houses they'd been building, they'd have to raise prices higher than most folks could or would go. So they cut the model size, raised ceilings to the rafters and omitted several inside walls.

Presto, smaller homes that appeared as big as ever but took less raw material, so builders could hold down prices. Shopper liked the look, homes felt roomy too. Seeing they bore yesterday's prices, buyers figured they got a bargain.

After living in these high-ceiling homes for a spell, though, some folk feel dwarfed by the expanse of space above them, powerless even. They feel mighty angry too at being intimidated in their own homes by towering, useless space.

As for the great rooms, besides much spaciness above, their territory includes all the floor space of living room, dining room and kitchen, none of which have inside walls. With no barriers to separate rooms and occupants happily engrossed in their own interests, a family is supposed to function in happy harmony - a lovely idea but fails to allow for disparities in age and thus in tastes and point of view.

For example, if teenagers come with a household, short of being hooked to headsets when listening to their tunes, which they do day and night, even in the bathroom. parents have trouble doing harmoniousness. They can't hit the right notes with youth insisting they need the radio volume in high to feel the beat, which they need to enjoy the music.

Older folks, with more sensitive senses than the young, both feel and hear the music at a much lower volume, in fact it often plays in their minds when its fans are away much to their discomfort. A soundproof booth, better still, a whole room, somewhere in this vast area would calm and cheer considerably. Great room designers didn't have teenagers else they'd surely have included a soundproof island here.

Another open area that often appears in cathedral-like houses, one which more dithers than delights many folks, is the master suite. Whirlpool or hot tubs are set up in the bedroom rather than bath. Scarcely silent motors power the tubs and many a user doesn't tend to soak in silence either. Should someone short of a super sound sleeper by trying to snooze in bed while a splasher tubs, peace cannot prevail in the master suite. Not that the problem would be helped much if tubs were installed in the bath since such homes don't do doors there either. Lack of a bathroom door also makes sleep iffy when an electric razor or blow drier is in use.

It's been suggested that installing doors sliding out from walls, hinged doors, partial walls even, can help diminish horizontal drawbacks. Limiting vertical spaciness is tougher, means major structural changes. So it seems simpler to sell the house, perhaps to a circus fan who can envision aerialists performing in many similar places.

On the other hand, you may own one of these homes and figured out a happy answer to what to do or imagine with the empty space overhead years ago. If so, if I were you, I'd not say much. Someone's sure to come along and tell you that what you've worked out is bad for your physical health, your mental health. or both.

The Charlevoix County Department of Social Services held its annual Foster Parent and 15th Annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner on October 9, 1991, at the Grey Gables in Charlevoix. More than 50 volunteers and foster parents attended with another 30 staff, friends, and relatives to honor them.

The foster parents and volunteers were entertained by the "S.F.B. Band", Denny Peck, Bill Heiermann, and Vasco Zucchiatti.

Services Supervisor Doug Mc-Combs and Social Services Board Member Eliene Rouse presented certificates and recognized the contributions of the following foster parents:

Under one year of service: Paul and Deborah Gelderblom, William & Patricia Keehn, and James and Sandra Malewitz.

One year: Hugh & Marilyn Sweeney.

Three years: Jake & Joan Janack and Robert & Rosaria

Four years: Robert & Marilyn Oliver. Five years: Lawrence & Sandra Bergmann.

Six years: Michelle Zimmerman. Nine years: John & Charlene Bush.

In honor of reaching the five years of service milestone, silver pins were presented to Michelle Zimmerman and Lawrence & Sandra Bergmann. McCombs emphasized that foster parents, volunteers and state staff are team members working together to assist other community members who need our help.

Volunteer Secretary Cathy Tillen and Social Services Board Member Eliene Rouse gave certificates to the following volunteers:

Under one year of service: Phillip Decker, Edward Elliott, Jane Elliott, Gilbert Fox, Loretta Goldsmith, Jacquelyn Hull, Heather Jacobs, Les VanderJagt, and Donna Herman.

One year: Bonnie Altman, Deborah Beaudry, Robert Black,

Seven years: Charlevoix Community Food Pantry.

Eight years: George Hamlin, Anna Willis.

Ten years: Ray Ecker.

Eleven years: Connie Fraley. Twelve years: Luella Barnes,

John Daniels. Fifteen years: Virginia Daniels, Ron Putman.

Sixteen years: Genetta Cole, Shirley Roloff, Community Service Center, and "Stitch & Chat."

Special Volunteer Awards were presented by Vasco Zucchiatti, Volunteer Services Coordinator, and Social Services Board Member Eliene Rouse. Receiving awards for over 200 hours of service were: David Ecker, Lillian Martinek. John Miller. Steve Schwartzfisher, Les VanderJagt, Jim Herman, and Bonnie Altman. Over 500 hours: Bonnie Altman and Sara Cummings. Over 9,000 hours: Raymond Ecker.

Zucchiatti said it's a pleasure to honor volunteers that give so much of themselves. If a job needs to be done usually one of our volunteers can do it. With anticipated cut-backs, volunteers will be called upon to help fill in gaps of services, making them an even more valuable resource.

HALLOWEEN

Fall is Halloween time. Even the colors of fall describe Halloween: the bright pumpkins at the roadside markets and the black tree trunks at sunset reminds us of witches and black cats. It was believed long ago that if a black cat crossed your path you might be in trouble

The old-timers who lived close to nature more than we do felt the mystery of Autumn. Halloween with it's celebrations and parties have lived down through the centuries and will continue to do so as it is in our modern society. I believe that we feel that mystery of Fall as our forefathers did. The Halloween is party time for all ages, especially the children. In the cities the children dress in their weird and beautiful costumes and do their trick or treating in the shopping malls.

Halloween is apple time; what fun it is to go to our local cider mills for that wonderful taste of Fall: Cider. Cider and doughnuts are expected at every party. Even our "Thirty Something" couples dress in costumes and party on Halloween night. So what about refreshments. Let's concentrate on apples as our ancestors did as far to 45 minutes. This will make 2 regular loaves or 3 smaller ones. This next recipe is an easy way to serve apple dessert.

recent past winters, we have become spoiled.

Your rural mail carrier will try to help you prepare BEFORE winter strikes by indicating what repairs are needed to your rural mail box or post. It is much easier to make the repairs in the cool autumn weather than it is when the temperature is near zero and the snow is up to your knees.

If you are going to install a new post or mail box please notify your carrier before hand (a note in the mail box, with the flag up will do.) This way he can let you know if there is a more appropriate height for your mail box. Many mail carriers have changed the type of vehicle they drive and that changes the height they would prefer for delivery. What might have been suitable a few years (or vehicles) ago might not be best now. If the box is too high, it could be difficult for your carrier to see in the box to locate all out going mail. If the snows are heavy and he can not pull close to your box the proper height might allow him to reach the box while a box that is too low or to high would be out of reach.

From year to year we tend to forget the force of the snow coming off the county snow plows; if your post is not in the best of shape it could be easier to replace it now, if your box is not firmly attached to your post it could become separated from the post. Making the repairs now could avoid missed mail deliveries because your mail box or post is buried in a snow bank.

BC gets trounced by Rayders

Interceptions, punt returns and a couple of guys named Coolman and Emig dashed the hopes of the annual Homecoming crowd last Friday as Charlevoix opened up a quick lead to dominate the first half of the game.

In fact, the whole first half seemed to go in CHarlevoix's favor, as the Ramblers several times started moving the ball downfield only to see the play broken up by the speedy pair from Charlevoix.

Lance Emig ran through the defenders on a punt return of 65 yards for the first touchdown of many in the 6-41 defeat of the Ramblers. That was followed several plays later when Brian Coolman took one interception and ran it back 70 yards for second TD of the game.

Besides the defensive efforts by the two, they also starred offensively with Coolman running for 204 yards and Emig adding his 60 yards.

Two more Charlevoix touchdowns made the score 0-27 at the half which took the wind out of the sails of the Ramblers.

Making his first start since being moved up from the Jayvee squad was Bob Bryan who found this small hole in the Charlevoix line for a good gain during the action last Friday.

BF cross-country team on their way to final run

• Boyne Falls Cross Country team will be making one more trip as they reached a season goal last Saturday when they took the 4th place in the Class D Regional contest held in Benzonia.

Joe Westbrook was the top runner finisher for the Loggers, running the distance in 16:50 for a 12 place. Other finishers and their times included Alan Massey with 17:01 time and 14th place, Bob Freck, 17:39 and a 28th place, Bob Koeman with a time of 18:11 and 43rd place, Jason Wilson, 18:37 and a 52nd placing, Eric Jarema, 19:00 and a 56th place, and Bill Cousineau, 19:23 and a 62nd placing. Coach Andy Place was very pleased with the performance, noting that all five of the top runners had their best times of the season.

The trip will take them to Bath, Michigan, near Lansing, where they hope to better their 15th placing last year.

But the Ramblers did not give up, coming back in the third quarter to give Charlevoix some serious play as they came up with a 10 play drive before stalling out on the Charlevoix 31 yard line. The Rayders then responded with a six play drive that ended in another TD.

Then after the Rayders were pushed back to their own four yard line, Coolman busted through to run 70 yards before being stopped. Two plays later Emig went into the endzone to end the quarter.

Boyne went to work in the fourth quarter, when Kevin Smith ran the ball in for the only Rambler score of the evening and averted a shutout.

The loss gave the team a record of 2 wins to six losses with one more week to try to tie last seasons 3 win record.

Taking top honors offensively for the Ramblers was Smith with 85 yards on 18 carriers while Roy Angel, returning to duty after an injury, carried the ball 14 times and gained 72 yards. Others adding offensive yards was sophomore Bob Bryan who had several good runs, one a 17 yarder. Quarterback Bob McCullough was 1 completion for his eight attempts with the pass going to Jason Joles for a total of 10 yards. Overall, the Ramblers rushed for 176 yards for the evening.

This week the team goes up against Elk Rapids to close out the season at home with game time starting at 7:30.

THOMAS ORGAN, double

using the walks, he said after the meeting. He indicated he will continue to monitor the situation so he can report back to the commission as to the numbers of students who are using the new sidewalks.

Commissioners are afraid that if they start plowing the sidewalk, other residents through the community with sidewalks will be expecting the same thing. They also don't have money in the budget to allow for the cleaning of the walks this year.

When the city asked for bids on clearing the sidewalk, they received none as there are obstacles along the walkway that make the plowing difficult. City officials tabled any action

8 CHARLEVOIX COUNTY PRESS-October 30, 1991

Reg Sharkey's Northern Journal Turn a buck into bologna

As a long time hunter, outdoor writer - as well as a game cooker -I submit the following recipe for your consideration.

It is a simple recipe that even the most inept kitchen bumbler can accomplish without the threat of eternal damnation.

HIRSCH WURST (deer sausage)

5 lbs, venison (well trimmed) 1 lb. beef suet 2 oz. salt 2 tbsps. sugar 1 tsp. ground cumin 11/3 tsps. leaf oregano

1 tsp. thyme

1 tsp. fine ground pepper 1 tsp. whole anise seed 3 tbsps. chili powder

2 tbsps. powdered garlic

I add liquid smoke to the above. You'll have to judge the amount by what suits your taste. Start with a tablespoon. Three tablespoons might do the trick.

With the exception of the liquid smoke mix seasonings together. Spread the ground meat on wax paper and sprinkle seasoning evenly over meat. Place in large bowl and sprinkle liquid smoke over ingredients and hand mix thoroughly. Form meat in 1 pound rolls, not over 21/2" in diameter and wrap in aluminum foil, making a double lap seals on top and ends. Place in refrigerator for around 24 hours. This will give the seasoning a chance to evenly season the meat. Set your oven for 325 degree F. Puncture the foil on bottom of sausage roll a half dozen times in order to let juices escape during baking. Place on broiler pan and bake for 90 minutes. Let sausage cool to room temperature. Rewrap in foil, sealing thoroughly. Place in refrigerator and when thoroughly cooled it's ready to eat.

It can be stored in freezer for future use for quite some time. Double wrap to guard against freezer burn.

As my old German granny would say: "Gut Essen."

down last year

An estimated 735,000 deer hunters are expected to head to favorite Michigan hunting spots between Nov. 15-30 and spend $350 million-$476 per hunter-on arms, ammunition, licenses, transportation, food and lodging, AAA Michigan reports.

There's more good news to report as this hunting season gets underway. Last year Michigan deer/vehicle crashes dropped for the first time since 1982, down 1.8 percent from the 46,784 crashes in 1989

"While that shows improvement, the number is still up 60 percent from 1985," said Robert V. Cullen, AAA Michigan manager of Community Safety Services.

Cullen said there is a direct relationship between the size of the deer herd and the number of crashes per million miles of travel. "Generally, more deer/vehicle crashes occur when deer populations within a county are higher than average or when the number of miles traveled within that county are higher than average," he said.

The highest number of accidents last year were reported in Kent County with 1,613, followed by Calhoun with 1,368 and Montcalm with 1.268.

Statewide, deer/vehicle crashes peaked in 1989 when the deer herd was 2 million strong. In 1990, the herd was 1.8 million. This year's herd estimate is 1.7 million, which could cause a further decline in deer/vehicle crashes. Last year these crashes resulted in one death, down from five in 1989.

BY ANNETTE KNIPE

Boyne City's Girls Basketball Team came up with two more on the minus side of their record, but what the record doesn't show is the improvement the team is making as it has cut down the turnovers and had an overall improvement in the scores of the games.

Teams that had blown the girls away before, are still winning, but the Ramblers are a lot closer than they were the first time the teams met.

Last Tuesday, the team played the Grayling Vikings. Although the score ended up 31-46, the Ramblers kept the score close the whole game.

As soon as they cut down the number of turnovers they were creating, they would pull within a couple of points of their opponent. But at the same time, the minute Ramblers would get the frustrated, the Vikings would start scoring and pulling away.

High scorer for the Ramblers was Abby McCrumb with 14. Also adding to the scoring was Aulani Kuheana with eight. Jamie Reinhardt with four, Kris Crozier with three and Daphne Crozier with two. All of the team played hard that night.

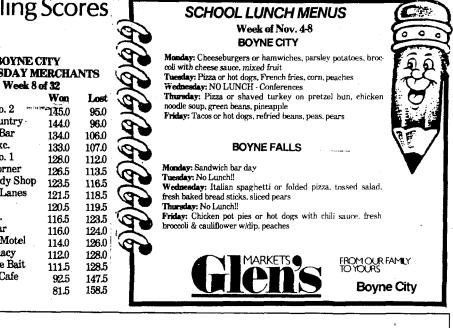

On Thursday night, the Ramblers hosted Traverse City St. Francis, with the final score ending up 42-55. The game was a hard fought battle for the Ramblers as there were numerous fouls made by team members that were not accounted for by baskets.

But the girls stuck it out and although they lost, it was another hard fought match-up. Again, when the Ramblers slowed down the number of turnovers they were creating, they would stay right with the Gladiators, and the minute they started turning the ball over they would start to lose.

The whole team was scoring well Thursday, with Melissa Williamson taking the honors with nine points, Reinhardt with eight, Katie Drury with six, K. Crozier with 5, Kuheana with five, Mc-Crumb with four, Wendy LaCroix with three and D. Crozier with two.

The Jayvees also lost both games last week.

dumped on by the Traverse City St. Francis Gladiators last Friday, losing 69 to zip and will be without the services of two key players for the final match-up of the season when they face Bellaire.

The game featured the Glads having total control and just about making a touchdown whenever they wanted, due in part because of tackle Ross Miller and guards Mike Muma and Matt Diller out of the game because of injuries.

The Red Devils could only manage getting 30 offensive yards rushing and 33 yards passing when they had the ball in the lopsided game.

But even without those members of the team, the Devils stopped the Glads a couple of times and made them punt the ball away.

Coach Bob Rebec put ten players on the line but even that did not stop the onslaught as the Glads took total control of the game.

It did not help that running back Mike Noirot was ejected from the game early because of an unsportsmanlike ruling by the referee. Quaterback Tom Zipp was also ejected from the game for the same reason late in the fourth quarter. Both will have to miss the last game of the season with a
