BF Cross Country Team honored

Members of the Boyne Falls Cross Country team were honored with cake and punch at the monthly Boyne Falls School Board meeting Mon-day night. It only took a few moments after this picture was taken for um to devour the cake they are holding. The team finished ninth in the state championships.

Boyne City gets coastal sidewalk zone grant

Boyne City will be installing sidewalks next spring and summer along the waterfront between the Veterans' Memorial Park and Sunset Park after the city commissioners approved the acceptance of a DNR adminstered Coastal Zone Management Grant worth

It is expected that the planning and engineering for the new six foot wide sidewalk will take place over the winter with construction to start next spring.

The grant will be matched by $19,200 worth of services provided by city crews as well as a cash the older students.

Involved will be 1,230 feet of sidewalk that will allow residents and tourists to walk along the water from the Municipal Beach on the southern side of the city to the marina complex in Veterans' Park. Connecting to the walkway is the walk along the Harborage Condominiums that would give walkers about a mile of exercise from one end to the other.

Proponents of the project said the additional sidewalk will provide easier access to the downtown and help maintain the downtown efforts, provide continuity with other city improvements made in the past few years, and will connect with sidewalks of the two parks.

All of that did not sit too well with Commissioner Vic Ruggles who asked if the project was only going to help some of the special interests of the community instead of the community at large.

He was told by Commissioner Thelma Behling that the sidewalks ere a lot like the tennis courts at Rotary Park, or the baseball fields. She said some people will never take advantage of the many things the city provides, but in the total view of the city, it was needed and everything will help.

She then added that the idea of a waterfront sidewalk was a long

Bay Twp. Sup., Clerk resign

Bay Township Supervisor Robert Schmoldt and Township Clerk Pat Johnson both submitted resignations to the governing Township body last week, both citing residential harassment and badgering during the monthly meetings.

Schmoldt said he has had a resignation letter prepared for three months but did not turn it in until last Thursday's meeting. ohnson sent hers in earlier.

With the resignations, the only member of the board who has not hanged Bergmann, a long time member of the board who has weathered plenty of storms.

Most of the storms have come from a group of residents who have been saying for some time, that the board wasn't listening to the people.

Schmoldt had been the supervisor for the past 14 months, taking over himself when the former supervisor was recalled. Johnson took over after former clerk Charles Breithaupt resigned 12 months ago.

County to go 9-1-1alone

Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners decided last week to submit a one county 9-1-1 plan to Lansing, vowing to fight for the eliminating of a two county plan with Antrim County that would include the taking of almost half of the Charlevoix County phone lines.

The county, after looking at the costs that would be involved with Antrim County, decided it was too much for Charlevoix County residents to spend bringing Antrim County phone systems up to the requirements needed for such a system.

time goal of the city going back as far as when the consulting firm wrote the comprehensive plan for the city. That was back in the late 70's she said.

In other action Vic Ruggles asked what was being done with the $10,000 that was given to the city by United Technologies. He was told that a small portion was being used by the Economic Development Commission to plan what could be done to increase business in the community, and that the largest amount of money would be used to promote the community as a good place to site a plant. Right now, City Manager Randy Frykberg said, the plans on promotion are being formulated by the EDC. He said that all of the plans are pointing into the direction of a long term plan to increase the manufacturing side of the Frykberg told of another grant given to the city that will involve the placing of a learning center to train workers for the next three or four months. The center is located in a motor lodge and involves several computers to teach new skills for the displaced workers. Other learning labs are based in Petoskey for those wishing to learn at night.

Boyne City will get the engineering underway for a from the DNR this week. Construction is expected new sidewalk that will connect the Veteran's Park and next spring on the almost quarter mile of sidewalk. the Sunset Park as the city received a $32,000 grant

BF to buy more computers

Boyne Falls will be taking another step in the direction of adding additional technology to the classroom as they agreed to participate in a $4,346 purchase of additional computer equipment that would be used by students to help them with reports and other information.

The equipment includes an additional MacIntosh computer with a CD Rom drive and other equipment which a student would use to find research on materials used in the writing of reports.

An example used by computer teacher Bill Aten, showed how a student could use the new equipment in place of encyclopedias and reading many pieces of infor-

He said all of the information would come to the school library on a laser disc which the studentwould find the information he needed for his report.

He said the equipment would also include the use of videotapes that could also be brought into the reports. The system is a multimedia workstation which would allow students to become self learners Aten said.

The purchase was included in a Title II grant application which will pay $3,022 of the costs. The school will be paying $1,324 for their share.

Aten hopes to have all of the equipment in place for student use by January.

In other action, the board appointed Jim Churchill to fill the spot caused by the resignation of Mike Skop. Churchill will fill the position on the board for the remainder of Skop's term which ends June 1992.

They also passed a resolution which will allow for the collection of summer taxes. Last year only Boyne Valley agreed to collect the summer tax which then allowed the school system to borrow less money to operate the schools until the winter taxes came in.

According to Superintendent Chuck Smith last year the school system saved about $15,000 over the cost of a six month loan.

The board then discussed the paying of students wanting to attend college. The school has rules in place which allow students with less than five credits needed to graduate to be able to take college credit classes or vocational

This past fall, more students signed up for vocational and college classes than the school had budgeted. A change in state aid laws may make it manditory for the school to provide those classes in the future.

It was decided to pay for those students attending college and vocational classes starting next semester. The school has a few students who were allowed to take classes but had to pay for them

Jordan River Arts Council plans holiday weekend

The fourth annual Madrigal Dinner, on Saturday, December 14 will begin the festive holiday weekend planned by the Jordan River Arts Council. This very popular event will be held at the Pointes North Inn banquet room in Charlevoix at 7 p.m. and will be catered by Stafford's Weathervane Restaurant. The madrigal chorus from Petoskey High School under the direction of Brad Moffett will again be the featured performers. Tickets are $30 each for non-members and $27.50 each for members. They may be obtained by calling the J.R.A.C. office, 536-3385, or at Stafford's Weathervane Restaurant in Charlevoix. Early reservations are advised as this popular event has been a "sold out" affair each year.

The second part of the Holiday Weekend will be the annual concert of the J.R.A.C. Community Chorus and Community Band. These two groups will combine for an afternoon of holiday music on December 15 at 3:30 p.m. in the East Jordan High School Auditorium. The chorus is directed by Fran Tollas and Margaret Thomson, and the band of Jeff LaRoux, assisted by Rita LaVictoire. The concert if free and is the gift of the J.R.A.C. to the com-

Boyne planners table almost all action Monday night

In one of the shortest meetings ever held by the Boyne City Planning Board Monday night, planners gave their final approval, without comment, which will allow a single family, single floor condominium in the Maple Shore Association to become a two floor

The process to make the change required the owner to appear before the planners, get their approval, and then the city commission for another approval and finally back to the planning body for the final approval.

All of the other business in front of the planners was tabled. One request was tabled as the information did not arrive concerning a conditional use permit to allow the construction of two duplexes on the corner of Front and Second

Also tabled was a discussion which would outline some of the goals the planners would like to see as well as an update on the existing land use section of the comprehensive plan. That delay will allow planners to study the changes being made in the update to see how it would comply with the needs of the city.

Planners then decided to not have a meeting in December because it would be too close to the Christmas season and they felt they would not be able to get enough members to come to the meeting.

Maybe changes are in order

While it comes as no surprise, it is still rather disappointing to see the turmoil continue in Bay Township. The last series of resignations just shows the amount of differences between the elected and appointed board and some of the

In light of the continuing controversy, we would like to present a few suggestions ourselves to whomever takes the position of leadership with the township.

First, it may stop a lot of needless conversation from the audience if the township officials would have and follow a printed agenda.

Second, it would probably help if the township officials followed a strict set of rules as indicated in any copy of Robert's Rules of Order.

In those two moves, the board could allow a certain time for the residents to speak on issues that concern them. If any action is required by the board, it could be followed up, or looked into in the time between the monthly meetings.

Third, the residents themselves should not speak out of turn. That only makes the meetings longer and less productive than a meeting should be.

The issues behind all of the controversy, as we look at the township, is that the long time residents want to see the area run as it has always been, without the suggestions and new ideas of the newer residents.

It is the new ideas being presented that some of the residents have a hard time accepting, as it means a change from the way it was always done in the past.

Anytime changes are made, someone is going to be unhappy. It is too bad those residents who are against change have a hard time dealing with it.

At the same time, it would help if the board members themselves tried to accommodate the residents. Whether it means a change in something like the controversial noise ordinance, which set off the board from the residents, or to the asking and getting complete bids on projects that are for the betterment of the township.

It all means that the two factions should try to work together to help run the township effectively.

As things stand now, the only good to come out of the affairs of the township is the humor that is used in the annual Fourth of July Parade.

Wants assessment at 40%

Homeowners can anticipate with great joy the assessment freeze in 1992 but we would further benefit if Senate Bill 61 was adopted by the state legislature within the near future.

This bill would amend the property tax act to provide that property would be assessed at 40 percent of its true cash value in 1993 and each year thereafter. To make up for the lost revenue a local unit of government would be reimbursed by the state general fund in the same year as the loss. Any taxpayer would have legal standing to bring suit to enforce the provisions of this bill.

If our state legislature would take action on this bill, we would prevent the mass exodus of senior citizens and middle-class homeowners from Michigan.

With all of the construction happening in Boyne City, we thought this picture of a gravel and stone separator back in the early times of the century was appropriate. This picture shows the machine in use with teams of horses and wagons getting filled up from the appropriate bin. Society, Southern Style

These ladies disdain those who put DARK meat in their chicken salad. They insist all ingredients in it be cut in tiny pieces too, are appalled at Miracle Whip used on or in anything, especially eternal deviled eggs. They use mama's egg recipe, a deviled egg plate, of course, make their own mayonnaise - mama's recipe too. They'd rather die (pass on that is, the "d" word never used) than don white shoes prior to Easter, past Labor Day. Too tacky, the ultimate putdown.

So go the Southern Belles. Yet, years of required club and social planning fit them for careers now as well as they fit them to survive, nobly rise from post-Civil War ruins.

The training, lifestyle sticks too, even if they leave. They miss home, though, its active party life particularly. 27-year Α Michiganian, but raised in Louisiana, is amazed no one heard of much less hosts pink teas here. She's comforted by crusts-cut-off tomato sandwich, party favorite Marlyn Schwartz has written a fine fun book on Southern Belles, the long, tough trip it takes to be one, "A Southern Belle Primer or why Princess Margaret will never be a Kappa Kappa Gamma." Schwartz says tot dance lessons, recitals, start the formal training that much more of same plus other exposure results in women with steel nerves, and wills, ladies who go on not only to charm but conquer in all they turn to without compromising their femininity.

As for Margaret, she started out on the wrong foot by arriving an hour late at a party at a Dallas home, Texas being a stronghold of Southern Belledom. She wore pink chiffon also, at an afternoon party yet. She might have been excused that had her shoes not been a different shade of pink, a ghastly gaff by belle standards.

Then she walked about puffing on a cigarette - a big belle boo-boo this moving about, lighted cigarette in hand. That alone would kill her at Kappa Kappa Gamma, a sorority at the University of Texas or schools anywhere in belledom.

Getting into the right sorority, the above being one of half dozen of them, is serious belle stuff too. grandmama, mama. belonged to a favored one and knock themselves out to make sure their belle gets a bid to same.

This brings up other belledom facts: the training takes not only formal lessons but family effort. Also, all belle members refer to their kind as "girls" forever and Likely the Michigan Southern Belle misses hearing that reference too along with pink teas, prime example of theme parties belles so love, plus dressing up, pageantry (beauty pageants a special favorite). At pink teas the tea itself isn't, but hostess's dress, shoes, table and food all are.

Pageantry shows up in weddings especially, where multi attendants not only have shoes matching gowns but punch too. Then brides often dress "Gone With The Wind" Scarlett style.

As for tomato sandwiches, a speciality of Southern society, they cal for white bread circles rounded with a cookie cutter, spread with mayonnaise, topped with drained tomato slices same size as rounds. (This is a treat?)

Belles love joining clubs, but the status one, Junior League, is harder to crack than a college sorority. So mama likely bears down to get belle in here, know she'll get leadership experience as an officer of a charity-bent club, also practice poise, charm, as she works at raising money.

Clearly it's no snap, this Southern Belle business. It takes gobs of time, great resiliency. Still, in this era. belles seldom rebel; even if they go for a career, they hear from older sisters that belledom teaches business skills.

Perhaps it should be added here that even with mama's push, mayonnaise and deviled eggs recipes, Southern Belles can't become belles without the proper

James Gels, M.D., Charlevoix Area Hospital internal medicine specialist, oversees the new cardiac rehabilitation program at the hospital. The program is a cooperative effort of the Northern Michigan Heart Center of Northern Michigan Hospital and Burns Clinic and Charlevoix Area Hospital. It provides an individualized exercise program close to home for cardiac and pulmonary patients such as Mike Veenstra, of Charlevoix. Mr. Veenstra exercises while attached to a heart monitor.

Cardiac rehabilitation program opens in Charlevoix

Northern Michigan Heart Center, a cooperative effort of Northern Michigan Hospital and Burns Clinic, has teamed up with Charlevoix Area Hospital to begin a cardiac rehabilitation program in Charlevoix.

People in the Charlevoix area who have had heart surgery, heart attacks, angina, or pulmonary disease can now join rehabilitation program near their homes. Participants in the program meet for one hour three mornings a week under the guidance of Monica Speigl, an exercise specialist for Northern Michigan Heart Center.

Patients are referred to the cardiac rehabilitation program by a physician and an individualized exercise prescription is written for them. Speigl explains the goal of rehabilitation is to help rebuild strength and endurance as well as muscle tone, and more importantly, to educate and motivate participants to make lasting lifestyle changes to reduce the risk of further heart problems.

The exercise is conducted while the participant is attached to a heart monitor to screen for any arrythmias or other abnormalities that might develop during exercise. Charlevoix Area Hospital ACLS cerfitied nurses and emergency physicians provide the emergency back-up for the

The eight to 12-week program also provides important support for the patient with interaction between participants. After the initial program, patients may continue in a maintenance program which is conducted without a monitoring device. All "graduates" of the program are scheduled for follow-up visits during the first year and then annually.

Burns Clinic Cardiologist Dr.

Patrick Maloney is medical director for the cardiac rehabilitation program and Linda Egan is the coordinator, both from Northern Michigan Heart Center. Dr. James Gels, internal medicine specialist on the Charlevoix Area Hospital medical staff, oversees the program at the Charlevoix site. Egan says, "We're pleased to be able to work with Charlevoix Area Hospital and community residents for their well being."

THANKSGIVING

What moistens the lips And brightens the eye, What brings back the past Like a rich pumpkin pie?

From an old cookbook. Regardless of what religion we profess, we have always been a thankful people. From time immemorial man has had his special days sometime during the year for celebration and to give thanks for the harvest. Even the Pilgrims who were not the kind of people to do much celebrating, and they had very little to give thanks for as so many of their small group did not survive that first winter, invited their Indian friends for a harvest feast of thanksgiving.

We like the kinship with yesterday; to belong, in a sense, to the past. During these last days of Autumn we look for an Indian summer and every warm and dreamy morning is a pleasure to us in the North Country. We know that cold and snow lies ahead. Every warm day is like a precious

Our minds journey back to that first Thanksgiving feast. We are sure that they had turkey. Governor Bradford sent "Four men fowling" to add to their fish and clams. "Chief Massasoit sent braves into the woods who killed 5 deer" From Governor Bradford's "Of Plimoth Plantation."

The Plymouth and the Jamestown Colonies both had their starving times until they made use of Indian foods. From Susan Donnell's "Pocohontas." "Pocohontas found that the food was not really their fault for they (the English) had never seen tomatoes, corn, pumpkin and turkey before." So it is natural and fitting that we celebrate our Thanksgiving with recipes using turkey, pumpkin and corn, those gifts from the Indians.

I received a new cookbook today called "Culinary Classics" from the Old Mission Peninsula School P.T.O. It has some very interesting notes about the history of the Peninsula, and many recipes from it's good cooks.

I am going to give you their recipe for Pumpkin Roll with a few embellishments.

PUMPKIN ROLL

3 beaten eggs 1 C. sugar 2/3 C. pumpkin 34 C. flour

1 t. soda 1 t. cinnamon 1 t. ginger

1 t. nutmeg FILLING: 8 oz. cream cheese, 1 C. powdered sugar, 1 t. vanilla, 1/2 C. margarine. Mix until creamy.

Mix together all ingredients except filling and bake at 350 degrees; (watch) about 10 to 15 minutes. Bake on greased floured cookie sheet (must have edges).

Have a towel covered with powdered sugar. When cake is done, work under it gently with spatula. Flop onto towel and roll up ielly roll fashion and cool on a rack. Unroll and take off lumps of sugar. Mix filling until creamy. Spread on cake. Roll up and regrigerate.

East Bay School Another one of my pumpkin recipes sprinkles one cup of finely chopped nuts on top of batter before baking. A delicious addition. Also it is a good idea to line the pan with waxed paper and grease the paper, that way it comes out of the pan easier.

This next old-time side dish is good with any meal using tomatoes and corn.

ESCALLOPED CORN AND TOMATOES

Will serve 8 2 14 or 16 oz. cans whole tomatoes, drained and cut up

18% oz. can cream-style corn 18 oz. can whole-kernel corn, drained

2 slightly beaten eggs 2 T. all-purpose flour 2 t. sugar

1/2 t. pepper 1/4 C. butter or margarine 1 med. onion finely chopped 1 clove garlic, minced

4 C. soft bread crumbs 1/4 C. grated Parmesan cheese Combine tomatoes, cream-style corn, drained whole kernel corn, eggs, flour, sugar and pepper. Turn into a 12 x 71/2 x 2 inch baking pan. In a medium sauce pan, melt butter or margarine. Add the onion and garlic. Cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Combine crumbs and cheese. Add the butter mixture to the bread crumb mixture and toss to combine. Sprinkle over the baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes, or until a knife inserted near the center comes out

Squash, another gift from the Indians has long graced our Thanksgiving tables. I believe that butternut squash is my favorite of all the different varieties.

GLAZED BUTTERNUT SQUASH

21/2 lbs. butternut squash 1/2 C. packed brown sugar 1/4 C. butter or margarine ¼ t. paprika

Slice squash in 1 inch thick slices. Remove seeds. Arrange slices in a 13x9x2 inch pan. Cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for one hour. In a small saucepan, combine brown sugar, butter or margarine, paprika and salt. Cook and stir until mixture is bubbly. Spoon over squash in baking dish. Return to oven and bake, uncovered, for about 25 minutes more or until squash is tender. Makes 6 to 8 ser-

Schulz donates land to local conservancy

The Little Traverse Conservancy has received a gift of land from Helmuth Schulz, Jr., affectionately known as Bud to many people in the Petoskey area. The 40-acre parcel, located off Pincherry Road in Charlevoix County, was given to the Conservancy in memory of Bud's wife. Annette, who passed away earlier in the year.

The land has been managed by the Schulz's for years to improve the quality of the forest. It adjoins state-owned forest land and has been open to the public for a number of years under the state Commercial Forest Reserve Act.

This piece of land is important for a number of reasons," said Conservancy Executive Director Tom Bailey who accepted the land on the Conservancy's behalf, "It provides access to substantial acreage of state forest land and to Horton Creek to the east. It provides habitat for wildlife, protection for the Horton Creek watershed and scenic frontage on Pincherry Road.

In thanking Mr. Schulz for his gift of land, Bailey noted that the community has received the benefit of Mr. Schulz's generosity many times in the past. "Bud Schulz is well known as a volunteer and generous member of this community," Bailey said, noting that for years all of the Conservancy's nature preserve signs were handmade by Schulz. Fifty bluebird nesting boxes, also handmade, were recently donated to the Conservancy by Schulz as well, Bailey noted. Schulz is a noted local nature photographer, collector of historic photographs and historian. In addition, Bailey recognized Schulz's innovative microphotography of insect wings, a project which attracted the attention of entomologists at Michigan State University.

The parcel donated to the Conservancy was acquired by Schulz just after World War II. "I was looking for some land to reforest," he said, noting that after purchasing the property he planted some 8,000 seedlings of white pine, red pine, Austrian pine, white spruce, blue spruce and douglas fir. He also built a number of trails through the parcel.

Schulz decided to give the property to the Conservancy when it became too much for him to care. for. "I'm past 85 years of age now," he said, "and I have plenty to do with my home, canoeing, woodworking and photography. But the fact that he has turned the property over to the Conservancy doesn't mean that he doesn't enjoy the land any more. "I still go out there and look at the labor of my hands with joy," he said.

What the Conservancy does with the property is up to them, Schulz says. "I am glad they own it," he said. Bailey indicated that the Conservancy plans to hold the property for the time being, because of its proximity to other public land and Horton Creek. Future plans depend upon development pressures in the area and the state DNR's management of adjacent land.

By the time this column has gone to press-and you read it-I hope to have a buck, not "my buck" as bandied about my most of the fluorescent clad army.

Imagine the confusion if some cross-eyed, near-sighted, quick-onthe trigger nimrod shot your buck by mistake and the mayhem that might follow.

Think of the rhubarb that could ensue in cases like the afore mentioned. You would be accused of not being able to read the biglettered sign the unfortunate buck was wearing; that the whole mess could be settled with a shoot-out behind the Side Gate Saloon.

So if anyone asks me, "Did you get your buck?" I'll tell 'em, "Nope the bugger wised up in a hurry because the next time I saw "my buck sign it was hanging across the back of a sleek Jersey heifer.

The Boyne City Ramblers enter Districts this week finishing the season with a 3-17 record. In the last week the girls played some hard fought games but just couldn't pull things together at the last minute. Last Tuesday night the Ramblers played against Kalkaska, the final score of the evening was 37-50. Unfortunately for the Ramblers, Kalkaska couldn't miss a shot at the free throw line and they were getting a number of tries at these shots.

Top scorers for the Ramblers were Abby McCrumb with fifteen points, Aulani Kuheana with thirteen points, Kris Crozier with four points, Melissa Williamson with three points, and Jamie Reinhardt with two points.

On Thursday night the girls traveled to Harbor Springs to fight the mighty Rams. The girls played a great game, fighting all the way, but it just wasn't enough to come out on top. The final score was

The Rams managed to hit baskets from all over the court having an excellent outside game for the evening.

Coming out hot for the Ramblers were Kuheana with fifteen points, McCrumb with nine points, Williamson with six points, Jessica Johnecheck with three points, and Reinhardt with two points. The Ramblers will travel to East Jordan Tuesday the 19th for their first game in the Districts.

Joan Bearse had to send the ball up and over these Vanderbilt players during Monday night's opening Class D District championships being held in Boyne Falls. The Loggers went on to a win 53-45 and will play again in the championship round Wednesday night at 7 p.m. against Gaylord St. Mary.

East Jordan girls were defeated in their last regular game of the season, by only two points as Traverse City St. Francis came out on top 43-41 last Friday.

It was a tough match-up as both teams wanted a win to head into the district championships. East Jordan put up a strong defensive effort from the beginning to try to hold and gain an advantage against the St. Francis girls, but at the end, it was still a one basket difference that made the loss.

Scoring for the Lady Devils were Danielle Looze with 11 points, Kellie Barber with 10, Katie Malpass and Carrie Gee with 8 each. Angie Chase added a basket while Dwanya White had only one point in the offensive side but defensively she led the team in rebounds. Also scoring a point was Kristine Olstrom.
