

An unseasonably cool week, with highs barely reaching 70 most days, and nighttime lows dropping to the upper-40s — about 15 degrees below normal for mid-August. Rain continued to appear on alternate days, with the biggest downpour Saturday night. Sunday saw brisk winds and the coolest weather of the week, with the mercury climbing slowly to the mid-60s. Queen Anne's lace is at its peak; leaves are already starting to turn. LAST YEAR: Highs in the 80s with little precipitation; an overcast and eventually rainy weekend.

Mayor learned from his mistake

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

"I'm especially concerned that young people learn from my mistake," said a contrite Russ Peck after his sentencing on a drunk driving charge.

Peck, the mayor of East Jordan, said he wants to tell everyone that driving drunk is not a safe thing to do and he hopes his example will make that message clear.

On July 5, Peck pleaded guilty in 90th District Court in Charlevoix to operating under the influence of liquor. He was sentenced Aug. 9 to 10 days in the county jail. Nine days are to be served through a community service assignment and Peck was given credit for one day served.

Peck was fined $550 and will continue with a restricted driving license for a six-month term of probation. The restriction allows him to drive to work at East Jordan Plastics, or to fulfill his duties as mayor.

Arrested in the early morning hours of May 1, near his home on Prospect Street in East Jordan, Peck spent about 13 hours in the Charlevoix County Jail before a $200 cash bond was posted.

Peck apologized to Judge Harvey C. Varnum and the public. The mayor feels his sentence is fair and his community service assignment is very worthwhile. He said he feels bad about endangering others and himself by his actions.

"I know I will never, ever do it again," he emphasized.

Neighbors want it down, but house still stands

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

Fire that destroyed a home on Garfield Street in East Jordan about a year ago continues to haunt neighbors and other community members because the ghostly shell remains.

The city, caught between owners in a land contract and a reluctant insurance company, is having some difficulty exorcizing the house from the neighborhood.

The issue was raised again at the Aug. 2 meeting of the East Jordan City Council. Third Ward council member Ruth Gee asked why the clean-up job still had not been completed. It was her impression that the insurance company had settled in July.

An entanglement of involved parties denying responsibility, including the insurance company, has been the cause

East Jordan students awarded scholarships

Four 1994 graduates of East Jordan High School have been selected to receive special scholarships awarded through the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

Kari Snyder was given a $500 Alice Garlock Memorial Scholarship for her outstanding achievement in mathematics. The Garlock Scholarship fund was established to honor the East Jordan High School graduate maintaining the highest grade point average in math. Kari plans to attend Hope College in the fall.

The Alice Garlock Scholarship was established by her husband Ken Garlock, who desired to create a lasting and fitting memorial to her life. Mr. Garlock saw the scholarship as an opportunity to both help others and memorialize Alice.

Leatha Larsen Memorial Scholarships in the amount of $500 each were awarded to Belinda Moore, Celeste Townsend and Tina Richards. Larsen scholarships are based on academic performance and are given each year to college-bound East Jordan graduates.

Leatha Larsen was a teacher and counselor with the East Jordan Public Schools for 30 years. She had a great concern for students and an obvious love of education — which she saw as the key to success in a person's development. Her commitment was so strong, that she established this scholarship fund to help assure educational opportunities for deserving East Jordan High School students.

Belinda will attend Grand Valley State University, undecided at this time on a major. Celeste is planning to major in Commercial Art at Northwestern Michigan College. Tina will attend Sienna Heights College, majoring in Pre-Vet/ Wildlife Biology.

Over the past year, several scholarship funds designated for area high

Accused murderer held on $1 million bond

Accused murderer Daniel Puroll will stay behind bars until his November trial.

Puroll's attorneys attempted to get his bond set at a "reasonable" amount, but Judge Richard Pajitas of the 33rd Circuit Court in Charlevoix chose a $1 million bond after reviewing Puroll's criminal record.

Puroll, 29, of Boyne City, is accused in the murder of Clark Lee Washburn, 81. Charlevoix County Sheriff Deputy Roger Moses discovered Washburn's body May 6 at the elderly man's Rogers Road home. An autopsy revealed Washburn died of multiple gunshot wounds at about midnight, May 5.

Testimony from several sources put Puroll at Washburn's house that evening. Puroll was arrested May 12 on a felony weapons charge. A few days later, he was charged with the murder.

Puroll is in custody at the Charlevoix County Jail.

If I could see a rainbow . . .

On December 19, 1990, I went blind. Unlike the times in my life when I have been blinded by love, rage or pain, on this fateful day, I went blind in the most literal and frightening sense of the word.

Stricken with a rare illness called Guillain-Barre Syndrome, I lay paralyzed in a hospital bed in Harper Hospital, in Detroit. A ventilator forced oxygen into my paralyzed lungs, intravenous lines and a naso-gastric tube supplied my body with much-needed nourishment. I was kept as calm and pain-free as possible with frequent injections of morphine.

Guillain-Barre syndrome attacks the myelin coating that protects the nerves throughout the body. Once this protective coating has been stripped away, the nerves are left raw, and they can no longer support the muscles. Paralysis sets in and there are few treatments available to boost the healing process. Plasma exchange and steroid treatments help somewhat, but myelin grows back at the incredibly slow rate of an inch a month. Most patients have an 80 to 100 percent recovery within a year after the onset of this mysterious illness.

During the illness, I began experiencing problems with my vision. My sight was blurred, and I had a sharp pain directly behind my eyes. Unable to speak, it took over two weeks to "communicate" this problem to my doctor. He assured me that blurred vision is not out of the norm of symptoms experienced by patients with G.B.S.

I was awakened on the morning of Dec. 19, by two nurses. They were there to give me a sponge bath and to turn me on my side. How I dreaded this procedure. The bath was always too brisk, and the constant turning (to prevent bedsores) was a painful process.

Next, one of the many internists assigned to my care entered my cubicle. He was there to check the monitors, and to test my strength and muscle return. Having completed the tests, he was entering notes onto my chart, when suddenly the room filled with a bright light. For the first time in weeks, I could see out into the hallway; I could see the nurses station. Then just as quickly as the light appeared, my world went black.

I blinked my eyes; nothing returned. "I'm blind," I thought to myself. A heaven-sent calmness engulfed me. No need to panic, all I had to do was get the intern's attention. Just then, his coat brushed by my hand. Thinking this to be my only opportunity, I grabbed the coat, and with all the strength that I could muster, gave it a tug.

This startled the doctor. "What do you need?" he asked. I signaled that I wanted to write something. Trepidation filled his voice, he had obviously heard about my many feeble attempts.

But I stood my ground, firmly nodding my head. He placed a large tablet next to my thigh, and gently put the pencil in my hand. Determined not to fail on this crucial message, I painstakingly wrote. "I CAN'T SEE"

He read the message aloud. "You can't see?" he asked. I tapped the tablet with my finger and nodded my head. Yes, I meant what I had written.

Soon my cubicle was a flurry of activity. Tests were ordered, and specialists from neighboring Kresge Eye Institute were summoned. I calmly endured all the pokes and prods, expecting one of the doctors to "fix" my eyes.

The next day, the doctors gathered my family at my bedside to give us the grim news. Optic neuritis was the diagnosis. The fact that I was at zero light perception, which is total blindness, meant I had little if any chance of regaining my eyesight.

The calmness and serenity that had been with me ended. I was frightened, angry, and full of resentment. I became very uncooperative, and cried for days on end.

By the time two weeks had passed, I had regained some light perception. I was frightened by this shadowy vision. By Jan. 21, when I was flown to Munson Medical Center, I had "count finger" vision.

I became aware that I could no longer see any color. I was now seeing the world in black and white. Having always been an artistic and visual person, I found this very upsetting. The specialists from Kresge told me that the damage to my optic nerve was severe, and I should be happy with what vision had returned. I took little comfort in their words.

I was discharged from Munson on Feb. 20. My rehabilitation had been extensive, but the results were worth all the hard work. I walked out of the hospital without any assistance.

It felt wonderful to be home, yet after a few days, boredom set in. I could no longer do many of the things I enjoyed; I couldn't read a book, draw, watch television, or drive a car.

My boredom quickly grew to frustration and depression; then I became involved with the Michigan Commission for the Blind.

The first thing that my caseworker did was send me for a low vision evaluation. There I was fitted with microscopic lenses and powerful binoculars that enabled me to read and see at a distance. Then in October, 1991, and again in February of last year, I went to the Commission for the Blind Training and Rehabilitation Center in Kalamazoo.

I learned white cane techniques, daily living skills, grade one Braille, and underwent testing for the commission to fund my return to college. I also learned just how truly lucky I am.

Many of the students at the training center are totally blind from accidents, or are losing their vision to such debilitating diseases as diabetes. They taught me what strength, courage, and the will to go on are all about. I made friends there that I will cherish for the rest of my life.

While I have adjusted well to the way I see the world now, I still have a very hard time with the color loss. But the optimist in me keeps saying, "Pick up that chin; at least for a time you could see well."

I hope that whoever gets the chance to read this will take the time to enjoy the beauty of our world. They should pause for a moment the next time they see a tree in full fall splendor. They should make a date to go to the beach to watch the sunset.

Like the leaves on a tree in fall, our vision is never guaranteed to last a lifetime. If I could be given the gift of seeing just one more tree, dressed in fall hues, or if I could see one more water-colored rainbow, I'd know I had the "pot of gold" at the rainbow's end.

Introducing guest columnist

Challenges introduces guest columnist Mary Ann Runk McDade, a 1980 Central Lake High School grad, who tells her story of the challenges of visual impairment.

Mary Ann's vision has stabilized at about the same level she describes in her article, though she has been warned to expect some deterioration with age. She uses four different aids for reading and far vision. "My optics take up a whole suitcase!" she joked.

Mary Ann recently moved back to Central Lake from Grand Rapids and is very happy to be in her home town. Because she can no longer drive, the close convenience of shopping, work, school, family and friends is very important to her and her two sons, Craig, 12, and Justin, 8. Mary Ann works as a hostess at the Lamplight Inn.

Safe driving course offered for older adults

The Northern Michigan Hospital/Burns Clinic Foundation has joined forces with the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) to offer 55 Alive, a safe driving course for older adults.

The two-day course is planned for Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 22 and 23, 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the Burns Clinic Classroom, Petoskey. The fee of $8.00 includes both days and all materials. Participants must attend both days.

AARP developed the eight-hour classroom refresher course to help drivers 50 years of age and older improve their skills and prevent traffic accidents.

55 Alive is designed to meet the particular needs of older drivers. Age-related physical changes, declining perceptual skills, rules of the road, local driving problems, and license renewal requirements are included in the course.

Instructors from AARP use a combination of slide presentations and group discussion to teach 55 Alive.

Class size is limited and pre-registration is required. Call HealthAccess, 1-800-248-6777.

Supervisor Vernon shares some parting thoughts

APPROXIMATELY 50 PERCENT of the registered voters in Central Lake Township went to the polls on Aug. 2 to select candidates for the November general election and to decide whether or not I should be recalled from the office of Township Supervisor. They made their decision and one vote determined the outcome of the recall election but that was enough so I am no longer your Supervisor.

Unfortunately, as publicly stated by the initiator of the recall petition, the campaign evolved into a drive to get "a downstater" out of office and give his job to someone who is not from downstate that are frequently referred to as "a native." It became apparent in the closing days of the campaign that the drive was fueled by hate and an obsession that led to inaccurate accusations apparently without serious thought being given to the consequences.

No "natives" volunteered to serve as Township Supervisor in December 1991 when "a downstater" resigned so because of my past experience in government I was asked to accept appointment to fill the vacancy and complete the unexpired term of his term. There was only one "native" who became a candidate for the office in the November 1992 general election. She had no previous experience in government or in business so I became a candidate even though I would have preferred to get back to my retirement. Voters selected "a downstater" over "a native" by more than a three to one margin.

There have been some very pleasant experiences since my appointment and subsequent election as Township Supervisor. There were also some very unpleasant experiences beginning with events that eventually led to voters removing the "native" township clerk from office by a six to one margin in a recall vote about one year ago. My doctors and many friends urged me to resign because of what the stress was doing to my health but I couldn't abandon those who had elected me to serve them for four years.

Now there is a feeling of relief because I can vacate the office with a clear conscience knowing that voters were aware of my position on planning for the future to preserve the integrity of this wonderland when they chose me as their supervisor so I was only doing what they elected me to do and half of those who voted in the Aug. 2 election still feel the same way.

They will be choosing a successor in the November 1994 election and hopefully candidates for that office will realize that serving as Township Supervisor requires more than just being born in Central Lake Township. It is a full-time responsibility to provide leadership that represents the best interests of nearly 2,000 residents of Central Lake Township plus those others who are not residents but own property, pay taxes and spend at least a portion of their lives in our township. Candidates must also realize that, if elected, whatever they do or don't do will be criticized by someone, including the media as well as their own constituency.

Candidates must obtain signatures on a petition in order for their names to be placed on the ballot for that election. Before signing any petition voters should insist that every potential candidate publicly express their plans to guard against further pollution of the waters in our lakes and streams, to protect against those who want to take advantage of the beauty of this area but destroy it in the process, to preserve our farmlands, forests and open space by controlling development and to maintain for everyone the quality of life we now enjoy or, summing it all up, to leave their community a little better than when they found it. That can only be done when people work together and the time to begin doing that is now.

The harassment, subversion and unjustified criticism has also affected Norma, my wife and best friend for more than 50 years. In 1980 we chose Central Lake as the place where we wanted to retire and spend the rest of our lives. We now look forward to doing that with our many friends and thank all of you for your support, your concerns and your understanding during these very difficult times.

Paul R. Vernon

Consider qualifications rather than birthplace

THE CENTRAL LAKE recall election is over, and whether one likes the result or not we must accept the fact that opponents of Mr. Vernon were more diligent in their efforts to get out the vote.

There is an issue, however, that should disturb every citizen in our community (and I say our, not their).

Let me quote from the interview reported in the Traverse City Record-Eagle following the election:

"I think people in this community are tired of people from downstate coming up here and taking all these jobs ... And that's not their fault; that's our fault for not running for them.

"The petitioners, through a group called Concerned Citizens of Central Lake, will help field local candidates for local offices ..."

Who are these "people in this community" or people who are considered "local"? I posed this question to one of these "concerned citizens of Central Lake." The answer? "Those who were born here."

Does it make no difference that we may have lived here five, 10, 15, or more years - that we've paid our taxes so the children of the community could have decent schools - that we have not found it necessary to ask for financial help, but have given rather than taken - that we've "paid our dues" both in the economy of the community and in endless hours of volunteer work? Will these "concerned citizens" never consider us an integral part of the community?

How many came to our downstate communities to earn a living? Were they told, "You belong in Central Lake, not here"?

So they want to field "local candidates." Shouldn't the consideration be who is the most knowledgeable and best qualified rather than the location of the birth certificate?

Not all are of this group. Appreciation goes out to the many "locals" who have seen and accepted us for who we really are - friends and partners in the interests of the community.

Meeting to kick off Habitat project

An informational meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Tues., Aug. 23, at the East Jordan High School auditorium for anyone interested in working on a Habitat for Humanity home building project to be initiated in East Jordan in September.

Volunteers will be needed for the construction process, fundraising and other related tasks. Men and women of all ages are invited to participate. Information will be available on how the Habitat program works and on the specific plans for the East Jordan project.

Northwest Michigan Habitat for Humanity, which covers Charlevoix and Emmet County, has purchased a lot on Bridge St. for its third home building project. An East Jordan family, Mrs. Carol Klabby and her two sons, Jeffrey, 8, and Nathan, 15, have been selected as the partner family for the project.

The Klabbys will be required to put in 250 hours of sweat equity in helping build the home and Habitat will then sell it to them on a no-interest mortgage, with payments going toward Habitat's next building project.

For more information, call Dave Knight at 582-2814 or 536-7875.

Hospice seeking area volunteers

Michigan Home Health Care Hospice is seeking volunteers with "people skills" to work with terminally ill clients and their families in Grand Traverse and surrounding areas.

Free volunteer education classes will take place in September. Volunteers are needed in the areas of patient care, companionship, respite for the patient's family, and clinical support.

For an application or more information, call Colleen Ayling, volunteer coordinator, at 943-8451.

"Breath of Life" campaign to stop CF

September is the month designated for the 1994 Cystic Fibrosis Foundation "Breath of Life" campaign. This door-to-door CF fundraiser takes place in almost every community in Michigan, as well as around the country. This year, the campaign will be in conjunction with the formal U.S. Congressional declaration of September as CF month nationwide.

Cystic fibrosis is the leading genetic cause of death among children and young adults, and limits sufferers to a life-expectancy of about 25-30 years of age. The greatest health problems are caused by increased lung damage from repeated infections, and by malnutrition from inadequate digestion of food. With early diagnosis, daily therapy and medication, the quality and length of a child's life is improved.

Volunteer chairpersons in each community will coordinate efforts to raise money for research, education, diagnosis and treatment of cystic fibrosis.

Serving as CF chair in Central Lake is Dawn Shannon. In East Jordan, Adolph and Marge Kapanowski will coordinate for businesses and Dorothy Batterbee for marchers; in Eastport, Ruth Groll; and in Ellsworth, Joyce Weisler.

Contact any chairperson to help in the fight to conquer cystic fibrosis.

Alzheimer's association plans memory walk

The Northwest Michigan Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association is taking registrations for the fifth annual Memory Walk, which is slated for Sat., Sept. 17.

The walk begins at the All Faith Chapel at the corners of Elmwood and 11th streets in Traverse City. This year's "stars" theme represents the five goals of the association, which are service, support, education, advocacy and research, program coordinator Carlene Peregrine said.

People can participate in the walk as individuals and as groups, Peregrine said.

"We have whole families who will walk in honor of a loved one," she added.

And, of course, the theme also represents the stars who participate in the walk and collect pledges for the miles they complete, benefiting the nearly 4,100 northern Michigan residents who face the daily challenges of Alzheimer's disease.

People can find out more about registering for the walk by calling 929-3804.

CB North
Has A New Investment Account To Peak Your Interest.

Yes, we said peak, not pique, as in something that's way, way up there. Peak, as in interest rates that keep climbing higher, the more you invest.

We're talking about something new, called the CB Investment Account. And it combines real flexibility and liquidity with some of the top interest rates around. Not to mention the security of FDIC-insured funds that only a bank can offer. The way it works is simple.

Your savings earn high-end money market-based interest rates:

Investment	APY*
$ 0 - 2,499	1.5
$ 2,500 - 24,999	3.0
$25,000 - 49,999	3.6
$50,000 - 99,999	4.0
$100,000+	4.2

We have the high-yield, insured investment account that you've been looking for, the CB Investment Account that works by one simple principle. The more you invest, the more you earn. Now, that ought to pique your interest.

For further information, please call 547-9916 or visit any one of our conveniently located branch offices in Charlevoix, Beaver Island, Boyne City, East Jordan, Eastport or Ellsworth.

Annual Percentage Yields (APY) stated are available through August 31, 1994 and are subject to change thereafter. A minimum investment of $2,500 is required to open the account. Fees could reduce earnings on your account. Member FDIC.

Local girl Michigan's Little Miss

Breanna German, 5, of Ellsworth, was recently crowned Michigan's Little Miss of America at the VanDyke Park Hotel in Warren. She competed against 24 other queens for the most prestigious title.

The girls competed in party dress, interview, sportswear modeling, photogenic, talent, TV commercial, and portfolio categories in the two-day event.

Breanna's long list of prizes included a $500 savings bond, rhinestone crown, official jacket, custom trophy, and many other gifts. She also receives her entry fee and lodging paid to the National Little Miss of America finals in Hollywood, California this August.

Last year, Breanna was a Michigan state finalist and was invited to the national finals where she was named second in talent, and was chosen a top 12 finalist, and top 5 for photogenic. She was also named a Super Model winner at Hollywood's Kid's Entertainment Expo that same week. Her picture is featured in the national advertisement for the pageant this year.

This year as Breanna prepares for the national finals, she will be returning as the reigning Miss Michigan as well.

Breanna is a finalist for Kids Star Search '94 and will be receiving her interview while in the Los Angeles area.

Breanna was recently awarded first place performing at the Mancelona Bass Festival and appeared at the Grand Opening at Castle Farms Community Center.

She is the daughter of Bill and Dawn German and is instructed by her mother.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

The Well Have No Need of Physicians
"Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners."
— Mark 2:17

That was Jesus' reply when the scribes of the Pharisees criticized Him for eating with tax collectors and sinners. It was a profound response, for God's Son's ministry on earth was to save mankind from its sins. That is still the function of Christianity, for its believers have accepted God's love and Jesus' precepts. It is the godless and the strayed sheep who cause the greatest concern for the church. They are the ones who are sick, in need of a spiritual physician, most desperately needing the call to Christ. It is to those that others who have witnessed God's blessing should extend all their love and understanding in order to have them cast off their sins and join the brotherhood of the righteous.

Ellsworth superintendent leaving for ISD post

BY KEITH MATHENY
Contributing Writer

ELLSWORTH - School superintendent Rick Diebold is moving up in his career as a school administrator, but he's not going anywhere.

Diebold will leave the post he's held for four years at Ellsworth schools Sept. 1 to take an administrative position with the Char-Em Intermediate School District. One of the attractive things about the new job, Diebold said, is he and his family can stay right where they are.

"We're going to continue to live here in Ellsworth, and have our kids attend school here - that was important to us," he said.

In addition to the administrative duties in his new position, Diebold will be greatly involved in technology for the ISD.

"That's one of my areas of interest and expertise," he said. "We've done some exciting things in technology here in Ellsworth, and I'll be able to continue to provide my services to the schools here and all of the school district."

Diebold's departure leaves the Ellsworth School Board searching for a replacement. A search committee, formed last month and consisting of board members, staff, and parents, formed questions for prospective candidates in several areas of concern, including:

- leadership
- superintendent and board relationship
- fiscal management
- curriculum

- communication and public relations
- school and community relations
- human resources and labor relations
- technology.

Consultants contracted by the school will screen applicants and make recommendations on about six or eight candidates for the school board's consideration. These consultants include the placement directors at Michigan State University and Western Michigan University, and the former placement director at Central Michigan University.

Candidates will be interviewed by the board on Aug. 18 and 19 at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m., and on Aug. 20 at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. at the elementary school library. The board will then meet on Aug. 21 at 3:30 p.m. to decide on three final candidates.

Second interviews may be the following week or the week after, depending on how soon members of the board and search committee can visit the communities from which the candidates are coming from.

Some board members expressed concern that the all-out effort to have someone in place as early into the school year as possible may be causing the process to go too fast.

"I sense that we're rushing it, but then again, there's a spot here that needs filled," board treasurer Dave Heeres said at the board's Aug. 8 meeting.

"If we're not ready to contract a new superintendent by the regular September (12) meeting, I think we'll have to look at naming an interim," board secretary Thelma Chellis said.

Diebold said that although taking the job at ISD was a positive career step, leaving "home" was not an easy decision.

"I taught here for five years in the early 1980s, then went back to school to become a school administrator," he said. "I then took a principal position elsewhere, but my wife and I always said that if an opportunity arose to come back to Ellsworth, we would jump at it.

"Five years later, the opportunity did arrive, and it's been a wonderful four years here."

A special public meeting of the Ellsworth school board was set for Aug. 15 at 6:30 p.m. in the high school media center. The board expected to finalize the list of superintendent applications for interviewing.

Plan emphasizes ecology

When citizens and resource organizations began building the Grand Traverse Bay Regional Greenways Plan nearly a year ago, it was clear that regional values concerning wildlife and the natural landscape would play a major role. The collaborators felt strongly that the Regional Greenways system should provide connections and habitat for non-human species in addition to the traditional recreational, historical, and cultural connections.

Planning "ecological corridors" is a relatively new science. A special ecological corridors committee of the Greenways Planning Team will rely on national research and expertise, as well as local residents' knowledge of the area, to determine the proper design of ecological corridors. Inventories of open space, special habitats and populations will help the team identify potential connections.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently awarded a grant of $40,000 to the Northwest Michigan Resources Conservation and Development (RC&D) Council on behalf of the Ecological Corridors committee. The grant is part of Michigan's Coastal Management program, and will help with mapping, inventory, and design of potential corridors.

Interested residents in the six-county Grand Traverse Bay watershed region (Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska and Leelanau) are invited to work with the Ecological Corridors committee. Please contact the RC&D Council at 616-946-6817.

You are probably aware that Northwestern Michigan College is establishing a University Center in Traverse City and you may have some questions about it.

Why is NMC creating a University Center?

A:

In a 1991 community survey, NMC asked area residents how they could better serve them. The Number One response was to bring more four-year and graduate-level education to northwestern Michigan. The University Center is an opportunity for NMC to address that response.

From moonscape ...

... to landscape

What a difference a donation makes – or in this case, many donations. It all started with the gift of 59-plus acres along Six Mile Lake Road earlier this year, and continued with the reclamation of a four-acre gravel pit on the property's southern limits. A cooperative effort between the St. Clair Lake-Six Mile Lake Committee, Drenth Brothers, Inc., the Soil Conservation Service, the Elk River Watershed Initiative and the Grand Traverse Regional Land Conservancy, the graded and reseeded site is already attracting wildlife. Also visible: one of two new parking areas to help visitors access the "mosaic of habitat types" encompassed in the preserve, just a few miles south of Ellsworth.

Jordan River Players announce latest production

A cast of 24 actors is in rehearsal for the world premiere of The Magic Flute, a new musical play for children based on Mozart's comic opera. Director Paula Vollbach announced a cast of two adults, seven teenagers and 15 children. They will be assisted by Margaret Thomson, musical director, and Lorie Fox, flutist.

Jake Ryan plays Tamino, an Egyptian prince in search of his true love, Pamina, played by Molly Saygers Porter. Area playgoers will recognize Ryan as Horace Vandergelder in East Jordan High School's spring production of Hello, Dolly, and Saygers Porter as the weeping Mashinka in Jordan River Players' last production, Baba Yaga.

Assisting the prince in his search is Papageno, a bird-catcher played by Kevin Penzien, who also longs for a love of his own. His Papagena is played by Danielle McDuffie, who also portrays an old woman who confuses the search.

Pamina is kidnapped from the home of the woman who recently adopted her — the Queen of the Night, played by Mary Ann Swanson. Sarastro, a priest played by Howard Ellis, was responsible for the kidnapping, carried out by his servant, Monostatos, played by Bob Donnell.

Three ladies who serve the queen are portrayed by Patty Gee, Suzi Malpass and Rachel Warnos. Priests who serve Sarastro are portrayed by Marcus McDuffie, Mark Penzien and Peter Warnos.

Jeremy Penzien and York Smith are slaves who double as scenery changers. Laura Warren, Karen Westman and Krista Westman, are spirits who assist Tamino. Melissa Brillely, Katie Goebel, Charity McKay and Megan Warnos serve as the chorus, portraying a serpent, lions, palm trees and creatures from the underworld.

The Egyptian costumes and set were designed by Vollbach, who is also in charge of set construction. Additional properties were built by Frank Hasseld, and costumes made by Cyndi Penzien.

The play was written by East Jordan playwright Lenore Bechtel, and the 12 songs are new lyrics written to shortened versions of Mozart's original music.

The production by Jordan River Players, the theatrical arm of Jordan River Arts Council, will be at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Aug. 26 and 27, and at 2 p.m. Sun., Aug. 28, at East Jordan High School.

Tickets will be available at the door 30 minutes prior to curtain. Prices are $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Local Mary Kay director receives special award

Jackie L. Alward of Ellsworth, received the prestigious Circle of Achievement Award at the annual Mary Kay Cosmetics Seminar, July 18-30, at the Dallas Convention Center. Alward received this recognition for unit retail production of $300,000 for the seminar contest year.

As a Circle of Achievement member, Alward received a 14-karat gold and diamond bar pin. She received the pin for being a first-time member of the Circle of Achievement, or for exceeding the previous year's unit sales as a current Circle of Achievement member. In addition, Alward was honored with an engraved plaque displaying her unit retail status for the 1993-1994 seminar year.

Jackie L. Alward

"Deep in the Heart" was the theme for this year's 31st anniversary celebration of excellence attended by approximately 40,000. The company's annual seminar provides business classes, motivation, and recognizes and rewards top independent sales force members for their achievements. More than $6 million in luxurious prizes such as diamond jewelry and extravagant European vacations were awarded to the independent sales force for career achievement.

Seminar included general assemblies with speeches from Mary Kay Ash, top directors and company executives. Also, there were more than 100 career enhancement classes, launches and previews of new products and programs, and finally, awards night, a spectacular ceremony where top achievers were awarded with different prizes.

AN UNUSUAL wheel-thrown ceramic jar with hand-built lid and a watercolor of a rainy street were the 1994 Purchase Prizes selected for permanent display at the Cygred Riley Gallery. Paul and Diane Uhl of Texas designed and created the airbrushed jar that received the $300 prize for a three-dimensional work. Kathy Phillips of West Bloomfield won the $500 prize for a two-dimensional work with her painting of figures walking in the rain.

Red Cross sets golf outing at Shanty Creek course

The Antrim County Chapter of the American Red Cross is holding its fourth annual benefit golf outing on Sun., Sept. 4 at the Shanty Creek Golf Course. The Antrim County Chapter is an all-volunteer chapter governed by a 17 member Board of Directors serving a population of just over 18,000 residents.

The Antrim County Chapter is not a United Way agency, and the Red Cross receives no government funding for any of its programs, according to local officials. Funding is received from contributions made by local businesses and citizens in the area.

The golf outing is one of the fund raisers to provide services in Antrim County. Participating in this event will help the American Red Cross help others by supporting these vital programs of the Red Cross: recovery of single family fire victims, teaching First Aid and CPR, swimming and water safety instruction, 24-hour emergency communication between military personnel and their families, HIV/AIDS education, recovery of local and national disaster victims, blood collection programs to save lives and much more.

The day will begin with coffee, rolls and registration at 7:30 a.m. with a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. This is a four person scramble and can be all men, all women or mixed groups. Sign up as foursomes or the professional staff will make pairings. It is a handicapped event which should give all golfers with varying abilities an equal chance to win.

The individual price for golf is $60. This includes golf, lunch and prizes. Half of the registration fee is tax deductible as a contribution to the American Red Cross.

Hole-in-one prizes on par threes include a 1994 Olds, a set of Maxfli VHL irons, a four day Hilton Resort vacation and two round trip tickets anywhere in the continental United States on USAir.

Hole-in-one prizes are provided by Chet Swanson sales in Traverse City. Door prizes have been donated by area golf courses and businesses.

Flyers are located at local golf courses and area businesses or call Dan or Marcia Varble at 533-6011.

Truck hurt, driver not

The Antrim County Sheriff Department has determined that alcohol was at least one factor in an Aug. 5 accident which left no one hurt but seriously damaged two cars. Kimberly Davis, 19, of Clayton, Ohio, was traveling east on M-88 near Pearl Street in Eastport. She told police that she bent down to pick up an item, went onto the shoulder and struck the rear of a parked vehicle owned by Earl Henebar, 71, of Eastport. Davis' truck pushed Henebar's car into a tree before her vehicle came to a stop in a yard. A breathalyzer test on Davis revealed she was not legally drunk, but she was ticketed for careless driving.

up north outdoors

BY DAN MILLER

The summer months have been really good for the fishing in our area of Michigan. Walleye has been fairly easy to catch, if you have been out at the right time of day. This has been true of several lakes and believe it or not, during the day time.

For lakes Bellaire, Charlevoix, Intermediate and Leelanau, the day time bite has been very good. The best methods have been either crawler harness, casting, or trolling hard baits such as Shad Raps or Fat Raps over the weedlines. I have had reports of limit catches coming on all of these lakes by these methods.

With the cooler than normal temps over the past week or so, the walleye has actually increased in action. The best depths have been in the 8 to 12-foot range, with some action as shallow as 5 feet and as deep as 16 feet.

Smallmouth bass action is great if you want to get out and do some night fishing. I personally put several nice-sized fish in the three plus pound range in the boat last week casting Storm's new Chug Bug on the surface over 10 feet of water. My fishing partner and I had quite a thrill as those brown backs smashed the bait as hard as they could.

On the big waters of Lake Michigan, the action has been excellent. The best method has been trolling P-

Nuts behind size 0 dodgers of spin n' glows behind cowbell rigs.

The brown trout action has been rather slow, both on Lake Charlevoix and on Elk Lake. The brown trout on the bay has been a bit better than on the other lakes.

Steelhead action has been increasing for those who are venturing out to find them. Some anglers are reporting that they are traveling out to the Fox Islands to find good steelie action while others report getting them high lining while fishing for lakere.

Salmon action doesn't look good for any of our area for this season. Charter skippers are reporting a few jack-sized fish. There are few reports of mature fish.

Fall licenses should be out to area dealers somewhere around Aug. 15. Remember too that this is the time to start getting eyes and muscles ready for the coming bow season by starting to sling a few arrows daily.

First Annual Lake Charlevoix Walleye Tournament

As the tournament director for the First Annual Lake Charlevoix Walleye Tournament Aug. 27 and 28, I would like to remind you to get your entries in soon. There is still room for your team to enter. If you get your entry in before Aug. 19 you will save $10 on the entrance fee.

Entry forms are available at several bait shops, boat dealers and the area Chambers of Commerce or you can write for one at P.O. Box 137, East Jordan, MI 49727, or call either the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce at 536-7351, or call me at 536-3121 during the day.

This tournament is set up for the local, amateur anglers. The best pros will be in Minnesota fishing the PWT Championship the same weekend.

We are set for a great time and you don't want to miss out. Remember that you can't win if you don't enter. The entry is only $110 per team, that is just $55 per person. The payback is at 85 percent and we want to have some money left in the net proceeds to put back towards continued plants and improvements of the walleye in Lake Charlevoix. Until next time, have fun in our great Up North Outdoors.

Dan Miller is an avid outdoorsman who enjoys hunting, fishing and sharing his perspective on the outdoor world with Torch/Journal readers.

WITH A STRONG SWING, pitcher Ken Watson of the Up North team gets a base hit during Thursday's game against Elk Rapids. Though Up North beat Elk Rapids in two previous outings, they lost this match 12-4.

Over-50 softball players battle

The Ellsworth softball diamond was the scene Aug. 1 for what proved to be a defensive battle between the two Antrim County "Old Timers" ball teams.

The Up North group, made up of players from the Ellsworth, Central Lake and Bellaire areas, came away with a 3-2 win over the team from Elk Rapids.

Members from Bellaire are John Fleet, Bob Hardy, Larry Hoopfer and Jim Petrie. Central Lake members are Don Bruce, Bob Cullen, Charlie Killian, Malcolm Sutton, and Ken Watson. From Ellsworth are Fred Allen, Dick Gonshorowski, Bob Parkinson, Ray Rains, and Willard Vanderark.

The Up North team was started just this season with a nucleus of players who last year played as part of the Elk Rapids team. The Antrim County Commission on Aging helped get the whole thing going last year. We encourage any other "old timers" to come and join us. Call 544-6475 for more information.

Got a nice thank you from Ken Watson ("Over 50" softball team) for help getting the word out. Well, thank you, Ken. Yours is just the kind of group we enjoy telling our readers about. Keep those game reports coming (and keep winning, too!)

It feels terrible - an editor's worst nightmare - when a photo turns out badly, either in the taking, printing, because of a flaw in the film or camera, or in the publishing.

Unfortunately, it happens even to nice people like Dale Watson of East Jordan, the proud recipient earlier this summer of a number of awards from his employers. When we published his photo June 22, his entire face was shadowed.

So we're trying it again this week, with hopes that his face is visible and our faces can stop being red! Many apologies Dale. Congratulations on your achievements, and thanks for your patience.

Despite contrary weather, the benefit for young Crystal Hershberger, Aug. 13, reaped a respectable $2,000-plus to help the family deal with high medical costs. The hard work of many volunteers made the success possible, as well as many generous donations of money, food and raffle gifts. More details coming next week.

Lundy receives Masonic scholarship

Richard Lundy of East Jordan High School, class of 1994, was the recent recipient of a scholarship from Charlevoix Masonic Lodge #282. The $1,000 award is funded by $500 interest from a trust established by the East Jordan Masons before merging with the Charlevoix Lodge, and the balance is a matching grant from the Grand Lodge of Michigan Masons. Lundy will use the award toward his studies at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Pictured are Past Master Keith Annear (left), Charlevoix Lodge Master Richard Foster, Lundy, and Past Master Don Bowers. The third scholarship committee member, Dr. James Stewart, could not be present.

Celebrating Firemen's Field Day in Torch Lake

Playing for the Ashes

By Elizabeth George

There is no doubt about it; Elizabeth George writes a mesmerizing story in her newest book. She is a gifted storyteller and combines a mystery with insights into every one of her characters.

The story features complete opposites: Detective Inspector Thomas Lynley and his sidekick, Detective Sergeant Barbara Havers. Despite their differences, they work together to solve the murder of a famous cricket star, Kenneth Fleming. But all is not what it seems and they learn the star's life was in shambles and he had an unusual relationship with a former teacher, as well as a young lover.

As all England reels from the shock of the crime, the detectives find themselves working on the most dangerous case of their careers. Lynley risks his career with the New Scotland Yard.

In Playing for Ashes, George invites the reader into the lives of all of her characters, a compelling plot and making certain the reader will want all her books. They can be found at the Central Lake Township Library.

Terry Schieber

Dear Terry,
Many thanks from all of us for planting the 28 foot letters of flowers that read "The Legend" for our Antique show on Sept. 3 and 4.

We understand you used 130 flats of flowers to do this. And you're right - it describes this show so well - it's no wonder Tom Hlopt, editor of "Antique Week" calls our show "The Legend."
We'll all be there on the day before to unload, set up and get ready to open at 10 a.m. on Sept. 3.

Bellaire Rotary Club P.S. - Terry, it's true that Tom Hlopt will be at the show with his own booth of information. He and Marilyn show real antiques and reproductions so people can learn to identify just what they are buying. It's a nice service isn't it?

Driver of the year

East Jordan resident Dale Watson proudly displays the plaques he earned as the Midwest and National Solid Waste Management Association's Driver of the Year. Watson has driven refuse collection vehicles for 27 years and over a million miles with a perfect safety and attendance record. In May, he and his wife Linda received a four-day, all-expenses-paid trip to Dallas, where he was honored at the National Waste Expo. Watson also received a $1,000 savings bond, a $500 savings bond, a watch, and was featured in training and awards videos. Watson generally does residential pick-up in the Charlevoix area.

Editor's note: This photo, published in the June 22 issue of the Torch/Journal has been reprinted because a production problem caused Mr. Watson's face to be obscured.

Contributors view new facilities

"With the completion of this new addition and remodeling, we are better equipped and better prepared to provide for your medical needs now and into the next century," Richard Krueger, Charlevoix Area Hospital president, told a gathering of nearly 140 Lighthouse Club contributors Aug. 3.

"This reception today honors your commitment to help us provide the ever increasing services needed by the growing population of this area," he said.

The Lighthouse Club is made up of those who gave $100 or more in the past year to support the hospital's equipment and facility needs. Each year a reception is held to inform them of the hospital's growth and needs, and to thank them for their support.

A "memorial wall" was dedicated at this year's reception. Plaques bearing the names of past building fund contributors which have hung in the hospital from as long ago as 1954, have been relocated to the new addition. In addition, a plaque bearing the names of top givers to the recent building campaign has been placed near the new elevator.

Chain-of-Lakes attracts more EPA support

A grant for $18,000 from the Environmental Protection Agency will help local leaders in Antrim County's Chain of Lakes region take control of future water quality and land development issues. The grant follows work conducted under the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) Clean Lakes Program to identify threats to the natural resources.

Local organizations, under the leadership of the Antrim County Planner's office, have chosen to locally manage the restoration, protection, and fundraising activities recommended by MDNR. Using a Steering Committee format, local organizations will work together in the coming years to make sure that individual efforts of Lake Associations, local governmental units, and environmental agencies are well coordinated, and that technical and financial resources are anticipated and met.

The Michigan DNR was instrumental in obtaining the grant, and plans to continue to assist the local Steering Committee. DNR representatives are interested in building on the current local cooperation and voluntary contributions to ensure that the unique Chain of Lakes region gets the environmental protection it deserves.

Steering Committee meetings are open to the public, and participation is welcomed. Meeting schedules can be obtained from the Northwest Michigan RC&D Council, 946-6817.

Hospice seeking volunteers

Free volunteer education classes will take place in September. Volunteers are needed in the areas of patient care, companionship, respite for the patient's family, and clinical support.

For an application or information, call Colleen Ayling, volunteer coordinator, at 943-8451.

Painting the town's signs

DWARFED BY THE SIZE of the graphics they painted on the Jordan Valley Express Music Center, Signs Letters and Graphics owner Mark Postma and his dad Ron work on ladders to complete the last details.

CLOSE-UP WORK painting a big sign can challenge the eye and the brain - working on corrugation doubles the challenge, as Ron Postma, shown here painting details on a railroad train, can attest.

of a number of delays. But the latest information indicated a contractor had been hired and the insurance check was issued.

Neither city superintendent Bob Johnson nor city attorney Scott Beatty could give further details. A city ordinance requires holding a portion of payment for the clean-up in escrow, but Johnson could not confirm if any had been held.

Beatty said he will make inquiries on the progress of the situation.

The clean-up, which includes debris disposal, filling and leveling of the site, is expected to cost $8,000 to $10,000.
