

Some of the hottest weather since mid-July came our way Aug. 23, when the mercury climbed into the upper 80s. Daytime temperatures remained in the mid-80s through Thursday evening, when a torrential downpour cooled things off a bit. Friday's overcast skies gave way to more of the same Saturday, with rain, thunderstorms and high winds keeping swimmers off the beaches. Sunday saw a gradual clearing, with the humidity falling as nighttime lows dipped to the 60s. Predicted: a cooler than average week, with lows falling to the 50s, and daytime highs expected to barely challenge the 70-degree mark.

Habitat will provide a home – with help of many

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

"We're not giving a hand-out; we're giving a hand up," said Dave Knight, president of the Northwest Michigan Habitat for Humanity board of directors.

He was speaking to a group gathered at East Jordan High School for an Aug. 22 informational meeting on the Habitat's present project: a new home for the East Jordan family of Carol Clabby.

Clabby and her two sons, Nate Gagnon, 15, and Jeff Clabby, 8, were selected from about 12 applicants to own the home, to be built near the corner of Bridge and Echo streets. The Clabbys will be required to contribute 250 hours of "sweat equity" in helping to build the home.

Clabby, though unemployed for the summer, is an assistant pre-school teacher working for Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency. She is hoping her Department of Education position in Mancelona re-opens soon.

The apartment the family has lived in for nine years is well-cared for, but too small. Clabby also has a daughter, Brooke Gagnon, 13, in joint custody with her ex-husband. Although Brooke doesn't stay on a regular basis, when she does the place can seem awfully crowded.

Clabby was recommended by the Habitat family selection committee because of the living situation, but other criteria are considered as well. Of the applicants, Clabby was considered best able to assume the payments and the responsibility of home ownership, and work in a partnership with Habitat.

Without this program, Clabby would probably rent for the rest of her life.

"I don't believe this," she said. "When I first found out, I just went around beaming and talking about it all the time."

When completed, Habitat will sell the 832-square-foot home to Clabby for about $30,000 on a 20-year, no-interest mortgage, with payments going toward the next building project.

Knight said Habitat has a mortgage success rate higher than 98 percent.

"Even after closing, Habitat continues the relationship with the family to make sure all goes well," he explained. Early intervention is effective prevention, in the organization's view.

Knight held the meeting to recruit volunteers for the construction and organizational process, expected to begin within the next few weeks. With no paid staff, Habitat relies on volunteer labor for most aspects of construction.

Knight is enlisting volunteers not just for hammering nails, but also for committees to coordinate volunteers, help make insurance arrangements, and other paper-chasing. There is also need for general office work, computer experience, and of course, fundraising.

Although Habitat subcontracts some of the more specialized aspects such as masonry or electrical installation, the group eagerly accepts skilled professionals in those fields who may volunteer. If volunteers come with their own tools and equipment, so much the better.

Clabby said she will help any way she can.

"I'm not really trained, but I'm willing to learn and I'm strong," she said. She likes the idea of learning some construction techniques so she can build a shed or fix things around the house.

Several congregations in East Jordan have expressed interest in assisting the ecumenical organization build Clabby's home. Representatives of the school district also plan to get involved as volunteers. Everyone who can help is accepted.

"We're lean and mean," said Knight, adding, "Every step is a venture of faith."

Knight called the undertaking a wonderful human experience, along with being an asset to the community.

Bob Pluister of Boyne City is the chairman of the building committee. He noted the need for immediate action on the project.

"Every Saturday, we'll be working on this," he told the group. "We can see the snowflakes coming."

He said he hopes to finish construction by Thanksgiving.

The foundation for the modest home will be contracted and completed before volunteers begin working. A project supervisor, un-named as yet, will be on site at all times when volunteers are at work.

With two bedrooms, one bath and an open kitchen/dining/living area, the no-frills home may seem small. But to Carol Clabby, it's a new start. Nate, a sophomore at EJHS, thinks the house will be great and plans to help as much as possible - he'll somehow fit it into his schedule of school, band, cross country and two jobs.

"I think this is really cool," said Jeff, a second-grader. He said he will also be on hand, eagerly volunteering to carry boards and hammers, or "do the roof!" (Mom, in the background, was emphatically shaking her head no to the last idea!)

According to Knight, Habitat is about the 13th largest builder in the country, and although fairly new to this area, draws on the expertise of the international organization to build a good house.

Carol Clabby just knows she and her kids will have their own home - through the help of many hands, including her own.

Sheriff investigates homicide

The Charlevoix County Sheriff Department is investigating a shooting death in Wilson Township early in the morning of Aug. 23.

Donald Lee Baker, 49, of Wilson Road, was found dead in his residence. Barbara Howes, 44, of Portage, admitted shooting Baker, claiming the action was in self-defense. Howes was Baker's ex-fiancee.

The sheriff was assisted at the scene by the East Jordan police and ambulance departments, and the Michigan State Police lab and medical examiner.

The couple apparently had a history of disputes, and a sheriff's officer was called to the residence early Sunday morning on a domestic complaint.

On Aug. 24, Charlevoix County prosecuting attorney Richard May authorized a warrant of open murder and felony firearms against Howes, who was arrested after the shooting. Howes is being held at the county jail on a $100,000 bond.

Howes was arraigned on the charge in 90th District Court, Aug. 25.

ARE TWO LAKE ACCESSES in the Eden Shores subdivision for residents only? Not according to Torch Lake Township supervisor Kim Schmidt, who removed three signs making the erroneous claim (inset). "Whoever put the signs up can come to my house and get them if they want them," he said. The access in the photo will be the first site to have split-rail fencing installed by the township that marks the boundaries between it and adjacent landowners. Public access signs will also be put on the now-signless posts (foreground).

Township removes false signs at lake sites

BY KEITH MATHENY
Contributing Writer

Torch Lake Township supervisor Kim Schmidt doesn't know who the members of the Eden Shores Association are, but he has their signs.

Schmidt said at the Aug. 9 township meeting that three signs reading "Residents only - Eden Shores Association" were removed from two areas intended to provide public access to Lake Michigan in the Eden Shores subdivision.

Signs designating public accesses were already on order prior to the discovery at Eden Shores. The new signs will be put up at all public sites on Torch Lake and Grand Traverse Bay as part of a township effort to better mark them.

Schmidt said it was possible the erroneous signs were "a misunderstanding by some people in the subdivision."

"I know that when I was growing up, I always thought they were just accesses for the subdivision - but they are intended for all the public to use," he said.

William Good, a member of the township road and access committee and himself a resident of a different part of the Eden Shores subdivision, said he wasn't sure who put up the signs, but he has no doubt the area in question was platted for public use.

"I think (Eden Shores residents) realize these are public accesses," he said. "There's a plat map at the township offices that proves it."

Schmidt said local officials are meeting with property owners adjacent to access sites to let them know the township will be installing fences to help define public lake frontage.

"It will be unobtrusive, split-rail fencing - it won't be a chain-link fence or anything to keep people out," he said. "It will simply mark the boundaries of the public property and help keep people from going onto private landowners' lawns."

Fencing materials for the 16 accesses in the township will cost $6,500. The board decided to attempt to fence local accesses last year.

"We felt it was a good policy for the township - to mark these sites and keep them open for the public," Schmidt said.

"We're trying to protect any means people have of getting to the water, both on Lake Michigan and Torch Lake," Good said.

One of the Eden Shores sites, near property owned by Eric Rauch, will be first to receive the fencing. The project could begin as early as this week, according to township clerk Elva Cowell.

The Rauch property was chosen first because, "There had been a minor encroachment upon the access," Schmidt said.

Rauch apparently has part of his porch and his septic system on the public site.

"When he bought the property, he was probably told that the area was his," Good said. "It is a very large access, and the encroachments don't keep the public from using it. He's been told by the township that if he has any plans of moving things or expanding, to keep in mind that it's public property."

The new public access signs are expected to arrive any day, and will be installed right away.

"Guess where the first three signs will go?" Schmidt said at the Aug. 9 meeting. "We've already got posts up and everything."

John Chuchman

Local man bikes around world - sort of John Chuchman biked 20 miles from his place on Torch Lake to Central Lake village and back through Eastport Aug. 5. The trip was noteworthy because it ended a six-year endeavor by the 57-year-old retiree to travel 25,000 miles by bicycle - equivalent to a trip around the world.

Chuchman's son got him into bicycling in 1988. At the time 51, he had been running to stay in shape for a few years, but found it too tough on his joints. At first skeptical, Chuchman soon fell in love with the sport.

"There's so much more you can see, hear and feel than when you're riding in a car," he said.

Chuchman joined a local riding club in Lancaster, Pa. where he lived. He began to ride four to six days each week, about 100 miles per week. Keeping track of his miles in a log, they soon began to mount.

During his quest, Chuchman biked three "centuries" (100-mile days), and cycled across the state of Maryland (320 miles in five days).

When he moved back to Michigan, he kept on biking, both here and during winters in Arizona. He has competed in northern Michigan bike rallies such as the Harbor Springs Classic (twice), Cherry Blossom Rally, Leelanau Tour, and the RAT (Ride Around Torch).

"The Amish country in Pennsylvania and Maryland are beautiful biking locales, but nothing compares to northern Michigan," Chuchman said.

Though his "round-the-world" journey is over, Chuchman continues to bicycle about 100 miles per week.

"I don't know what my next biking goal will be, but I'll think of something," he said.

Neither rain, nor storm, nor heat, nor tornado could keep the show from going on in East Jordan, Aug. 27.

When the warning siren went off just before the opening act of The Magic Flute, a quick telephone call confirmed fears and play director Paula Vollbach informed the audience of the tornado sighted minutes before near Charlevoix.

After a short discussion on the best place to take shelter in the vicinity of the high school auditorium, the spunky audience and members of the Jordan River Players decided to go on with the show until conditions warranted otherwise.

A wonderful show it was, too, with snakes, fair maidens, powerful sorcerers, heroic young men, magic flutes and feathery friends. And as the very loud storm crashed its way through East Jordan, the players found their staged thunder and lightning effects to be completely unnecessary!

We like to report on our friend Skip Honhart because he is an interesting fellow - and the delicious chocolate mints (thanks, Skip) have absolutely nothing to do with it!

Enjoyed the company of Joan Clow of Charlevoix and Dorothy Westhoven of Ellsworth for a few days in our office while they pored over ancient bond copies of The Torch. The ladies are looking for any information to verify the existence of the town of Essex in Banks Township. The collected info will go towards convincing the state to erect a historical plaque commemorating the bygone mill town.

Congratulations to Dale Lord and Joseph Rebec of East Jordan. These two lucky guys are the only local hunters to be selected for antlerless only elk licenses.

Conservancy completes projects

At the third annual Grand Traverse Regional Land Conservancy meeting held Aug. 13, Antrim County Steering Committee Chairman Reg Bird reported eight land projects encompassing over 573 acres of land were completed by the conservancy in Antrim County.

Also at the meeting held in the Traverse City First Congregational Church were "Jinks" Ross of Alden, Jim Young of Bellaire and Ron Tschudy of Six Mile Lake. Newly elected board members Pete Peterson of Ellsworth and Greg Reisig of Elk Rapids will serve for one and three year terms respectively.

JoAnne Beemon, St. Clair Lake-Six Mile Lake Natural Area Project Chairman, was recognized for her volunteer efforts in raising over $50,000 towards purchases totaling 76 acres of undeveloped stretches of the shoreline in the Elk River-Chain of Lakes Watershed. Beemon also made a presentation on what has been dedicated as the Lee Alan Lawmaster and Skow Nature Preserves.

Glen Chown, executive director of the GTRLC, announced that $10,000 has been pledged to complete fundraising for a 32-acre addition to the Pyatt Lake Nature Preserve on Old Mission Peninsula. This parcel had been approved for the development of seven single family homes, and will now be a cooperative project of the GTRLC and the Old Mission Conservancy.

State Senator George McManus unveiled the state's recent project to purchase the development rights to the 72-acre Chateau Grand Traverse vineyard property, thus launching the state's P.A. 116 Purchase of Development Rights (P.D.R.) Program.

Boaters should take note of divers

Many area boaters seem to be unaware of the regulations covering divers and boating traffic in local lakes.

Members of the Charlevoix Coast Guard Auxiliary have received several complaints from divers claiming that vessels are violating marine law with regard to staying clear of their diving area.

Divers in the Great Lakes and surrounding waters must display a special flag indicating their presence. Look for a rectangular red flag with a diagonal white stripe running from the top of an antenna-like device to the opposite corner.

Boaters, including operators of personal watercraft, are required to stay clear of a 200-foot radius around such a flag. Divers must surface within 100 feet. Failure to comply with these regulations is considered a misdemeanor, punishable by a $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

The Department of Transportation reminds boaters and divers to follow the rules and help keep area waters safe for recreation of all types.

Wetland workshops planned in area

Wetland workshops designed to explain wetland laws and address development and protection issued have been scheduled for Gaylord and Traverse City.

The workshops, sponsored by the Environmental Resource Management Network (ERMNET), Inc., will cover issues important to landowners, local government officials, consultants, developers, and others interested in wetland management. The day-long workshops will be based on a popular handbook designed to teach local government officials about how to help constituents with wetland matters.

"Wetlands continue to be the focus of much controversy," said Steve Harrington, an attorney, author, and consultant who will be instructing the workshops. "The issues are less about protecting or developing wetlands and more about what the law really says and how it is administered."

Harrington said the workshops will provide an objective view of state statutes and rules. "Participants will obtain practical information regardless of their wetland management goals," he said. "We will also examine many of the myths surrounding wetland protection and management."

The workshops will be offered on Sept. 21 in Gaylord and Sept. 22 in Traverse City. The cost of the one-day session is $75, which includes extensive course materials. The deadline for registration is Sept. 9.

More information about the workshops can be obtained by contacting ERMNET, 290 Gorman Road, St. Ignace, MI 49781, or by calling (800) 438-9530.

Chamber needs photographs

The East Jordan Chamber of Commerce is in need of both historic and current photographs for two upcoming projects.

Anyone interested in submitting photos may either phone or drop them off at the Chamber office or the EJ Shoppe. All contributors will receive photo credit, and prints will be returned.

For further information, please contact the chamber executive director Mary Faculak at 536-7351 or 536-2348.

Deadline for submission current area photographs is Sept. 15. Historic deadline will be announced later.

Party lines — soon a thing of the past

Party line telephone service will soon be just a part of history for residents of Alden, Clam River, Eastport, Torch River, Atlanta and the western portion of Mio. GTE Telephone Operations, the local telecommunications service provider, is ready to put the finishing touches on an $18 million construction program that will upgrade 2,101 customers to private line service and place 566 miles of new cable this year.

According to Jim Gatrell, GTE facility supervisor- outside plant construction, crews have started cutting the new lines into service, and should be completed by the end of November. Also, some customers may experience a short service interruption while the lines are being transferred from the old to the new cable facilities.

Privacy is not the only benefit of this upgrade. Customers will now be able to choose their long distance company, as well as, subscribe to a host of services such as Call Waiting, Automatic Call Return, Caller Number Identification, and selective Call Blocking. These options may be ordered by calling the GTE Business Office at 1-800-483-4600.

Additionally, GTE District Manager, Bob Karshner said, "overall quality of service for our customers will improve and become more reliable because most of the new lines will be carried at least part way on fiber optic cables. This will effectively shorten the line, improving transmission quality and simplify maintenance."

Overall, GTE will upgrade over 4,000 customers in Northern Michigan's Lower Peninsula to private lines in 1994, as the first part of a three-year plan to eliminate the remaining 8,217 party lines in the state.

Rodeo planned

A rodeo will be held in Ellsworth, Thurs., Sept 1, to benefit a memorial in the name of Ralph Wiltse, who passed away July 15, 1994.

Riders age 10 to adult are invited to participate in the Ogletree Rodeo, at the Wiltse family property on Mitchell Road, one-half mile north of Bennett Hill Road.

Events will include bull-riding, bareback riding, saddle broncs, open barrel, and a rescue race fun event. There are two classes of competition: junior, age 10-15, and senior, age 15 and up.

Riders can register from 8 to 11 a.m. the day of the rodeo. Competition begins at 1 p.m. The event is open to the public and costs $6 for adults, $3 for children, with children under 5 free.

To date there are only 14 living cousins. They are: Josie DeGroot Wentzloff, Julia Klooster

Sage, Lucy DeYoung Roesch, Jeanette DeYoung Boss, Harold DeYoung, Bernie DeYoung, Josie DeYoung Eckloff, Alice DeYoung Vandenberg, Tillie Zylstra VanDyke, Joan Zylstra, Jerene Zylstra Schrottenboer, Hattie DeYoung Shooks, and Lillian Doctor Sitzema.

A threatening rain held off and all enjoyed a potluck dinner on their beautiful lawn. Versile and Katherine's granddaughters, Alicia and Amber, sang a Welcome Song. Later all were entertained by the "Singing Klooster Family" - Ray, Carol, Jerry and Louise, and their two daughters.

Cousins came from many cities in Michigan. Lucy came the farthest, from Arizona. All enjoyed each other so much and indicated that hopefully we can meet again next year.

Castle Farm holds church service

Instead of the throbbing back beat of a bass drum, the gentle sound of a Yamaha keyboard could be heard as parishioners sang hymns in the sun-dappled fountain courtyard of Castle Farm Community Center.

On Sun., Aug. 21, Pastor Harold Kruse of the Ironton Congregational Church led the first church service to be held inside the castle walls.

During coffee hour after the service, many members had positive comments to make about what a pleasant spot the terrace was for an outdoor service. The group was so pleased that a motion was made and passed to donate $1,000 to the center. This facility is open to groups who would enjoy an activity in a unique setting.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Only The Lord Passes Judgment

"Then let us no more pass judgment on one another..."
— Romans 14:13

In his letter to the Romans, Paul was paraphrasing one of Jesus' admonitions to His followers, "Judge not, that you be not judged." It was wise advice, for as both Jesus and Paul noted, who among us can in all fairness judge one of our brethren without incurring some recrimination for our own faults. Only God, the Supreme Being, is qualified to sit in mediation and pass down judgment on the acts of man. It would be more advantageous for us to look not askance at our fellow beings but rather to look to our own behavior and being so that we might better correct those blemishes that fall short of what God and the Christian faith expect of their followers.

The Ellsworth Tradesman Sept. 2, 1926

■ Wednesday morning the body of Mrs. C.W. Sidebotham was found in the waters of Pine Lake near the bridge at East Jordan.

It is presumed that during a despondent mood, she leaped from the bridge, sometime early that morning.

She is the wife of Rev. C.W. Sidebotham, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of East Jordan, who with their two daughters is left to mourn this untimely passing.

■ A pleasant surprise party was held Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. J. Carpenter in honor of Miss Frances Conklin and Miss Harriett Carpenter.

The girls are both planning on entering school at Chicago this fall; Miss Frances at C.E.I. and Miss Harriett at Hyde Park High School.

■ To correct a little mistake, it was 100 gallons of honey that Dett Evans of Miles District extracted in one day, instead of 100 pounds; "my treat."

■ Mrs. Mary Clark returned to Miles District Wednesday after a month's visit with relatives in Detroit, Ann Arbor, and other southern points; also Dunville, Canada.

■ Mrs. Will Yettaw passed away at her home west of Ellsworth, Aug. 26, 1926, following a short illness due to paralysis which resulted in her unexpected death.

Plans were about complete, and they expected soon to drive through to California for the winter.

■ Mr. Locke McKinnon went to Petoskey to attend the funeral of his sister Mrs. Mary McKay.

Mrs. McKay was born in Scotland in 1838, being 88 years old at the time of her death.

■ Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Miller and family returned to their home at Keystone, Ind., Tuesday after a week's visit at the home of Frank S. Brown in Atwood.

Ernest Brown accompanied the Miller family to Indiana and will stay with his grandparents again this winter and attend school there.

■ Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cusic and daughter, and Mrs. Mary Himabuch of Duluth, Minn., called at the Bert Sinclair home in Pleasant Hill on Monday.

■ There were several from Atwood who attended the band concert at Charlevoix Sunday afternoon, and George Parsons thought that was not exciting enough, so he took a ride in the aeroplane.

■ Miss Isabelle Smith returned to Detroit on Thursday after a short visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Smith of Ellsworth.

Isabelle now has a life certificate, having graduated from Ypsilanti State Normal College the past summer. She will teach a 10.5-month school at Van Dyke, a suburb of Detroit, the coming year.

■ Miss Mae Skow has accepted the position as teacher at the Wright District school, two miles north of town.

■ For Sale: garage and gas station on M-11 at Atwood, doing good business. $800 cash takes it. Inquire at The Tradesman office.

The Central Lake Torch Aug. 31, 1950

■ People from all over the region gathered at the Central Lake bridge Aug. 26 to see the Water Carnival in which many children took part.

■ While fishing in Hanley Lake back of the Canning Factory on Aug. 18, Bob Titus landed a musky weighing 6.5

pounds and 32 inches in length. Bob is one of the Rocky Mountaineers and plays at the Moonlight Gardens in Charlevoix.

■ An orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Victor S. Mateskon, has been added to the staff of the Burns Clinic, Dr. Dean C. Burns, clinic director, announced recently.

Dr. Mateskon is a graduate of Wayne University College of liberal arts and the St. Louis University school of medicine.

He is a son-in-law of Ray Hott of Central Lake.

■ A young holstein steer, weighing perhaps 600 to 700 pounds, was found dead by Art Knowles in his pasture Sunday morning. Owner of the steer was William Gregory.

According to Deputy Sheriff Charles "Red" Loper, three unidentified boys, all with rifles, were seen in the vicinity Saturday morning. He estimated that the steer was shot either Friday or Saturday. It was seen alive on Thursday.

■ Mr. and Mrs. Harold

Zook of Bellaire received word last Saturday that their son Bill, 20, was killed in Korea on Aug. 14.

■ Otto Bulman of Maywood, Ill., and Herbert Barndt of Quincy, Ill., spent the weekend with Mr. Bulman's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. August Bulman and family of Miles District. They were on a trip around Lake Michigan.

■ Small Linda Lewis is staying with her grandparents, the Albert Lewises of Eastport, while her father Walter and the rest of the family make a trip across the Straits. They are part of a group of relatives on tour, including the lady's mother continued on page 8

EJ School Board sticks with eligibility policy

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

A new classroom and the driver's education grade policy were some of the issues discussed at the Aug. 15 meeting of the East Jordan School Board.

The new classroom is one of two owned by Char-Em Intermediate School District that adjoin the east elementary school wing. Because of general mainstreaming of hearing-impaired students, the ISD no longer needs a special classroom for the program and is it to the East Jordan school system for $22,946.

"This is a really good deal," noted school board president Mary Jason of the land contract purchase.

Superintendent Chip Hansen told the board the room will need very few changes and the cost is much cheaper than building or remodeling.

"At about $20 per square foot, you can't beat the price," said Hansen. He reported usual building costs to be from $80 to $100 per square foot.

A kindergarten class bumped from the front of the elementary building will be housed in the new classroom. An extra third-grade section made necessary by expanding school population will occupy the former kindergarten room.

Driver's ed eligibility

Members of the handbook committee reviewed the high school driver's training eligibility policy as requested by parent Mary Bacon at the June 20 school board meeting (see EJ Journal, July 6). Bacon was concerned the grade requirements were not flexible enough.

High school principal Gus Bishop reported after discussing the subject in depth over two meetings, the committee decided the grade requirements should remain the same - students must have a C or better in four of the classes taken during the semester prior to the driver's ed course.

However, Bishop said the committee added an appeal process for students ineligible for more than one year. Such students will be referred to a committee made up of the counselor, principal and a teacher of student choice, who will serve as an advocate.

The committee will consider each student's situation and develop with student and parent input, a plan designed to address the individual case.

In other business, the board:

- reviewed 1994 goal progress. A steering committee to guide the strategic planning process (EJ Journal, July 27) is in the organizational stage.

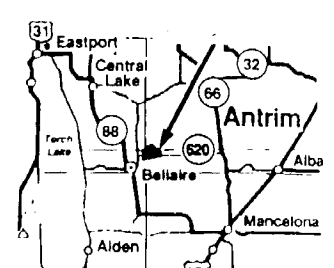

- heard from Superintendent Hansen that the installation of the second Business Services Technology lab has begun. Hansen also reported that 55 of approximately 100 regional teachers attending summer ODDM training in Petoskey were from the East Jordan district.

- changed the 1995 graduation date from the first Saturday after senior exams to the Saturday following the end of the school year, June 10, 1995. The change is necessary because of instructional day requirements set by the state.

- changed the time of the next regular meeting from 7 p.m., Mon., Sept. 19, to 5:30 p.m., at the high school media center.

Paddle-to-the-Sea
By Holling Clancy Holling

Late one winter in the 1930s, an Indian boy put a model canoe with a wooden Indian passenger on the ice of a stream leading into Lake Nipigon located in Ontario, Canada. On the bottom of the model canoe the boy wrote "Please put me back in the water. I am Paddle-to-the-Sea." The spring thaw came and Paddle-to-the-Sea began its long journey into Lake Nipigon, Lake Superior, all the Great Lakes and finally to the sea.

As well as being an interesting story, this book is rich in the description of the Great Lakes area, its geography, ecology, industry and peoples. The colorful large illustrations, along with interesting drawings around the edges of the page, give the reader a lot to look at and think about.

The author/illustrator is related to Central Lake's Bertha Knowles. Published in 1941, this book for intermediate readers can be found on the Michigan Room's fiction shelf with call letters MI T Hol. By Barb Faas

Cole endorses Judge Hayes for re-election

MANCELONA - Former 87th District Court Judicial candidate Barry L. Cole has endorsed Judge Norman R. Hayes for re-election. "The citizens of Antrim, Kalkaska and Otsego Counties will best be served by the re-election of Judge Hayes" Cole said.

BARRY COLE

Cole, a Mancelona attorney, narrowly missed the general election runoff with Judge Hayes by a mere 171 votes. In addition to his personal endorsement, Cole encourages his supporters to rally behind Judge Hayes in November's election. "Although I opposed Judge Hayes in the primary election, I have the utmost respect for him and what he has accomplished in his four years on the bench. Now that both candidates are from Otsego County, based upon experience, work ethic, commitment to the entire district and courtroom demeanor, Judge Hayes is the clear choice for the 87th District Court."

"I am truly honored to have the endorsement of Barry in my bid for re-election to the bench," said Hayes. "He is an experienced trial attorney who has appeared before me in hundreds of cases. He has first-hand knowledge of how I conduct Court business and treat the litigants who appear before me with dignity and respect."

Sports activities

Most fall sports teams have already begun practices or even competition. Athletic ticket prices for games and meets are as follows:

- Central Lake: $2.50 for adults at varsity events, $1.50 for junior varsity and junior high games. Sports passes for senior citizens (age 60 or older) who reside in the district may be obtained through the superintendent's office. The pass allows free admission to any extracurricular event.
- East Jordan: For adults, varsity games are $2.50, junior varsity $2 and junior high $1. Senior citizens are free, but must have a pass. A family all-sports pass to attend all sports events throughout the school year is available for $60. An adult all-sports pass costs $35, student $20. All passes can be obtained at the central office.

East Jordan's no smoking policy is now in effect. In support of their desire to be smoke-free, and also as part of the district's overall effort to better educate students about the potential hazards of smoking and inhaling second-hand smoke, the school board has implemented a policy banning the use of tobacco products by any person in any district building or on school property at any time.

The new policy covers all district buildings and grounds, including Boswell Stadium and other athletic areas.

- Ellsworth: At varsity events, the charge is $2.50 for adults, $2 for students, and senior citizens, $1.25. Family rate is available for $8. Junior high prices are adults $2, students $1.50, and senior citizens $1.

- Ebenezer: Some seventh and eighth-graders participate in the sports program at Ellsworth Community Schools.

A number of new faces will be seen directing classroom and counseling activities at area schools on opening day, Sept. 6.

Survey of former grads reveals helpful info

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

Results from a survey of former East Jordan High School graduates have given the board a overview of the effectiveness of the district program, as well as how graduates perceive their education.

Of 319 surveys, 77 responses were returned, a 25.75 percent response rate. High school principal Gus Bishop explained that a 20 to 30 percent rate is considered good enough to validate the survey. The survey asked questions on employment history, post-secondary education history, voter registration, and an evaluation of EJHS.

The majority of respondents are either employed or attending school full-time. The group is seeking advancement or employment in a wide variety of fields, a number of which require advanced degree work.

Bishop noted the unemployed are typically the least likely to respond to a survey. In this case, only two responded with 'not working, not looking for a job.'

Evaluation of aspects of the district's program generally reflected a passing grade as far as respondents were concerned. Only four responded with a D or less for their overall school experience. Fifty-eight assessed their experience as an A or B.

Teacher instruction and classes offered were rated similarly to overall experience.

Counseling services had the poorest showing, with 34 students giving job counseling a D or F, and only four respondents rating the service with an A. Other counseling services received 24 D and F grades and only 11 A's.

Bishop said the district has already taken steps to improve offerings in the areas.

"We're making changes to reflect what we saw here," Bishop said, noting an increase in support of college admission activities as well as job programs.

"Through high school counselor Karen Starkey, we have an increased focus on academic and post-secondary counseling," added district superintendent Chip Hansen. Hansen said Starkey helps in the search for the best college programs to serve the needs of graduating students, as well as scholarship opportunities.

The sports program received the most positive rating (other than overall experience), with 57 respondents rating the program A or B and only two giving a D or F. A specific complaint that there weren't enough other activities beyond sports has been addressed with the inclusion of drama and other programs added in recent years.

Graduates were also asked to rate each individual class as helpful, not helpful or desired but not offered.

Surveys were sent to graduates from 1989 through 1993. The three most recent years accounted for 70 percent of the respondents. The breakdown of respondents by gender was approximately 55 percent female and 45 percent male.

Approximately 73 percent of respondents indicated they are registered voters. Bishop said the question was asked as an indicator of accountability, accepting social responsibility, and a desire to be a concerned citizen in a democratic country.

The school improvement committee has incorporated the results of the survey into the improvement process. The survey is required every five years to retain North Central accreditation.

EAST JORDAN varsity cheerleaders spent a recent evening at Camp Quality, serving banana splits and watermelon to about 200 people. Dressed as clowns to suit the Disney theme of the week, or in their uniforms, the girls' visit was entertaining and rewarding.

Cheerleaders annual visit to Camp Quality is special

"Are we going to Camp Quality?"

According to East Jordan varsity cheerleader coach Phyllis Olszewski, that is one of the first questions new cheerleaders ask every year. For the last four years Olszewski has happily said yes.

Squad members find the annual jaunt to provide an evening of entertainment to the special kids at Camp Quality very rewarding. The girls serve a special dessert, then perform for the kids, passing out little gifts at the end. Afterward they mingle with the youngsters, talking, taking pictures and enjoying the time.

The cheerleaders pay for the food and gifts through fundraising activities all year long. They are proud to be one of the few groups invited back year after year.

"The visit means just as much to my kids as the kids at Camp Quality," said Olszewski. "They learn about remarkable people who keep their spirit and humor against terrible odds."

CENTRAL LAKE varsity roundballer Erin Glynn takes a shot for two points in a recent practice.

Make your student "street-safe"

With students heading back to school all over the region, it's time to be on the look-out for bicycles, school buses and pedestrians, particularly during the morning rush hour, at lunch time and in mid-afternoon.

Parents whose children will be bicycling to school should make sure they wear helmets. About 1,000 Americans are killed in bike crashes every year, most from head injuries. Helmets could prevent 84 percent of head injuries, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Parents should review rules for safe cycling with children, including signaling turns and obeying traffic control devices; stopping at intersections; riding on the right-hand edge of the road; and keeping two hands on the handlebars.

Bus safety

Safety around school buses affects even more children. While Michigan has not sustained any fatalities of its school-age passengers on a bus in the last eight years, getting on and off a bus can be dangerous or even deadly for children.

Parents should remind children to stay well back from the bus until it is completely stopped. If the child must cross a street, she should make sure to look both ways - don't assume that every automobile driver will stop.

When disembarking, children should immediately move away from the bus, and cross the street a safe distance in front of the bus. Children should be prepared to obey any instructions the bus driver gives.

Automobile drivers should pay close attention to school bus lighting signals. As the bus prepares to stop, the driver will flash overhead yellow lights. As with any yellow lights, drivers should slow and prepare to stop.

When overhead lights flash red, drivers must stop at least 20 feet behind the bus. On most roads, vehicles going either direction must stop for the bus. The exception is roadways divided by a median: the vehicles on the opposite side from the bus need not stop.

Because it is extremely dangerous to children, passing a school bus displaying flashing red lights is punishable by a $500 fine, up to 90 days in jail, and three points against the driver's record. Such violations are one of the most frequent causes of school bus-related injuries.

After the children are safely on or off the bus, the lights will be shut off. Passing at this time (in a legal passing zone with assured clear distance) is acceptable. Bus drivers often remain to the side for a moment, allowing traffic to pass.

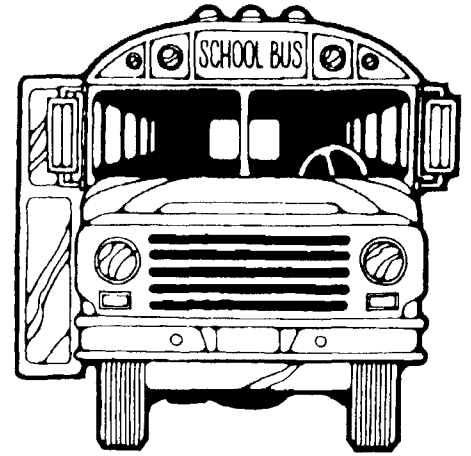

Passing a bus with yellow hazard - not overhead - lights is allowed. Proceed with caution.

Pedestrians

Motorists are required by Michigan law to yield to all pedestrians, and should be particularly wary of young pedestrians.

Children - who may be on their first walking trip without an adult - can be very unpredictable. Watch for darting children, especially from between parked cars or other obstructions. Balls or other toys rolling in the street are a warning - a running child may not be far behind.

Parents should remind children who walk to school to cross at intersections or crosswalks only; look both ways every time and more than once; always travel the safest route to and from school; and make their own decisions about safety rather than following other children into the street.

Young drivers

Teenage drivers can be concentrated in large groups at school parking lots and if not thinking, can create hazards for others and themselves.

Parents should review all the aforementioned safety measures with their teenage drivers, especially if sharing a campus with younger students.

Parents should insist on drivers wearing safety belts whenever the car is in motion. Horseplay and speeding in the school parking area, or anywhere vehicles are involved is inappropriate.

With some forethought and common sense, the 1994-95 school year can be street-safe for walkers, bicyclists, bus-riders and drivers alike.

You are probably aware that Northwestern Michigan College is establishing a University Center in Traverse City and you may have some questions about it.

Q:

How will the University Center be funded?

A:

Building and equipment needs will be met through a $5.9 million fund-raising campaign. The State of Michigan has pledged a $2.4 million matching grant to the project. The five-county Founders 21 Committee recommends that operational funding come from a combination of partner support, state money, endowment earnings, and a regional millage.

The cyclists are coming through Central Lake

The girls basketball program at Central Lake High School is gearing up - for DALMAC.

The annual Dick Allen Lansing to Mackinaw bicycle tour will pass through Central Lake Sept. 3 and 4; about 400 cyclists eating, sleeping and eating again before they head out on the last leg of the journey.

While the cyclists are here, the girls, with Dave and Jeanette Carlton as coordinators, will provide lemonade, dinner, breakfast, and a place to clean up and sleep.

The sea of tents on the school lawn and the bright colors of the biking clothes are a feast for the eyes that shouldn't be missed, said Jeanette. She'll probably be too busy to look, though, as she helps the girls prepare and serve burgers and salads, beans and homemade dessert for dinner, or oatmeal, pancakes and cinnamon rolls early the next morning.

The Carletons came on as coordinators two years ago, though Dave, who coaches the varsity girls, has been involved for many years. Former coach Gary Johnson started the fundraiser "at least 15 years ago" according to Dave, and the whole thing functions like a well-oiled 10-speed.

"We get lots of nice compliments from the bikers," said Jeanette. She emphasized that it is the many Central Lake volunteers that make the event run so smoothly.

"I can't say enough for what people around here do for the girls," she said. She noted that many volunteers no longer have kids in school, but still donate their time to baking desserts, flipping pancakes or whatever needs to be done. "And we couldn't do it without the school."

For the two-day blitz, the school provides the facilities: bathrooms, kitchen and camping space free of charge in support of the basketball program. Cyclists begin arriving about 1 or 2 p.m. on Saturday, and take advantage of lemonade before heading to Intermediate Lake for a swim or to one of the restaurants for a pre-dinner snack.

Dinner is at 5 p.m. sharp, then after clean-up, the volunteers prepare as much of breakfast as they can in advance. When 5 a.m. rolls around, the Carletons will already be back at school, getting breakfast started. The cyclists are gone by 8 a.m., and there's nothing to do but clean up!

Trojans off and running

Central Lake kicked off the fall sports season locally by running at the Aug. 27 Benzie Central Meet.

Despite the heat, Ryan Shay outran his level on that steamy Saturday, taking Red Division honors with an acceptable 16:55, a full minute over second place. Bill Glynn ran a 23:53, slicing a minute off his start-up time of a year ago. The boys team was incomplete due to work schedules.

The ladies fielded the full crop, although three runners were still missing on other summer assignments. Leading their efforts was Amie Shay, who looked strong and ran well in winning her Red Division with 22:33.

Bridgette McAvoy continued to show great strides in her running career, moving into 13th in 25:21, and giving Coach Sue Shay enough optimism to believe both Amie and Bridgett can rise to the All-State level this season.

Central Lake's Molly Porter claimed a 34:53, rookie Regina Kessinger ran 37:02 and Junie Barrow ran 39:06. The team took a third overall with 124 points, just 14 from second.

After a respite to start the school year, Central Lake will cross the country down at Manton Sept. 8 before running the Sept. 10 Pete Spieles Run in Charlevoix.

Keep children safe in seats

A recall is announced on over 300,000 child safety seats produced by the Evenflo Juvenile Furniture Company. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration found a problem with the buckling system of Champion Model No. 224, Ultara I Model No. 231 and Ultara II Model No. 232.

Owners should contact the manufacturer toll-free at 1-800-837-4002 to find out about the models which were recalled and how to fix the problem.

If any additional information is needed, call the Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

In 1992 an estimated 268 children under the age of five were saved due to child safety seats.

Hunting season cancelled due to declining quail population

Department of Natural Resources Director Roland Harmes has ordered the cancellation of the 1994 bobwhite quail season in an effort to allow the declining quail population to return to normal levels.

The action was recommended by DNR Wildlife Division staff, who cited a 37 percent decline in the quail population since last year. Under Michigan law, the DNR Director has the authority to issue interim orders for the management of wild birds.

This decline in the quail population is attributed mainly to the harsh winter weather of last January and February, when deep snow and severe cold caused many of the birds to freeze to death.

In addition, extreme cold causes stress to the birds and is believed to lower their reproductive capacity for the following brood season.

Because quail populations have a tremendous ability to rebound, DNR Wildlife Division staff are optimistic about the potential for reinstatement of the 1995-96 hunting season, especially if this winter is a mild one.

The fine art of letter writing

It's easy. For the small price of a postage stamp you can write a letter to a friend, send a postcard to a relative, or pour your heart out to a loved one. Even so, the fine art of letter writing is on the verge of becoming a lost art.

A small percentage of the more than half billion pieces of mail sent daily in the United States are personal letters. Long gone are the days when every letter handled by the Post Office eloquently spoke for its sender in a unique, personal way.

As everyone knows, technology is quickly changing every aspect of our lives, including the way we communicate and correspond with one another. But, don't tell that to the people of all ages around the world who regularly receive letters from "pen pals," or senior citizens who cherish letters from a grandchild or a life-long friend. For them, receiving a handwritten letter from someone is a special, touching experience that is not soon forgotten.

Letters leave a permanent, tangible impression that can be saved and enjoyed again and again.

Then why is letter writing almost extinct? The problem is handwritten letters take time and effort that, in today's fast paced society, have been prioritized away to business and social activities.

From the Revolutionary War through Desert Storm and every battle in between, letters from home have warmed the hearts of soldiers. And letters from the front have left a detailed account of our nation's struggle for freedom. All these letters, and billions of others that have crisscrossed the country in the past, are studied by historians and families today, and will be for years to come.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION NOTICE OPEN HOUSE MEETINGS US 131 FREEWAY CORRIDOR STUDY FROM KALKASKA TO I-75

The Michigan Department of Transportation intends to identify a corridor for the location of the final segment of the US-131 freeway from north of Kalkaska to a connection with I-75. To that end, MDOT will have representatives present at two Open House meetings from 3:30 to 5:00 and 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. on the following days at the respective places:

Wednesday, September 21, 1994 in Kalkaska at the new hall of the Kalkaska County Fairground (801 W Mile Road) on the south side of M-72 west of US-131.

Thursday, September 22, 1994 in Gaylord at the Community Education Bldg's Alpine Inn on 615 S. Elm Street.

The corridors under preliminary consideration extend from north of Kalkaska to points along I-75 somewhere between Grayling and Indian River. These corridors are partially located in the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford, Emmet, Kalkaska and Otsego.

The purpose of these Open Houses is to provide the opportunity for the public to give its input on the possible future corridor location wherein alternates for a US-131 freeway could be built. Please feel free to drop in at either meeting at any time during the advertised hours.

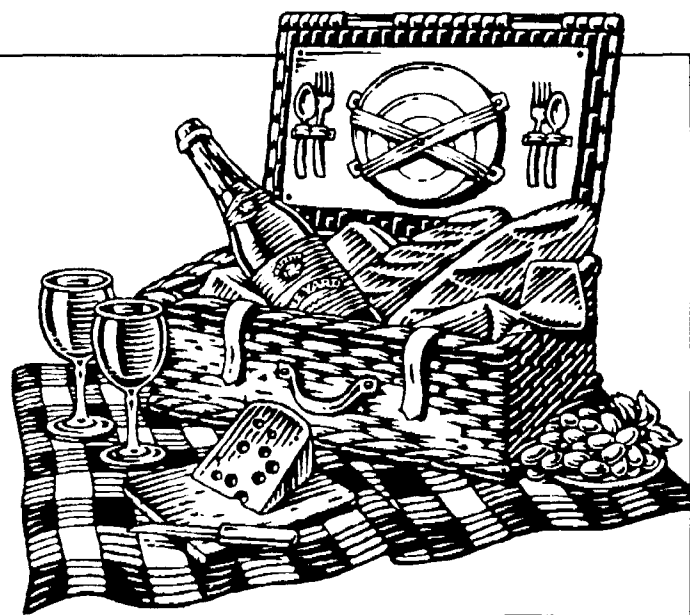

It is the intent of the Department not only to invite, but also to encourage citizen involvement and participation in the study. It must be stressed that this is not a public hearing of recommended highway improvements, as there have been none selected. The objective of these meetings is to gain input, at the earliest possible stage of the study, from local residents and to stimulate communication and cooperation.

Labor Day could cap the safest summer season on record

Michigan could achieve one of its safest summer holiday seasons on record if traffic fatalities during Labor Day weekend follow the pattern set on Memorial Day and July Fourth, according to AAA Michigan.

"Preliminary numbers show a total of 23 highway fatalities for the combined 1994 Memorial Day (10) and July Fourth (13) holiday weekends, which is the lowest in 32 years," said AAA Michigan Community Safety Services Manager Jerry Basch. "If the trend continues through Labor Day, Michigan can claim one of its best-ever traffic safety records for the summer holidays."

Basch said the sharp decline in summer holiday traffic fatalities actually began last Labor Day weekend. "Last year, seven persons were killed in seven crashes on state roads, down from 19 in 1992 and the lowest number recorded for any Labor Day holiday since 1957," he said.

Alcohol was a factor in three of last year's Labor Day crashes and five of the seven victims were not wearing safety belts.

More safety conscious motorists and stricter safety belt laws are factors that have contributed to the decline in holiday traffic deaths. Improved vehicle safety features also share in the credit.

"Features such as air bags, anti-lock braking systems, good outward visibility and easy-to-use safety belts have dramatically improved traffic safety during holiday weekends and overall," Basch said.

The 78-hour Labor Day weekend starts at 6 p.m. Fri., Sept. 2, and ends at midnight Mon., Sept. 5. Motorists are expected to log an estimated 990 million miles on state roads this Labor Day weekend, up from 975 million miles last year.

AAA Michigan's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will provide hourly traffic and tourism bulletins on more than 160 radio stations statewide throughout the holiday weekend.
