

Weather

The season's first snows remain somewhere in the future, as the area continues to savor the longest autumn in recent memory. Temperatures reached the 50-degree mark most days, although clouds covered the sky much of the week.

Saturday saw a heavy morning fog clear away to a decent day, followed by a heavy all-night rainfall. Sunday featured blustery winds, more rain and some isolated hail and sleet – the worst weather of the month. A heavy frost covered cars and fields Monday morning, but long-range predictions called for a return to mild weather through Friday.

Dream (or nightmare) parade

Looking out the window on the afternoon of October 31, unsuspecting folks near the elementary school may have been shocked to see a parade of some of the weirdest, wildest, and cutest critters, ghouls, and cartoon characters imaginable, as the residents of the facilities escaped into the streets! Presiding over it all was principal Chuck Hershberger, whose dignity almost avoided damage in his role as "Uncle Sam!"

Friends of Jordan have new program director

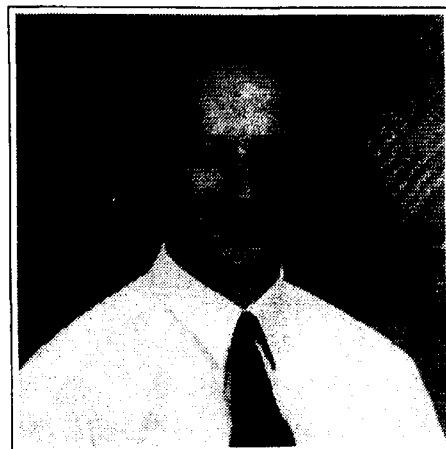

The Friends of the Jordan River Watershed, Inc. (FOJ) has a new program director aboard.

John Hummer, originally from Mt. Clemens, began work Oct. 17 at the Antrim/Kalkaska Soil Conservation District office in Bellaire.

Hummer is employed half-time in a partnership arrangement between Michigan State University Extension, Antrim County, and FOJ – thanks to a gift from the Frey Foundation of Grand Rapids that was announced earlier this year.

FOJ is comprised of local citizens active in addressing preservation and conservation issues surrounding the Jordan River Watershed, environmental professionals from various organizations, and local government officials. FOJ addresses a variety of issues relating to water quality, fish and wildlife habitat, forestry management, oil and gas development, and other recreational and resource uses of the watershed.

Hummer earned an MS in resource development from MSU in 1992 and his BAA in communications and marketing from Central Michigan University in 1984.

He was most recently employed as a writer and editor for the Institute of International Agriculture at MSU and as a customer service representative for United Parcel Service. His background also includes work in the human resources area and radio marketing.

Thoughts on Veterans Day

"A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war and a time of peace." Ecelesiastes 03:08

I am not a "warmonger." I don't love war, but I am a citizen of our United States and as such I am loyal and patriotic.

I do look askance at or present "political correct" laws permitting women to bear arms and actually fight on the battlefields, when necessary. I can not discern while reading and studying God's Holy Word where God sanctions this phenomenon.

According to scripture, there were many battles and skirmishes in the Bible. This continues throughout the ages to the present wars, which the media reports instantly with graphic pictures. We want to know what is going on globally, don't we?

Now, comes Veterans Day renamed to honor the Veterans of all American wars. Sadly, the most unpopular war was the Vietnam War and we did neglect the veterans. Hopefully, the "Wall" has helped to acknowledge and honor the fallen veterans.

Nov. 11 was once known as Armistice Day-the end of WWI. In grammar school back in Ohio, at 11 a.m. each Nov. 11, we stood and were silent for one minute to honor the soldiers from that war that was to end all wars.

We lived through WWII. This was the popular war. It was a mass effort in Europe and the Pacific, as well as on the home front. We all labored and supported one another and there were many sacrifices and loved ones lost, maimed and killed, but we believed in the cause.

So, life continues despite the police action in Korea, Civil War in Bosnia-Herzegovina, and Desert Storm. More police actions in Somalia and Haiti and unrest in the Middle East, again. Nothing new -it will all continue "war and rumors of war" until Christ's return.

Veterans benefits help ease financial burdens

The United States Government recognizes that its veterans deserve special benefits. That's why 50 years ago President Roosevelt signed legislation, known as the Readjustment of 1994 Act or GI Bill, to make education, training and home ownership more accessible and affordable to veterans. In recognition of Veterans Day, the following is a summary of the types of assistance currently offered by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA).

• Educational benefits

Since the GI Bill was first introduced, several different educational programs for veterans have been established. The Post-Vietnam Veterans' Educational Assistance Program (VEAP) is a voluntary contributory matching program for persons entering military service after Dec. 31, 1976. To receive benefits under this program, you must have enrolled in and contributed to VEAP while on active duty before April 1, 1987.

Currently, recently discharged veterans are receiving the Montgomery GI Bill Chapter 30. Similar benefits are available to individuals who entered active military service or the Selected Reserve after June 30, 1985, and meet specific service requirements.

Generally, if you serve in the Selected Reserve for a period of six years, you also qualify for educational benefits. The Selected Reserve includes the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard Reserves, the Army National Guard and the Air Guard.

A Veteran may be eligible to receive up to a maximum of 36 months of education benefits under one program, or 48 months of benefits under more than one VA program.

Educational and vocational counseling is also available to assist in planning a program for education. If you decide educational training is not necessary, your local Department of Veterans Affairs can provide you with employment assistance.

• VA home loan program

100 percent financing is available with no down payment unless the purchase price of the property is more than the reasonable value determined by the VA.

Except in special circumstances, the VA does not make direct loans to veterans. Instead, the VA guarantees loans that are made by private lenders, such as banks, savings and loan associations or mortgage companies. The guarantee means the lender is protected against loss in the event you cannot repay the loan.

VA loan guarantees range from 25 percent of a home loan, depending on the size of the loan. Most lenders require that a combination of the VA guarantee amount and any cash down payment equal at least 25 percent of the reasonable value or sales price of the property.

Generally, to qualify for VA home loan guarantees, you must have served at least 90 days on active wartime duty, 181 days of continuous active peacetime service or have been discharged for a service-connected disability. Unmarried surviving spouses of service personnel who died on active duty, or as a result of service-connected disabilities, also qualify for VA home loan guarantees.

Be aware that to qualify for a mortgage loan, even one guaranteed by the Department of Veterans Affairs, you must demonstrate that you are a good credit risk and that you have sufficient income to repay the loan.

Remember Me

This poem is not of the living, but of those that lost their lives in battle, for the freedom of our country and the world. It is for this reason I took it upon myself to try and express their thoughts through words.

The remembrance of these men and women is very important to all of us. Lest we forget the gratitude owed to them by our nation ...

I am the one that died for you so that you could have freedom. I am World War I. World War II. I am the Korean Conflict, as it was known.

It was war to me, I died there.

I also died in Vietnam, an era it was called. To me it was war.

I am the Soldier, The Marine, The Airman, The Sailor, The Coast Guard; yes the Coast Guard was there too.

I have died in many lands to keep our world free.

I left behind my comrades; Veterans they are called.

I also left behind my comrades' sons and daughters to keep peace.

Some of them died in wars you may not know about, or have seen only on TV.

Remember, we all died for your freedom.

So on the day given to us, November 11, remember the living. Then we who died will rest in peace in the arms of our Eternal God. Remember Me!!

By Ellery (Al) Inman

This poem, written in 1982, was engraved on a plaque at the Hopewell Cemetery in Plant City, Fla., at the request of veterans there. Author Ellery Inman is an army veteran of WWII and Korea, a member of VFW Post 6985, Central Lake, and a resident of South Arm Township.

Legion sponsors vet dinner

The American Legion Post #227 of East Jordan will sponsor a roast beef and potluck dinner, Sat., Nov. 12, at the American Legion Hall, for all veterans and their families.

The post will furnish the meat and potatoes for the dinner. Bring a dish of your choice to share.

The hall will be open at 5:30, with dinner served at 6:30.

A veteran of the arts finds recognition

BY DEB SAYGERS
HOBBS
Journal Editor

At age 77, it's no surprise that East Jordan's Lawrence Schumacher is a veteran of many things.

Through the Jordan River Arts Council's November exhibition, he is receiving some long due recognition for his well-seasoned gift of painting.

"I was interested in art since I was born," Schumacher explained. He had talent as well, although never any formal training. A World War II veteran, he passed his hospital time during recovery from a wound by sketching the staff. His portraits soon became sought after by doctors and nurses there.

But he never picked up a brush until Gene Tischman, builder of what is now the Round Table Restaurant, encouraged him to paint some murals on the walls of the building the two were constructing in 1947.

"Well, there wasn't enough room for murals," said Schumacher, "so I offered to paint some pictures."

He painted three for the restaurant and a few more for himself and his family, then got sidetracked by other interests for 12 years. A neighbor lady got him started again when she showed him a painting she wanted to copy.

"Now I do it as much as I can," Schumacher grinned. "I just love to paint."

He's been sharing that love since 1967 when his first "painting class" was held, with that same neighbor in attendance. Word got around, and Schumacher has had a group meeting at weekly ever since.

One of his students, Jean Reidel of Boyne City, explained that it's more a group painting session than a class.

"He's there to answer our questions," she said. "He knows about every-

If Reidel or the other painters need help with a building design, or want to know how to achieve a certain color, Schumacher is always ready with a helping hand and encouragement.

"I firmly believe anyone can learn to paint," emphasized the master, "if they have the desire to do it."

As for himself, he seems to be able to paint anything. Subjects run the gamut from portraits to landscapes and seascapes. His own special favorites are buildings in a landscape - old barns, grist mills and lighthouses.

His ability to paint buildings comes naturally - he is also a gifted carpenter. He worked on a number of the famous Earl Young homes in Charlevoix, even developing a process to "bend" huge barn beams for the interiors of the round houses.

Schumacher takes his ideas from many sources

- real life, photos, combined photos, and pictures from magazines, calendars and especially his imagination. His paintings are realistic, full of rich detail and color.

Schumacher is very happy for the recognition of his art, but whether people look at his paintings or not, he will continue to create them. Painting is one thing this veteran will never stop doing.

The Lawrence Schumacher exhibition will continue through Fri., Nov. 18, at the Jordan River Arts Council, 301 Main St., East Jordan. Gallery hours are 12-4 p.m. daily.

Local writer selected for poetry collection

East Jordan poet Sharon Walker is one of 264 poets whose work has been published in Dusting off Dreams.

The book, published by Quill Books of Harlingen, Texas, is a collection of poetry designed to promote and revitalize an interest in poetry, and to give recognition to novice poets.

Walker, whose poem Behold the Glory of the Lord, was selected from a field of nearly 1500 submissions by hopeful authors, has been writing poetry for 15 years. A native of East Jordan, she was also recently selected for publication in the special collection Best Poems of 1995, published by the National Library of Poetry.

Walker's poetry was among only two percent of the submissions chosen for publication in the Best Poems anthology. Her work has also been chosen for several other publications. The books may be ordered through area bookstores.

Coming events at Raven Hill

Raven Hill Discovery Center will offer several one-day workshops in November and December as part of their enrichment program.

• Thurs., Nov. 17 - Create Scandinavian straw ornaments to use on the tree or as gifts. The adults only class is scheduled from 7-9 p.m.

• Sun., Nov. 20 - Experience hands-on learning about colonial times as you face the Pioneer Challenge. For all ages from 2-4 p.m.

• Thurs., Dec. 15 - Make and take your version of a Gingerbread House to delight your holiday guests. Adults only, from 7-9 p.m.

• Sun., Dec. 18 - Visit learning stations and create greeting cards, ornaments or wrapping paper in a Christmas Workshop. For all ages, from 2-4 p.m.

JRAC holds annual fair

The Jordan River Arts Council annual juried Fine Arts and Crafts Fair will be held Sat., Nov. 12, at East Jordan High School, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A "full house" exhibitors will present a variety of art, crafts and gifts in what organizers expect to be the biggest and best JRAC November fair yet. This show is well-known for the high quality of the works exhibited.

The arts council will award ribbons for the most creative display and item. The fair includes a raffle of items donated by the exhibitors, a full luncheon menu with gourmet desserts, and a children's booth that gives the youngsters an opportunity to create their own crafts.

Band bake sale this Friday

Members of the East Jordan Band Parents and East Jordan Bands will hold a bake sale, Fri. Nov. 11, at Glen's Market.

The sale will begin at 4 p.m. and last until all goods are sold. Get there early for the pick of the goodies - they don't last long!

Food basket recipients sought

The East Jordan Care and Share Emergency Food Pantry is once again preparing gift food baskets for Thanksgiving and Christmas. The community is requested to notify Care and Share of any families or individuals in need this year.

Members will meet Thurs., Nov. 10 to discuss Thanksgiving food baskets. All are welcome to attend the meeting, at 7 p.m., in the lower level of the East Jordan Health Center.

Software sampler offered at seminar

Windows, Lotus, Excel, WordPerfect, Microsoft Word, PageMaker...wondering what you can do with these new software packages?

A one-day seminar offered by the Institute for Business and Industry Training (IBIT), a division of North Central Michigan College, will give participants a chance to try out the latest business software. At Software Sampler, scheduled Sat., Nov. 12 in IBIT's Computer Lab, instructors will demonstrate popular business software packages and guide students in their use. Each participant works at a computer and has ample time to try out various spreadsheet, word processing, data base and graphics programs on line.

"Improvements in software and computer equipment occur so rapidly that it's difficult for the average person to stay current in this field," explains Tom Nathe, director of IBIT. "The seminar will give people hands-on experience with new programs and help them make informed decisions about their software purchases and use. With the increasing demand for computer skills, courses like this are essential for people trying to keep ahead in the job market."

IBIT, NCMC's training division, also offers 5-week computer seminars in Petoskey and Gaylord with the next session beginning mid-November. Topics range from Introduction to Computers and Windows to specific programs such as WordPerfect, Lotus, Excel, Microsoft Word and Pagemaker. For the computer-phobic, IBIT schedules a one-day Beginner's Workshop which helps novices learn basic computer skills quickly.

Since 1990, the Institute has arranged computer classes for residents of Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Otsego counties. Last year, approximately 400 students completed IBIT's computer training courses.

To learn more about computer classes, business training opportunities and state assistance for corporate training, call the Institute for Business and Industry Training at North Central Michigan College at 616-348-6613.

Special holiday decorations will brighten EJ

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

The efforts of a successful holiday decoration committee will brighten up the streets of East Jordan this holiday season.

The committee organized a major fundraiser in August, the Ducky Derby, netting $5,000 for brackets and banners to be placed from one end of city to the other, including a prominent display along Main Street.

Committee member Debbie

Chappuies explained that stage one of the plan calls for mounting brackets on light poles, and purchasing both holiday and welcome banners. The banners the committee has in mind have a five-season or 24 months of continuous use warranty.

The East Jordan City Council designated the $2,000 budgeted for city promotions to be added to the committee's funds. Chappuies said with the extra funding the committee will potentially have enough to purchase lighted garlands for some of the downtown poles.

The East Jordan Garden Club will add to the festive look with fresh pine garlands for the housing of Engine #6 in Memorial Park. Chappuies said the decorations committee eventually hopes to be able to outline the engine in small white lights.

The committee also hopes to begin banking some funds for replacement lights and other related costs, once all the phases of decoration have been completed. The members expect to continue the committee for several years until the plans are accomplished.

EJ police weekly report

The East Jordan Police Department reported only a few isolated incidents of vandalism on Halloween and Devil's Night. The department appreciates the citizens of East Jordan taking pride in your community.

■ October 22

At approximately 9:55 p.m., a 1981 Buick driven by David Kirk failed to stop at the stop sign at Williams and Main streets, causing a collision with the 1989 GMC pickup driven by Dale Olson. No injuries were reported. Olson was wearing a seatbelt and Kirk was not.

■ October 30

At about 1:30 a.m., Christopher Pinney was driving his 1988 Ford pickup near South Maple and M-32 when a deer crossed into his path and struck the passenger-side front fender. Pinney and a passenger, Kathryn Moore, were both wearing seatbelts at the time of the accident and reported no injuries.

Clarification

In an October article on Randall Bret Wilkinson, who stands accused of driving while intoxicated and causing a two-car crash that killed a Charlevoix woman, the 33rd Circuit Court received erroneous information on Wilkinson's address. The court now reports that he lives on US-31 North near Charlevoix, not on Ellsworth Road.

- 9/3: Auto engine compartment fire, Fifth St.
- 9/8: Reported fire, just south of Ironton; canceled
- 9/11: Annual Oyster Dinner

Assault charges dropped

Assault charges were dismissed last week against Paul Isaacs, the East Jordan man who also stands accused of robbing a Mancelona bank June 15.

Isaacs, 29, had been accused of assaulting a trustee in his jail cell while awaiting trial for the bank robbery. The charges were dismissed due to a lack of evidence. Antrim County Assistant Prosecutor Kevin Elsenheimer said.

"When all of your witnesses are fellow jail inmates, credibility becomes questionable," he said.

A trial for Isaacs on two armed robbery counts is still pending in 13th Circuit Court in Bellaire. If convicted, he could face up to life in prison.

Residence checks available

The Charlevoix County Sheriff Department is once again reminding residents of Charlevoix County if they plan to be absent from their homes for any period of time this department has a program to check on these homes.

In order to participate in this program the home owner must contact the sheriff's office in person and request the security check form, or call the office at 547-4461 and request a form to be sent to them. Even if a resident has applied for this program in the past, the request must be re-submitted each year.

It should be noted, this program does not take the place of a private security program, but adds to the coverage and works along with private organizations.

“Handling Holidays” workshop set

For those who have lost a loved one, handling the holidays is no small burden. The Charlevoix County Hospice and District Health Department No. 3 Hospice are presenting a program on Mon., Nov. 14 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital that we hope will give some suggestions on how to “handle holidays.”

Rev. Milton Walls, hospice spiritual advisor, will talk of “The Griever’s Holiday Bill of Rights”, and C.O.P.E. – a simple plan for handling some of the stresses associated with the holidays.

Available to participants will be a wonderful booklet Handling The Holidays, which contains a Holiday Planner, among other things. This program is open to anyone who feels the need for help in getting through the holidays.

The program will start at 7 p.m., Charlevoix Area Hospital, in the old cafeteria on the main floor of the hospital. Following the program there will be a time for sharing and refreshments.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call the Charlevoix County Hospice office at 536-2842, of District Health Department No. 3 at 547-6523.

Women and heart disease is topic of talk

“Women and Heart Disease...What You Don't Know Can Kill You” is the title of a talk to be presented at Charlevoix Area Hospital on Fri., Nov. 11, at 1:30 p.m., in the conference room.

Denise Busman, R.N., M.S.N., critical care educator at Blodgett Memorial Medical Center in Grand Rapids, will be the speaker. Busman is also a consultant for Genentech, Inc., pharmaceuticals and has delivered this talk to groups and hospitals nationwide.

The public is invited free of charge. No reservation necessary. For further information call Nancy Ellison at 547-4024.

Historical information sought by chamber

The East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, along with the East Jordan Historical Society are currently working toward producing a book regarding the history of the East Jordan area.

If you have information, pictures, stories, or anecdotes that could add to an interesting community narrative, your input would be greatly appreciated.

Contact any of the following: E.J. Chamber, 536-7351; Bob Veryzer, 536-7116; or Jean Pardee, 544-6988.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Know Your Obligations

“Then he said to them, ‘Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.’”
Matthew 22:21

We all grow up knowing that we owe obligations to many people and institutions. As children we learn to obey and respect our parents, not only out of respect for who they are but also because we love them. When we reach adulthood, our responsibilities are to our own families and to the laws of our local and national governments, not only because we love them but because we respect the rights of others. The one constant throughout our lives is that love, respect and humility we display toward God and the teachings of Jesus Christ. In many ways, though it would seem we were dividing between godly and mortal concerns, the opposite is true. The commandments clearly define our obligations to each other.

Red Devils fall in football playoff opener

S.F. PUCKETT
Sports Writer

In a football game dominated by defense, only a problem in punting would be the difference for the Red Devils in their playoff game with the Gladiators.

Traverse City St. Francis made its second trip of the season to Boswell field. The East Jordan Red Devils playing host and hopefully spoiler in the Nov. 4 opening round action of the MHSAA playoffs.

The game began with the Gladiators kicking off, sailing a line drive into the end zone to give the Red Devils what would turn out to be one of their best starting spots of the evening, the 20-yard line.

Yaro Middaugh gained seven after Matt Sherman picked up the opening three yards, but after that initial first down, the drive stalled. Punting, the Red Devils kicked out of bounds but it went just 12 yards, giving St. Francis solid starting position at the 45.

Six plays later, Pat Bramer scampered in for the Glads, the PAT making it 7-0, with 7:33 left in the quarter.

The next kickoff, fielded at the goal line, was returned only to the five. Things looked good as Middaugh broke loose for a 53-yard scoot, only to be called back on a clip. Two plays later,

St. Francis intercepted.

Red Devil defense proved tough, as Josh Spear and Cory Cutler stuffed one play, Nate McWatters and Matt Sherman the next. St. Francis gave the ball back two plays later at the 18.

Four plays later, East Jordan had to punt. A wet ball bounced off the kickers hands, and by the time he found it, the Glads had found him at the six yard line.

One six-yard play later by Chris Ready, and the Glads led 13-0, botching the extra point. From that point, with 33 seconds left in the first quarter onward, the game never again got close an end zone, except behind the offensive team.

The second half fared the same. Devils' starts included at the two on the first possession of the half, from which they generated most of their offense. Middaugh busting for 20 yards and then Matt Sherman for 18.

Changes of possession later, East Jordan began at the 24, then, at the 16. They never began after that, falling by shutout, 13-0.

The game featured all of 213 yards of offense, 126 by St. Francis, 87 from the Devils. East Jordan did not make it offensively into Gladiator territory all evening.

Varsity ladies lose to Rayders; JV team gains win

S.F. PUCKETT
Sports Writer

Battling the first place team and last place team in the same week netted the same result at both ends, a disappointing loss and a springboard into the future and the districts for Lady Devils basketball.

Charlevoix had eyes on the title Nov. 1 when they hosted the Red Devils, the Devils with an eye on the upset. For two quarters, the Devils managed to outscore the Red Rayders by a point in each and lead 20- at the break.

Then the roof caved in on the Devils. Charlevoix took to the court in the second half with fire in their eyes and radar on the shots, outscoring the Devils 27-12 in period three to send them on their way to the 68-52 win.

Amanda Pepin showed her sparkling abilities with 21 points, Christina Ruhling with 10 and Mandy Reid scored nine.

East Jordan did tally victory in the JV game, 46-41. Jenny McCready, Jenny Goebel and Jenny Falco gave Ann Hettig all the help she needed.

Thursday, Boyne City welcomed in the Red Devils, giving them a sour taste to take home as the Ramblers snuck by. Boyne corralled a 15-10 lead after one quarter, then matched the Devils to the half to lead 29-24. The Devils were due, and came out of their shell in period three to score 10 more than the Ramblers and lead 39-34.

In the fourth, Boyne City came back to tie the game in the last minute, then got an offensive rebound put back and two late free throws to ice away the win, 52-48, over East Jordan.

Christina Ruhling was on top with 14 points for East Jordan. Kristie Leviska and Pepin scoring 13 each.

The Red Devils won the JV game 45-28. Hettig good with her 12 points.

Tennis coach credits outstanding students

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

If he could have hit a curve ball, Ed Burrows may have never gotten involved with tennis.

But the retired coach and athletic director at East Jordan High School elected to play the racket sport when he decided he didn't care to strike out in college baseball.

He learned the game at Florence State College (now the University of Northern Alabama) in Florence, Ala. He was there on a sports scholarship, and his plans included medical school.

But where Burrows and his wife Cynthia (also a teacher) soon actually found themselves was teaching and coaching football and baseball at Clay City, Fla.

Then in 1956, the Burrows' road took another turn, when they accepted $100 in travel money from Superintendent Ernest Wade to drive to East Jordan and consider teaching and coaching positions.

"There was no organized physical education program at that time," recalls Burrows. "But he gave me a good budget to buy equipment."

With that incentive, along with the area potential for hunting and winter sports, the athletic couple decided to give the place a two-year try.

Once they learned to ski that first winter, they were hooked, and stayed on an extra 30-plus years. Between them, the couple gave East Jordan more than 50 years as teachers and coaches before retiring in 1986.

Although he is presently gaining recognition (again) as tennis coach through his upcoming induction into the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Hall of Fame, Burrows feels that the sport is just one of three life skills that can be meaningful to the elite athlete and non-athletic alike.

"Skiing, golf and tennis - they promote wise use of leisure time," is the Burrows philosophy. "They have carry-over value."

The coach knows of where he speaks, having both played and coached most common team sports. He always enjoyed the more "intellectual" sports himself - an understandable attitude from a 2-handicap golfer.

"There is a world of difference between football and tennis," he noted. "Tennis is more friendly, the players are more open."

He calls tennis a sport that requires long-term dedication for success and he believes that correlates with success in work and lifestyle. As proof he points out that most of his East Jordan players went on to college and pursued successful careers as professionals in many fields.

"It requires self-discipline," he continued. He encouraged that trait by conditioning his players physically and mentally. "I told them to learn from better players - they could learn even from losing."

Perhaps the students attracted to the tennis program just happened to be the most outstanding, or perhaps their training made them that way. At any rate, during his 17-year tenure as tennis coach, East Jordan won 12 regional championships - 10 of them in a row - had a three-year undefeated streak, and never had a losing season.

But for Burrows, the team stats aren't so important. His pride lies in the accomplishments of the students, including nine former students who went into coaching themselves. A number of his students went to college on tennis scholarships.

"Those are things that matter," said the proud coach.

Accomplishments in establishing the physical education program at East Jordan - providing something for all students, not just the best athletes - also stand high on Burrows' list of things that matter. Even during cut-backs because of one of the few lost millages in the district, Burrows was proud that he convinced school board members physical education was too important to cut. Organizing volunteers to build a second tennis court, or his role in helping to design the new East Jordan High School - those are the accomplishments Burrows likes to remember.

Burrows probably would have been inducted into the Hall of Fame years ago if he could have produced the documentation. He was first approached the initial year of the hall - 1987. He has been prodded to claim his nomination ever since, but just wasn't motivated to take time to produce the records.

Finally, the Hall of Fame board decided to induct him anyway, so to help them out, he went to the high school and counted the trophies.

In February, Ed and Cynthia, their three children, other family members and a number of former students will attend the induction ceremony in Troy. He's proud to be recognized by his peers, but Burrows won't really concede that there was anything special about himself as a coach. His modest explanation:

"We were exposed to outstanding young people."

Social Services recognizes volunteers, foster parents

The Charlevoix County Department of Social Services (DSS) honored foster parents and volunteers with a dinner and awards at the Wolverine-Dilworth Inn, Boyne City, in appreciation of their service.

The Honorable Judge Frederick Mulhauser, Emmet and Charlevoix County probate judge, gave a presentation to the audience. Judge Mulhauser praised the foster parents and volunteers that give of themselves, yet very seldom get a thank you in return.

"The services provided by volunteers and foster parents elevate the dignity of those served," he noted.

Services supervisor Mel Sweet said, "If we can agree that every child deserves a family, and that children have a right to be with their own parents, then it follows that the best and most effective method of treating dysfunctional families is by maintaining that family as a whole entity."

Sweet went on to explain the Family Preservation Initiative as a method of protecting children, stabilizing and strengthening families. He also noted the partnership between DSS and the courts, as well as the role of the DSS in protecting children who cannot be left in their homes, making necessary the placement in foster homes.

Certificates were presented to foster parents by Foster Home certification worker Linda Silver, Children's protective Services worker Bonnie Gates, and Social Services board member Ellie Rouse. Receiving certificates were: Lawrence and Sandy Bergmann, 8 years; Robert and Rosaria Davis, 6 years; Paul and Deborah Gelderblom, 3 years; and Ken and Kathleen Bradley, 1 year.

Volunteers Services Supervisor Vasco Zucchiatti reflected over the past years working with volunteers.

"Working with volunteers on a daily basis is very inspiring and the relationship becomes a feeling a family," he remarked.

Social Services board chairman I. Lee Moerland presented volunteers certificates of appreciation for their years of service. Receiving certificates were: Community Service Center, Food Pantry Stitch & Chat, Genetta Cole and Shirley Roloff, 19 years; Connie Fraley, 14 years; Raymond Ecker, 13 years; Anna Willis, 11 years; and Charlevoix Community Food Pantry, Vern Cole, 10 years.

Also receiving certificates were: Dennis Gocha, Mildred Gocha, Dianne Penfold-Sayward, Care and Share Food Pantry, J.O. Crawford, Sara Cummings, Oma Darrah, Lloyd Cummings, Louis Hooper, Francis Hooper, Ethel Kerner, Margaret Landman, Floyd Peck, Kay Peck, John Miller, Mel Morrison, Les VanderJagt, William Block, Julie Carter, Thomas King, Kathy Roehrig, Mildred Walden, Susie Walley, Harold Cowles, Marie Zoberski, Marie Arsenault, Marrietta Bell, Terri Bell, Betty Brownell, Sherry Fisher, Fern Horton, Richard John, Sheryl John, Helen King, Linda Silver, Kim Strange, Amber Chellis, Connie Snover, and Mary Carson.

Special awards were given to volunteers who have reached 200 hours of service: Harold Cowles, Helen King, Dianne Penfold-Sayward, Susie Walley, and Marie Zoberski.

Volunteers Marie Zoberski reached 500 hours of service and Raymond Ecker, 11,000 hours of service.

VOLUNTEERS HONORED by the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services posed together after dinner at the Wolverine-Dilworth Inn.

THIS GROUP of foster parents was honored at the DSS dinner.

Dolly: My Life and Other Unfinished Business

By Dolly Parton

Dolly Parton is a grammy-award winning country singer and songwriter. She has also been an actor and has her own theme park, Dollywood, in Tennessee.

Dolly Parton's book is a must-read. She explains about growing up in poverty in Sevier County, Tenn., having a dream and making a dream come true. This is one of the most glittering country music stars who could be an inspiration for us all.

Dolly: My Life and Other Unfinished Business can be found in the new book section at the Jordan Valley District Library. Other books about Dolly are: Dolly Parton by Otis James; Dolly by Alanna Nash; and Dolly Parton: Daughter of the South by Lola Scobey.

Devils are playoff bound

EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of a production error in the Nov. 2 issue, this article was inadvertently left incomplete. Due to the importance of the accomplishment, we are reprinting the story in its entirety.

East Jordan is back in the play-offs, wrapping up an 8-1 season with a slow-starting, solid-finishing 27-19 win over Charlevoix Fri., Oct. 28.

Also back will be the team East Jordan picked up a loss from - Traverse City St. Francis. They demolished Elk Rapids 34-12 to win the Lake Michigan conference and make the play-offs, one step behind East Jordan.

Boswell Stadium will be Friday nights pre-regional site for the playoff game between the Red Devils and St. Francis; the same place the Gladiators escaped from a month ago with a 20-6 win - the win that put East Jordan one game back in the standings.

Friday's match in Charlevoix started off on the wrong foot and tripped the Devils all the way through the first half, Charlevoix happy to hold a 13-6 lead. Karl Redmer optioned his way into the end zone to keep the spark in the East Jordan offense.

"We didn't come to play football in the first half," surmised coach Al Peterson. "We were overconfident. We didn't do much adjusting at the half, just went out and played like we were suppose to. The offensive line blocked, the defensive crew tackled."

Yaro Middaugh cashed in two touchdowns in the second half, with Redmer adding one more jaunt into paydirt as East Jordan raced to 21 second half points and overcame the first half to win 27-19.

Matt Sherman had the bulldog duty, plowing the line for grunge yards totaling 101 on 15 carries, Yaro Middaugh adding 70 hard-fought yards. The defense was paced by Sherman with 14 tackles, Adam Skrocki grabbing 11 Red Rayder runners.

If tickets for the first match with the Glads were hot, this match should be hotter than a solar flare. Boswell will be rockin'!

Volunteers honored

Local members of the Charlevoix County Retired and Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) Mae and Bill Bridge were recently honored for their many hours of volunteer work with the RSVP Volunteers of the Year Award. Members since 1988, the Bridges volunteer at the East Jordan Health Center, the East Jordan Senior Center, Charlevoix Area Hospital and Raven Hill Discovery Center. RSVP director Becky Mosser (shown on the right presenting the award to the Bridges), said the couple was honored for an outstanding commitment to the program, the spirit of volunteering and dedication to their community.

We've started the Christmas countdown - 6.5 weeks to go as of the last week in September. I love Christmas and begin the first weekend in September with grandiose plans for homemade crafts and gifts. If I'm lucky, I accomplish a third of what I plan.

No other holiday in the year offers as rich a treasure-chest of history, ethnic legacies, entertainment, the exercise of craft and artistic ability, the extending of "good will" toward loved ones, acquaintances and strangers. And food.

Well, the recipe above isn't for incredible cookies, but for really superb modeling clay. The girls and I began our Christmas countdown with a session of ornament creation. This clay can be rolled and cut with cookie cutters, or formed freehand. It dries smooth and doesn't crack and bloat like a similar bread dough formula does. Food coloring may be added for colored clay. Place ornaments on waxed paper and let them dry overnight. (Don't forget to add a hole in your ornament for a hanger!)

Glitter, acrylic or tempera paints, white glue (or the new colored kind!), buttons, rhinestones . . . endless possibilities exist for decorating the ornaments after they dry. We made stars, geese, kittens and gingerbread men.

"Don't poke it out with your finger - use the stick," Katrina instructed her sister in a sophisticated manner. We found bamboo skewers, commonly used for shish kebobs, make great all-purpose poking tools, and are excellent for making the hanger hole.

After we swept up the fall-out under Miranda's chair, we began our holiday viewing season with a private family screening of A Charlie Brown Christmas. I still get tears in my eyes when Linus recites the true meaning of Christmas, and I almost begin to look forward to a little white stuff on the ground.

Almost.

Kathy Swanson works for Up North Publications. She lives in Charlevoix with her husband, daughters Katrina (5), and Miranda (3), one rabbit, a very old cat, and a stupid porcupine-hunting dog.

what's cooking?

Continuing with our Thanksgiving Dinner festivities, here are two more delicious recipes for "the feast." We have served these to rave reviews many, many times so we hope you'll try them.

For the vegetable portion of your dinner, here is a recipe for Green Bean Bundles. Our source is the Creme de Colorado Cookbook.

Green Bean Bundles

2 lb. fresh green beans
6 strips bacon partially cooked
Garlic salt to taste
4 tbsp. butter, melted
6 tbsp. packed light brown sugar
Gather 3-5 beans in bundles and wrap 1/2 piece of bacon around center of each bundle. Place bundles in baking dish. Sprinkle with garlic salt. Pour melted butter over bundles. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Bake at 350° F. for 15-20 minutes or until bacon is done.

NOTE: Select the thinnest, most tender beans. They should be crisp and bright green.

Our next recipe is a great alternative to those plain dinner rolls. It is called Mozzarella Cheese Bursts. Our source for this recipe is Pillsbury Cookbook.

Mozzarella Cheese Bursts

1 10 oz. can Hungry Jack Refrigerated Flaky Biscuits
3 oz. mozzarella cheese, cut into 10 3/4-inch cubes
1/4 c. chopped green onions (these biscuits taste great with or without the onion)
1 tbsp. margarine or butter, melted
1/4 tsp. fennel seed

Heat oven to 400° F. Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Partially separate each biscuit into 2 layers - insert 1 cheese cube and about 1 tsp. onion into each opening. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Press edges to seal well. Cut a deep X on top of each biscuit. Brush each with margarine or butter. Sprinkle with fennel seed.

Bake at 400° F for 7-11 minutes or until light golden brown. Serve warm. Makes 10 biscuits.

Whether you try Green Bean Bundles or Mozzarella Cheese Bursts for your Thanksgiving Dinner or another occasion, they will be requested again and again!

PROCEEDINGS OF THE EAST JORDAN CITY COUNCIL

The East Jordan City Council met in Regular Session, Tuesday, November 1, 1994 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall with Mayor Peck presiding and all members of Council present. Minutes were approved and authorization was given to pay $62,699.66 in bills as submitted.

Further Council Actions: accepted the Planning Commission's recommendation and denied the McDonald's Corporation development at the intersection of M-32 & M-66; passed a resolution to vacate a 33' x 124' portion of Spring Street, north of Williams Street; appointed Marie Yettaw to a vacancy on the Planning Commission; and Mayor Peck proclaimed November 4, 1994 as "Red Devil Day" in the City of East Jordan.

A copy of the minutes of the above meeting is posted in City Hall for review during normal office hours.

Reader shares historical information on photo

This past weekend I visited my brother, Carl Kamradt, in East Jordan. He had saved me the photograph of the East Jordan High School Band that you published in the Oct. 19th issue of the Journal. I made copies of this which I have sent to Cathola Lorraine Bennett and her brother, Claude Lorraine, both of whom are pictured in this photograph.

Looking on the backside of this clipping, I read what remained of what you wrote about the late history of the newspapers of East Jordan, Michigan. My family played a major part in the early newspaper publishing history of East Jordan, so I was most interested in this article.

My great grandfather, Clarence L.

Lorraine, was the publisher of the East Jordan Enterprise from 1891 until his death in 1918; his son, Bert Lorraine, continued to publish the Enterprise until 1920 when he turned over its list of subscribers to Mr. G.A. Lisk. The Lorraines, Cathola and Claude, shown in the photograph sited above, are the children of Bert Lorraine.

My grandfather, Roy L. Lorraine, worked in the Enterprise office, with his father, until about 1901 when he purchased the Charlevoix County Herald and went into competition with his father. Roy sold the Herald to G.A. Lisk in 1904 and moved to Wolverine, Michigan where he founded the Wolverine Express in that same year. This business he sold in early 1905 and tramped about his printer before returning to again work with his father in the publication of the Enterprise in 1907.

I have published a small family history book titled The Lorraines which tells the story of this pioneering newspaper family in East Jordan. I have given copies of this book to the East Jordan Library and to the East Jordan Historical Society, either of whom have the book available for your perusal, should you be interested. There might be a story there for you. I know that the townspeople have always had an interest in the history of our town and the part this family played in its development might be well received.

Congratulations and best wishes for a long and successful experience with your newspaper.

William E. (Bill) Kamradt

Editor's Note: High School band in East Jordan was a natural extension of community and military bands which provided popular entertainment for participants and observers alike. But until John TerWee came to East Jordan in 1924, the school district did not support an instrumental group.

TerWee (shown in the Oct. 19 photo) established the first EJHS Band in 1925 and by 1930 when this photo was taken, had developed a junior band and summer instruction program as well.

A native of the Netherlands, TerWee was known as an exacting and fine director. He worked with bands in East Jordan until 1944, building a musical organization that the community was very proud of, and attracting vacationers to the town with popular summer open air concerts.

Jordan River swim

Baptizing himself in the chilly waters of the Jordan River, Rev. David Downton took this October swim to recognize his First Presbyterians. Collectively, church members brought in the highest dollar amount of any group in this year's CROP Walk, so their minister fulfilled a promise to take a dip at the Rogers Road bridge, as witnessed by an appreciative crowd. Said indulgent wife Carolyn of the man who has been known to perform similar antics in the past, "At least it was kind of warm this year!"

Food basket recipients sought

The East Jordan Care & Share Emergency Food Pantry is once again preparing gift food baskets for Thanksgiving and Christmas. We ask that if you know of a family or an individual who is in need this year that you send their names along with the following information:

- Name of the family (East Jordan Residents)
- Number of family members
- Complete address and telephone number
- Ages and sex of children (some years we have donated hats and mittens and this information helps with size and color)

• Name of person and telephone number to contact who could deliver baskets to those on the list who cannot pick them up

We would like to have the lists returned to us as soon as possible.

Care & Share is also asking for any donations of food, hats and mittens, and money. Please pass this information along.

student news

EJ resident named to dean's list

Paul Matthew Michael was named to the dean's list for the Winter 1994 term at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He is a student in the College of Engineering.

To qualify for the honor, a student must maintain a 3.5 or better grade-point average (out of a possible 4.0) for the term.

National dean's list honorees

Several local students were among the 114,000 students included in the 17th annual edition of The National Dean's List just published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Ill.

Nancy L. Cook, a student at University of Michigan, Jennifer L. Cook, a student at Alma College, Jodi J. Helland, a student at Michigan Technical University; and Billie J. Williams, a student at North Central Michigan College, were named to the prestigious list.

Students are selected by their college deans, registrars or honor society advisors, and must be in the upper 10 percent of their class, on their school's dean's list, or have earned a comparable honor.

Listed students are eligible to compete for $25,000 in scholarship awards, and may use a referral service for future employment opportunities. More than 2,500 colleges and universities nationwide use the publication to recognize their academically qualified students.

Teddy bears really help

The Prosecutor's Office was so pleased with all the items the ladies of the East Jordan Methodist Church gave us for our women and children victims. As a matter of fact, we just had a four-year-old have to testify on Friday and she picked out one of the big pink teddy bears! She was thrilled and we were so pleased we could bring her some happiness on such a difficult day.
