

Winter throttled back a bit in the past week, with only 8 inches of snow falling in the seven-day period from Feb. 13-20. Early-week highs in the 20s climbed to the low 40s by Saturday, with bright blue skies and balmy breezes providing a foretaste of spring. Temperatures are predicted in the low 30s for the rest of the week, with moderate additional snow accumulations. LAST YEAR: A warming trend saw the mercury climb to the 60degree mark for an entire weekend, leaving the snowfall total by Feb. 21, 1994, at 149.5 inches.

Valentine smile

With a grin that could charm the coldest heart, second-grader Kim Snyder is obviously enjoying her cards, treats and Valentine sweets as she joins her East Jordan Elementary classroom celebration of Cupid's day.

The recreation master plan inventories all present recreational facilities and opportunities, as of Sept. 24, 1994. Many of the facilities were found to be underutilized, deteriorating and lacking accessibility for the disabled.

- City docks and Memorial Park two acres on Spring Street includes marina with 60 boat slips, picnic and restroom facilities, lighted walkway and historical steam engine and
- Civic Center includes a large gymnasium, meeting rooms, kitchen, showers and restroom facilities
- Elm Pointe and Portside Museum an 8acre park one mile north of city limits on M-66, with sandy beach, picnicking facilities and restrooms; features an art and historical museum and a house available for party rental
- GAR Park a half-acre site on the corner of Main and Williams streets, undeveloped
- Ice rink a 1.5-acre site between State and Mill streets, flooded in the winter for ice skating; includes lighting and a warming house
- Old Boswell Field a 40-acre site just outside the city's southeast boundaries, former high school lighted football field and track, with two buildings and an entrance gate, partially forested
- Public access less than one acre just north of the marina, surrounded by East Jordan Iron Works, undeveloped
- Public boat launch allows boat access to Lake Charlevoix off the northeast corner of the bridge, includes trailer parking and restrooms
- Second Ward Park a half-acre on the corner of Mill and Maple streets; includes some playground equipment, primarily just open space

- Sportsman's Park a 120-acre natural area south of Bridge Street near the Water Street intersection, with a small developed picnic area, restroom facilities, a gazebo, lighting, wooden walkway and viewing plat-
- Third Ward Park/Watson Field a 1.6-acre area on Division Street; includes unlighted fenced Little League baseball field, restrooms, covered dugouts, scoreboard and playground
- Tourist Park and Murphy Field—a large (26) acres) recreation complex on the corner of M-66 and M-32; includes 94 electric hook-up campsites, restroom facilities with showers, picnic area, sandy beach, equipped playground, covered pavilion, concession stand, 40 boat slips, public access boat launch, men's lighted softball field with portable bleachers, scoreboard and covered dugouts, an unlighted fenced baseball/soccer field with portable bleachers, covered dugouts, scoreboard and announcer's booth, tennis courts, and a basketball court
- Unnamed Park less than one-quarter acre located on the south end of Jordan Street, undeveloped
- Other facilities Although the city does not manage or control other public or quasipublic facilities, these were included in the inventory for consideration in preventing unnecessary duplication of services. School district facilities, county, state and commercial facilities, and the public library are among those listed.

City implements recreation plan

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS Journal Editor

A vision of improved quality of life for East Jordan citizens motivated the city council to promote a master plan for the city's parks and recreational facilities.

The massive new plan for controlled development of the recreation areas in East Jordan was adopted by resolution of the city council, Feb. 7. It is the fruit of labor by an ad hoc committee, whose members represent a variety of civic, business and municipal interests.

With funding provided by grants from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the East Jordan Rotary, the city retained Gove and Associates of Lansing, an architectural planning firm, as consultants.

Although the need was already clear to many city residents, the development of a master plan was provoked by a Charlevoix County recreation plan submitted to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The DNR rejected the East Jordan phase of the plan, listing a number of shortcomings. The rejection made East Jordan ineligible for federal and state parks and recreation grants.

In September 1994, the ad hoc committee sponsored a survey of East Jordan households to measure what the community felt was missing in recreational opportunities. Of the 49 respondents, 32 were unsatisfied with present recreation programs and facilities. Most felt better maintenance, and additions such as a bicycle trail system, fitness trails, basketball courts and more restroom facilities were necessary to improved recreation opportunities.

As consultants, Gove Associates helped compile the information from all sources to form a five-year action plan that details improvements. Accepted by the city council after a public hearing, the plan has now been approved by the recreation division of the MDNR.

Aspects of the plan

The master plan includes a demographic, geographic and political description of the area and its resources, outlining in detail the community served. An inventory of all present recreational facilities and opportunities itemizes both the strengths and weaknesses of each facility (see box).

A future dream is to retain a full time recreation director and establish a recreation department. Because such a plan is presently economically unfeasible, the administrative structure of city parks and recreation will remain the same, with city departments providing maintenance and operation of the parks, while council committees and other groups advise the city council in administration of the parks.

An action plan furnishes a yearby-year outline describing details of projects, cost estimates and anticipated funding sources. First

- Provide improved access for the physically impaired
- Provide better maintenance of existing facilities
 - · Work closely with other orgacontinued on back

company name is a warehouse, with the distillery behind. The huge building on the right with the eight tall stacks is the retorch, where the charcoal was produced. The office building on the right is flanked by some workers and a 1924 Model T Ford.

East Jordan Chemical – a Jordan Valley memory

In 1913, the International Encyclopedia listed the East Jordan Chemical Plant and Iron Furnace as not only the most modern and up-to-date plant in the world, but the largest!

East Jordan in conjunction with a Boyne City furnace company, together raised $600,000 to build this plant. They built on land in the north part of East Jordan, on Lake Charlevoix.

It took two to three years to grade the land, build railroad connections, rail sidings, and drive pilings for docks. They imported bricks and steel to build the blast furnace, the hot air heating stacks, a six story distillery, warehouses, eight retort ovens to char hardwood, many sheds and the distilling machinery. A large steam engine was installed for air power and electricity. There were three rail locomotives and a narrow gauge donkey train.

All this was finished and the plant opened in 1909.

The local natural resources of thousands of acres of hardwood tree tops and trees too small for logs made the main fuel ingredient, charcoal. Charcoal was necessary to raise the temperature in the blast ovens to 2,800° – the temperature it took to melt the ore.

The retort vessel ovens had to be nearly air tight. Air was regulated just enough to char but to be kept from blazing. The heat under the ovens caused the resins in the wood to render sap. The volatile vapors of wood alcohol were captured in the distillery.

Another by-product, a brown granular substance called acetate of lime, required raking and turning. The drying of the acetate was done over the charring ovens. It was a hot eye-irritating and suffocating operation.

To aid in charring, the hardwood was cut in four-foot lengths, and split down to six to eight inches in width. The slats were stacked on raised earth wind rows, and rotated for drying, which took a full year. The drying yard held 2,000 cord.

A small donkey train ran between the rows with wire-sided buggies. John Lucey's 12-man gang of strong-armed men moved the wood, stacking the green or sending the dry in a buggy. It took about six cord a day to power the furnace.

Rail transportation worked well for the hardwood. But it was cheaper to ship the ore by boat rather than to ship it by rail – $1 a ton by ship or $4 a ton by rail. The ore came from Escanaba.

There were two boats that came with ore, the Venezuela and the Griffon. They brought ore in, and took cast iron pigs made from the ore, out. A shipment of 3,200 ton was the largest to come through the channel at Charlevoix.

Working and living conditions around the plant

Labor was no problem – it was plentiful. Many workers were from Tennessee and Kentucky. Four hundred men were employed at 17¢ an hour, or $55 a month. They worked 84 hours a week, seven days a week, and 12 hours a day.

Those loading cars and cutting wood were paid by piece – 90¢ for a four-by-eight split cord. Each load of a ton of iron ingots (called pigs) into gondola rail cars earned the worker nine cents – about one cent for four 75-lb. pigs carried up a plank and dumped. People did not complain as they knew little of anything but survival.

Some men lived in shacks along the tracks. Bosses lived on the hill overlooking the place – there were about 20 houses up there. Some men like Rick Beyers walked three miles to work and back. Walt Cook, Roy Webster, John Lucey, Hank Korthase, Ray Barrick, Gib Sturgill, Harry Simmons, Bill Shepard, and Cyrl McKenney were all bosses or key men.

Two school mates of mine worked there, Chester Amburgy and Allen Green. Allen was killed when he was run over by an ore buggy in 1925.

There was always humor among the men. The place where the cast iron pigs were piled was called pig yard. The men that formed the sand molds were called sand hogs. The men in John Lucey's gang, were called the cotton tail gang because of the many rabbits that lived in the drying yard. The center channel from the furnace where the molten iron flowed into the casting room was called the old sow.

It took 2,800° of heat to melt ore into liquid. After melting the ore, 30 percent became iron and the rest was sand, or waste. The sand and waste was dumped in the low land around the lake. Some of it was used to build roads on city streets. The material was like cinders and would frost heave in the winter, and was rough and very dusty from soot in the summer, Some of the waste was dumped into the lake – you could smell the chemicals in the water.

Ore is usually red, but some is gray or slate color, with some magnetic and some not. The ore froze hard in the winter and trying to wash it from dirty clothes was an ordeal.

Ore was discovered in Negaunee in 1820 and production began in 1840. As the content of iron in the ore decreased over the years, the cost of shipping grew. Today, 60 to 70 percent pellets of iron don't freeze and are easier to handle when shipped and used.

The daily grind

There were two casting pours a day, of approximately 20 tons of iron each. They were poured at 3 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The furnace was tapped (there was a port hole in the bottom) with a poker and ore flowed into the center trough, the sow. As the iron flowed down, it was diverted by a man with a wide spade into molds formed into sand. This was done until one side of the casting room was completed. Sparks flew everywhere.

The next pour, 12 hours later, used the be used again. other side of the casting room.

To melt iron ore the blast furnace is different than a cupola, which is like an open chimney. The furnace is capped or closed so the heat and smoke is diverted to an outside stack or chimney. The fire pot is lined with fine brick and clay called cupoline. A damper automatically closed after the ore passed through. All the material was measured. A big steam engine forced the hot air from two heated brick stoves to blast and melt the ore.

Harry Simmons and Bill Shepard would stand by and when molds had cooled enough they would separate the pigs with a 20pound sledge.

The expertise of many other local small furnace companies helped to make East Jordan Chemical the world's largest and most modern. The prior furnace companies only made ore into iron, not saving the resins of the wood, alcohol, and tar acetate. These by-products were the difference in the East Jordan plant's existence.

Some other furnace companies in the area were: Ironton, 1879-1893; Mancelona, 1875-1936; Elk Rapids, 1873-1895; Fayette, 1867-1891; and Boyne City, 1895-1920. They closed for want of available charcoal timber.

There was a demand for cast iron for farm machinery and stoves. Demand peaked during World War I, 1914-1918, as the chemical by-products were needed to make gun powder. This made a few involved individuals millionaires.

When the big Misaba Range opened, and coke became available for fueling furnaces, the lake boats hauled the ore to Detroit, and the small furnaces were out.

In East Jordan trouble from strikes started around 1925, and the ovens were destroyed by fire twice. In 1927 the plant closed.

The plant bricks and other materials were cleaned and salvaged. Times were hard and many folks cleaned brick for little or nothing.

The old footings are still there. Before it was torn down part of the plant was used for a marina for awhile. Maybe some day it will be used again.

EJFD prevented serious damage

We would like to thank the East Jordan Fire Department for their profession and courteous assistance on the night of Feb. 11. We had a chimney fire and if it weren't for their help, we could have had serious damage.

We have always been careful about keeping our chimney clean and had cleaned it only a week before the fire. Still, we had a fire due to a build-up of creosote around the pipe where it connects to the chimney. When it caught fire, there was nothing we could do but watch it burn.

We would also like to thank Sheriff Don Snyder for crossing the line to make sure the Fire Department found us in time. We sure felt good knowing that there are so many caring folks in our community.

In addition we would like to remind all of you who burn wood to keep close watch on your woodstoves. There is nothing like the feel of wood heat in our homes, but they can be very dangerous; especially during long cold spells when you burn the stove hotter than usual and then turn them down a little lower at night to hold the fire a little longer. That's when the creosote can build.

This time of year we tend to use wood that is at the second half of the winter supply and this wood may be greener wood that you thought would be dry enough by now. It might not be dry and green wood creates more creosote build-up also.

So... once again, thanks guys! We appreciate the hard work you do. We also wish everyone out there a safe heating season.

Physician volunteer recognized

Members of the East Jordan Ambulance Department gathered recently to honor medical director Dr. Mitchell Carey for 15 years of volunteer service to the department. As director, Dr. Carey teaches training classes and is the on-call medical advisor. Gathering to present a plaque of recognition were (standing, from left): ambulance department director Bernie Hammond, Jay Peck, Guy Vallance, Lloyd Prevo, Dr. Carey, Kathy Drenth, Nancy Sherman, and Tim Drenth. Seated are (from left): Tom Birgy, Rhonda Imeson, Tony Postmus, and Wayne Fries.

EJ Police Dept. weekly report

The East Jordan Police Department is investigating a report of a vehicle theft.

David Bernier told police that his 1982 Ford F-150 pickup was stolen while parked at the Rainbow Bar on Mill St., Feb. 13, between 8:15 and 8:45 p.m. The keys were left in the vehicle, which had about one-quarter tank of gas.

The department is following up on several leads in regards to possible suspects.

■ February 11

Two cars were damaged when a 1991 Oldsmobile driven by Matthew Kamradt pulled out of the Marathon station on State St. into the path of a 1985 Buick driven by Michael Hawkins. Hawkins was traveling east on State when he struck the Kamradt vehicle. Both drivers were wearing seatbelts and no injuries were reported.

■ February 12

At approximately 7 p.m., Anthony Nessell was driving his 1989 Ford pickup when he pulled away from the stop sign at Esterly St. into the path of Marc McNaughton, driving a 1993 Pontiac heading south on Main St. Although both vehicles were damaged, the drivers were wearing seatbelts and no injuries were reported.

■ February 14

Pete Kraemer reported his 1994 Ford pickup was struck in the rear driver's side panel by and unknown vehicle while parked unoccupied.

■ February 15

Stanley Antoine was driving a Clark fork truck owned by the East Jordan Iron Works in the EJIW Williams St. parking lot, when a 1988 Ford Ranger pickup driven by Christopher Pinney backed into the front of the fork truck. There were no injuries reported.

Spaghetti dinner planned

The East Jordan High School Class of 1995 will sponsor a spaghetti dinner on Fri., Feb. 24, in the high school cafeteria.

The dinner precedes the Parent's Night basketball game against Traverse City

St. Francis. Tickets are $3 per person or $12 for a family. Children four and under are free.

Foster homes needed

Charlevoix County Department of Social Services is interested in recruiting foster homes that will exclusively focus on the needs of male teens.

The department is also looking for foster homes that will be utilized for a large sibling group of three or more. In addition, the department is interested in licensing a multipurpose foster home on Beaver Island.

Inquiries should be directed to the foster home licensing worker at the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services at (616)547-4471.

Nominations sought

The Michigan Sheriffs' Association Education Services announced the "Call for Nominations" for the 1995 MSAES Criminal Justice Scholarship. Scholarships in the amount of $1,000 will be awarded to qualifying students from around the state.

Nominations must come from Michigan Sheriffs' Association members. All applications should be forwarded to the sheriff of the county in which the nominee resides.

Criteria and application can be obtained from the MSA at (517) 485-3135 or Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater or the sheriff of nominee's resident county. Deadline for application submission to the sheriff is March 10. Please make sure all components of the application are included – incomplete applications will be disqualified.

For more information, contact the sheriff at (616) 547-4461.

Land conservancy reports progress

The Grand Traverse Regional Land Conservancy (GTRLC), based in Traverse City and serving Antrim, Kalkaska, Benzie and Grand Traverse Counties, wrapped up another busy year in December.

In 1994 alone, the GTRLC protected over 100 acres of land in Antrim County and South Arm Township with over 2,000 feet of undeveloped shoreline on Grand Traverse Bay and Six Mile Lake.

Overall, the 1994 the Conservancy completed nine projects which includes four land gifts, five preserve additions and two conservation easements. Since its inception, the Regional Conservancy has protected over 2,300 acres in the Grand Traverse Region with nearly eight miles of water frontage.

Noteworthy among the Regional Conservancy's accomplishments in 1994 were the acquisition of two additions to the St. Clair Lake-Six Mile Natural Area which now totals 84 acres. South Arm Township donated eight of those acres, which contains 850 feet of frontage on Six Mile Lake, to the Preserve.

The Conservancy also purchased a 59-acre preserve addition that was dedicated in memory of the F.H. and Christine Sandberg Skow family at an Earth Day celebration. The event was attended by numerous descendants of the Skow family and almost the entire community of

Native American program planned

Joe Mitchell will present a program on aspects of spirituality known to the "original people," Sun., Feb. 26. He will explain insights about Native American beliefs at a special meeting of the Unitarian Universalists of Petoskey.

The public is invited to attend the 1 p.m. meeting to be held at 173 Vantage View in Petoskey. A potluck dinner

The U. U. group is a newly-forming congregation for religious liberals which will also be exploring its vision for the future. Any interested persons are welcome.

For more information call 616-536-7390 or 616-348-3117.

The Conservancy has also been very involved in securing a pristine mile-long stretch of Grand Traverse Bay shoreline in Antrim County's Banks Township.

The 156-acre parcel, owned by the family of the late Harry Jones, lies within the Antrim Creek watershed. It features a major fish spawning area, inter-dunal wetlands plus pristine dune and beach areas. It is one of only a handful of undeveloped parcels of this size remaining on Grand Traverse Bay.

The Jones family has already completed a 20-acre land donation and a 15-acre conservation easement gift to the Conservancy. Both Antrim County and Banks Township are working in partnership with the GTRLC to secure grant funds from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund for eventual purchase of the remaining property. If the grant is approved, the Conservancy will transfer the land and easement to the county.

Founded in 1991, the conservancy's membership has grown to nearly 1,500 individuals, families and businesses. For more information about the conservancy, call (616) 929-7911.

Caring and sharing at the Manor

Feed the Flock of God which is among you - not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind I Peter 05:02

How many teen-aged boys do you know who are willing to give of their time and turn from self to others? Well, it happened here at Lakeview Manor Christmas Day.

Clayton Soulliere, 15, pondered on the true meaning of Christmas throughout the year. He discussed this with his parents and was assured if he felt motivated they would furnish the food, cook the meal and let him choose gifts for prizes for bingo games. So all the preparations were made. Clayton is resident Violet Wagner's grandson. His parents Ray and Karen Soulliere Violet's son and his wife and her other son Jim Soulliere stayed overnight to help. The entire family volunteered and contributed more goodies and also spent time visiting.

The Christmas dinner was sumptuous and the true meaning of Christmas was apparent as we all fellowshipped together honoring Christ's birth.

There are many more examples of the community spirit here in East Jordan. Each Sunday evening, church groups come to the Manor. Much singing ensues Sunday evenings as we lift our voices in praise and we share with one another our blessings; and how God has worked in our lives and answered prayers. New prayer requests are made and prayed.

Our halls resounded with groups singing beloved Christmas carols. We received special gifts from third grade students and their first grade "buddies". Oh, such happy animated faces as they entertained us in song in our community room.

Thanksgiving Day was another day of caring and sharing

A church group donated a basket of food and our own Barbara Peterson cooked the dinner for all who were here.

Each month we have a pot luck supper and family and friends are invited. The food is varied and always tasty and we usually have some entertainment.

We here at the manor thank you all for caring about us and sharing with us. To God be the glory!

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Need God Be Sorry for Man?

"And the Lord was sorry that he had made man on earth, and it grieved him to his heart.

We can only imagine the depths to which God's spirit must have sunk when He decided to destroy His own creations from the face of the earth. Only Noah and his family would be spared to repopulate the world along with two of each species of life. The wonder is that God has not seen fit to repeat that drastic measure. Certainly man has been willful, ignoring the benefits of God's love and generosity. Corruption is rife, violence abounds and evil touches us all. Yet God is forbearing. Need He be sorry for man? Hardly. It is man who should be sorry for the chaos he has created and should be eternally thankful that the Lord God has been as merciful as He has.

Devils upset, still in hunt

BY S.F. PUCKETT Sports Writer

Harbor Springs delivered a hard blow to the Red Devils in a make-up basketball game Feb. 13, knocking off the Red Devils 80-75 to put East Jordan two games out of the Lake Michigan division race.

This despite great balanced scoring from East Jordan. Steve Wiltfong netted 20, Karl Redmer 13, Mike Newkirk and Andrew Otis had 12 and Yaro Middaugh

Feb. 14 was the East Jordan equivalent of the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. Boyne Falls fell in a 91-64 drubbing.

Kirk Falco, Josh Spears and Ed Hettig all contributed to the winning effort.

Feb. 17 put the Devils into the heat of their local rivals' nest, East Jordan escaped with a narrow 67-63 and Middaugh led the balanced effort.

Wiltfong, Otis, Newkirk

Afterward, more good news came to the Devils -Harbor had picked off toprated Traverse City St. Francis 72-69, putting the Devils a game back of the Glads with a home battle Feb. 24.

Anything Goes begins rehearsing

The East Jordan Thespians have begun practice for this year's production Anything Goes, a 1930's Broadway musical that takes place on a cruise ship and features many Cole Porter songs. The cast, including both middle and high school students, is under the direction of Paula Vollbach, the elementary art and high school drama teacher. This is the 10th year of directing theater for Vollbach, and her fourth at East Jordan.

Volunteer brass players and a banjo player are needed for the pit orchestra. Contact Martha, 536-0178, for more Anything Goes, which will be dedicated to the memory of long-time East Jordan historian George Secord, will be performed on March 18, 19, 23, 24, 26 at the East Jordan High School Auditorium. Senior citizens are invited to a dress rehearsal Thurs., March 16 at 7 p.m.

Injury in rollover

An East Jordan man was injured Feb. 8 when his snowmobile rolled over while attempting to avoid a collision with another rider.

Ronald Price, 32, was driving his snowmobile northbound on the east shoulder of U.S. 131, a quarter mile north of Francis Road, when the accident occurred.

Price told the Antrim County Sheriff Department the snow machine he was following braked, and he swerved and went sideways to avoid a collision. Price lost control and his Ski Doo rolled over, injuring his Price was treated by the Alba rescue unit and was transported by Mancelona Ambulance to Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey, where he was treated and released Feb. 12.

After 26 years as funeral director to families in the Antrim County and East Jordan areas, R T Paullin is retiring.

Paullin and his wife Patricia officially handed over the keys Jan. 2 to Mark Penzien, who with his wife Cynthia has been working as manager for Paullin Funeral Home, Inc. They spoke of the changes in the business and growth in the community since their first year in Mancelona in 1968.

"I think we feel very fortunate we had the opportunity to come to this community and serve the people of this area," commented R T. "By the same token, we were richly rewarded with the friendships and the acquaintances we have come in contact with, not only here but in East Jordan, too."

"The number one thing is that the community embraced us," Patricia added. "They allowed us to be caregivers during one of the worst times of their lives. Both R T and I would have to say we received more than we ever gave."

R T expressed his confidence area families will continue to be in good hands with Penzien, who joined the business in 1986, the same year the East Jordan branch opened.

"We wanted Mark to own the business, because we think he will carry on and serve the community the way we would want," he stated.

"It's families first ... Everything else will be taken care of if you have the people's best interests at heart," said Penzien in stating his business philosophy.

Penzien is the fourth generation in his family to be a funeral director, beginning with his great-uncle in Lapeer. His father, Leland, was a funeral director in Bay City before later entering the ministry.

RT Paullin and Mark Penzien

In working with the Paullins, he found a compatible style of operating a funeral home.

"I don't think it's all that different from the way Grandpa ran his business, or the way Dad ran his business," he commented

The Penziens have three children, Mark, 14; Kevin, 13; and Jeremy, 11. Penzien is a licensed funeral director and a member of the Michigan Funeral Director Association.

During the years the Paullins and the Penziens have worked together, they all concur it's become like one family. The Paullins are looking forward to their retirement, but say it's hard to leave.

"I'm ready to retire, but I know I'll leave a piece of my heart," said Patricia.

The Paullins plan to build a home on Houghton Lake. "We will be close enough so we can still come back and visit; and help out if we have to," said R T.

"My only plan of attack is to keep things as normal as possible," Penzien said. "People are used to R T and Pat's style and there's some value and comfort in tradition."

Low income home loans offered

CB North recently introduced CB-97, a new mortgage loan program available to low income families to purchase and rehabilitate homes in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Grand Traverse Counties.

CB-97 is unique to this market in that it provides home financing not typically available to lower income individuals who wish to fulfill the dream of becoming homeowners.

The program offers a low 3 percent down payment, with CB North providing the financing for the remaining 97 percent of the purchase price plus rehabilitation costs. Unlike other programs, the low closing costs and prepaid expenses may be paid by the applicant or be a gift from a family member, church, employer, the seller, or any other appropriate source.

The CB-97 mortgage loan recognizes additional considerations that need to be taken into account when providing a program of this type. In addition to low down payments,

We can't cover it if we don't know about it! Help keep the East Jordan Journal – your only home town newspaper – informed! closing costs, and prepaid expenses, the credit report for applicants can include other sources of information in lieu of the standard report provided by an independent credit reporting agency. These sources will be used for those applicants who have not used credit in the past, a departure from standard financing requirements.

Higher debt ratios are also permitted, both for housing expense and total debt, as many residents have already demonstrated the ability to make rent payments that are higher than the mortgage loan payment would be. CB North can offer these more flexible underwriting terms because the loans will not be sold in the secondary market, but instead kept in the Bank's loan portfolio.

"We believe everyone deserves the chance to obtain the dream of owning their own home," said Chuck Morrow, assistant vice president of mortgage loans. Until now, many individuals have been 'closed out' of the real estate market due to large down payment and closing cost requirements..

Morrow added that CB North has committed $600,000 initially to the loan program.

Interested applicants should contact the CB North Mortgage Loan Department.

Business disaster loans available

Federal Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) are now available to small non-farm, agricultural-dependent businesses located in Antrim and Charlevoix Counties, economically impacted as a result of damages and losses caused by extreme cold and frost which occurred January 1 through June 2, 1994, according to U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) Michigan District Director Raymond L. Harshman.

EIDLs are also available to small non-farm, agricultural-dependent businesses in the two counties, because of economic impact as a result of damages and losses caused by excessive rain occurring June 23 through August 15, 1994.

EIDLs provide working capital to small businesses so they can pay bills and meet normal operating expenses. Maximum loans to a business of up to $1.5 million are available at 4 percent interest with loan terms of up to 30 years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business and its financial resources. Farmers are not eligible to apply to SBA.

Harshman said that loan applications and program information are available by calling toll-free 1-800-359-2227. The Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) and speech impaired number is (404) 347-3751. These telephones are answered on weekdays from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Applications are also available by writing the SBA, One Baltimore Place – Suite 300, Atlanta, Georgia 30308.

The EIDL application filing deadline for these disasters is July 18.

Charlevoix survey company changes hands

Farrier Surveying, in business in Kalkaska since 1958, recently purchased DeYoung Surveying of Charlevoix, after the death of Nicholas B. DeYoung.

"We here at Farrier Surveying hope to continue both the community and professional excellence Mr. DeYoung exhibited throughout his life," said company owner Eugene D. Farrier.

Professional surveyor Terry Brand has been appointed Surveying Supervisor for the Charlevoix office. As supervisor, he will have access to state-of-the-art surveying equipment, along with data collection capabilities and computer-aided design systems.

Farrier Surveying has a staff of 15, enough manpower to field up to five survey crews at one time.

Brand has been surveying in the Kalkaska area since 1973. He is married and has two sons working on surveying-engineering degrees at Ferris State University.

The Charlevoix office will keep the same Bridge Street address and phone number previously used by DeYoung.

LEOLA AND KEN LEMON, with their great-grandsons Zachary (back) and Matthew Pater.

people up north

By Kathy Dipzinski 536-0282

People Up North has been featuring senior citizens of East Jordan and the surrounding area.

If you know of someone who is a long time resident, give me a call. I would love to tell their story, and I hop you will enjoy them.

Don' forget to let me know about birthdays and other events that People Up North was designed for.

Ken and Leola

LEMON

This week we're featuring Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lemon. Ken was born June 26, 1908, and Leola was born on Sept. 3, 1908. On Feb. 10, they celebrated 59 years of marriage.

This wonderful couple started coming up to East Jordan in the early 1940s. They camped at the East Jordan Tourist Park in a tent. They were the first family to move a trailer into the park.

Later, they bought a house on Echo Street, which they made their permanent home after retirement from Kelvinator in Grand Rapids where Ken was a repair man for 37 years.

Ken must have not been ready for just fishing quite yet, because he became a school bus driver for East Jordan for 13 years. During this time the couple moved up on Dutchman's Bay Road

I'd like to thank Ken and Leola for all the many wonderful things they have done for our town. Thanks for making East Jordan home!

They have one daughter, Ruby and son-in-law Robert Dipzinski who live a stones throw away.

Since they've lived in East Jordan this couple has done many things for our town. Ken is a lifetime member of the Sportsman Club, Eagles and Lions and board member of Camp Daggett to name a few. Leola is a Lioness and was a Girl Scout leader for many years. She was named Mother of the Year in 1984.

The couple never missed a home game from 1976 through 1982. They both work the concession stand as members of the Sports Boosters.

Ken and Leola have one granddaughter that they are very proud of – Heather Pater – and two great-grandsons.

Ken is now at Grandvue because of a stroke, but says that he is very content there. Leola still lives at home near her daughter and talks to nizations, especially the school district, to reduce unnecessary duplication of services

• Improve the inadequate signage at many of the facilities

• Design and implement a plan for the Old Boswell Field In 1999, the master plan will be evaluated and updated to ensure continued representation of community needs.

In the long run, the city's goal is to provide area residents and visitors with the best possible recreation facilities – for residents to have ample recreational opportunities and to attract visitors to ensure the city's economic health.

Northern gardeners host annual meeting

The Northern Michigan Master Gardener Association installed new officers and reviewed the past year's accomplishments at their third annual meeting held at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey. Outgoing president, Terry Clayton, introduced the new officers, who were elected at the October meeting.

LeRoy S. Brooks, incoming president, thanked Clayton for his past work and outlined some of the plans for the upcoming year which will include plant and seed exchanges; tours of area nurseries and orchards; and at least one progressive tour of Master Gardener member's gardens.

Other officers installed at the meeting included Tracy Blake, vice president; Judy Van Loo, treasurer; and Bette Henry, secretary.

Speakers for the evening were Deb and Paul Gelderblom, of Charlevoix who spoke on their organic farm and bakery, Morning Star Farm. Their experiences offered challenges for the group and an invitation to participate with the nationally known Seed Savers organization.

Also during the evening, Joann Deery was presented with the Northern Michigan Master Gardener's annual award for Outstanding Service.

Master Gardener members are graduates of the Michigan State University Master Gardener program which is offered locally by the MSU Extension office, and includes members from Antrim, Emmet, Charlevoix, Otsego and surrounding counties. Steve Fought, instructor for the classes, was in attendance and reminded the group of their responsibility to the community and the MSU Extension Office to offer community service in the areas of teaching, speaking and hands-on services for non-profit organizations in the area, including schools, hospitals, and other non-profit groups.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Master Gardener program, courses being offered, or community service by the members may contact Kathy Johnson, 582-2715.
