Sewage leak closes beaches

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

During daily monitoring of City of East Jordan sewer lift stations and lagoon operations the morning of June 22, a decrease of incoming sewage was noted. The observation led to discovery of a leak in the city's main sewage transmission line under Memorial Bridge.

City clerk Kathy O'Rear reported that city personnel took immediate action to determine the cause of the leakage. A dye test conducted on the Memorial Bridge line detected a seepage of untreated effluent, although no discharge of solids was observed.

The city arranged emergency repairs and notified appropriate officials at both the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the District Health Department #3.

Beaches from M-32 to Lord Road were closed when the health department issued a temporary advisory against whole-body contact with Lake Charlevoix water in the vicinity. With temperatures soaring in the 90s, the beach at Tourist Park was blocked off and posted.

With the assistance of a local diver, DPW personnel were able to complete a temporary repair to a worn gasket on the sewer line by 2 p.m. Thursday, about five hours after the first flow discrepancy was discovered.

Friday morning, a professional marine diver assisted city personnel in assessing and strengthening the temporary repairs. Officials were scheduled to discuss permanent repairs with a marine contractor June 26. Some financial assistance will come through a DNR grant.

It was estimated that no more than 100,000 gallons of the untreated effluent escaped into Lake Charlevoix. Water samples were scheduled to be collected by the health department again on Friday. Pending results, the city expected to have the swimming advisory lifted by Sat., June 24.

Freedom Festival promises a good time for all

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

With a wealth of activities spanning four days, East Jordan will be alive with fun and games from Thurs., June 29, through Sun., July 2.

The festival climax comes Saturday evening about dusk, when a spectacular fireworks display by Fireworks North, Inc., under the direction of Richard Davis, will attract thousands to the shores and waters of Lake Charlevoix.

The fireworks will follow a day that includes both traditional and completely new entertainment.

The day begins with the whimsical Youth Parade, as individuals and teams of kids display their interpretation of this year's theme, "Super Kids, Super Heroes, Super Fun." Registration and judging begins at 9:30 a.m., Saturday morning, at the GAR Park, and the parade commences at 10 a.m., following Main Street south to Mill, back around to the Civic Center, where prizes are announced.

The traditional Grand Parade encompasses groups from the sublime to the ridiculously funny - queens, soldiers, majestic horses, musical groups and dancers, along with clown bands and tiny cars.

The theme this year, "Great Moments in American History," will be well-represented by Grand Marshal Adeline Bowerman, who will portray Betsy Ross.

Swan City memories

Sax says ...

by Gayle Saxton

The arrival of Independence Day brings back many cherished memories of my youth.

Patriotism was of utmost importance to youth back then. We looked forward to taking part in the town parade, carrying the flag, and participating in the fun and games that followed.

It was with awe that I watched the veterans of World War I march and fire volleys in memory of their buddies, who had died in the war that was to end all wars. Little did I realize at the time that one day I too would be serving in the armed forces of my country.

We loved watching the community's baseball team playing traveling ball teams like the Colored Giants, the House of David, or a barnstorming club.

There were airplane rides, balloon ascensions and fireworks. Firecrackers in those days were the vogue, and it is a wonder there weren't more accidents.

There was an absence of a beer tent, for those were prohibition days.

I vividly remember the greased pole that hung over the water. I'm wondering if that five dollar bill that was attached to the top is still there, for I never succeeded in coming close to retrieving it though I tried desperately year after year. It's surprising how many times I had the greased pig in my grasp, but it got away much as the dollar gets away today.

We played soldier, cowboy and Indians, tag, anti-I-over, and baseball. We went swimming in our birthday suits in the mill pond, rolled hoops, sold candy at the East Jordan Iron Works, picked cherries and beans, rode bicycles and even on occasion sneaked into the pool hall for a game of "eight ball."

The other day a close friend of mine (I hesitate to mention his name) told me that his wife had informed him that he must be getting old, for he was talking more and more in the past. The answer he gave to his spouse was, "That's true - there's more of the past to talk about at our age."

"Nuff said. Have a good Fourth of July and may the memories of the day remain with you for years to come. And remember - some day you also will be a part of the "golden years."

East Jordan native Gayle Saxton has been writing, reporting, and broadcasting sports for many years. Now a retired educator in Houghton Lake, "Sax" will share his memories of East Jordan and his many friends through this column in future issues of the Journal. Today's contribution is a reprint of his column originally published in the Houghton Lake Resorter during the 1980s.

Blissfest coming

The 15th annual Blissfest will be held the weekend of July 7-9, at the Festival Farm near Cross Village.

Musical guests at the traditional music weekend include the Red Clay Ramblers, Robin and Linda Williams, and the Basin Brothers.

Tickets may be purchased at the gate for individual days or the whole weekend. Gates open Friday at noon. There is a square dance Friday evening at 9 p.m. No dogs are allowed on the grounds.

For more information, call the Blissfest hotline at (616)348-2815.

Be sensible about fireworks, sheriff urges

The upcoming Fourth of July is a time of celebration. Let's not make it a time of tragedy, too, when it comes to the dangers of mishandling fireworks.

I know it's part of the Fourth tradition, but too often we have people suffering severe injuries because of fireworks.

There are two types of fireworks. The first kind are "Class B" fireworks and are manufactured and used for professional displays. They are over 2 1/2 inches in diameter and can contain more than 50 grams of explosive compounds.

The second kind of fireworks are called "Class C." These are the kind commonly sold in stores for consumer use. They include sparklers, fire crackers and "fountain" types of tube fireworks. These fireworks are approved by the Consumer Products Safety Commission, but many states ban a portion of them. Michigan is among those that ban most types of fireworks.

The real danger in fireworks is the fact that many "Class B" fireworks are brought into the state by bootleggers. One of those include the M-80, which, contrary to popular belief, is not a quarter stick of dynamite, but can still blow a finger off.

The best thing you can do for your family is to educate them. Always follow the directions on the packaging. Never hold fireworks in your hands or around your eyes or ears. Always use fireworks in an open area, and never, never check a malfunctioning firework. Always leave it alone for at least an hour, and soak it with water to ensure that it won't explode. Let's make it a great holiday by making it a safe holiday.

Fire levels trailer home

There were no injuries in a June 16 fire which destroyed a trailer in Echo Township and left a family of three without a home.

The 5313 Six Mile Lake Road residence is located south of the Antrim/Charlevoix county line.

Central Lake fire chief Bill Chapman said the call on the fire came in about 8:30 a.m. "It was a fully involved trailer fire when we got there," he said.

The residents, Clyde, Teresa, and 9-month-old Tyler Cabic, were home when the fire began. They escaped without injury.

Fire crews from East Jordan and Ellsworth provided assistance as the fire was under control by 11 a.m.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation, and the Antrim County Fire Analysis Team has been called in to assist, Chapman said.

Two dropoff points have been established for clothing and other donations for the family. (See article elsewhere in this paper.)

FIREMEN DOUSE the smoking remains of a Six Mile Lake Road trailer destroyed in a June 16 morning fire. The family of three was home when the fire started, but escaped without injury.

Relief effort for family's losses

Echo Township Supervisor Bob Pearsall is collecting items to help his nephew and niece, Clyde and Teresa Cabic, and their 9-month-old son Tyler, whose trailer on Six Mile Lake Road was destroyed by fire June 16.

The Cabcis lost all of their possessions in the blaze.

"They need everything—especially clothes," Pearsall said.

Clyde Cabic wears size 36-38 pants, and L to XL shirts. Teresa Cabic wears women's size 16. Tyler is in need of boy clothes for a 9-month-old.

Donations may be left at Pearsall's residence, 5720 Six Mile Lake Road. His phone number is 544-8031. Items can also be dropped off with Clyde's mother Paige Innis, 111 Cooperage St., East Jordan, 536-7793.

Sheriff assaulted

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater reported being assaulted by Bryan C. Lindemuth of Boyne City while investigating a call by park rangers at Fisherman's Island State Park near Charlevoix.

The sheriff was told by rangers that a suspicious male (Lindemuth) was acting either intoxicated or under the influence of drugs. While investigating, Lasater said he was assaulted by Lindemuth, who he subsequently arrested for the two-year felony of assaulting a police officer in the performance of his duty.

The incident occurred June 20, and as of June 22, Lindemuth was held at the county jail on a $1,000 bond.

The sheriff did not seek medical attention.

Man thrown from truck

A 24-year-old East Jordan man was injured after being thrown from the bed of a truck.

A pickup with three people in the cab and two people and some canoes in the box was westbound on Murray Road June 18. Michael Vincent, one of the people in the bed of the truck, was thrown from the vehicle along with some of the canoes.

Vincent was put back in the truck, taken to a nearby residence, and later transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital by East Jordan ambulance. He was treated for injuries to his right shoulder, elbow and neck, and released.

A warrant is being sought for the driver of the vehicle for failure to report an accident.

Search continues

The East Jordan city commission is continuing its search for a new city administrator.

A series of interviews have been conducted, and commissioners are scheduled to meet with another group of candidates July 5.

Commissioner Lyle Etcher said after the June 20 commission meeting that the group expects to conduct interviews with about three or four more candidates before any decisions can be made.

Etcher requested the city begin watering the grass in city parks. There was some question as to why the watering had not already been incorporated with the unseasonable heat. Etcher said most the grass has already turned brown and he was concerned about a fire hazard.

It was decided that DPW supervisor Butch Breakey would be directed to maintain a watering schedule, as well as arrange for repairs to the lighting in Memorial Park.

Marine Lance Cpl. Keith A. Miller, son of Jerry J. and Holly J. Snyder of East Jordan recently received a Certificate of Commendation.

Miller was cited for superior performance of duty while assigned with 3rd Battalion, 12th Marines, Camp Hansen, Okinawa, Japan.

He consistently performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner.

The 1989 graduate of East Jordan High School joined the Marine Corps in April, 1993.

student news

Goebel receives degree

Tracee C. Goebel, daughter of Lynn and Butch Waffle of Central Lake, and Wally Goebel, Jr. of East Jordan, received her associates degree in liberal arts from Oakland Community College in Bloomfield Hills, June 2.

Goebel graduated magna cum laude, and is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa National Honor Society. She now attends Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield, and studies interior architectural design.

Grad is honor student

Hope College in Holland named Kari L. Snyder of East Jordan to the second semester dean's list this spring.

Snyder is a presidential scholar at Hope for the second year. This program was established to give academically gifted students who demonstrate strong leadership potential an opportunity to broaden their educational program.

To receive the annual renewable scholarship, Snyder must maintain high scholastic standing. She is the daughter of Robert and Linda Snyder of East Jordan.

Central Lake celebrates Fourth

A variety of activities culminating in a spectacular fireworks display marks the traditional Central Lake Fourth of July celebration.

The fun commences at noon with the Grand Old Tyme Parade will kick things off at noon. Other activities include a chicken barbecue; arts and crafts on exhibit; team tug-of-war; basketball contests; children's games and clowns; karaoke and other entertainment, including a local band, the Blueshounds.

For more information on the events, contact the Central Lake Chamber of Commerce at (616)544-3322.

Unitarian picnic planned

For Unitarian Universalists of northern Michigan a special program, picnic, and fun activities will begin at 3 p.m., Sun., June 25 at Camp Petosega. The picnic will replace the morning service.

Anyone with an interest in Unitarian Universalism and a liberal exploration and expression of religion is welcome to attend. Camp Petosega is located near Alanson. For more information or directions, please call (616) 348-3117.

The Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Petoskey has grown from its first meeting in a living room 18-months ago to shared quarters in Temple B'nai Israel, and is looking forward to expanding to a full-service church in its own quarters in the future as part of its quest to provide a home for northern Michigan's religious liberals.

Foundation names new trustees

Two area residents have been appointed to serve as trustees of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

Nancy Porter, a civic leader and experienced volunteer from Charlevoix, will serve a three-year term on the board. Jean VanDam, Boyne City activist and a principal in the VanDam Marine Company, will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Gen Varnum, also a resident of Boyne City.

The new trustees join a board composed of representatives from throughout Charlevoix County who oversee fund development, investment, and grantmaking activities for the foundation.

In announcing the appointments, foundation president Vel Kammermann noted the experience and dedication Porter and VanDam bring to their positions.

"Our new trustees have a history of service to their communities," Kammermann said. "They're both committed, hard-working women who know how to tackle issues and get things done. We welcome their leadership and look forward to working together."

One of the first assignments facing the new trustees will be to review grant applications from a variety of area nonprofit organizations and decide which ones to help fund this summer. The Community Foundation, which currently has assets of $1.8 million, distributes grants each year and has given out over $100,000 since starting in 1992.

Like other similar foundations throughout the country, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation receives charitable donations from individuals and groups; invests and manages the income on behalf of the community in a permanent endowment; and gives back the earned investment income, in the form of grants, to meet local needs.

FMB introduces electronic card

First Michigan Bank Corporation (FMB) customers now have a more convenient way to use the money in their checking account, without writing a check. It's the FMB MasterMoney card.

The new card will replace a customer's existing ATM card and offer several additional features. FMB MasterMoney carries the MasterCard logo, and can be used for purchases at the 12 million locations that accept MasterCard. But it is not a credit card - instead, the purchase amount is automatically deducted from the customer's checking account.

"Using MasterMoney is easier than carrying a checkbook and safer than carrying cash," said Stephen A. Stream, president and chief operating officer of First Michigan Bank Corporation. "We believe the convenience of MasterMoney will change the way many of our customers pay for purchases."

Each month, purchases will be detailed on a customer's checking account statement. There are no interest charges and no annual fees.

The MasterMoney card is one of the services already introduced or planned for the next year that illustrate how FMB is using technology to increase banking convenience. FMB customers can transfer funds between accounts using a 24-hour automated telephone system, and customers in some areas will soon be able to obtain information on FMB products and services through their personal computers on the Internet.

Grandvue flag

With a large, bright American flag catching the breeze far above them, East Jordan Lioness vice president Ginny Carey (left) and president Sally Kotalik join with Grandvue administrator Penny Drury in recognition of the Lioness contribution of a flag for the grounds at the medical care facility. This is the second year the Lionesses have provided the flag, which flies 24 hours daily, with night lighting. Drury said this is just one of many services the group provides for Grandvue residents and staff.

Lawsuit settlement reached in MADD dispute

Mothers Against Drunk Driving and MADD's Michigan State Organization announced today that they have reached an amicable settlement of a lawsuit which commenced earlier this year. The announcement was made jointly by Michigan State Organization Chair Bob Brokenshire in Midland and MADD's National Executive Director Dean Wilkerson in Irving, Texas.

Both sides agreed that the settlement will enable MADD to go forward in a spirit of renewed cooperation to fight drunk driving in Michigan and throughout the nation. The two sides met with Federal Judge Bernard Friedman to resolve the lawsuit in mid-May. They will form committees to work with each other to implement the settlement.

The lawsuit was filed by the Michigan State Organization in February. The dispute centered around funds raised in Michigan that were transferred in 1993-1994 to the national office. The lawsuit also challenged certain policies and procedures of the organization.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Michigan State Organization has agreed to follow the policies set forth by MADD's national volunteer board of directors and the MADD board has agreed to develop a fair procedure for handling internal disputes.

In addition, the national office will be conducting several programs in Michigan at its expense, which will enhance opportunities for MADD activists to receive training and increase the level of drunk driving prevention and victim assistance measures in the state.

MADD's 1996 National Candlelight Vigil will be held in Michigan, as well as MADD's 1997 National Leadership Development Conference. The national office will also hold several public education and victims issues workshops in Michigan.

MADD members in Michigan will be provided expanded opportunities to participate in national conferences and conventions.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said, "I am extremely pleased that this matter has been amicably resolved within the MADD family. Judge Friedman is to be commended for a job well done in helping the parties craft a creative resolution."

Kelly said he is excited by the innovative programs and conferences that will be coming to Michigan. He feels this approach highlights the strong grassroots movement that has fueled MADD in Michigan and gained it such credibility in the fight against drunk driving.

MADD is a national 501(c)(3) non-profit organization with more than 500 chapters, state offices and community action teams nationwide. The organization's mission is to stop drunk driving and to support the victims of this violent crime.

a word fitly spoken

America the beautiful

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord!" Ps. 33:12.

The song America the Beautiful continues to be proudly sung across our great country in most of our churches and schools.

July 4 is the centennial of when this important song was first published, written by Katherine Lee Bates. She was inspired after seeing the majestic view from Pikes Peak above Colorado Springs, Colo. Oh! The beautiful vistas and memories we have all encountered in our travels cross-country - both memorable and educational for our children.

Don't you agree the song is melodic, with descriptive and reverent words alluding to the grandeur and beauty of God's creation? The words also reflect our Christian heritage, a plea for God's blessing and a declaration of our commitment to God's principles. This is what our United States was founded upon - a firm foundation, even now.

I am sad that in our "politically correct 1990s" many of God's principles are lacking and deemed unimportant. For far too many people they are faint and quaint memories.

I say let us reverse this trend - now!

Even as God continues to watch over us, most of mankind frantically seeks an unreliable security through their own strengths while rejecting God.

Each of us can make a difference in the life and morality of our great nation, beginning within our local community. How? As I continually stress - by accepting Jesus as your personal savior and then daily growing in grace as you obey God's word. As a new spiritual being in Christ, the Holy Spirit will dwell in your heart and guide you. As you discern and obey God's Word, all the people you are in contact with will notice the change of attitude for the better, and the joy and peace our loving Father bestows on each of us.

Remember, "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." (Phil. 04:13) Praise the Lord!

On Fourth of July, with all the festivities, the return of "snow birds" and tourists, let us all be friendly and caring. As we vacation elsewhere let us be respectful and accept their gracious hospitality too. Thus we honor our great God - creator of each of us, the flora and fauna, forests, Great Lakes, villages, towns and cities.

America the Beautiful! No doubt about it, right?

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Prepare Now, Reap Later

"Go to the ant, O sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise."

— Proverbs 6:6

The theme of that passage is that the ant prepares her food in the summer for use when harsh days of winter arrive. An analogy can be drawn from that to our lives and our eventual call to God. The time will come when we all will have to account for deeds before the Creator. Would it not be wise to lay up a store of goodness against that time? Love toward our brother men, decency in our own lives, and acceptance of and an obedience to God's will and the words of His Son, Jesus, will smooth our audience before the judgment seat. Why not be as the ant? Prepare now, reap later. It is much easier to use forethought than repent later in hindsight.

New licensing for novice drivers

Citing the results and recommendations of recent studies by AAA-Michigan and the State Safety Commission's Novice Driver Entry System Task Force, State Representative Dan Gustafson (R-Williamston), has introduced legislation to establish a statewide "graduated driver licensure" system. The bill is designed to help reduce the disproportionate number of traffic crashes and fatalities among young people.

Gustafson's proposal, House Bill 4763, basically calls for a three tier licensing system as well as an innovative two-part driver education program at the high school level.

To enter Level I, the learner's permit phase, participants must be 15 years old, pass a vision test, complete the first segment of a driver education course and have parental approval. The license would be valid any time a parent or legal guardian accompanies the driver.

At this level, drivers must also log 50 hours of driving including 10 hours at night. Participants must also complete a second phase of driver education and be crash/violation free for 90 days. Level II, the provisional license level, can be entered into at age 16 only when all first-level requirements are met. In addition, participants must have passed a driver performance road test.

Level II licensees could drive from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m. with only one nonfamily member passenger. From 11 p.m. to 5 a.m., Level II drivers would have to be accompanied by a parent or guardian unless traveling to or from work.

At age 17, drivers would become eligible for Level III probationary licensing. Eligible drivers must be crash and violation free for one year in Level II or have reached age 18. All previous restrictions are removed.

Each level includes specifically designed driver improvement programs. In addition, Levels II and III include a provision to suspend licenses for serious offenses.

A new, and different color license would be issued at each level.

This legislation comes at a time when state statistics show young drivers are involved in an increasing number of crashes and fatal accidents.

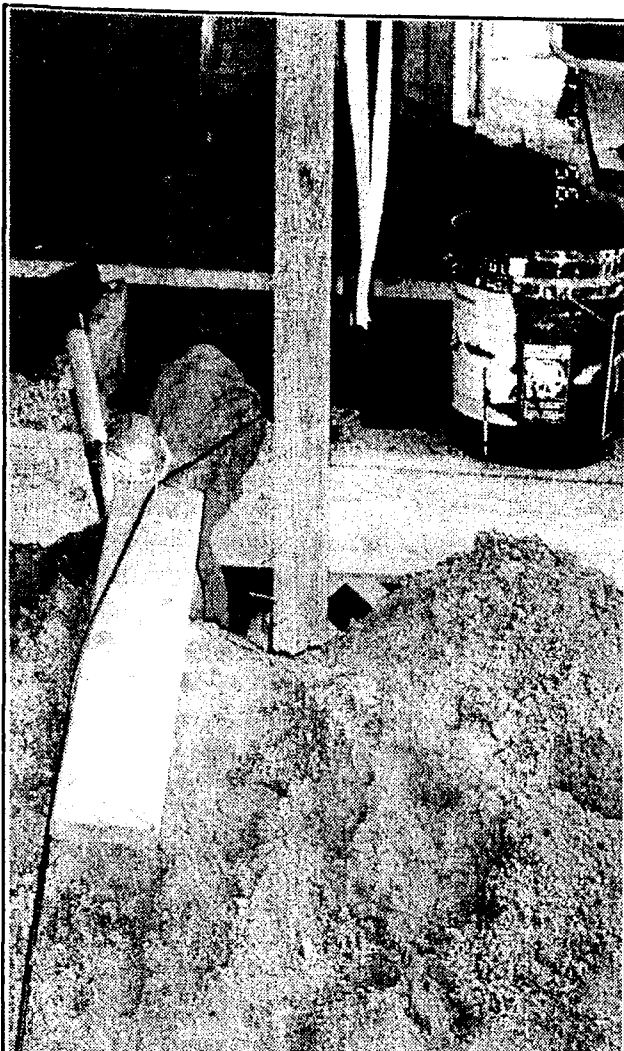

In 1993, drivers age 17 and under accounted for only 3 percent of all licensed drivers in Michigan, but constituted 7.1 percent of drivers involved in all crashes, 7.7 percent of those in injury crashes, and 6.2 percent of drivers in fatal accidents. In the last 10 years, this age group's overrepresentation has increased 11.4 percent for all crashes, 121 percent for injury crashes and 114 percent in fatal crashes.

The 67th District lawmaker emphasized that the driver licensing system in Michigan, with the exception of commercial driver licensing, has remained essentially unchanged since 1961.

"These numbers are staggering. The time has come to revise the state's outdated licensing system for novice drivers before more of our young people are injured or killed," Gustafson said. "This legislation addresses the problems with the current system by outlining a graduated plan of licensing similar to successful programs currently used in California, Maryland and Oregon."

Gustafson presented his plan to the Michigan Driver and Traffic Safety Education Association at their recent state conference.

Dad to the rescue

The home of Gail and Jerry Bingham of East Jordan became the scene of a heroic rescue effort, when the Bingham's cat gave birth recently. Looking for a quiet dark place, the mama unfortunately chose a small hole under the Bingham's porch with a drop of several feet. Hearing the pitiful cries of both mother and kitten, Jerry dug in to save the baby, making quite a mess of what had been a back porch in the process. But all ended well when Jerry handed out the terrified but otherwise okay kitty to son Darryl, 4. The baby is back with his mama, Darryl and the other two Bingham kids, Tori, 6, and Samantha, 9, know their dad is a hero, and Jerry was careful to plug that hole!

Adeline Bowerman – everybody's teacher

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

Adeline Bowerman will serve as Grand Marshall of the Jordan Valley Freedom Festival Grand Parade. Look for her historical portrayal as the parade makes its way through East Jordan, beginning at 4 p.m., Sat., July 1.

Adeline Bowerman probably knows the name of almost every child that went to East Jordan Elementary School from 1948 to 1972.

That's because she had most of those children in one of her primary classes, and beginning in 1959, she taught every kindergarten that attended the school.

Teaching that long in any school is unusual in our present mobile society, but a number of teachers have been fixtures at East Jordan at least as long. Several things make Mrs. Bowerman especially remarkable.

Most amazing is how she remembers all those kids – just counting her kindergarten classes, that means 640 children have a place in her memory. But youngsters she taught the very first year, and the other classes in between are just as easily identified.

She has nearly every one of their class pictures, and one look takes her thoughts back to the former child, and what each individual was like – how well they read or sang, their parents' names, their siblings names.

She remembers them because she was a part of their lives, not just at school, but through church and Scouting, and they were a part of her life.

"I loved them all," she explains. "They were like an extended family."

Mrs. Bowerman doesn't just live in the past, either. She keeps track of her former students, and usually knows who they married, where they are living, if they have children. Keep in mind that the youngest of these students are now 28 years old – and the oldest? Well, you can figure it out!

She takes a great deal of pride in the accomplishments of those students – she keeps track, never writing things down, but knowing nevertheless. She recalls, for example, a boy in the class that she had three years in a row – as first, second, then third graders. He was a victim of polio, and unable to walk, so as his teacher in the early '50s, Mrs. Bowerman spent much time carrying him from place to place.

"He grew up to be salutatorian of his class," she proudly reports.

Adeline Hyatt was a teacher for nine years, part of the time in Napoleon where she was born and raised, and part of the time in Howell.

During World War II, she was working one summer as a waitress in Detroit. A regular customer at the restaurant caught her eye – he was Edgar Bowerman. By September, the couple had visited each other's family – hers in Napoleon, his in East Jordan – and in December, they were married.

She didn't teach when they moved to East Jordan in 1945, because Ed didn't want her working full time. Instead, they began developing a resort on the shores of Lake Charlevoix. They built a marina (Swan Marina – now Swan Valley) and some cabins to rent on M-66 North, eventually adding a six-unit motel.

"There were only five places between here and the city limits when we started," Mrs. Bowerman noted.

JRAC presents annual art exhibition

The Jordan River Arts Council presents the fifth annual Invitational Exhibition July 1-14, with an opening reception for the artists, members and friends from 2 to 4 p.m. Sat. July 1.

This year's Invitational features works by long-time participants such as Linda Beers Aydlett, Lori Bolt, Sue and Russ Bolt, Peggy Midener, June and David Otis, and Karen Walker, as well as Cornelia Dhaseleer, Steve Kostyshyn, Meredith Krell, Glen McCune, and Penny Pepin.

The Invitational features local artists whose work demonstrates the richness of this area's depth of creativity. The public is invited and refreshments will be served in the air-conditioned gallery on Main Street in East Jordan.

Gallery hours during the exhibition are noon to 4 p.m., daily.

But a sawmill accident that cost Ed his left arm and right thumb changed their financial situation, and he said she could try it for a year.

"Mr. Wade (the district superintendent) was after me to teach ever since I moved here," said Mrs. Bowerman. So she accepted a position and was assigned a class of first and second-graders.

At the end of the year, she received a raise, "So I couldn't quit."

And she didn't quit for another 22 years. "They kept offering a raise at the end of every year," she says with a wink, "So I had to keep going back."

Teaching, helping with the resort, and taking care of two small children (Don and Sandy) kept her busy. But she still found time to direct the children's choir at the Methodist Church, and as her own kids grew, to get involved in their activities. For example, she and Helen Gibbard organized Cub Scouts in the area, and a few years later, Adeline also organized a Girl Scout troop.

She stayed active in all those organizations until 1972 – the year she retired from teaching. Then she and Ed took up their dream of traveling.

"We visited every continental state except Maine," Adeline says. They wintered in Florida and traveled in a camper.

Now that Ed is gone, she still keeps busy, enjoying her family, bird watching and many types of needlework and crafts. She is spending lots of time right now organizing her collection of school memorabilia for a special exhibit at Huckle's Gallery during the Freedom Fest.

She never forgets her role as educator, and will teach a little history as she portrays Betsy Ross in the upcoming festival parade. She recently put together a collection of her childhood memories and hopes to similarly write down later memories.

"I've had a beautiful life," she muses. "I enjoy living every minute, and I'm grateful for every morning I can get up."

The people around her are grateful as well, for this remarkable, lively lady.

Larry Massie

Storyteller brings history alive

Dramatizations of real characters in Michigan history will entertain and educate both children and adults during Solve Michigan Mysteries - Read, a presentation by author and storyteller Larry B. Massie at Freedom Fest Saturday at 2 p.m., in Memorial Park.

Massie is a Michigan product and proud of it. Born in Grand Rapids, he grew up in near by Allegan. Following a tour in Viet Nam as a US Army paratrooper, he worked as a telephone lineman, construction laborer, bartender, and in a pickle factory before earning three degrees in history from Western Michigan University.

After honing his research skills during an eight-year position with WMU Archives and Regional History Collections, Massie launched a career as a self-employed Michigan historian in 1983.

Massie's activities include rare book appraisals, museum consultation, research, and historic character reenactments. He travels both peninsulas of his beloved state to share his enthusiasm for Michigan's colorful heritage with school assemblies, conferences, and community groups.

He recently published his 12th book, Michigan Memories, about Michigan history. Other books include Potawatomi Tears and Petticoat Pioneers, Walnut Pickles and Watermelon Cake, and Copper Trails and Iron Rails.

An avid book collector, Massie lives with his wife and work mate Priscilla, their daughter Maureen, and their 35,000 volume reference library in a rambling old school house nestled in the Allegan State Forest.

Massie is sponsored by the Jordan Valley District Library, where some of his books may be borrowed. His appearance will be the kick-off for the library summer reading program, Solve Mysteries - Read.

Did you know? Flag facts ...

★ Francis Hopkinson, a delegate to the Continental Congress, designed the American flag - not Betsy Ross as most people learn.

Avoid incarceration - buy a badge

Display your badge or go to jail - that's the bottom line on how the Jordan Valley Freedom Festival committee is taking a bite out of crime. The crime of not supporting the festival, that is!

Festival police will be out in force this year, said Lori Campbell, who with husband Dave is chair of the "enforcement" committee. There will be three to five "officers" on the festival "beat" every hour, identifiable by their giant badges.

Those unfortunates caught without their festival badge will be taken to the "judge," whom the criminal will find unsympathetic to excuses. The alleged violators will find themselves summarily sentenced to a $2 bond or a trip to the Festival Pokey.

Of course, the tongue-in-cheek criminal process is all meant in fun, and money raised will help finance festival events. To help raise more funds, the enforcement committee is even offering a chance for citizen arrests - you can "rat" on a violator by signing a warrant against them for $5, and the Festival Police will send out an APB (all points bulletin) to capture the offender!

You can spare yourself the embarrassment of a criminal record by a little preventative action - buy a festival badge for $1 at many local merchants and at Memorial Park during the festival.

The Campbells are still recruiting officers, so if you think you have the "right stuff" to go into law enforcement, and can spare an hour, give them a call at 536-2756.

First annual auto show gearing up

A new addition to the Jordan Valley Freedom Festival is sure to bring out the car buffs and cruisers. It's the first annual Auto Cruise-in followed by the Freedom Festival Auto Show at the Jordan Valley Express.

Participants and observers alike can get a jump-start on activities with an informal cruise-in Friday night at the parking lot of Ben Franklin/True Value, beginning at 6 p.m. Stop by, browse and converse with the folks that restore the cars.

On Saturday, the vehicles will move to the parking lot at Jordan Valley Express on M-66. Registration is from 7 a.m. to noon. Cars will be judged in 22 classes with trophies awarded in the top three places in each class. There is a place for original or restored vehicles from the early 1900s to the present and classes representing trucks, 4x4, and pro stock vehicles, as well as special classes for Corvette, Mustang, and muscle cars. Door prizes, and People's Choice will also be awarded. Best in Show receives a cash grand prize.

Many of the vehicles will also be seen in the Grand Parade at 4 p.m. Trophies for the auto show will be awarded at the Jordan Valley Express after the parade.

So plan to cruise in for a look at the vehicles of many eras and relive some happy memories. For more information, contact Gail Bingham at 536-3169.

Youth soccer camps planned in Bellaire

American Youth Soccer Organization Region 847 and North American Soccer Camps will be presenting a youth soccer camp in Bellaire from Aug. 14 through 18.

All youth soccer players ages 5-18 may register for the camp. Five-to six-year-olds will attend 1.5-hour sessions per day for the week. Cost for this age group will be $39 and include a camp T-shirt or $47 and include a soccer ball and camp T-shirt.

Seven-year-olds and older will attend three-hour sessions running from 9 a.m. to noon. These sessions will cost $80 with a camp T-shirt or $88 with a ball and T-shirt.

Family discounts are available, subtract $5 from the regular fee for the second child in the family and $10 for each additional child.

The camp will be held at the Bellaire soccer fields at the Shaun Davies Community Track behind the John R. Rodger Elementary school. Each child will receive a certificate of graduation and an evaluation tracking their progress throughout the camp week, and a camp award at a ceremony to be held Sat., August 19.

A $30 deposit will secure your child a reservation for the camp. Registration deadline is July 14, 1995. For more information call Randy Johnson, camp coordinator, at (616) 533-8157.

ejpd weekly report

June 8

At approximately 9:56 a.m., a two-vehicle property accident occurred when Ralph Shepard, making a U-turn on State Street near Mill in his 1985 Chevy pickup, pulled in front of Ina Falco, driving a 1991 Dodge east on State. Both drivers were wearing seatbelts and no injuries were reported.

Another two-vehicle property damage accident took place at about 7:40 p.m. when Barbara Simmons, traveling west on Mill Street in her 1989 Dodge collided with Diane Skrocki, making a right turn from Spring Street in her 1995 Ford. Skrocki's view at the stop sign was impaired by a parked vehicle. Both subjects were wearing seatbelts and no injuries were reported.

June 15

Monica Stone was traveling west on Water Street near McKenzie in her 1985 Plymouth when Kevin Wixson pulled out into the roadway in his 1992 Grand Am, striking Stone's vehicle in the front passenger side. The accident occurred at about 3:35 p.m. Both drivers were wearing seatbelts and did not report injuries.

June 19

At approximately 4:55 a.m., Gary Stillson, traveling north on South Maple Street near Fair Road, struck a deer that ran out into the roadway.

Bicyclist Eric Fisher was unhurt when he was struck by motorist Bruce June while crossing an alley between Main and Mill streets. Both Fisher and June reported not seeing each other due to buildings blocking the view.

A property damage accident occurred about 10:15 p.m., when Thomas Ashton, backing his 1982 Dodge van in a driveway at 105 Fifth Street, struck a 1989 Pontiac owned by Tammy Ross, which was parked behind him.

The East Jordan Police Department has recovered three stolen or lost bikes. Anyone who thinks the bikes could belong to them should contact the department at 536-2273.

Jordan memories

Talk about plain and simply poor — we lived in a chicken coop (parts are still standing as I write this) about a mile from Chestonia on State Road.

I remember going after the cows to bring them in for milking. In the fall, I made tracks in the frost with my bare feet. I often jumped on a tame cow to warm my feet for a few seconds on her udder. I would even run and jump into fresh hot cowpies to warm my feet. The frost would clean them before I got back to what we called a barn.

We got a new pair of high-top boots in the fall, but we could only wear them to school. In the spring we cut the tops off to have a pair of what looked like work shoes. By summer, what was left of the boots would fall apart and we would be bare-footed again. But that didn't bother us very much, as we knew where the poison ivy vines were along the creek banks!

The reason for the chicken coop — I was born on 3rd Street in Detroit, July 14, 1923, in a blind pig (so called because the brew produced in such establishments often had the unintended effect of blinding the consumer) in the Red Light District.

My father started making beer for his own use (it was the Prohibition.) He called it Fred's Home Brew. I remember seeing him sitting in front of the row of crocks in our basement filling bottles from a rubber hose with a start-it bulb attached.

Anyway, his friends liked the brew, so he was in business in the Roaring Twenties, getting $1 per bottle for the stuff.

But good things sometimes end. The police didn't like the operation, and told Dad that they would break him up every time he got going — meaning break the crocks and the bottles. So he bought 40 acres of land on State Road and decided to go in to the egg-raising business.

We lived in East Jordan, so my sister and I went to school there for a couple of years while my father was building chicken coops and fencing the 40 acres. As soon as he was ready to sell eggs, with 1,000 or more chickens, the depression got in full swing and egg prices went down to 6¢ a dozen. It cost 10¢ a dozen to feed the chickens.

So we moved into the chicken coop, with Chippendale furniture and innerspring mattresses. That could very well be an original for all time.

We were put in Finkton School, another mile on the road to Central Lake. There now stands a church on the spot where the school house once stood.

I remember going to the train station in Bellaire where I joined the CCC Camp in October, 1938. When I got to camp, I got two pair of new shoes, and a duffle bag full of new clothing. I stayed for two years in Camp Lake Superior and cried when I had to go home. I didn't go back to the chicken coop, but back to Detroit and much better times.

Share fishing with your child

The gleam in his eyes ... the joy in his expression ... the excitement in his voice ... and the look of pride on his face is an unforgettable experience.

He's just caught his first fish and being with him is more than just fun. It's a memory that will be shared throughout your lives.

"When you take your kids fishing, you're not only sharing but you're teaching them something that will last a lifetime," said Steve Miller. "Unlike most other sports, teaching your kids how to fish is like teaching them a trade. It's something they'll never forget and can always participate in and enjoy."

The three most important things to remember when taking your kids fishing are have fun; keep it simple; and catch some fish.

Miller recommends a factory-rigged Colt Combo with its easy-to-cast closed face spinning reel as an ideal first rod and reel for a youngster. It comes rigged with fishing line ready to use right out of the package.

Have fun! Remember, you're not in competition with them, no are you fishing a tournament.

Don't get them up at 3 a.m. just to be on the water at daybreak. That's not fun.

There's plenty of fish to catch after breakfast. Pack a lunch and head out at a reasonable hour. They'll enjoy it more.

Keep it simple! Trying to teach them the do's and don'ts of plastic worm fishing in weed beds simply won't cut it. It's far to complicated and not much fun.

A simple worm, hook and bobber would be a much better choice. They'll learn to use artificials later.

Most of all, catch fish! Any kind of fish, because the fun is in the catching - no matter what species it is. Fishing mid-summer for largemouth bass on artificials will turn off the beginners, because you won't catch many fish and they'll get bored. Instead, fish for crappie, bluegill or perch with live bait. It is simple. Catch fish and have more fun doing it.

Taking your kids fishing can be a very special time. A time of sharing, teaching and enjoying. A time of special closeness that only the great outdoors can bring.

A time when even the teacher is a student. Take the time. Take them fishing.

Read all about it.

Freedom Festival promises a good time for all

A festival filled with games

There will be plenty of games for those who don't just want to spectate, beginning with the Firefighters' Waterball Competition Thursday evening. Registration for teams of three begins at 5 p.m. in Sportsman's Park, and the competition begins at 6 p.m. It is fun to participate in this "firefighters' tug-of-war," but it's just as much fun to watch teams of all ages struggle against the mighty water pressure!

Friday games will feature a Hula Hoop contest at 6 p.m., and a "celebrity" pie-throwing contest at 7 p.m., both during the Main Street Block Party. By the way, the celebrities — your favorite community and civic leaders — are the targets!

Don't miss the annual orange crate race at 7:30 p.m., at the corner of Main and Williams streets. Four wheels, a steering device, seatbelt, and helmet are the requirements to enter your vehicle.

Children will have plenty to do at the block party, too. Pony rides will be available in the FMB Northwestern Bank parking lot throughout the festival days. Face painting, a cake walk, and the Jello Game will keep tikes busy until Tommy Tropic appears. The East Jordan juggler extraordinaire will entertain both young and not-so-young alike.

The block party runs from 5 to 10 p.m., Friday evening, and will include 1950s and 1960s music by Nightlife — the DJ will add some more modern music as the night progresses.

On Saturday, golfers can test their driving skills in a "closest to the pin" contest from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Old Boswell Field. Tries are three balls for $1.

New this year will be Arnold Amusements, setting up rides, games and concessions from Thursday through Saturday, on Esterly Street between Main and Second streets. They will be open for business from noon to 10 p.m., Thursday; 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Friday; and 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturday.

For games of chance, try the East Jordan Lionesses unique offering — the Cow Drop at Murphy Field right after the Grand Parade Saturday afternoon. For $1 per square, take a chance that Elsie will choose to make a deposit or two in your designated space. Perhaps you'll win the $125 first prize, the $75 second prize, or the $50 third prize (prizes are determined by breadth, width, and height of deposits!)

THE EAST JORDAN Fire Department's annual Waterball Competition brings out kids of all ages to test their mettle against a rubber ball and water pressure.

You can also take a chance at winning the $500 grand prize in the Festival 500 $1,000 Give-Away. There are also 10 $50 prizes. Tickets will be available in Memorial Park, as will chances at the Rotary Raffle. Drawings will be held during the Saturday evening entertainment at Memorial Park.

Food galore

Come to the festival with an empty stomach as many opportunities for snacking and meals will be available, from Arnold Amusement concessions on Esterly Street to local organizations' food sales along Spring Street on Saturday.

Local restaurants will also be open for service.

Finally, don't skip breakfast on Sunday morning — East Jordan firefighters will be serving up a delicious start to the day at the American Legion Hall from 7 to 11 a.m.

Calling all readers — it's your turn!

Don't forget about the upcoming issue featuring reader contributions. The East Jordan Journal is interested in collecting photographs, articles, essays, poems and drawings for the July 26 issue.

If you have an interesting neighbor, friend (with their permission,) or event you would like to write about, this is the perfect chance!

It is also the perfect opportunity to see your fiction or poetry published. A few autobiographical lines attached to your piece will make a nice addition.

Submissions may be typed or handwritten — double-spaced is best. Photos may be color or black-and-white. Make as many submissions as desired, but be sure to include your name, address, and day time phone number with every submission.

All submissions for this special reader issue must be in to the Journal office by Fri., July 14. Drop yours by the office at Main and Esterly streets or mail to East Jordan Journal, PO Box 405, East Jordan, MI, 49727.
