Holiday Country Sampler offers unique gift ideas

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

East Jordan's third annual Holiday Country Sampler, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17-18, is a unique gift shopping opportunity for residents and visitors alike.

The combination craft show and home tour gives shoppers a chance to browse for a variety of arts and crafts gifts in "the comfort of home," as well as collect new ideas in home decorating for the holidays.

Seven homes, along with several community organizations and businesses, are on the tour, which will also include Friday dinner and Saturday lunch options.

"People can shop for holiday treasures," said Linda Snyder, who along with her business partner Sharon Jackson, coordinated the event. "Many of the items for sale are hand crafted."

"The crafts are very high quality," added Jackson. "The atmosphere at the stops will be very comfortable and festive."

Snyder noted the tour also gives shoppers the opportunity to see how crafters decorate their homes. Each home on the tour will offer a variety of gift options, and many of the homes are hosting several crafters at one stop. Several will also offer refreshments, snacks, and door prizes.

Homes on the tour include:

• Avon Family Shopping Center, 740 Division St. - Join host Gloria Timmons and browse through Avon's family collection, both the old favorites, and the new Christmas items.

• Bonnie's Country Crafts, 511 N. Lake - Hostess Bonnie Thomas offers gifts including wood crafts, appliquéd sweatshirts and other items.

• Crafts for Hospice, 209 Esterly St. - The beautiful historic Easterly Inn, owned by Joan Martin, opens its doors to host Charlevoix County Hospice in a benefit craft sale. Sponsored by FMB Northwestern Bank, all the crafts have been donated by local artists, and all proceeds will go to Hospice activities.

• Discovery Toys, 01715 S. Peninsula - The favorite educational toys, books, and other items of children and

City election results

With an historic election behind them, the members of the first elected East Jordan city commission since the incorporation of a new charter will include three incumbents and a former council member.

Winning the most votes in the city-wide election was incumbent Brian Sweet, with 195. Greg Chappuies, a council veteran who was defeated in the 1994 Second Ward race, came in second with 185 votes.

Chappuies was followed by present mayor Russ Peck with 178 votes, and Lyle Etcher with 165 votes. Peck will officially be the city's mayor until January 1996, when the commission will vote on their own choice for mayor. Peck will be eligible to continue to serve as mayor, if elected by the commission.

John Michael Dionne received 150 votes - not enough to retain his seat. He was appointed to the council in April after the resignation of Sherry Sineway.

The new commission will begin office January 1, serving until November, 1999.

For the holidays ...

Christmas wreath sale set

The East Jordan Garden Club is accepting orders for their annual Christmas wreath sale. Two sizes are available: 14-inch for $10 and 20-inch for $15.

Wreath pick-up will be Dec. 4, before 11:30 a.m., at St. Joseph's Hall, or Dec. 8, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the downtown FMB Northwestern Bank during the annual Garden Club Greens Sale.

To order, call 536-2794, 536-3665, or 536-7522.

Holiday craft show planned

Kick off the post-Thanksgiving shopping season by stopping at the Burns Clinic Employees Craft Show, in Petoskey.

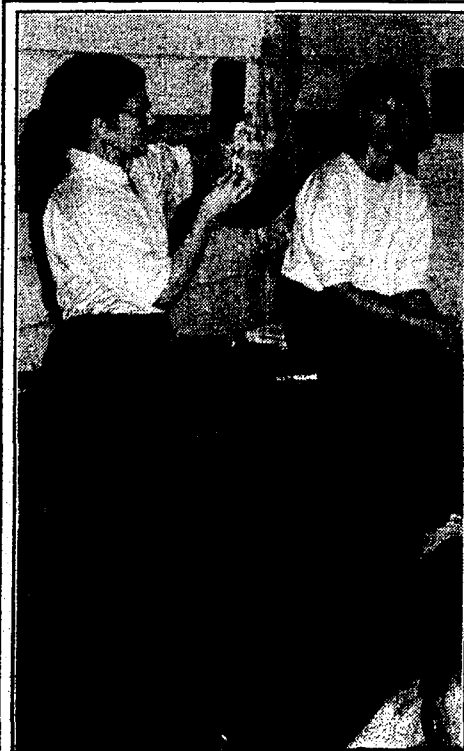

The show is scheduled for Sat. Nov. 25, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Emmet County Fairgrounds in the 4-H building. The fairgrounds are located on US-31 near US-131 in Petoskey.

Community holiday bazaar

Don't miss the Ellsworth Community Christmas Bazaar, Sat., Nov. 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Banks Township Community Hall in Ellsworth.

A variety of arts and crafts will be available, as well as lunch served by the Ellsworth Lioness Club.

Limited booth space is still available. Contact Mary Peterson, 588-6041, for more information.

Wetland wonders

Visitors from Grass River Natural Area near Bellaire came recently to share some of the wonders of the vast wetland preserve with the youngsters at East Jordan Elementary School. East Jordan residents Franny Bluhm (left) and Joyce Pierdinock spoke about the characteristics of a wetland, giving examples of how important wetlands are to the earth's fresh water supply (shown here). The two women shared samples of some of the special plant life found in wetlands, along with folk tales about their use.

BUDDING NATURALISTS Josh Pung (left) and Michael Meads seem to be very impressed with the sampling of snakes, worms and other wildlife found in the Grass River Natural Area wetlands ecosystem.

What a difference a day makes! Friday I raked leaves and Saturday I was shoveling snow. What happened to the freshness of spring, the warmth of summer, and the beauty of autumn?

Of the four seasons, I have the toughest job adjusting to the elements of winter. Little wonder the birds and many of my friends migrate south.

I have been wondering what I'll do to keep occupied this winter. It's too cold to snowmobile. I'm too old to ski. I don't like to hunt or fish. Walking is hazardous, and of course, gardening is out of the question.

When I asked a friend of mine when he was taking off for the winter, he answered, "I don't leave - I like the winter."

I hesitated to ask him why, but he volunteered, "I was born and raised in Michigan and there's no better place to live year around, especially in this area."

He could be right. After all, we don't have to put up with floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, and extreme heat (usually!) For the "luxury" of winter, all we have to do is grab a shovel occasionally, stoke up the fire, and keep the automobile on the road.

For lack of something better to do than watch television, I've been tempted to take up knitting. I got the idea the other day when a guy told me, "You better tend to your knitting."

I doubt that is what he intended - I suppose he had something else he was trying to hint at.

I've been through winters before, and I'll get through this one with long johns, heavy boots, mittens, ear muffs, face mask, bulky coat and all. And I'll be okay if I can only remember to enter the house by coming in backwards so that my eyeglasses won't steam up!

I'm cheered by the fact that Thanksgiving is only a few weeks away, Christmas just weeks after, and spring is only 150 (give or take a few) days away!

East Jordan native Gayle Saxton has been writing, reporting, and broadcasting sports for many years. Now a retired educator in Alma, "Sax" will share his memories of East Jordan and his many friends through this column in future issues of the Journal. Today's contribution is a reprint of his column originally published in the Houghton Lake Resorter during the 1980s.

Grandvue hosts concert

A Thanksgiving concert featuring local songstress and story teller Patty Clark will be held at Grandvue Medical Care Facility, Sun., Nov. 19, at 2 p.m.

The public is welcome to attend this free-of-charge concert, which has been funded by the Michigan Humanities Council. Please call 536-2286 for reservations.

Works of three local artists chosen

Three area women have had artworks accepted for showing at the Traverse Area Arts Council.

Of the more than 100 national entries received, only 27 were accepted for viewing. Rose Marie Anderson of Ellsworth and Karen Donaldson of East Jordan had paintings chosen. Karen Walker of East Jordan had a black and white photograph selected.

Anderson is a landscape artist who has just begun submitting works to galleries. Donaldson has won several awards for her photography and has expanded into painting. Both her photos and paintings have been accepted at a number of galleries. Walker has won a number of awards for her photography and is a working photographer.

The exhibit will be open during the month of November at the Traverse Area Arts Council in the City Opera building in downtown Traverse City.

Project promotes young writers

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Journal Editor

What started as a summer project has now blossomed into a business for 12-year-old Laura Warren.

The East Jordan seventh-grader, an avid reader and writer herself, noticed there were very few outlets for young people to have their written work published, so she decided to offer a publication just for kids.

"I made the magazine so kids could get published," explained Laura.

She enlisted friends and passed out flyers, and soon she collected several contributions to her project. She did lots of foot work and mail work, sending her flyers to schools and newspapers across the region.

All that work really paid off when an Ellsworth middle school teacher decided to make contributing to the project a class assignment!

With about 13 submissions, Laura felt ready to go forward with the publication. She decided it would be in magazine form, and named it Kreative Kidz.

To put such an ambitious enterprise together was an imposing job, but Laura did it mostly on her own. The support she did receive (along with some typing help) came from her mom Karen Donaldson, through the auspices of Discovery Press, a desk top publishing service Donaldson runs from her home.

Laura quickly learned the facts of life as a business woman - especially when it came to costs, so Donaldson agreed to sponsor the project for one year only.

"The first issue lost $70," noted Donaldson. "But it was a learning experience."

Laura designed the magazine on paper, then went to the IBM publishing software on her mom's computer for production. After printing 100 copies of the first issue, Laura hand stapled, and peddled the magazine, persuading two local businesses - Book Nook in Central Lake, and The Eclectic in East Jordan - to carry the finished product for $3.

Laura now has two issues under her belt and is working on the third. The fall Kreative Kidz attracted 12 Ellsworth authors, three from East Jordan, and submissions from as far away as Mancelona, Beulah, and Holt.

The submissions include poems, fictional stories and non-fiction articles, some with illustrations, and other artwork. Some of the pages have full color.

Laura plans to continue the magazine even after her Discovery Press sponsorship ends with next year's summer issue.

"I hope to find sponsors to help cover costs," she explained. "I'll approach different businesses and ask them to help."

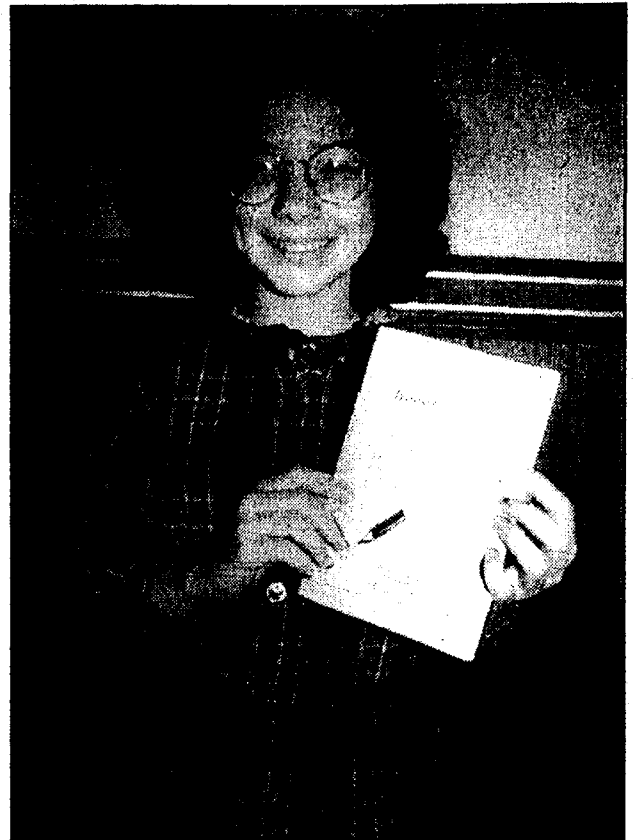

"Paper and print costs are very expensive," Laura added, with the air of a veteran in the business.

Like any business owner, Laura intends to succeed, and continue growing. For the contributing authors and artists, Kreative Kidz is "a nice little keepsake," as Donaldson noted. But for Laura, the magazine is a growing enterprise.

"I feel like I'm running my own business," said the young editor. "Like I'm accomplishing something important."

Young people in grades K-12 are welcome to make submissions to Kreative Kidz. You can write Laura Warren at 701 Division St., East Jordan, MI 49727, or call her at 536-7390.

Happiness
During Holiday Time Comes From Within

The holiday season is upon us, and it's time to get out the ornaments, lights, candles or whatever. It's also time to review your attitude and your supply of patience toward other people, as well as the status of your relationships with friends and relatives.

If you have had a misunderstanding with someone dear to you, now is the time to apologize, even if you're sure that you were not at fault. Do whatever you can to make amends, and you will be happier for it. Also, try to be more polite towards strangers, and remember to put the needy on your gift list. Lastly, take the time to attend your House of Worship.

If you do all of these things, your home will be brighter than all the lights in the world could ever make it.

Lady Devils sneak by BC Ramblers

The Red Devils girls basketball team had a big game from Sara Malpass enroute to a close 60-57 win over the Boyne City Ramblers, Nov. 2.

It was East Jordan's last home game of the season, and as is the custom, seniors started the game. It looked as if the Red Devils were going to go into the half behind Boyne City, but Malpass stole the inbound pass with seconds left. She turned around and shot a short jumper to put East Jordan up by one at the half, 27-26.

East Jordan went 9 out of 10 on free throws in the first half to help them as well. They finished the game shooting 13 out of 24 free throws.

The Lady Devils came out charging in the third quarter, but the Ramblers kept it close. At the end of the quarter, East Jordan held the advantage, 45-41.

But in the fourth quarter, the Devils "kept their composure" said coach Steve Hines. They put it away late in the game with a 7-point lead with 13 seconds left. A triple by Boyne City close in, but the final bell showed 60-57, East Jordan.

Malpass led the Devil scoring with 21. Dayle Looze had nine and Ann Hettig added eight points. Looze and Amanda Pepin came up with 11 boards, and Hettig grabbed 11 rebounds. Boyne City's top scorers were Treana Fiel with 23 points and Mandy Belford with 12.

"Sara Malpass, Kristy Loviska, and Charissa Gulotta all played very well," noted Coach Hines.

East Jordan's record is now 11-7. Boyne City is 5-12 on the year.

East Jordan's junior varsity girls also won their basketball game over Boyne City by a score of 40-36. Jenny Goebel and Ember Ransom led East Jordan with 10 points each.

East Jordan's freshman team also played the Ramblers, they were defeated by a score of 36-33. It was their final game of the season, which they finished 2-14.

Jill Ciszewski lead the team with 16 points, and Rachel Warnos hammered the boards with seven rebounds.

Rayders down Devils on Halloween

The Charlevoix Red Rayders, sparked by Lisa Parish, came from behind to defeat the East Jordan Red Devils girls basketball team, 55-42.

The first quarter of the Oct. 31 game was all defense as both teams were unable to come up with baskets. The first two-pointer came four minutes and 17 seconds into the game. East Jordan got their first deuce 32 seconds later to tie the game at 4-4. The other points came on free throws.

East Jordan held the lead 10-6 after the first quarter and 24-18 at the half, after playing a great defensive game in the first half.

After the half, East Jordan came out just like they finished, with good defense. But the Lady Rayders pressured East Jordan into running the ball up and down the court. The Lady Devils still led after three quarters by a score of 37-30.

In the fourth quarter, Charlevoix's pressure defense started to cause more and more turnovers. The Lady Devils still played hard but wound up slipping behind and couldn't re-acquire the lead.

Sara Malpass led the Devils with 18 points and five boards. Amanda Pepin added 10 points and 14 rebounds. Dayle Looze came up with six boards.

Coach Steve Hines noted, "We just lost it in the fourth. Sara Malpass played a very solid game and Kelly Woodard had a strong defensive game off the bench."

The junior varsity game mirrored the varsity as Chalevoix made a come from behind to defeat the East Jordan team, 34-28. Jenny Goebel led the Devils with 14 points and 10 rebounds, while Raissa Schroeder pitched in with seven points.

East Jordan girls' final season games disappointing

By Rich Clark
Sports Writer

The end of the regular season came up short for the Lady Varsity Red Devils — they were close, but just couldn't catch up in their final two games.

East Jordan got off to a slow start, but came up with a strong finish against the Traverse City St. Francis Gladiators, Nov. 7, in Traverse City.

Unfortunately it just wasn't enough to overcome the Glads, who took the game 54-51.

East Jordan had only 19 points at the half, and found themselves in a 16-point hole to start the third quarter.

"The first half was horrible," admitted coach Steve Hines.

The Red Devils came back to life during the second half, but too late, coming up one triple short.

Amanda Pepin shone with 18 points and 11 rebounds. Dayle Looze provided backup with 10 points and eight boards. Dawn Meads took three steals, and Kristy Loviska provided four assists.

Coach Hines noted he was especially pleased with the performance of Meads and Loviska.

When the Devils faced Ellsworth Nov. 9, it was almost a repeat performance. East Jordan sank only one basket on 17 attempts in the first quarter.

In fact, the team was unable to overcome shooting problems throughout the game, coming up with only nine deuces, and finishing a disappointing 20 percent for the game.

East Jordan's defensive game proved more effective, and kept them going for three quarters, holding Ellsworth to a 39-36 win. The Red Devils were also good from the line, hitting six out of 10 free throws.

Statistically, Sara Malpass led all scorers with 18 points, and Looze was next with 6. Looze was rebound queen, snagging 13, while Pepin chipped in with 11 boards. Pepin and Kelly Woodard had four steals each.

The junior varsity team took a split on the two games, falling to St. Francis 60-50, but pulling off a 42-32 win over Ellsworth.

Ember Ransom and Carrie Mayhew led the scoring in Traverse City with 14 points each, while Ransom came in with another 14 points in Ellsworth, followed by Cassie Krause with 10.

The Varsity Red Devils enter post-season tournaments with an 11-9 record. Play begins in Elk Rapids, Wed. Nov. 15, at 6 p.m.

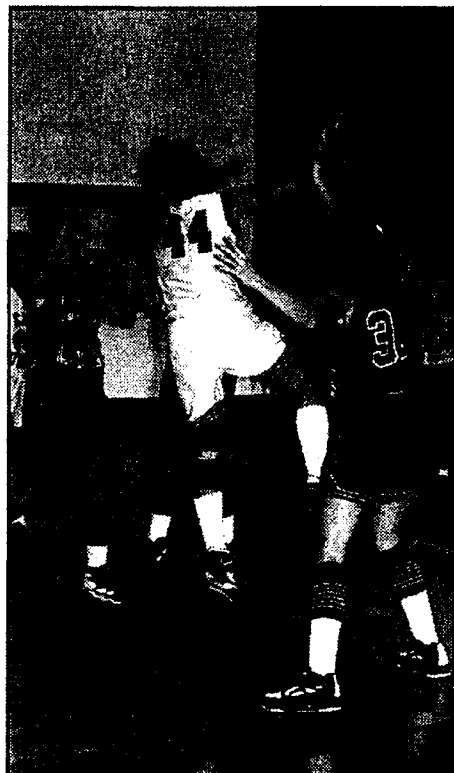

Breakfast is served at club

The East Jordan Sno-mobilers will be heating up the club grill in preparation for the first Sunday breakfast of the season, Dec. 3. Breakfasts will continue every Sunday through the snow season.

Serving hours are 7 a.m. to noon. For $3.50 each, adults can get a hearty breakfast of "the works."

The clubhouse is also open on Saturday afternoons for a food, warmth and rest break from the trails. When the clubhouse is closed, snowmobilers are welcome to use the comfort station situated outside the building. The clubhouse grounds are also a good staging area for visiting snowmobilers.

The Sno-mobilers Club is located on Mt. Bliss Road, just south of East Jordan.

DESPITE A full court press by the opposing Lancers, East Jordan's Amanda Pepin remains unintimidated as she goes for the two points in the Nov. 9 game against Ellsworth.

Prepare for safe firearm deer season

Dawn today (Nov. 15) marks the opening of the 1995 firearm deer season, and the Department of Natural Resources is reminding hunters to use caution in the field and handle firearms safely to avoid tragic accidents.

"Michigan has more land open to public hunting than any state in the eastern half of the United States," DNR Director Mike Moore said. "We're fortunate to have a whitetail deer population that's the envy of hunters everywhere. This season is expected to be one of the best in many years, but only if hunters observe some basic safety rules that will keep them alive and safe through the season."

Michigan is one of the safest places to hunt in North America; the 1994 firearm deer season was Michigan's safest on record. This good safety record is attributed to Michigan's Hunter Education classes.

This year, approximately 32,000 young men and women successfully completed Michigan Hunter Education classes. Hunters born after Jan. 1, 1960 are required to successfully complete the class before they can purchase a license to hunt. Since its inception in the 1960's, more than 1.2 million persons have completed these classes in Michigan. The goal of the hunter education program is to train responsible hunters while further reducing the number of firearm and bow accidents.

This year during the 15-day firearm deer season, nearly 700,000 hunters will spend tens of million of hours afield pursuing whitetail deer in Michigan. Hunters can take simple, practical measures to avoid becoming an accident statistic.

■ First, make certain you will not be mistaken for a game animal. The easiest way is to prominently wear blaze orange as an outer garment. Hunters concealing themselves in a blind should hang or paint blaze orange prominently on the exterior of the blind. When moving during low light conditions, hunters are advised to carry a lighted flashlight to alert other hunters to their presence.

■ Hunters should select their hunting partners carefully, and refuse to hunt with persons who do not obey the game laws or are risk-takers. All too often persons who are excessively competitive become involved in hunting accidents. They seem to feel that they must get the most, the best, the biggest or the first. Being over-competitive can be a formula for tragedy.

■ Two-party hunting accidents rarely involve strangers. Keep alert to the movements of your hunting partners at all times. Expect the unexpected. Do not let a momentary lapse in your concentration result in a tragedy.

■ These are some especially important rules to remember when handling firearms:

• Treat every firearm as if it is loaded. Never touch a firearm without checking the chamber for live rounds. Never hand a firearm to someone or receive a firearm from another person without first checking the chamber and magazine.

• Always control the muzzle of your firearm. Point it safely. The gun's muzzle should never be pointed at another person even for an instant. Keep fingers off the trigger until you are ready to shoot. Insist that all hunters in your group handle firearms carefully and respectfully. Real friends do not take chances with the safety of others.

• Be certain of your target and what is beyond. Never shoot or even point your gun at a movement, a color or a sound. Be aware of your surroundings. Look, not only at the target, but beyond the target for persons or objects in your line of fire.

Remember these basic guidelines, and have a safe and enjoyable firearm deer season in Michigan.

PROCEEDING OF THE EAST JORDAN CITY COMMISSION

The East Jordan City Commission met in Regular Session, Tuesday, November 7, 1995 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall, Mayor Peck presiding with all members of the Commission present. Minutes were approved and authorization was given to pay $180,294.92 in bills as submitted.

Further Commission Action: amended the Nuisance Ordinance to provide for Circuit Court action for relief of nuisance violations; adopted a budget schedule for the interim City budget of April 1 thru June 30, 1995; and set a Public Hearing for 7:00 p.m., November 21, 1995 to receive comments on Nordic Electric, L.L.C.'s request for a utility franchise in the City limits.

A copy of the minutes of the above meeting is posted in City Hall during normal business hours for review and copying.

Hummer out at Antrim Conservation District

Because their budget is almost completely eroded, the Antrim County Soil and Water Conservation District is letting go its part-time enforcement officer.

John Hummer was released from his duties at the district board's Oct. 19 meeting. The decision came mere days after an official at the conservation district discovered the fund that pays Hummer is almost completely depleted.

Hummer's wages were paid through a county fund for enforcement of Act 461 (formerly Act 347), which requires anyone moving earth for construction within 500 feet of a lake, river or stream to get a permit.

District board treasurer Bob Ricksgers said district coordinator Janet Person discovered the budget had gone nearly dry.

"We run several programs out of one account, and keep separate ledgers," he said. "Everybody was so busy, we didn't realize we were getting so low. (Person) put the figures out on the computer and she saw it."

Wages and mileage expenses depleted the budget faster than expected, according to Ricksgers. Former enforcement officer Efrain Rosalez was called upon to provide Hummer with training and additional help in working with oil and gas development companies working in Antrim County.

"Nobody really saw this coming," said district manager Mike Merriwether. "Oil and gas activity ate up a lot of the budget."

Hummer declined comment on his dismissal. He will retain his position as part-time director of the Friends of the Jordan River Watershed.

Merriwether will handle Act 461 enforcement in addition to his current duties until new funding for the position becomes available at the beginning of the year.

"This time of year is normally slow," he said.

The district hopes to expand the position to full time next year, and hire a single enforcement officer with experience in all facets of the job. Ricksgers said the board may hire an individual next month, to begin work in January or February.

Country sampler offers gift ideas

parents, hosted by Mary Barnum. Take a few minutes at Mary's to make a Christmas craft for yourself!

• Peck's Craftiques, 4282 Boyne City-East Jordan Rd. - Virginia Peck and friends offer birdhouses, candles, and other crafts.

• The Plaid Petunia, 106 Lakeview Dr. - Hostess Cathy Cohen, along with crafters Jean Alward and Michana Gee offer a variety of holiday crafts.

• Seams Like Old Times, 111 Water St. - Pat Pepin hosts artists and crafters Hazel Colburn, Patty Fuller, Gail Gotts, and Molly Mogan, featuring holiday ornaments and floral decorations among many other offerings.

Friday evening, the Jordan River Arts Council, 301 Main St., will be open for browsers and diners, with soup and sandwiches available. Five area crafters will have displays at the arts center, including: the stone jewelry of Fred Benson; chenille bears by Julie Micoff; plastic canvas crafts by Laurie Miller; paintings by Ann Russell; and tole painting by Laura Wellhousen.

Saturday lunch will be served at the East Jordan Senior Center. A display of seven decorated live Christmas trees will also be at center - tickets for the Chamber of Commerce raffle to win the trees will be available.

Grandvue Medical Care Facility, 01728 S. Peninsula, will also be open Saturday, with residents, families, and the "crafty" staff of Grandvue offering stuffed animals, candles, colorful potpourri jars and more for sale. All the proceeds from the Grandvue sale will benefit the Resident Council treasury.

Three businesses will also be on the tour, offering special values to visitors. Busy Bridge Gifts and Antiques, 207 Main St., where the sights and sounds of Christmas will greet customers on the specially decorated upper floor, will also offer their usual assortment of antiques and fine gifts, as well as refreshments.

One of East Jordan's newest downtown shops, the Eclectic, 211 Main St., will offer a special sale on the unique selection of clothing from around the world. The shop also carries a variety of new and older books, hand crafts, and other items - an "eclectic" mix.

The EJ Shoppe, 122 Main St., is offering a special on sweatshirts - don't miss a chance to look at the rest of the women's fine sportswear carried at the shop.

All stops on the Country Sampler will be marked with a large red heart. Maps are available at each location during the tour, and prior to the tour at Busy Bridge. Hours for the tour are Fri., Nov. 17, from 4 to 8 p.m., and Sat., Nov. 18, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
