DNR recommends Natural River designation extensions

BY IRENA GRANAAS
Journal Editor

Plans for permanent protection for the lower Jordan River and Deer Creek system moved a major step forward with a recommendation by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to designate them as Natural Rivers under the Michigan Natural Rivers Act (PA 231 of 1970).

The Wild and Scenic designation already protects the Jordan River from its headwaters in Chestonia Township, Antrim County, northwest to Rogers Bridge Road in South Arm Township. Members of Friends of the Jordan River Watershed, Inc., had sought to extend Wild and Scenic designation to the lower Jordan River and Deer Creek systems in February 1995 and the East Jordan City Commission added their endorsement to the petition to the DNR in March

"It was pretty exciting to get that letter from the DNR ... What this does is link the entire river under a consistent management plan, and that's pretty significant," said FJRW vice-president John Richter in a May 2 interview. The DNR recommended the following extensions of the Jordan River Natural River designation:

■ Designate as a Natural River the Jordan River mainstream from Rogers Bridge downstream to the M-32 bridge in East Jordan - about 2 miles.

This action extends Natural Rivers protection to the entire Jordan River mainstream, providing additional protection to nesting eagles and osprey and the many other public values found in the lower Jordan River.

The Natural River zoning provisions will not apply within East Jordan city limits. The DNR will work with the city to develop management provisions for the river area within East Jordan to protect the many riverine values while allowing for flexibility by the city in the use and development of riverfront lands.

■ Designate as a Natural River Deer Creek, from the outfall of Patricia Lake Dam downstream to the confluence with the Jordan River - about 1 mile.

This extends protection to the lower section of major tributary in the lower river, including the juncture of Deer Creek and the Jordan River; exempts Lake Patricia, the major impounded area within the Jordan River watershed, avoids conflicts with existing and planned industrial development along Lake Patricia.

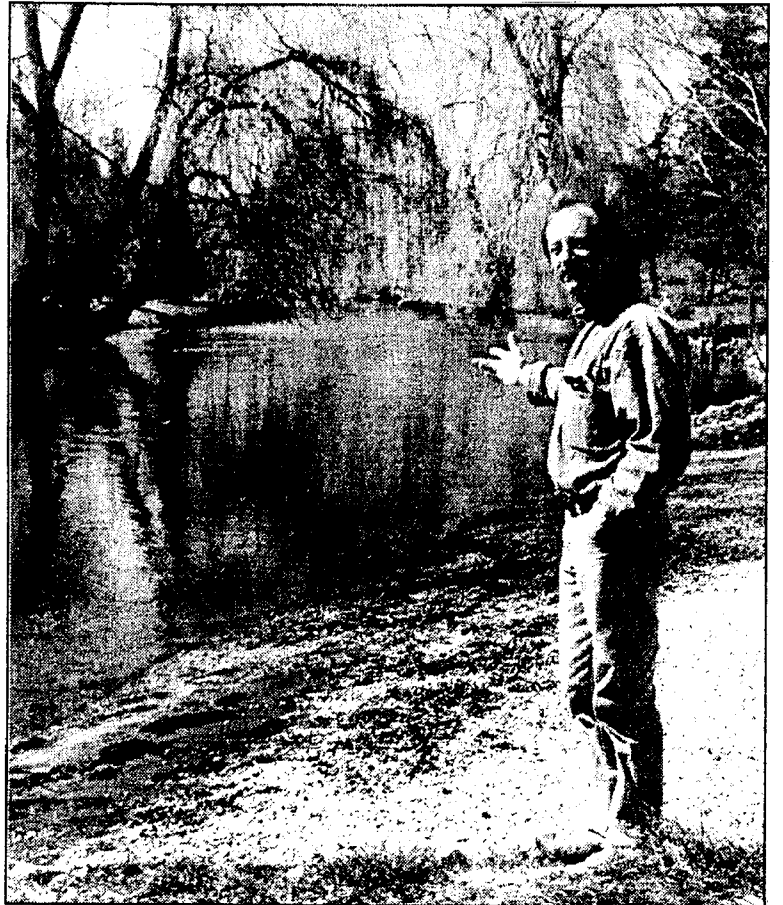

It also recognizes the existing protection afforded to the Deer Creek system - extensive floodplains and contiguous wetlands, strong zoning within Wilson and Boyne Valley townships and state ownership in headwaters of Warner and Collins creeks.

■ Recommends long-term removal of Patricia Lake Dam.

Douglas D. Carter, DNR Natural Rivers Program Leader, explained in general, the damming of trout streams alters the natural free flow of the stream, traps sediments behind the dam, reduces oxygen levels in the dam area, warms the water temperature, reduces the quality of the trout fishery and blocks upstream and downstream migration of fish and public navigation.

■ Participate in an educational program and encourage best management practices to enhance protection to and stewardship of the Deer Creek watershed.

This would be a cooperative program between the DNR, Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ), the FJRW, the farm bureaus and soil conservation districts of both Charlevoix and Antrim counties, the Tip of the

A PROPOSED ADDITION to the Jordan River's protected area under the Natural Rivers act is this area John Richter indicates at Roger's Bridge in East Jordan.

THE CONFLUENCE OF the Jordan River with Deer Creek is one of the recommended additions to be protected. A long-term plan includes eventual removal of the dam.

Mitt Watershed Council, local communities, riverfront property owners and other citizens.

The DNR will hold public discussions of the recommended amendment to the 1972 Jordan River Natural River plan. In addition to addressing the proposed extended designation, the amendment process will consider developments, examine needs and concerns, and provide coordination with related plans and programs implemented since the Jordan River was first designated a Natural River in 1972.

Richter explained all points of a river are connected and should have a coordinated management plan.

"What goes on upstream affects the downstream," he said.

For example, eagles which nest upstream also fish downstream. Fish migrate upstream to spawn, and return to the lake for most of their mature life.

"Everything we depends on - food, fiber and air, even the oceans, ultimately depend on the rivers," Richter said.

He said the FJRW plans to follow the Natural River designation with education.

"We want to talk to landowners and tell them why it's important to maintain vegetation on the banks, how to manage their property," he said, noting existing homes will be grandfathered in. "Whether you're an angler, a canoeist, a tourist, we all have to share the same responsibility toward environmental values.

"They're easy to do - they're common-sense, responsible things. We all share these things, it's our common link. Passion runs high about these issues, and I think that is a very good sign, because there is that level of concern."

Dog owners warned to take virus precautions

Families and individuals who have dogs are being urged to take steps to protect the life and health of their canine pals from a potentially lethal threat.

The Animal Control Division of the Charlevoix County Sheriff Department has received several reports of Canine Parvovirus cases in the East Jordan, South Arm Township and Wilson Township areas.

Charlevoix County Animal Control Officer Bill Marquardt said

Canine Parvovirus is a very hardy virus that causes devastating symptoms in dogs.

The virus is highly contagious among dogs and can be transmitted by contaminated droplets and feces. It can be spread many different ways, such as by the dog's fur and feet, other animals or by humans on their shoes.

"Parvovirus is what we call a 'hot' virus, because it is so easy to spread it without even knowing it," said John Richter, DVM, a veterinarian at Jordan Valley Animal Clinic in East Jordan. "We want to get the word out to people to talk to their veterinarian and make sure their dog's been vaccinated."

The virus causes two syndromes - the diarrhea syndrome and the cardiac syndrome.

The diarrhea syndrome starts with severe depression and loss of appetite, then vomiting. The dog also appears to be in extreme pain. Within 24 hours the dog develops a high fever and has profuse, bloody diarrhea.

The cardiac syndrome affects the heart muscle, especially in young pups. The pup stops nursing, cries out and gasps for breath. Death may be sudden or occur over a span of a few days. This syndrome may occur with the diarrhea syndrome or may occur three to six weeks after the animal has been recovering from the diarrhea.

Marquardt said the disease does not affect humans but can be inadvertently spread by humans. Successful treatment varies depending on the form and severity of the infection and the age of the dog.

In all but the mildest cases, intensive care by a qualified veterinarian is essential.

"The easiest way to prevent Canine Parvovirus is by following a vaccination schedule provided by your veterinarian. Vaccination is less expensive than intensive care in terms of money and your emotions," said Marquardt.

You've gotta have art

The Ebenezer Christian School held its annual Open House and Art Fair April 26, and the successful event saw many visitors come to enjoy the student art works on display.

"Wheels For Life" rallies Central Lake against childhood cancer on May 11

Suzi Collins is calling on all Central Lake residents to join the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels For Life" event, slated for Sat., May 11.

The bicycle-riding event runs from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Governmental Center in Central Lake.

Volunteer workers and participants are needed to raise funds for the world-famous research center in its battle against childhood cancer and other catastrophic childhood diseases.

"We're looking for participants

In the Wheels For Life event, participants ask sponsors to make a donation based on each mile completed. All participants turning in money will receive a certificate.

Those who raise $35 or more will receive a certificate and a special St. Jude T-shirt. When $75 or more is raised, the partici-

"The real prize, though, is the pride everyone can take in giving children a chance to live a normal life," Collins said.

Contact Collins at 544-2314 for details on participation or becoming a sponsor. St. Jude Hospital was founded by Danny Thomas and operates primarily from public support.

A 'Celebration of Creation' unites two northern counties

ELLSWORTH – It was the best turnout to date for the St. Clair Lake-Six Mile Lake Natural Area's fourth annual Earth Day gathering.

Despite overcast skies, about 50 walkers and trolley-riders gathered at Wooden Shoe Park April 20 for the three-mile journey to the South Arm Preserve, one of four SCL-SML Natural Area acquisitions that span Antrim-Charlevoix county borders.

Area Boy and Girl Scouts joined in planting dogwood and cedar saplings donated by the Antrim Conservation District, while adults toured the scenic Sinclair River site. A trolley ride back to Ellsworth ended in a complimentary lunch served by local Lionesses, followed by a vintage Mort Neff film presentation.

Organizers estimate $600 in contributions was raised during the three-hour event.

HUNGRILY CONTEMPLATING a commemorative sheet cake at the Ellsworth Lioness luncheon that followed the SCL-SML Nature Preserve walk are Helen Beemon and Michelle Lemond.

PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT now will have a real impact on the future, so it was especially fitting that area youngsters from toddler to teen participated in the celebration.

DELIGHTING HIS AUDIENCE with his recollections of filming fishing action on the Upper Chair with the legendary Mort Neff in the 1950s was Thale Yettaw. The Ellsworth resident was featured in the footage, which was shown during the April 20 Earth Day event.

Song of My Soul

In the wind something does float
A single solitary drifting note
Coming from a place seen by no one
Heard by everyone

Another follows it
More in a little bit
Upwards toward the sky
Spreading wings to fly
Never to die

Soon a melody to play
Everywhere night and day
Sweet and low
Feel it flow
True colors show

Where it came from is not found
A place of music and sound
The bell will toll
I will be whole
With music coming from my soul

Residents' wishes come true at volunteer dinner

About 80 people attended the Grandvue Medical Care Facility annual Volunteer Appreciation Dinner, held April 23 at the Evangelical Lutheran Church in East Jordan.

The program included a presentation by Nancy Carey, R.N., B.S.N and project coordinator for Grandvue's proposed Alzheimer's unit, and a slide show featuring residents, volunteers, staff and family members involved in activities over the past year.

A highlight of the evening was a demonstration of the "Make A Wish" program where Grandvue staff and volunteers grant residents' wishes, done to the tune of "When You Wish Upon A Star."

Each resident has an opportunity to make a wish at Grandvue, and staff members have enjoyed putting on the "fairy godmother" costume. Activity director Cheryl Sothard said the facility hopes volunteers will now want to grant residents' wishes after seeing the joy it brings to those involved.

Entertainment was provided by Bill Wieland on piano, and many area businesses furnished door prizes. This was the second year the dinner was hosted by the Lutheran church.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE
Work Together in His Spirit
"Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord; and there are varieties of working, but it is the same God who inspires them in all of us."

— Corinthians 12:4-6
 What the Apostle Paul tried to impart in his letter to the Corinthians was that we are all different in nature and capabilities, yet those differences derived from the Spirit of God, further the common good. God has granted each of us certain skills and talents that contribute to the well-being of all. Consider, for instance, if we were all created shoemakers. We would certainly be well shod but without clothing, food or shelter. Just as we are dependent on God's bounty for the diverse gifts He has given us, so are we dependent one on another for the utilization of those gifts for all. No individual survives without the manifestation of the Lord's spirit and aid of his fellow man.

Huckle's Gallery and Art Supplies is kicking off their 50th year in business by adding on-site, one-hour color film processing to the downtown East Jordan store's list of services.

"We're now a one-hour photo processing lab. We call it Service Photo Express," said owner Roger Huckle.

"Basically, this business was started out as a photo studio and black and white film lab," said Roger's wife and business partner Carole. "This has taken us back now we're a full-color lab. It's going to definitely help us, but I think it will improve the traffic flow along Main Street. It will help everyone."

The business, which was started by Roger's grandfather Bill Huckle, will celebrate its 50th year Aug. 7.

"We're the oldest family-owned business in town," said Carole. "A lot of people are not aware that we're an archival, custom-framing and matting center. We're also a fine arts and Native American art gallery."

"We hope to carry on the grand tradition of providing East Jordan with the best quality in photo finishing," said Roger.

Sporting trip company opens local outlet

Outdoor Connection, a Minnesota-based national firm which specializes in outdoor sporting adventures, has opened an office near East Jordan on M-32.

The company promotes and arranges fishing, hunting, canoeing, rafting, camping, horseback riding and dude ranch trips in North and Central America. Steve and Sue LaJoice are local representatives of the national network of independent agencies who work with individuals and businesses to help them find the right locations for meetings, seminars and-or vacations.

"We found that a lot of people who wanted to go on this type of vacation didn't know who to contact," said Steve. "We do all the homework. Once you tell us what you want, we make all the reservations. All the customer has to do is pack their bags and hit the road."

The company also arranges white-water rafting, canoe trips and pontoon rentals at Lake of the Woods in northern Minnesota. The office is located at 2108 Highway M-32.

WHAT'S COOKING

Recipes designed in the kitchen of Debbie Chappuies, with East Jordan cooks in mind

As much as I'm looking forward to warm weather, getting the boat in the water and planning great light summer menus to enjoy with family & friends, my mood is a little low. After all, I'm sitting here on May Day looking at the fresh fallen snow in my yard. I'm really excited about sharing my favorite summer recipes, but at the same time feeling those warm days are never going to come. I guess my recipe for this week reflects my mood. It isn't very imaginative or fancy, but it does the job. I really hope between now and the next recipe selection, we all are warmer, have a bounce in our step and a big grin on our face!

Pepin burns up track records

BY RICH CLARK
Journal Sports Writer

Amanda Pepin broke not one but two school records enroute to a third-place finish by the East Jordan girls track team.

Benzie Central won the meet scoring 169 points, Charlevoix was second with 105 points, and East Jordan took third with 94 points. Boyne City, Traverse City St. Francis and one member from Ellsworth also competed.

Pepin broke both records in the hurdles. In the 100 meter hurdles she shaved .25 of a second off the old school record with a time of 16.58 seconds, placing her second in the race.

In the 300m low hurdles the old record was 52.45; she shattered that with a 50.15 clock and a solid first-place finish. She also placed first in the 100m dash and the long jump.

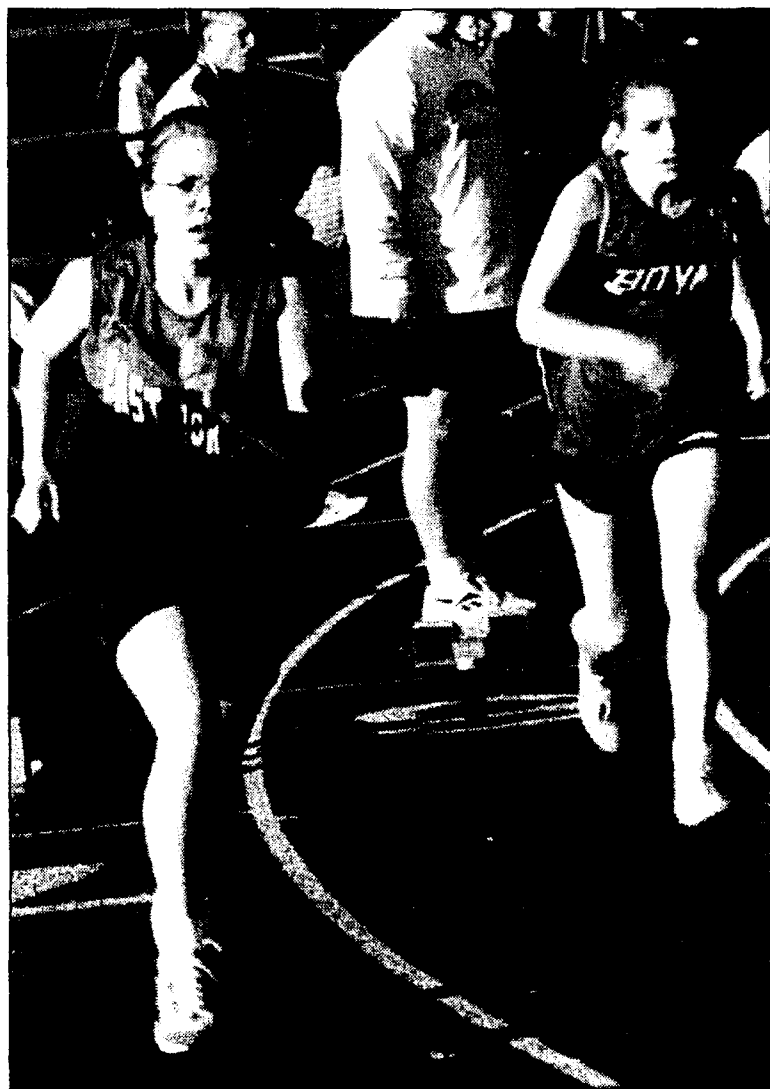

Holly Petkewicz finished third in the 1600m run. Jenny Felco and Katie Moses finished third and fourth in the 20m dash respectively.

Mary Brooks took fifth in the shotput. Ann Hettig and Emily Niewendorp also contributed with high individual finishes in events.

The girls relay teams did well also by finishing with one each a second, third, fourth and fifth.

The coaches were very excited about Pepin's records and were very pleased with the team's performance as a whole. While they were impressed with Benzie Central's team, they stressed Jenny Goebel's injury which stopped her from competing, hurt the team.

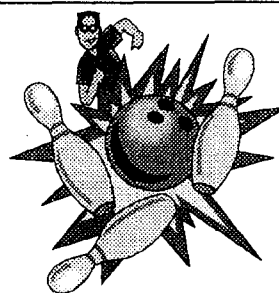

CHARGING OUT of the starting blocks during a May 2 track meet is East Jordan's Angie Goebel. The Red Devil girls team finished third in the six-team event held in East Jordan.

LEAPING OVER the competition in a May 2 track meet is Steve Burks, who went on to win the low hurdle event for the Red Devils. The East Jordan boys team finished in third place, behind meet winner Benzie Central and runner-up Charlevoix.

Lady JV's take two from Northern bats

By Rich Clark
Journal Sports Writer

Betsy Banfield did her part for the East Jordan girls JV softball team, getting a win and a save in pitching against the Petoskey Northmen for 14-1 and 15-13 wins.

Banfield pitched a complete first game, allowing five hits and striking out six. Angie Swan helped the Red Devils on the offensive end by scoring four times off two hits. Rochelle Harm hit a three-bagger and Kristina

Nelson connected on a double.

In the nightcap, the Devils used three pitchers enroute to the 15-13 win. Terise Cutler started. Kristina Nelson came in for long relief and picked up the win by allowing only five hits, and Banfield came in to mop up and collect the save.

The pitchers were helped by some big time offense. It mostly came in the third inning where nine runs were scored on five hits and four walks, Banfield and Corrie Mayhew leading the team with two hits each.

JV Devils swept by Northmen

BY RICH CLARK
Journal Sports Writer

The East Jordan Red Devil JV baseball team struggled past some sloppy play to challenge the Petoskey Northmen, but only for a moment, as they were on the low end of the twin bill, 2-10 and 4-16.

Matt Whiteford pitched game one and gave up five hits and four walks with four strikeouts. He didn't get much help from the offense. Mike Mozzella was the only Devil to put bat on ball for a hit.

Game two saw more offense but it still wasn't enough. Dave Miller, Matt Mogan and Mozzella combined pitching efforts to give up eight hits and eight walks while striking out eight batters.

Josh Luck led the offensive attack with two hits, Brad Corey legged out a double, and Mozzella added a single.

Police Reports

Missing cow carcass found

The Charlevoix County Sheriff Department has recovered the carcass of a cow that was reported missing on April 11 from the Petoskey area.

Sgt. Don Sproul reported the carcass was found April 26 washed up on the beach along the dunes area near the Colorado Club in Charlevoix Township. The township Public Works Department assisted the owners in removing the carcass from the beach.

The owners, the Joe Foster family, arranged for the disposal.

Highway closed by pipe bomb danger

The Charlevoix County Sheriff Department is investigating the discovery of a pipe bomb in Norwood Township on April 29.

The department received a call from a township resident, reporting what appeared to be a bomb near US-31 and Vratina Road. Officers determined the object was a pipe bomb upon investigation, and the Michigan State Police Forensic Laboratory in Grayling was contacted for additional support.

The Michigan State Police Bomb Squad further determined the bomb was dangerous upon arrival. The sheriff department closed down US-31 for about 10 minutes while the bomb squad defused the device with a remote detonator.

The sheriff department was assisted by the Charlevoix City Fire Department and the Charlevoix City Ambulance while the bomb was being disarmed. Any person who may have knowledge of the source of the bomb is encouraged to contact Sheriff George Lasater or Sgt. Don Schneider at 547-4461.

Photography shop owner premieres new studio

The owner and namesake of Karen Walker Photography announced a May 4 ribbon-cutting ceremony to open the shop's new portrait studio.

Walker said the added suite, previously occupied by Charlevoix Federal Credit Union, will enable her to offer portrait photography customers many different settings and styles within a single photography session. Fun sets for children, casual to classic settings for families and glamorous, sophisticated styles can now be conveniently offered.

"It's something that I've dreamed of for many years, and I'm very excited about it," said Walker.

This is the fifth year of operation for the studio, located in the Walker Building, 507 Water St., East Jordan. Walker specializes in quality, affordable portraits of children, families, weddings, high school seniors, and pets.

Jordan Memories

From Looking Around Jordan Township by Mrs. Vern Bundy (Rosalind Westcott) East Jordan News-Herald - mid 1950s.

Gust and Mary Larson Early days recalled by Mary Larson, area pioneer

You may think this a common story with little of special interest. And that is true. It is not what one would call sensational, and it is for this reason that it merits attention.

It is the typical story of the home-loving men who built so well, spending a lifetime developing their homes and fields and doing their part in building their community.

On a quiet street of East Jordan, conveniently located near the church of her choice, lives a pleasant lady whose outlook is so young and cheerful, and her days so full of the activities of a person who lives alone, that one seldom gets the impression of age, inability or loneliness. Nevertheless, Mary Larson is on intimate terms with all three.

In looking back on her 82 summers, she relives memories so different and methods now so outmoded that comparison is almost ridiculous. And she often feels impatient that she can no longer spend long hours working in her garden as she used to do.

She was born in 1875 in the Green River Valley community of Antrim County. And Green River boasted, even then, a fair number of families, for so pleasant a stretch of land with plenty of water and good soil couldn't escape the eyes of those men who came into northern Michigan to work in the logging camps or to find places where they could settle down to make permanent homes for their families.

Mr. Staley was one of those who got there early. But while others busied themselves with farming and logging, he became known far and near as an expert hunter and fisherman. He was one of the few who could locate a marauder and follow him till he brought him back. Often he returned from a hunting trip with a bear, deer or fox whose meat and hide he could use, sell or trade.

On one occasion Mr. Staley had shot a bear and was bringing him home with his horse and buggy. As he passed the school, the teacher, willing to please the children, dismissed the entire school. The children streamed out to the road to view the bear.

At that time the school faced west instead of south as it does now. The only furnishings in the school were a stove and several benches.

A clock was considered a luxury and, when the teacher wanted to know if it was time to dismiss school, she went outside to study the angle of shadow which fell from a stake which had been planted in a strategic position. This method of telling time was known as stake-time.

In 1895 Mary married a young man whose surname was the same as hers. The young man, Gust, had recently arrived in this country with a group who had come over from Sweden. He and Mary moved onto a farm conveniently located near the river, the railroad and the country store.

The Post Office, run by Joe Miller, was one of the busiest places in the community. George Glassburn run the blacksmith shop and Chancy Miller took over the first store. When the D&C Railroad went through, the station master was Ed Price.

Potatoes were usually a fair crop in the valley and there was a potato house to take care of them. The farmers filled the warehouse each year and a regular buyer came by from Petoskey to take them to market.

Gust was a thrifty farmer and a good dairyman. In a day when a cow was seldom sold for poor production he always kept the best.

There was always plenty of pasture since cows were commonly run on the cut over tracts of timber land.

When my parents moved into the community in 1916, it was through seeing them driving their cows through our yard every evening that we first became acquainted with the Larsons.

One day my father was helping me to learn the countries and their capitals for a school assignment. He told me I could remember the capital of Sweden if I thought of Mr. Larson bringing his "Stock home." It worked so well that I never forgot.

Gust and Mary spent 44 years on their farm. During most of that time they kept boarders.

The rural school teachers nearly always stayed there, enjoying the home hospitality, good food and the convenience of being not too far from the school.

Some of the more outstanding people who stayed there were the crew of "Square Timber" out of Saginaw and Wards "Timber-Lookers."

One interesting man was a map maker. Day after day he took his men out to explore every hill, valley and stream. Each evening he returned to reproduce his findings on a section of paper which he fitted together with those sections which he had already finished.

In 1914, after Gust and Mary had nearly given up hope of a having a family, their son Karl was born, an added blessing in their busy lives.

After middle age Gus' health began to fail, and as the years went by he became worse and worse, and more and more responsibility fell on Mary.

By the time Karl had finished high school he had decided to go to college. The college of his choice was Michigan State College.

Because of his love of the farm and his experience around his father's dairy herd, it was natural that he should choose to study agriculture and animal husbandry.

This was quite a decision for those times, for money was scarce and very few young people from the farms would consider college as even a possibility.

But Karl's determination was as big as his ambition and soon he was off to the city. There he enrolled in college, found a job and settled down to the long job of working his way through school.

In 1943, while Karl was stationed in Washington, he received word that his father, who had been ill for a long time, had passed away.

Soon afterward Karl was sent into the European conflict. There he saw a good deal of action as a tank commander including the Battle of the Bulge.

Soon after her husband passed away, Mary sold the farm and bought a home in East Jordan near relatives. Her home has a warm atmosphere that reflects the busy fingers of a real home maker.

And her face still shows instant understanding and charity. It was this warmth that once caused her to be known by nearly a whole community as "Aunt Mary."

When Karl finished his time in the service, he returned to take a job in Chippewa County as county agricultural agent, an office he still holds.

Meanwhile, he and his wife are living in Mackinaw with their two sons and one daughter.

Sax Says ...

by Gayle B. Saxton

Last week's luncheon meeting with Eva Jean Leedy, Lola Bowman and Pat Deterich here at the Michigan Masonic Home, 1200 Wright Avenue, Alma, Mich., 48801-1133, commemorating National Secretaries' Week, was saddened somewhat for me, when I was informed that my initial elementary secretary, Mrs. Sally Mount at Collins Elementary, had died a few years ago at her winter residence near Fort Meyer, Fla.

Sally, a stern and strict sister of mine, was an ever-faithful Eastern Star (OES). That's something that you were not aware of. My late wife, Rea Rae (Smith) Saxton, and I joined the OES 39 years ago at East Jordan.

Making a long story short, while I was working in the Collins Elementary cafeteria with Sally, she asked me if she could have an hour off at the end of the day to pretty-up for the OES. Installation of officers that night and was she extremely annoyed at my tart reply. "Yes, you may - do take the whole afternoon off."

Somehow that must have hurt, and I don't believe she ever forgave me.

Another thing I'll never forget about Sally is that whenever I praised her for her work, she would answer, "Put it in my paycheck, that's where it counts."

Another bright remark attributed to Sally about her boss happened on a day when the roads were slipperier than goose grease as she was driving to work. When she saw that someone had crashed through the sign in front of Houghton Lake's historic Pines Theater, she said "Some damn fool has crashed into the Pines Theater again," hesitated a bit, and went on to add, "But that looks like Mr. Saxton's station wagon, and it is."

Incidentally, I was rushed to the Clare Hospital, where I spent a week recuperating. While there, I received a get-well card from one parent, who related what her 7-year-old had to say about the wreck in the Houghton Lake Resorter.

"Mom, did you hear about Mr. Saxton?" he said, and not waiting for his mother's answer, the lad continued, "He is in the hospital, some trucker stabbed him." The news item had explained that the driver had jack-knifed me with his semi.

Other secretaries who had the misfortune of working for me for lesser periods included Betty (Two Shoes) Anderson, Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Baker in the school system; and several of-office gals at the Resorter, whenever I needed assistance.

In closing I would like to say "Thank You" but like Sally Mount told me, "Knock off the praise and put it in my paycheck."

See you all again next week. I hope.

New MUCC director

Richard L. Jameson, a leader in the conservation movement for 20 years, has been appointed executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. He succeeds the late Thomas L. Washington at the helm of the largest state conservation organization in the nation.

Jameson, 47, has been a member of the MUCC staff for 11 years, the last seven as assistant executive director. He had served as acting director since Washington's death last December and was named permanent director by the MUCC Board of Directors after a nationwide search.

"We are extremely pleased to have Rick on board as our executive director," said MUCC president Arthur H. Dittmar Jr.

Joining MUCC as special projects coordinator in 1976, Jameson played a major role in the "bottle bill" campaign. He served MUCC for four years before being chosen executive director of the Oklahoma Wildlife Federation, a position he held for eight years. During that time, the federation's membership and budget more than tripled.

Returning to MUCC in 1988, Jameson was in charge of the lobbying program for the 120,000-member organization and was active in the passage of the Sand Dunes Act, and State Parks Initiative (Proposal P) among other legislation.

Jameson has represented MUCC on various natural resources task forces and committees, including the Citizens Committee for State Parks, State Forest Recreation Advisory Committee, Act 307 (Environmental Response) Advisory Committee, and the Game and Fish Fund Advisory Committee.

He received a bachelor's degree cum laude from Michigan State University and a master of science degree in natural resources policy from MSU, also cum laude.

Jameson and his wife Robbie reside in East Lansing with their daughter Christina.

Bill would open door for winter snow aid

Legislation co-sponsored by Rep. Bart Stupak, D-Menominee, would make it easier for local communities to get federal emergency assistance when they are struck by major winter storms.

Introduced in the U.S. House April 24, the bill directs the Federal Emergency Management Agency to develop guidelines for providing assistance to states and local governments struggling with snow-related events.

The guidelines would spell out the criteria for declaring a disaster or emergency and they would spell out the nature of any assistance, including financial reimbursement for snow and debris removal.

Specifically, the bill asks the president, working through FEMA, to issue a proposed set of guidelines in three months after the bill's approval. A final set of guidelines would be in place no later than six months after the bill's enactment.

"FEMA has rules in place for responding to emergencies like earthquakes and floods," Stupak said. "This bill fills a gap in our ability to provide federal assistance."

Stupak said his bill also fill a gap in the efforts to deal with a growing financial crisis caused by the impact of winter road maintenance on local budgets.

"There has been an absence of leadership at the very top in Michigan in dealing with the plight of northern Michigan communities," Stupak said today. "We have been unable to get Gov. Engler to directly address the problem, despite our own efforts to highlight the issues."

Such efforts included surveying cities and counties on their financial plight, recommending the state's billion-dollar "rainy day" fund be tapped to provide relief, and inviting the governor to meet to discuss the matter during a recent Engler trip to Washington.

Small business loan program issues report

For the first six months of Fiscal Year 1996, the U.S. Small Business Administration's 411 guaranty loans for a total value of $84 million.

SBA District Director Dwight Reynolds said, "While this is 34% less than last year at this time, it is still the second-highest number of loans in our history. I look forward to an excellent second half of the year so that we can challenge last year's record loan levels."

In Antrim County the SBA approved two guaranty loans for a total value of $580,000 from Oct. 1, 1996 through March 31, 1996. These loans were made through SBA participating lenders Old Kent Bank & Trust Co. and FMB-Northwestern Bank.

Through SBA's guaranty loan programs, small businesses can receive financing for working capital, equipment purchase, plant expansion, and other business purposes. These loans are provided through most commercial lenders in Michigan.

The most widely used SBA loan program is LowDoc. It features a one-page SBA loan application for amounts of $100,000 or less. SBA provides a three-day turnaround after it receives an application from the lender. As in all other programs, the applicant must meet the lender's and SBA's credit and eligibility requirements.

For further information on SBA's lending programs, call (313) 226-6075, ext. 400.

Fun, learning combined at ecology workshop

Would you eat a worm?
Visitors and participants to the Ecology Workshop, held April 30 at East Jordan Middle School, had a chance to consume some of the slimy wrigglers – if they dared, just one of the educational as well as just plain fun projects on display.

Some students created "biomes," models of different environments, such as deserts and rain forests.

Others made worm farms and bird feeders.

Interested youngsters viewed the video Born Free and enjoyed fresh popcorn and juice while watching Say Goodbye. Creative opportunities were plentiful, as some students made ecology books for younger children, designed three-dimensional sculptures with recyclable materials, or played "prey and predator" to learn about survival.

Real worms were baked into cookies as part of one project, while the squeamish could buy worm farm "dirt puddings" made of cookies, chocolate pudding and a candy "worm." The creepy crawly bake sale items were sold to elementary students, with proceeds going to the playground fund.

THE SAHARA DESERT is the model for this "biome" created by (from left) Jason Hazel, Brandy Smith and Elijah Kibbe.

Barbara Bush, A Memoir
By Barbara Bush

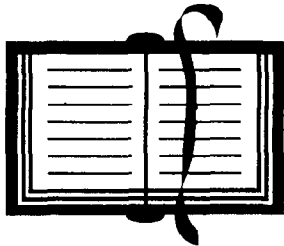

Whether you are Republican or Democrat or an Independent as I am, you will enjoy this book. Politics aside, you will enjoy the wit and candor of this very popular former first lady, who is an inspiration to all women.

Mrs. Bush not only tells of her private life in the public eye for the last 25 years – she tells of growing up in Rye, N.Y., meeting and marrying George Bush and the pain of the loss of her young child.

Through the years and adventures, you will be impressed by her courage, intelligence and love for her husband and family. Famous people emerge from pages to become real. But, most of all, Mrs. Bush shows us a love story that has only grown through the years.

George Bush is a famous former president, and a very lucky one. He met and married the love of his life, and their devotion has grown through the years. He has fame, a very large family, dogs included; and a devoted and intelligent, loving wife. You'll like her even more after you read this book at the Central Lake Township and Jordan Valley District libraries.
