EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN

Commission sets July 16 date for public hearing

BY IRENA GRANAAS
Journal Editor

After receiving a request for a public hearing from suspended city administrator Carolyn Sutter, East Jordan city commissioners changed the July 16 work session to a regular meeting, and scheduled the hearing for 7:30 p.m.

The action took place at the July 2 city commission meeting.

Also at the meeting, commissioners approved a city administrator evaluation guide to be used to evaluate the performance of Sutter or any other future administrator.

Commissioners met and discussed evaluation forms used by the East Jordan Schools to evaluate their superintendent and an evaluation form used by Boyne City, and drafted their own using elements from both.

No plans had been set for evaluating Sutter at press time.

Commissioners voted to place Sutter on a 30-day suspension at a June 13 special meeting, after multiple concerns were expressed about Sutter's handling of employees and her administrative duties.

Commissioners discussed whether to appoint an interim administrator during Sutter's suspension to take the burden off city treasurer and acting administrator Susan Moreau, but city attorney Scott Beatty advised not to appoint anyone until after the public hearing.

Moreau said she is managing the workload for now. "But you'll have to realize some things won't get done as fast."

Property owner threatens suit against city over road installation

BY IRENA GRANAAS
Journal Editor

An East Jordan property owner petitioned the city commission at the July 2 meeting to build an undeveloped, platted road to provide access to his property.

Robert Gee said he's been paying property taxes on the land since 1994 and needs road access in order to build a house on the property. Spruce Street is an undeveloped street which branches off Cedar Street, near the Evans Lumber Yard.

Robert Gee and his father Dale said Dale has been paying taxes on the property since 1968. Robert bought the property from Dale in 1994.

"All I want to do is build a house up there," said Robert.

Commissioner Brian Sweet agreed Spruce Street is a platted street, but said it doesn't mean the city must build the street.

"We've got a lot of platted, undeveloped streets," he said.

"But we've got to have this one, or we go to court," Dale Gee said.

Commissioner Greg Chappuies said the commission "represents every taxpayer in the city... Probably every taxpayer in the city doesn't want to pay for your street."

Chappuies said if the city were to pay for Gee's road, "Every private individual will want the city to pay for private streets. That doesn't mean mistakes weren't made in the past."

He told Gee the city is willing to maintain the road once it's built.

"If you're not going to do it, we're going to court," said Dale. "That's all there is to it."

After a brief discussion about setting up a special assessment district or giving Gee a private easement, city attorney Scott Beatty offered to talk to Gee's attorney Roy Hayes III to work out a solution. The commission directed Beatty to do so.

Beatty told commissioners any road built should be brought up to specifications before the city accepts it.

"The city is not free of liability if it's a platted street," he said.

"According to our attorney, we're justified in making the city put this road in," said Dale Gee.

Citing the precedent it would set, Chappuies said, "You could bankrupt the city by winning the suit."

"I think if a street's been platted for 40 years, it becomes pretty real to the people who own property there... I think a platted street indicates the city's intent to put a street there," said commissioner Ruth Gee.

"I don't think a plat signifies an intent, but control of development," said Sweet. "We don't put in a driveway for nothing. How can we put in a street for nothing?"

Dale Gee told the commission he has a 1983 letter signed by former East Jordan City Superintendent John Michael Dionne, which states if then-owner Dale Gee ever decided to build a home, the city would put the street in.

Commissioners agreed Beatty will contact Robert Gee's attorney and review the options for the road to be built.

In a July 4 interview, Robert Gee said the city's action is satisfactory for now. He plans to attend the July 16 city commission meeting with his attorney, and expects the city to make a decision on the road at the meeting.

The platted length is 300 feet by 66 feet wide, but Gee said he only needs a 30-foot-wide gravel road for his needs.

Gee said the city should pay for road construction, because it's a platted street and that's why he bought the property from his father in 1994 with the intention of building a house.

"They said East Jordan was the fastest-growing city in the state in 1995," he said. "How can that be if they won't even put streets in?"

Celebrating freedom

Members of the U.S. Marine Corps march proudly during the June 29 Freedom Festival Grand Parade while all-American colors like those displayed by balloon vendors Terise Cutler (left) and Becki Whiteford, both East Jordan cheerleaders, were the order of the day. "Capturing a slice of reality" is the theme of artist Susie Logie's collection of oil painting, pastels and charcoals.

The Jordan River Arts Council has invited Logie to display her varied, colorful paintings in the Arts Council Gallery, from July 21 to Aug. 1.

The opening reception on Sun., July 21, is from 2 to 4 p.m. Starting July 22, the exhibit is open daily from noon to 4 p.m.

Logie is interested in the real thing, and does not paint from photographs.

"This is the way I like to work," she says. "Look at the same thing for a long time. Monet taught us to do that."

Logie works in oils on canvas and pastels on paper. In a typical week, she will paint a few hours at three or four sittings. She values variety in her work, painting a range in size, in intensity of color and in subject.

Joining forces to clean up Michigan forests

A historic Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) was signed June 28 at the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) 59th Annual Convention in Cadillac.

The formal agreement is aimed at resolving litter problems and conflicts associated with hunting blinds placed on public lands. Co-signatories include the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), MUCC, Upper Peninsula Whitetails Association and the Upper Peninsula Sportsmen's Alliance.

All parties have pledged to work together to remove illegal blinds from Michigan forests and support increased penalties for illegal ground blinds. In exchange for the cooperative forest cleanup initiative, the MOA further establishes a two-year test period whereby portable, manufactured or artificial deer hunting ground blinds will be allowed to remain in place on public lands in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula from Nov. 10 through Jan. 2.

Portable ground blinds not removed at the end of the day must also have the owner's name and address clearly attached. During the remaining hunting seasons, and for all public lands in southern Michigan, only portable ground blinds which are removed at the end of each day and those constructed out of dead and natural materials will be permitted.

DNR officials said hunters were displeased with a DNR directors' order scheduled to take effect this year, making it unlawful for ground blinds made of manufactured materials to be left overnight on public lands. The order was an attempt to address what was viewed as a growing problem of abandoned blinds littering public lands.

"We were initially approached by Upper Peninsula sports groups who shared our concerns about trash in forests, and who were also concerned about an order signed by my predecessor to totally prohibit the use of manufactured ground blinds on public lands," said DNR Director K. L. Cool. "We recognized an opportunity to forge a new partnership to address common challenges, and we welcomed it. The DNR should always be open to suggestions, alternatives and the ideas of anyone who is willing to work with us."

MUCC Executive Director Rick Jameson added, "This cooperative agreement is the ideal way to solve the problem of abandoned blinds. Sportsmen's groups have been very active in the Adopt-a-Forest program, and I believe they will successfully tackle the blind problem as well."

DNR officials added it is the expressed hope of all parties that a 10-percent reduction of trash in northern forests will result from this cooperative venture.

WHAT'S COOKING

Recipes designed in the kitchen of Debbie Chappuies, with East Jordan cooks in mind

Pork Tenderloins are one of the most versatile and elegant meats to prepare. Last week I shared my favorite traditional recipe and today I would like to offer a few other suggestions for even less involvement in preparation time. They are all extremely simple and I use them all. Don't let their simplicity hold you back from using them for a company meal - they will think you spent hours!

■ Either make your own or buy honey mustard and rub all over the tenderloins. Let marinate for about 30 minutes. Brush more on tenderloins as you cook them. To make your own honey mustard, simply combine Dijon mustard with honey until you like how it tastes!

■ Do the same as above except with orange marmalade.

■ Combine pineapple juice with brown sugar and heat until sugar is dissolved. Pour over tenderloin and bake.

■ Marinate the tenderloin in pineapple juice for 30 minutes. Combine a can of peach slices, a can of mandarin oranges, pineapple chunks and one or two mangos, sliced. You can use whatever fruits you like, but mangos are the key.

Put the fruits in a large frying pan with their juices. Simmer without a lid until it starts to thicken. If you wish, add a 1/4 cup of dry sherry. (Never use 'cooking sherry', as there is too much salt - regular wines are much better.) When tenderloin is ready, slice and pour fruit mixture over.

In all cases, cooking time is about 40 minutes at 420 degrees - or use the grill. I like to serve Uncle Ben's long grain and wild rice with any of these methods, along with a vegetable. All the methods also work well with chicken.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

So the Blind Might See
"Can a blind man lead a blind man? Will they not both fall into a pit?" — Luke 6:39

Most of us are inclined to be opinionated, to think that our way is best. We feel that others should follow our example — even when we are wrong. Yet as Jesus pointed out in His parable, we are like the blind man leading another blind man. Grouping can only bring disaster to both parties. That doesn't mean that we can't learn and in time be capable of teaching others. Yes, so can they do likewise. The true measure of a person's ability to lead is to first learn and loving our fellow beings. And what better guide is there for clearing the mist from one's eyes than the words of Jesus as He taught us to venerate God and respect one another?

Approval granted for NMH program

The Commission on Cancer of the American College of Surgeons has granted three-year approval to the Comprehensive Cancer Services at Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey.

Because of the changes Northern Michigan Hospital has instilled into the Comprehensive Cancer Services, this three-year approval has opened a door to helping staff and participants provide the best diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

The commission sets the standards for cancer care in the nation. Established by the American College of Surgeons in 1932, the approvals program encourages participants to equip and staff themselves so that they are able to provide the best in diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

Recognizing that cancer is a complex group of diseases, the program promotes consultation among surgeons, medical oncologist, radiation oncologist, diagnostic radiologists, pathologist, and other cancer specialists. This multidisciplinary cooperation results in improved patient care.

An integral part of cancer program is the tumor registry. All patients who are diagnosed or treated for cancer are listed in the registry so that the institution can maintain contact with them and make sure that they receive continuing care and assistance with rehabilitation. Information collected through the registry allows Northern Michigan Hospital to participate in national studies that are designed to improve patient care. These studies focus on diagnostic patterns, surgery, other treatment, and patient outcome.

Using annual cancer registry data from more than 1,000 US cancer treatment organizations, Northern Michigan Hospital is able to comparatively assess their patterns of care using survey data from the National Cancer Data Base (NCDB).

The NCDB also provides an annual yardstick of how many patients were diagnosed at each hospital using the most appropriate staging or classification system of disease severity. To further assist in comparative assessment of cancer treatment at the hospital, two studies of special population have been performed that focus on Hispanic patients and elderly patients.

In addition, several Patient Care Evaluation (PCE) studies were designed and completed that used supplementary medical information gathered for evaluating special issues of cancer management concern for cancers of the cervix, colon and prostate. Thus, the Patient Care Evaluation Studies and the national Cancer Data Base have collectively provided a useful benchmark that individual approved cancer programs can use for continuous improvement of the quality of patient care.

The American Cancer Society estimates that, 1,359,150 cases of cancer will be diagnosed in the United States during 1996. Slightly more than one-fifth of the country's hospitals have approved cancer programs, and more than 80 percent of patients who are newly diagnosed with cancer are treated in these hospitals.

This three-year approval will help Northern Michigan Hospital and Burns Clinic physicians and staff educate and emphasize awareness and prevention of cancer. For more information about the Comprehensive Cancer Services at Northern Michigan Hospital, please call 1-800-248-6777.

AISE accepting host family applications

American International Student Exchange is currently accepting applications from families in this area who are interested in hosting a foreign exchange student for the upcoming school year.
