Boswell plan gets green light from city

The East Jordan City Commission gave its approval to the master plan for Boswell Field improvements at its meeting last Tuesday night.

The total estimated cost for the project is $1.43 million. That number is up slightly from the $1.16 million that was presented at the last commission meeting. The increase accounts for contingency, engineering, legal and administrative costs that were not included in the last estimate.

A few minor changes were made to the plan from the draft proposal presented to the commission two weeks earlier.

Most of the changes were in the phasing priorities. One of the more significant changes was the installation of lighting included with phase one of the plan in order to address security concerns.

Rick Beaupre of Capital Consultants presented the final draft of the plan to the commission.

The project phases as they appear on the final draft of the plan are:

• Phase one calls for demolition of existing structures that won't be used in the redevelopment plan; rough grading and clearing timber for softball/ little league fields; extending the water main on site; installation of lighting; construction of a 250 space gravel parking lot and drop off areas (including seven paved barrier-free spaces); construction of three irrigated soccer fields; and renovation of the existing locker room building for concessions and restroom. Estimated cost is $400,000.

• Phase two calls for construction of four irrigated softball/little league fields with 60-foot bases, 200-foot foul lines, dugouts and grass infields; construction of a bike path from M-32 to provide access to the facility; and the purchase of five, five-row, 50 person portable bleacher units. Estimated cost is $282.000.

• Phase three calls for the construction of an irrigated baseball field with 300-foot foul lines, dugouts, and a skinned infield; construction of a new maintenance/restroom/concession building; further water main extensions and septic facility installation; construction of a 205 X 85 foot concrete skating rink with lighting; and purchase of another five sections of portable bleachers. Estimated cost is $310,000.

• The fourth phase includes construction of a playground with a safety surface; and paving the drop-off and parking areas. Estimated cost is

· The fifth and final phase would include construction of two tennis courts, a 50-space gravel overflow parking lot, an 8-foot wide nature trail with wood chips and edging; and the installation of lighting at the baseball field. Estimated cost is $252,000.

To address funding concerns, the plan states: "While the renovation of Boswell Field is a high priority of the Recreation Plan, such a large expenditure cannot be undertaken at the expense of existing recreational facilities of East Jordan. As such, outside funding will be required. In addition, volunteer labor and private donations will need to be encouraged and organized. The city may also use the existing staff and equipment as available to complete the 'local share' of most grant requirements.'

With this in mind, the commission passed a measure that allows the city to apply for a Michigan Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund Grant to help fund the plan.

Bob Tambellini from the Charlevoix Community Foundation Youth Advisory Committee attended the meeting and voiced the foundation's support of the Boswell plan.

Tambellini said that his committee does a survey of five area high schools every year and that each year a lack of recreation facilities always ranks in the top five of student concerns.

'We feel recreation projects are important and we have a number of funds for that purpose. We hope to support this project as much as our means will allow," Tambellini said

City OK's day camp

The East Jordan City Commission had a full plate of business to conduct at its meeting last Tuesday night. In addition to approving the Boswell Field Master Plan, the commission passed the following items:

• After a presentation from City Administrator David White, the commission approved a cooperative day camp between the city and East Jordan Public Schools.

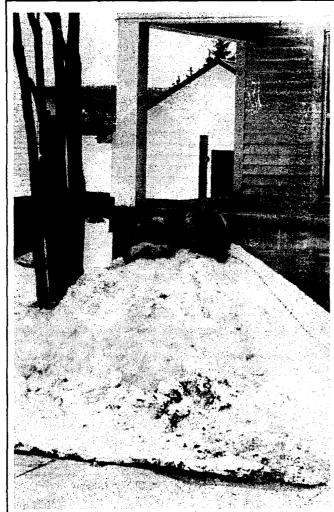

White, who came up with the proposal for the camp with Pat Brennen and School Superintendent Chip Hansen, said that the next step for the day camp is to hire a director and create an informative brochure.

· The commission accepted the resignation of Roberta Nemecek from the planning commission and Carlton Bishop from the Jordan Valley District Library Board. An Appointment Committee meeting was scheduled to address the respective vacancies. Anyone interested in one of the two positions should send a letter of interest to city hall.

· The commission passed a measure that authorizes the application for a Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund Grant for possible development of the East Jordan Tourist Park Marina

• The commission passed a resolution to ban parking on Division Street from Fourth Street north to the city limits. The measure is an effort to classify Division Street as a major street so the city can receive more state funding. However, Division is too narrow unless parking is prohib-

· White reported to the commission that Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has agreed to give the city a grant of $3,600 to help defray the cost of lot planning and infrastructure at the city's industrial park.

Life's been a pretty smooth journey so far

By CINDI PLACE

Kids are such optimists. How else can you explain a child who brings a stack of dirty laundry three feet high to the laundry room, fully expecting to see it magically appear back in their room...clean?

Or a teenager who announces that she needs help with her homework... at 7:30 a.m., as the school bus pulls up to the corner?

Having a cheery outlook is one thing, but expecting life to present a smooth path all the time isn't realistic. Although I have to admit, it seems to work for our children. The laundry does get done, the answer to an elusive science problem comes to them just at the last minute, even the question of how they're going to watch the little brother after school and go to a friend's house seem to get worked out with a little negotiation with another sibling.

It's not that I envy their ability to simplyexpect everything will work out for the best. It's just maddening when it all does! Our daughter was faced with the problem of finding a dress for the big dance with very little time and not a very big budget. We trudged out to the local stores, hoping to at least find something suitable. Of course, the first dress she tried on fit perfectly, looked great and was within her budget! The miracle of this is that our daughter can spend three days looking for just the right pair of jeans.

I think the fact that I'm a "planner" who rarely leaves anything to chance adds to my frustration in dealing with our kids' "it will all work out for the best" attitude. I've been known to shop for Christmas in July and pack for a trip the week before leaving. My husband claims that I planned our entire wedding...three years before I met him! For me, not planning ahead is a recipe for disaster. So how could I have children who live by the seat of their pants? It's the dad, of

I remember asking my husband one time how he could live with not knowing exactly what his next day at work was going to involve. I even bought him one of those big, black day planners, hoping to encourage some sort of "planning." But this is a guy who has piles on his desk, and knows exactly what each pile represents. He's organized in his own way; something I've been slow to learn. I cleaned up the top of his dresser once, Big mistake, because he had all that stuff piled in chronological order, bottom to top. And I sorted it all into a mess. At least that's what he said.

Of course, I also recognize that I play a part in my family's ability to expect things will be done when they need to be done. Guess who does the laundry when it appears in the hallway? Or who quickly solves the problem of a child needing to be in two places at one time? The homework questions I usually leave to the dad, he's the calm one in the family.

So, if I wanted to throw a monkey wrench in my family's "happy days" outlook, I know I could. But I've found that living with a cheerful group of adolescents is definitely worth the effort I make to see that they're seldom disappointed, especially when I consider the alternative

Youth group banners were very impressive

TO THE EDITOR:

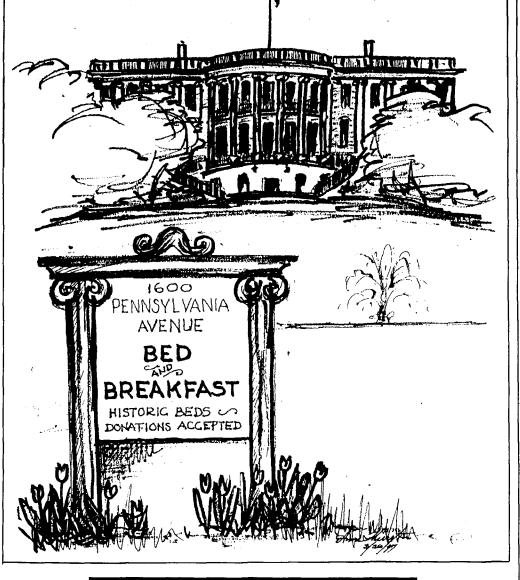

On Sunday, March 9, the United Methodist Church of East Jordan had the privilege of honoring the youth groups of local churches by displaying their three beautiful banners depicting Christian life.

I was impressed by the talents of these young people and the dedication of their leaders, namely; Gayle Gatts, Carolyn Downton, Kim Diller and Lori Kraemer who gave of their time for the glory of God.

May this spirit they now possess give them the incentive to be active members of their chosen church for many years to come.

The Presbyterian and Lutheran Church will also have the honor of displaying these banners in the near future.

'What is it going to cost me?'

On May 12, the voters in the Boyne City School District will be asked to support a bond proposal for the building of a new high school and the renovation of the three existing buildings. As many of you are already aware, this will be at a cost to the District of $18.96 million, which can be translated to the individual taxpayer at a rate of 3.5 mills over a 20-year period. Here is where people start getting confused. Since the state tax reform has been put into place, in order to get to the number that it will cost each individual, you need to look at the following.

First, you will need your latest tax assessment (which you should have received recently). Since the tax reform, your assessments now hold two values: the familiar State Equalized Value or S.E.V.; and the new "Taxable Value." The taxable value is the value with which you will be calculating your tax. Along with that, the state now has a Property Tax Credit for those whose incomes qualify

To help put this into simpler terms, the above table was put together to show a few examples of how this proposal will affect the taxpayer within the Boyne City

As you can see by the table, it is no longer a cut and dried 3.5 mills x $1,000 of home value. Rather it can make a substantial difference with what your individual tax burden already is.

IT'S ONLY LIFE

Internet and kids not always a good match

By ROGER HUCKLE

The Supreme Court is currently reviewing a case involving free speech on the Internet. The question under review is whether certain sexually oriented material available via the Internet should be restricted because of the easy accessibility the media provides our youth.

Past decisions of this genre by the court have restricted this material from network TV due to easy access by children, yet allowed access to this material via telephone since a number has to be dialed to receive it. The court must decide how to treat the Internet -- as a TV medium or a telephone

The ACLU (long champions of protecting free speech regardless of moral values) is arguing on behalf of the free speech rights taking the position that the responsibility lies with the parents for preventing access to this material via parental supervision or via installation of software filters that limit access to this information.

This supervision by parents and the installation of software filters will remedy the accessibility problems with commercial accounts (businesses that charge for the material) but it does not address personal web sites and "chat" rooms that may be loaded with explicit material which is impossible to filter.

Being an Internet novice, having only recently purchased an Internet-ready computer, I logged on to Compuserve for the first time and accessed the Internet requesting a search using the keyword "Girls." I was informed there were over 20,000 sites with this keyword used in some way and the third site on the list revealed a line of explicit words relating to the female anatomy. There was no question this web site served the prurient interests of Internet surfers. I clicked on it to see what would happen and to my surprise, Compuserve wouldn't let me access it. I have no idea why I was denied access, but I was pleased that if my children began playing on the system, they could not access that information readily. I am happy some controls are in place even though I still wouldn't like my children to see the explicit language used on a few of the web site addresses.

Our children are maturing at light speed given the content of what society offers them via the information media and we, as parents, are left holding the bag when it comes to policing that information. The recent introduction of the network TV ratings system is a step (albeit not a perfect one) in the right direction as far as giving parents an idea of the content of the shows we allow our families to view. Maybe a similar system could be installed on the Internet and incorporated into the software filters.

Just as floor length gowns gave way to miniskirts and Ozzie & Harriet gave way to NYPD Blue, Pong has given way to Death Ninjas and virtual sex on-line. So, parents, buyer beware when it comes to allowing your young ones access the Internet. Given the history of our Supreme Court and its decisions, I have a feeling the ACLU is going to win this one.

East Jordan schools spending $1.3 million for computer equipment over the next four years

Meeting the technology challenges of the future

By STEVE ZUCKER

To meet the challenges well into the next century, East Jordan Public Schools will spend $1.3 million on technology by the year 2000.

That dollar amount was part of a technology update that East Jordan School Superintendent Chip Hansen presented to the school board at its meeting last Monday night.

According to the projected technology budget that Hansen presented with the plan, only about 20 percent of the money will come from the district's general fund. About 27 percent will come from funds from the middle school bond with the balance coming from At-Risk funds, and Char-Em Intermediate School District millages. Forty percent of the $1.3 million is included in this year's technology budget and has paid for many upgrades already in place.

Some highlights of the plan are: · A fully networked school system. Once the new middle school is open, all of the computers in the district will be inter-connected. Last summer a project was undertaken to place a fiber optic cable between the elementary school and the high school. After rough grading is complete at the new middle school, a fiber optic cable will be buried between it and the high school as well. The high school will be the central server for the district-wide system.

• The district will have at least 350 computers by the end of the 1998-99 school year. In addition to the 110 computers that were installed this year, the plan calls for 130 more next school year (100 of which will go to the new middle school and 30 to the high school) followed by 50 more be purchased in 1998-99.

That would mean an average of about one computer for every 3.5 students in the district. Hansen said that the national average is about one computer for every nine students. Hansen added that currently each classroom has two computers and students see an average of 20 minutes of computer time per day. The technology plan will bring the num. ber of computers per classroom up

The plan also addresses the issue of what to do with older machines. As more machines are purchased, the older ones will be cycled down the line. Hansen said that the newest, most powerful machines will go to the high school because the applications run at the high school require the more powerful hardware. • The district will upgrade its software. The most notable of the software purchases would include the installation of IBM's School Vista which is a district management program. Also planned is the installation of CD-ROM tower technology. Because all the computers would be networked, the tower technology would allow many computers to access the same CD-ROM at the same time regardless of which district building it is in. Each computer work station will also have internet access. Hansen said School Vista software place an integrated video system in offers programs that allow faculty to each building. Under the system each block undesirable internet sites. That program is updated weekly. • Work is currently underway on developing a tracking and inventory system for the hardware and developing an Acceptable Use Policy.

• The district is also looking at using students to do routine cleaning on the machines. Hansen said that such and effort could save the district money as well as offer good summer jobs and work experience for

· Also included in the plan is a classroom video network that would classroom will have a VCR and a video monitor that is connected to the rest of the school's communication system.

"It's really tough to stay caught up to the technology curve," Hansen said, referring to the speed at which new technology becomes outdated. "But we feel that this plan will allow port, staff members Alice McPherson us to stay as close to that curve as

Boyne City budget for 97-98 differs little from current year

The Boyne City Commission with our citizens' tax dollar." has started reviewing the proposed 1997-98 city budget.

The proposed budget totals $5,101,550, a slight decrease from the current budget. The total millage rate is 19.563, down 0.397 mills from the 1996-97 budget. Of the total millage rate, 15.530 mills is for operations and 4.033 is to fund the infra-

The budget was prepared by acting City Manager Sue Hobbs, City Treasurer Cindy Grice and other members of the city staff. The commission will be reviewing the budget in upcoming weeks during its regular weekly meetings. The new fiscal year begins May 1.

The City Commission and staff have shown a commitment to the citizens of Boyne City to accomplish the needed improvements which will benefit the majority of the population," Hobbs wrote in her budget message to the commission.

"With this budget, we have reaffirmed our decision to not raise taxes nor expend valuable tax dollars unnecessarily. We remain committed to maintaining a healthy fund balance so that any emergency repairs that might be needed can be accomplished · Constructed a garage at Avalanche to house the Zamboni.

· Reconstructed Elm Street, including sidewalks, curb and gutter, taining in order to accomplish more replaced water and sewer main, and

Although city taxpayers will not be responsible for the costs of the paving, tax dollars will be used to move and replace the old water and sewer lines under the street to avoid having to tear up new asphalt for repair to old water and sewer

• Due to the pressing need for more garage area with the addition of a third ambulance and police car as well as the total disrepair of the existing water works building off Division Street, the city will begin construction of a complete department of public works building at its North Boyne site at the end of Robinson Street. This will be the first phase of the building which will eventually accommodate the entire public works department. The existing street garage will then be utilized as a public safety garage for police, fire, and ambulance and will contain a much needed evidence room for the police department.

Editorial England, here we come

By Chris Winkler

It's not everyday that a group of high schoolers get to travel overseas, but this week, myself and 34 others from the BCHS band will leave for the Harrogate International Music Festival in England.

An informative meeting with International Travel Consultants last Thursday answered many of the final questions about the trip, and students are rearing to go.

Perhaps the most imposing part of the trip is the plane ride. For those who have flown before, it will be easy. But I have never been inside of a plane before (well I did tour a B-52 bomber once), so an eight-hour flight is causing some anxieties. Helping students job shadow

By Bo Reinhardt

Boyne City has a new Community Career Specialist. Mrs. Winnie Parker works with elementary students to become aware of careers that are available. She also helps middle school students explore careers in the world along with helping high school students use the skills they learn in the classroom to the work place.

Mrs. Parker graduated from Celedonia High School in 1984. Three years later, she left Davenport College of Business, in Grand Rapids, with an Associate Degree in Retail Management. In 1996, she graduated with honors and a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Child Development with a Business Minor from Central Michigan University.

Does BCHS measure up?

Slackers poll shows who just slides by require more of students, they would

By Shannon Niedling

A recent article in the Traverse City Record Eagle told of the growing number of students willing to just "get by." Students reported that teachers do not expect a lot of them, therefore, they do as little as possible. It was said that there are very few challenges or requirements in the classroom today.

So, how exactly does Boyne City High School fit into this picture? In a recent survey taken, results show that BCHS students present some differences from the rest of the try much harder.

On the upside, Vincent believes

Teachers are not the only problem in this growing epidemic; students are just as hard on themselves. Approximately 42% of kids attending BCHS say that cheating has become a widespread problem. This is not terrible when compared to the 68% of the country's students who said the same thing. Also, almost half of local students feel that their peers are paying too much attention to what they're wearing and they look like. This is another factor for the increase of kids who are slacking off.

The national survey showed some very welcoming news. It seems that as times change, smart students are no longer the most unpopular kids or looked upon as "nerds." 67% say that they and their friends "look up" to their peers who do well academically in school. Surprisingly, only 38% of Boyne City's pupils feel the same way.

In conclusion, the survey shows that 53% of Boyne students feel they are allowed to slide by with an A or B without being very productive. It is necessary for teachers to challenge students and expect more from them. If this is done regularly, pupils will begin to try harder and a much improved effort will be shown in their work.

Starting last year, the state of Michigan required all juniors to take the Michigan Educational Assessment Program, or MEAP. It is also known as the High School Proficiency Test.

This year's juniors completed the four part test in February and results are expected sometime before the end of May. Some seniors had to take parts of the test over to get the state endorsed diploma this spring, so they will have their results before graduating.

dents' tests. They are observed during grading to make sure they remain consistent with Michigan scoring guidelines.

Juniors not passing parts of the test can re-take it next year.

It's prom time again, and this year the event will take place at the Boyne Mountain Civic Center. The date has been changed from May 17 to April 19, due to the regional track meet. Prom will start an 9 p.m. and

The song for this year is "Wonderful Tonight" by Eric Clapton and the colors chosen are maroon and pearl white. Prestige Pictures is coming in to take pictures, and picture prices will be available at the dance. Tickets this year are going to be $20 a person or $30 for a couple. This includes a prom glass and hors d'oeuvres served at the Mountain. Tickets are not the only expenses to worry about, though. There's always the question of what to wear or how to do your hair, so check out the pie chart that reflect the expenses of Prom 1996.

Hopefully Prom 1997 will be a safe and memorable night for many students at BCHS.

NEIGHBORS

By NANCY NORTHUP

BEING IN THE RIGHT PLACE at the right time this past week, I had the opportunity of a "face to face" chat with Debbie Peck, the lady who serves the many seniors of Charlevoix County via the Meals on Wheels program. A longtime East Jordan resident, and with a cheerful voice and smiling eyes, it was obvious that she enjoys her job. On that particular day, she was personally visiting each one of her "customers," something she does every six months, just to see how they are and taking individual comments, complaints or other considerations that might help in providing her best to each of them. The Charlevoix County Senior Citizen Center, with its off the street front entrance, located at 110 Main Street in East Jordan, is where it all be-

It's impressive to hear how Debbie, who plans, her own monthly menus, including a consultation with a dietitian from Northwest Senior Resource, begins cooking each morning at 7:30 a.m. She and another cook, Chris, and the cook's aide, Tina, have nutritious and tasty, well-balanced meals packed to keep hot, and lunch bags of milk, bread, salads or desserts for 170 seniors at designated area centers or in the home deliveries, via the Charlevoix County Transit, by 11 a.m. They also serve the Boyne City Headstart children and also those in Ironton. The East Jordan Center opens its doors to the public at 9 a.m. with many early birds coming in for coffee and cards, getting in on various after lunch Bingo and Monday Choir practice, with Marge Thompson. Choir performances are ongoing at Grandvue and other area care facilities. Also open to the public are the once a month "Sunday Dinner" meals at the center, as each plate of steaming good food is available to seniors for $3 and $4 to those under 60.

GLORIA FORTUNE called in this week, singing praises of appreciation! "I sure couldn't have done it without them and, I'm never moving again!" A pretty exhausted mom more than appreciated all the help from her daughter Susie, her son, Mike Fortune, the Belmers, Jim Landon and girls, Dennis Chew and Kyle Stanley for the big job of moving from North Boyne's Spring Harbor Apartments to Parkview Apartments.

LABERTA'S BUSY BEES of Litzenburger Place has been a part of the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program for many years. They have provided many quilts, lap robes, and other needed hand sewn items to area organizations but, this year, they themselves are in need of donations of cotton flannel materials and patterns, as many ladies are allergic to wool. It would be greatly appreciated if anyone able to help out, would contact LaBerta at her place, apartment #32 or call 582-9550.

BOYNE CITY'S TOMMY STANICH was honored with a 45th birthday celebration at his apartment on this past bright and sunny Saturday afternoon. Many friends and coworkers dropped in with cards and gifts, with all enjoying ice cream and cake. Tommy was especially proud of receiving a turquoise ring!

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

Monday Study Club

The March 17 meeting of the Monday Study Club was held at the Boyne District Library. Traditionally, no meetings are held in January and February. There were 13 members present to take part in an interesting and informative talk by retired librarian, Janet Waldner.

Janet detailed that in 1912 the Boyne City Monday Study Club, which has been in existence since 1906, began the first steps to establish a library for our town by purchasing for $500 the personal library collection of a Petoskey lawyer.

Then in 1916 the club donated $1,500 towards furnishing a proposed library. This was in addition to a $3,000 loan from the school district and $15,000 donated by the Carnegie Corporation. With $18,000 on hand, construction of Boyne City's library began. The completed cost of the building was $17,953.08, and within budget. The present appraisal of the library is $250,000.

In about 1962 the library closed when the new high school was constructed on Boyne Avenue. Its contents were stripped and transferred to the school's library and the building remained closed for approximately the next four years.

When Janet Waldner was hired in 1968 at the reopened library, her wages were 75 cents per hour. The circulation desk, the shelves and all of the windows except those at the east and west ends, date back to 1916. The east and west windows were replaced for those which opened, in order to have air circulation during the hot summer months. Plans are for the interior of the building to continue to retain its original and cherished appearance.

The next portion of the program concerned the present and was offered by the newly hired librarian, Nannette Miller, who began here on Nov. 1, 1996. She told of possible and proposed changes and improvements, expansion hopes and goals, as well as the introduction of new computer technology that many other libraries utilize.

In keeping with the club's program theme for 1996-97 of touring historic places in our area, the next meeting will be held on April 21, 1:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. Winifred Shields will relate the history of the church and Flo Davis will relate the history of the United Methodist Church.

Rick Mach's cartoon and drawing skills entertained children

Cartoonist and illustrator Rick Mach entertained more than 70 people with his unique blend of drawing and humor at the Boyne District Library Saturday.

Starting with a letter of the alphabet, he used his cartooning skills, his "magic pen", and a quick wit to create a picture of something that started with that letter. A favorite was the simple letter DEW that grew into a large, comical, fire-breathing Dragon.

One enthusiastic young participant, Andrew Katz, said he thought the program was "cool". Andrew's mom, Becky Katz, said Andrew loves to draw, "so he was very impressed with Mr. Mach's artistic skills.'

Fans of the Northmen

It's not very often a team from northwestern Michigan makes a trip to the Breslin Center in East Lansing for a semifinal game in the state high school basketball tournament, so when one does, everyone is excited, including Boyne City High School students. They met the Petoskey team bus when it stopped at the high school Friday morning and held a brief pap rally. Petoskey's bid for the state championship ended Friday night when it was defeated by Detroit Country Day.

Boyne Falls students also got into the spirit. They lined US 131 and met the bus as it passed by.

It was quite a season for Boyne City's Jason Rozycki

By CHRIS WINKLER

Basketball fans around Boyne City recognize the bright red hair of junior basketball star Jason Rozycki, and sports writers throughout the state of Michigan have come to do

Rozycki was named to the AP All-State first team last week, capping off a season in which the guard/ forward averaged 22 points a game, scored his 1,000th point, and provided the best play of the year when he threw down a dunk in a win over

"I was pretty surprised. I didn't think that I'd be voted All-State first team," Rozycki said. "Maybe second team at the most."

"It's a great honor," Rambler coach Kevin Fitzpatrick said. "It's not something that is easy to get as a junior. It's that much more special to get it as a junior.

"In the three years that I have known him, he has continued to improve through hard work, especially in the off-season. I'm sure he will continue to improve for next year." But Rozycki's main attribute has always been his attitude, and Fitzpatrick is quick to point that out. "His first and foremost goal before any scoring record is the team win-

For those who haven't been keeping track of Rozycki point by point, he has amassed 1,079 points, with 120 his freshman year, 439 as a sophomore, and 520 this season.

The current school record-holder is Eric Smith, with 1,533, and Rozycki is on pace to top that. Brian Vroman, a 1982 Boyne alumnus, finished with 1,818 in his varsity career, but only half of that was for the Ram-

As Rozycki plans for his posthigh school ventures, he will not leave the game he loves. "I'll try to get to as high of a college as I can to play basketball," he said.

He has received an offer for a full ride to Illinois State, a Division I school, as well as letters from Grand Valley State University and Lake Superior State University.

Endowment fund for hospital established through Foundation

A new endowment fund to help began as a 19-bed community hossupport ongoing needs of the Charlevoix Area Hospital has been established with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

Called the Charlevoix Area Hospital Fund, the special trust will be used to purchase equipment, provide community health programs, address emerging medical needs, and enhance the health and well-being of those who live in the hospital service

According to Mary Jason, who chairs the hospital's board of trustees, this is the first time the hospital has created an endowment for future needs. "With the recent expansion and renovation of the hospital, we now have a wonderful health facility here in Charlevoix," Jason said. "This endowment will give us the means to respond to the health needs of our community for years to come, even as our area changes and grows."

The endowment was started with a gift from the estate of Joanne Cummings, a frequent summer visitor to the area, who died in 1996. Mrs. Cummings became a benefactor through her friendship with local resident and hospital supporter Edith Gilbert, whose late husband Julius was a hospital trustee.

Grief recovery program planned

A series of five weekly sessions for those coping with a loss will be held Thursdays from 7-8:30 p.m., beginning April 17 through May 15 at St. Joseph Catholic Church, 207 Nichols St. in East Jordan.

The Grief Recovery program is sponsored by Charlevoix County Hospice, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Community Mental Health and Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency.

Buzz Walls, The Rev. Charlevoix County Hospice spiritual advisor, will conduct the Grief Recovery sessions. Anyone is invited who has suffered a loss, or who is helping a loved one deal with a loss, and who would benefit from the support of others. Discussions will provide assistance in dealing with grief. Class size is limited to 10. Those interested must pre-register and registration will be closed with no one admitted to the sessions after the first

Like other funds held and professionally managed by the Charlevoix County Community cility treated over 20,000 patients Foundation, the hospital fund will be permanent, said Foundation executive director Bob Tambellini. Since only earned income will be used to support projects, the endowment can continue to grow and serve the institution well into the future. Trustees of the Charlevoix Area Hospital will make recommendations for using the endowment's income.

Now that it's established, other individuals, families, businesses, and organizations who share a concern for the area's health resources are invited to contribute to the fund either directly, or through planned gifts and wills, Tambellini said. Donations are tax-deductible and, as they are made through the Community Foundation, they also qualify for a special Michigan Income Tax Credit.

For more information about the hospital fund or other projects of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, call the foundation office at 536-2440, or write P.O. Box 718, East Jordan, 49727.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BOYNE CITY ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

Pursuant to rules and regulations as set by the Boyne City Zoning Ordinance concerning interpretation of the provisions of the Boyne City Zoning Ordinance and the granting of variances, the Boyne City Zoning Board of Appeals has scheduled a Public Hearing for Thursday, April 10, 1997 at 5:05 p.m. in Commission Chambers, 319 N. Lake Street, to consider the following requests:

1. An interpretation on the definitions of roof styles in the Boyne City Zoning Ordinance.

2. An interpretation on the type of roof proposed at the Harborside addition to Water Street Inn. Similar past projects have been completed with the understanding the roofs were gable style roofs. The Planning Commission in reviewing a revised site plan has questioned whether the roof style should be considered as mansard. The Planning Commission is asking the Zoning Board of Appeals for an interpretation on roof style. The interpretation will determine how the final height of the building is determined.

3. A request from Kerry Smith to consider the granting of variances on the required rear yard setbacks on lots 40 and 41 of William H. White and Co's Addition to the Village of Boyne (611 and 613 Adams Street).

More detail and a location map of the properties in question are available for review at the City Planning Department. Property owners within 300 feet of the property in question will be notified by U.S. mail of this hearing. All interested persons are encouraged to attend the Public Hearing and participate in the discussion concerning these interpretations and the variance request. Those unable to attend may call (616) 582-0337 to express their opinions.
