MPSC CONDEMNATION SOUGHT

Drilling request takes new aim ment of Natural Resources and Department of Environmental Quality rejected Walter Zaremba's proposal to drill the first natural gas well in the protected Jordan River Valley, the Elmira businessman has taken his case to the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Vol. 5 No. 42

Wednesday, July 16, 1997

On Tuesday, July 15, Zaremba was expected to ask the MPSC to override the two other state agencies and condemn two miles of publicly owned forest land for a private pipeline. The hearing was to be held in Lansing.

Zaremba asserts that the proposed pipeline should be considered a "public utility," which he claims would give him authority to take control of public land through the power of eminent domain.

The DNR, meanwhile, will urge the MPSC to deny the application, arguing that Zaremba's pipeline is a private business enterprise, not a utility. The DNR is joined in its opposition by the Michigan Land Use InWatershed and local government. The Antrim County Board of Commissioners on July 10 unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the pipeline and also called on the MPSC to deny the pipeline application.

"It's an obvious attempt to use public land for private purposes," said John Hummer, Program Director of Friends of the Jordan River Watershed. "A private party cannot force the State of Michigan to allow development on public land. We are confident that as the facts are revealed in this case the Commissioners of the Public Service Commission will realize what is at stake and deny this application.

The opposing parties argue that the MPSC should deny Zaremba's pipeline for the following reasons:

 The certificate that would confer "public utility" status on Zaremba's project is used solely for major gas transmission lines. The

New librarian has unique background

The Jordan Valley District Library has a new staff assistant librar-

Last Monday Robin Moyer of Petoskey joined the library's team. She has been the assistant librarian/ inter-library loan technician at the Petoskey Public Library for the past seven years. She has a bachelor's degree in Chinese language and literature with a minor in Asian Studies. She also has studied the Chinese language at Nankai University in Tianjin, China.

Originally from Ann Arbor, Moyer moved to northern Michigan 17 years ago.

"I was a frequent library patron and really took an interest in library science." Mover said. "I'm really looking forward to working at this library. It's a great facility."

The library's other two employees are library director Dawn Pringle and assistant librarian Becky

Also at the library is a display of nature photographs taken by 1989 East Jordan High School graduate Jerry Ciszewski.

Ciszewski received his bachelor's degree in accounting from Albion College. While pursuing his degree, one of his accounting professors got him interested in photography. He now lives in Houston where he works as a certified public accountant with a large accounting firm, but he has continued his interest and enjoyment of photography.

Ciszewski's favorite subjects are nature and landscapes. Most of the photos on display at the library were taken over the past two years in northern Michigan Ciszewski is the son of Gary and Glenda Ciszewski of East Jordan. His photos will be on display at the library now through August.

Robin Moyer is ready to help all who visit the library.

Fire scare in Boyne

A kitchen fire in a Litzenburger others were treated at the scene. Place apartment forced the facility's 58 residents to seek refuge in the parking lot Monday night.

Boyne City Fire Department responded to a structure fire call at the Boyne City Housing Commission facility at 9:35 p.m. When they arrived at the scene, firefighters found smoke pouring out of the west end of the one-story portion of the build-

Firefighters quickly doused the flames that had erupted in kitchenette area of apartment 2, the westernmost apartment in the one story wing.

The apartment is the home of Loretta Malloy. She suffered second degree burns to her hands and was transported to Northern Michigan Hospital for treatment.

The excitement and humid weather took its toll on several other residents, three of which had to be taken by ambulance to NMH and Charlevoix Area Hospital, Several Boyne City Fire Chief Henry Erber said, "When we arrived 98 percent of the residents had already been evacuated from the building, which was a big help.

Firefighters still went door to door in the building to make sure everyone was out safely.

Boyne City Police officer John McLeod was one of the first on the scene. McLeod first attempted to knock down the fire with a fire extinguisher and then assisted with the evacuation of residents.

The fire was contained to the one apartment with damage limited to the kitchen area of that apartment.

Also assisting at the scene were East Jordan Ambulance, Charlevoix Ambulance, and Boyne Valley First Responders and Life Link of Petoskey.

The fire department was on the scene for about two hours.

The cause of the fire remains under investigation and no damage estimate was yet available.

Chamber music fills the Jordan Valley

he hills of the Jordan River Valley have a new musical sound since the Gailliard String Quartet was formed in Gailliard, which means carefree and joyful in French, accurately describes the four-woman quartet. The quartet was formed during a time when each woman was seeking a way of expressing her musical gift; a musical gift which was fast becoming an afterthought in her daily life. The three musicians had come to realize that "One's musical talent cannot be ignored and expected to disappear."

When the love of music brought Marlys Manthei, cellist, and Krista Knight and Prudence Kurtz, violinists, together, they discovered a common dream: forming a string quartet. They needed a fourth member — a violist.

That need was met when Margaret Beck moved to East Jordan from MacLean, Va. Soon after, Margaret secured a position as a violist with the Traverse Symphony Orchestra and became acquainted with Prudence, also a member of the orchestra

From that meeting, it took only a few weeks for the Gailliard String Quartet to become a reality and a dream come true. The quartet plays at concerts, weddings, receptions, recitals, and provides background music for various events. During weekly rehearsals, the women compose arrangements, improve skills on practical repertoire, and exchange ideas on how to play concerto Chamber music is probably the most challenging music to play.

It does not have a conductor. Therefore, the players must feel their way through the music. Chamber music also is more difficult than performing as a soloist because a musician must be strong with her own part yet make what she plays compatible with the other parts. And though each woman of the quartet is a soloist, as a quartet they must create a unified interpretation of a musical work.

Each musician brings to the quartet impressive experience and a belief that music is essential for the nourishment of mankind's soul.

"I want our music - my music - to express emotion, especially a feeling of joy," said Krista Knight. "Our society is becoming so technological and factually oriented that human interaction is being lost. I hope our music will unite people in a meaningful way.

Krista lives in East Jordan. She has a degree in music education from Lawrence University Conservatory of Music in Appleton, Wis. She is a Suzuki violin instructor, free-lances with the Traverse Symphony Orchestra, teaches music at St. Mary's School in Charlevoix, and performs with the Dr. Goodhart's Home Remedy Marlys Manthei lives in Petoskey. She is a graduate in music education from Arizona State University where she was a member of the symphony and chamber orchestras. Marlys has been a private teacher of instrumental and choral music.

"Music," she says, "is a part of God's creation, as are all the arts. I'm just very privileged to be able to participate in God's creation of music and to be a part of what He meant music to be an individual and social enrichment of the body and soul.

Prudence Kurtz of East Jordan is a former member of the Grand Rapids Symphony Orchestra and co-principal of the second violin section of the West Shore Symphony Orchestra. She is also a member of the Traverse Symphony Orchestra.

'Quite often," Prudence says, "people tell me that they aren't musically talented, but they wish they were. I've learned, though, that many people possess a hidden, untapped musical ability. This is

"It is vitally important for adults to reach out and help children discover this talent. In today's confusing and dangerous world, children need a haven where they're able to create beauty and then are able to share it with others. Local schools would be an ideal place for this to happen.'

Prudence encourages educators to develop a music program which not only includes a marching band but a symphony orchestra, Margaret Beck agrees. "Children are a priority for the Gailliard String Quartet. We want to help them discover their own unique talent, their own special gift to make music. That is why two of our upcoming fall concerts to be held at the East Jordan Elementary School are especially for children.

"We hope to open a child's senses to the world of beauty found in music and to spark a curiosity for chamber music and the string

Margaret Beck earned a Bachelor of Music and Music Education degree from American University in Washington, D.C. where she also retired after 20 years as a tenured member of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts' Opera House Orchestra. While living in Washington, she also did extensive work as a freelance musician and was a performing member of the Friday Morning Music Club. At present, she also is performing with the Traverse Symphony Orchestra.

A roundabout way to a reasonable solution

Reasonable people usually find reasonable solutions.

That was the case Monday night when the Boyne City School Board and the Boyne Gymnastics Club reached a compromise on the use of the elementary school gym.

For the past 15 years the club has used the gymin the afternoons and evenings to teach gymnastics to hundreds of children. For the past few weeks, though, the club was facing the prospect of being home-

The school district had informed the club in late June that it would have to find a new place for its classes beginning July 1. Since the club's summer session was already underway, the school district moved the date back to August.

While that helped somewhat, the club still faced the prospect of having to find a place to call home before school started.

The chance of that happening was remote at best.

So Monday the gymnastics club took its case to the school board. What was agreed upon is a good compromise. The gymnastics club will be able to use the gym for one more year but for only three nights rather than four. The year will allow the club to gear up its fundraising efforts and hopefully earn enough money to buy or build its own facility.

What's hard to understand about the whole situation, though, is why it was handled the way it was. For 15 years the club has used the gym and for the most part the relationship has been good. What was the school administration thinking when it decided to give the club such short notice that it was no longer welcome to use the gym?

In a way, it's all too typical of how things work in the district. Create a crisis, get emotions running high, and then hang on for a wild ride, seems to be the way certain issues are handled.

Why couldn't the district inform the club that there are other needs for the gym in the long range plans for the district and give it time to make other plans?

It seems so simple.

MAYBE WEDNESDAY is the day the adventure of a lifetime will begin for Homer Williams.

Homer, a 1996 graduate of Boyne City High School, is a member of the Viking Voyage 1000 crew that is scheduled to set sail tonight on a reenactment of Leif Ericsson's historic adventure 600 years ago.

Homer arrived in Greenland in early July, but the trip has been postponed due to problems getting the ship to Greenland. According to information on the trip's website, the boat arrived over the weekend and should be ready to set sail Wednes-

Once they cast off, the crew will follow the route of Ericsson, the Viking sailor who sailed 1,500 miles from Greenland to Newfoundland and established the first contact between Europeans and native Americans.

Jerry Douglas has plans to market the design on the Internet, so take advantage of this opportunity to be among the first in the world to proclaim your belief in the power of books, reading, and libraries by wearing an "Our Universe is an Open Book" T-shirt. The shirts are a high quality cotton blend, are available in a variety of colors and sizes, and sell for just $10 each. The Friends of the Boyne District Library have generously donated the T-shirts, and the proceeds will be used for future children's programs.

FRIENDS OF THE Library groups are a valuable asset to libraries and communities Their mission is to support the library and help it grow. Our Friends group was instrumental in attaining District Library status and financial support from the community. They have recently donated three adorable "Minky Bears" to give as prizes for the Summer Reading Program, as well as the T-shirts. They want to continue as an active, vital organization and are seeking new members. Jan Korthase has written an informative newsletter outlining the group's purpose and goals. If you haven't received a newsletter in the mail be sure to pick one up at the Library, the Chamber of Commerce, or Boyne Country Books, and become a Friend of the Library.

THE REGULAR MEETING of the Boyne District Library Board scheduled for Aug. 14 has been canceled. A special meeting will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 12, at 6:30 p.m. in the library meeting room. The public is cordially invited to attend.

A MOM'S LIFE

Facing everyday life with some uncertainties

By CINDI PLACE

Don't all the ironies in life keep everything so very interesting? Or how about all those unanswered questions that force us to ponder everyday life with a little uncertainty?

For example, who decided that grocery shopping needed to be done at 5:30 Friday nights, when everyone else in the world is shopping at the same store, at the same time? Or how about when you, who never would say an unkind word about an in-law, just happen to mention that one little annoying habit that drives you up a wall, completely unaware that the aforementioned relative has made an unplanned visit and is standing behind you, listening intently?

Who can answer the question put to me recently about why, as women grow older we seem to add a little padding to our derriere, while men appear to lose that part of their anatomy completely? Of course, when this phenomenon was pointed out to me recently by a concerned wife, simply turning the gentleman in question around answered the question of where his behind

Doing a sea lamprey head count

BY STEVE ZUCKER

If you saw two men in a boat trolling along the shores of Lake Charlevoix last week dipping small nets into the water you might have thought them to be misguided fish-

They actually were fishery biologist Sid Morkert and biological technician Jeff Wickett of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Ludington Biological Station and they were doing a survey of the sea lamprey populations.

The two were on a 10-day trip to check the mouths of all of the rivers feeding into Lake Charlevoix including Horton Creek, Porter Creek, the Jordan River, and the Boyne River. The rivers and streams themselves will all be treated in August and September.

Since the 1930's the exotic sea lamprey has been threatening game fish populations in the Great Lakes. Lampreys are aquatic vertebrates resembling eels native to the Atlantic Ocean. But unlike eels, lampreys attach themselves to fish using their sucking disk-like mouth and sharp teeth and feed on the fish's body fluids. The parasitic lamprey almost always ends up killing its host.

Lampreys were a major cause of the collapse of the lake trout, whitefish, and chub population in the 1940s and 1950s. A single sea lamprey, growing to an average length of 18 inches, can destroy up to 40 pounds of fish in its adult lifetime.

Since lamprey control programs were begun in the 1950's, the lamprey population on the Great Lakes has been reduced to less than 1/10th of its size and fish populations have correspondingly revived.

Among the methods used to control lampreys are electrical weirs, physical barriers, trapping and lampricide treatments.

This spring a group of all-female lampreys were planted in the Jordan River as part of a research project to evaluate the effectiveness of the recently renovated Jordan River electrical lamprey weir. The weir, built in 1988, was designed to stop sea lampreys from migrating to their upstream spawning grounds in the Jor-

However, beginning in about 1992, the weir did not completely prevent lamprey passage and some had spawned upstream of the weir. The study was designed to track the movement of tagged lampreys in order to verify that lampreys downstream of the weir are blocked from upstream migration. If the weir is found to be effective in blocking lamprey migration, lampricide treatments upstream of the weir on the Jordan River should no longer be necessary.

Lampreys spawn in the hospitable Great Lakes tributaries and then die. The eggs hatch and live as larvae for several years in the silty areas of a river. The larvae are sightless and live in the river bottom feeding on plankton and algae. It takes an average of about four years for sea lamprey larvae to mature into adults when they will migrate to open waters of the Great Lakes to prey on

Unlike the old alternating-current electrical weirs used in the 50s and 60s, the Jordan River weir has a "gradient" pulse direct current electrical design, which allows fish traveling upstream to sense the electrical field gradually and to turn back when it gets too uncomfortable. Electrical weirs like the one on the Jordan River are designed to block the passage of lampreys without risk to other fish or animals. These weirs are built into the stream bed and do not block the flow of the stream. Electrical barriers are used only during the sea lamprey spawning runs, generally from mid-April to late June.

This pan full of lamprey larvae was just a sampling of those collected at the mouth of the Boyne River last week.

In order to assess the effectiveness of the repairs to the weir, staff from the Lake Huron Biological Station near Rogers City planted lamprevs both above and below the weir. The lampreys planted above the weir will verify that the traps are effective. The lampreys used in this study are past the predacious stage in life. They will not migrate to the open waters of the great lakes to prey on fish and they will die shortly after release.

Ellie Koon of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said, "The weir appears to be working very well. Of the 1,800 lampreys we planted down stream of the weir only one was found in the traps upstream.

Sid Morkert and Jeff Wicket of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service were trolling the shoreline of Lake Charlevoix last week checking for sea lampreys.

Staying put, for now

Downtown Development Authority will gather more information before moving town clock

After meeting with members of the city commission, the Boyne City Downtown Development Authority voted Monday to postpone plans to move the old city clock to the new Tower Center.

The decision came after concerns were raised about the Verdin Company, the Cincinnati, Ohio, firm the DDA had planned to use for the clock's renovation.

"The renovation (of the clock) can be done, but not by Verdin," said John Talboys, a local clock collec-

The DDA plan called for the clock mechanism to be restored and placed in the base of a new clock tower at the Tower Center, with a new, electrically operated clock face

The clock is currently located outside the FMB Northwestern Bank located at 101 River St. FMB currently owns the clock and has offered to give it to the city. Presently, the clock's pendulum hangs in a 10 foot deep pit that often fills with water. Cold weather causes the clock to keep inaccurate time or even stop.

The turn of the century E. Howard clock is mechanically sound and in excellent working condition, according to Talboys. But he worries that if an electric motor is added it will "destroy the original mecha-

There is also a question of the clock's value. Estimates have ranged anywhere from $7,000 upwards to $30,000 or more. With the help of project before tackling improve-Talboys, FMB will make a video of the clock and send it to a company in Maine that specializes in clock appraisals and restorations

Until information from the company is received, no further action will be taken on moving the clock. Construction of the tower at the Tower Center will proceed, but whether it houses the old town clock or a new clock will not be known for a while. Owners of the building had planned to put the mechanism in a glass encased enclosure at the corner of the building.

Members of the DDA said Verdin was the only company it found that did clock renovations and did not know there might be other options. Talboys said he was not aware of the company in Maine until just a few days ago.

Also at Monday's meeting, the DDA voted to complete all facets of the Ray Street renovation before proceeding with improvements to Veteran's Park. The Ray Street project includes a new sidewalk along Ray Street between Park and Lake streets, new curb and gutter, renovation to the library parking lot, installing a sidewalk in the alley behind Water Street between Park and Pine street, widening and repaving the alley, burying utility lines in the alley, and repaving all parking areas behind Water Street.

The DDA board felt it was important to complete all phases of the ments, other than the new parking lot next to city hall, to Veteran's Park. Paving of the parking area was completed last week and landscaping and lighting will be done in the near fu-

The DDA is paying for the improvements through a $565,000 bond, which was approved earlier this year by the city commission. The bond will pay for projects over the next two years.

The DDA is currently in the third year of its 15-year plan. Revenues in 1996 were $33,000 and estimated revenues for 1997 are expected to be around $42,000. In developing its long-range plan, the DDA estimated it would receive approximately $1.6 million over 15 years which the majority of the revenue received in the last five years of the plan.

The DDA receives funding from Tax Increment Financing (TIF). Unlike some other DDAs in Northern Michigan, Boyne City's DDA has no special assessments.

TIF occurs when the tax base --in this case the DDA district - is frozen (that was done in 1995) and the revenues generated by the reassessment or new development in the district are given to the DDA. The "increment" is earmarked or "captured" for the DDA rather than going to the city's general budget or to other tax-

No buyer found yet for power plant coal quietly on the shore of Lake

Next to it lies a huge mound of coal. By the time snow falls this winter, Wolverine Power Supply, owners of the plant, hope it's gone.

Craig Borr, assistant general manager for Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, said the company is working with potential buyers, but no sale has taken place.

Borr estimates there is 80,000 tons of coal at the plant, which is close to a year's supply. The plant, when all three generators were operating, would burn between 100,000 and 130,000 tons per year.

The value of the coal is estimated at around $3 million, he said.

Whether the coal is sold or not sold will determine what's done to the facility. "If for some reason we couldn't find a buyer for the coal,

The Advance Power Plant sits possibly we could operate the plant and burn it. But our number one priority is to find a buyer for the fuel,"

> Coal was delivered to the Advance Power Plant through last fall, but at that time Wolverine Power planned to operate it through the winter. That changed in January when the company entered into a new power supply arrangement which made operating the Advance Plant cost prohibitive, Borr said.

In addition to selling the coal, maintaining the plant for possible future use is another high priority. "We want to keep it in a state under which we could reopen it in the future," Borr said.

One year ago, the Advance Power Plant, which had been generating power for nearly 40 years, had 27 employees. There are now five working at the plant.

High school track has the blues

The bright blue surface consists of five layers of granulated rubber pieces.

Last week the track at the Boyne City Community Sports Complex got a serious case of the blues but the repercussions should soften the blow for area walkers and runners.

A crew of four men from Atlas Track and Tennis of Boone, Iowa, completed application of the track's final rubberized surface on Saturday. The bright blue surface consists of five layers of granulized rubber pieces held together with an acrylic polymer "glue" in alternating layers. The surface adds a total cushion of 3/8 of an inch on top of the track's asphalt base. Before the new surface was applied, the track was blown clean of any dirt, then an adhesive base coat was sprayed down. Rubber granules about the size of BBs were then spread over the surface using a landscape type broadcaster. The blue latex acrylic polymer "glue" was then sprayed on top of the layer of rubber granules. The "glue" can take anywhere from 6-10 hours to dry depending on weather conditions. Once the final layer of rubber is down, three applications of glue are made to give the track added durability.

Anyone stepping on the track will notice the difference after just a few steps. But it will be at least a week before the track is ready for any traffic since the surface requires at least 10 days to cure once the final coat of polymer is down.

The track will be striped and lettered later next week.

As the final coat was sprayed on, the track became one of the most talked about topics in Boyne City.

COLLEGE NEWS

ANDREW HARDY of Boyne City recently graduated from Grand Valley State University with a degree in nursing.

Northern Michigan University student, JEFFREY KOMONDY of Boyne City, has been accepted into the Student Leader Fellowship Program. He will begin the two-year program in the fall of 1997.

The program, which emphasizes the development of leadership and a commitment to community service, includes a fall retreat, a leadership theory and practice course and several workshops.

Jeffrey, one of 59 students selected for the program, is majoring in elementary education. He is the son of Gary and Marcia Komondy.

Guest of honor

Petoskey Aglow will hear about the career of Boyne City artist Denielle Spohn Moes

Boyne City artist Deneille Spohn Moes will be the guest of honor at an afternoon tea sponsored by Petoskey Aglow.

During the tea Moes will discuss how she discovered her talent and inspiration and will encourage women to seek out and use their talents as well. Several of Moes' works will be on display

Moes was raised in Boyne Falls and has had no formal training in painting. She bought her first set of oil paints at age 16 for $1 at a garage sale and created her first portraits with toothpicks and her fingertips because she couldn't afford brushes.

Today she is well known for her attention to detail in her work and her original paintings are in great demand. To date she has had 18 published, signed and numbered editions.

Each original painting takes between 250-1,200 hours to complete and each one has a story behind it.

She has recently signed a contract with Park West Gallery and Albert Scalione to be her publishers.

Her work has also appeared on Christmas cards and she will soon release her first Advent calendar.

Moes and her husband, Nick, have five children.

The tea will be held from 1-3 p.m. on July 24 at the Terrace Inn in Bay View. Tickets for the event are $4 and can be reserved by calling Virginia at 347-6140 or Dolly at 549-

Many bank mergers are actually one set of beliefs swallowing another. Often, everyone has to then adjust to the dominant partner, including bank customers.

Not so with the merger between City Bank & Trust Co, City Bank, CB North and their new partner Citizens Bank (A Michigan Bank established in 1871). You see, we all have the same history and a common belief in serving the communities where we do business. It's a strong tradition that will remain unchanged as the driving force behind the combined efforts of all of our people. Yes, there will be some changes. Both partners will become stronger and more secure. As part of Citizens Banking Corporation your bank will become part of the fourth largest bank-holding company in Michigan. Which means customers like you will have over 120 branches to serve you (not to mention over 120 ATMs).

A CHANGE OF SIGNS THAT'S NOT A SIGN OF CHANGE IN PHILOSOPHY.

Oh, and yes, the signs will change to Citizens Bank. But it isn't a sign of a change in those basic beliefs which we've all become known for. Just a strong indication of renewed dedication to the local communities we serve.

Because of numerous complaints boating laws will be strictly enforced

Due to the increase in the number of complaints, violations, and accidents from the operation of personal watercraft (PWC), the Charlevoix County Sheriff Marine Patrol will begin immediately enforcing marine laws pertaining to their use.

Sheriff George Lasater has established a zero tolerance policy for marine officers dealing with Charlevoix watercraft. No warnings will be issued, only citations. Some of the key laws that the marine division will be paying particularly close attention to are as follows:

 Any operator or occupant on board a PWC must at all times be wearing a Coast Guard approved personal flotation device that fits and is in good serviceable condition. A person shall not operate a PWC during the time from sunset to sunrise.

• Whenever a PWC is within 100 feet

an anchored boat, raft, dock, pier, buoyed swim area, or swimmer in the water, the PWC must be operated at an IDLE-SLOW NO-WAKE speed.

· A PWC shall not cross within 150 feet behind another vessel, other than a personal water craft, that is traveling at a speed greater than slow-no wake.

• A PWC shall not be operated by a person under the age of 12 years old.

• A person 12 through 15 years of age may operate a PWC on the waters of the state only when accompanied by a person 16 years of age or older or when IN POSSES-SION (physically on board the PWC) of a boating safety certificate.

· A PWC shall at all times be operated in a reasonable and prudent manner.

Maneuvers that unreasonably or unnecessarily endanger life, limb, or property constitute · Weaving through congested vessel traffic or swerving at the last possible moment to avoid a collision also constitute reckless operation of a PWC.

During the July 4 weekend, there were nine different boating accidents reported in Charlevoix County. Two of the accidents involved personal watercraft. In the first PWC accident, two minors were making sharp turns when they were thrown from the vessel. The passenger struck her head when she was thrown, requiring 10 stitches.

The second PWC accident involved an inexperienced adult male operating his craft close to shore. The operator lost control of his PWC, driving it up over the stern of a docked boat. The PWC finally came to rest inside the boat, right where the owners of the boat had just been sitting.

THEY WIN DISTRICT AND DRAW A BYE IN SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT

Boyne's 13 year olds have a ticket for state

In this year of championships, the Boyne City Junior Boys Little League team has added another.

And who knows where their ride might end.

The 13-year-old boys won the District 8 championship Monday evening in West Branch, defeating Oscoda 18-3. They earned a berth in the championship game by winning the site championship, hosted in Boyne City, last Sunday. They defeated Traverse City 13-12 in an exciting eight-inning game.

With their district championship in hand, Boyne City is now headed to the state finals. Normally teams play in the sectional tournament, but because Boyne drew a bye, they automatically qualify as one of the eight teams for the state tournament in Richmond, which opens July 25 and concludes the following weekend.

Members of the team are Ryan Amesbury, Cole Andrews, Michael Bingham, Dustin Baxter, Cory

Boyne City was a happy bunch after defeating Oscoda Monday in West Branch.

Ciesielski, Byron Kroondyk, Tim Follette Jr., A.J. Krey, Dusty Moore, Kevin Burns, Brian Metzger, Aaron Sulak, David Vasquez, and Tim Wellert. Coaches are Dennis Amesbury and Paul Andrews.

Boyne City's road to state started July 10 with a 6-2 win over Traverse City. Ciesielski pitched a complete game, allowing three hits and four walks while striking out four. Offensively Boyne had six hits. Bingham doubled and Krey, Andrews, Amesbury, Wellert and Ciesielski each singled.

On Saturday, Boyne City defeated Gaylord 15-11. Vasquez started on the mound, going 3 1/3 innings. He gave up nine runs on six relief and picked up the win. He alhits and six walks. Cole Andrews got the win in relief going 3 2/3 innings while giving up two runs on four hits and three walks. He struck out four.

Kroondyk led the hitting attack with a double and two singles. Bingham and Tim Follette each had a double and single, Krey had two singles, while Amesbury, Ciesielski, Metzger and Vasquez each singled.

Sunday Boyne played Traverse City in the site championship game and came away with the 13-12 win. Had Traverse won the game the two teams would have played again since Boyne had not lost in the double elimination tournament.

Kroondyk started on the mound for Boyne and went three innings. He gave up 10 runs on seven hits and eight walks. Amesbury came on in lowed two runs in four innings. Ciesielski earned the save, retiring Traverse City in order in the bottom of the eighth. Kroondyk led all hitters with four hits — a triple, double and two singles. Bingham doubled and Andrews, Ciesielski, Follette, Krey, Vasquez, and Wellert each singled. Ciesielski was on the mound again Monday and he pitched a complete game in Boyne City's 18-3 win. He allowed three hits and five walks in five innings.
