BUILDING GETS FIRE MARSHAL'S INSPECTION ON WEDNESDAY

Middle school should be ready for opening day

By STEVE ZUCKER

East Jordan Middle School will have a new home to open the 1997-98 school year. School Superintendent Chip Hansen made the announcement at a special school board meeting held Monday night.

But the announcement didn't come without an "if." The building still must pass a state fire marshal's inspection before it can welcome students when the first bell rings next Wednesday. That inspection is scheduled to take place at about noon on Wednesday, Aug. 27.

"We don't foresee there being any problem. The inspector has been to the site several times and was please with what she saw," Hansen said.

According to Hansen, the items yet to be tested are the building's sprinkler and alarm systems.

The kitchen has also yet to undergo a health department inspection. That inspection is scheduled to take place on Thursday or Friday of this week when the equipment is expected to be installed.

Hansen said that even if the kitchen is not ready, the school could open and serve cold lunches for a few days.

Middle school band students will have to wait until at least mid-September until they will be able to use their new band room as the movable dividing wall that will separate the gym from the band room is back ordered. In the meantime band students will be bussed to the high school for class.

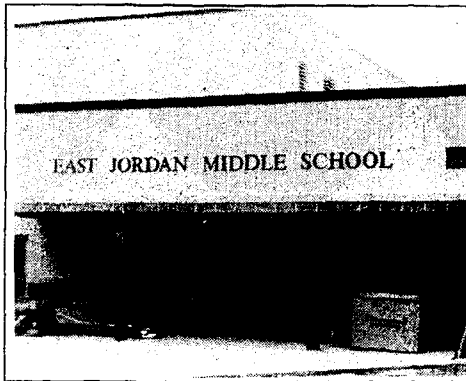

"We have P.E. classes and band classes scheduled at the same times, so it would not be practical to use the band room until the divider is installed," Hansen said.

The gym may also be unavailable for the first week of school, because the finish and paint is expected to be applied this weekend and requires 72 to dry before it can be used.

"All of the classrooms are ready to go. All of the technology is on site and the network is running. Basically all of the main teaching areas are ready accept for the band room and gym," Hansen said.

The school's media center will be open but make not have books on the shelves for a week or two.

THE BOARD ALSO approved a working version of a new policy that phases out the valedictorian/salutatorian honors system by the year 2001.

The reason for terming the policy "working" is that the board and administration will need to define which classes are eligible for five point consideration. Hansen said those determinations will be made before the end of the first semester to allow students sufficient time to plan their classes for the following year.

The board also heard a presentation from elementary school principle Chuck Hershberger about a new "Latch Key" program the school will be offering this fall.

"We still need to dot a few I's and cross a few T's, but we expect to have the program operational in September," Hershberger said.

The latch key program would offer a place for children to go after school who might otherwise go home to an empty house.

The program will be available only on days when school is in session and will operate from the time school lets out until 5:45 p.m. Hershberger said he expects the cost to be $4.50 per student per day. He added that students who use the program five days a week may get a small price break.

The latch-key program received benefited from a $1,000 start-up grant from the Charlevoix Community Foundation and is expected to be self supporting once up and running.

Hershberger said that details of the program would be made available to parents once they are finalized.

CULTURAL EYE OPENER

It was quite a learning experience for Kyle Krause going from East Jordan to Bombay

By STEVE ZUCKER

Many people dream of having servants wait on them. East Jordan's Kyle Krause found out exactly what it was like when she spent 10 months during her senior year of high school in India as an exchange student.

All three of the families Kyle stayed with in India were wealthy and all three had servants to cook, clean and do laundry for them.

Kyle, the daughter of Tom and Emily Krause of East Jordan, first learned of the Rotary Club Exchange Student Program when her family hosted an exchange student and has wanted to travel ever since.

Kyle was going into her senior year needing only 1 1/2 credits to graduate. So, when the opportunity to take part in the exchange program arose, she took it.

Although many students in the Rotary exchange program do not get to go to their first choice of countries, India was Kyle's first choice.

"I picked India because I figured I'll probably have a lot more opportunities to go to places like Europe when I'm older. Who knows when I'll have the chance to go to India."

Upon her arrival, Kyle found that India would take some getting used to. First there was the climate.

"It was hot. Most days were in the 90's and it often broke 100," she said.

Then there was the 10 hour time difference, which she said took her about a month to adjust to.

Kyle also found herself a bit overwhelmed by leaving a community like East Jordan with a couple thousand people and going to Bombay with its 12-13 million.

Despite living with three wealthy families while in India, things weren't always easy for Kyle. She spent several days, especially during the first month, sick and in bed.

"The food over there is really spicy. I didn't like it and it didn't like me. Fortunately there were the "beefless" McDonalds to fall back on.

Once settled, Kyle met up with the other exchange students in her program. The 25 other exchange students were from countries around the world including places like Brazil, Argentina, Japan, Mexico, the United States, Finland, Canada, and France.

It was among the other exchange students where Kyle found the friends that she hopes to keep for a lifetime.

"I still stay in close contact with about 10 of them, and as soon as I can get the money I want to go visit them," she said.

Although she and her new-found friends were exchange students by name, their days as formal students in India were limited.

She, and most of the exchange students only attended school for about a month and a half.

Although taught mostly in English, the Indian schools had no textbooks.

"The teacher just got up there and started talking. It was such a hassle to take the train for an hour just to get to the school and then, a lot of times, the teacher was late or didn't show up at all," Kyle said.

So, Kyle and most of the other students decided to take their education to the streets. During her time in India, Kyle visited everywhere from the Taj Mahal to skiing in the Himalayan Mountains. Some of the trips were organized through the Indian Rotary Club, but many they took with their host families or on their own.

"I learned a lot more being out on the streets and visiting places than I did in school," Kyle said.

City tries again for Boswell field grant

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

That would seem to be the credo for the City of East Jordan in its effort to get the Boswell Field Master Plan off the ground.

The commission approved the master plan on March 18, the same day that it approved an application to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund for a grant of $260,000 to get the plan underway.

But on June 17, the commission learned that the DNR had denied the grant request because the project does not involve a major city recreation project or a trailway.

At last Tuesday's meeting, the city commission approved a second application for the same grant.

The city may re-apply for the money in September. White said in addition to re-applying for the grant, he would contact the city's state legislators to determine what can be done at that level.

When the commission approved the $1.43 million master plan for improvements at the facility in March, it knew implementation could take five years or longer depending on the availability of financing.

At its meeting the commission also:

- accepted a bid $38,000 from D.C. Byers Inc. for masonry reconstruction work at the Dahlquist building.

- made appointments to fill several vacancies on several boards and commissions. Jim LaBeau was appointed to replace Jerry Cihak on the planning commission. Charles Conrad was appointed to replace Jay Peck on the board of review. Cheryl Hofweber and Meg Fowler were appointed to replace Shirley Etcher and Perry Bennett on the district library board.

- authorized the purchase of a new three-quarter ton dump truck with snow plow at a cost of $23,000.

Boyne family needs a helping hand

By HUGH CONKLIN

Life has not been kind to Carl and Peg Aimesbury, long-time Boyne City residents. Here is their plight, as told by Mary Belonga, a social worker with VitalCare, a company offering home and community health services:

Mr. Aimesbury is a 56-year-old man who has a rare disease called cerebral degeneration. This disease has only been diagnosed a few times in the United States by the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota. This disease is progressive and will eventually leave the individual completely bed-ridden and eventually in a vegetative state. Fortunately Mr. Aimesbury was finally diagnosed, but unfortunately his disease is so rare that there are not any support groups or services for the family.

Mr. Aimesbury was diagnosed 10 years ago, and he and his wife have managed everything on their own until 12 weeks ago. Mr. Aimesbury's physician referred the family to VitalCare for home health care services. At this time I met the family.

At the time of my assessment, I became aware of the present situation. Mrs. Aimesbury reported that her husband had deteriorated tremendously this past 10 months. She reported that the last time her husband was out of the house was last August, except for two other occasions.

The reason for this situation is due to Mr. Aimesbury's inability to walk on his own or go down stairs without assistance.

I was able to assist the family in getting Mr. Aimesbury a power wheelchair, which should be arriving in the middle of August. Mr. Aimesbury now has the ability to be mobile, yet another obstacle stands in his way.

This obstacle is a wheelchair ramp. The house was built into a hill and is not wheelchair accessible. I was able to contact a few carpenters and received some bids, but their bids were way too expensive for the family.

I am hoping community residents will be able to assist the Aimesburys with this project. It is crucial that the home be made handicap accessible for several reasons, including fire safety and evacuation, medical appointments, mental stability, socialization, etc.

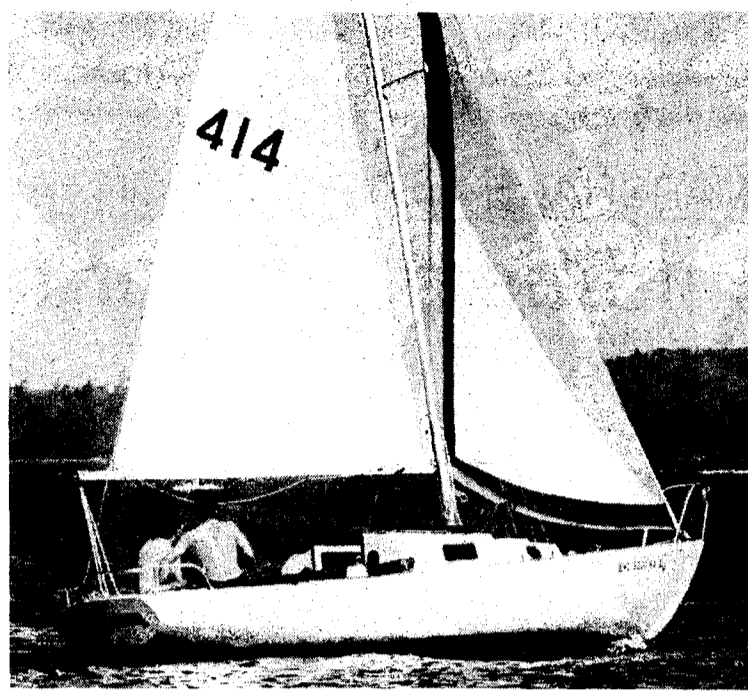

Thank you.

As you can see, the Aimesburys need help. It's not easy or comfortable for them to reach out and ask for it, but they have few other options.

To build the ramp, they need at least $5,000. The two bids they have received were for $4,734 and $4,800. They don't have the financial resources to build the ramp on their own.

But as a community, we do.

If you can assist the Aimesburys with a donation of money, labor, or materials contact Mary Belonga at her home after 5 p.m. Her number is (517) 785-3092. Or call Mrs. Aimesbury (after 5 p.m.) at 582-7822.

GUEST COLUMN

Viking voyagers will try next summer

By HODDING CARTER

(Editor's note: Hodding Carter is the expedition leader for the Viking Voyage, which came to an end, for this year at least, last week. Among the 12-member crew is Homer Williams of Boyne City, who arrived home Monday. In his last update on the Viking web page, Mr. Carter's explains what happened to the ship as it crossed the Davis Straits.)

We are back in Nuuk.

The Canadian Coast Guard ice breaker Pierre Radisson towed us within ten miles and then a local ship, the Viking Finder, towed us to Nuuk. We arrived around midnight last night.

Mid-day Aug. 15, we began to notice more water in the bilges than usual and attributed the increase to beating in the swells and chop in Davis Strait. We began to pump hourly. A while later, Terry noticed there was more play in our rudder halyard — a nylon/metal combination line that holds the rudder in place slightly above the water line. He lifted some decking boards to take up the slack and found a greater problem. The bite beam — a framing piece which the rudder halyard wound through — had been wrenched forward, the trunnels holding it in place had been sucked in and the beam was no longer supporting the planks in that area. There was open space between the beam and the planks and the beam had been moved forward about a few inches, I believe. Water was coming in through the trunnel holes.

We patched the holes with metal can tops and wooden shims and reattached the rudder halyard to another beam, using a come-along. This was around six o'clock.

The pressure on this system was too great to continue sailing across the wind so we turned down wind, heading for Labrador. We would now be by-passing Baffin Island. Sometime during this period, Terry determined that we needed to inform the Canadian or Danish Coast Guard that we were experiencing difficulties. We sent out a message explaining our situation but also stating that we were not asking for assistance.

At midnight, the metal combi line — our rudder halyard — broke. We lowered the sail and threw out the sea anchor. The rudder, no longer supported by the halyard, swung out in the swell and cracked our top plank. Other rudder support areas received damage at this time.

Rob and John Gardner studied the situation and decided they could rig up something, using our smaller spare rudder which would not create quite so much pressure. It was decided that this work could be done in the morning. Most of the crew climbed into their sleeping bags and bivouac sacks.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Coast Guard got in touch with us. They had the Pierre Radisson about 150 miles northwest of us, steaming north. They were ready to send it down to us if we wanted it and might send it anyway.

We were safe and secure with our sea anchor out and the holes patched up. But, it was not clear if the repairs Rob proposed would definitely hold up until we reached Labrador, more than 200 miles away. After discussing the situation on board, we responded that we would appreciate their assistance. We sent the details of our boat, crew and emergency equipment.

The Pierre Radisson met us at a little after 2 p.m. on the 16th.

Of course, there is much more to tell about those 24 hours and I hope to do so soon.

I am disappointed. We have had to return to Greenland when we hoped to be on Baffin Island. And we had to rely on the gracious aid of the Canadian Coast Guard.

The repairs Rob will make to Snorri will take more than a week. It will be too late to continue forward and we need more time to figure out the correct rudder situation.

We will not continue our voyage this summer. On Wednesday, the 20th, we will take Snorri out of the water at the shipyard in Nuuk. Rob and John Gardner will begin the repairs. The rest of the crew will work on cleaning and stowing our gear.

I take full responsibility for our situation. I created a time crunch that required too much luck on our side. There has been no fault in boatbuilding or captaining performances.

This is not the end of our voyage. We will set sail for Newfoundland again next July. I believe we have learned things that have been forgotten for at least 500 years and I believe we will learn even more in the following year.

I am proud of both our boat and our crew.

Talking heads got UPS strike all wrong

TO THE EDITOR:

After a strike that really benefited nobody except the top Teamster hierarchy, the UPS trucks are rolling again. But, according to many newspaper columnists and the talking heads on the TV networks, the union won the public relations battle with the company. Well, they should know because they certainly had a hand in disseminating the misinformation put out by the Teamsters.

Of course, misinformation is nothing new to these people of the liberal persuasion. It's about the only way they can win an argument where logic is involved. In this case we're talking about the part-timers who were striking for full-time jobs in a full-time economy to feed full-time families and so on and on.

The big thing that is wrong with this sort of reasoning is that these workers accepted the jobs as offered. To then organize and strike because they want full time employment is socialistic babble. Most of these people are sorters, that is, they sort packages into delivery routes. Anyone who stops to think about it realizes it takes a lot more time to deliver a truck-full of packages than it does to sort them. Even with these holes in their argument, it's a lot easier sell than the real reason for the strike which was over control of the pension funds.

Preliminary reports have it that the Teamsters will continue their control of these funds which have a long history of mob intervention, criminal mismanagement, and fraud. UPS management felt their employees deserved better; strict accounting and increased benefits. Who would argue with that? Not the UPS employees, that's for sure. The Union wouldn't allow a vote! So much for the myth that unions are democratic. Please note the small "d" — the irony is intentional.

A MOM'S LIFE

Empty containers signal the onset of growth spurt

By CINDI PLACE

I think we've found a new way to gauge whether or not our children have begun yet another growth spurt.

We can count the number of times food containers get put back into the refrigerator ... empty. The logic would be that the more food consumed, the bigger these kids are going to get. And the measure of empties would be the most reasonable standard since putting things where they belong (like the garbage) seems to be an impossible task, at least around our house.

To be fair, usually the containers in question are not quite empty. Our kids have really grasped the concept of infinity. They just keep halving the amount of juice left in the pitcher, so THEY aren't the ones who have to make a new batch. "But mom, it wasn't empty, I checked."

And not quite using something up, so as to avoid the responsibility of refilling, is not limited to the kitchen. How many times have you, the parent, had to replenish the toilet tissue dispenser? What are the odds that none of your children have any idea how that particular chore is done? And just how much toothpaste can one squeeze out of a tube before it's considered empty? The kids will never know, that much I am sure.

In my more reflective moments, I worry that we're doing society a real disservice by not insisting more strenuously that our children learn to replace stuff when they use it up. Then again, just how important is an empty peanut butter jar anyway?

I glanced into the cupboards the other day before grocery shopping for dinner. Big mistake. On sight everything I needed was there. But if I'd looked a little more carefully, I would have found that each of the boxes containing the necessary items was empty. Still in the cupboard, but empty. Wouldn't you think that it would be just as easy to throw the stuff away, as put it back on the shelf? But then, no one ever said logic and teenagers ever went together.

I have exacted a little revenge, however. Our oldest son has recently discovered the joy of cooking. So now when dinner has to be made, I just leave instructions as to what the menu should be and let him go at it. I had no idea just how mad a fourteen year old boy could get when he can't find something. It's especially entertaining to hear him discussing the "you-have-to-throw-the-empty-stuff-away" syndrome to his younger siblings. And it's gratifying to overhear their response "Quit sounding like mom, okay?"

Of course, there are always times when some of our other life lessons come back to haunt us. In checking out the cleaning job one of our children had done in the pantry, I came across an opened box of soup mix. Looking inside, and fully expecting to find it empty, I was pleased to see it filled with a few packets of soup mix. I thought, Upon closer inspection, I found two envelopes of hot chocolate mix, a taco seasoning packet and a packet of hand wipes. The explanation? Recycling...he didn't want to throw the box away and hurt the environment.

Alex had a great year at BCHS

TO THE EDITOR:

I want to say thank you to Boyne City for hosting me for a great year. I'm happy that I came to Boyne City.

In the beginning I was afraid because I didn't know anybody. But now that I'm leaving, my mind is going to be here and Boyne City is going to be in my heart. It's not easy to say good bye and I don't like to say good bye. I'm going to miss everybody and everything, especially the football season.

Thanks, take care of yourselves and see you, My Friend.

Alex Berti, #43

P.S. A special thanks to Jim and Janet Shepherd, they helped me a lot. Thanks Mom and Dad.

East Jordan grads receive scholarships from Charlevoix Community Foundation

Several 1997 graduates of East Jordan High School will find college tuition a little easier to handle, thanks to some financial help from the Charlevoix Community Foundation.

The students were chosen to receive scholarships made possible through special endowment funds held by the Foundation. They include the Becky Bos Memorial Scholarship, Alice Garlock Memorial Scholarship, Leatha Larsen Memorial Scholarship, several East Jordan Rotary Club scholarships and the F. Bruce Malpass Memorial Scholarship.

Kylene Krause was chosen as the recipient of the $1,000 Becky Bos Memorial Scholarship. The Bos scholarship fund was established to honor Becky Bos, a 1991 graduate of East Jordan High School who died nearly five years ago in an automobile accident. Kylene will use her scholarship to attend the University of Michigan this fall and pursue a degree in pre-med.

Larry MacEachern and Thor Leach were each awarded an Alice Garlock Memorial Scholarship of $600. The Garlock Scholarship is given each year to the student having the best academic record in mathematics.

Larry will attend Northwood Institute to study business/finance. Thor will attend Albion and study drama.

Chris King and Bobbie Nemecek were each selected to receive $600 Leatha Larsen Memorial Scholarships. The scholarship honors former East Jordan teacher and counselor, Leatha Larsen, whose commitment to students was instrumental in many continuing their education. Chris plans to attend Alpena Community College for auto technology studies, and Bobbie will study art and business at North Central Michigan College this fall.

Kayla Fennel was chosen to receive the $2,000 F. Bruce Malpass Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship is awarded each year to the student who plans to attend Lake Superior State University and major in a science/technology related field.

Six graduates have been selected as this year's East Jordan Rotary Club scholars. Their academic performance, leadership, and extracurricular involvement were key factors contributing to the honors.

Kylene Krause was awarded a

$1,500 Bryce Vance Rotary Memorial Scholarship.

Thor Leach received a $1,000 Bryce Vance Rotary Memorial Scholarship.

Kevin McNeil received the $3,000 William E. Malpass Rotary Memorial Scholarship, which he will use to attend the University of Michigan and study engineering.

Larry MacEachern was awarded the Howard P. Porter Rotary Memorial Scholarship in the amount of $2,500.

Angela Goebel received a $2,000 East Jordan Rotary Scholarship. Angela will attend Grand Valley State University this fall and major in nursing.

Ann Hettig was given a $1,000 East Jordan Rotary Scholarship, which she will use to attend Central Michigan University and study marketing.

All of the scholarship endowments have been established as "field-of-interest" funds within the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. Each year, investment income from the endowments is set aside to fund scholarships, using the guidelines and standards set by those who create the special funds. The Community Foundation holds and manages a number of such field-of-interest and scholarship endowments on behalf of various civic organizations, families, and individuals.

Started in 1992 by a group of local community leaders, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation receives charitable contributions from individuals, clubs, and private foundations and manages them in a permanent trust. Investment income generated by the trust is used to make grants that support a variety of projects that benefit the area — from education and the arts, to health and human services.

More information about the Foundation and its scholarships is available by calling 536-2440, or by writing c/o PO Box 718, East Jordan, 49727.

One major difference in Indian life that Kyle noted was the absence of a middle class in India.

"In India, you are either rich or poor. There is no in between," she said.

Kyle attributes this to the dominant religions in India which focus on reincarnation and accepting one's station in life.

The three major religions in India are Muslim, Hindu and Punjabi.

Shopping was another activity that took on a new meaning for Kyle while in India.

"Almost nothing has a set price. You have to haggle over everything. So, you can get some good deals but you can also get ripped off," she said.

And you better be sure you thoroughly inspect your merchandise before you buy since there are no warranties and no better business bureau on the street.

"I got so tired of arguing about the price of every thing that I bought," Kyle said.

India's main unit of currency is the rupee. One dollar equals about 35 rupees.

Despite all the differences between life in the US. and life in India, Kyle noticed that television is just as influential on Indian society as it is here in the US.

"There were people living in shacks who still had a t.v.," Kyle said.

In fact, she said, t.v. is where most Indians get their information about the West.

"They think that life in the U.S. is just like it is on Melrose Place. They think that we are all just free and wild," she said.

Kyle also noted that television has brought its western influence to much of the younger Indian generation.

"A lot of the girls, for instance, would wear the traditional female clothing during the day and then go out at night with a short mini-skirt on," she said.

Kyle views the westernization of Indian society as a double-edged

I think every high school student should have the opportunity that I had. It was such a growing experience."

-Kyle Krause

sword.

"I think things are changing in India. On one hand it's good because women are starting to be treated a little bit more equally. But on the other hand, some of the changes are a little sad because it's like they are losing some of their heritage," Kyle said.

Despite the ups and downs of her 10 month trip, Kyle says she is happy that she did it.

"It was a great experience but it was an emotional roller coaster ride. One day I would be miserable and the next as happy as can be. I think every high school student should have the opportunity that I had. It was such a growing experience."

Kyle's mother Emily agreed that the experience has definitely helped prepare Kyle for college and being out on her own. Emily also said that now that her daughter has spent 10 months around the world, seeing her go to college a couple hundred miles away will be easy.

In September, Kyle will be starting college at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor where she plans to study pre-medicine.

For anyone interested in hearing more about her experiences in India, Kyle will make a presentation, complete with photos her trip at the East Jordan High School auditorium on Aug. 27 at 7 p.m. The hour-long program will be free to the public.

MASTER PLAN UPDATE IS COMPLETE

A plan to help guide the future

Few organizations run well without a plan. Such is the case with a municipality. Most cities use a document known as a master plan for this purpose and Boyne City's recently received an update.

While not a law or ordinance, a master plan serves as a guideline for the planning director and the planning commission to follow when making decisions about the city's future.

The Boyne City Planning Commission adopted the updated master plan at its July meeting. The last time the city's master plan was updated was in 1980 and much has changed in the city in 17 years.

But, according to Boyne City Planning Director Tim O'Leary, the revised master plan doesn't show any drastic changes in philosophy.

"What it does is re-focus our efforts in the coming years."

The plan looks out as far as 15 years, but according to O'Leary most master plans need to be updated every 5-10 years.

The plan is the result of work that began in May of 1996. At that time the city recognized the need to update the plan.

While much of the document is filled with dry statistics about land use, growth, population density, and the like, the most important part of the plan is the prioritized list of goals and objectives it contains.

The goals and objectives outlined in the 92-page document were developed from a Community Goals Workshop that was held last Oct. 22.

During that workshop, the community was invited to voice their opinions, concerns and suggestions for the direction they would like to see the city take.

The more than 70 people from the community who attended generated a total of 236 comments and from those comments, a list of 29 issues was developed and given an order of priority.

The following are the first 10 items on the list that was developed during that workshop:

- 1) Prepare a plan for the eventual relocation of industry on the waterfront and plan for the next use of the property.
- 2) Maintain and improve or expand the city's industrial park and airport facilities.
- 3) Build partnerships between business, schools and industries to provide training for a skilled workforce.
- 4) Continue to attract light industry to Boyne City.

5) Enforce existing zoning regulations.

6) Continue with infrastructure, street and sidewalk improvements.

7) Improve the quality of existing housing.

8) Survey housing needs and develop affordable (mid-range) housing.

9) Prepare a plan for waterfront development and protecting water quality.

10) Provide for additional employment through tourism, business, and industrial expansion.

11) Foster open communication between the city, surrounding townships, and associated boards for coordination of future development.

Following the workshop the priorities were classified by category, and compared to the 1980 plan, to establish a contemporary set of goals, objectives, and policies for future development.

The Community Goals included:

- Preserve the community's heritage and small town character while accommodating change that meets the needs of Boyne City.
- Create a better living environment for the residents of Boyne City.
- Ensure the community's resources are beneficially used to satisfy the current and future needs of Boyne City residents.

• Encourage protection of a unique community asset (Lake Charlevoix) by relocating existing industry from the waterfront to designated industrial areas.

The plan also takes into consideration the master plans of the surrounding townships of Wilson, Eveline and Evangeline.

"Using this method gives us a real feel for what the citizens in the community want," O'Leary said.

The plan was put together by Wade-Trim at a cost of $24,900.

The master plan is available for public review at city hall during normal business hours.

BOYNE CITY POLICE REPORT

The Boyne City Police Department registered 84 complaints for the week of Aug. 14-20. Among the complaints were:

- A women's three-speed Schwinn bicycle was reported stolen from the South Lake Street area on Aug. 19.
- Two juveniles were charged with retail fraud from Glen's Market on Aug. 19.
- On Aug. 22 the department recovered a personal watercraft that had been reported stolen from the city boat launch on Aug. 16. The PWC was found tied to a dock at the Landings.

• Charges are being sought against a juvenile in connection with a breaking and entering of a boat docked at the Harborage. The incident occurred sometime within the past two months and all of the stolen property has been recovered.

• A Boyne Avenue resident reported that his mailbox had been smashed on morning of Aug. 15.

• A 40-year-old Wilson Township woman reported her purse missing after leaving it behind in a local restaurant.

• Chief Randy Howard noted that no on-road traffic accidents were reported during the week, which is unusual. However, six off-road, or non-traffic accidents were reported during the week.

BUSINESS

Fred Moore and Mary Palmer hope to open Red Mesa Grill Sept. 8.

When it opens, Red Mesa Grill will offer an international flavor

Anyone walking down Water Street in downtown Boyne City has likely noticed a change at 117 Water St., the former home of Woody's Restaurant.

The business was purchased in May by Magnum Hospitality, a new restaurant company owned by Mary Palmer and Fred Moore. The two recently combined their extensive backgrounds in the restaurant business to form the company. The company's first venture is the Red Mesa Grill.

The building is currently undergoing both interior and exterior renovation, and when the Red Mesa Grill opens it will have a festive, colorful and casual atmosphere. The menu will feature authentic Latin American fare, consisting of both Mexican dishes and unique specialties from Peru, Brazil, Costa Rica and other Latin American countries.

Palmer, who will serve as the restaurant's chef and menu director, said that to start, the menu will have about 70 percent Mexican content. Most items will range in price from $4-$12.

Both Palmer and Moore were formerly employed by Schelde Enterprises. Palmer is a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America and was a corporate chef for Schelde Enterprises.

Moore was director of operations for Bowers Harbor Inn, Auntie Pasta's and Schelde's in Traverse City and Petoskey.

Seeing the renovations, one question on the minds of many local residents is the fate of the historic pictures of Boyne City that adorned the walls of the former Woody's restaurant.

"People can rest assured, we've got them safely in storage right now and we have no plans to get rid of them," Moore said.

Moore added that he and Palmer may decide to use the photos in a future Boyne City business venture. Moore said that he and Palmer hope to open more restaurants in Northern Michigan once the Red Mesa Grill gets off the ground.

Once open, the Red Mesa Grill will employ between 30-35 employees.

Palmer is a native of Midland, while Moore grew up in Ortonville.

Palmer and Moore are hoping to open on Sept. 8 and plan to be open Monday-Saturday 11 a.m.-midnight and from 11 a.m.-10 p.m. on Sunday.

Jordan Valley Computer Center is a full service store

The Jordan Valley Computer Center, owned and operated by Sandy and John Whiteford of East Jordan, is located at 124 Main St. in East Jordan.

The Computer Center is a full service computer store offering a complete line of computer hardware, software and peripherals.

Sandy has 15 years of experience working with computer systems. She worked for several years in the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District's Media Center, until 3 years ago when she and her husband John decided to do computer consulting and repair out of their home.

"We thought it was time to take the plunge and do it full time," John said.

John currently works for East Jordan Plastics and plans to also work at the store full time once things get going.

John and Sandy believe they can be competitive with the larger computer stores while offering the convenience of a home-town location.

Although they will offer the pre-configured systems that most people are used to buying, they prefer to build the system themselves out of the components that will best serve the user's needs.

"When people buy the package deals at many large stores they have to find the package that will best suit their needs. What we can do is determine your needs are and pretty much build a machine that will meet them," Sandy said.

The Whitefords opened the doors to their new business on Aug. 4 and say that to date, most of their requests have been for trouble shooting help.

But the services the Whitefords can offer don't end with the sale. Once you have your new system, you might need some lessons on how to use it.

The Whitefords offer training classes on many of today's most popular software applications and include training in many of their package deals.

Another problem faced by computer owners is the need for hardware and software service when a problem arises with the system.

Sandy can help with that too.

According to Sandy, the greatest share of software problems are not a result of a virus.

"Most of the time it is some type of software conflict in the system's configuration.

The Jordan Valley Computer Center is open Mon.-Friday from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Firrone's Pizza is family owned and operated

A new restaurant opened recently in downtown East Jordan. In mid-July Firrone's Pizza opened its doors at 120 Main St. Firrone's is a family owned and operated take-out style restaurant that features pizza and both hot and cold subs.

The business is owned by John Hull and Terry Goshorn of East Jordan who also own and operate Jeanies Cleaning Service.

Why the switch from mops to mozzarella?

"They wanted to try something new," said Evelyn Hull, John and Terry's mother and Firrone's manager. "I think this will be a stepping stone for them."

"Actually, I think the boys were just looking for a way to put me back to work," Evelyn said with a grin.

Restaurants might be new for Terry and John, but not for Evelyn.

Evelyn started her own restaurant in 1966 called the Wagon Wheel Restaurant which was located in East Jordan on Lake Street where Citizens Bank is now located. She has worked at establishments specializing in pizza in Charlevoix and Central Lake.

So, naturally Evelyn was Terry and John's first choice to run the business.

"They pretty much let me run things the way I want to. It has worked really well so far."

Also working at the restaurant is Evelyn's mother, Mamie Bolser, making it a three-generation affair.

Firrone's opened in mid July, ending two years of vacancy for the downtown building it now calls home.

"We have been really happy with the response so far," Evelyn said.

Firrone's is open on Sundays from noon to 9 p.m., Monday-Thursday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Fridays and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

An evening at the gazebo

Lounging in Boyne City's Old City Park and listening to music will come to an end for the season Wednesday, when Traverse City musician Tom Morrell performs for the Evenings at the Gazebo concert series. After last week's rainout, concert coordinator Barbara Polinski is hoping better weather returns for the season finale.

Raffle, auction raise a bundle for St. Matthew's building fund

The annual raffle and silent auction held at St. Matthew was a huge success, raising over $12,000 for the building fund.

The silent auction raised $6,698, and the money raffle brought in $4,760. A quilt made by Barbara Polinski was raffled off for $707.

With proceeds from the raffle and auction, the St. Matthew building fund is over the halfway point to the $800,000 goal for the planned new parish hall. With $400,000 in cash and pledges on hand, the Diocese of Gaylord is expected to approve the plan and the church may break ground this fall.

Members of St. Matthew thanks to everyone in the community who supported the auction and raffle.

The winners are:
Aaron Westrick, quilt; Gloria Anderson, $3,000; Steve Sztrecska, $1,000; Barb Kindy, $500; Tony Napont, $500; K. Harlep, $100; Lucy Sawinski, $100; Gailyn Green, $100; Sandra O'Brien, $100; and Carol Denison, $100.

The $100 prize for the most tickets sold went to Ted Penny who sold 52 tickets.

NEIGHBORS

By NANCY NORTHUP

CHARLES AND LEONA STANEK of Boyne City, after having been honored by their children and 130 guests for their 50th wedding anniversary on June 28th, recently returned from a month of wonderful travels. Neighbors Debby and Bob Peterson left with them on the Tuesday after their big celebration and all enjoyed the Calgary Rodeo Stampede in Alberta, Canada, as well as the sights of Banff and the Skagway Resort. Visiting Denali National Park in Alaska, they saw 16 grizzly bears, one black bear, and hundreds of Caribou and bull moose. Aboard the Valdez, they saw sea otter, sea lions, and Harbor Seals, as well as the glaciers. They even brought home a piece of a glacier! On a bus tour from Fairbanks, they came back through Wyoming and Devil's Tower. It was too cloudy to see Mt. Rushmore, but they did visit the Teddy Roosevelt National Park in North Dakota. Two rolls of video tapes and eight rolls of film and lots of pictures will remind them of their great trip for a long time.

ANN MARIE PENFOLD of Orland Park, Ill., and sister, Carol Wells of East Jordan, hosted a "Mortgage Burning" party for their mom on Sunday, Aug. 17, with 25 guests present. Brother Staff Sgt. George Berry was able to be there from the Altus Air Force Base in Oklahoma. The siblings were all so proud of mom, who'd pretty much raised them all by herself... and she did it the same way, in buying her house!

NEIGHBORS were glad to see former resident Norm Erno this past weekend. Norm, who has been pretty ill, and still undergoing treatment in Saginaw, looked pretty good, walking the halls of Litzenburger Place.

TED TRAVISS of Boyne Falls was honored with a retirement roast on Saturday night at the Boyne City Knights of Columbus Hall. After 35 years, Ted was the first retiree of Bayko Concrete. There were 150 co-workers, friends and relatives who came from Florida and various parts of Michigan to share this special time with him. Future plans are "to relax and plan winters with my wife, Carol, in a warmer climate!"

LILA KELSO of Boyne Falls has returned from a week's vacation in Williamston, where she visited her sister, Eloise McGeorge.

KEN AND LENA MAY of Kentucky spent a few days here this past week with his dad, Dick May and wife Edna. Over the weekend, other callers of Dick and Edna were their former winter time neighbors of Strawberry Ridge, Walt and Helen Horn of Prudenville, and Cristy and Dora Steenburgh of Ontario. It was a special time, as the three couples have sold their Florida homes and will be spending the winters where they are.

FRANCIS BREWER of Litzenburger Place returned to her apartment on Friday after almost a week as a medical patient at the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

THE REV. ELWYN SMITH made it out to attend the morning worship service of the Free Methodist Church this past Sunday. It was his first time there, due to illness, since he last preached the service in August of '96.

DAN MCGEORGE and Celia Fredrick of Boyne City were married on Saturday, Aug. 23. The 3 p.m. ceremony, attended by the family, was officiated by cousin of the groom, the Rev.

Douglas McGeorge at the Lake Charlevoix home of his dad, John McGeorge, and wife Carol. Light refreshments were served and a 6 p.m. wedding reception for all was held at the Boyne City Eagles Hall. The newlyweds are at home in Boyne City.

THE KENT BOUTELIER family of Alexandria, Va., have been here enjoying their Boyne City home, friends, and neighbors.

THERE WAS A GOOD turnout of area churches attending Sunday night's Hymn Sing at the Boyne City Holiness Camp. It was a spirit-filled evening of special music and snack time fellowship.

THE BOYNE CITY HIGH School class of 1947 recently held its 50th reunion at the VFW Hall. There were 56 attending, including former classmates, spouses, and guests. Special guest was Vernice Nelson, wife of their deceased class adviser, Deed Nelson. All enjoyed the dinner, prepared by the Auxiliary, entertainment of Lee Talboys, and visiting. Recognized for coming the farthest was Californian, Buzz Shaler and Marilyn Lawson Grant of South Carolina.

NEAL AND BETTY KLEINDOLTH of Iowa, were house guests of Boyne City's Doc and Vivian Heaton over the weekend. They had come up from Frankenmuth, after joining a reunion of winter time neighbors of Florida's Holiday Travel Park. While here, they also called on another former neighbor, Florine Davis. Glad to see them, Florine is also looking forward to this next Friday's arrival of former Boyne resident, Cris Tucker of Jenison.

Luke Reinhardt, left, and his brother Bo, show off their steers and trophies at last week's fair.

Reinhardt brothers earn top honors at fair

Bo Reinhardt won Grand Champion Market steer and his brother, Luke, won Reserve Grand Champion at last week's Emmet-Charlevoix County Fair.

Bo and Luke won the market classes with their Limousin steers from their family farm. Bo's steer weighed 1,350 pounds and Luke's weighed 1,205.

There were 28 steers entered from the 4-H Market Livestock Association.

Showmanship was also judged. Erika Fettig of Petsokay won Grand Champion showmanship. John Thompson of East Jordan won Reserve Champion showmanship for steers.

Bo's steer was bought at the Thursday auction by Pat McKeown Ford of Charlevoix. He paid $2.25 a pound.

Monday at the fair, pigs and veal were judged. Steer, feeder calves and lambs were also judged.

Children participating in the 4-H livestock program range in age from 9 to 19 years old.

1997 Ramblers have a very tough act to follow

By TED KARASZEWSKI

Everybody that I've been talking to is really getting fired up about this year's Rambler football team. They just can't wait for the season to get started. Last year's success has us all in eager anticipation for more thrills.

Can this year's team find the same success? What about the offense? How about the defense? I had to go straight to head coach Pat Klooster to find the answers to these questions.

"We have a tough act to follow," he said. "Last year's seniors played a lot of different sports together and had great success. They played everything together for about 10 years from Little League to basketball, Gus Macker tournaments, high school baseball and football. They were a tight group."

"This year's seniors consist of a lot of kids who have played a lot of different sports. We have hockey players, basketball players, baseball and track. The question is if we can come together as a team," Klooster said.

"As far as my expectations of this year's team, I would think that 6-3 would be a good season. If we finished 7-2 we might make the playoffs, where an 8-1 would put us in

We have a lot tougher schedule this year, probably tougher than anyone else in the conference. We'll have a good year and a winning season."

"Overall our line looks pretty solid and we're set pretty good at quarterback with Matt Johncheck. We have lots of defensive backs and receivers. Our backfield is the big question mark. Chuck Stanek will be on the wing, Scott Karaszewski will be lining up at fullback and at tailback Ryan Seeley and Korky Persons will fill in where needed. We don't have anyone with breakaway speed so we'll have to execute our plays well. Karaszewski will line up for short yardage and pound the ball up the middle."

"Our numbers are good this year with about 45 kids on the varsity. About 24 are seniors and the rest are juniors. We just don't have the depth that we had last year where we had 2-3 deep at each position. Most of our depth is at the defensive back and receiver positions."

Whatever the final outcome of this year's Rambler team, the one thing that those boys can count on is the support of this town. We'll be there all the way and hopefully it will end in a dome-like building around the end of November.

The Ramblers open their season Sept. 5 when they host Rudyard.

Back on the sidelines for another season are assistant coach Dave Bricker, left, head coach Pat Klooster, and assistant Dave Smith.

EJ runners off to strong start

The East Jordan High School cross country team kicked off the fall sports season last weekend when it participated in the Benzie Invitational Meet.

The boys team posted an impressive second place finish out of 23 teams scheduled to participate. Jonesville won the meet scoring only 70 points to East Jordan's 88.

The Red Devils' top finisher was Mark Penzien who finished 8th overall with a time of 18:01. Following Penzien were: 11th place, Chris Bearden, 18:14; 14th place, Micah Middaugh, 18:19; 26th, Nate Sothard, 18:52; 27th, Charlie Hague, 18:58; 33rd, Matt Shaw, 19:15; and 34th, Kevin Penzien, 19:17.

The girls team also got the season off to a strong start notching a fourth place finish.

Leading the pack for the Lady Red Devils was Holly Petkewicz who finished 8th with a time of 22:09. Following Petkewicz were: 25th, Emily Niewendorp, 23:27; 26th, Beth Purvis, 23:32; 36th Debbie Bacon, 24:21; 42nd, Catey Moses, 24:40; 62nd, Cassie Krause, 25:40; and 93rd, Kristina Nelson, 30:01.

Red Devils will rely on hard work, good attitude

This season the East Jordan Red Devil football team hopes to amend the old saying to, "There's strength in small numbers," as the varsity squad will field only 24 gridirers this fall.

And they plan to do it with hard work and a good attitude.

"It's the smallest group I've had since I've been head coach here," East Jordan head coach Allan Peterson said. "But they all are willing to work hard and have an excellent attitude."

What the team may lack in numbers they will hope to make up for in experience, as 12 players, all starters, return from last year.

"Last year we ran with two platoons which gave a lot of the guys some good experience," Peterson said.

One unique feature the season will present is four Saturday games.

But Peterson doesn't like the Saturday games.

"I think high school football was meant to be played on Friday nights. It breaks the team's rhythm. But sometimes it can't be helped."

Numbers aren't the only concern Peterson has for the upcoming season.

"We don't have all that much size either. We certainly aren't going to overpower anyone. But a lot of the guys, especially the linemen have worked really hard in the weight room," Peterson said.

The Red Devils will again work out of a wing T offense, which Peterson feels favors a smaller team.

Since the Red Devils won't likely have a size advantage on their opponents, they are focusing on quickness and endurance.

"When you have a large number of kids going both ways, conditioning is essential," Peterson said.

Last year the Red Devils finished with a 3-6 record. This year the team hopes to improve that to at least 5-4.

"Every year, of course, the goal is to go 9-0 and make the playoffs. But we are going to take it one game at a time and aim for a winning record," Peterson said.

And what of the competition? "Boyer City looks to be the toughest in the conference this year. Especially after their success last year. They just have a really talented bunch of kids," Peterson said.

The Red Devils' lack of depth, will also mean they will need to avoid injuries.

"That's another area where we hope the emphasis on conditioning will pay off," Peterson said.

The team already has one less player due to an injury. Scott Haley will be unable to play as a result of a knee injury he suffered while playing basketball in January.

With the challenges that face the team, Peterson is looking to three third year varsity players: Erik Wiltfong, Josh Luck and Tracey Johnson to provide leadership.

"I'm looking for them to be leaders — to step up and play well." Peterson is also looking for good things out of running back Parke Bluhm. "He's just an all-around great athlete," Peterson said.

Luck, Johnson, and Matt McCoy are this year's captains.

"This really is a great group of kids. I wouldn't trade them for anything," Peterson said. "Their positive attitude is their greatest asset."

Peterson will be assisted with coaching duties by assistant coaches Bob Rebec and Mike Gee. Rebec serves as defensive coordinator while Gee handles special teams.

The Red Devils will open their season on Sept. 5 at home against Central Lake. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.
