State Agency Bursts Buttons Over Stale Results Of New Study

BY MARSHALL F. SAYLES Editor & Publisher

A state of Michigan economic agency has said that the lack of youth and new ideas is the biggest stumbling block to economic development in Northern Michigan. That agency was the State Department of Economic Development.

This newspaper takes exception to that statement and believes the agency is talking through a many holed hat.

The report came from a meeting of southern Michigan businessmen "with interests north of the Muskegon-Bay City line." It is mighty easy to sit down in southern Michigan and talk about northern Michigan's ills "north of the Bay City-Muskegon line."

IN THE FIRST place, if the members of that agency had lived and worked and depended upon their living in northern Michigan they would never dare mention "The Bay City-Muskegon line."

The mere mention of that line, which has a derogotory effect on the northern part of the state, leads us to believe that the agency is operating because it "has to." Or because they feel that "something must be done for poor old northern Michigan."

These southern Michigan businessmen who are looking after our welfare reported that we need civic pride, improved highways, development of natural resource industries, expansion of present industries and a cost of living index for the area.

That's a great big laugh, because it doesn't take a meeting of southern Michigan businessmen to tell our residents what we already know.

We wonder how long these men studied to come up with these If the taxpayers of Michigan are underwriting a survey for this sort of thing they are wasting their money. Furthermore the men of this agency lac diplomacy and are tending to chop off northern cooperation by reporting that Northern Michigan lacks civic pride.

EAST JORDAN LACKS no civic pride! Neither does Charlevoix, Boyne City, Petoskey, Gaylord, Cheboygan, Cadillac, Traverse City or any community with which we have been closely acquainted for the last 25 years.

If anyone thinks these cities lack civic pride step among the residents and try and tell them about it!

As far as the need for improved highways go, Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler of the state highway department is well acquainted with these facts. Northern Michigan cities and counties have been working actively for improved highways for lo! these many years.

Every responsible civic minded person in Michigan from Governor Williams on down knows that northern Michigan needs im-

The agency said northern Michigan youth are being drawn away from their homes the minute they leave high school. Every merchant in northern Michigan who has been in business ten years or longer is completely aware of this.

It has been talked about at Chambers of commerce meetings, at Rotary Clubs, businessmens meetings and on street corners for

THE AGENCY REPORTS that we in northern Michigan need development of natural resource industries. Every businessman and industrialist in northern Michigan has been fully aware of this need ever since the lumber mills went out.

The agency says northern Michigan needs expansion of present

Tell that one to the East Jordan Iron Works, Howes leather Company, the Petoskey Cement Plant, Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery, Ideal Dairy, Parker Motor Freight and a long list of other concerns whose operations are highly important to north state econ-

Every one of them as well as the people of northern Michigan are fully aware of this vital need of expanded industry.

A report of the agency's meeting was sent to Michigan newspapers by United Press Associations. Apparently it was meant for southern Michigan readership, because it told northern Michigan residents absolutely nothing they haven't known for years.

Which makes us wonder what the agency is trying to do. To whom are they telling these things

NOT TO GOVERNOR WILLIAMS; he knew about our problems long ago. Not to Charles M. Ziegler; northern Michigan has been on his back for new highways for many years; not to the senators and representatives from northern Michigan; they live here; they grew up under these conditions; they know all about them; certainly not to the bankers of northern Michigan!

Every community in northern Michigan has for long years been studying these conditions and doing everything possible to im-

Which brings us back to the question: "What is the state department of economic development trying to prove or foster by spending time upon a study and then releasing a long list of statements which every interested person has known for years?'

East Jordan, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Boyne City, Gaylord, Cheboygan, Cadillac and all other north state cities are well aware of our conditions.

THAT'S WHY THEY have gone all out to attract new industry to the north country. And they've done a good, successful job of it. The state department of economic development aided in some cases. So they have known for a long time what they now are telling the public! So has this agency's northern Michigan "helpers." It may be that one of these days the newspapers and chambers of commerce will get a neatly printed pamphlet telling all about what's the matter with us.

Which brings to light another question: Why was this report released at all? And why, if the state department of economic development is trying to help northern Michigan, did they say this area lacks youth and new ideas? That hurts! Mainly because the statement doesn't mean a thing. Have they taken a survey of the number of young people in north-rn Michigan? Have they checked upon our ideas?

THEY MIGHT HAVE said that the city of Detroit lacks youth and new ideas and been as correct. Northern Michigan is no exception! Please don't point to us like that.

Anyone who has lived in northern Michigan is fully aware of the great influx of new young people and ideas to the area since World War II. A large number of young businessmen and industrialists have come north and succeeded. In fact northern Michigan developed in industry, agriculture, resort and business more in the last ten years than in any time in history.

Youth and new ideas! What a joker to send to the newspapers of our state!

Here are a few vitally important concerns which over the years were founded with youth and new ideas: Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery with its 2,000,000 pounds of butter production each year; Paul Reed, Inc., with its national distribution of plastic made goods; Mount Clemen Metal Products of East Jordan and Mancelona; Freedman Artcraft Engineering; Ideal Dairy; Boyne Mountain Lodge; East Jordan Iron Works; Courter Electric Products, Inc.; American Mold Engineering, the big canning companies of East Jordan, Ellsworth and Central Lake; the huge Petoskey Cement Plant; Howe's Leather Company. Shall we name more?

So this newspaper says flatly that the biggest stumbling block to northern Michigan's economic development is not lack of youth

Governor Williams knows this is not true. So does Charles Potter, Victor Knox, Art Rouse, and every one of our representatives and senators talking for us at Lansing and Washington

1 2 Young Local Trio Becomes New Singing Ambassadors For Home Of The Swans

East Jordan's beautiful singing ambassadors have grown up! For the Cloverleaf Trio has left 4-H club representation, changed their name and developed into northern Michigan's top flight musical unit.

After three years of singing throughout Michigan at banquets, parties, shows and on radio and TV broadcasts, the "Swan City Cygnets" have decided that through singing they will help advertise East Jordan.

The trio's real fame came in 1953 when they copped first in the Michigan finals of the Amastar contest at Saginaw. They also took a blue ribbon in the Michigan 4-H club talent show at Michigan State college last year.

Started back in 1951 as 4-H club singing group with the South Arm 4-H club, the present members are Martha Lord, Nan Drapeau and Pat Gilpin— all

East Jordan high school studthe sensation of the evening

THE ONLY musical training the girls have had has been the help given them by Mrs. Alta Drapeau, who accompanies the group on piano.

The highly versitile three have sung at the Statler Hotel in Detroit; over television station WKAR at East Lansing; at the National Cherry Queen's selection and show in Traverse City and in numerous cities throughout the state.

They were called to Kalkaska to sing at the National Trout festival, at the Ellsworth homecoming, Boyne City homecoming and July 25th they will sing at the famous Venetian Night festival at Charlevoix,

To gain opportunity to sing at the recent National Cherry Festival they competed in a musical talent show, which placed them on top. They were in Traverse City when 1,200 visitors called them back for Cities where the trio have been asked to sing have included, Alpena, Petoskey, Boyne City, Kalkaska, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Traverse City, Detroit, Lansing, Mancelona, Cheboygan and many others.

With little professional training and a lot of hard work the three young girls have sung their way into the hearts of thousands of Michigan residents; and they will be heard again and again as the "Swan City Cygnets."

Scholarships For Farm Youth

Page 2 * East Jordan News-Herald *

Charlevoix county banks each year cooperate with Michigan agriculture to help young farm folks obtain courses in farming at Mich-

They are among the 250 Michigan banks taking part in the educational program for young farmers. Although some banks have had disappointing experiences with the plan, they are still willing to go along with the idea. They provide $100 scholarships to young people who want to further their education in a 8 weeks course at MSC.

In some cases the young folks have not finished their course or left the farm shortly after the course was finished.

The main plan of the scholarships is to aid the youth for better farm living and no person should take advantage of it if they do not intend to make good use of the education.

In Charlevoix county these short courses are made possible by the State Pank of East Jordan and Boyne City, the Charlevoix County State Bank and the Charlevoix State Savings Bank.

Those wanting more information about the $100 scholarships may contact the following: a vocational agriculture teacher, home economics teacher, a county farm agent or your local banker.

The topics of interest to the cherry growers is shot hole, the 10c price of Monts and not any Monts this year. With the shot hole, the crop and trees with a crop would have been in bad shape. Call it shot hole, mildew and rust and burnt leaves-it al: comes from the same thing and does the same damage and needs the same treatment. Shot hole normally appears just as cherries are beginning to turn red. This year the fungus season started earlier because it was warmer and rainy earlier. Young trees being closer to the ground showed signs of it first.

To prevent this trouble the first application of spray should go on during bloom or before warm wet weather starts. The spray must be put on thoroughly. The second application should be put on five days from the first application. The third spray seven days from the number two application.

Add fungicide for fruit fly sprays. Do not poison bees. Leave out poison while trees are in bloom. Three sprays and starting at petal fall will not work. Between the first and second spray new leaves are coming out fast, making it necessary to apply the second cover in a few days.

Harvest For Michigan, Too Late For Peach Week

While it is one of the nation's major producers of neaches, Michigan will miss the boat on National Peach Week from July 19 to 25 because even the first of the state's 21/2 million bushel crop this year will not be ready for harvesting for nearly another month.

Michigan, because it is a northern state, does not mature its peach crop as early as do some of the southern states, according to G. S. McIntyre, director of the

State Owned Lands To Be Auctioned

Three auctions of state-owned land in southern Michigan will be held late this month, conservation department lands workers report.

The southern sales will follow three northern lower peninsula auctions announced last week. First sale of southern lands vill be held at 1 p.m. on July 23 n the courthouse at Kalamazoo. lands in Allegan, Barry, Berrien, Branch, Cass, Ottawa, St. Joseph, Van Buren and Kalamazoo counties will be offered.

The second southern sale starts at 1 p.m. in the courtouse at Saginaw on July 29 and Senesee, Lapeer and Saginaw ounty lands will be offered.

The final sale is slated to tart at 1 p.m. in the courthouse Ionia on July 30. Lands in Montcalm and Ionia counties will e offered.

Money that accrues from the sales is returned to respective county treasuries; the conservation department merely conducts the sales and maintains records.

Conservation Films Have Record Use

The conservation department's film loan section is well on its way to another year of record use, Clare J. Tinker, in charge of the section, reports.

The films cover a variety of conservation subjects and are loaned free to schools, service groups, sportsmen's clubs, churches and others. Any organized group may borrow the films and the only cost to the user is pos-

In the last nine months, more than 3,300 loans were made and 436,000 persons viewed the

At present, 34 films are listed in the department catalog as available to the public. All but four of these are sound films and all but seven are in color. Also, announcement and publication of a new film on Michigan's deer problems is expected shortly. Tinker says film on Michigan wildflowers is being edited, too, though publication is not expeced before fall.

Michigan Department of Agriculture. The harvest of tree-ripened Michigan peaches will be underway from Mid-August until mid-September for the most part. The peak will probably come around Labor Day.

The state's crop of excellent dessert and canning peaches is not as great this year as some vears. In the past there have been in excess of 3½ million bushels.

If production this year reached the estimated 21/2 million bushels, this amount would be equal to 6,250 railroad carloads. If this amount of peaches were loaded into railroad refrigerator cars, it would make a train 51 miles long, or one extending from Lansing to Flint.

"This volume of peaches," said Director McIntyre, "would indicate there will be ample Michigan peaches of good flavor available to the housewife for slicing, pies and processing if she is willing to wait for homegrown peaches which come on the market later than National Peach Week in July. The name and address of the packer should show on the peach container.' The most popular early peaches grown in Michigan are the Red haven and Halehaven, both of which are nationally known sorts that were developed in South Haven right here in the Wolverine state. A popular later variety is the Elberta, which originated many years ago in Georgia.

Spray Now For Mexican Bean Beetles

Mexican bean beetles are not 'south of the border' -- they're here, bean growers and gardeners are reminded by Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

The beetles are busy now laying eggs-and there is nothing to be gained by waiting to control the insects later, agrees Ray Janes, Michigan State College extension entomologist. The important thing is to move in with sprays before they lay too many eggs.

The spiny larvae are more difficult to control later because of their numbers explains the bug Malathion is a good insecticide fight Mexican bean beetles on field beans-but it should not be used on snap beans if the harvest is closer than 10 days off, warns Janes. Use rotenone-pyrethrum mixture on snap beans.

It's important to get the spray the underside of leaves, where the beetles hide. Use 3 pounds of 25 per cent wettable

Industrial Development Council flourished throughout the entire north western half of the state.

JUST ABOUT EVERY city in northern Michigan was sending representatives to its meetings and the group was showing progress

This organization was supported by funds from these cities and interested individuals. But suddenly it was discovered by many that this group of northwestern Michigan citizens through its organization was doing the same thing the state department of economic development was trying In the end, which group was slowed down? Not the state supported economic agency. But the northwest self-supporting agency which had a good, solid grip on our problems because it worked closely with the people faced with these economic problems.

All the facts released by the state agency this week might have been had by asking the other group and there would have been no need for a survey at all.

Somewhere along the line we are inclined to believe there are politics mixed up in this, but we can't place our finger upon it. And as a result of all this we taxpayers are supporting the State Department of Economic Development which tell us and the rest of Michigan that we in northern Michigan lack youth, new ideas and

BETTER WE SEND milk to the hotten tots.

This state supported agency will hold several conferences during the summer months to determine the needs for Northern Michigan's economic development. Where are they going to hold these meetings? Down in Lansing

"south of the Bay City-Muskegon line?" The businessmen and chambers of commerce of northern Michigan can tell them what we need to boost our economy. And in that way there will be no need for "several conferences." Northern Michigan office holders, who, when they get down to Lansing should not forget that the people of northern Michigan sent them: that's what we need.

We need a Governor who realizes that northern Michigan has been in the "middle" for years no matter whether we vote Democrat or Republican. Under Republicans we are already in the bag and under Democrats we are still a Republican area and get no politi-

Industry has been slow in expanding for many reasons. Too great a distance from source of supply; lack of Class "A" highways over which large trucks can haul manufactured goods.

We need FHA approved housing projects which would attract working people. We lack enough small industries to hire the majority of high school graduates.

THE ROOTS OF NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S LACK OF RAPID ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ARE FOUND IN GEOGRAPHICAL AND POLITICAL PROBLEMS.

The state department of economic development will get no where making out that our economic need is something of a personal issue. And that's exactly what the agency has done when it says we lack youth, new ideas and civic pride! On that score they hit a foul ball and struck out.

AND IF THE AGENCY is going to continue releasing asinine reports about northern Michigan the state should keep them out of the game entirely!

The old town has settled down to a steady hum of activity these days. The tourists are here in force and once you get used to it the activity is stimulating. You can hear the cash registers ringing all over town. It sure is hot out today. Just what the resort owners were wishing for. Rumor has it that there are some big bows in the Jordan these nights. Gerry Evans dropped us a line from Korea-"Well, a few lines to let you know just what has been happening over here lately. i sailed from Seattle the 11th of June and landed in Yokohama, Japan on the 22nd. I had six hours ashore and had I known Larry Huckle was there I would have looked him up, but I didn't receive the paper until the 27th. From Yokohama I went to Inchon. The last leg of my trip was by train to where I am permanently assigned. The location is North of the 38th a few miles, right in the mountains of Korea. I'm assigned to the 7th Div (Rear) in the AG section. About all the time I have left so will write again when the news builds up. Sincerely, Cpl Gerald E. Evans, 7th Inf Div (Rear), Admin Cen — AG, APO 7, c-o PM, San Francisco, California."

Tom Thacker is here vacationing with his wife's folks. He will be here until the 16th of August when he leaves for French Morrocco. Peg will be going over too sometime this fall.

Max Sommerville has a different address. It is Pvt Max D. Sommerville, 2301 Williams Avenue, Apartment B, Lawton, Oklahoma. Max is still serving at Howard Stanek writes from Southwest Harbor, Maine. "Guess it's about time I dropped you a line or two to let you know that I'm getting the paper every week and want to thank the people of EJ who make it possible. The weather up here in Maine is about the same as there in Michigan. Only the nights are pretty cool.

'This sure is a real nice place. We're living in a 14 room house and the main base is 50 miles from here. We only have three boats here; a 85 footer, a 63 footer, and a 24 footer. I'm working in the maintenance and also signed to the 24 footer. But all I have to do with the 24 footer is just take some of the wheels out fishing whenever they come

Also I have to pull CQ once a week. So I had CQ today from eight o'clock this morning until eight tomorrow morning. Being it was a holiday today, I'll have tomorrow off.

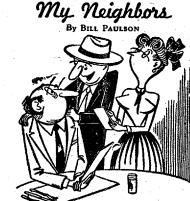

'This is also a Ground Observer's station. We have to report all airplanes we see to the Air Defense at Bangor, Maine.

'I get my mail now down at the PO in town. My address is: A-2c Howard Stanek, PO Box 355, Southwest Harbor, Maine."

ARMY HOME TOWN NEWS CENTER, Kansas City, Missouri dated July 7th. "Cpl Paul S. Wilson recently observed the 179th anniversary of the Army's Engineer Corps while serving in Korea. Corporal Wilson is a member of the corps' 378th Engineer Battalion, which is constructing buildings, roads and bridges as part of a revitalization program for South Korea.

'He entered the Army in December 1952 and was stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., before arriving in Korea during May of last year."

Bob Anderson writes, "Just a few lines to let you know that I

"When you'd rather took at the menu than the waitress, old man-made it back OK and didn't have trouble whatsoever. It took me two days to get to Wichita and two days to rest up. My buddy and I took three and one half days from there to get out here but the first day out we ran into rain so we didn't get very far. We had good weather after that and it made a nice trip.

'One place of interest we stopped at was the Royal Gorge Park at Canon City, Colorado. You hae never seen anything till you see this. What it really is, is a bridge built between two cliffs and it is one thousand and fiftyfive feet above the Arkansas river which flows through the gorge. It is really something to see and I hope someday that I'll be able to go there again and spend more time.

'Well, the ship is finally thru with her yard period and ready to go again. Tomorrow we go out in the Bay for Sea trials and next week we are heading for Diego. In the meantime we will be setting at Treasure Island doing nothing.

'Well, Jake, it didn't bother me very much to leave home this time. I'll be out in about six months and you can guess about where I'm headed for. Guess I never knew just how much I missed the old north until I got another taste of it.

'The old town is really starting to jump again so who knows, maybe in another year there will be all kinds things to look forward to. Robert Anderson, EN-2 A Div, USS Bexar (APA-237) e-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif-

An Ex-serviceman, John Vogel, dropped in this last week and told me to put in the paper that if any of you servicemen from down east get in the vicinity of Long Island to come over and see him and his family. He lives at 175 Great Neck Road, Copiague, L. I., New York and his telephone number is Amityville 4-1341. He would like very much to make some of you servicemen welcome in his home.

So Long until next week, men. "Jake" Snider
