Wanted: A New Start

The Veterans Administration committee which held hearings in the case of James Kutcher a couple of weeks ago finds evidence of his disloyalty insufficient to justify cutting off his pension. (Mr. Kutcher is the veteran who lost both legs in a mortar explosion during the Italian campaign.) The committee held, however, that had the charges been proved it would have revoked what he asserts is his only means of support.

Humanity compels us to acclaim this ruling. But we can acclaim neither the law, its interpretation, nor the procedures which placed this handicapped veteran in so precarious a position. The law rightly directs that no one guilty of what amounts to treason shall receive a pension. But it permits the VA to rule without due process or a court trial on the guilt or innocence of one accused.

Mr. Kutcher was accused of treasonable behavior, first because of association (membership in a group on the Attorney General's "front list"), and second because of words (allegedly antigovernment speeches). These charges, investigated before hearing any defense by him, were held to establish "prima-facie" guilt. Then he was told to disprove them!

The VA has now done the decent thing. But this whole approach to security, from legislation through administrative verdicts, runs counter to the traditions of justice which have been part of the fabrics of the "American way."

(Compiled by the News-Herald Staff)

Have You Been Gyped?

Let the buyer beware! That's an old saying which was undoubtedly brought about long before the government stepped into the inspection and fair trades business.

Although we have gone a long way in cleaning up the gyp artists in the selling business, all is not pure by any means.

For instance, in Michigan last year more than 3,000,000 pounds of food totaling more than 800 lots was placed under seizure by the state department of agriculture, inspection agency.

What was the most common complaint around the state? Short weight! Followed by adulteration and misbranding.

Some of these lots seized had to be used for other than human consumption.

BUT SHORT WEIGHT in pre-packed merchandise seems to be the bug-a-boo in our buying today.

Many times the products were brought into compliance with state law by rebranding or relabeling.

Short weight food packages found in Michigan in 1955 ran 15 percent higher than 1954.

When a package is found to be short weight, every package in the entire lot is checked. This, of course, raises the percentage of short weight in relation to the number inspected.

However, violation of weights and measures laws in general were 50 per cent higher than the year before.

Food most often found to be adulterated was ground meat products. There was a jump of 16 percent in these violations over 1954.

BUT VIOLATIONS involving labeling of food products dropped from the year before.

However public sanitation is another matter. Cleanliness in stores, markets, restaurants, cafes, hotels and food processing plants, is also checked by the state department of agriculture.

The number of convictions is on the increase. They rose from 90 in 1954 to 119 in 1955.

Total number of all convictions for the inspection division of the state department of agriculture in Michigan hit 711 in 1955.

They ran the gamut from short weight on a load of coal to improper bottle cleaning in a soft drink bottling works.

Farm Bureau Women Discuss National Projects

The Women's Committee of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Tom Whelan near Barnard Friday, January 13. There were twenty women present representing eleven of the community groups.

Mrs. Ole Neilson county chairman appointed the following committee chairmen:

Safety, Mrs. Lindley of the Undine group; Legislative, Mrs. Clayton Healey of the Star group; Citizenship, Mrs. Fred Willis of the Hayes group.

Mrs. Tom Whelan, who attended the State Institute at Lansing January 3-4, explained the projects that Farm Bureau women of Michigan are supporting. Some of these projects have been in force several years.

Nurse Recruitment—Helping the Nursing Association interest high school and college girls in professional nursing.

Sister Kenny—The women of Farm Bureau have been assisting the Sister Kenny Center at Farmington with funds for new equipment for treatment of polio patients.

Foreign Student—A project set up to give assistance to students here from other countries whose funds are exhausted and who still have a few months school in this country. Saru Nakatani, a Japanese girl who visited in our county last summer, was one of our students.

Associated Country Women of the World—An organization to promote international good will and further the friendship of country women thru-out the world. There are over sixty member countries. A meeting is held every three years—one to be held in Ceylon in December.

Pennies for friendship—the two cents per member is used to keep stationery and office supplies in offices of the A.C.W.W.

Motions were made and supported that all projects be supported in our county. Carried.

LEGION AUXILIARY NEWS

The American Legion Auxiliary Rebec-Sweet Unit 227 met at the home of Mrs. Eva Peterson, Tuesday, January 10. There were twenty members present. Several reports were read by Committee Chairmen, including the Community Christmas program report given by Community Service Chairman, Mrs. Lillian Bennett. It was a very fine and thorough report. Mrs. Bennett thanked everyone who helped her on this project, of which she had full charge. Reports from the delegates to the Fall Conference, Mrs. Edna Wilkins and Mrs. Bernadine Brown, were also read.

Following the meeting a lunch was served by the hostess. The Auxiliary will hold most of their meetings for the rest of the winter months in homes of the members. A meeting will be held Tuesday, February 14 at the home of Mrs. Bernadine Brown. All members are asked to attend.

LIBRARY NOTES

OPEN HOURS: Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, from 1:00 to 5:00 and 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Except holidays. Story Hour for the children from three to four in the afternoon every Saturday.

Gifts: From Mrs. Pearl Ransom, The Great Controversy by White, and The Indispensable Man by Richards. These are religious books for the Seventh Day Adventists.

From the Gospel Trumpet comes Heralds of a Brighter Day by Smith.

Claudia Anderson has given the library an excellent English Book and another good Chemistry text.

Five pocketbooks from Mrs. Marie Woodcock and one from the Elsworths.

Three new books recently received are: The Plums Hang High, by Finney. This is a thoroughly wholesome story of a young English couple who enter this country in the years following closely the Civil War, determined to become farmers here, though they know nothing at all about farming in this or any country.

Nearer to Heaven, by Frank Baker, is the story of a minister who has been told by his doctor that he can expect to live not more than one year. Then his wife, determined to help their only daughter make use of a musical scholarship she has won, takes the needed money from funds trusted to his care, and he is faced with the problem of how to replace this money and still protect his wife and daughter. Worth reading.

Count Folke Barnadotte, His life and work, by Ralph Hewins. This is a good biography of the great humanitarian.

An article in the National Parent-Teacher magazine recently stated, "Today in this country, 27,000,000 people do not have access to a public library service. Of the 3,000 counties in the U. S., some 400 do not have a single public library within their border." How fortunate we are in East Jordan and vicinity that we have an excellent library and our children have both public and school libraries. If you have never formed the habit of using the library, it is not too late to begin.

Mrs. Tony Lammers and Mrs. Howard Flora of Grand Rapids are spending the week visiting their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy and other relatives.

Auxiliary Plans Fire Fighting Training Program

Plans are being made to organize a training class in fire fighting to be sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 227 for their Civil Defense program. Unit Civil Defense Chairman, Mrs. Edna Wilkins and District Civil Defense Chairman, Mrs. Floy Taylor, have consulted East Jordan Fire Chief Sherman Thomas in regards to instructions and the advisability of this program. Chief Thomas said he felt a program of this sort would be of great benefit to the community even though they might never have occasion to use it in case of attack. A trained group of this kind could be of great help in an emergency, and it is always well to be trained in the control of fire in the home. Such training can lessen the cost of property damage and could very easily be the means of saving lives. Chief Thomas has pledged the co-operation of the Fire Department in this program.

All Legion and Auxiliary members are urged to attend the Fire Prevention meeting to be held at the East Jordan High School, Monday, January 23, 8 p.m.

Any Auxiliary member who is interested in this program contact Mrs. Wilkins.

Adult Sewing Classes To Be Held At E.J.H.S.

The vocational homemaking department of East Jordan high school is offering adult evening classes for those interested in learning new sewing techniques. Ten lessons will be offered on Monday evening from 7:30 to 10:00. Main emphasis will be placed on learning new sewing methods which should increase speed and accuracy. Definite objectives for the classes will be determined at the organization meeting on Monday, January 23 at 7:30.

Rabbits Can Do Serious Tree Damage

Rabbits can do serious damage to trees and shrubs in winter, cautions Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county farm agent.

Their normal food supply consists of shoots, branches and buds as well as bark. If rabbits are numerous in your area apply a repellent on valuable trees and shrubs as a cheap and effective way to prevent rabbit damage.

Agent Rebman passes along this recommendation for a repellent from Don Hayne, zoologist, and H. A. Cardinell, horticulturist, of Michigan State. Mix 7 pounds of resin in 1 gallon of ethyl alcohol and allow to sit overnight before using. The MSU specialists point out that only ethyl alcohol should be used. Methyl alcohol (or methanol) will not dissolve the resin.

Don't heat the mixture, says Agent Rebman. And don't be alarmed if the mixture turns white as its effectiveness is not harmed.

The final product is a heavy varnish-like mixture that should be applied to the tree with a paint brush. It is not effective on the snowshoe rabbit, the MSU specialists warn.

Agent Rebman also says that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has recently developed a repellent called TNB-A which will be tested for use under Michigan conditions soon. He warns that TNB-A should not be used on coniferous trees such as evergreens.

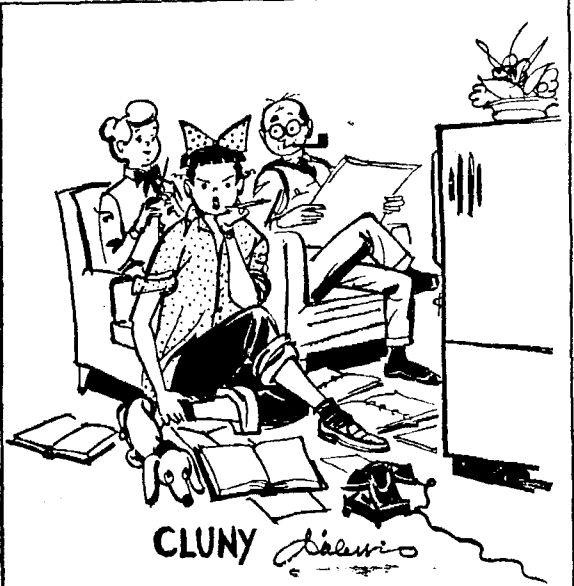

tal, there is still room for quality shipping fruit. Our sweets snap better than sweets grown further south.

There are ups and downs with Montmorency cherries. Those that stick win out in the long run. The price started low in the year of 1920 and gradually rose until 1929. Cherries were 1c per pound in 1930. The price gradually rose until 1947 when they were 15c.

At present cherries are low. Planting will stop. Growers are expected to hold back a portion of their crop until more promotion of sales take effect.

The cherry grower can diversify and plant other fruit, especially strawberries. One can go in and out of strawberries without as large a loss as with cherries. There is a good prospective price for strawberries. Whereas if a large cherry orchard is damaged, there is a large loss.

Gerbers at Fremont will take Prunes, pears and clingstone peaches. "Amber Gem" is the variety chosen for Michigan growers in the peach line.
