Sheriff Rose Smashes Teen-Age Vice With Full Scale Raid

"Hope Eyes Are Opened"

"I certainly hope this will open the eyes of the parents in East Jordan," school nurse Betty Robertson said Monday. "I also hope the authorities will find those who are furnishing the kids with beer and prosecute them to the fullest extent of the law."

Mrs. Robertson's long campaign to do something about the "Deer Lake dance hall" has always gone unheeded for the most part.
"It is getting impossible to hold a Saturday night dance at the high school," she said, "The kids would rather go to Deer Lake."

Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn E. Rose said: "Of all the stories you've heard about "Deer Lake" you can double it and not have the

A motorist passing the dance hall early one Sunday morning said kids in the neighborhood were gathering beer bottles in wheelbar-rows and selling them for spending money.

East Jordan and Charlvoix county residents displayed growing anger Monday over the flagrant buying of beer by adults who give it and sell it to teen-agors.

A local school official said he knew personally of several cases of hearbreak in homes. Heartbreak traced directly to the Deer Lake Dance hall.

"We Didn't Know It Was As Bad As That!"

Many mothers and fathers around northern Michigan exclaimed: "I didn't know "Deer Lake" was like that!"

They said it after Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn E. Rose Saturday night had raided a dance hall area often termed a singlet for high school students.

It was believed by some to be the most widely attended to cally unsupervised teen-aged dance area in the state.

It attracted youths from the Straits of Mackinac as far south as Houghton Lake.

It had been general public knowledge for four years that the dance was "no place for youngsters to hang out."

LETTER BOX

Following is an interesting letter from Tom Thacker in French Morocco. It arrived too late to print all of it, but it will be continued next week.

Dear Sir, It is a lazy, sunny day here on our back terrace in French Morocco. Ordinarily, I would have two more hours at the office and the kids would just be boarding the schoolbus for the 15 mile ride from Nouasseur to Casablanca. But this is Easter vacation for them and so I took my first leave since arriving here and am really "living it up." More than half of my week's leave was devoted to a trip north Tangier and Gibralter. We left Casablanca on Sunday and came back late Thursday. Between those points, we visited 4 countries — 5, if you cheat a little — and had a generally satisfactory tour. We took our own car so had it with us except for the Gibralter trip. It isn't entirely like traveling inthe states, though isn't exactly a hardship, either. The roads are surprisingly good through French Morocco and in the International Zone — that corner of land south of the Straits of Gibralter where Tangier is lo-cated. Spanish Morocco highways leave a lot to be desired: they are rough and narrow. In fact, the entire country (nearly 100 miles across the way we went' looks less prosperous than its neighbors.

The border crossings take ly believed they were breaking some time but otherwise give no problems to Americans who have their papers in order. By that, I mean passports and what is commonly referred to as the "grey card," a sort of glorified auto registration card. I have corruption of youth at the Deer heard of natives getting turned WHILE investigating the sitback at the border, and it was uation Saturday night police found themselves in the middle obvious that the Arabs were being inspected very carefully both coming and going. The countryside is beautiful at this time of year. Many of them I don't recognize though they are obviously closely related to the field daisies, marigolds, alyssum, etc., at home. Others, such as the poppies, are familiar: they are a perfect copy of the "Buddy" poppy at Memorial Day or is it the other way around? Also flax fields are in full flower; it is too bad the Michigan farmers don't grow flax in order to jazz up the countryside.

Tangier was all a bustle for Easter Sunday when we arrived and we would have been in the street if we hadn't had reservations. It was the first experience for the 3 kids in a real "continental" hotel, where food is served on the American plan even the American hotels use the European plan. Anyhow, you starve all morning and then do nothing all afternoon except eat, and you may as well eat because it will be charged regardless. And the waiters look askance if the children don't drink tea; they finally agree to bring milk, then when it is delivered it is boiling hot: Neither Peg nor I ever used sugar or cream in our coffee but we learned to do it in self defense against the mud-mixture known as coffee. The "Deer Lake" Raid Teen-agers caught in a police trap at Deer Lake Saturday night do not realize the officers are doing them a great service.

They do not realize that by stopping them from drinking and committing misconduct, the police are saving them from something that might scar their life forever.

They do not realize the police are trying to prevent them from being killed on the highway.

Many of the parents of these teen-agers who were caught in the raid Saturday night did not know their youngsters were there.

Some parents did know and did not care.

Many parents will never know whether or not their youngsters were at the scene.

It would appear that if some teen-agers were placed in jail their parents would not care because then they would not have to be worried about them all the time.

Some people did not want the raid to receive any publicity. They would rather have the situation exhist than have it brought out in the newspapers so everyone will know what is going on.

Policemen are often hampered in doing their duty by the taxpayers who pay for their service.

The F. B. I. held a conference at Gaylord, Monday to discuss bank robbery prevention with law officials. The F. B. I. is concerned over the increasing number of bank robberies around the country. They follow no particular pattern since the communities selected to be victimized were small as well as large. Half the robberies recently have been in small towns.

In 1950 there were 226 bank robbery, burglarly and larceny violations in United States. In 1954 violations totaled 517 or a 228% increase.

In Michigan, seven bank robbery violations were committed in 1953 and 14 in 1954.

LIGHTS AND APPLIANCES FUNCTION IMPROPERLY WHEN DEPRIVED OF ELECTRICAL ENERGY DUE TO POOR WIRING

A HEATING APPLIANCE, such as an iron or a toaster, takes as much as 20% longer to heat up when the voltage drops only 10%

MOTORS that operate appliances such as the washer, vacuum cleaner or refrigerator will be overworked when deprived of electrical energy due to poor wiring. They will run hot, wear out sooner.

LIGHT BULBS, too, fail to give their full quota of light. The amount of light is often reduced one-third by loss of electrical energy due to poor wiring.

ADEQUATE WIRING PUTS NEW PEP IN YOUR APPLIANCES!

Adequate Wiring is your assurance that maximum electrical energy will be delivered, not only to your present electric appliances, but also to any you may purchase in the future.

To get the full value and enjoyment from your television, iron, refrigerator and other lights and appliances give them the benefit of modern Adequate Wiring. It's their only source of pep and vitality.

Our peaches have never frozen during bloom or any other time during the spring. Apples and all other fruits come through the spring frosts very regularly. It is not often that the Montmorency freezes during bud or bloom.

Apples and cherries are the toughest during winter months of very low temperatures. While some southern sections can grow certain varieties of apples that we cannot grow, we also can grow varieties that they can't such as McIntosh, Cortland, Spys and others.

We are now tops in strawberries for yields and profits and regular crops. The flavor of all of our fruit is unsurpassed.

Taking up where we left off Thrown Side Arm on pitching, it is interesting to Gromek's fast ball differs note that pitchers differ markedly in their throwing pattern. The Tigers' Ned Garver, for instance, possesses an excellent repertoire, including a good curve, a sinking fast ball and a wider-breaking slider than most.

A slow worker, his success is due largely to changing speed on all three pitches. Now and then he apparently sneaks in an old-fashioned spitter, technically ilegal, but a lot of them use it.

Ned's theory is to get the batter out on a different pitch each time so that the hitter never knows what to expect.

Virtually the opposite is Steve Gromek, who believes in overpowering the batter with fast balls. Steve tries to throw a strike every time, generally walks few men and works much faster than the average pitcher.

from Garver's in that it is thrown more side arm so that it rises in flight. Thus, the batter is likely to hit more flies.

trol of a sinking fast ball, which he employs with runners on base The ball is likely to be hit on the ground, allowing for a double play, or at least it keeps runners from advancing.

Tiger batters differ on rating American League pitchers as their toughest to hit. Harvey Kuenn, for one, classifies Cleveland's Bob Lemon as his greatest headache because of Lemon's ability to keep the ball away from him and because of a sinking fast ball that's difficult to hit in the air.

Harvey, one of the game's best line drive hitters, rates Washing-ton's Bob Porterfield second because of his tremendous speed, Porterfield throwing an overhand fast ball and a curve that breaks down.

Sour to Fain

Ferris Fain, twice American League batting champ, also classifies Lemon the toughest pitcher to bat against. He has similar respect for Ed Lopat of the Yankees, Early Wynn of Cleveland and Mel Parnell of Boston.

According to Ferris, Lopat is hard to hit because of his herkyjerky throwing motion. In addition, Lopat knows all the pitches in the book, including the screwball, knuckler and slider.

Wynn is tough to bat against because of his control of a knuc-kle ball and his rising fast ball, Parnell because of his wide-breaking slider that comes in close to the knees and his fast ball that crosses just over the

Lopat, Wynn and Parnell are alike in that they try to get the batter out on a different pitch each time, just as Garver does. When Old Diz pitched in the Hickory and Horsehide game, tho l just tried to get them out-period.

According to American Cancer Society statistics. 24,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer if present rates continue.

Here's a news release from the Army Home Town News Center in Kansas City

Army Pvt. Arthur E. Prevo, son of Mrs. Alena Prevo, Route 2, East Jordan, recently arrived in Hawaii and is now a member of the 25th Infantry Division.

The "Tropic Lightning" division, recently returned to Ha-waii from Korea, is continuing its vigorous post-truce training program which began after the cease fire.

Private Prevo, a cannoneer, entered the Army last October.

We have a new address for A-2c Elmer G. Olstrom, Jr., AF 16 462 324, 635th AC & W Sqd, Box 70, McChord AFB, Washington. The rating is also new.

Robert Muma is home for a while. He dropped into the office the other day to tell us to old his paper for a while --- and that he enjoyed getting it.

We are doing an experiment with earthworms. We have sand and leaves with a little brown sugar and coffee grounds in a jar. In this we put our earthworms. We are hoping to see the type let the type make the tunnels that the worms make and the castings on top of the ground. The book about earth-worms from the library gave us lot of information.

FFA Boys Develop Run Off Plots

The Ag-Shop boys and farm planter, Mr. Grimm and County Agricultural Agent, Ed Rebman, worked one day last week on the Hi Brock farm on M-66.

There are four separate plots, each one one-fiftieth of an acre and all on an 8% slope, on the run off plot. The first plot is worked up and down the hill and is rotated from corn one year, to oats the next year and then two years of hay. The second plot is worked across the slope with the same crop rotation. The third plot is a contour strip with the same crop rotation. The fourth plot is planted to grass and le-

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Cihak have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Anne to Joseph McDermott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDermott of Charlevoix. The wedding date has been set for June 10th.

Time To Check Electricity

Electricity around the farm can be a big help and time-saver or it can lead to a lot of trouole if you try to abuse it, reminds Ed Rebman, agricultural agent in Charlevoix County.

He points out that surveys in some of the neighboring states show that electricity is one of the most mis-used farm conven-iences. Half the fire hazards due to overloaded fuses and faulty wiring in one nearby state. Rebman mentions that in another state, over 40 per cent of the farmsteads were impro-Rebman says that now is the time to check on the electrical defects — it's Spring Cleanup Time. He passes along these hints from David Steinicke, farm safety specialist at Michigan State College: Clean motors, fuse boxes and switches of dust and cobwebs. Don't let shavings, bags and oily rags pile up near electrical de-

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH Edward O. DeHaven, Pastor

This coming Sunday is Mother's Day. As a part of the observance of this day the Sunday School is inviting all parents to visit in the Sunday School and observe the work that is being done. There will be given a tok-en of love for our mothers.

The WYF will be host to the Youth of Petoskey Presbytery in the afternoon and evening. The program begins at 3:30 p.m. in our church. There will be a pan-el of five foreign students who are studying this year at Alma College present an interesting discussion. It is expected that 150 or more young people will be our guests.

Four of our Young people and three adult advisors spent the last weekend in Kalamazoo at the Youth of Synod Spring assembly. Over 400 young people were delegates from all over the state. The East Jordan Church and WYF were honored by the selection of Fred DeHaven as a member of the National Council of Westminster Youth Fellowship. The council is composed of about 150 young people and advisors from all over the world to plan and execute the total WYF program for the Presby-terian Church. Congratulations
